John E. Hocutt, vice-president for student affairs at the university, said "We are especially gratified that we could name such exceptional young men to the first DuPont Engineering Scholarships. Their academic records are outstanding and their top level scores on College Entrance Examination Board tests indicate they are students of superior ability."

Council Zones Oaklands Tract With Business Use Limitation

Reading Center Building Planned On 4.857-Acre Tract Between Barksdale Road, Briar Lane; Gallagher Cities Restrictions, Maintaining Adjoining Property Values

At a special meeting of Newark City Council last Monday night, a 4.857-acre tract of land in the Oaklands development between Barksdale Road and Briar Lane was rezoned from RS to Business BL with plans to construct a building for the International Reading Association, and a resolution was adopted in acceptance of the state franchise for installation of a 1,040-ft. 6-in. city water main north on Ridge Avenue from the Kirkwood Highway to serve Delaplane Manor.

A scheduled rezoning of a proposed ordinance to rezone the 124-126 East Main Street property from Business C to B was deferred because of financial problems expected by the architect, and pending recommendations to be presented on zoning by a consulting firm.

Reading Center
Hugh F. Gallagher, Jr., owner of the 4.857-acre tract to be rezoned, stated that the Reading Association building would be the first to be constructed on the Oaklands property, but that the final site would depend upon rezoning of Hillside Road.

To queries of Councilman Frank J. Osborne, Jr., Gallagher said that there were "no definite plans for offices at this point," with reference to a professional building, in addition to the Reading Center, and that the rezoning "provides definite limitations" for use. Osborne had asked for "some assurance that this rezoning will provide certain restrictions."

City Secretary Charles D. Long reported that the new rezoning restricted use of the property to offices or medical clinic, bank, undertaking establishment, barber and beauty shops. "Which of these would you like to eliminate?" Gallagher asked, and Osborne replied "No objection—with adequate screening."

More Secure
Gallagher said he thought the "people will feel more secure if they know what is going to be there" with BL zoning, and added that he had contracts from two of the University of Delaware faculty for purchase of property in the area which would indicate the value of the land has not suffered.

Concerning the planting of screening shrubbery, Ralph Slaiser of the International Reading Association, said "It was my idea to plant trees."

David Gallo, in the audience, a resident of 202 Syphard Drive, said that he lived "two and one-half blocks from this project" and "I feel this is a good thing—a good step-down—keeps the residential area intact. I think what Mr. Gallagher contemplates doing here is a good thing," Gallo concluded.

Landscaping
City Manager Edward R. Shiff pointed out that "The City of Newark has a qualified landscaper. Would you be willing to come to the city for advice?" he asked Gallagher. "Absolutely," Gallagher replied. "I don't know of anyone who will turn down a free service."

And council unanimously approved rezoning of the property. With the State Highway Department franchise, the city is to install a 6-in. water main on the north side of Ridge Avenue for a distance of some 1,040-ft. from Kirkwood Highway to North Place in Delaplane Manor.

The special meeting was adjourned at 8:25 p.m. last Monday.

Frank Boys Cites Mixing Of Farming Pesticides

Many farmers are mixing their own custom-tailored pesticide combinations, according to Frank Boys, agricultural chemicals extension specialist at the University of Delaware.

A combination of pesticides gives a wider range of insect control since it controls several pests at the same time.

Pesticide combinations can save money. Less of the mixture may be needed to do the job than if the chemicals were used separately.

Danger to children and pets increase when pesticides are combined, Boys warns. If they get into a pesticide mixture, the likelihood of a fatal accident is far greater than with a single chemical since it is harder to counteract effects of two or more chemicals.

Three veteran Delaware vocational agriculture teachers received recognition at the convention for 25 years of service. Watches were presented by Frank Flaherty, Sears Roebuck Foundation, to Noah M. Cain, Greenwood; John Curtis, Harrington; and Horace E. Short, Wyoming.

Caesar Rodney High School FFA chapter was awarded first place in parliamentary procedure competition; the chapter received $100 and a trophy.

Welcoming FFA convention delegates, Dr. William E. McDaniel, dean of the college of agricultural sciences, said the broad field of agriculture has been one of the industries progressing the most in the last 20 years.

"Its capacity to continually increase production per worker has released many workers from farming. However, these released workers are needed in other areas of the agricultural industry," McDaniel said.

R. Dean Shippy, assistant professor at the Food Business Institute, University of Delaware, outlined careers available in food business. "America's largest basic industry, food, is in constant need of new employees. More than one fourth of the total population of the U.S. is engaged in production and marketing of food. It offers fully as many promising career opportunities for high school and college graduates as any other profession," Shippy said.

A college education will be a requisite for farmers of the future, David Elliott, himself a farmer from Laurel, told FFA delegates. "Successful farmers, even today, need capital and technical know-how; the successful farmer of the future will be a thinking risk-taker. With stakes so high, farmers will have to combine and organize for survival."

Concluding, Dean McDaniel told FFA members that "Agriculture has changed drastically, but the institutions involved in agricultural education have and will continue to adjust to prepare you to accept employment in the expanding opportunities of agriculture."

State officers were elected for the next year at the convention with Dewey Whitmore of Greenwood, president, and Steve Cherry, Newark, a member of the executive committee.

R. Dean Shippy, assistant professor at the Food Business Institute, University of Delaware, outlined careers available in food business. "America's largest basic industry, food, is in constant need of new employees. More than one fourth of the total population of the U.S. is engaged in production and marketing of food. It offers fully as many promising career opportunities for high school and college graduates as any other profession," Shippy said.

A college education will be a requisite for farmers of the future, David Elliott, himself a farmer from Laurel, told FFA delegates. "Successful farmers, even today, need capital and technical know-how; the successful farmer of the future will be a thinking risk-taker. With stakes so high, farmers will have to combine and organize for survival."

Concluding, Dean McDaniel told FFA members that "Agriculture has changed drastically, but the institutions involved in agricultural education have and will continue to adjust to prepare you to accept employment in the expanding opportunities of agriculture."

State officers were elected for the next year at the convention with Dewey Whitmore of Greenwood, president, and Steve Cherry, Newark, a member of the executive committee.

Don't Plant Too Early

Dunham Advises Gardener

The first warm days of spring seem to bring out the gardening urge—but don't get too enthusiastic too soon. Inevitably, you'll have some muscled matter when you begin—but too much of your hard work may be in vain if flowers are planted so early that a cold snap damages them.

Dr. Charles Dunham, horticulturist at the University of Delaware, points out that annual plants may be set out even as late as June and they will still make effective summer displays when annual bloom is a garden necessity. He suggests making several plantings and even sowing some seed near the end of June to have plants available to fill in where and when needed.

For those planning to enter annuals in the fall Delaware Flower Show, June sowing dates will provide the best specimens.

Eggs Too Good To Limit To Breakfast, Expert Says

Eggs are too good to save just for breakfast. Delicious fixed a dozen different ways, high in protein and inexpensive—they're one of the best buys in your supermarket.

"Buy them, store them and cook them right," is the advice from Marguerite Krackhardt, extension food and nutrition specialist at the University of Delaware.

For firm, tender whites and smooth yolks, cook eggs at simmering temperatures below the boiling point of water. If you cook eggs at boiling temperatures, the whites are somewhat tough and yolks are mealy.

Plugging "the nation's summer capital" in a new 54-page directory, the Rehoboth Beach Chamber of Commerce has added features which it believes will be valued by the public when they seek vacation and weekend pleasure this summer.

The directory, which has four-color covers and a center spread of the beach, for the first time lists tide tables for the summer months with the time calculated from the foot of Rehoboth Avenue.

This, according to Executive Director Miles L. Frederick, should please the hundreds of fishermen who annually call for this type of information.

FOOD FOR THOUGHT Something to really give you some food for thought are the shocking statistics that were published recently: six out of ten teenage girls have inadequate diets. The startling facts come from the National Research Council of the Foods and Nutrition Board who also state that teenage girls receive less than two-thirds of the nutrients recommended by the Board.

But — do you know what? You get the growing-up variety can lick this serious problem as easy as, if you'll pardon the expression, pie! Here are five simple solutions:

1. Decide what you want for breakfast the night before, and if necessary, get up a few minutes earlier in the morning so you'll have the time to help fix and enjoy it.

2. If your school lunch period is short and those cafeteria lines long — how about preparing lunch at home? Remember to include fruit and a hard-boiled egg or carrot sticks or even celery along with the sandwich and the cookies. (Just think of the clothes, "goodies" you can buy with the money saved.)

3. Discuss with Mom or Sis the dinner menus for the week. Not only can this be helpful fun but it will also prove how imaginative and creative you really are and how much your family will appreciate your efforts.

4. Start a "fruitful fad" — instead of that bubbly stuff, serve all kinds of fruit drinks to your friends for snacks.

5. A most rewarding project for school could be making up a vitamin credit in class. You extra credit in class could illustrate how easy it can be for you to toe the health mark.

Your local library is a clockwork of fascinating material on nutrition and just walking there will be a big step towards being nutritionally efficient instead of deficient.

Isn't it nice to know that you can really do something for that bright tomorrow?

DISTRESS SIGNALS

With today's finely engineered motors and modern boats there's seldom need to summon aid while afloat. Statistics show that the major reason for distress cries is simply "running out of gas."

If you ever find yourself in this embarrassing position, here's how to attract attention, say the Mercury outdoor people. If other boats are in sight, stand with your arms spread and move them up and down like a bird's wings. Or you can attach a white shirt to a fishpole or oar and wave it back and forth above your head.

Some other ways are: signal "SOS" (three dots, three dashes, three dots) with a flashlight; activate one of the smoke flares designed for just such situations; continuously sound any fog-signal apparatus; raise a square flag with a ball or something resembling a ball underneath it; carry emergency flares with you and set one off whenever anyone approaches in a boat or airplane.

Better still, carry enough gas.

REFLECTION FOR MEMORIAL DAY

MEMORIAL DAY

We have come once again to that time of year when Americans pause to honor the memory of those who have given that last full measure of devotion on battlefields at home and abroad. As Abraham Lincoln said: "It is fitting and proper that we do this."

As we pay our respects to the nation's war dead, it also is fitting that we turn our thoughts to the peace for which we all pray. It is fitting, too, to reflect on life—not death—and on ways in which life may be preserved.

No more fitting time than Memorial Day could be found for this reflection, for the holiday signals the beginning of the summer highway carnage. In a year's time more people are killed on our highways than died in combat in all of World War I.

Automobiles are safer today than they have ever been. So too, are the highways over which we travel. That leaves the problem squarely on the shoulders of the third element in any design for greater highway safety—the person behind the wheel.

One of the great freedoms we Americans share is the right of travel in our country when and where we please. It is a freedom to be preserved for all of us. Let's not abuse it.

Chrysler Building Police Cars Here For Duty In NYC

Chrysler's Newark assembly plant is building 329 Plymouth Furries for the New York City Police Department.

An inspection team from New York came to the assembly plant to see the first four cars ready for delivery, and were accompanied by Herbert Ferris, Chrysler fleet sales manager in New York.

All 329 Plymouths are standard pursuit and patrol vehicles with special equipment refinements. An undisclosed number of the police cars will be "unmarked," and the others will be clearly identifiable as New York City police pursuit and squad cars.

The inspecting officials expressed complete satisfaction with the first four cars in this special order and are now establishing a schedule for delivery of all 329 cars.

Scottish Games To Be Held At Fair Hill With Gaelic Welcome, Pipes On May 20

The Gaelic welcome "Ceud Mìle Failte" awaits guests at the Delaware Highland Gathering to be held at Fair Hill, Md., near Newark, this Saturday.

The history of Scottish Games has faded into the highland mists, but it is known that one of the first organized hill races took place in the 11th century, and this is commemorated by the annual Braemar Gathering in Scotland.

On this continent, gatherings have been held in such far-separated places as California and Canada for the past 100 years—and this will be the fifth annual Delaware Highland Gathering.

What goes on at Scottish games? The Delaware gathering is typical. First, the bagpipes. Pipe Bands will be on hand from all over the eastern seaboard to compete and to take part in the massed bands—the thrilling climax of the day. There'll be individual pipers and drummers competing for a wide variety of trophies.

Then there's the Highland Dancing—kilted dancers will compete in the Highland Fling, Seann Truibhais, Sword Dance, Strathspey and Reels. And an exhibition of Scottish country dancing by the Royal Scottish Country Dance Society—this is social dancing rather than competition.

The Highland Heptathlon is for strong men—seven events, and one must take part in all seven. Some, like the 16-pound shotput and the hammer throw are familiar events, but tossing the caber, putting the stone, and Cumberland wrestling are peculiar to the Scots. And quite a sight, too.

Other relected officers are James T. Ferri, vice-president; and William J. Christopher, secretary-treasurer.

Relected to the board of trustees are Alexis I. du Pont Bayard, John G. Leach, Walter R. Bishoff, Charles E. Doerger, Ernest J. DiSabatino and John K. O'Neill, the latter representing the Delaware Association of Police.

Ferri reported that, on a visit to the Newark area track with DiSabatino, it was determined that the racing strip will need little attention this year to ready it for the 1967 Pushmobile Derby on Sept. 9.

Last year the organization spent almost $40,000 to repair a section of the track and to correct drainage problems.

★ Twenty-five years ago on May 1, 1941, the U.S. Treasury issued the first Series E Savings Bond to Franklin D. Roosevelt.

★ That purchase, in the words of Lyndon Johnson, "set into motion the greatest thrift program the world has ever known."

★ Since 1941 Americans have bought more than $150,000,000,000 worth of Series E and H Savings Bonds.

★ From these savings have come new homes, college educations, dream vacations, paid-up hospital bills, more satisfying retirements.

★ Americans still own almost $50 billion in Savings Bonds. $50 billion worth of personal security. Security from want. From fear. From loss of independence.

★ And security from loss of freedom in a troubled world.

★ Join the greatest thrift program in the world. For your future and your family's future. And your country's future.

Door-Store Farm Delivery Cited In Milmo Bulletin

Farmers who sell and deliver fruits and vegetables directly to food stores are optimistic about the future of such store-door deliveries.

Three-fourths of the farmers contacted in a recent survey said it was the most profitable marketing method available, and they believed it should stay that way.

Advantages, disadvantages, and future of this type of marketing are reported in "Store-Door Delivery of Farm Produce in the United States," written by James J. Milmo, coordinator of food business information at the University of Delaware, and is available from the Food Business Institute, Agricultural Hall, University of Delaware, Newark.

Peak Air Conditioner Sale Cited By Nick Williams

Demand for room air conditioners in Delaware traditionally goes up with the temperature, and it's expected that more than half of all units sold during 1967 will be purchased in the next three months, according to Nick Williams of Skold Services, Newark.

Williams said sales of room units for home, business and industry probably will total $2.6-million in the state this year, representing some 11,800 units.

Williams noted that industry sales of room air conditioners have more than doubled since 1960, reaching a record of 3,345,000 units last year.

Longwood Offers UD Joint Study In Horticulture

Five 2-year fellowships have been granted in the Longwood program in ornamental horticulture at the University of Delaware. The announcement was made by Dr. Richard W. Lighty, program coordinator.

Ronald C. Bauman, Delaware Valley College of Science and Agriculture; Gary C. Gerlach, University of Kentucky; Anthony M. Grasso, Cornell; William U. Massey, University of Delaware; and Kenneth C. Mathews, Virginia Polytechnic Institute, will work towards master's degrees in ornamental horticulture.

The Longwood program is designed to give scientifically oriented graduates a background of experience and education to suit them for management positions with botanical gardens, parks and land beautification programs.

The program, made possible by a grant from Longwood Foundation, utilizes staffs and facilities of the college of agricultural sciences at the University of Delaware and of Longwood Gardens.

The need for skilled horticulturists has never been greater, according to Lighty.

"It is a sad fact that, at the very moment the need for land beautification and public recreational facilities reached headlines, the severe shortage of skilled practical horticulturists also became evident."

"The Longwood program is designed to satisfy, at least in part, this need in the future," Lighty concluded.

TIPS FOR DOG OWNERS

by Rita Niccoli
Publications Director,
Dog Owners' Guidance Service
Association, Inc.

TRAINING YOUR DOG

As a young boy, John Kellogg's first business venture—after an abortive attempt at commercial "Dog Washing"—was a newspaper route. His constant companion along this route was his smooth-haired Fox Terrier. The two became a common sight in the neighborhood and by the time the Terrier died, the boy had made a vow that he would never be without a dog.

John Kellogg has kept that vow. In fact, his whole life's work has been—and continues to be—involved with dogs. When in the Coast Guard in 1943, he enrolled in the outfit's first Dog Training School. He went through the war with a German Shepherd named Chico. Once a formidable "attack" dog, Chico was re-trained and ended up a civilian playing happily with Mr. Kellogg's small nephews.

Mr. Kellogg himself is now one of the leading dog trainers in the country and, in the past twenty years, has trained all types of dogs... as well as people. He organized the "Kellogg College of Kynology Knowledge" which now has several branches.

Famous Trainer John Kellogg
Here are some "secrets" from "JOHN KELLOGG'S SECRETS OF DOG TRAINING"—a 16-page booklet which is published by Dog Owners' Guidance Service Association.

1.) All dogs can develop into better citizens through Obedience Training. Remember, no dog becomes trained accidentally. Planning the campaign, clear adherence to details, and most importantly, patience—progressing one exercise at a time—eventually will win out. This secret is building of respect for the master by the dog when the owner speaks out and acts with authority.

2.) Another secret: training your dog should be—and generally is—fun. As he progresses in his training he is praised every step of the way. He loves demonstrating what he has learned and soaks up new instructions quickly and accurately.

3.) Never forget, and this is an important secret, a dog is the only animal in the world who has the capacity to love you more than he does himself.

4.) Another secret is that you adapt training to the individual dog, not the dog to the training. The dog's temperament which determines his ability and willingness, plus his disposition, are far more important than his pedigree. His disposition is also conditioned by the environment and manner in which he is raised. Your consideration for your dog's health and nourishment, plus plenty of affection, will contribute much to moulding his overall character as well good training.

5.) An important secret to you is the limitation of your dog's mind. Like human beings, dogs vary in their capacity to learn. You will have to pace your instructions according to your dog's demonstrated ability to understand.

These are only a small part of the excellent training instructions in the booklet. Mr. Kellogg covers everything from "quizzes" housebreaking to tips on obedience training. You can obtain "JOHN KELLOGG'S SECRETS OF DOG TRAINING" by enclosing 25¢ to cover handling and postage to Dog Owners' Guidance Service, 225 East 49th Street, New York, New York 10017.

Halfback Art Smith Elected As Captain For Tubby Raymond's 1967 Hen Gridders

Art Smith, junior halfback from Vineland, N.J., has been selected captain of the 1967 Delaware football team.

Smith, a regular safetyman on Delaware's 1966 Middle Atlantic Conference championship team, is the first back to captain a Delaware football team since Fullback Dan Ford in 1954.

"Art's acceptance of a defensive role last year when he might have been a starter offensively is an indication of his unselfish attitude," Blue Hen Coach Tubby Raymond said of the new captain.

"He could have been a starter either way, but he realized we needed him more defensively and he sacrificed some personal glory for the good of the team."

The Blue Hen captain was an outstanding high school player for former Delaware Fullback Johnny Ober at Delsea Regional High School and was the top halfback on the 1964 Delaware freshman team. He was hampered by injuries as a sophomore, but became a defensive standout with the Hens last year.

Smith was named to the weekly Eastern College Athletic Conference All-Star team for his performance against Gettysburg when he intercepted a pass and recovered a fumble in leading the Hens to a 3-0 victory.

"We consider Art as part of the Delaware family because of the fact that he played for Johnny Ober, and because he typifies the spirit that we try to encourage in our football players," Raymond said. "I know Art will accept the responsibility of being captain. He realizes that we will need strong leadership this year."

Smith, 5-9 and a 170-pounder, played both offensively and defensively for the Hens and could start at his safety position of last year or at offensive left halfback.

"We have a lot of new players on the team this year," Smith said, "so we are going to need leadership from all of the older players. I'm very honored that they chose me to be their captain," the new Blue Hen leader concluded.

Ed Dowling tried the shad fishing on the Susquehanna River last Saturday—and managed to hit one of the dull spots in the spring run of these silver spawners from the sea.

"We caught one—a nice one, though," Mr. Dowling declared. And the shad was caught on a small darter while trolling at the mouth of the Susquehanna over the grass flats off Perry Point. The fishing has been spotty—good and bad.

There were plenty of boats but few shad in evidence, and for a pleasant change, Ed Dowling was featured in what little action there was. We've been with Ed before, when shad were being hauled from the water at all quarters, and we sat in near fishless inactivity while pondering what sort of blight had descended upon a personal crew.

"We tried the surf last weekend," Mrs. Sultz said of her flounder-fishing partnership, "and Acky caught a few blowfish."

Prized by many as sea squab, blowfish are almost next to nothing on the end of a line, but they do provide a tug or two for a bit of excitement when things are particularly dull in the ocean's white water.

"I'd rather not catch them at all," Mrs. Sultz said, classifying blowfish as even less than nothing.

"They're still catching plenty of winter flounder in the Indian River," she added, but the small-mouthed winter variety of flatfish evokes little enthusiasm from the Sultz sportsmen.

Wide-mouthed, toothed summer fluke that attain dormat size. And they shouldn't be long in putting in a welcome appearance.

"They were catching fish faster than their coats were coming off," Mrs. Sultz Swendsen said of the surf casting on the Delaware beachfront last weekend.

And as his listener brightened visibly, added "And that's the fish story of the year. There was nothing doing."

Bob Pilnick Heads Newark TD Club As New President

Bob Pilnick was elected president of the Newark Touchdown Club at the spring meeting on Wednesday last week in the Horseless Carriage, succeeding J. Earl Lynch.

Bill Vaughn was elected vice-president; Martin Van Hook was re-elected secretary; and Roy Walton was re-elected treasurer.

Ed Maley, University of Delaware line coach, was the guest speaker at the spring banquet, and End Coach Irv "Whiz" Wisniewski was a guest of honor.

Maley discussed spring training and the concluding Blue and White game scrimmage for the Fightin' Blue Hens, and expressed satisfaction for Delaware's football outlook for next fall.

Pat Walker, a star tackle at Newark High School, was cited as a standout sophomore for the Hens, with Newark's Lee and Jim Harkney slated for action with the Delaware varsity next season.

NHS Finishes 5th With 20th Annual Peninsula Relays

Newark finished fifth in the 20th annual Peninsula Relays at Baynard Stadium last Saturday, as Coach Ray Ciesinski's Yellowjackets scored 84 1/2 team points.

Dover won the Class I events with 18 1/2 points; Wilmington was second with 16; Brandywine, third with 10; and DeLaWarr took fourth place with nine points.

Newark tied Dover in the 480-yd. hurdle relay with a team of Larry Tucker, Keith Walker, Dale Meyer, and Pedro Swann in a time of 1:08.3. The Yellowjackets were second in the 440.

Ciesinski's Squad Takes First Place In BHC Standings

Larry Tucker won three events to lead Coach Ray Ciesinski's Yellowjackets to a 76-41 victory at Dickinson last Monday as Newark moved into a 7-1 sole possession of first place in the Blue Hen Conference A-Flight.

Tucker won the 100 in 10.4; the 220 in 24.0; and the 120-yd. high hurdles in 15.5.

And another Tucker—Bob—set a school record 6-3 in winning the high jump on Wednesday last week as the Yellowjackets defeated Wilmington High School 61-56 at Newark. Bob Tucker broke his own record 6-2 set the previous Monday against DeLaWarr.

In last Monday's win over Dickinson, Dick Kelley and Pedro Swann finished two-three as Newark swept the 100-yd. dash.

John Smith took third in the 220; Jim Siemen, second in the 440; and Newark swept the 880 with Charles Sjaeger winning the event in 2:09.3, followed by Jeff Purcell and Carpenter.

Wolfgang Bauer won the mile in 4:53, with Tom Curran second; and Keith Walker placed second over the 120-yd. hurdles.

Walker won the 180-low hurdle event, with Swann and Meyer taking second and third; and Conway Hayman took first with the shotput heave of 50-10 1/2, with Keith Green placing third. Hayman was third with the discus.

Dave Townley won the two-mile in 10:33.1, with Gregg Rolfe, third; and Tucker and Chris Dunn were two-three in the high jump.

Kelley won the pole vault at 14-6; and Swann and Siemen took second and third in the broad jump.

Taking firsts for Newark over Wilmington were Hayman in the 1500; Tucker and Swann in the 1000; and Kelley in the 1000.

Brandywine Raceway, sporting a big new look, will launch its 15th season of racing this Friday.

Brandywine's 92-night meet is the longest in its history, and represents an increase of 71 nights over its inaugural 1953 season.

In keeping with the long-range program of modernization started 10 years ago by Howard Miller when he took the reins as president and general manager, Brandywine will unveil a number of additions and improvements calculated to skyrocket the track into a complete big-league race operation.

Foremost is the new air conditioned and heated clubhouse constructed at a cost of $4-million. It covers 103,000-sq. ft., has a series of tiers for dining to handle 1,000 persons; has seating space in other areas for 1,200, and can accommodate 10,000-plus for an overall unobstructed view of the races.

Another development in the new look was the Delaware Harness Racing Commission's recent decision requiring that Brandywine conduct better than 50 per cent of its nine-race card on the A-B-C classified system, so popular for years with the fans here until it was abandoned in 1963. This will be on an experimental basis. Brandywine has been using conditioned racing for the past three years.

Another high water mark in the track's expansion program is the new two-acre lake, stocked with fish and populated by some 30 Canadian honkers and mallards on the south end of the infield.

A complete new racing department has been created under the leadership of Joe DeFrank of Holly, N.Y., whose ability as a racing secretary has won nationwide praise.

In addition to enlarging its parking area to a 10,000-plus capacity, Brandywine has increased its spectator space to approximately 32,000. Its grandstand was rebuilt six years ago.

Significant too, is the return of Brandywine's "golden voice," nationally famed race caller Roy Shultz, signed this past week to an exclusive long-term contract.

Brandywine's all-weather oval, rated third fastest half-mile in the nation, has been manicured and conditioned for added speed and safety.

Post time will be 8:25, with the daily double closing at 8:15 p.m.

Shown with trainer-driver Jim Hackett, Best of All recently launched his 1967 campaign with a 2:02.2 win at Roosevelt Raceway.

George Arbeiter Wins Two-Hitter, Loses Next Outing

Capt. George Arbeiter shackled the Red Devils at Wilmington High School with a two-hit pitching performance last Friday as Coach Bob Turnberger's Christiana Vikings scored four unearned runs to win 4-0.

But Arbeiter was belted for nine hits on Tuesday as Dickinson defeated the Vikings 6-2 with a six-run uprising in the final, seventh inning at Christiana.

Turnberger's Vikings—3-3 in the Blue Hen Conference A-Flight standings—are scheduled to play at Mt. Pleasant this Friday, and to entertain Gunning Bedford next Tuesday at 4 p.m.

5-1 Hen Netmen Of Roy Rylander Face 2 Final Foes

Delaware's tennis team will take a 5-1 record on its season-ending trip into Central Pennsylvania this weekend. The Hens suffered their first setback in losing 8-1 to the visiting Swarthmore MAC champions on Wednesday last week.

Coach Roy Rylander's Blue Hens will meet 1966 Middle Atlantic Conference Northern Division Champion Bucknell in Lewisburg, Pa., on Friday afternoon at 3 o'clock, and will take on a powerful Penn State squad at University Park, on Saturday at 2 p.m.

"We should have our hands full both days," Rylander said. "Bucknell has a fine team and Penn State always is tough, particularly on its home courts."

Phil Hilt returning from the strong 1966 squad, have been a pleasant surprise for Rylander.

"We have been using a lot of new players with Hilt this year," Rylander said, "and I have been pleased with their development."

Hilt, a senior from Wilmington, and Pete Lindback, junior exchange student from Oslo, Norway, have alternated as the Hens' No. 1 man this season.

The rest of the lineup includes Junior Larry Gehrke, Sophomore Roy Boyer, Junior Jim Burke and either Senior Ed Hassenstein or Junior Dave Darrah.

Boyer is from Wallingford, Pa., and Darrah is from Timonium, Md. The others are all from Wilmington.

Dean Travis Of Wilmington High Named Head Coach For Blues In All-Star Game

Wilmington High Coach Dean Travis will mastermind the Blue squad in the 13th annual Delaware All-Star High School Football Game on Aug. 26, as the annual mid-August spectacular at Delaware Stadium again will benefit the Delaware Foundation for Retarded Children.

Travis, who will start his fifth season at the Wilmington helm in September, will be making his first appearance as an All-Star Game head coach, although he served as assistant under Blue Coach Earl Smith in 1962.

Confronting Travis and the Blue team which represents Delaware north of Wilmington's southern boundaries, will be the task of avenging last year's 21-6 surprise defeat at the hands of the Golds.

"We will probably be the underdog and that's just the way I like it," Travis said as he scanned the yet-to-be announced Blue roster.

Yellowjackets Lose As Don Sticinski Pitches One-Hitter

Don Sticinski pitched a one-hitter at Delaware City last week on Wednesday, but Coach Francis Fulghum's New York High School Yellowjackets lost a 5-4 ball game to Gunning Bedford when Catcher Dave Haman singled for the winning run to break up a seventh-inning tie.

Gunning Bedford is in last place with an 0-3 B-Flight conference standing.

The Newark lumbermen collected six hits, and led 3-1 in the fourth inning.

The Yellowjackets are scheduled to play at Dickinson tomorrow afternoon in an effort to improve Newark's 3-2 fourth place standing in the A-Flight Blue Hen Conference race.
