COUNCIL MEETING

New Ordinances Passed. Board Of Health Reports

Town Council at its regular monthly meeting Monday night gave the third and final reading to a number of ordinances. Several of these ordinances have to do with building operations and are expected to be of great benefit to the town. All of the ordinances were passed without a dissenting vote. Probably the most important of the new laws is the one which prohibits the erection of any frame buildings along Main street between the two railroads in the future. Another one makes it necessary that Council approve the plans and grant a permit before any building operation can be started and a third provides that all sidewalks along the business section of Main street shall be laid with concrete in the future. There was also an ordinance passed prohibiting traction engines from passing over Main street between Chapel street and Elkton road. All of these ordinances provide for the imposing of a fine in case of violations and all of them were printed in full in The Post four weeks ago. They go into effect at once.

Following the complaint of Louis Curtis, secretary of the Board of Health, that the present conditions of several properties on Cleveland Avenue, had been declared a nuisance by that body, Council decided to send notice to the owners to connect with the sewer within thirty days. The sewer bill contains a section which makes it necessary for Council to send such a notice when the Board of Health makes a complaint against a particular property. In these cases it is the gutters in front of the houses that are complained of and it is claimed that for the betterment of the sanitary conditions it is necessary that he properties connect. In case of failure to connect within thirty days the owners are subject to a fine.

Mr. Curtis stated that it was not until several days ago that he learned the Board of Health had this power under the sewer bill. He intimated that the board will probably have other complaints to make soon unless the nuisances are abated and that the Council may be asked to call a special meeting to receive such complaints. Members of Council are much pleased with the excellent work that Mr. Curtis is doing as Health Executive Officer.

The report of the treasurer showed the total receipts during July including $5,983.35, received of the 1914 taxes, were $7,786.60. The disbursements were $1,374.15 leaving a balance of $6,394.45.

Summer School Students Inspect College Farm

On July 30, August 3 and 4, the agricultural classes of the Summer School visited the College Farm, spending about two hours each day. The farms were inspected, special attention being given to the members of the different breeds represented in the College herds of dairy cows and horses. After a discussion of the factors which influence successful dairy husbandry the students visited the piggy for a close inspection of the College herd of swine of the lard and bacon types. The commercial orchards of peaches and apples, together with the variety orchards of peaches, apples, pears, plums, quinces, nectarines, and apricots, treated much interest, as did also the vineyard and the small fruits. After leaving the orchards the students went through the experimental plots devoted to the growing of cereals and the various other field crops. Much interest was shown in the effect of various rotations on the fertility of the land, generally, and on special crops. The plot of corn grown on alfalfa sod without fertilizer was one of the most spectacular of the plots visited. Some of the wheat varieties inspected yielded as high as 47 1-2 bushels per acre, the largest yield recorded at the College Farm.

Horse Drops Dead On Depot Road

A valuable horse owned by E. S. Armstrong, Cooch's Bridge, driven by Will Saunders, colored, dropped dead on Depot Road on Monday night about 8 o'clock.

Saunders, who works on the Armstrong farm, had borrowed the horse to attend the funeral of Levi Taylor. After the funeral he drove up to Newark.

It is presumed the horse died of heart trouble as it showed no signs of over-fatigue.

Sewer Law To Be Enforced

At a meeting of the Board of Health held on Saturday night, Section 30 of the Sewer Bill was considered. This section in question grants power to the Board of Health to enforce installation of sewer connection where sanitary conditions demand it.

The section of the bill reads as follows:

"Upon the written notice from the Board of Health of the Town of Newark of the existence of a nuisance detrimental to the public health of the inhabitants of said town, and stating that such nuisance can be eliminated by connecting the property upon which said nuisance exists with the system of sewers built under this Act, the Council of the 'Council of Newark' shall, and it is hereby directed to serve a written notice upon the owner of the property upon which such nuisance is alleged to exist, to connect such property with the system of sewers within thirty (30) days after the date of such notice. Should such property not be thus connected within the period fixed in such notice, the owner thereof, upon conviction before the alderman of the Town of Newark of his failure to obey the instructions of said Council as contained in such notice, be subject to a fine of not less than five (5) nor more than ten (10) dollars for each and every day beyond the expiration of the period named in such notice for connecting with the system of sewers which said connection remains unmade, and such nuisance is allowed to remain, said fine to be collected as other fines for offenses against the laws and ordinances of the Town of Newark are now by law collected."

The Secretary reported many premises in the town and an unsanitary condition as plainly coming under provisions of this section. After an extended discussion he was given authority to proceed at once with the enforcement of the law. This will be done at once.

Pencader Republicans To Meet

A meeting of Pencader Republicans will be held at Glasgow on Friday night, August 7th. The purpose of the meeting will be to choose delegates for the State Convention. The Hundred and County officers will be discussed. Other informal meetings are being held in the Hundred.

While there has been no candidates announced, several farmers are urging W. H. Evans to stand for Representative at the General Assembly. Mr. Evans refuses so far to discuss the matter.

W. C. T. U. Meeting

The local W. C. T. U. will meet on Friday evening at the home of Miss Pennington.

To Delay Choice Of Judge Gray's Successor

Senator Saulsbury of Delaware called upon President Wilson last week and renewed his request for the appointment of Judge Victor B. Woolley as circuit judge to succeed Judge Gray.

President Wilson made it plain that there would be no appointment in the near future of the adjournment of court. He did not indicate his attitude.

Senator Saulsbury said the impression existing in Delaware was that the President had assured the delegation of lawyers who visited him several months ago of his preference for Judge Woolley.

It is reported the President will not make the appointment until after the November elections and that the Supreme Court Justice will be named at the same time.

COUNTY AGENT COOCH BEGINS WORK

Co-operative Buying Considered

Levi H. Cooch, who was elected as County Farm Agent for New Castle county under the provisions of the recent Agricultural Extension bill passed by Congress, began his work on Saturday, August 1st. He is devoting his time at present to a visit to the farmers in this vicinity, and acquainting himself with the actual working conditions existing. While Mr. Cooch knows these conditions better perhaps than anyone who could have been secured, his editorial work has for the last few years taken him away most of his time. He therefore feels he should get in close touch with the actual needs before any definite line of work is commenced.

C. informing to this idea, Mr. Cooch would not consent to make any statement for the present. He wants the co-operation of the farmer. With that much of real material help will result.

One of the first things started will be the organization of Farmers' Clubs for co-operative buying and selling.

A meeting of several farmers will be held on Monday evening of next week at the Welsh Tract School house to talk over such an organization. It will be in the nature of a general discussion in which the farmers will see if any co-operation can be had toward the general good.

Chicken Thieves At Work

Several farmers around Newark are being bothered with chicken thieves. On Saturday night a raid was made on the A. G. Stroud farm. Mr. Stroud heard the noise and proceeded to investigate. He fired a couple of shots but was unable to catch the offenders.

Some of the farmers are reported as inventors of some clever devices to make a good catch.

Dairy Association Formed

The Milk Producers' Protective Association with 90 members owning 900 cows, has been formed at Rising Sun, Cecil county.

Dean Robinson Returns

Miss Winifred Robinson, Dean of the Women's College, returned to Newark on Monday. Miss Robinson has been at the University of Wisconsin during the Summer School session where she had charge of the Women's Department.

Dean Robinson expects to make her headquarters in Newark now until the new buildings are completed. She will begin at once to complete plans for the opening of the school. Her secretary, Miss Long, who has had charge of the work during the absence of Miss Robinson, will probably come to Newark in a few days to take up her duties.

The work on the buildings is being pushed rapidly to completion and everything points to their readiness.

Wedding Announced

The wedding of Jennie D. Slack, daughter of Mrs. Annie Slack, of Iron Hill, to Dr. J. Earle Gillilan of Newark, will take place at the home of the bride Wednesday evening, August 12th.

Tennis Tournament Finished

During the past week the semi-finals and finals of the tennis tournament at the Delaware College Summer School have been played. The results in the ladies' matches were as follows: Miss Mary Hurlock of Bridgeville defeated Miss Florence Wilson of Cecil county, Maryland; Miss E. A. Scott of Cecil county, defeated Miss Mildred Orry of Bridgeville. In the finals Miss Hurlock defeated Miss Scott. In the finals of the gentlemen's singles, Mr. C. B. Sypherd of Dover defeated Mr. M. H. Mitchell of Newark, 6-0, 6-3. In a special match of doubles between Mr. C. B. Sypherd and Mr. W. R. Ritz, representing the students, and Professors C. A. Short and G. E. Dutton, representing the faculty, the members of the faculty won by a score of 6-1, 6-2.

It has been announced that Dr. Mitchell will make an address next Sunday evening.

Spill On Depot Road

A severe jolting was administered to passengers of one of the local hacks last Thursday on Depot Road. Driving too close to the ditch opposite Dr. Watson's residence the hack overturned throwing the passengers in a heap. Aside from the severe jarring and a number of scratches and bruises, no serious injury was caused. Those in the hack at the time of the accident were Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Lovett of Philadelphia, Miss Mae Lovett, Mrs. Wm. Marsey and two other passengers.

Narrow Escape From Death

Robert, the four-year-old son of Leon Crowley, of 1241 Walnut street, Wilmington, on Friday picked up a dynamite cap, found by the father, which Mrs. Crowley had put with other trash to be thrown away. The boy found the cap and putting it on a brick struck it with a hatchet. An explosion, which shook nearby houses followed, but the shock went downward, and the boy escaped with burns and bruises.

Utility Corporations Merger

There is talk of merging several public utility corporations on the lower peninsula, including the Sussex Gas Company of Seaford, Laurel and Bridgeville, the Sussex Light and Power Company of Seaford, the Cambridge and Easton Gas and Light Companies and the Gas, Heat and Power Companies of Salisbury. It is figured that $2,000 a year for fuel could be saved and several of the plants could shut down or be dispensed with resulting in a total annual saving of $20,000.

Levi Taylor Killed

Levi Taylor, colored, well-known in the Iron Hill and Newark sections, was killed in Atlantic City one day last week, by Ben Com-mander, a young negro giant, in a dispute over non-payment of rent at the home of the latter's mother. Mrs. Susan Ridder, a wealthy resident, who employed Taylor as a gardener, assumed charge of his funeral. Taylor last winter gave it out that Mrs. Ridder had given him or purposed leaving him a large interest in her estate.

Dr. Mitchell Settles In New House

Dr. Mitchell, president of Delaware College, moved his family to Newark on Saturday. He has rented the beautiful house built recently by George Kierski on Depot Road.

Summer School Closes

With the examinations to be held on Thursday and Friday, August 6 and 7, the second session of the Delaware College Summer School will come to a close. The entire session has been a success in every way, and fully measured up to the expectations of those in charge. Several new features were introduced this year. One of these, the ten minute talks at chapel exercises proved of exceptional interest and value. The same is true of athletics in the school. A tennis tournament has been held; two basketball games have been played between Maryland and Delaware girls; and instruction has been given in games and exercises for use in rural schools. This work in physical culture has been in charge of Physical Director McAvoy. The total enrollment in all courses during the last week of the Summer School was as follows: from Wilmington, women, 7; from New Castle county, men, 15; women, 48; from Kent county, men, 1; women, 25; from Sussex county, men, 15; women, 60 from Maryland, men, 1; women, 19 from Pennsylvania, men, 1.

Waverly Club Annual Reunion

The Waverly Club held its annual reunion yesterday at the home of John S. Walker. The committee in charge was Mrs. Alfred Walker, Miss Sophia Nivin and Miss Emmeline Derickson.

The party as usual was a jolly one. Games of Five Hundred, Bridge and Croquet were participated in. At six o'clock, the banquet was served on the lawn.

About 50 guests were present, among whom were:

CARNIVAL SUCCESSFUL

Growing Sentiment To Make it Annual Event

"A Carnival for Newark every year" seems to be the popular demand this week. It is the greatest Town Advertising medium in the town—not even excepting the Board of Trade. "Let us have a Carnival every year," says a big business man. "Contrary to the general impression, it booms rather than depresses business."

While the enthusiasm for the Carnival was not so pronounced as in previous years, the success of last week has created a demand that it be made an annual affair. Coming late in the season this year, it afforded a recreation resort for people for miles around. Although the matter was not strictly of Carnival temperature, the crowds gathered every evening. There is something about a carnival that gets in the blood. We forget our troubles—out for a lark we get in the game that leads to success in every undertaking.

The boxing bout on Friday evening created a great deal of sport. The laurels go to "Fatty" Harrigan.

One of the popular features of this year's Carnival was the dancing floor. Although the idea was put into execution in a hurry it was a success. Very little money was cleared on this but the prospects were shown for another year. The feature was popular with the young folk and thoroughly enjoyed by everybody.

An interesting fact in this connection was the order and conduct of those attending. Sure, the fancy dances were given but with a grace that would please the most fastidious. There was none of the "bunny hogs" and "turkey trts" of the Ruff Nex. It was clean, graceful dancing. It must be admitted that this was exceptional at a public dance at Carnival time.

In fact the conduct of the whole Carnival was remarkable. In all the motley crowd, there was a spirit of good fun. The order was good throughout the week, with not a disturbance to mar the occasion.

Saturday night everything seemed just right. Weather ideal and then the crowds. A Newarker was really a stranger. They came from everywhere. Surprised at our enthusiasm and show, they entered into the spirit of the occasion and swelled the receipts to $1800 for the one night.

The prizes created their usual interest. They were awarded—with everybody satisfied and this year's carnival was declared closed.

The net receipts promise between $1500 and $1800. Treasurer Gallaher has been busy this week settling accounts and winding up the affairs but will be unable to give a statement before next week.

The prizes as awarded follow:

Automobile—Ellis Lasage, No. 37, Series K.
Kitchen Cabinet—Pusey Pemberton.
Cut Glass Cream and Sugar Pieces—Mrs. Johnson
Centerpiece—Mrs. J. Irving Dayett.

NEWARK CLOSER TO PENNANT

Newark journeyed to Rising Sun on Saturday and nosed out the team of that town by a score of 5 to 4. This score, however, does not show just how much the local club had it over the tailenders. Scott Gregg, because of illness in his family, was out of the game and his absence was felt although Gray who covered first base in his place did good work in the field. In the seventh inning with two on the bases Morris hit for a home run but Umpire Cloak, who has never shown any high degree of competency in his line called him out, claiming that he cut third and also refused to allow Marney, who was on first base score on the hit. This decision brought out a long argument but Mr. Cloak was firm and consequently Newark lost two runs by that decision.

Hogan had the best of the argument with Hindman who pitched for Rising Sun all the way. The Rising Sun boys, however, bunched five of their six hits in the fifth and seventh innings and this produced four runs. Newark got one run in the second inning, principally on their opponents' errors. In the fifth singles by Hogan and Jackson and Morris' double gave them two more. They landed on Hindman again in the seventh for two runs and also lost two in this inning by Umpire Cloak's decision. The score follows:

OXFORD, 12; ELK MILLS, 4.

The Oxford team gave Elk Mills an awful lacing on Saturday, winning from the runners-up by the score of 12 to 4. That game here that President Kay has declared no game evidently took all the "pep" out of the Maryland lads as they played a miserable game at Oxford. Neither Sweitzer nor Finn could stop the slaughter and to make matters worse the Elk Mills' players booted the ball all over the field at every opportunity. The score by innings follows:

KAY THROWS OUT GAME

Last week was an eventful one in the Tri-County League and some of the happenings furnished as much excitement for the local fans as the European War is furnishing for American tourists in Europe. By far the greatest event was the action of President Kay of Elk Mills in sustaining the protest of the Elk Mills club as to the game that team lost to Newark here on Saturday, July 25, and ordering the game to be played over should it be found that it would affect first or second place in the league at the close of the season.

While the officials of the Newark Club and many of the fans are greatly incensed over this action of President Kay, the matter is also furnishing much amusement to those who know all the circumstances. The decision of the league executive became known Saturday afternoon when Johnny Grant, one of the local officials, received a long letter from President Kay, stating his reasons for throwing out the game. It required about two thousand words for President Kay to justify his action in the letter to Mr. Grant. The substance of his decision is that he threw the game out because Umpire Weir stopped the game while it was raining at the end of the seventh inning. He claimed that the Umpire should have waited thirty minutes before stopping the game finally. It is true that there is such a rule that provides for the umpire in case of rain where he has stopped the play to wait 30 minutes before declaring the game over.

In this particular case, however, there were other circumstances to be considered. President Kay was a spectator and no one should know better than himself just what happened. The minute that the umpire waved the players off the field at the end of the seventh inning practically every player and especially the Elk Mills players ran out of the grounds. There being no one left to play ball Umpire Weir also left as did the spectators.

As a matter of fact there is not one chance in a hundred that Newark will need this game and the present indications are that it will do Elk Mills no good either, as that team does not look to have class enough to finish either first or second. It is the looks of the thing, however, that the local fans are complaining about. The protest was based on disappointment and looks like a plan to get another chance for a game that was honestly and fairly lost.

President Kay in his long letter discusses the proposition fore and aft. He quotes what he said to somebody and what somebody else said to him. He then tells what one player said to some other player and what this player and that player thinks about the matter, all of which has no bearing whatever over the question in dispute. He also takes up a page or more to discuss the alleged collision between Beatty and the Elk Mills shortstop and although no protest was made as to that play President Kay states that the Newark player was sufficiently in the wrong for him to throw the game out on that ground.

President Kay harps about the Elk Mills club not having the opportunity for a time at bat in the eighth and ninth innings and about how gamely they were fighting. The executive was evidently not very observant for its dollars to doughnuts the Elk Mills team was ready to quit in the first inning when the locals got after Sweitzer and pounded in one run for a starter. The visitors had no more "pep" after that inning than the boy who is caught with his fingers in the jam jar.

The Newark club officials say that even should it be found necessary to play this game to decide which team finishes second to get in the five game series with the winner, they will not agree to play a full game. They would agree to play two more innings to make the game of July 25 a full game.

BOOSTS AND KNOCKS

"He's a Devil in his own home Town," is a popular song with the Newark baseball fans just at this time.

A large crowd of the faithful will accompany the team to Elkton next Saturday. The latter club is going fast and some of the players have boasted that they will take the two remaining games from Newark.

"Billy" Jackson is walloping the ball at a hard clip and is now among the leaders.

Captain Morris got back on the job with his stick at Rising Sun and pounded in half of Newark's runs.

The work of the two Beatty's and Jackson in the field at Rising Sun was worth the price of admission alone.

It looks as though Oxford has at last struck their gait and will be a hard team to beat from now on.

"Billy" Marney has entirely recovered from the crack that he got on the head during the Elk Mills game.

The Newark Field Club is playing the best ball of any club in the Penn-Mar League and is now but one and one-half games behind the leaders.

Del Lovett pitched clever ball against Providence and allowed only three hits.

North East and the Newark Field Club will play a double header here next Saturday. This extra bill should attract a crowd.

Gillfillan strengthens the field club and it is to be hoped that he will be in the game for the remainder of the season now that the team has a chance to catch the leaders.

Local fans would like to see Elkton and Newark play the five game series at the close of the season.

BATTING AND FIELDING AVERAGES

FIELD CLUB GOING STRONG

In one of the best baseball games played in Wilmington this year the Newark Field Club of the Penn-Mar League defeated Providence by the score of 3 to 2 last Saturday. It was a pitchers' battle between Lovett and Wilson with the former having the better of it. Lovett only gave three hits and fanned 13. His support was excellent, the work of Scanlon being a feature. The field club won out in the ninth inning when Herdman doubled and Dawson singled with none down.

The field club is playing a fast game and deserves better patronage than it is receiving. Next Saturday afternoon Northeast will be here for a double-header.

War Affects Canners

Canners of the Delaware-Maryland-Virginia peninsula, as the result of the European war, are in communication with agents of the Powers over supplies of canned goods.

Practically every packer on the Peninsula has either been visited by a representative or has received a request for information concerning the disposition of this summer's output of canned tomatoes, corn and other staples.

Prices of canned goods are expected to rise as the result of the European demand. This boost, however, will affect only a small percentage of the output for the majority of the canners contracted earlier in the summer at a flat sum per acre.

Because of flurries in wheat, growers in central Delaware have ceased selling wheat, although buyers surround the farmers, and are offering one cent in advance of Chicago quotations.

Bridge Collapses At Chesapeake City

Decay of timbers caused the collapse of the drawbridge over the canal in Chesapeake City last Tuesday. Pending repairs vehicles are using the Pivot Bridge, two miles of Chesapeake City.

Newspaper Men

Hold Meeting

The second mid-summer meeting of the Del-Mar-Via Press Association was held at Ocean City, Md., last Thursday, and was attended by newspaper representatives from a number of Delaware and Maryland papers. The visitors stopped at the Atlantic Hotel, and in addition to discussing association matters in a general way, took in the boardwalk and the various attractions of Maryland's famous resort. Some of the party ventured into the ocean, although the surf was high and the atmosphere decidedly chilly for bathing.

A pleasant feature of the day occurred when the train stopped at Berlin on the way down. Ex-Sheriff Harrison of the firm of J. G. Harrison & Sons, the famous nurserman, presented the newspaper men with a half dozen baskets of apples and peaches—the pick of their orchards. Some of the fruit was on the dinner table at the hotel later. It is unnecessary to say that the gift was thoroughly appreciated and enjoyed. It evidenced the thoughtfulness of the Harrisons in a most pleasing manner, and emphasized their reputation for hospitality generally.

The mid-summer meetings of the association afford an opportunity for the newspaper men to get together and talk over the various matters pertaining to their business. The annual meetings for the election of officers and transaction of regular business are held in January.

The suggestion was made that the next mid-summer meeting of the association be so arranged as to include a two or three-days' outing at Rehoboth or some convenient point on the Eastern Shore.

Second Basket Ball Game

On Thursday afternoon, July 30 the basketball team representing the Delaware girls in the Summer School defeated the team representing the Maryland girls. The score was 4 to 3. The game was closely contested throughout, and the result was in doubt until the whistle blew. The feature of the game was the excellent guarding done by both teams. Miss Dickerson of the Delaware team, did the best defensive playing, and Miss Florence Wilson of the Maryland team, excelled in offensive work. The score now stands a tie, each team having won a game. On account of approaching examinations no deciding game will be played. The line-up and score were as follows:

Delaware: Miss Wilson, forward, Miss I. Scott, Miss Elliott, forward, Miss E. Scott, Miss Parvis, forward, Miss Finn, Miss Colbert, center, Miss Wilson, Miss Little, center, Miss Janney, Miss Hoffecker, center.

Maryland: Miss Robinson, guard, Miss Gillespie, Miss Cole, guard, Miss Crothers, Miss Derickson, guard.

Field goals: Delaware, Miss Parvis, 1; Maryland, Miss I. Scott, 1; goals from fouls: Delaware, Miss Parvis, 2; Maryland, Miss Finn, 1; referee, Physical Director McAvoy; linesman and timer, Professor Dutton. Scorer, Professor Short.

The party will study diseases of plants, especially of potatoes, under the direction of Dr. Appel, a representative of the German government, Dr. Guisart of the Canadian Department of Agriculture, and Mr. W. A. Orton, chief of the department of plant industry of the United States. During the trip, the party will stop at the following places: New Jersey towns, for the purpose of studying early crop potatoes; Boston, Mass., to study the gipsy and brown tail moths; Caribou and adjacent towns in Maine, as well as the State Experiment Station, for the purpose of studying the powdery scab; Geneva, Plattsburg, and other cities in north-eastern New York, to observe farmers' spraying tests. The party will go next to southwestern Michigan, northern Wisconsin, and St. Paul and other points in Minnesota. St. Paul will be reached on August 21. At this point Dr Manns will leave the party and return to Newark. The other members will continue on to Oregon and thence to Southern California.

Summer School Entertainment

That Community Spirit can develop and create something worth while was clearly demonstrated at the Summer School entertainment on Thursday night. In the short time of five weeks, it is surprising to see the amount of work done in making a program of such delightful entertainment. It was certainly an inspiration to the teachers and must have clearly shown them a new field of work in influence in their several communities.

While the whole program was well executed, the chorus singing was exceptionally fine considering the short time for practice.

The entertainment was in charge of Commissioner Wagner. The program follows:

GOVERNOR MILLER SAFE BACK IN U. S.

Lands At Bar Harbor, Me., On Kronprinzessin Cecilie

Friends of Governor and Mrs. Charles R. Miller in and around Newark will be interested in the following account of the thrilling adventures of the Kronprinzessin Cecilie, the $10,000,000 treasure ship, on board which Governor and Mrs. Miller were passengers.

The North German Lloyd steamer Kronprinzessin Cecilie, carrying more than $10,000,000 in gold and whose whereabouts has been a mystery since she sailed from New York last Tuesday, arrived at Bar Harbor yesterday. The Cecilie dropped anchor at 6 o'clock in the morning, after a forced run of four days, her officers fearing capture. With a cargo of $10,000,000 in gold and $1,000,000 in silver consigned to French and English bankers and with an estimated value of over $5,000,000 in herself the Kronprinzessin Cecilie has constituted probably the finest sea prize ever open to capture. She crept along the Maine coast and into the harbor under the cover of night. Every porthole was blanketed with canvas, so that not a gleam of light betrayed her whereabouts. Her four stacks had been tipped with black paint, so that she resembled an English steamship. At one time capture seemed imminent. Captain Polack reported on Sunday that he had intercepted a wireless from one French vessel to another giving warning of the Cecilie's proximity, but under a fog she escaped.

The Kronprinzessin Cecilie left New York last Tuesday morning, bound for Bremen via Plymouth and Cherbourg. She had 350 first-class, 130 second-class and 736 steerage passengers. On Friday night while a dance was in progress one of the passengers noticed that the position of the moon had unaccountably shifted to the port side of the ship. Before the significance of this was realized the captain called the men into the smoking room.

"Gentlemen," he said, "war has been declared by England, France, Germany and Austria-Hungary, and we are going back to America. We have enough coal for our return home, and it is my earnest hope that we shall not be intercepted by foreign war vessels."

There was nervous laughter, applause, congratulations and protests, which gave way to a grave state of apprehension as the seriousness of the situation became apparent. Electric lights were turned off, and the ship was covered from prow to stern in a shroud of canvas. This smothered whatever beams of light escaped thru chinks in the stateroom windows. According to the ship's log, she then was within two days of Plymouth.

A group of financiers on board offered to buy the ship and sail her under the American colors, but to all proposals the captain replied that his duty was spelled by his orders from Bremen, which instructed him to turn back and save his ship. There was a stampede for the wireless, but the captain announced that no messages would be sent for fear of betraying the ship's location.

The American port which the captain would try to make was a matter of unlimited speculation. It was not until the passengers awoke yesterday morning in sight of the Maine hills that the liner's destination became certain.

For two nights, with her head and side lights extinguished, and every other illumination blotted out with canvas, the Kronprinzessin Cecilie ploughed through the fog with unreluctant speed. Captain Polack's explanation to a delegation of passengers who protested against the fast running under such conditions was that his motive was to save his ship from capture. He added that he did not consider the danger appreciable, as he was not in the usual path. The captain's only concession was to sound the fog horn. When the vessel arrived safely at Bar Harbor he received a long line of passengers, who congratulated him on his achievement. Captain Polack is a lieutenant-commander in the German naval reserves.

Among the passengers were Representative A. J. Barchfield of Pennsylvania; Richard Bartholdt of Missouri; C. Ledyard Blair of New York; and Governor Charles R. Miller of Delaware.

Captain Polack said he was awaiting advices from his line offices in New York.

"I can see no possibility of taking this ship to New York from here with safety," he said. "To avoid foreign vessels we should have to keep within the three-mile limit, and to accomplish this the ship would have to be built like a canoe. We have reached an American port in safety, and that was more than I had dared to hope. We have been in almost constant danger of capture, and we can consider ourselves extremely lucky to have come out so well. I know I have been criticised for making too great speed under bad weather conditions, but I have not wilfully endangered the lives of the passengers. I would rather have lost the whole ship and cargo than have assumed any such risk. Of course, aside from this consideration my own aim has been to save my ship and my cargo from capture. I have not been acting on my own initiative, but under orders from the North German Lloyd in Bremen, and although I am an officer in the German navy my duty has been to the steamship line."

Oral duels and miniature international warfare in the smoking room helped to divert the minds of the passengers who were inclined to misgivings. To some sleep was impossible. The dark, foggy nights were long vigils until the morning sun burned its way thru the mist that had hung over the North Atlantic. The pool on the time of arrival in Plymouth was changed to gambling on the American port into which the ship would go.

It took several of the ship's officers to restrain passengers from crowding into the small launches that came to the ship's side after she entered the harbor. A man who managed to get a newspaper from one of the launches was all but mobbed.

The little village of Bar Harbor with its summer colony, was all astir before its usual hour to witness the unprecedented spectacle of a big ocean liner anchored just off shore. The smokestack, painted by the crew the morning after the Cecilie turned on her course, led the inhabitants of the village to think that by some strange chance the Olympic had wandered into port. Next word went around that it was the missing Cecilie, with the famous cargo of gold, and curiosity became feverish. Enterprising persons began running launches to the ship, but none were allowed to board her. They stopped long enough, however, to shout greetings and the latest news to those on board.

Interesting Surveys At Delaware Capes

The historic boat "Endeavor", which is engaged in the coast and geodetic survey service in charge of Captain J. R. Boutelle, is making surveys off the coast between Lewes and Cape May.

The original surveys of the shoals and channels were made about 1847. There may have been additional surveys, now and then since that time, but the changes have been so great that a general re-survey has been made necessary, which is now being done.

Captain Boutelle has his men sounding out the shoals and channels near Cape May, and also extending the work over the Overfalls shoals to the six fathom curve which is the curve that defines the limit of six fathoms of water.

The "Endeavor" has had an interesting historical career. She was constructed in 1862 at the Norfolk Navy Yard to be used as a Confederate gunboat. She is said to have been the "Lady Davis," money for the construction of which was contributed by the ladies of the Confederacy. When Norfolk was taken during the Civil War, the boat was captured and later turned over to the coast survey service, in which she has been engaged for a half century, making surveys from Maine to the Gulf of Mexico.

The boat is 110 feet long and is manned by the following officers: Captain J. B. Boutelle, E. D. Gordon, Erwin Harsh, F. E. O. Keson and K. E. Nelson Thorsell in addition to a crew of twenty-two men.

Captain Boutelle and his men who have been engaged in the above work for the past month, have made their headquarters at Lewes, until last week, when they went to Cape May.

Profitable Garden

From a garden 25x150 feet A. K. Hopkins of Middletown, Del., has sold to date more than $120 worth of produce of various kinds. Starting in the early spring with two small hot beds he sold $25 worth of early tomato plants. Later came string beans and lettuce, and a goodly sum was realized from them.

The early garden was sowed in celery and late cabbage plants and the sales from these have run as high as $23 per day and are still going on, after every rain.

Mr. Hopkins still has a large crop of lima beans to harvest from 200 hills and 100 chrysanthemum plants, from which he expects large returns.

Every part of the garden except that set in lima beans has been cropped twice and some of it three times this season.

EGG LAYING CONTEST FOR DELAWARE

North American Makes Announcement

The Fourth North American International Egg Laying Competition will be held at the Delaware State Agricultural Experiment Station, Newark, Del., beginning November 1, the day following the close of the present competition at Thorndale, Pa., and continuing until and including October 31, 1915.

It will be under the direct state and national supervision, the advantages of which will appeal immediately to the many thousands who have noted the amazing results attained in competitions held thus far under North American auspices.

It is fully expected that the records of the present year, now far ahead of those of any previous American contest and nearly up to those of Australia and New Zealand, will be exceeded and that results will point the way more surely to a still larger development of the hen as a commercial proposition. In a broad sense, the limit of egg production has not nearly been reached, except, perhaps, in the case of a comparatively few individuals. There seems to be no reason why there shall not be a considerable advance toward this goal of all poultrymen in the coming year.

The Delaware State Agricultural Experiment Station embraces a farm of something over 200 acres, on which all crops common to the latitude are raised under direction of specialists; and tests in dairy and other farm departments are constantly in progress. This farm lies directly along the Pennsylvania Railroad, opposite the Newark station, which is thirty-seven miles from Philadelphia, and from which it is but a walk of perhaps five minutes to the residence and office of Prof. Harry Hayward, expert in charge.

The competition plant will be situated in plain view of travelers in the hundred or more trains running daily between Philadelphia and Washington. Its accessibility will attract numerous visitors.

The location is nearly, if not quite, ideal. The farm has most excellent soil, which has never been overrun by poultry, and is piped for water from a fine artesian well system, which supplies the town of Newark. The piping will be extended directly to the laying grounds. The climate is mild and doubtless will have favorable effect on the individuals in the competition.

Coming directly under state and government supervision, competition results will be given in bulletins from data constantly collected by specialists, whose work already has attracted much attention. These bulletins will, therefore, be official and will go into state and national records for the benefit of all American poultrymen, and especially those of Delaware, to whom the competition will become of immediate great benefit.

Another advantage will come in the co-operation of the veterinary and bacteriological departments of Delaware College, with which the experiment station is affiliated. Fowls die sometimes in competitions and these will be closely examined without loss of time to ascertain the cause of death.

It is not necessary to say that all birds in the competition will be under constant observation and will receive the best care. In all North American competitions this rule has been rigidly enforced, and there can be no reason for departing from it in any particular. Indeed, if possible, supervision will be even more thorough under the advice and guidance of the college experts.

Prof. Harry Hayward, who is dean of the agricultural station connected with Delaware College, and who, therefore, will have direct supervision of The North American competition, is a graduate of the College of Agriculture of Cornell University. He has been connected with college agricultural work for many years, one of his most important connections having been at State College, Pa., where for eight years he was at the head of the department of dairying.

Professor Hayward also has done splendid work in a similar capacity at the New Hampshire College of Agriculture, and was assistant chief of the dairy division of the United States department of Agriculture at Washington. He organized and for three years directed the agricultural department of Mount Vernon School, coming to Delaware College in 1906.

Professor Hayward has taken special work in several American universities, Reading College in England, and a number of German agricultural institutions. He is a member of the Delaware State Board of Education and several national agricultural societies and is author of numerous widely circulated bulletins and a lecturer of note.

Professor Hayward has the full support of the Delaware State Board of Agriculture in assuming supervision of The North American egg-laying competition, and is actively assisted in making preparations for the event by Wesley Webb corresponding secretary of the Board, himself an agricultural expert of wide reputation.

The success of The North American international egg-laying competitions, which have gathered entrants from nearly all parts of the United States, with the best of Canada and Europe, has greatly helped and encouraged poultrymen who know what development of egg production means, especially in these days of high prices.

One evidence of this is shown in the fact that the entry list for the fourth contest is already almost full, nearly eighty pens of six birds each having been entered, (continued on page 8)

Action follows— The ring of a bell

Even the most important man in the country answers to the ring of the telephone bell. It's a compelling force. No one knows what that little tinkling bell may mean to him—what the message which it announces will bring forth.

The electric energy for the curious, questioning, calling telephone bell is supplied by a little mechanism in nearly all Bell Telephone central offices, called a ringing machine.

There are ten or more styles of telephone calling bells ranging from a little tea bell to a ten-inch fire gong and including sleigh bells, cow bells, wooden ringers, etc. This is an indication of the Bell System's efforts to provide satisfactory service from every standpoint, and it is one of many things that makes Bell service the most efficient telephone service in the world.

When you telephone, smile!

Press Views

The annual State Fair, to be held at Wilmington, is a matter in which the entire peninsula is interested, regardless of the State lines of Delaware and Maryland. It is the natural point and place for the gathering of all that is best of the Delmarva peninsula, and the thousands who will meet there will have their ideas broadened and their pride in their native States swelled at the display of products of the soil, as well as the splendid specimens of stock exhibited and the speeding of the horses grown by our people. Above all will be the appreciation of the fact that the people of this Peninsula are progressing rapidly in all forms of agricultural thrift as well as in temporal wealth and higher educational methods. The appearance of the people themselves will be one of the best educational mediums ever presented for they will learn that the individual is about the same, no matter whether they come from Worcester, Caroline, Sussex, Kent or New Castle counties. The State Fair at Wilmington next month will draw many thousands to Wilmington, and then will be an opportunity for us all to get better acquainted. Let's all go to the State Fair this year; the young, the old, the lame, the halt, and even the blind, for they can meet the Commissioners of the Blind and realize what is being done for the unfortunate by Delaware.—Milford Chronicle.

The Sussex Republican's effort to make it appear that the Republicans are attempting to cover their tracks by advocating progressive propositions about legislative reforms, is all bosh. The crux of the matter lies here: Houston was once a candidate for Congress—a straw man candidate for an impossible party. Although richly repaid for the service he is alleged to have rendered, he is still hoping for the recurrence of conditions that may foist him into a Congressional candidate's position, in which to compromise with a party organization with strength enough to make election possible. Ex-Senator Drexler is also reported as an aspirant for re-election. It is also in the wind that Dr. Layton would not refuse a Congressional nomination.

Of these three men the Sentinel is frank enough to say that Dr. Layton is the only one to be considered as a Republican candidate. In that suggestion we think there is a whole—well, as much as a bush-events to date have a complete vindication of the wisdom and effectiveness of President Wilson's Mexican policy. With a hot head or demagogue in the Presidential office at Washington, from which misfortune the election of Wilson instead of Roosevelt saved the country, the United States undoubtedly would be now engaged in a bitter and costly war with the Mexican people instead of occupying the position of friend and counselor in their almost accomplished effort to restore constitutional government.

The world has been impressed by the great moral victory achieved and the United States emerges from the trying incidents of the Mexican revolution with untarnished honor and vastly enhanced prestige for which a nation's thanks are due our cool-headed, conscientious President.—Laurel Register.

The bosses of the Republican party are opposed to the Initiative, Referendum and Recall, the equalization of taxation and graduated inheritance tax, because the first would put an end to their control in politics; the second would make them pay a tax on their great wealth, and the third would take out a good slice of their estate after their death.

The Republican party is on record on these reforms. It was in control of our Legislature for several years, but it failed to give us these reforms, in fact it blocked every effort to bring them about. Even in the last Legislature the Republican Senate defeated all legislation that had for its purpose the enactment of these reforms into laws. We do not doubt but that a large number of Republicans want these reforms, in fact, we believe a large majority of the voters of this county, without regard to political affiliations, want these laws, but the trouble is that they will let the bosses of the Republican party, who have used it, and still intend to use it, for their own personal advancement, deceive them with promises, which they never intend to keep. Such is the case nationally, and such is the case in this State. For this reason it became necessary to organize the Progressive party. It is the only way to bring about these reforms.

It makes no difference what the Republicans may put in their platform or otherwise promise the people, what the boss says goes.

—Sussex Republican.

Concerning Your Eyes

Good eyesight is essential to health and comfort. Eye strain uncorrected leads to nervous disorders and is a factor in causing many reflex disturbances.

Tired, aching eyes, frequent pain over the eyes or heads aches are some of the indications of eye strain. At other times the eyes give no indication themselves of strain, but endeavor to keep up the demand upon them, by using the reserve accommodative power until they give out.

GLASSES RELIEVE EYE STRAIN

Success in relieving eye strain depends entirely upon the skill of the practitioner who prescribes the glasses. Our Optometrists are experienced and capable.

though the opening of the race is two months distant. These embrace very widely distributed individuals, some of them coming from the best breeders of Europe. The list will be complete long before November 1, the limit being 100 pens, as in previous competitions.

What some of the entrants may be expected to do may be roughly estimated, perhaps, from the comparison and records printed elsewhere in this paper. Every year has seen a heavy increase, and while the best individual record of a competition winner, 282 eggs, may not be largely exceeded, promises are bright that a considerably increased number of birds will get into the honor class.

Yet the possibility that the 282-egg record to last year's competition will be beaten even this year is not particularly remote. With so many records already shattered, almost anything may happen. And in any event, the augury for the competition of the coming year is very favorable.

As has already been stated, 100 pens of six birds each constitute the entries in each North American competition. Five birds of each pen are placed in the contest list, one from each pen being held in reserve in case of death or the attack of some incurable disease. This means that 500 hens are at all times on the active list.

None but thoroughbred fowls is accepted, and any birds suffering from contagious or infectious disease when received are excluded.

Mongrels or crossbreeds are barred, as are unrecognized varieties and fancy breeds, including bantams, the aim being to develop the fowls which will be of the highest commercial value.

Certified copies of each individual's record are furnished owners, and money prizes and cup trophies will be awarded to winners, besides many articles necessary to poultry culture. The first prize will go to the owner of the pen laying the largest number of eggs in the competition year.

Delaware College has long been noted for its thorough methods and splendid work in instruction in agriculture, the mechanic arts, engineering and other branches of learning. It was chartered in 1883 and its doors have been open ever since with the exception of eleven years between 1859 and 1870, when it suffered from the vicissitudes which forced many other educational institutions below the Mason and Dixon line to suspend active operations. It has students from all parts of the United States, whom it is able to educate at a nominal rate, because of numerous appropriations and other income which it enjoys. Tuition to Delaware young men is free.

The agricultural department of Delaware College has had a steady growth since 1892, in which year it enrolled its first student. The class average now is about forty. On the department farm, which is to be the home of The North American competition, more than 550 varieties of fruit are under experimentation, with fourteen breeds of livestock and numerous varieties of grain, vegetables and forage crops. The work under Professor Hayward's direction has created wide attention and thousands of experts and others visit the farm every year.
