Five arrests have been made and police are hot on the trail of a sixth suspect in a liquor clean up staged in Newark and vicinity this week by local authorities working with state and federal men.

George Wilson, 22-year-old Negro, 72 W. Cleveland Avenue, is free under a $1,000 bond on a state charge and has posted another $1,000 on a federal count. Eugene (Huck) Walls, 30, who resides in Johnson's Brick Yard, is being held under $2,500 bail on a federal count. David McNatt, 49, of near Glasgow, has $1,000 posted on another federal charge.

George Long, 55, and Rachel Pierson, about 50, both of near Newark, are being held by state authorities as material witnesses in lieu of $500 bail. Another man, well known to police, is being sought on three counts.

Hill Aids State Men

Officer LeRoy C. Hill of the Newark police, accompanied by Inspectors Elmer Jewell, Edward J. Daley and William McCloskey of the Delaware Liquor Commission, staged the initial raid last Friday night when Wilson was arrested at the Cleveland Avenue address.

Making a sudden appearance in the place, police were able to mop up a gallon of alleged bootleg liquor off the floor after Wilson had smashed a five-gallon crock.

Held under $1,000 bail on a state charge of possession with intent to sell tax unpaid liquor, Wilson, following extensive questioning, was booked on a federal count of conspiracy.

Still Is Found

Continuing their drive on Monday, state authorities, assisted by Revenue Agent Earl Pinder, confiscated a still near Glasgow and arrested McNatt, farmer, as the alleged owner.

Walls was arrested yesterday by Inspector Daley and Officer Hill. He was held under $2,500 bail by U. S. Commissioner Charles J. Polke, Federal Building, Wilmington, on a conspiracy count. Long, police believe, is a member of the "ring."

PROGRAM GIVEN
ON LEGISLATURE

Miss Etta J. Wilson and Mrs. Edward W. Cooch were the principal speakers at the regular meeting of the Newark New Century Club, held Monday, March 29.

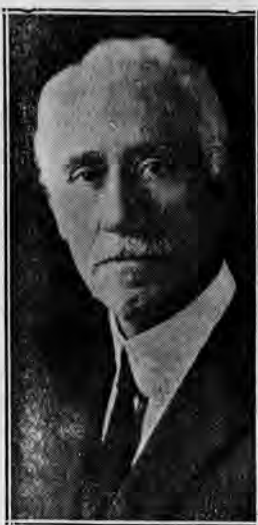

The program was devoted to the consideration of pending legislation on the national congress and in the state legislature. Bills discussed were those of special interest to the women of the nation, those affecting children and certain national questions of outstanding importance.

Interesting Speakers

Miss Wilson spoke on the bills before the state legislature in which members of the club are interested. The franchise tax, one establishing a division of child welfare in the State Board of Charities and one affecting handicapped children were making certain changes in the jurisdiction of the Family Court. She urged support of all these measures. Mrs. Cooch mentioned several bills now before the national congress. She discussed the proposed changes affecting the Supreme Court, the Child Labor Amendment and the restriction on immigration.

Announcement was made of a campaign followed by a dance at the club on Friday, April 2.

MORE THAN 50

Gathering at Deer
Park Monday Evening

TO DISCUSS PURPOSES

More than 50 members and guests of the Chamber of Commerce are expected for the dinner which will be staged at the Deer Park Hotel Monday night in an effort to revive interest in the organization. Herman Handloff, handling reservations for affair, gave vent to enthusiastic expressions about the outlook for the Chamber in making the announcement.

Chairman D. O. McClintock released the information that John K. Johnston, vice president of the National Vulcanized Fibre Company, will speak on the purposes and objectives of the revival movement. Mr. Johnston is in Florida at the present time, but he is expected at his home on Sunday.

Nardo Trio Listed

As a feature of the affair, Mr. McClintock has engaged the Nardo String Trio to furnish music during the dinner.

Invitations were mailed two weeks ago to every business and professional man in Newark with a request that they participate in the dinner as the guests of the present board of directors. The dinner will start at seven o'clock, Mr. McClintock announced.

Chief among the purposes of holding the dinner is the desire of the existing members to ascertain the extent of local business men's interest and to conduct a round-table discussion of ideas, suggestions and plans toward the revival of the organization.

The results of the dinner will probably decide whether or not the group will resume its activities.

Newark Exceeds Amount
Requested By Committee

Mrs. R. T. Jones, Sr., local chairman for the Women's Field Army of the American Society for the Control of Cancer, reports that $31 was contributed in Newark during the organization's drive last week. Newark's budget was $25.

In thanking the general public, women's lodges and the Newark Lions Club for generous support, Mrs. Jones stated that the awakened interest of the people, more than the money augurs success for the national fight against cancer.

To Hold Bake

Friendship Temple, No. 6, Pythian Sisters, will hold a bake Saturday morning, April 3, in the State Theatre Building.

Delaware Conference on Education
And Mental Health April 19 and 20

The conference on education and mental health, which will be held at the Hotel duPont on Friday and Saturday, April 9 and 10, might be considered, peculiarly enough, just another chapter in a story that began nearly 30 years ago. It is the story of a man, a mind and a book.

The man in the story is Clifford W. Beers, one of the many thousands of people living today who have lost and regained sanity. That in itself is no longer something unusual. Today a patient entering a modern hospital has, in the case of most types of mental breakdowns, a very good chance of recovery and restoration to a normal life in the community. That was not so a quarter of a century ago.

In those days when the old so-called "asylums" were places of incarceration rather than treatment the recovery of a patient was nothing short of a miracle. The unnecessary abuses and suffering to which the inmates of the asylums were subjected made this all the more so.

Aims To End Abuses

Such a miracle was the recovery of Clifford Beers after three years' institutionalization in public and private hospitals. His experiences left him with a determination to devote his life to the work of ending the abuses he had endured and enlisting laymen and physicians alike in a

File For Re-Election On Town Council

Councilman G. F. Ferguson

Councilman Ferguson, veteran member of the town's governing body, filed formal notice yesterday that he will seek his fourth term at the local election on April 13. Mr. Ferguson represents the Eastern District. Councilman Johnson, elected to the body two years ago from the Western District, filed for another term on Tuesday.

RELIEF LABOR
WORKING HERE

Town Council Furnishes
Money For Privy Project
Despite WPA Attitude

Despite the failure of State Board of Health and WPA officials to carry out stipulations concerning the employment of local labor as laid down by the Council of Newark, the local body is carrying out its end of the agreement in furnishing $576 worth of materials for 24 sanitary privies being erected on Ray and North Streets. The work was started last week.

In making the appropriation, which is subject to eventual repayment by house owners benefiting from the work, the Council stipulated that local labor, although not listed on relief rolls, be used.

Excess labor in Newark has been kept off WPA and other relief lists by the willingness of the town government to use it on community projects.

Dissentment Arises

Board of Health and WPA officials in charge of privy work in the state insisted that they were powerless to use anything but relief labor which had been registered in the usual manner.

Rather than drop the entire measure, however, Mayor Collins canvassed members of Council and it was decided to continue the work as a sanitary procedure.

AUXILIARY TO AID VETERANS

Mrs. Paul D. Lovett, Head of
"Poppy Day" Committee
for Legion Division

"Twelve million poppies worn in honor of the World War dead is the goal of the American Legion Auxiliary in its 1937 memorial poppy program," Mrs. Paul D. Lovett, state poppy chairman for the department of Delaware American Legion Auxiliary, of Newark, has announced. "The poppies will be distributed here and throughout the country by volunteer workers from the auxiliary a few days before Memorial Day."

"Disabled veterans in government hospitals and convalescent workrooms maintained by the auxiliary are now making the poppies the members will distribute. The work, which is going forward in approximately 60 centers in 40 states, is giving employment to many hundreds of veterans unable to do other work. Employment is restricted to disabled men receiving little or no government compensation, with preference being given those having dependent families," Mrs. Lovett said.

Posters Drawn

"While disabled World War veterans in hospitals and workrooms in many parts of the country have been making these poppies this winter to be worn in honor of their fallen comrades on 'Poppy Day' next May, school children started to draw posters showing the purpose of the poppies."

"All of the money received for the poppies will go into the work of the American Legion and Auxiliary for the welfare of disabled veterans and needy children of veterans. The message of the auxiliary poppy will be, 'Honor the dead and aid the living.' An increased number of persons responded last year and continued increase is expected this year," Mrs. Lovett concluded.

Gov. McMullen Names
Mrs. Fader To Post

Mrs. J. R. Fader, department president of the American Legion Auxiliary, has been appointed by Governor Richard C. McMullen to represent Delaware at the regional conference on adult education at Trenton, N. J., on Friday.

The conference was called by Governor Hoffman of New Jersey and will be attended by representatives from that state, Pennsylvania, Delaware and Maryland.

"Adult Education as a Conservative Force in Community Life" will be the theme of the discussions at the general session.

The Women's Home and Foreign Missionary Society of the First Presbyterian Church of Newark will meet in the lecture room of the church on Thursday evening, April 8, at 7.45 o'clock.

Handle Finances; Credited
With Tax Slashes

Three more members of the Council of Newark coming up for re-election on April 13, filed to retain their posts this week.

Mayor Frank Collins, following lengthy deliberations, announced last night that he would file this morning; Councilmen George F. Ferguson, 82-year-old representative from the Eastern District, filed out the necessary form yesterday; while Councilman C. Emerson Johnson of the Western District filed his papers on Tuesday.

Councilman George E. Ramsey, fiery member of the body from the Middle District, formally announced his candidacy for re-election last week. No other candidates are in the field which will be closed on Saturday.

Seeks Fifth Term

President of the Council since 1929, Mayor Collins succeeded the late Mayor Eben B. Frazer. He is completing his fourth term in office.

Noted for his ability to handle money, Mayor Collins has figured prominently in regular reductions of the town's indebtedness. Several slashes in the tax rate and the cutting of light costs have been credited to the Mayor.

Mr. Ferguson has been a member of the Council for six years. He has also served as county treasurer and as a member of the Newark Board of Education, back in the days when they were both elective offices.

Born at Fair Hill, Md., Mr. Ferguson has resided in Newark for the last 45 years. He was prominent in the building and contracting fields in his younger days.

Was Wright Associate

Constructing the American Fibre Company's mill, now occupied by the National Fibre Company here, Mr. Ferguson also erected the original buildings used by the Continental Diamond Fibre Company on South Chapel Street.

Associated with the late S. J. Wright, founder of the Continental concern, Mr. Ferguson enlarged and made extensive interior and exterior renovations to the original Newark Opera House, which now houses the Academy Apartments at Main and Academy Streets.

Mr. Johnson, manager of Rhodes Drug Store, was elected to the Council in 1935. A native of Pennsboro, N. J., he formerly resided in Wilmington before moving here in 1925.

BABY IS UNHURT
AS CAR TURTLES

A nine-month old child narrowly escaped serious injury Wednesday morning when Mrs. Florence Carhart, with her 16 year old daughter, Olive, and baby daughter, Patricia, lost control of the car which she was driving on Capitol Trail, in the vicinity of Cochran's garage.

The vehicle rolled over three or four times down a bank and came to rest in a field causing the windows and windshield to be broken.

Miss Carhart suffered a possible fracture of the leg, as well as severe lacerations on the face. Mrs. Carhart was injured about the back and received slight lacerations of her hand. The baby was unhurt. Mrs. Carhart is the wife of Charles Carhart, of near Newark.

They were removed to the Wilmington General Hospital by the Newark ambulance, for treatment. State police investigated the accident.

Luncheon Time Changed

The Women's Joint Legislative Committee will hold its luncheon on Friday, April 2, in the Dover M. E. Church at one o'clock instead of at 12.30 as previously announced.

Lesson for April 4

GOD THE CREATOR

LESSON TEXT—Genesis 1:1-5, 26-31.
GOLDEN TEXT—In the beginning God created the heavens and the earth. Gen. 1:1.
PRIMARY TOPIC—When God Made the World.
JUNIOR TOPIC—In the Beginning—God.
INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—God the Maker of All.
YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—God in Creation.

From the completion of the great Gospel of John, which took us back to that time "in the beginning" when the Living Word "was" and "was with God and was God," we turn to the first book of the Bible, which is, as indicated by its title, a book of "beginnings." We find in it not only the record of the creation of the heavens and earth, but of man, and the beginnings of his history, the entrance of sin into the world, the beginning of God's revelation of redemption. It is indeed a most important book, fundamental to an understanding of the rest of the Bible.

Genesis has been the special object of attack on the part of critics, and especially by those who saw in its account of the creation statements which apparently did not square with the announced findings of science. Fortunately, as men make advances in scientific discovery, as well as in the understanding of God's Word, they are beginning to realize that there is no real conflict between the established facts of science and a proper interpretation of Scripture. When there is an apparent clash it will be found that either the Bible has been misinterpreted by men or they have mistaken a hypothesis of science for a fact.

We are in error when we talk about the Bible's being confirmed by archaeology or by science. If the United States naval observatory should find that its master clock does not agree with the observation of the stars, it would not assume that the universe had gotten out of order. It would know that the clock is wrong, and would make correction. Science does not confirm the Bible; the Bible confirms true science.

The account of creation may be considered in two great divisions.

I. The Creation of Heaven and Earth (1:1-5).

"In the beginning God"—what awe-inspiring words! How fully and satisfactorily they state the origin of all things.

Men ask us to believe their theories, but there is no cosmogony offered which does not call for a measure of credulity. Man cannot explain the origin of matter, the origin of life, the origin of rational life. These three great gaps and many smaller ones his theories cannot bridge. Man asks us to take his word for them. But we prefer to take God's Word.

Study the entire account of creation. Space here forbids more than the briefest reference to its perfect order and symmetry, its completeness, the self-evident fact that it is a true account of the working of God. It is so received by thoughtful men and women of our day. Even scoffers have long since ceased to speak foolish words about "the mistakes of Moses."

II. The Creation of Man (vv. 16-23).

"Let us" is an indication that the Holy Trinity was active in creation. God the Father is mentioned (v. 1), the Holy Spirit (v. 2), and without the Son was nothing made (John 1:3).

Man was created in "the likeness and image of God." This undoubtedly refers to a moral and spiritual likeness. Man is a moral being, possessed of all the characteristics of true personality. He is a living spirit, with intelligence, feeling, will, power. This image, no matter how it may have been defaced by sin, is that in man which makes it possible for us to seek him in his sin and beseech him "to be reconciled to God." "Down in the human heart, crushed by the tempter, feelings lie buried that grace can restore."

Notice that God gave man "a helpmeet unto him," that he established the family as the center of life on this earth. He gave man dominion over the entire creation, and his restless pioneering spirit still carries him on to the complete realization of that promise. He provided not only for man's spiritual and social needs, but also for his every physical need. Surely we may say with Moses that "everything that he (God) had made . . . was very good" (v. 31).

A Man of Sorrow

One reason why Jesus was a man of sorrow was that He saw as none other the pain and sin and woe of the world.

A Hard Road

The hard road of sin is always so crowded that it gives little room for turning around and going back.

Determination

He only is a well-made man who has a good determination.—Emerson.

Grange Organization An Outgrowth Of Civil War's Upheaval in South

By Robert Yearsley

Lecturer, Delaware State Grange
The immediate reasons for the organization of the Grange were an outgrowth of the Civil War and its aftermath of disrupted social and economic conditions. The North and South were torn by the conflict of hatred and economic distress.

In the South the whole economic system of slave labor was overthrown and the agriculture in many of the Southern states was struggling with this great labor problem, and with the exhaustion of its resources by the war. At the same time the farmers of the West were laboring under debt, low prices for farm products, a money panic, high railroad rates, and tariffs. These, together with transportation problems, were some of the conditions in the background that preceded the organization of the Grange.

Government Investigation
In order to investigate the conditions in the South, the Bureau of Agriculture at Washington sent a farmer from Minnesota, a former New Englander, to see what the government might be able to do to help its agriculture. After an extended trip, this man, Oliver Kelly, came back to Washington impressed with the idea that farmers must unite for the protection of their business; and also that they must get together in a great farming fraternity and cease to hate one another.

Finally Kelly, with the aid of five government clerks and a fruit farmer, worked out a ritual. On December 4, 1867, they elected officers and founded the Patrons of Husbandry at Washington. On January 8, 1868, they revamped the ritual and constitution and organized the Grange in essentially its present form, the Grange name, meaning "farm house," a farmstead.

The Grange is a voluntary organization, unsubsidized by government agencies, wealthy individuals, or foundations. Yet it has lived and still maintains the vigorous interests of thousands of people.

$73.73 INVESTMENT IN 1837 GROWS INTO $50,000,000 FARM MACHINERY ENTERPRISE: HUNDRED YEAR CONCERN STILL DIRECTED BY FOUNDER'S FAMILY

Ten years after John Deere hammered out his first self-scouring steel plow in his Grand Detour, Illinois, smithy, he moved to Moline and established the plow works pictured here. At the top is the present John Deere Plow Works, still in Moline—world's largest plow plant. Inset is a picture of Charles Deere Wiman, great grandson of the founder, and president of Deere & Company, operating eleven great plants and 55 branches, employing around 16,000 persons and producing some 600 items of farm machinery. National celebrations this year are honoring the centennial of John Deere's achievement.

MOLINE, Ill.—How $73.73 plus a frontier blacksmith shop has grown into an internationally famous $50,000,000 farm machinery organization is revealed in connection with the nationwide celebration this year honoring the memory of John Deere and commemorating the 100th anniversary of his steel plow which helped to revolutionize modern agriculture.

The growth of the business John Deere founded is the story of agriculture's development in the past century. Revolutionary improvements in the farmer's tools and conquest of the west and a new era for agriculture in general.

Deere's plow was an immediate success. After 10 years operation he left Grand Detour and established a plant in Moline, producing 700 plows the first year. From then on the organization enjoyed steady progress, constantly branching out until at the time of Deere's death in 1886 it was producing numerous items of farm machinery.

Today eleven great factories and 55 branch plants employing 16,000 workers in the United States and Canada stand as monuments to Deere and his accomplishments. The organization now manufactures more than 600 products, from tractors to grain elevators, from farm wagons to haymaking tools. On millions of farms in the United States and abroad, all the operations of agriculture are performed with implements from its factories.

The destiny of the organization from 1837 until today has been continuously directed by members of one family—a record held by few enterprises of comparable age and importance. Eight lineal descendants of John Deere are now serving the organization. Charles Deere Wiman, great grandson of the founder, and president since 1925, is the fourth of the family to hold the office.

six month and were: Noble Grand, Anson Gregg; vice-grand, Dr. Jesse Selinkoff; recording secretary, William C. Pierson; assistant secretary, John Pierson.

The installation of officers will be held in the I. O. O. F. hall on April 10. District Deputy Grand Master, Norman Walbel will be in charge.

Easter Service

A lovely Easter service was held in the Hockessin M. E. Church on Easter morning, March 28. The Rev. William H. Revelle delivered the message. Special music was furnished by the church choir, in charge of Mrs. William H. Revelle.

The funeral of Richard D. Robinson, aged 76, who died on Thursday, March 25, after a long illness took place from Chandler's Funeral Home, in Wilmington, at 2:30 o'clock Monday afternoon, March 29. The Rev. Dr. A. H. Kleffman, pastor of West Presbyterian Church, had charge of the service. Interment took place at Silverbrook cemetery.

Mr. Robinson lived in Delaware all his life. For many years he was a blacksmith in Wilmington and later transferred his business to Hockessin. About eight years ago he retired, when his wife, Sarah Elizabeth, died. Since then he has lived in the city of Wilmington.

He is survived by two sons, Homer O. Robinson, of Wilmington, and Richard T. Robinson, of Philadelphia; two daughters, Mrs. Mary Galusha of Wilmington, and Mrs. Eva M. Taylor of Miami, Florida.

Baby Buried

Funeral services for Baby John Morgan Campbell, 10 months old son of Mr. and Mrs. John M. Campbell, was held at their home on Wednesday afternoon, March 24. The Rev. William H. Revelle, pastor of Hockessin M. E. Church, had charge of the services. Interment was held at Union Hill Cemetery, Kennett Square.

I'VE MADE PAINT FOR 39 YEARS AND I STILL SAY— You Can't Fool the Sun with cheap House Paint

SUN, wind and weather can't be fooled with cheap house paint. Cheap paint is like skimmed milk—you can get a pail full for a little money, but there's no "nourishment" in it. It may look good at the start—but it costs more in the end, 'cause you have to buy more of it—it doesn't last and it doesn't protect.

If you take pride in your home I think you'll want my kind of paint—my 100% Pure. I've been making it now for 39 years, using always the finest materials and mixing it with the greatest care; and it has never failed to live up to my promise.

Here's that promise: A prettier job—25% to 50% more coverage per gallon—and real protection against sun, wind and weather—protection that will last for years after cheap paint has chipped, cracked, curled up and died. And it will cost you less in the end.

If you want to be proud of your home—and spared the cost of repainting, for years to come—get a free color card from my authorized dealer today, and take advantage of his special offer on my Davis 100% Pure Paint.

Bicycle Riders Receive Warnings

The following series of rules for safe bicycle riding was issued this week by the Delaware Safety Council:

1. Learn to ride in a park or other safe place. Stay off streets until you can ride well.
2. Keep your bicycle adjusted to fit you, and in good condition. Check your brake frequently.
3. Keep to the right. In towns stay close to the curb.
4. Obey all traffic rules and regulations. Use hand signals when you are going to stop or turn.
5. Ride without wabbling and avoid sharp turns. Weaving through traffic is dangerous. Avoid fast riding over slippery or rough roads.
6. Never carry a passenger. It is dangerous.
7. Never hold on to a moving vehicle.
8. When riding at night carry a light in front, and either a light or a reflector in the rear. Light colored clothing also helps motorists to see you.
9. Do not try to carry an object in one hand, or to ride in the street "no handed." If parcels must be carried they should be strapped to the bicycle or placed in a carrier.
10. Choose your route carefully. Avoid crowded streets and highways.

THERE'LL COME A DAY

Striking truck drivers in Wilmington, instead of following the leadership of organizers from Philadelphia, would do well to take a lesson from the drivers in Baltimore where an expensive, to union men, "victory" was scored over employers some ten years ago.

The Monumental City strike was a drawn out affair that was finally solved when department stores and other operators of truck fleets finally met the demands for time limitations, pay rates and everything set forth by the striking element. A complete capitulation apparently.

Instead of continuing the operation of individual fleets of trucks, however, owners formed a cooperative delivery service that slashed the need for drivers, mechanics, and machines. One man, in many instances, working for the cooperative service, took the place of as many as twelve employed by separate fleets.

The idea is still being followed in Baltimore—and successfully, too. It is not unlikely that a similar plan could be worked out in Wilmington. Truck owners, groping for a way out of the present difficulty, could do well for themselves by considering the Baltimore innovation.

Getting the idea of limited employment across to dissenters is an ever effective weapon. Henry Ford, threatened by CIO "sit-down strikers," has defied threats hurled at him by Lewis' followers with placards placed in all his plants that carry this message: "We can afford to close for one year, can you?" There's a vital lesson in that sentence.

WORKABLE AUTOMOBILE COMPENSATION LAWS

Proposals for compulsory automobile liability insurance appear perennially when state legislatures meet. Fortunately for the public only one state, Massachusetts, has so far passed such a law—but here is always the danger that other states may take the step.

Compulsory insurance in Massachusetts—where it has been given a long and exhaustive test—has been almost a complete failure. In theory the law may be good, but in practice it has produced grave and apparently insoluble problems.

For example, since the passage of the act there has been a substantial increase in Massachusetts liability insurance rates, due in large part to the increased litigation the act has caused. It is true that there have been increases in most other states as well—the inevitable result of a soaring accident toll—but the Massachusetts rise has been well above the national average.

Worst of all, perhaps, the act has caused a tremendous court congestion. At times the Massachusetts courts have been months behind in handling cases, it being physically impossible to keep up with suits filed. Beyond question, the act has provided the accident racketeer with a fertile field—as all Massachusetts-licensed cars are insured, he can file actions promiscuously knowing that in a percentage of cases he will collect. All motorists pay, through the cost of insurance, for this kind of racketeering.

It would seem that the solution to the liability question lies in financial responsibility laws—tried out successfully in a number of states—under which a motorist guilty of an accident must pay any judgment against him, and provide for future judgments through insurance or a bond, before he is allowed to drive again. This law attains almost all the ends desired for compulsory insurance, and avoids the weaknesses and inequalities that have appeared in the working-out of the Massachusetts act.

What's Next In Hollywood?

What with opera singers turning to swing, musical comedy stars going operatic, 14-year-olds emerging as almost-mature vocalists, Leopold St-

Grace Moore

Jack Oakie may be appearing as "Hamlet," Fred Astaire putting away his dancing shoes and donning the costume of "Monsieur Beaucaire," or Marthe Raye insisting that she'll play "Madame X" or nothing.

What really started all this speculation concerning the future is the surprise expressed by filmgoers over Jeanette MacDonald's operatic interludes in "Maytime" and Grace Moore's "Minnie the Moocher" in "When Your In Love." "Neither Miss MacDonald's ability to navigate the tonal tightrope usually reserved for prima donnas nor Miss Moore's 'scat' singing is so epochal as it may seem," according to Miss Mary Lou Gaffney, secretary of the Press of Kells who is making her first venture into the world of high C's in a Wilmington operetta very soon.

State Theatre House Notes Friday and Saturday

The pulsating romance of a man and woman from two warring worlds who risked their lives for love amid intrigue and bloodshed provides the theme of "Beloved Enemy," Samuel Goldwyn's thrilling new screen drama which stars Merle Oberon and Brian Aherne. The story is from the pens of John Balderston, Rose Franken the pens of and William Brown Meloney with additional dialogue by David Hertz. Miss Oberon has her greatest role to date as Lady Helen Drummond, the lovely English girl who accompanies her father Lord Athleigh, an emissary of Parliament. Aherne is seen as Dennis Riordan, the daring, dashing young Irishman who is the secret leader of the revolt and whom all the strategy of the British has failed to trap.

Monday and Tuesday

That ever-popular Irish film star, Pat O'Brien, has the title role in "The Great O'Malley," a melodrama of the life in New York's colorful East Side. Pat's a policeman this time. He's Officer O'Malley, a tough, hardboiled copper who cannot see beyond his rule book until a little cripple girl and a lovely school teacher humanize him. By the time the final fadeout ends the story he's a regular fellow. Sharing stellar honors with him, Humphrey Bogart, who scored so greatly as the killer in "Black Legion" again runs amuck of the law. Others who have important roles in the film are, Sybil Jason, 7-year-old child from South Africa, Ann Sheridan, Donald Crisp and Henry O'Neill. The East Side settings of this picture are the talk of Hollywood. Three square blocks of that crowded New York territory were built from photographs of the actual region.

Wednesday and Thursday

Edward Everett Horton, for many years one of the nation's most popular comedians, and "The Pixilated Sisters," Margaret Seddon and Margaret McWade, Screenland's newest big comedy team are together in a gay comedy which will hit home with millions, "Let's Make a Million." Horton is seen as a flustered nervous person, familiar to all, this time as a veteran who gets his bonus and plans to do big things. The "pixilated" pair appear as Horton's aunts, who have ideas of their own as to how their nephew should spend his bonus money.

Mere Thoughts

Bill Fletcher's story on spring sports at the University of Delaware, published in these pages last Thursday, was so good that it was used as the lead tale in the sports section of Wilmington's Sunday paper last week. . . . In pilfering the story, however, the Star failed to credit this sheet and Fletcher for its origin. . . . We merely mention it here because rural weeklies are chided no end for "copying" from metropolitan rags. . . . It's good to keep the record straight. . . . THE NEWARK POST, incidentally, is not guilty of such a charge as numerous local organizations and news sources will verify.

Bill Morgan, who, with others, reads your post cards in Uncle Sam's office here, ran into an embarrassing situation recently. . . . Hunting with friends, Bill met an arm of the law, who queried, "Fox hunting?" "You're damn right I'm fox hunting," responded Bill, with emphasis. "Have a license?" asked the game warden. "You're damn right I got a license," replied Bill with some indignation. "Then you'd better get a new one," said the law, "this one's out of date." Bill's face is still red.

Worry Wart

The power of suggestion is not to be taken lightly, thinks Barber Bob Connell. . . . Noting a pain on the right edge of his abdomen last week, he started asking anyone and everyone about appendicitis, symptoms and the like. . . . On Saturday he visited a doctor who told him to go home and go to bed. . . . Bob worried so much about a possible operation that he turned up on Monday with—of all things—tonsillitis!

Stars of the first water in local baseball circles, Joe Cooney and Marv Lucas journeyed to Newark last Saturday to play with Ellis Cullen's team against the University of Delaware. . . . In order to fill the engagement, Cooney paid a substitute to take his place in the Rising Sun postoffice, while Lucas shortened a shopping trip to Wilmington (with his girl, too) so he could get here in time for the game. . . . Boys like that are a pleasant relief from the cluck ball players who refuse to pull on a glove unless there's a couple of bucks in sight.

The Entertainer

As a youth and in his more slender days Councilman C. Emerson Johnson was the life of every party. . . . He strummed a "uke" and entertained with educated feet after the fashion of Fred Astaire. . . . Wild life in Pennsylvanians, as it were.

Newark fight followers have prospects of seeing open-air shows locally this summer, if Slim (Feet) Everett's idea comes to life. . . . Phil Cornog, it is said, is negotiating with the defunct Susquehanna A. C., Havre de Grace, for the purchase of a ring.

Thrills for carnival patrons are being offered by Ernie Jordan, Wild Willie Wooleyhan and Ewell (Crash) Buckingham. . . . They are willing to ride motorcycles through board walls for $25 a night, or on a weekly basis of five exhibitions for $100. . . . Snap Fisher, who plugged the troupe last year, has been given the gate as publicity representative.

Pity Poor Doc

Readying his baseball warriors for the annual jaunt through Virginia, Gerald (Doc) Doherty, veteran coach, watched his ineligible outfield star, Ernie George, smash four clean blows in as many trips to the plate in a practice tilt last Saturday. . . . George, in case you have forgotten, made a great effort to give Newark a Bi-State League title last fall. . . . With two away in the ninth stanza of the third game, the bags packed and Perryville leading in the championship set two games to none, Ernesto smashed a spaghetti pitch off the left field boards at Oxford for three bases and as many runs. . . . Newark took the verdict, 3-2. . . . Won the next game with ease, but fell

HENS DOWN VIRGINIA TEAMS
Bi-State Circuit Decides To Open With Four ClubsEARL SHEATS POUNDS HOME RUNS AGAINST MEDICOS AND LYNCHBURG

Jackson and Reed Share Hurling Chores; Hickman Hits Homer; Daly Showing Well At Plate; Lynchburg College Routed Despite 7 Delaware Boots

Coach Gerald (Doc) Doherty's invaders hurdled two obstacles on the Southern Trip by detouring representatives of Virginia Medical College and Lynchburg for an auspicious 1937 entree.

Sloppy Fielding

Despite seven miscues by team mates, Roland (Boney) Jackson kept 11 hits well scattered to submerge Lynchburg College yesterday, 11-7.

The Delaware hurlers bunched hits in the first, second, fourth and sixth frames and were given 8 free trips to the initial plate to aid in their second conquest of the annual Southern trip.

Earl Sheats stepped into the slugging spotlight by driving out his second round tripper of the tour.

Jackson went the route for Doherty's combine and although in difficulty several times due to faulty fielding, he managed to pull out in great style.

Opposing representatives of Virginia Medical College on Tuesday, the Hens came through in great style as they collected nine bingles in the five-inning tilt which was halted by rain, to hang up a 12-5 conquest in the initial tilt of the Southern trip.

Fixe extra-base blows were included in the collection of safeties garnered from Wright, Medico hurler. Earl McCord, Eddie Graham, Harold Hickman and Jack Daly led the slugging with two hits each. Daly's bingles were doubles while Hickman and Earl Sheats drove circuit clouts.

The local boys opened with a four-run barrage, collected 5 more tallies in the second frame, scored twice in the fourth and again in the fifth and last inning. The Virginians crossed the plate twice in the second inning, once in the third and climaxed their scoring in the fourth when two more runs were driven across the plate.

Delaware's fielding was faultless behind the five-hit hurling of Boney Jackson and Phil Reed.

Hampden-Sydney is slated for the Hens today with Randolph-Macon furnishing the opposition on Friday and Saturday. The squad will spend the week-end in Washington, where they will oppose the Quantico Marines, Monday.

Seven Win Prizes At Local Traps Saturday

Bill Little, scoring a 19x26, won a pair of chickens to lead gunners at the weekly trapshoot staged last Saturday by the Newark Baseball Club at Dameron's Field.

Others to win chickens were Harvey Jordan, 30x42; Slim Everett, 37x47; Rogers, 18x16; Smith, 21x27; and Ralph Whiteman, 13x17. Mann, 18x21, took two second prizes.

Individual scores not listed as winners were: Patchell, 12x17; K. Whiteman, 19x17; E. Cornog, 13x26; Lawrence, 3x5; Edmanson, 12x30; Lomax, 3x10; P. Cornog, 3x10; Barrow, 7x10; Wood, 3x10; and Jackson, 1x5.

Ineligible Star
Leads Attack On
Hen Baseballers

Ernie George, ineligible outfielder, had a perfect four-for-four day at the plate Saturday in leading Ellis Cullen's All-Stars to an 8-2 victory over the University of Delaware nine in the season's diamond opener.

An outstanding performer on Doc Doherty's 1936 combine, George found classroom duties too arduous this year and now finds himself ineligible under the rigid scholastic code in vogue at Delaware.

Cold Wind Blows

Despite semi-Arctic winds that swept across Frazier Field, the opening diamond clash was well played. Delaware turned in a perfect game afield and, regardless of the outcome, showed flashes of form that should make the 1937 Blue Hens a decidedly improved outfit over teams of recent seasons.

Cullen's array picked up single runs in the first and second innings and put the game on ice with six markers in the fifth chapter. Delaware scored twice in the fourth to knot the count, but never threatened thereafter.

Jackson Hurls Well

Limited to six innings by the wintry blasts, the contest was featured by the hurling of Roland (Boney) Jackson, varsity pitcher loaned to Cullen for the day. Jackson limited his mates to six blows, three of which were bunched in the scoring fourth.

Allen started on the hill for the collegians but the freshman star was driven to the showers in the fifth. Dunlap finished for Delaware.

In addition to Jackson, members of the Delaware team playing with the All-Stars were Sheats, Viden and Duffy.

Wins Eastern Crown

Oakwood Susabell, 9-month-old bitch, owned by Raymond Vansant Buckingham, Newark, who is secretary of the Eastern Beagle Club, won the first prize pink ribbon in the classic championship stake held by the Eastern Association of Beagle Clubs at West Chester, Pa., last Saturday.

The trials, originally scheduled to be run over the Eastern Club's course near Newark, were shifted to the Sportsman's Beagle Club, West Chester, when a rabies quarantine was declared in New Castle County.

Twenty-two entries from Delaware, Pennsylvania, Maryland and New Jersey vied in the trials. Oakwood Susabell finished fourth in the Delaware Derby run at the Eastern Club recently.

and Ralph Whiteman, 13x17. Mann, 18x21, took two second prizes.

Individual scores not listed as winners were: Patchell, 12x17; K. Whiteman, 19x17; E. Cornog, 13x26; Lawrence, 3x5; Edmanson, 12x30; Lomax, 3x10; P. Cornog, 3x10; Barrow, 7x10; Wood, 3x10; and Jackson, 1x5.

HUSS HAS BIG
TITLE MARGIN

Oxford Star Captures Third Victory In Series; Boasts Lead of 375-243

By "Cue Keeley"

Any question as to Ches Huss' claim to the 1937 title in the Tri-State Pocket Billiards League was all but finally answered last night at "Tip" Hanna's, Rising Sun, where the Oxford star chalked up a 125-42 triumph over Jimmy Martin, Newark ace, in the third block of the 500-point championship series.

Winning here Monday night, 125-88, Huss repeated the victory at Fred Brown's, Port Deposit, on Tuesday when he took a stirring, 125-113 triumph. As a result of the three matches, Huss holds a 375-243 margin over Martin. The fourth, and probable final block, will be played at Oxford tonight.

His Tenth Win

Huss has registered ten straight victories, seven in regular league competition, to move into a commanding position for the title. His win last night was his fifth without defeat against Martin this year.

Despite the final outcome, Jimmy, bearing down on every stroke of his stick, played in wretched luck at Rising Sun. Off to a good start, he was even with his nemesis in the opening innings. The count was tied at 35 balls.

At that point, however, Martin suffered a series of scratches that brought about a total collapse of his game. Huss, meanwhile, continued to show the same steady form that has marked his march to the top.

The winner had one run of 27 1/2 frames and finished the match with an unbroken string of 24. Martin's best was 16 balls in a single cluster.

Biles Gets Backing For Team In Oxford; To Be Made Up of Perryville Stars

EVERETT PILOTS FORT

Soldiers Forming Good Array For Season; First-Half Card To Be Presented

By "The Roamer"

Determined to continue their circuit on the same basis as in former years, directors of the Bi-State Baseball League figuratively thumbed their noses at a series of unexpected reverses in announcing plans for the 1937 campaign this week.

It was decided at a meeting held at the New Central Hotel, Elkton, last Friday night to open the season with four teams—Newark, Providence, Oxford and Fort DuPont.

Biles At Helm

Taylor Biles, who piloted Perryville to the 1936 championship, succeeded in obtaining the backing of Samuel Cooper, Oxford restaurant owner, and several other business men for a team in that town. Biles will manage the outfit which will be largely made up of his pennant winners from last year.

Mr. Cooper, widely known in this section, backed the Oxford team that was a prominent factor throughout the 1935 race in the Bi-State circuit. He owns the spacious ball park which housed the 1936 series.

Glenroy's interest decided to recall the application for a franchise filed some weeks ago thereby opening the door for a four-club wheel.

Everett Leads Soldiers

Sergeant M. A. (Stretch) Everett, a native of Elkton and a member of several outstanding teams there back in the heyday of the Susquehanna League, will pilot the First Engineers array to represent Fort DuPont.

A veteran football star at the fort, Everett promises to assemble a baseball team that will possess plenty of color and ability. Considerable material is at hand including several former college stars listed in the officers' ranks.

Thomas Kay, Sr., of Elk Mills, league advisor schedule maker, is drawing a first-half card to be presented for approval at the next session, which will be held at the New Central Hotel, Elkton, on Friday night, April 9.

Offered Is Refused

Refusing a bid to join the New Castle County League offered by Ken Mathewson, secretary of the loop, the Bi-State directors lost no time in assembling their abbreviated, but what shapes up as being, strong organization.

Three umpires will comprise the staff. No formal action has been taken on the arbiters, but it is felt that Norman Foster, Cherry Hill; Carter Simpkins, North East; and Horace Reynolds, Oxford, will be retained.

An application from LeRoy Wilkinson, who hurled last year for both Perryville and Aberdeen, has been filed and will be considered among others likely to seek posts as umpires.

FLASHES

By BILL FLETCHER

A COMBINATION of boxing, wrestling, track and a little bit of freestyle all was thrown into the professional basketball (1) in

After a bang contest, the verdict but not before they were forced to resort to tactics that would have been definitely frowned upon by players and fans in collegiate circles.

And yet, despite the pushing, shoving, hacking and slugging, the sports more interest than college basketball because it's rougher, but because it's consistent of decidedly better passing and shooting. The boys sent them through the hoops like dropped peas into the Grand Canyon.

AN IDEA OF THE cave-man tactics employed and the mild reaction to the rough stuff was seen when Rosan, Spha guard was unceremoniously transported into the "land nod" via an elbow and chin connection. . . . and there wasn't even a foul called (he didn't have the ball). The pro's gain possession of the ball and go down the floor much the way of a kangaroo full of hop by means of a two-handed dribble which keeps the game all action as sane even a lone dull moment.

Despite the time taken from basketball play to engage in media branch of fistfuffs, the game is none of its speed as passing and execution of plays reached near perfection. Only one pass was fumble throughout the entire contest.

INTER-COLLEGIATE basketball, however, while slower has been adapted to the type of athlete performing. With the elimination of the center jump for next year, however the game will be speeded up to an extent that athletic years of collegiate performers may be shortened through "burning out."

With the center jump out of the way, the rest between a basket and the ball toss-up is removed and the ball will find the game nothing more than a 200-yard dash at its slowest. The new rule will also necessitate a more abundant supply of play and it looks as if the reserve and the varsity material will determine the success or failure of an arrangement.

YOUNG ATHLETES, just out of school, are inclined to over-do and the new rule will become dangerous, throwing a shadow over the fits of the game, if the coach does not conscientiously observe the conditions and the limits of his charges.

SPEAKING OF PHOBIA—Carey and "Sonny" Kenneth are haunted by the sinister specter of baldness and take extreme measures to eliminate possibilities of "losing" falling hair. Lew's efforts to possibilities of an unadorned head daily while "Sonny" is said to give his scalp hourly massages with oils and what have you.

Emmet (Red) Ormsby, American League umpire, is the daddy of beautiful children. During the season Ormsby is Chicago representative of L. Marx Co., of New York one of the largest toy manufacturers in the world.

The Ormsby youngsters mustn't get a nice break around 12 time.

Cannons Prove Useful In Swiss Alp Region

The first actually useful thing ever done by a cannon has been found.

In Switzerland, where Alpine avalanches cause much damage and take many lives, cannons have been drafted into service to start the big snow slides when they become dangerous and at a time when preparations have been made for them and no one is in danger of being crushed.

Linen is most ancient textile.

RAINBOWS

By Mary Landell Roberts
It's been thund'ring 'long the river
It's been teeming silver rain
It's been pounding on my house roof
Like it'd never stop again!

I shudder when I hear it
It's sullen roar sounds bad
I shiver as it keeps it up
It nearly drives me mad!

I cower down beneath the quilts
And barely show my nose
So glum the world seems hourly
My blood stream nearly froze!

When morning breaks and still the rain
Comes beating down the same
I wonder that the earth can't groan
And start to fix the blame!

"Will Heaven never cease to mourn?"
I think I hear her say
"Oh, how can anything go on
When everything is gray?"

But then a joyful sound is heard
A robin's chirping song,
Which says, "Look up, the rainbow's here—
Rejoice now all day long!"

So glory in God's goodness
Remember He is love
And though it pour whose oceans
He governs all above.

Relief Labor Working Here On Privy Project

Engineers of the State Board of Health introduced the idea of privies before the Council in March, 1936, without success. The project was re-introduced on several occasions thereafter before the Council expressed a willingness to participate.

Sanitary sewer connections on Ray and North Streets are not available, it is said, thereby creating a need for modern, outdoor privies.

Del. Conference On Mental Health Set

Leadership of Dr. M. A. Tarumian, superintendent of the Delaware State Hospital at Farnhurst, Delaware was one of the first states to establish a state-wide traveling mental health clinic system.

It is the contention of such leaders as Dr. Clarence M. Hincks, general director of the National Committee for Mental Hygiene, that positive mental hygiene need not stop with the prevention of mental disabilities but should as its ultimate goal the enrichment of life for every one through the development of healthy and robust personalities.

Schools Enter Campaign

In recent years the schools have begun to play an important part in the campaign for better mental health and educators and psychiatrists have cooperated together in formulating principles to make elementary school education more productive in terms of well-adjusted lives. The average school teacher today is as interested in the development of her pupils into normal, self-reliant adults as the teacher of a generation ago was in inculcating the "three R's."

The program of the forthcoming Delaware Conference on Education and Mental Hygiene, the details of which were announced recently by F. V. du Pont, president of the Delaware Society for Mental Hygiene, indicates how many factors play a part in the control and prevention of mental disabilities.

On this program are psychiatrists, psychologists, eminent clergymen, civic leaders, heads of institutions of higher learning, public and private school officials, specialists in the arts and others, all of whose work has an important bearing upon the subject.

Topics Indicate Range

The topics to which special sessions will be devoted, also indicate the wide range of mental hygiene as it applies to the schools, among these are: "The Prevention of Mental Disease," "Partnership Between Parents and Teachers in Mental Health Endeavor," "The Mental Health of the Teacher," "Mental Health Problems of the Gifted Child," "Mental Hygiene Implications of Non-Attendance."

It is estimated that nearly 1,000 public and private school teachers, social workers, civic leaders and others from all parts of the state will attend the conference.
