Local High School Youth Dies As Auto Rams Tractor-Trailer

16-Year-Old Driver Donald Fraser Killed, Two Injured
As Convertible Hits Tractor-Trailer Parked On Harmony
Road; Death Raises State Highway Toll To 67 For Year

Donald Fraser, 16-year-old driver of the sports convertible, was killed yesterday, and two passengers were injured when the car hit a tractor-trailer parked on South Harmony Road in Tanglewood at 10:20 a.m.

Mary Anne Broomall, 17, of Bear, was reported in critical condition last night at Wilmington General Division, and Lawrence M. Tomlinson, 16, of 1003 Misover Lane, Pilgrim Gardens, was released after treatment for cuts of the head and left arm at the hospital.

His sister Judith Tomlinson, 23, was killed in a traffic accident on the Kennett Pike last Oct. 20.

Fraser, of 19 Garrett Road, Todd Estates, died at the hospital within two hours of the accident. His death was the state's 67th highway fatality of the year compared with 51 for the same period in 1966.

Skid and Crash
According to state police, Fraser was traveling south on South Harmony Road when he lost control of his convertible, which skidded sideways for about 90 ft. and smashed into the rear of the parked tractor and flatbed trailer.

Police said the rig owned by Richard M. Hull, 731 South Harmony Road, was legally parked.

A spokesman at the Tomlinson home said all the youths attend Christiana High School and that Fraser was taking the car to an inspection lane.

Under Intensive Care
Miss Broomall suffered a skull fracture, and head and abdominal injuries. She underwent surgery and is in the intensive care unit.

Ambulances of the Christiana Fire Company and the Aetna Hose, Hook & Ladder Company of Newark took the injured to the hospital, where Fraser died at 12:07 p.m.

Penalty Of Death, Religion, Feature 4-H Speech Tests

Eighteen-year-old Eleanor Hertz of Wyoming and Gary Simpson, 19, of Houston, are first prize winners in the state 4-H speaking contest held June 28, as part of the 46th annual Delaware State 4-H Conference at the University of Delaware.

Speech contestants were previous winners of county 4-H public speaking contests and are eligible for national competition.

Also competing in the public speaking event was Randy Spence of Newark.

Mrs. Alice King, state leader of home economics extension, and Gerald Vaughn, coordinator, community and resource development at the University of Delaware, were judges for the contest.

Miss Hertz spoke on the topic "This Nation Under God." She proposed "a basic religion through Bible reading and recitation of the Lord's Prayer should be maintained in our schools. I believe that religion has a definite place in education to preserve the moral balance in our community and country."

Simpson discussed "Is It Time to Kill the Death Penalty?" According to Gary, those in favor of capital punishment believe in its deterrent value and state that by putting the criminal to death, they save the state about $2,500.

"In my opinion, the death penalty is an out and out revenge, and revenge accomplishes nothing; it doesn't help the victim, the criminal, nor the state," he said.

Adult Fun Night Planned Saturday By Western "Y"

The Western Branch YMCA at 2600 Capitol Trail will hold its first Adult Fun Night of the summer this Saturday from 8 to 11 p.m.

"For an old-fashioned evening of fun, there will be swimming, singing around the piano, square dancing, and refreshments," Diane Bupp states.

Lewis Grive will be the caller, and both novice and pro square dancers are welcome.

The first session in the "Let's Talk About" series will be held next Wednesday at 8 p.m., with Robert Landon of Wilmington Trust Co. speaking and answering questions about wills.

"Don't miss this opportunity to become informed about a subject of vital interest to all—Let's Talk About Wills," Miss Bupp concludes.

Debbie Raymond Crowned State Babe Ruth Queen

Debbie Raymond, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold R. Raymond, was crowned Delaware's Babe Ruth League Baseball Queen last week at Almont on Kirkwood Highway, with final judging in the "state contest." Debbie, whose father is head baseball coach for the University of Delaware, and a former professional baseball catcher, represented the Newark Babe Ruth League against girls from six other leagues in the state.

Dr. Calvin Vriesen Named "Aerospace Scientist Of Year"

Thiokol Research Chemist
Honored For Development
With New Gas Generator

Dr. Calvin Vriesen of Newark, has been named Aerospace Scientist of the Year by the Baltimore section of the American Institute of Aeronautics & Astronautics. The award is presented annually to the scientist or engineer employed in Maryland, who makes the most significant contribution to the state-of-the-art in the aerospace field.

Vriesen, a senior research chemist at Thiokol Chemical Corp. in Elkton, was given the award for his work in developing a new gas generator fuel.

The presentation was made at a recent dinner meeting in Towson, Md.

Thiokol General Manager H. G. Jones discussed the background of Vriesen's work in gas generator fuels, and introduced the Elkton scientist.

Gas generators are used in space vehicles, naval torpedoes, and other weapons systems to provide on-board power for opening and closing valves, driving turbine wheels, or pressurizing hydraulic systems. Earlier fuels, usually rocket propellants of the double base or ammonium nitrate type, were hard to handle, sensitive to moisture, difficult to store, and often produced gases which were too hot.

In 1961, Vriesen discovered an ingredient designated LL-52 (its chemical name is dihydroxyethylene), which can be incorporated into standard composite rocket propellants, and which produces a relatively cool, stable flame, ideal for gas generators.

A native of Minnesota, Vriesen is a graduate of the University of Minnesota, where he received his doctorate in organic chemistry from Purdue in 1952.

He was employed for six years by the DuPont Co. performing research on textile fibers and polyurethane elastomers.

He served in the U.S. Army as battery commander, and as battalion and brigade staff officer during World War II, and is a lieutenant colonel in the Army Reserve.

Dr. and Mrs. Vriesen live in Brookside with their two children.

He is vice-president of the New Castle County Council Parent-Teacher Association.

Airport Manager Daniel F. Ginty To Resign Aug. 1st

Daniel F. Ginty, manager of the Greater Wilmington Airport since August 1964, has resigned the $13,000 post to take a job with industry on Long Island, N.Y., effective Aug. 1.

Ginty's resignation has been accepted by the New Castle County transportation board.

Before becoming manager of the Wilmington airport, Ginty managed airports in Portland, Me., and Beverly, Mass.

He is a member of the Wilmington Optimist Club, the Airport Operators Council International, and the American Association of Airport Executives, of which he has been Northeast chapter president.

He lives at 9 Amherst Road, Nottingham Green, Newark.

YWCA Program Chairman Mrs. Robert T. Hall

Two of the cadets from Newark attending Army Reserve Officers Training Corps summer camp at Indian Head Military Reservation, Pa., are:

Wayne J. Morgan, 20, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph E. Morgan, 705 Lehigh Road, and William E. Houle, Jr., 20, Cooch's Bridge Road.

During the encampment beginning June 17, they will receive six weeks of training in leadership, rifle marksmanship, and physical conditioning.

Upon successful completion of summer camp and graduation from college, they may be commissioned second lieutenants in the U.S. Army.

Bus Trips Planned To Washington, Hershey By YWCA

Reservations are being taken at the Alice P. Smyth Center Newark YWCA, for two bus trips, Mrs. Robert T. Hall, program director, reports.

On Thursday, July 13, a trip to the Smithsonian Institution in Washington is scheduled.

"Visit the air-conditioned museums at your leisure and lunch at the cafeteria in the Museum of History and Technology," Mrs. Hall suggests.

The bus will leave the Newark YWCA at 8 a.m., returning at 4 p.m.

On Tuesday, Aug. 1, a bus trip to the Hershey museum and chocolate factory is planned. Take a picnic or have lunch at the Cocoa Inn.

The bus will leave Newark at 8 a.m. and return at 4 p.m.

Delaware State Fair Faces Longest Run At Harrington With 48th Presentation

The 48th edition of the Delaware State Fair to be held at Harrington, July 21-29, will be the longest in history—opening on a Friday night and continuing through Saturday the following week.

"Fair directors decided to open on Friday evening rather than Saturday as in past years, to accommodate the increasing number of people attending the fair," General Manager George C. Simpson said.

"While fair is going parts of the country are experiencing a decline in attendance," Simpson said, "we in Delaware are pleased at the continued growth of our crowds. Last year our attendance totaled 192,000 despite a rainy and sultry season, the best attended day of our fair. This is about a thousand less than the all-time record set in 1955."

Simpson also said the fair will continue to present two grand and shows on the final Friday and Saturday nights, an experiment tried last year and found to be successful.

Ass't School Chief Dr. John E. Allen Arrives For Duty

Ohio State PhD Succeeds
Dr. George V. Kirk In Job
Of Ass't Superintendent

Newly-appointed assistant superintendent of the Newark special school district, Dr. John E. Allen, arrived yesterday to assume his duties in the state's second largest school system.

Allen succeeds Dr. George V. Kirk, and Kirk succeeds Wilmer E. Shue as school superintendent.

University Student Dies Of Injuries In Auto Accident

Delaware Soph, Honor
Student From Stockley,
63d Victim On Highways

An honor student at the University of Delaware died Friday in a head-on collision with a car crash Tuesday night.

Philip David Hastings of Georgetown, who would have been 20 on Saturday, became Delaware's 63rd highway fatality of the year.

Norman C. Robinson, 19, of Stockley, died in the crash in the same place where the intersection of Sussex County Routes 245 and 246.

Delaware State Police identified Hastings as the driver of the car that ran off the road, over a 12-ft. drainage ditch, and struck a concrete abutment.

Hastings was born in Milford and is the son of Mr. and Mrs. David H. Hastings.

In addition to his parents, he is survived by a brother, Keith, and a maternal grandmother, Mrs. Anna Warrington of Harbeson.

He graduated from Georgetown High School in 1965, after a school career in which he had been member of the football team and a member of the wrestling and basketball teams.

This summer, as in the past two years, he had worked in the Acme Market in Georgetown.

Hastings had completed his sophomore year as a four-business administration major.

Services were held Tuesday at the Dodd-Carey Funeral Home in Georgetown with burial in Beaver Dam Cemetery, Harbeson.

While completing his doctorate, he served as instructor at Miami University; as research aide to the assistant dean in the college of education at Ohio State; as administrative assistant to the University Council for Administration; and as associate in the India education project of Ohio State University.

Allen served with the U.S. Army in Germany, and was discharged after completing his Reserve obligation, effective Aug. 14.

The new assistant superintendent married the former Miss Helen Kreitzer, and they have two children—Barbara, seven, and David, five.

The Allens are living at 306 Arbour Drive, Newark.

Klobia Spencer Appointed As Secretary Of State

Klobia Spencer of Newark High School was defeated last week as Federalist candidate for Girls State governor at Dover.

But Klobia was appointed as secretary of state by Governor Patricia Cleaver of the Nationalist party and Brandywine High School.

Retiring School Sup., Wilmer E. Shue Honored

Newark Board of Education President Albert H. Jones, Jr. (left) presents retiring Superintendent of Schools Wilmer E. Shue with two gifts from the school board.

Shue received a scrapbook with news clippings and photographs of the June 4, reception, and the guest register.

"I am deeply appreciative of both gifts, and they will become increasingly important as the years go by," Shue said.

Three Of Unit 10 Legion Auxiliary Win State Honors

Mrs. F. Allyn Cooch, Jr.,
Mrs. Arthur E. Tomhave,
Mrs. Richard Cooch Cited

Three members of Newark's Unit 10, American Legion Auxiliary, were given awards for outstanding work and reports at the recent 46th state convention in Rehoboth.

Mrs. F. Allyn Cooch, Jr., last year's vice-president, was awarded a wall plaque and a national citation for membership achievements.

Mrs. Arthur E. Tomhave received the Billy Hogan Trophy for the best all-year Americanism program. In the absence of Mrs. Tomhave, Mrs. Paul D. Lovett, past department president, accepted the trophy.

Mrs. Richard C. Cooch won first prize for the best history, which was sent to national headquarters for judging at his national convention in Boston in August.

Unit officers for the current year were installed at a dinner meeting in June at the home of Mrs. Robert Davis.

Mrs. F. Allyn Cooch, Jr., president, appointed chairmen, with Mrs. W. Francis Lindell, Americanism; Mrs. William C. Wilson, child welfare; Mrs. William S. Hamilton, civil defense; Mrs. Orville Little, communications; Mrs. F. Allyn Cooch, community service; Mrs. Edna D. Hilliard, constitution and by-laws; Mrs. Arthur E. Tomhave, national security; Mrs. Paul D. Lovett, poppies; Mrs. Conrad Lewis, rehabilitation; Mrs. Leon Case, sunshine, and Mrs. Robert Davis, finance.

Local Unit At Westvac Defeats Teamsters' Bid

Teamsters Union efforts to replace Local 690, Printing Pressmen's Union, AFL-CIO, as bargaining agent for West Virginia Pulp and Paper's Newark plant were defeated last Thursday.

In the certification election, Local 690 registered a 124-69 victory over Teamsters Local 115. There were four abstentions.

President of Local 690 is C. Edward Finkel Jr. of Newark.

Judith Ann Smith Plans Junior Year Abroad Study

Judith Ann Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James G. Smith, 203 Saturn Drive, Newark, is among five Rockford College students who will study in Europe next year under the Junior Year Abroad program.

Judy will study German at the University of Munich, Germany.

A German major, she has been secretary-treasurer of the German Club and worked on Recensio, the college yearbook, since she came to Newark through the summer of 1968.

Acting-Director

Mrs. Albert S. Priestley

Goods news came at the close of the school year for the staff of the Yellow Jacket "Buzz," the Newark High School student newspaper.

Editor-in-Chief Brenda Billingsley was notified that Y. Jacket paper has been awarded the first place certificate by the Columbia Scholastic Press Association in its 43rd annual contest.

"This is the first time the 'Buzz' has received a first place prize."

The "Buzz" was rated 911 points out of a possible 1,000, based on content, writing, editing, and make-up.

Mrs. W. H. Johnson Appointed Director For Senior Center

Mrs. William H. Johnson, Old Post Road, Newark, has been named executive director of the Newark Senior Center.

Her appointment, announced by Cyril E. Fowble Jr., president of the center's board of directors, is effective Aug. 14.

Mrs. Johnson succeeds Mrs. Harrison I. Anthes, who resigned recently.

During the interim, center programs are being continued by volunteer workers under the direction of Mrs. Albert S. Priestley.

A graduate of the University of Delaware, Mrs. Johnson was employed by the university from 1959 to 1964 as Sussex County home demonstration agent, and as state leader of home economics extension.

She has taken university extension courses in human behavior, and attended workshops offered by the Cooperative Extension Service of the U.S. Dept. of Agriculture.

Her experience includes work with adult members of home economics extension clubs, and young people in 4-H and girls' clubs.

Mayor Handloff Protests Rise In Newark's County Tax Rate

Objections Filed By Newark Mayor With County Council President For Budget With Local Tax Increase From 55 To 59.5 Cents Per $100 Despite City Service Function

Mayor Norma B. Handloff protested the increased county tax rate from 55 to 59.5 cents per $100 for residents of the City of Newark, before adoption of the county budget last Thursday night by the New Castle County Council.

"In general, the City of Newark does not agree that the tax levied against the citizens of Newark should be more than the current 55 cents per $100," Mayor Handloff said in a June 29, letter to President C. Douglas Buck, Jr., of the New Castle County Council.

"A proper allocation of county expenditures, the 59.5 cent rate would be reduced further to reflect a fair share of municipality participation in financing county operations by use of the separate budgeting requirement for local service functions," the Newark mayor said, quoting from Newark City Manager Edward R. Stiff's letter of last June 2, to County Executive Connor.

Stiff Writes Again

"Following the public hearing on June 3," Mrs. Handloff continued, "Mr. Stiff wrote again under date of June 7, submitting again our detailed statement of local service functions performed by the city as originally requested on April 24. Submitted with this were copies of our city budget and a report to city council from our finance director indicating items that, in our opinion, were not allocated properly as overhead or fixed charges."

"Both of the above letters were written following a meeting between Mr. Stiff and myself, and the Newark mayor continued, "On June 7, Mr. Stiff reiterated the willingness of the city's administrative staff to meet with the budget committee and further amplify and review the various areas of concern."

"So far as I know, no such meeting has ever been asked for," Mrs. Handloff added.

No Opportunity

"Since we had no opportunity to look at this revised budget (I would hope that in future years it will not be necessary to find out these things by reading the paper) we ask:

"Are a proper share of those expenses attributable to administration, staff salaries, and overhead allocated to the local service function budget?"

"Are we being charged for county safety inspection, fire, rescue, ambulance, library, or police services that we do not in fact receive?"

"The spread between Wilmington's tax rate and that applied to Newark was formerly one-half cent. It now appears to have grown to 1.5 cents. How is this justified?"

In conclusion, Mayor Handloff stated "the citizens of Newark do feel that they have not had in regard to this budget, the explanation and justification which is their due."

"I can speak for them and for their city council in expressing the hope that both methods and procedures will be completely reevaluated. The force next year's budget is prepared, and this year's budgetary procedures will not serve as a precedent for the future," the mayor concluded.

Addition Of Six, Juvenile Division Slated For Police

The Newark Police Department will be increased by six men, and a juvenile department will be added if council approves an organization proposal.

Chief of Police Arthur S. Hauser said most significant changes would be increasing size of the department from 27 to 33 men, plus two police cadets, and the addition of a lieutenant and a captain.

The force has a juvenile officer, but the new plan would create a juvenile department.

There would be a captain under Hauser to handle administrative details.

Hauser added there would be a corporal and detective rating after reorganization.

In addition to the population to Newark, the local police department is responsible for students and employees at the University of Delaware. The university has campus guards but Newark police investigate any criminal matters on campus.

If the plan is approved at the special meeting on July 17, Hauser said the reorganization will begin immediately.

"We're trying to keep up with the growth of the city. We don't want to wait until the city has outgrown the police department," Hauser said.

Jack Alley Fires Expert In Army Combat Training

Army Pvt. Jack L. Alley, 22, whose mother, Mrs. Mary M. Alley, lives at 209 Courtney Street, Newark, fired expert with the M-14 rifle in basic combat training at Ft. Bragg, N.C., on June 13.

Japs Reject Morning Glory With Soybean Seed Export

Morning glory seed mixed in U.S. soybeans shipped to Japan is a problem again this year, according to Dr. William Mitchell, extension agronomist at the University of Delaware.

Japanese buyers object to morning glory seed in soybeans since some of the beans end up in food products. Japanese consider the seed toxic, even in small amounts.

Any soybeans with a morning-glory-seed content of .007 or above must be cleaned under quarantine before release in Japan.

Since the number of rejected lots of soybeans has risen in recent months, Mitchell urges soybean producers to eradicate morning glories from fields this year or see that the seed is cleaned.

Susan Irby Stars With Theatre '67 "Diary" Production

The professional Theatre '67 production of "The Diary of Anne Frank" is being presented at 8:15 p.m. through Saturday this week in Mitchell Hall.

Francis Goodrich and Albert Hackett adapted their play from the true-life story faithfully recorded by a young Jewish girl, who with her family and friends, hid from the Nazis for two years in Amsterdam.

Winner of the Pulitzer Prize and the Critics Circle Award, "The Diary" was called "a lovely tender drama" by Brooks Atkinson of the New York Times.

For the Theatre '67 production, Susan Irby plays Anne Frank, the "adolescent girl who is on tip-toe before life," in Atkinson's words.

Susan began collecting awards for her acting at the age of 18 when she started an unequalled run of "Best Actress" with four successive years at Wake Forest College.

Her father in the play is Bill Wiley, playing his fourth straight major role for Theatre '67.

Annie's mother is played by Gina Petrushka, who starred as Claire Zachanassian in "The Visit."

Bonnie Mesinger plays Anne's older sister Margot.

The other people in the Frank's hiding place are Robert Sonderskov and Lorraine Kirby and Mr. and Mrs. Van Duan, and Don Biehn as their young son Peter.

Eric Crawley plays Mr. Dussel, the irritable dentist, who, allergic to Peter's pet cat Mouschi, is a source of tension as well as humor in the enforced suspense of everyone's daily ritual of life.

FOOD FOR THOUGHT
Something to really give you some food for thought are the shocking statistics that were published recently: six out of ten teenage girls have inadequate diets. These startling facts come from the National Research Council of the Foods and Nutrition Board who also state that teenage girls receive less than two-thirds of the nutrients recommended by the Board.

But do you know what? You girls of the growing-up variety can lick this serious problem as easy as, if you'll pardon the expression, pie. Here are five simple solutions:

1. Decide what you want for breakfast the night before, and if necessary, get up a few minutes earlier in the morning so you'll have the time to help fix and enjoy it.

2. If your school lunch period is short and those cafeteria lines long - how about preparing lunch at home? Remember to include fruit and a hard-boiled egg or carrot sticks or even celery along with the sandwich and the cookies. (Just think of the clothing "goodies" you can buy with the money saved.)

3. Discuss with Mom or Sis the dinner menus for the week. Not only can this be helpful fun but it will also prove how imaginative and creative you really are and how much your family will appreciate your efforts.

4. Start a "fruitful fad" - instead of that bubbly stuff, serve all kinds of fruit drinks to your friends for snacks.

5. A most rewarding project for school could be making up a vitamin chart. This could give you extra credit in class and illustrate how vitamins can be for you to the health mark.

Your local library is chock-full of fascinating material on nutrition and just walking there will be a big step towards being nutritionally efficient instead of deficient.

Isn't it nice to know that you can really DO something for it?

MISS JUDY ANN REED PLANS SUMMER WEDDING

Dr. and Mrs. Howard L. Reed of Newark, and Point O' Woods, N.Y., announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Judy Ann Reed, to Ensign Norman Fodor Smith III of Keene Valley, N.Y.

TB: THE LAST MILE?

Tuberculosis, though greatly reduced in recent decades, still hangs on to the tune of nearly 50,000 new cases a year. Like a late-staying guest, it edges slowly toward the door but shows no readiness to depart, according to the Delaware Tuberculosis and Health Society.

Just the same, medical science now sees a distinct possibility of reducing TB to a point where eradication is a realistic prospect.

Isoniazid, a drug highly effective in curing the disease, has shown itself capable of additional wonders.

About 25-million Americans are infected with the TB germ but haven't developed active disease. In mass trials involving such people, it has been shown that isoniazid can protect about half those who take it from breaking down into active TB.

So far so good. Does this mean that the annual case rate in Delaware and other states can be cut in half immediately? Unfortunately, no.

For one thing, it would be impossible to give the required treatment to all 25-million at once.

However, Mrs. Shirley Ferebee, a Public Health Service expert on TB statistics, has calculated that by treating infected persons at the more manageable rate of two-million a year, the annual number of new cases could be reduced to about 19,000 at the end of 15 years. From that point it would continue to decline at an ever accelerating pace.

In order to treat infected persons one has to find them first. That's the function of the tuberculin skin test.

You probably aren't one of those 25-million, but there's only one way to be sure. The Delaware Tuberculosis and Health Society recommends a TB test or a chest X-ray as part of your annual medical check-up.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

171 Academy Street
June 29, 1967

On June 26, your City Council upped the rate on all future light deposits from $15 to $25. The next time you move in the city this means it will cost you $10 more to have the electricity turned on.

The reason for upping this amount? The finance director said the city was coming out on the "short end" in light bills in certain "trouble" areas. His exact words: "I recommend that we increase the required deposit in certain trouble areas from $15 to $25."

What I am emphasizing is that the city is aware of the possibility of getting a bad account that will not pay the full bill. The city is also aware of the fact that this group represents a small minority. I contend that a majority should not be penalized for those who are guilty.

To say that this was done to protect the city sounds all well and good. However, the ordinance that was amended fully covered any situation where it was anticipated that bad bills might occur. The ordinance will be able to see by reading the following words of the amended ordinance: "The deposit shall be in an amount so as to give at least (meaning it could be more) 50 per cent protection to the city from unpaid bills, provided, however, that in no event shall any deposit be less than $15." (meaning it could be more).

Three Of AAUW Chapter Attend Miami Convention

Mrs. Horace Rundell, Mrs. Frederick Herzog and Mrs. Marcus Olson of the Newark branch, American Association of University Women, attended the June 18-22 biennial convention of the AAUW in Miami Beach, Fla.

Theme of the convention was "Design and Direction for the Voluntary Association," and some 2,000 members attended.

New officers of the Newark AAUW for the coming year are: Mrs. Rundell, president; Mrs. Frederick Herzog and Mrs. Lawrence LaFreniere, vice-presidents; Mrs. Russell Powers and Mrs. I. A. Cole, recording and corresponding secretaries, and Mrs. Paul McCormick, treasurer.

Mrs. Olson is president of the AAUW Delaware division.

In other words, without upping the ante on deposits and without any amendment of the ordinance, good judgment could be applied to anticipate poor credit risks and require that a greater deposit be made until good credit was established.

Ten dollars may not be a "drop in the bucket" to some, but to those with honest, limited funds, and a good credit rating, it means a lot. Things like this make me wonder whether or not those who vote on legislation ever think out the overall effects of a proposed bill.

I was the only "no" vote on this. It might do some good to ask your councilman why he supported this amendment in light of the foregoing.

William M. Coverdale,
2nd District Councilman

Local School Board Honored For Leadership

Injured crew members of the Liberty were transferred to the America for medical treatment.

Ingrid A. Dowling Funeral Services Conducted Monday

Mrs. Ingrid A. Dowling, 48, of 605 Lehigh Road, Newark, died Saturday in Memorial Division after a short illness.

Born in Sweden, Mrs. Dowling moved to Newark in 1957 from Grosse Point, Mich.

She had been a guide for the Henry Francis du Pont Winterthur Museum for several years, and was a member of the Newark Country Club.

She is survived by her husband, R. Edmund Dowling; a daughter, Mrs. Ingrid C. Diemer of Toledo, O.; her mother, Mrs. Lisa Sandell of Sweden, and a sister, Mrs. Yvonne Barrows of Troy, Mich.

Services were conducted Monday afternoon at the William J. Warwick Funeral Home, Newark.

Contributions for the Delaware Cancer Society are suggested by the family in lieu of flowers.

Gunman Holds Up Glasgow Station With Take Of $50

A gunman robbed a Glasgow station attendant of $50 last Sunday morning, state police report.

Leonard B. Coburn, 16, told police he was alone at the Pure Oil service station on U.S. 40 in Glasgow at 1:30 a.m. when a man came in and bought three quarts of oil, then asked for a cigarette.

Coburn said he went into the office to get a cigarette for the man who followed him and pulled a gun. The man took $50 from Coburn, ordered him to lie on the floor and fled.

Coburn told police the man was about 30, of slender build and dressed in a plaid shirt and dungarees.

The robber was driving a black-and-white 1967 Chevrolet and headed toward the Maryland state line.

John L. Burmeister Gets $4,000 Grant For Research Aid

Research Corporation has awarded the University of Delaware a one-year grant of $4,000 to support chemistry research by Dr. John L. Burmeister.

Title of the project is "Synthesis of Nitrile and Isocyanide Pi-complexes of Transition Metals."

"If successfully synthesized," Burmeister said, "these pi-complexes will constitute a new class of coordination compounds. Included in the ever-expanding spectrum of such compounds are hemoglobin and chlorophyll, compounds of paramount importance in the respiratory systems of animals and plants."

The sponsoring organization was created in 1912 by Frederick Gardner, educator, and later Cottrell, scientist, philanthropist. The foundation supports basic research in the natural sciences through grants-in-aid to colleges and scientific institutions. Its grants programs total over $2-million annually.

Burmeister joined the Delaware faculty in 1964 after teaching at the University of Illinois.

He received his bachelor of science degree from Franklin and Marshall College, and his PhD from Northwestern.

Crittenden, Bloss, Yelen Authors Of Ag Bulletin

Pod and stem blight damages soybean seed quality more than any other disease in Delaware, and the blight caused by a fungus is present to some extent every year.

Three plant pathologists from the University of Delaware—Dr. H. W. Crittenden, associate professor; H. E. Bloss, former graduate assistant; and F. A. Yelen, graduate assistant, have written a new circular "Pod and Stem Blight of the Soybean in Delaware," which describes the blight and gives control measures.

Copies published by the Agricultural Experiment Station, are available from the Mailing Room, Agricultural Hall, University of Delaware, Newark.

Protect Your Children Against Measles, Says The AMA

CHICAGO—Now is the time to have your children immunized against measles if they have not already received this protection, says the American Medical Association.

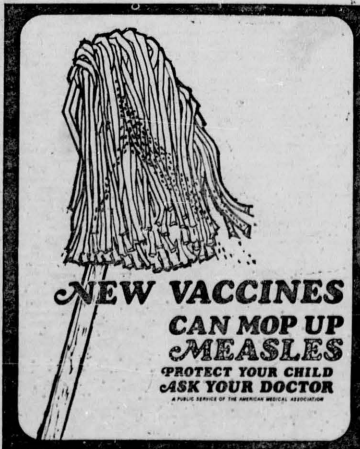

Many parents are surprised to learn how dangerous this common childhood disease really is. An estimated 250 American children died from measles in 1966. More than 150 suffered measles encephalitis, sometimes called sleeping sickness, or brain fever. Encephalitis frequently leaves children with permanent disabilities, including mental retardation, deafness, and blindness.

Future tragedies can be prevented, because safe and effective measles vaccines are now available. In the past four years, these vaccines have helped cut the measles death rate in half.

It's possible that measles could be eradicated in the near future if more parents protected their children with immunization.

The AMA recommends that every infant be vaccinated when he is about one year old. All children over this age who have not been vaccinated and who have not had measles, should be immunized now.

It is especially important that children in nurseries, kindergartens, and the first two grades of elementary school receive measles immunization. These youngsters have the highest risk of infection. If enough children are protected by immunization, measles will disappear. It's time to get in on this familiar, but often dangerous, and sometimes deadly childhood disease.

Sallies Provide Five For Blue All-Stars With All-Staters Chadick, Stu Harrison

The Blue team can count on two of the top linemen in the state when it goes against the Golds on Aug. 26, in the 12th annual Delaware All-Star High School Football Game.

Tackle Mike Chadick and Guard Stu Harrison—both All-Stars—are among five Salesianum School products who'll play in the late-summer spectacle at the University of Delaware Stadium to benefit the Delaware Foundation for Retarded Children.

Others are Guard Pat Noonan, and Halfbacks Mike Casey and Bob Pearce.

Chadick, who is heading for Maryland after the game, and Harrison, who'll be a September freshman at Delaware, were two of the most sought linemen in the state.

The 220-pound Chadick was a mainstay for the Sallies' front-line last season, and recovered a fumble against Archmere, returning it 40 yards for a touchdown. He helped the school's record for points after touchdowns, with 25.

At Maryland, he hopes to pursue a course in pre-dentistry, although he's also a capable artist. In his spare time he works with oils.

A two-time letterman in baseball, Chadick was an executive board member of the school's Student Council, an honor roll scholar, and a member of the National Honor Society.

Harrison, 6-2, and 205 pounds, will be the second in the family to play in the All-Star Game. His older brother, Randy, a former standout end at Delaware, played for the Blues.

Harrison was best known for his defensive play. He was quick and put his size to excellent use.

Also an honor student, Harrison was a member of the executive board for the Student Council, treasurer for the Honor Society, a member of the Science Club and the Glee Club.

Casey, 190, and two-time letterman in track, scored two touchdowns in one game on runs of 25 and 45 yards. He was treasurer of the senior class and a member of the Student Council. He's hopeful of entering Penn.

Pearce, 160 pounds, scored touchdowns on runs of 50 and 66 yards. An Honor Society member and a three-year letterman in baseball, the speedy halfback plans to enter Delaware in September.

Noonan, 190, is a letterman in baseball; a football starter since his junior year at Salesianum, and a member of Student Council.

He will continue his education at West Chester State.

Big Bill Davis declares that pan rock and big white perch are biting the band in the Delaware River off Augustine Beach—and Bill's definition of "pan rock" leaves little to be desired for a stripper fisherman.

The rock are running to a length of 2-4—and a rock that big takes a lot of pan, and an honest man to classify is as pan-size.

With Newark's John Watts, Chrysler's prize idea man, Bill Davis took 20 nice rock along with some husky one-pound perch last Saturday near the jetty off Augustine Beach, fishing with bloodworms.

"Be careful in fishing around that jetty," Bill Davis warns of the menacing rockpile offshore—a boulder barrier barely discernible at high

Wrestling Champ Craig Nau Wins Bid For Bulgaria

Craig Nau, 95-lb. state and Blue Hen Conference wrestling champion for Coach Andrew Marcantonio's Newark High School Yellowjackets last season, is one of 13 Delawareans qualifying for the Junior World Wrestling Championships.

Nau won the No. 1 spot in the 114½-lb. division with matches conducted last week in 10 classes at Tattall School.

The Newark star faces regional competition for a chance to compete in the World Tournament to be held in August in Bulgaria.

Babe Ruth League Week Proclaimed By Governor Terry

"Babe Ruth, the all-time all-star of baseball and hero to many young Americans, represented sportsmanship exemplified for all ages," Gov. Charles L. Terry, Jr., a former Washington & Lee University star said this week.

"The baseball league for 13 to 15-year-olds in Delaware is named after this baseball great. The Babe Ruth Baseball League is baseball played on a regulation sized diamond by about 900 Delaware youngsters," Gov. Terry continued.

"This year, the Millcreek Babe Ruth League will host the State Babe Ruth Baseball Tournament between July 9 and 16 on the Stanton Junior High fields.

"To honor the men who lead, and the boys who participate in this worthwhile effort, I, Charles L. Terry, Jr., as governor of Delaware, designate the week of July 9 through 16 as Babe Ruth League Week in Delaware, and urge citizens of the First State to encourage their youngsters to participate in more activities of this nature, believing that this type of experience will benefit them throughout their entire lives," the governor concluded.

Side—until one loses a boat on the reef.

The best of the fishing occurs during the swift ebb and flood tides, with action tapering off in the slack water at the crest of the flood and at the slowly ebbing return.

The rock are something special—and pound-size white perch are fine fish, any time.

Fred Brown and Bill Fowler, fishing the surf last Saturday between Dewey Beach and the Indian River Inlet, encountered nothing but blowfish, but Mr. Brown had no complaint.

"I like blowfish," he said simply. These misshapen marine monsters are prized by gourmets when the anterior portion is removed from the head end and abrasive hide, to be sold white and firm as "sea squab" for a golden fish fry.

Fishing on the Jersey Cape took a turn for the better this week, as a larger variety of fish showed up for offshore fishermen, the inland waterway small boat enthusiast, the surfmen, and boatmen fishing Delaware Bay.

Biggest news is the excellent fluke fishing in the ocean, as party and private boats drifting offshore near the county's inlets and near the rip in Delaware Bay began picking up big doormat fluke.

Also showing well, are weakfish in the bay, with party and private boats scoring well in a 60-ft. slough.

For the offshore troller, an occasional big bluefish is still taking the lure, but over the past weekend, snapper blues in the half to one-pound class began taking trolled feathers and other lures.

Occasional bonito in the five-pound class were caught offshore, as were a few tuna up to 20 pounds.

OFF AND RUNNING by John I. Day No Commuter Problem

The Suburban Handicap has nothing to do with commuter train schedules, traffic jams or urban parking difficulties. It is an $50,000-added stakes event for 3-year-olds and upward with $100,000 added to the nomination and entry fees by the New York Racing Association. First run in 1984 at the Coney Island Jockey Club's Sheepshead Bay course, the 19th Century equivalent of the Big A. It is today Aqueduct's traditional 4th of July feature, until the New Belmont Park stands are completed and racing returns to the Belmont course.

The roster of Suburban winners reads like a Who's Who of the turf and many of its winners such as Salvator (1890), Imp (1899), Beldame (1905), Gray Lag (1923), Mad Hatter (1924), and Euphonia (1938), to name a few, have since lent

Hal Bodley Named Ass't Sports Head For News-Journal

Former sports editor of the University of Delaware student newspaper "Review," Harley R. (Hal) Bodley has been named ass't sports editor of the News-Journal papers.

Bodley was night sports editor and a columnist for the Morning News. In his new position, as assistant to Al Cartwright, he will be involved in administration and operation of the sports departments of both the Morning News and Evening Journal.

Bodley, 30, joined the News-Journal sports staff in 1960, and was appointed to the new position of night sports editor in 1963.

A graduate of Smyrna High, he attended the University of Delaware. Bodley is married to the former Lois Deputy of Middletown and they live at 206 Cloverleaf Road in Meadowood near Newark.

Gold All-Stars' Bob Jones Assigned To Andrews AFB

Airman Robert L. Jones, nephew of Myrtle Watson of 85 New London Avenue, Newark, has graduated from the U.S. Air Force technical training school at Sheppard AFB, Tex.

He completed the protective coating specialist course conducted by the Air Training Command which provides technical and specialized education programs for the nation's aerospace force.

Jones is being reassigned to Andrews AFB, Md., as a member of Headquarters Command.

Airman Jones graduated from Newark High School, where he was a star halfback, playing last August for the Gold All-Stars in the annual game to benefit the Delaware Foundation for Retarded Children.

Memorial To William du Pont, Jr. Slated With $50,000 - Added Handicap Stake

Nothing could be more appropriate than for Delaware Park to honor the memory of the man most responsible for creation of the state's only thoroughbred racing track.

And this will be done this Saturday with the inaugural running of the $50,000-added William du Pont, Jr. Handicap.

The veteran sportsman passed away at the age of 69 on the last day of 1965, and in recognition of William du Pont's many contributions to Delaware Park and racing in general, President Donald P. Ross and his associates in the operation of the Stanton track decided to replace what was known as the Diamond State Handicap up until this year, with a new stake—one worthy of the du Pont name—increasing the added money from $20,000 to $50,000 but retaining the mile and a sixteenth distance.

William du Pont not only was an organizer of the track, but supervised construction of Delaware Park which opened in 1927.

He also bred and raced many famous thoroughbreds who carried his famed Foxcatcher Farms silks to outstanding stakes conquests over a period of 40 years, with such renowned racers as Rosemont, Dauber, Fairy Chant, Parlo, and Berio.

Thirty-two horses are eligible to compete in Saturday's top attraction, five of them members of the three-year-old ranks.

Heading these sophomore nominees is Damascus, leading candidate for championship honors in his division.

Should owner-breeder Mrs. Edith W. Bancroft and trainer Frank Whiteley, Jr., send the brilliant colt after his sixth stakes success of the year, it would be another feather in his cap to defeat older horses.

Damascus showed his liking for the Stanton racing strip when he captured the Leonard Richards Stakes on June 17.

Damascus' older stablemate, Hedevar, also is eligible for the week-end special and he, too, has a sparkling victory earlier in the current meeting to recommend him.

Other seasoned campaigners include Stupendous, Understanding, Classic Work, Deck Hand, Indulto, and Mr. Right.

The size of the field will depend largely upon whether or not Damascus is in the line-up.

The size of the field will depend largely upon whether or not Damascus is in the line-up.

Should owner-breeder Mrs. Edith W. Bancroft and trainer Frank Whiteley, Jr., send the brilliant colt after his sixth stakes success of the year, it would be another feather in his cap to defeat older horses.

Damascus showed his liking for the Stanton racing strip when he captured the Leonard Richards Stakes on June 17.

Damascus' older stablemate, Hedevar, also is eligible for the week-end special and he, too, has a sparkling victory earlier in the current meeting to recommend him.

Other seasoned campaigners include Stupendous, Understanding, Classic Work, Deck Hand, Indulto, and Mr. Right.

THINK ABOUT IT ...and you'll have your checking account at FARMERS

Yes, I thought about it a lot and then I realized that there's a lot of prestige in having my checking account at Farmers—What I mean—it's the thing to have.

Look at all the time and money I save by not having to run around to pay my bills . . . and another thing, cancelled checks—you know—with all the little holes punched in them—they're all the proof I need.

I stopped in at Farmers and they gave me a little folder on how inexpensive it is. I mean—if I can do it, anyone can.
