Land owner sues city over hotel

By JENNIFER L. RODGERS
NEWARK POST STAFF WRITER

When Newark City Council members voted to cancel a proposed hotel's reservation, they made one for themselves in court.

Five-T Associates, the owner of 2.1 acres of land at 630 South College Avenue, across the street from the University of Delaware's Bob Carpenter Center, filed a complaint Tuesday against the City of Newark, its mayor and councilmen in Delaware's Court of Chancery for New Castle County.

Council voted 3 to 3 against a special-use permit March 28 that, if approved, would have allowed Five-T to build a 97-room Sleep-Inn hotel. According to city code, a tie equals a loss.

"We feel all their (council members who voted against the permit) reasons are really competition issues," said Alice Yang, spokesperson for Five-T. "The decision is arbitrary and capricious."

A brief history of Five-T's attempts to build a hotel follows:

• February 1989— Five-T

applied and was granted a special-use permit for a full-service Ramada Inn hotel, with a pool and restaurant. However, Yang said later that financing a full-service hotel proved "impossible."

• September 1991— After Yang said she looked at Best Western, Hampton, Holiday and Sleep inns, the company applied and was granted a special-use permit for a limited-service Sleep Inn. After the permit was granted, Yang said she donated 1,200 square feet of her property to the Delaware Department of Transportation and paid $11,899 (25 percent of the cost) toward construction of a service road for her property and the property next to it.

• June 1993— Financing was in line according to Yang, but she said Roy Lopata, director of planning, told her the city could not supply water for the hotel. The water problem was solved when Wilmington Suburban said she could tap into their line on Del. 896.

• December 1993— Five-T tried again, but council voted against the special-use permit. Dissenting council members Irene Zych, Hal Godwin, Tony Felicia and Thomas Wampler cited traffic, landscaping, storm water management and the appearance of a lower-end hotel near an entrance to the city as their reasons. Mayor Ronald Gardner and council members Jane Tripp and Olan Thomas voted for the permit. Councilman Godwin, who voted for the permit in 1991 but against it now, later said: "I didn't pay as much attention to the difference between Ramada Inn and Sleep Inn in 1991."

• February 1994— The company

Possible twister hits Newark

By SHEILA DOUGHERTY
SPECIAL TO THE NEWARK POST

Some Newark residents got a scolding from Mother Nature earlier this week when they experienced what they said appeared to be a tornado.

Residents of the 180 block of Scottfield Drive near Castle Mall said they saw "a cloud of dust" coming from the direction of the mall at about 5:30 p.m. Wednesday. The cloud was followed by gusts of wind and lightning. "The thunder sounded like a freight train coming by," said Patricia Feeney.

Brenda Boyce, also a resident, said she saw what looked like a twister coming toward the neighborhood from the direction of routes 4 and 72. "It was wild," she said.

Boyce said the wind damaged a storm door on her house. "I had to hold the back door in, but the metal at the bottom of the door just blew in, along with a lot of dust," Boyce said.

Feeney said the wind broke off the top of a tree in her backyard. The tree fell on the roof of her house and tore down part of the rain gutter. "I didn't see a twister, but the winds were ... really bad," she said.

The wind damaged other trees and carried children's toys and garbage cans into the street. Boyce said a playhouse in her backyard was thrown into a neighbor's yard. "It was unbelievable."

Boyce said the strong winds lasted about 25 minutes and subsided when it began to rain. "(I've) never seen anything like this," Boyce said, "except for in 'The Wizard of Oz'."

Slight damage was noticeable at the construction site of a new Caldor department store.

Metal roofing fell to the ground and an outhouse was overturned.

Four Newark police officers were promoted in rank at a ceremony held May 23 in Newark City Council Chambers.

More than 50 people, including family members of the officers, Newark police officers and city employees, turned out to see the officers being promoted.

William Nefosky was promoted to the rank of captain, Roy Clough to lieutenant, John Potts to sergeant and Robert Agnor Jr. to corporal.

The promotions opened as a result of Capt. Tom Penozo retiring after 22 years with the Newark police department. December 1990, when Capt. Charles Coffey retired, was the last time promotions of captain through sergeant were made at the department.

Newark police promotions are based on a written exam, oral board interview and promotional potential performance evaluations, which include peer evaluations and past performance records.

Capt. Nefosky is a 15-year veteran of the Newark police department and has served as supervisor of the Special Operations Unit, commander of the Traffic Division and the commander of the Criminal Investigations Division.

Nefosky, 39, holds an associate's degree in police science from Delaware Technical and Community College and a bachelor's degree in criminal justice from Wilmington College. He is a graduate of the FBI National Academy.

He was named 1990 Policeman of the Year, and has been given the Nowinski Award and MADD Lifetime Achievement Award. He resides in Bear with his wife, Diana and their three daughters.

Nefosky will assume command of the Administration and Services Bureau which oversees the administrative, communications, record and property and maintenance units of the department.

Lt. Clough has served with the Newark police department for 23 years and prior to his promotion served as a supervisor in the Patrol Division. He has also served as detective corporal and detective sergeant in the Criminal Investigations Division, professional standards officer and supervisor of the Administrative Unit.

Clough, 43, has a bachelor's degree in business administration from the University of Delaware.

He was the recipient of the Nowinski Award in 1982 and 1986. He resides in

By TONJA CASTANEDA

NEWARK POST STAFF WRITER

Three burglaries were reported to Newark police this week — two at Main Street businesses and a third at a Chinese restaurant.

Although the break-ins occurred on different dates, all three burglaries occurred after the stores had closed for the night and were discovered during the opening of business the next day.

Police are investigating if the burglaries are linked, according to Curt Davis of the Newark police department.

NEWARK POST STAFF WRITER

The executive director of the Newark Business Association, Louise Ruggerio, announced her resignation this week after seven months on the job.

"I'm moving to Los Angeles for personal reasons," Ruggerio said. "I'll really miss the people in Newark and miss the job...it's just something that has to be done."

Ruggerio will leave after Newark Nite on June 4.

"I'm disappointed in some respects because she's really done a great job," said John Wisniewski, president of the association. "It's going to mean starting all over again which is unfortunate."

Wisniewski is already interviewing for replacements and said he hopes to have a replacement as soon as possible.

English needn't be made official

By CATHERINE WOJEWODZKI
DELAWARE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Do we need an official language for Delaware?

Last week the Delaware House of Representatives debated and passed a law (HB 460) to make English the "official common language" of Delaware. But why? English is our official common language, and immigrants are encouraged to learn it as rapidly as possible.

What would be the consequences of this legislation? Information supplied by state departments and my own research made me aware of the following facts which led me to take a stand against HB 460.

The Department of Health and Social Services has both philosophical and practical concerns about this bill.

Charged with providing services to Delawareans, some of whom do not speak English, a Department position paper stated "If we are to help them to become productive, contributing citizens, we must first reach them, and we have to do that in a language they understand." HB 460 would increase the cost of government and create "another layer of government bureaucracy and oversight that has no bearing on client services."

The Department of Public

GUEST OPINION

Wojewodzki

Instruction (DPI) opposes HB 460 because of the time-consuming budget process required by this legislation. A DPI statement indicates that this bill would also hinder current efforts to involve parents in their children's education. The Department also believes that this bill would make it more difficult to communicate with parents who understand only languages other than English.

The National Council of Teachers of English also opposes this bill! They point out that our state already requires students to pass four years of English in order to graduate from high school.

There is a perception that Hispanic immigrants, unlike previous immigrants, resist learning English.

Despite the claims of English Only proponents, research shows that newcomers are learning English faster than ever before. Many assume that programs like bilingual education encourage minorities to maintain their native languages rather than learn English. However, the opposite is true. Educational research reveals that proficiency in a child's first language increases competence in a second language and cognitive development. Successful bilingual education programs actually result in faster acquisition of English. In Delaware, we strive to move children from bilingual programs into regular classes as rapidly as possible.

An Official English policy would not improve the quality of life for any Delawarean and would increase the bureaucracy and cost of state government.

Editor's note: Catherine Wojewodzki, a Democrat from Newark, represents the 23rd District in the Delaware House of Representatives.

A strange and wonderful light

By NANCY TURNER
NEWARK POST STAFF WRITER

It was no wonder that ten minutes after professor Edward R. Minus of Wofford College gripped the sides of the podium and began his graduation breakfast address, the grits and red eye gravy were churning in the pits of our stomachs.

Ed Minus, doctor of fine arts and education, offered a warning that went something like this:

"...Expect to come in contact with persons who will hurt and betray you. Some will try to exploit you. You will be lied to by upstanding citizens and leaders whom you want to trust. ...There will be sadness in the world that you cannot remedy, but more that you cannot. ...And when life has chewed you up and spat you out, or when you think you know the meaning of 'tired' and 'hard', the best you can do is go back and live some more."

Wofford College, an old, Methodist liberal arts school in Spartanburg, South Carolina, had sheltered us among its ivy for four years. At the time, no one felt cheated that the difficulties of the adult world had been broken and fed to us in small, manageable portions. Life was good there. It was a school where the president and deans knew most of the students by name and the professors knew us well enough to invite us to have supper in their homes. Until graduation breakfast, our general outlook had been bright.

Ten minutes into the address, I was ready to give back my hat and gown and call the whole thing off. Then our speaker changed gears.

"Just remember, amidst all the hardships, that there are little lights of humanity and compassion," he said, cupping his hands together as if to hold a firefly.

"Ever so often, you will find that there is true kindness in this world."

It is not manifested in egos or born of ulterior motives, but it is free and unexpected. Be alert for it. Recognize it. Pick it up and hold it in your hands and celebrate it like a precious diamond, like the strange and wonderful light that it is. Absorb it and learn from it."

I am increasingly frustrated by all the text information that I have forgotten from college. I've misplaced three-quarters of my education in 17th Century literature and most of what I fretted over in chemistry. Calculus is a blur. But years after graduation, I think of Ed Minus's sentiments when I see our local university seniors preparing to face the unknown. Just like I, many of them are tender morsels for this tough world.

Having been duly "chewed up and spat out", a lot of what Dr. Minus said is making sense. And sure enough, in spite of all the things I have forgotten from school and all the things that I really didn't want to know about daily living, its "strange and wonderful lights of human kindness" crossing my path that teach me every day.

University alumna protests plans to demolish portion of Daugherty Hall

Editor:

As an alumna of the University of Delaware, it saddens me to think of the destruction of the back two-thirds of Daugherty Hall, also known as The Abbey on West Main Street, Newark.

Although Daugherty Hall is listed on the National Register of Historic Places, the University of Delaware, as its present owner, determines the fate of the building. The University is proposing to destroy the back two-thirds of The Abbey. A new student center will be built as an addition on The Abbey in that location. A four-story parking garage will be built beside the student center in the parking lot that is presently there.

Options to this plan have been presented to President Roselle. A viable alternative would be to build the new student center beside Daugherty Hall in the present parking lot. The four-story parking garage could then be built in the Hollingsworth lot across the street from The Down Under restaurant/bar on North College Avenue.

Daugherty Hall is a beautiful building which could be used as a on-denominational chapel for the University. It could also be used for recitals or musical events. The uses are endless.

Daugherty Hall, formerly the Old First Presbyterian Church of Newark, dates back to 1870. It is a part of Delaware history. Quite honestly, I am shocked that the University, an institution of higher learning, has no greater appreciation of The Abbey's history or aesthetic charm.

Judge Moore should be kept on Delaware Supreme Court

Editor:

There should be a groundswell of opposition to the Delaware Board of Bar Examiners decision to omit Justice Moore from consideration to continue his duties as Supreme Court Justice.

he has been acclaimed by European legal representatives for his impact on good court procedures and many others that fairly appraise his definite ideas on what a court system should be.

The only ones who seem to object to his outspoken appraisal of courtroom tactics are lawyers who don't adhere to the rigid intent of the law rather than the way many lawyers twist and use the ambiguous loopholes of the overabundance of laws that get cleverly used to absolve the most glaring of crimes and the guilty ones who committed them.

Our courts have become a mockery of justice. In Los Angeles, two officers are jailed while the madman criminal not only goes free but is given $3.8 million.

Our health system is jeopardized daily by lawsuits that net exorbitant awards that cost all of us in the long run. No matter what the frivolous claim might be, there is always a lawyer to support it at the public's expense.

We needed Judge Moore to put a damper on the rampant lawyers, but their revenge against all of us is very evident.

High School Alumni Association to Hold Banquet

At a meeting of the executive board of the Newark High School Association, held last Monday evening, plans were made for the annual reunion and banquet. This will be the first meeting since 1917, activities having been suspended last year, owing to war conditions. Every effort will therefore be put forth to make this banquet a notable one. It was decided to hold the affair at the New Century Club on Saturday, June 14th.

Miss Myrtle Steele was made chairman of the social committee, which includes Misses Etta J. Wilson, Lydia Fader, Florence Butler, Helen McNeal and Mr. George Medill. An interesting literary and musical program will be provided and the banquet will be served by Mrs. M. E. McGovern.

This live organization numbers about 250 members.

In a "letter to the editor" published in the May 15 issue of the university's college paper "The Review" bearing the headline: "Trabant Serves Ruling DuPonts as Puppet," Marion Brooks, communications secretary of SDS, wrote: "One May 17, E.A. This will presumably mean that Trabant will be officially invested with those powers that have traditionally gone with office. We cannot accept this."

Sex-Ed Hearing Aims Opposition

A premature outbreak of parental concern over the content of the proposed FLASE program manifested itself at the meeting of the Newark Board of Education last week.

On hand for the normally, sparsely-attended session, were 35 persons, most of whom seemed to be strongly, against the anticipated Newark program, details of which is currently the topic of a Newark Weekly feature story by Gary Patterson.

Newark Board of Education President Albert H. Jones said that, contrary to rumor, sex education as it would make up part of the FLASE curriculum, is not part of current school material.

Newark teacher in hall of fame

Newarker Renee O'Leary will meet President Bill Clinton this August during a visit in the rose garden at the White House in Washington D.C.

It's an honor she will receive as one of the five teachers nationally named to the National Teachers Hall of Fame on June 18 in Emporia, Kan.

She will also get $1,000 in scholarship money to give to a graduating senior at William Penn High School in the Colonial School District, where she teaches Kindergarten.

"Teachers must go beyond the four walls of a school building to truly experience life and learning," said O'Leary.

She has been a Kindergarten teacher for 37 years in Delaware.

A bright future for young people requires a long-term commitment, she said. "Growing in up in a society in which the only thing that is predictable in unpredictability is not easy for young people," she said. "If we are to provide the hope that these young people will grow up academically challenged, secure in their values and confident that they are recognized and appreciated, we must have a long-term commitment toward these goals from educators, families and the community."

O'Leary made the decision to become a teacher at age six when she was teased by classmates for being different. "The cruel taunts of my first-grade classmates and the distance the teacher kept between us made me realize, for the first time, that I was undesirably different," said O'Leary.

O'Leary

ent," said O'Leary. "Deformed by a birth injury and covered with an allergic rash, I was viewed and treated as an ugly duckling," she said.

"School was disappointing and a lonely place for me—a place where I made a profound decision for a six-year-old. My goal in life was to become the most gentle, loving and caring teacher I could possibly be," she said.

She currently teaches at Wilmington Manor Elementary School.

From 1956 to 1980, she taught Kindergarten in the Wilmington public schools.

She received a bachelor's degree in 1950 from Millersville State College in Pennsylvania.

O'Leary said she believes the days when ABCs and 123s were the main extent of what was taught to Kindergartners are gone. She introduces students to basic scientific concepts such as the body's five senses, shapes, colors, water, air and forms of matter.

Her programs have earned her several awards such as the 1991 Christa McAuliffe Fellowship, 1991 Presidential Award for Excellence in Teaching Science and 1982 Delaware Teacher of the Year.

Delaware Gov. Thomas Carper, who nominated O'Leary for the National Teachers Hall of Fame, said, "Typical of her generosity, she has used the money from these awards to provide science training opportunities for other teachers, as well as computers for kindergarten classrooms at her school."

Newarkers will gather Saturday night for a Main Street block party.

The fourth annual Newark Nite will get underway at 6 p.m. and continue through the evening.

Artist paints a portrait of talent

By TONJA CASTANEDA
NEWARK POST STAFF WRITER

If you've thought about getting a portrait painted of yourself, family members or even a pet, local artist Shawn Faust might be the man to call.

Bear resident Faust has painted about 75 portraits of Delaware individuals and family members, 100 paintings of dogs or cars and 800 house illustrations for commercial purposes.

"You don't have to be famous to have an artist paint you," Faust said. He has not done a self-portrait but has painted his wife, Christy.

Faust has been doing portraits for eight years and although he isn't famous yet, two of his paintings are on public display.

His portrait of former Gov. Mike Castle is hanging in Legislative Hall in Dover and a work of former Supreme Court Justice Thurgood Marshall hangs in the Christina School District's elementary school named after Marshall.

He painted Castle's portrait from a photograph in four months, but only had about four weeks to do Marshall's painting when the school district decided to have the portrait unveiled at the Marshall school's dedication.

The supreme court justice was painted from a combination of two photos—a black and white photo for his features and a color photo for skin tones. "My father modeled his hands and I had him hold a book since the painting was going into a school," Faust said.

Both of the portraits are done in oils, which Faust said gives paintings a prestigious look. He also paints with watercolors.

Currently, Faust is working on about a dozen projects.

One is a watercolor portrait of two grandchildren of Newarkers Harry and Betty Hutchinson. "I saw one of Shawn's paintings at Community Day and asked him about painting some of my grandchildren," said Betty.

She said the portrait will hang in her home and someday be passed down to her children.

He is also doing a work of five small scenes on one painting which chronicles a span of years in one person's life.

Faust, a 1985 graduate of St. Mark's High School, holds a fine arts bachelor's degree from the University of Delaware.

He said he would most like to paint Businessman/Politician Ross Perot. "He (Perot) inspired me and got me so fired up," Faust said, of when Perot was running for the presidency.

Locally, Faust said he would like to paint clergyman Father Michael Supper at the University of Delaware Sir Thomas Moore Oratory. "I admire him and how he relates to students," he said.

Faust usually paints from photographs he takes himself, but has painted from people posing.

"I like both," he said, "photographs capture an expression but the best accuracy comes from the live person." He said his interest in painting portraits comes from the challenge of capturing a likeness of somebody on canvass.

"I find out what type of background they like and put them in their own environment in a favorite chair or park bench," Faust said.

Portraits range from $300 to $5,000 depending on the size, medium (oil or watercolor), number of subjects and amount of detail in the background.

He said for example, a watercolor portrait of one person being painted from the waist up on 11 by 14 inch canvass, would cost about $300 in comparison to $5,000 for Castle's oil portrait.

"I really get satisfaction by delivering the work to people when it's finished," said Faust. "They get so excited."

He said feedback of his work is always positive. "I have people come in during preliminary work and throughout when I'm painting," said Faust. He said family members watch the work being developed and make suggestions so the painting has a great likeness to the person.

"The biggest problem I run into is reference," he said, "to portray a person who I don't live with."

When asked if he gets a sense of creating works that will last for posterity, he said with a laugh, "It will be worth more when I'm gone."

Sons of American Revolution chapter organizes in county

Members of The Delaware Society, Sons of the American Revolution, met at The Delcastle Inn Restaurant in Wilmington on Saturday, March 26, 1994, at 10 a.m. for the purpose of organizing the first New Castle County chapter in the 104-year history of the organization.

Members of the State Board present for this historic event were the President, Dr. Ralph D. Nelson, Jr. of Newark; Dr. Howard F. Horne, Jr. of Wilmington, former state president and member of the Executive Committee of the National Society SAR; Mr. Warner W. Naudain, state registrar, and Dr. Norman P. Thompson, Jr., state membership chairman. The meeting was conducted by Dr. Thompson. Several chapter names were offered for consideration and a nominating committee was named.

The Major Robert Kirkwood Chapter, DESSAR, held its first regular meeting at Adolpho's Restaurant in Newark on Saturday, May 7, at 12 p.m. The purpose was to choose the name and elect and install the 1994-95 slate of officers.

The chapter name was chosen in memory of Robert Kirkwood who was born in Newark, educated at the Newark Academy and who fought in the American Revolution with the Delaware Regiment under George Washington in the battles of Long Island and Valley Forge to the battles of Cowpens, Camden and Yorktown.

Holiday meals: things to consider

A typical Memorial Day meal may include hamburgers, hot Dogs, coleslaw, baked beans, a vegetable relish tray and strawberry shortcake.

Got a new barbecue grill—or an old one that you'd like to polish up and use to get the summer season off to a good start? Have your Memorial Day supper in the backyard.

When should you buy your ground beef? Preferably, a day or two before the party—no longer, unless you plan to freeze the meat for a short period to preserve its freshness. Thaw frozen meat in the refrigerator to prevent the growth of bacteria. Don't allow this meat to stand out, unrefrigerated, for more than 2 hours at the most. Cook both hamburgers and hot dogs in batches small enough to be used quickly so they don't stand around to allow bacteria to grow.

Cleanliness in preparing food is always important, but especially hamburgers. Always wash your hands thoroughly with soap and hot water before and after handling raw meat. And, don't handle meat if you have cuts or sores on your hands.

Keep coleslaw chilled. Plan to bring it to the table right from the refrigerator. Instead of letting a large dish of coleslaw sit out at a warm temperature, replace the dishes often with new batches from the refrigerator.

Don't allow the baked beans to stand for more than 2 hours at room temperature.

Strawberry shortcake is a popular summer dessert but a very perishable one, especially if you use whipped cream. Add the whipped cream just before serving. If you do have to wait to serve shortcake, refrigerate it promptly. Don't let it stand at a warm temperature. Return leftovers to the refrigerator and plan to use them soon.

Can you prepare and serve the food to avoid foodborne illness?

Your family may enjoy meals every day without problems, but on holidays when large groups get together, meals are sometimes transported without adequate refrigeration. Bacteria can cause food poisoning. All they need to grow is the right combination of time, temperature, and moisture.

Foodborne illness can cause diarrhea, vomiting, stomach cramps, and other unpleasant symptoms which can last for several hours or even days. With young children and elderly people, the results can be more severe. Often, people mistake foodborne illness for a simple "bug" or virus. The real cause may be food that was not properly handled, prepared or served. This can be prevented.

Can perishable foods such as cream pies, seafood, and dishes made with eggs, fish, meat, and poultry be kept COLD (below 40° F)? Do not let these foods stand at room temperature more than 2 hours. It's best to use a cooler with plenty of ice to keep items cold.

Can perishable foods such as seafood, poultry, and cooked meats be kept HOT (above 140° F)? Bacteria grow best in lukewarm foods. Never let these foods stand at room temperature more than 2 hours. It may be best to keep these items cold until you reach your destination and then cook them there.

Holiday meals are fun but need careful planning. How many people can you safely serve? And, how much time will it take to prepare the food? Don't try to feed more people than you can handle.

Consider the size and quantity of the cooking equipment you have, your supply of eating utensils and dishes. Figure out how much refrigerator space you'll need to store foods or how many insulated containers you'll need to transport food to a picnic site. Will washing facilities be available? If not, plan ahead by taking disposable utensils, dishes, an insulated water jug for hot water, paper towels and other supplies to help with food preparation and clean-up.

Savory soups lend a hint of some tasty Italian bliss

I wish Americans could think of soup as the Italians do. In this country we generally see soup as a light meal in itself when nothing else seems to be readily available, and it usually comes from a can. Not so in Italy.

The Italians have a much longer food history than we, and certainly that helps explain their affection for wonderful rib-sticking soups.

MINISTRONE SOUP (serves 10-12)

There must be thousands of variations on this basic dish, because there are thousands of Italian grandmas. This version is as close as we can come to what you'll find in Italy. Notice that we did not just make a vegetable soup with tomatoes and then dump in some pasta, a common sin found on Italian restaurant menus in America. We thickened this soup with beans, just as they do in Italy. You can make a fine minestrone by simply cleaning out the refrigerator.

2 cups dried cannellini beans (find in Italian markets)
1 cup dried cranberry beans (find in Italian markets)
10 cups fresh or canned chicken stock
1/2 pound pancetta—Italian-style bacon found in Italian markets—sliced and chopped
2 tablespoons olive oil
4 cloves garlic, crushed
2 medium carrots, peeled and diced
2 medium yellow onions, peeled and diced
1 cup thinly sliced celery
2 1/2 cups chopped ripe tomato
2 cups peeled and diced potatoes
1/2 cup dry red wine
2 tablespoons chopped fresh parsley
1 teaspoon dried marjoram
1 1/2 cups diced zucchini
1 pound kale (remove the stems and chop coarsely)
1/2 cup grated Parmesan cheese
Salt and pepper to taste

THE FRUGAL GOURMET

By JEFF SMITH

Adjust the salt and pepper if necessary.
Serve the soup with a drizzle of extra-virgin olive oil.

MUSSEL SOUP WITH SAFFRON (serves 6)

Craig, my assistant, must receive full credit for this one. In Venice mussels show up in all sorts of dishes, and this version that he developed is better than any we had in Italy. Yes, it's rich!

2 3/4 pounds mussels
2 teaspoons olive oil
2 cloves garlic, crushed
1/2 cup dry vermouth
1 medium yellow onion, diced
1 cup thinly sliced celery
2 tablespoons butter
1 pint whipping cream, milk or half-and-half
1 1/2 cups fresh or canned chicken stock
1/2 cup bottled clam juice
1/4 teaspoon saffron threads
2 green onions, thinly sliced
1 tablespoon chopped parsley
1/4 cup dry sherry
Salt and pepper to taste

Remove the beards from the mussels. A pair of pliers works well for this. Just pull the beard off and rinse the mussels well.

Heat a 6-quart pot with the oil and garlic and saute a few seconds. Don't burn the garlic.

Add the cleaned mussels and the vermouth.

Cook, covered, over medium-high heat. Steam the mussels open, about 3 to 4 minutes, stirring once.

Strain the mussels in a colander, reserving the broth or nectar. Pour the mussels out onto a sheet pan to cool.

Return the pot to the stove and saute the onion and celery in the butter until clear; do not brown.

Add the cream, chicken stock, clam juice and saffron.

Heat to a gentle simmer and cook, covered, for 15 minutes.

Remove the meat from the mussels and discard the shells. Add the green onions and parsley to the pot and simmer 2 minutes more.

Add the mussel meat along with any juices and the sherry.

Restore the heat but don't overcook the mussels.

Add salt and pepper to taste and serve immediately.

Longwood Gardens set for an exciting time in the month of June

To borrow a song title from a show currently enjoying a renaissance on Broadway, "June Is Bustin' Out All Over!" Well, at least it will be in just five days. And nowhere is June doing more "bustin'" than at Longwood Gardens in nearby Kennett Square.

Literally the whole world knows about the beautiful gardens at the former estate of Pierre S. du Pont. Botanically, there is something to see and enjoy all year long, and travelers from around the nation and around the world do just that. The performing arts at Longwood are a bit newer on the scene and, under their present director Priscilla J. Johnson, they are fast becoming a major force on the cultural scene in Post Country. There are now about

THE ARTS

By PHIL TOMAN

350 concerts a year! There are few concert halls that are THAT busy. One very interesting fact is that most of the concerts offered are free with garden admission. There are few (read "no") concert halls with THAT pricing policy.

Things get underway on Thursday, June 2, with a folk concert at 7:30 p.m. in the Conservatory Theater. The soloist is England's famed folk singer and acoustic guitarist Iain Matthews. No charge.

Next on the bill is a fully staged Gilbert and Sullivan opera, "The Grand Duke" with a full orchestra. It will be performed in the Longwood Open Air Theater by the Savoy Opera Company of Philadelphia Friday, June 3, and Saturday, June 4 at 8:30 p.m. All the fun and nonsense of G&S in the beautiful outdoor setting is well worth the $12 and $15 price of the tickets.

On Tuesday, June 8, The Family Ice Cream Concert will feature "Trout Fishing in America." No, that's not the sport, it is the eccentric performing arts duo of Ezra Idlet and Keith Grimwood. They will offer a program of humor with rhythm and blues, reggae, rock and children's music. While you have to pay for the ice cream at the outdoor theater, the performance is free.

A Renaissance Music Concert is set for Thursday, June 9, featuring Pan's Fancy from Philadelphia. The two artists, Edwin George and Karen Meyers will use recorders, bagpipes, lutes and a hurdy-gurdy. On the same program is the Terpsichore Antiqua Historic Dance Ensemble whose repertoire includes 15th through 19th century European and Colonial American dances in period costumes. The evening will be on the lawn of the Italian Water Garden, so bring a blanket or lawn chairs. No charge for this double bill.

The Longwood Gardens Gala Garden Party has the entire estate for the evening of Friday, June 10. The fund raiser ticket price of $125 includes cocktails, buffet, dancing, fountain display and fireworks. The music will be by Peter Conte, organist, and Pan's Fancy. This event is by reservation only.

The next evening the program schedule is back to normal with a bluegrass concert called Bluegrass and Roses Day. It features Bob Paisley and The Southern Grass with the Feet First Cloggers. They perform at 7:30 p.m. The 35th annual Rose Show opens the same day and admission to both is free with regular garden admission.

Flag Day, June 14, will be marked by a Light Classics Concert featuring the All American Coronet Band conducted by David Tuttle. There will be marches, ballads and patriotic songs.

The concert will be in the open air theater. No charge.

The Bellringer Theater Works will offer three evenings of Shakespeare scenes and music in programs called "Much Ado in a Midsummer Night."

The curtain goes up at 7:30 p.m. on Thursdays, June 16, 23 and 30. Free of charge.

Jazz will be front and center in the Open Air Theater with a concert on Saturday, June 18, featuring Gerald Chavis, Marc Johnson, Cheryl Hamilton, Darryl Hall and John Coley. The evening is called "It's a 'G' Thang" (sic). No charge.

Sunday afternoon, June 19, from 2 to 4 p.m., The Washington Memorial Pipe Band will lead a Father's Day celebration under the direction of Pipe Major Philip Townsend. The band will stroll throughout the garden for those two hours and there is no additional charge for the music.

The Kennett Square Symphony Orchestra will be in the Open Air Theater Saturday, June 25 at 7:30 p.m. Mary Woodmansee Green, the group's music director, will be on the podium for a program called "America The Beautiful."

This is an all reserved seat concert with ticket prices ranging from $18 to $29.

The final June program is on Tuesday, the 28th, and is a classical concert with The Newman and Oltman Guitar Duo. The Ensemble-in-Residence at Mannes College of Music in New York will offer a program of Spanish Romantic Music in the Conservatory Theater at 7:30 p.m. No charge.

The programs at Longwood Gardens truly run the gamut from symphony and opera to folk and bluegrass, with fun for the kids too. If you would like more information, please call Longwood Gardens at 215-388-6741.

By the way, the Terrace Restaurant will be open until 9 p.m. on all performance evenings. You can get full service of use the cafeteria. Reservations are suggested at 215-388-6771.

It's all there for you. Enjoy!

"The Great West Point Chain" was the title of the program given by Elaine E. Johnston of Limestone Hills. Johnston is currently serving the National Society, Daughters of the American Revolution, as member of the President General's Speaker's Staff and the Delaware State Society as state registrar. She is member and Librarian of Cooch's Bridge Chapter, NSDAR, in the Newark/Hockessin area, and belongs to several other hereditary groups in Delaware.

Dr. Nelson presented the Delaware State President's Certificate of Appreciation to Dr. Norman P. Thompson, Jr., for his work as state membership chairman, for organizing genealogy workshops in New Castle and Kent Counties, and for organizing two new chapters in New Castle County.

The Brandywine/Christiana/New Castle

Hundred Chapter, organized April 13, 1994, is named in memory of Major Peter Jaquet, a comrade-in-arms of Robert Kirkwood in the American Revolution. The General John Dagworthy Chapter of Sussex County was organized in 1981 and is the only other chapter in Delaware.

The Major Robert Kirkwood Chapter, DESSAR, exists to promote patriotism and historical preservation in the community and to provide educational benefits through the National Society's Good Citizenship and Oratorical contests and Eagle Scout awards through the local Boy Scout Council, and ROTC and law enforcement awards.

According to the Delaware Society Constitution, "Any man shall be eligible to membership in the Society who, being of the age of eighteen years or over, and a citizen of good repute in the community, is the lineal descendant of an ancestor who was at all times unflinching in loyalty to, and rendered active service in, the cause of American Independence." Interested persons may contact Norman Thompson, president, at 292-8953 or Warner Naudain, registrar, at 239-5043.

Newark girls tandem wins state title

By MARTY VALANIA
NEWARK POST SPORTS EDITOR

It was a perfect ending to anybody's senior year in high school.

Newark High's first doubles team of seniors Jen Berilla and Meredith McFadden completed a perfect 20-0 season and won a state championship by defeating the Archmere tandem 3-6, 6-3, 6-1.

For Berilla, the victory gave her a third straight state title (the last two with Dawn Crowley, who graduated last June) and capped an unbelievable 54-0 career. For McFadden, it was an unbelievable ending to a perfect first and only season playing varsity. For the two of them, it was a great graduation present to a best friend — each other.

"It hasn't really sunk in yet," an emotional Berilla said following the match. "I owe a lot to my partners. I really don't know what winning three means. I do know I've enjoyed them all."

McFadden, playing her first varsity season, admitted to some nervousness during the title match.

"I really wanted to win it for Jen and myself," McFadden said. "I definitely thought about not being the one causing her to lose her first match." The Newark duo struggled a bit in drop-

State tournaments swing into action

Baseball tourney begins Saturday

By MARTY VALANIA
NEWARK POST SPORTS EDITOR

The Delaware State High School Baseball Tournament gets underway Saturday with three local teams among the field of 16.

St. Mark's (15-3), the Catholic Conference champions, is seeded second behind Catholic rival St. Elizabeth, even though the Spartans beat the Vikings twice, had a better conference record and a better overall record.

"They play the best schedule in Delaware," said St. Mark's Coach Tom Lemon of St. Elizabeth. "I knew this could happen. I think we blew our chance [for the top seed] by losing that last game to William Penn."

The Spartans will host 15-seed Alexis I. DuPont Saturday at 11 a.m. while St. Elizabeth will host number 16 Dickinson also at 11.

The formula used for deriving the seeds weighs opponents' strength of schedule heavily. St. Elizabeth played just two teams with losing records and many with winning percentages above .667 (giving the Vikings bonus points) while the Spartans played six teams with losing records.

Joining St. Mark's in the tournament will be 12th-seeded Newark (12-6) and fifth-seeded Caravel (13-5). In fact, those two teams play each other Saturday morning at Caravel.

Other opening round games Saturday include third-seeded Seaford versus number 14 Middletown; number four Caesar Rodney against number 13 Concord; number six Indian River versus 11-seed Dover and seventh-seeded Mount Pleasant and number 10 Lake Forest.

St. Mark's, last season, was

Glasgow excels at state championship track meet

By JOHN HOLOWKA
NEWARK POST SPORTS WRITER

DOVER — It was a case of divided we stand, united we fall last weekend for Glasgow High at the Division I Delaware High School Track and Field Championships at Dover High.

The Dragons proved without a doubt that individually they have the best running talent in the state by winning 11 events, far more than any other high school, but the boys finished second behind Salesianum and the girls fourth.

The boys team, buoyed by senior Shae Devlin and junior Rob Dixon, swiped six titles Saturday and totaled 111 1/2 points, while defending champion Sallies won two events and scored 126 points. Newark placed sixth (50 1/2), St. Mark's seventh (47), Christiana eighth (42) and Hodgson was 13th with 11 points.

The girls won five titles and placed fourth with 72 points behind meet winner Dover (134 1/2), William Penn (106) and Caesar Rodney (87). St. Mark's had a double-winner in distance runner Steve Sinko and was sixth (57), Newark seventh (35), Christiana ninth (15 1/2) and Hodgson finished 12th with 11.

"I was really pleased with everything that happened," said Glasgow Coach Art Madric. "We couldn't have asked for any more from the (boys and girls) teams; our kids all came out ready to compete. Everybody bettered their times."

Glasgow's 800 relay team of Reagan Byrd, Crystal Lambert, Kina Thornton and Zakiya Haley set an electronically timed state record with a clocking of 1:42.59, which eclipsed the long-standing hand-timed mark of 1:42.8 set by Howard in 1981.

"That was a surprise," said Madric. "I felt we would win the race, but I never thought we'd take a full two seconds off the record. It was a case of firming up our stickwork."

Haley also anchored the winning 1600 relay team (4:04.34), won the 100 dash (12.12) and the 200 dash (24.90). Lambert took first in the 100 hurdles with a time of 14.60, just ahead of William Penn's Aisha McManus, who finished in 14.61.

On the boys team, Devlin and Dixon both remained undefeated this season in their premier events.

Outrageousness abounds in state

OUTRAGEOUS!

That was my first opinion when I saw that the Glasgow High softball team had to play in a playoff game to qualify for the state tournament. Then, just a few days later, I heard that St. Mark's was the second seed in the state baseball tournament. That's even crazier!

I guess I really didn't see those two wonderfully played regular-season games between St. Mark's and St. Elizabeth. I must have dreamed that the Spartans beat the Vikings twice. Maybe I misread that St. Mark's won the Catholic Conference (over St. E) and had a better overall record (15-3 to 13-5) than the Vikings as well.

All those things couldn't have happened because St. Elizabeth is the tournament's top seed and St. Mark's is seeded second.

I know that that's the way the numbers came out and the committee had no choice. But, if this scenario can happen, the system is flawed and change should be considered.

Why can't some human element enter into the process? The numbers should still be used as a guide but let somebody with a thought process correct the obvious injustices — like this one.

POST GAME

Glasgow softball situation screwy

The Dragons, playing without three starters because of a band trip, beat Sussex Central 2-1 Saturday afternoon at Smyrna to earn their berth in the state tournament; but it certainly didn't make any sense that they had to play the game.

Coach Larry Walker found out Friday afternoon that his team had to play the next morning to earn a spot in the tournament. With a 10-4 Flight A record and a 12-5 overall record, Walker and his team figured they wouldn't be playing until Wednesday in the first round game.

There are five Blue Hen Conference teams that earn automatic berths into the state tournament. The two top Flight A finishers, along with the two top Flight B finishers, make up four of the qualifiers. The fifth spot goes to the third place team (in either Flight A or Flight B) that has the best flight record.

Middletown, which finished 9-8 overall, went 8-3 in Flight B. That, by

St. Mark's girls soccer team posts state's best record

By MARTY VALANIA

It wasn't an official state championship; but nobody could tell the St. Mark's girls' soccer team that it wasn't the best in Delaware this spring.

The Spartans, behind two goals from Kelly Walker, topped Dickinson 3-1 Monday afternoon at the Delcastle Recreation Area in the finale of the first-ever varsity girls' soccer season. The victory improved St. Mark's state-best record to 14-1 on the season while Dickinson fell to 12-2-2. Newark also finished with a 12-2-2 record.

"It was a good win. It was a great season," said St. Mark's Coach Tom DeMatteis, who completed an impressive school year of coaching (he also coached the Spartan boys' team into the state championship game). "This means we finish with the best record in the league."

Walker, who scored 23 goals on the season, got the Spartans on the board first, scoring 10 minutes into the first half.

Dickinson, however, fought back, controlling the play the rest of the first half. Strong play

ATHLETE OF THE WEEK

ZAKIYA HALEY - GLASGOW

DOVER — Sometimes a change of scenery means a change of pace. Not so for Glasgow High's Zakiya Haley.

A senior transfer student from St. Mark's where in 1992 and 1993 she ran to four outdoor state titles in the 100-, 200- and 400-yard dashes, Haley has once again finished a step ahead of the field despite an injury that forced her out of competition for several weeks.

Haley, who missed the earlier part of the season with a stress fracture of the shin, blistered the track at Dover High last Saturday in the Division I state track meet in winning her marquee events, the 100 and 200. She also anchored the state-record setting 800 relay team and the winning 1,600 relay team.

The 800 team of Reagan Byrd, Crystal Lambert, Kina Thornton and Haley circled the track in 1:42.59, which shaded the previous time of 1:42.8 set by Howard in 1981. William Penn was a distant second at 1:44.23.

"I thought she performed great," said Glasgow Coach Art Madric. "Those are good quality performances. She had to come back from her shin problem and when she lost to William Penn and Newark (dual-meets) I think she just started to doubt herself.

"But she worked hard and got back into training," Madric said. "We knew all along that she'd come back and we weren't concerned. But she wasn't sure. Hopefully (the state titles) are comforting to her."

Haley, who has accepted a full scholarship with James Madison University in Harrisonburg, Va., defended her titles in the 100-yard dash with a time of 12.12 and the 200 in 24.90, faster than last year's times of 12.28 and 24.96.

She also ran last leg on the winning 1,600 relay team (4:04.34), which defeated Dover by over three seconds.

Newark nine clinches second place, tourney berth with win over Mt. Pleasant

By MARTY VALANIA

NEWARK POST SPORTS EDITOR

NORTH WILMINGTON — Earning a berth in the state tournament, which a month ago didn't seem quite so probable, became a reality for the Newark High baseball team last Thursday afternoon.

The Yellowjackets (13-5 overall, 10-4 Flight A) nipped Flight A champ Mount Pleasant 2-1 in a soggy contest that catapulted them into second place in the league, and gave them an automatic berth in the state tourney.

"This was a big win for us," said Newark Coach Harry Davies. "Mount Pleasant is a very good team that beat us the first time around. We wanted to play the game like they play the game and to beat them to get into the tournament is great."

Jeff Simpson scampered home from third base on a wild pitch to score the winning run with two outs in the eighth inning.

The victory was the sixth straight in conference for Newark, which has rallied from a 3-4 conference start to earn the second place position.

Simpson led off the eighth with a bloop double to right field and Sean McCullough followed by reaching base on an error.

With McCullough on first and Simpson on second base, Scott Walter flew out to deep center field to advance both runners a base with Scott Hunt at bat.

McCullough, however, was picked off on a good move by Green Knight pitcher Evan Stabley for the second out of the inning.

That's when Simpson and Davies decided to take a chance.

"We decided I was going to go on any pitch that got away," said Simpson, who had a great jump off third base as Stabley's curveball bounced short of the plate and rolled toward the third base bench. "When they got that pickoff we needed to make something happen."

Sophomore pitcher Scott Hunt, who limited the highly touted Knights, to just five hits in his complete-game performance, shut down the conference champs in order in the bottom of the eighth to preserve the victory. Hunt raised his record to 5-1 on the season.

"Scott pitched a great game," Davies said. "He did a nice job and showed a lot of heart out there."

Mount Pleasant (14-4 overall, 12-2 Flight A) scored a run in the third inning to take the early lead but Newark rallied to tie the game when Walter, who doubled to left in the fourth, scored from third base when the Green Knight catcher threw wildly into left field on a pickoff attempt.

Both pitchers controlled the game from that point until the climatic eighth inning.

PARKS AND RECREATION

Time Out Sports wins four games in week

By JOHN HOLOWKA

NEWARK POST SPORTS WRITER

NEWARK — Time Out Sports didn't pause long enough last week to catch its breath as it rolled to four victories in the Newark Parks and Recreation Mens Blue Softball League.

Last Tuesday Time Out edged Schumacher 12-11 in the opener and then squeaked by 2-0 in the nightcap. "We lost some key people from last year," said player-manager John Slack. "But we have players who are stepping up. One of our strengths is that we have flexibility from year to year. I think last year we only played six games with a lineup that I considered starters. We've always had guys moving around.

"I don't look a lot at statistics; we have a lot of players who do things that don't show up in stats," Slack said. "Like moving the runner over if there's a guy on second and none out. These things don't show up."

One newcomer who's making his presence felt is left-center fielder Kenny Farrall, who's batting around .850 and at one point last week batted 6-for-6.

"The first game (against Schumacher) we let up eight runs in the first inning," Slack said. "We just didn't play very good defense.

The second game (2-0) we just didn't hit. At any rate it's always been my philosophy to play good solid defense.

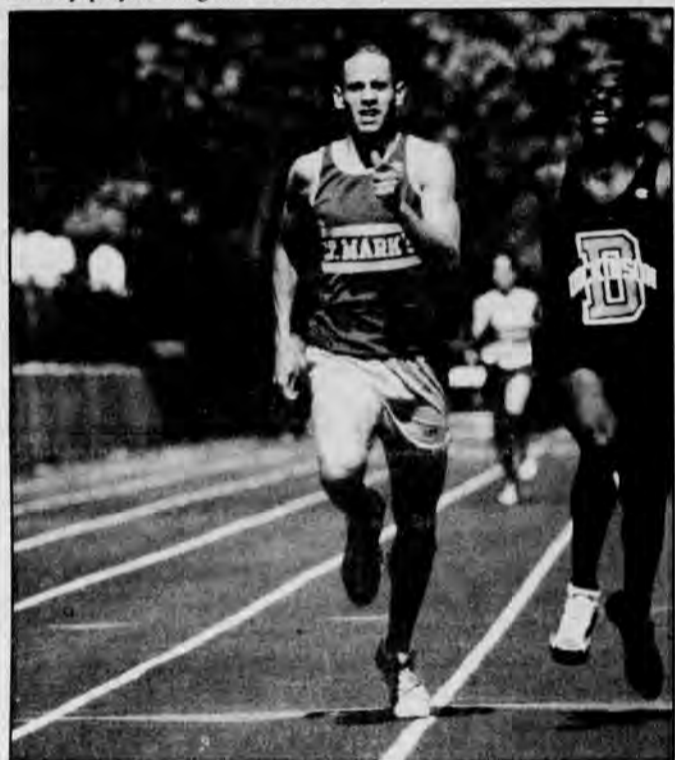

"We'll have some spectacular plays, but it's solid defense that wins. You have to throw the ball to the right base. This year we have a decent offense, but we're making too many errors. We're not playing good defense; it just turns out the other guys are making more errors."

Last Thursday Time Out swept K.J.'s Auto Repair 13-7, 13-11.

"Those guys hit the ball," said Slack. "They'll be competitive and are much improved. They're still new; it will take a little while to put it together.

"We have a really good group of guys this year," Slack added. "We'll get it together. Williams Realtors is always tough and Deco-Sign has a good record. And there are teams in the league no matter how good we are that will beat us. But we're no walkover."

Rounding out the Gold League: Deco-Sign swept APM 17-16 and 15-9, Williams took a pair from Thirtysomethin5-1, 7-6, Cafe Bellissimo beat FA Mortgage 10-6 and Moon Dogs defeated K.J.'s 8-4. Thirtysomethin5 edged Williams 6-4, FA beat APM 13-7, Moon Dogs edged Schumacher 11-10, 10-9 and Deco swept Cafe Bellissimo 12-7, 16-3.

percentage points (.727 to .714), got Middletown an automatic berth over Glasgow. Never mind that the two teams don't play each other and barely any team in either league plays each other. And never mind that Glasgow had a far better overall record against a far tougher schedule. They're all considered part of the Blue Hen Conference for this wildcard spot.

The tournament might as well take the best third place team between the Catholic Conference and the Henlopen South. That's about how much relationship that Glasgow and Middletown have in softball.

In fairness to the state tournament committee, its hands were ted. The Delaware Secondary School Athletic Association (DSSAA) manual has the odd selection rule clearly spelled out. It's been this way for over 10 years but nobody was ever adversely affected before. Therefore, nobody had any real motivation to get it changed.

The best thing about this year's scenario is that it will probably lead to a change in the way that fifth Blue Hen Conference team is selected.

ble being the big blow, and twice more in the third.

The Dragons, though, rallied to get back in the game in the fourth.

Priant started the comeback with a single off the third base bag. Megan Hart reached base on a ground ball and Beth Phipps doubled both home with line drive to left-center field. Back-to-back William Penn errors allowed Phipps and Adrienne Welch to score cutting the lead to just one.

"I was happy with the way we battled back," Walker said. "That first inning was a killer though. That's tough to overcome — especially [at William Penn] where we haven't had much luck in the past."

Caravel 6, Milford 2 — Kati Salony pitched a four-hitter and struck out six to lead the ninth-seeded Bucs to a opening round win over eighth-seeded Milford Wednesday.

Lisa Delcollo had a single and three runs-batted-in while Kristi Westcott got Caravel's only other hit.

The Bucs, who will play top-seeded Padua Saturday morning in a quarterfinal round game, were aided by seven Milford errors.

The win improved Caravel's record to 13-6 on the season.

The second half was more of an even one that saw Dickinson tie the score with just 10 minutes to play in the contest.

Walker, though, quickly answered for the Spartans, scoring again with just six minutes remaining. Katie Phipps tacked on an insurance tally on a breakaway three minutes later to start the St. Mark's celebration.

"I was getting worried there for awhile," said Walker. "Katie and I work real well together and we were able to come through at the end.

"It was a great season. I think we really improved a lot as the season went on. We expected to be pretty good and we also knew that Dickinson would be tough. I'm glad we were able to win this one."

St. Mark's, which outscored its opponents 70-7 on the season, lost just one game all season - to Newark in the second outing of the year. The Spartans, however, avenged that loss later in the season.

"It was very nice to see the progress," DeMatteis said of the season. "It really was an enjoyable year."

CRIME PREVENTION DIRECTORY

TAKE A BITE OUT OF CRIME

Tips from the Cecil County Sheriff's Office on how to avoid becoming a crime victim.

- Keep your car and house locked, even while you are at home. Keep ground floor windows secured.
- Park in well lit areas and away from cars, vans or other large vehicles that obscure your view of the vehicle.
- If you return home and find that your home has been entered, do not go inside. Go to someplace safe and telephone the Sheriff's Office or police.
- There are some precautions that can be taken to strengthen your home against break ins. They include:
Install deadbolts on all doors.
Install a door viewer (peep-hole)
Trim shrubbery around ground floor windows and doors. Burglars will use this for cover when entering a home.
Arrange for mail and newspaper pick-up if you are going to be away from home for any length of time. Install a timer for lights if you are going to be away for any length of time. Ask a neighbor or friend to come and check your home, while you are gone.
When going on vacation or travelling, there are some tips that you can follow to keep you safe and reduce the chance that you will become a crime victim. When staying in a motel, do not discuss dinner or other plans in the lobby. Do not open motel doors if someone knocks and you are not expecting anyone. Do not carry large sums of money or valuables on your person. Check with the motel about security arrangements such as a safe for valuables, etc. When travelling by car, plan your route in advance and leave the itinerary with a family member or friend. Call when you reach your destination. Have your car serviced before travelling to avoid break-down. Do not pick up hitch-hikers. If someone is following you, drive to a shopping center parking lot, service station, police station, fire station or some other well lit, public place. Ask the Sheriff's Office or police to come and do a "Home Security Survey"

YOUR GUIDE FOR EXPLORING
NEWARK

There's so much to discover here!

Welcome to Greater Newark, home to a variety of activities, events and opportunities. It's a place where the wheels of commerce, education and community are always turning. The nation's oldest company is located here. So is the University of Delaware, the state's largest institution of higher learning. The Christiana School District-Delaware's largest—defines the area too, and continues to grow.

The Greater Newark area, including the communities of Glasgow, Bear and Christiana, makes up a region steeped in history and cultural diversity. Whether you're visiting for the day, have just moved to the area, or have lived here all your life—you're bound to enjoy all there is to offer.

Publisher James B. Streit Jr. and I encourage you to spend some time taking in the sights while traveling through the region. You will be surprised to discover the variety of scenery that unfolds before you.

As you turn through the pages of our 1994 Discover guide, we hope you are able to capture a sense of what our area is all about. In addition to a variety of facts and features about Greater Newark, you will find at your fingertips dozens of helpful listings.

Discover is the product of a small, dedicated, hard-working staff of the Newark Post-Greater Newark's weekly community newspaper. Staff reporters Tonja Castaneda, Jennifer Rodgers and Nancy Turner all contributed greatly to this year's edition, as have staff interns Brian Hickey and Gregory Orlando. Other staff members who have contributed countless hours to Discover include sales representatives Lynne Tesch and advertising manager Tina Winmill.

We encourage your inquiries. You may direct your questions or comments about Discover to: The Newark Post, 153 East Chestnut Hill Road, Newark Del. 19713. We would appreciate hearing from you!

To receive the latest in community news, sports, events, and shopping opportunities in the Newark, Christiana, Bear and Glasgow area each week, we invite you to subscribe to The Newark Post. Call (302)737-0724 for details.

Lums Pond's paddle boats are popular with children in the summertime.

Lums Pond State Park offers a variety of recreation options

By BRIAN HICKEY

SPECIAL TO THE NEWARK POST

A vacation to the Bahamas can run upwards of a couple thousand dollars.

The expenses which come along with a trip to Dewey Beach can also serve to put a dent in a traveler's pocket, not to mention the two hour car ride.

For the Newark resident who needs an escape closer to home, a 15 minute trip down Route 896 is the perfect solution.

Lums Pond State Park, nestled on Howell School Road just south of Glasgow, is a 1.757 acre park which is also home to a 200-acre pond.

While it may not compare to a vacation in the islands, Lums Pond can contribute much to a relaxing day off.

For fishermen, or those with a mild interest in fishing, the pond contains bass, bluegill, crappie, catfish and pickerel.

Lums Pond has sailboat, canoe, paddleboat and rowboat rentals available for those who want to get out on the water.

The pond is bordered by a beach and while it may not lead into the Atlantic Ocean, it helps to turn Lums Pond into an acceptable option. Aside from the pond and beach, the park also is home to several sporting areas.

The area includes an 18-hole disc golf course, basketball courts, tennis courts, football, soccer and baseball fields.

At the park's Whale Wallow Nature Center, which is open from 2:30 p.m. to 4 p.m. daily, visitors can view one of many exhibits, including a wall of bees, or attend one of the park's summer programs, which are scheduled to begin on June 15.

The park will offer Health Walks at 1 p.m. on Wednesdays through Sundays. The walks, which begin at the Nature Center, enable participants to enjoy scenic views while helping their physical fitness.

The weekly 10 a.m. Thursday Treks will provide another opportunity for participants to see different areas of the park.

Between Wednesdays and Sundays, the park invites people to seine in the pond at 1 p.m. Seine is a large fishing net which floats along the top edge and weights along the bottom.

Seining offers "hands on" experience in which participants can learn more about the fish and invertebrates which call the pond home.

The fun is not over when the sun goes down on Saturdays as the park will provide a campfire for park goers at 8 p.m.

Nature Nuggets, a program offered to teach about the environment, will take place in the boathouse Sundays at 11:30 a.m.

The park, however, is not for adults alone. Several programs for children are also to be offered this summer.

Saturdays at 10 a.m., the park will offer the Crafty Kids program. Each session is scheduled to last for an hour and a half and children are encouraged to learn about nature through arts and crafts.

Each session costs $1.50 to attend and takes place near the campground boathouse.

On Sunday, August 22, the Kids Fishing contest will occur. Parents and children under the age of 15 vie to make the biggest catch of the day out of the pond. There are awards for the contest winners.

There are two Just for Kids Days scheduled for the summer: on June 19 and August 14 between 1 p.m. and 4 p.m. Park employees will schedule events for children attending the park on those days.

Groups are requested to call ahead for reservations for the Nature Center at 836-1724. The park is open from 8 a.m. to sunset year round.

While it may not be the ideal vacation spot, Lums Pond State Park can serve as a relaxing get away which is not too far from home.

Newark Arts Alliance spotlights local artists

More than 150 creative minds from the Newark area breathe life into Newark's art community as the Newark Arts Alliance.

The Arts Alliance, founded in 1992 as the brainstorm of Michael B. Schwartz. The Alliance sponsors art tours through its "Downtown With the Arts" series, which is held the third weekend monthly during the summer and fall.

It begins on Friday nights with live music in the vacant lot across from the University of Delaware Alumni Hall on Main Street and in the lot adjacent to the Post House Restaurant on Main Street. During the evening, more than 20 stores exhibit works of a variety of artists in the "loop."

On Saturday, 1-5 p.m., "Downtown with the Arts" continues with craft booths and live acoustical performances hourly on the lawn of the Academy Building on the corner of Main and Academy Streets.

"The Arts Alliance is interested in promoting originality and creativity in any media," said Michael C. Rewa, a local guitarist and member of the Newark Arts Alliance. If you are creative, there is a place with us in the Newark Arts Alliance.

"In the past," said Rewa, "people's definitions of what defines an artist have really been limited. You might have heard of maybe a dozen artists in town. Now, because more of them are coming out, we estimate that there are probably 500 artist of different types in this area."

Anyone may join the Arts Alliance. Membership is $10 per year and it includes a monthly newsletter featuring the latest news on exhibits and profiles on up and coming artists.

One dollar of every membership fee is dedicated to the Michael Schwartz Mural Fund, a fund intended for the creation of a public mural for Newark.

For more information on the Newark Arts Alliance, write to: Newark Arts Alliance, P.O. Box 1085, Newark, DE 19715-1085; or call (302)368-7158. Membership checks may be made to "Newark Arts Alliance".

Activities galore at Newark Parks and Rec.

With over 235 acres of land and a total of 23 parks and facilities, Newark Parks and Recreation offers a wide variety of activities and classes.

The department offers activities geared to preschoolers, children, teens and adults. Both Newark residents and non-city residents can participate, but non-residents are charged more than residents.

Park and Recreation services including sports leagues, parks and recreation facilities, community events, trips and classes in cooking, arts, crafts, theatre, nature, defensive driving, home decorating and dance.

The George Wilson Community Center is located on New London Road and offers recreational facilities

Take a peek at the Newark Historical Society's treasures

By NANCY TURNER
NEWARK POST STAFF WRITER

The Newark Historical Society, "founded in 1981 for the purpose of seeking out and preserving Newark's past," has a few attic treasures that may be helpful to persons researching Newark history.

Most of them are located in storage at Newark Historical Society headquarters in the former Newark Train Station on South College Ave. They are accessible to the public by appointment; however, according to Bob Thomas, president of the Newark Historical Society, "most of the time, people just call in and tell us what topic they are interested in and we tell them what we have."

The jewel of the Newark

Bob Thomas is president of the Newark Historical Society.

Historical Society treasures is a bound collection of Newark Post newspapers which, with only a few issues missing, date back to 1914.

Other interesting items include: Newark High School yearbooks, antique clothing, ledgers from Campbell's Store (1909-1912), receipt book from Clover Farm (Cornong's General Store), 1890 stock certificate from the Theodore Knauff Organ Company, and a baseball uniform from the American Legion Baseball League of the late 1940's.

There are small files of printed materials connected with many Newark landmarks as well as farms and businesses from the past, although the information is not catalogued.

"It would be nice to find somebody to catalogue it," said Thomas, "but I wouldn't be afraid to say that it is going to take from 80-100 hours to really do it right. It would also be nice if we could wait until we had a computer to put it on."

"Most of the time, when we get a donation of an item for our collection, it pertains to an exhibit that are in the process of showing. The commemoration of the 100th graduating class of Newark High School in 1993 was the most successful things we did as far as collecting materials. We made a display downstairs and people brought in stuff all year. We have a real good collection on schools now."

Unfortunately, because vandalism is a problem at the train station, there are no trinkets, bobbles, or items of real saleable value there.

Newark's Cleveland Avenue was a dirt road when this photograph, in possession of the Newark Historical Society, was taken in the early 1900s.

"We usually don't accept furniture. We have limited space and we cannot control the use of the building downstairs all the time," said Thomas.

It is unofficial at this time, but Thomas hopes the historical society collections will focus on the 50th commemoration of W.W.II next year.

The current exhibit is on the Newark Water Department (and features a wooden water pipe).

Greater Newark: British visitors once came carrying guns

By NANCY TURNER

NEWARK POST STAFF WRITER

The village of Newark, chartered by George II in 1758, grew strong on the dreams of Rebel forefathers.

While the grinding wheels of plentiful flour mills were helping to earn the area the title of "Breadbasket of the Revolution," once tranquil neighboring farmlands, painted with native wildflowers were being bought with the blood of patriots.

Many interesting events took place in the small village of Newark during the Revolution; however, the village is best remembered for being the home of the Battle of Cooch's Bridge, the location of a thriving milling industry, and the contributions of a few visionary men.

The Battle of Cooch's Bridge

The Battle of Cooch's Bridge occurred on September 3, 1777. It resulted from George Washington's attempt to divert British and Hessian troops from taking a main road invasion path to Philadelphia (via Baltimore Pike and Kings Highway).

According to James Owen, an author and lecturer of local history, "The British were trying to take Philadelphia from the rear. They didn't think that they could go up the Delaware River because it was so heavily fortified. They planned on capturing the city from the back."

The Marquis de Lafayette, General Greene and the Commander-in-chief, George Washington, went to a look-out point on Iron Hill to observe the British landing [at the Head of the Elk River]. They decided to try to stop the invaders on the main road we now call the Old Baltimore Pike," said Owen.

On September 3, thousands of Redcoats left their encampment at Aiken's Tavern (in Glasgow) and headed north toward Cooch's Bridge. American Brigadier General William Maxwell and 720 of his men hid behind the trees on the Christiana River bank at the bridge. The patriots poured volleys of shots into the approaching British ranks. The Redcoats returned fire and attacked with bayonets. After at least two stands, the Americans were pushed back and retreated to a private road near the Welsh Tract Baptist Church on the northern slope of Iron Hill.

Although the Americans did not triumph in the Battle of Cooch's Bridge, it is believed that the new American flag, adopted on June 14, 1777, was flown for the first time in battle on that day.

Some of the Redcoats camped on Iron Hill, keeping an eye on the American Rebels; British General Cornwallis and a few other commanding officers chose to establish their temporary headquarters in the Thomas Cooch house. Colonel Cooch had already evacuated his family to a farm in Pennsylvania. The unwelcome Redcoats quartered their horses in the home's parlor and stole rum, flour, and valuables from the property before ultimately burning the family's flour mill to the ground.

On Sept. 8, after licking their wounds, the remaining enemy troops, which had been stationed in Aiken's Tavern, began moving north to Cooch's Bridge (marching directly behind Glasgow High School). They were joined by other pockets of British soldiers and Hessian mercenaries who were dispersed throughout the area and would eventually total 17,000 strong.

A great swarm of Redcoats marched up Academy Street, crossing Main Street and, according to one witness's report, "The British army commenced passing through Newark before daylight and during the whole day, there was one unbroken array of cavalry, infantry, artillery, baggage, wagons, and ordinance wagons."

Welsh iron works proved to be a valuable Revolutionary War resource

Most of the town's people had fled from the area, but as legend has it, a few remained and engaged in an uneventful "fire-fight," which is a brief, guerilla style exchange of shooting.

Milling

The millers of the Newark area played an important role in supplying flour for the Rebels and even, against their will, for the Redcoats.

"When the Revolution began," said Owen, "at least eight grist mills were operating in Greater Newark. The successor to one of them, Dayett Mills, is still in business over 200 years later."

Three of these mills fell prey to the British invaders of 1777.

The Colonel Thomas Cooch Mill was burned.

The Andrew Fisher house, near Rittenhouse Park, was occupied by a Hessian colonel.

And a band of straggling Redcoats who were passing through the area engaged the stone machinery of John Simonton's hastily abandoned mill on White Clay Creek and left the wheels to grind air for a whole day.

Native Iron

One of the reasons for the Revolution was that the British did not like the colonists manufacturing goods that England could produce and export in sales to America.

Americans were encouraged to ship pig iron to English craftsmen for processing.

In a sense, it might be said that the Abbington Iron Works, built by the Welsh at the base of Iron Hill on the Christina River, helped to cause the Revolution because the business was producing iron that could be made into horse shoes, nails and decorative objects like the 1746 cast iron plate on the outer wall of the Welsh Tract Primitive Baptist Church.

On the other hand, there was an operating iron works at Principio, Md., that was concerned with making more functional items like cannons and cannon balls.

Some of the iron ore used at Principio was dug from Iron Hill and carted to Maryland in Conestoga wagons.

Ore was known to have existed at Iron Hill as far back as 1670. The Principio Iron Works was owned by some of George Washington's relatives and, knowing this, the invading British made certain that it was promptly destroyed as soon as they landed at the Head of the Elk.

Patriot Personalities

Newark was home to quite a few distinguished patriots of the Revolution like the Howell twins, Charles Thomson and Captain Robert Kirkwood, just to name a few.

Lewis and Richard Howell, born in 1754 at their father's Three Hearts Tavern on Main Street, were participants in a midnight pre-Revolutionary "tea-party" which took place at Greenwich, New Jersey on December 22, 1774.

Unlike the Boston Tea Party of 11 months prior wherein a large tea cargo was dumped into the Boston Harbor, the Howell twins dressed as Indians and burned a cargo of East India Company Tea with the full fanfare of a war dance in a nearby square.

Lewis Howell died at the young age of 24. Richard Howell, after serving several government positions, including clerk of the New Jersey Supreme Court, was elected governor of the State of New Jersey.

He died in 1802 at the age of 48. Although an orphan raised in Pennsylvania, Charles Thomson was a trustee and graduate of Newark Academy and the only person other than John Hancock to sign the original copy of the Declaration of Independence.

Thomson was a Philadelphia merchant who was selected to serve as the Secretary of the Second Continental congress. Today, his picture appears on 14-cent U.S. Postal Service issued post cards.

Robert Kirkwood was born near Newark and was also educated at the Newark Academy. He was a captain in the Continental Army and dedicated his life to the struggles of the Revolution. He fought alongside of his "inexhaustible Delawares" in 33 battles from Cowpens, South Carolina, to Fort Recovery, Ohio. It was at Fort Recovery, after having survived practically every major battle of the Revolution, that the captain was scalped in an Indian attack. A highway connecting Newark with Wilmington is named in his memory.

Delaware is called "the Diamond State" because of her vast wealth of natural resources in a relatively small area. For a young village, Newark contributed similarly to the Revolution. She was blessed with iron ore, grain and water power; but above all, Newark was blessed with patriots who dreamed of freedom and fought hard for independence.

Helpful child care information as close as a phone call away

By JENNIFER L. RODGERS

NEWARK POST STAFF WRITER

Child care decisions are made easier by a free referral service provided by Child Care Connection, a non-profit resource for parents.

Paula Breen, who was a private child care counselor for IBM before founding Child Care Connection, was inspired to begin the program after a DuPont employee survey reported child care as the number one concern for employees.

Since Delaware had no child care agency, Breen started the wheels in motion. DuPont initially put up $30,000 for the effort.

A parent or guardian with questions about child care providers in their area can call 479-1660.

This number is a 24-hour automated voice activated referral line. A state grant and aid totaling approximately $74,000 a year supports this information line, according to the program's Director of Public Relations, Gerri Weagraff.

Weagraff said the voice-activated line will ask about 20 questions that will last seven or eight minutes and when all information is recorded, someone at Child Care Connection will compile the information and send a referral list. The list will include providers in an interested person's zip code. The service can provide information such as day care, summer camp and pre-school.

The program does not recommend providers. It can provide a list of questions and counsel parents on what sort of questions to ask, such as turn over rate, staff to child ratio or what to look for in the ways of safety or health and more.

"We are not in a position to say if 'Suzie's' day camp has ever had any complaints," Weagraff said.

However, Weagraff said that if there is a company under investigation, that provider is taken off the list until their name is cleared. The program reserves the right to remove other names if they get too many complaints.

Child care providers can voluntarily enroll in Child Care Connection for free.

Child Care Connection is available to employers to offer as a benefit for employees. The program makes its money through these employer contracts, donations, grants and federal funding.

A hiker takes advantage of one of the many wooded trails open to the public at Carpenter State Park.

Carpenter State Park programs can cure the summertime blues

By GREG ORLANDO

SPECIAL TO THE NEWARK POST

“There ain’t no cure for the summer time blues,” rock singer Eddie Cochran once sang and besides being grammatically incorrect, Mr. Cochran was also factually misinformed. The summer time blues can definitely be countered with a trip to the 1700-plus acres of Walter S. Carpenter State Park.

Just don’t get used to calling it Walter S. Carpenter State Park.. According to park superintendent Nick McFadden, Carpenter is soon to be renamed White Clay Creek State Park. The change from Carpenter to White Clay (the park’s original name) will be an ongoing process, he said. McFadden said press releases have already been sent out to inform the public of the name change and all park signs will be changed before the beginning of the summer. White Clay, he said, will include three distinct recreational areas: Possum Hill, Carpenter Recreation Center and the White Clay Creek Preserve.

Located off Route 896 in Newark, Carpenter / White Clay promises to be a sure cure for what ails this summer. Beyond the standard trails, bike paths, picnic areas, ponds and horse-shoe pits, the park will offer up a slew of summer activities to take a bite out of the heat.

“Most of what we do has an environmental-type theme,” McFadden said about White Clay’s summer activities. He said most programs will be led by the park naturalist or a ranger and are free to the public.

It’s a bird ... on selected Saturdays (May 29, June 26, July 31 and August 28) at 8 a.m., tours will be conducted through the park as part of the “Early Morning Birdwatching” program. A park naturalist will escort interested ornithology fans to prime viewing locations. Binoculars and field guides (to identify the birds) are highly recommended. Other treks through the park will be held every Wednesday and Friday at 10 a.m. as part of the “Naturalist Grab Bag” program. During these hikes, the naturalist will point out the various edible plantlife, identify different molds, spores and fungi and point out a few of nature’s closely-guarded secrets.

If the morning hikes weren’t enough, night excursions through the park will be conducted every Friday at 7 p.m. The naturalist will lead participants through woods to study the nocturnal habits of the park’s many inhabitants. More hikes will be held on June 3, July 1, August 5 and September 2 at 8:30 p.m. as part of the “Full Moon Shadows” series. Here, the naturalist will explain the various phases of the moon and describe the effects they have on the natural world.

Aquatic Life participants will be encouraged to take the plunge. Literally. On Saturdays (June 13 to August 22) at 10 a.m., the park ranger and naturalist will lead any interested individuals into White Clay Creek to see what they can scrape up. Once specimens have been scooped up, people will be encouraged to identify what they've pulled up, McFadden said. To get a closer look at any life found, the ranger and naturalist will also set up an aquarium. Expect to get wet for this one and dress accordingly. Pre-registration is required for this program.

For those more inclined toward the nightlife, every Thursday night at 8, White Clay will host various campfire programs. McFadden said campfire topics will vary from singalongs to storytelling. Participants are encouraged to bring their own blankets or chairs. On June 17, July 15 and August 12, the campfire will start an hour earlier and storyteller Elizabeth Simmons will spin Native American folktales.

From the oral to the aural, White Clay will also host a weekly concert series. Starting on June 16, each Tuesday concert will feature a different band or performer and a different style of music. Some of the featured performers include folk-singer Christina Harrison (July 7, 7 p.m.), the honky-tonk, country and swing Sin City Band (July 14, 7 p.m.), rock band Montana Wildaxe (August 18, 6:30 p.m.) and reggae artists Joh Roots (August 25, 6:30 p.m.) McFadden said the concert series is the most popular program the park puts on and park entrance fees will be in effect for the concerts.

McFadden said White Clay is largely undeveloped. "It's a passive recreation park," he said. Of the three areas, he said Carpenter Recreation Area with its 15 miles of trails, disc golf course, 2 man-made ponds and picnic areas is the most developed.

This summer promises to be long and hot—and potentially dull. But, no matter how you shake it, new name or old, programs or no, one thing is certain. White Clay will definitely beat Cochrane's summer time blues.

Blaze the Mason-Dixon trail

"...a trail should glide across the land as lightly as a caress, and the best of trails in their meanderings, do gentle reverence to the earth."

— Maurice J. Forrester, Jr.

By NANCY TURNER

NEWARK POST STAFF WRITER

Newark's 25-mile stretch of the Mason Dixon Trail System is lovely this time of year and will only improve with the arrival of autumn.

Dedicated in 1985, the 205 mile Mason Dixon Trail begins at Ludwig's Corner, near Downingtown, Pa and ends at a junction with the Appalachian Trail in Whiskey Springs, Md.

The trail, that takes its name from the famous boundary between Pennsylvania and Maryland traditionally dividing North and South, is marked with pale blue blazes, about 4" x 6" in size, that have been painted on tree trunks (with the local exception of Carpenter Park where it is marked with stakes.)

The Newark leg of the trail starts about 7 miles north of town on Creek Road at Landenberg; passes through Carpenter Park and exits at the intersection of Wedgewood Rd. and Rte. 896; follows Wedgewood Rd. and Christina River; connects with a pathway between West Branch and Christianstead to Delrem Ave.; crosses Rte. 273 onto Casho Mill Rd.; turns right on Church Rd.; continues on the West bank of the Christina River to Rittenhouse Park; passes through Rittenhouse Park; crosses Old Baltimore Pike; crosses I-95 via Welsh Tract Rd.; intersects Iron Hill Park and eventually passes through Elkton, Md. A note for walkers: although there is an easement path with limited access through Christianstead, walkers should remember to stay on the path and respect the private property it transverses.

While it is every walker's responsibility to keep the path free of litter, a special thanks is due two Newark citizens, Robert Bennett and John Wriston, who voluntarily work to keep the path free of underbrush and debris.

Wriston says the Newark section of trail is used very little, a fact he attributes in part to lack of information and publicity. "People call occasionally and ask for guide books, but I have not seen any rise in popularity," he said. "People out by White Clay Creek because it is such an obvious, pleasant place to walk. They'll see a blaze mark, but if they don't know what it means, they don't know the trail is there."

Survey: most like city services, dislike downtown parking

By NANCY TURNER

NEWARK POST STAFF WRITER

According to the 1993 Newark Residents Survey 96.9 percent of Newarkers say that they are satisfied with their city services.

The multiple choice survey, conducted by the City Planning Department and under the direction of Maureen F. Roser, associate city planner, asked Newarkers to rate the city in areas ranging from animal control to the UNICITY bus.

"In 1993, as in the past, nearly 97% of our residents were 'very satisfied' or 'satisfied' with municipal services in general," said Maureen Roser.

Among the highest rated city services were electric service (94.4%), parks maintenance (94.4%), police protection (93.3%), recreation programs (96.5%), trash collection (97.8%), and the UNICITY bus system (95.3%). And although it is not a city service, the fire protection under volunteer Aetna Hose Hook and Ladder Company received the highest ratings of any service on the questionnaire with an approval of 98.7%.

So where's the beef?

"Not surprising," Roser wrote in her survey summary, "downtown parking (61%), traffic control (70.6%) and water odor/taste (60.3%) continue to receive relatively low levels of satisfaction ratings."

Snow and ice removal was also low at 69.9%, followed by neighborhood parking (75.3%) and repair of neighborhood streets (77.8%).

The last city services survey was conducted in 1988. It is projected that they will be repeated in five year intervals.

The 1993 survey questionnaire was mailed to 50% of Newark residents, 4019 heads of households, on April 23. Recipients received the survey according to a sampling system that chose "every other account number" from the city residential electric roster. Of those receiving the survey, 1465 recipients, or 36.5%, responded.

The survey results were tabulated by separating the city into thirds. These "thirds" were established as follows: north - the northern most boundaries of the city to the Chessie System Railroad tracks; middle - area between the Chessie and Amtrak Railroad tracks; south - area between Amtrak tracks and the city's southern most boundaries.

The survey results were also broken down into the six council districts.

"By and large, city service satisfaction does not vary dramatically between council districts," said Roser, "although there are some exceptions. There is a 23% difference in satisfaction with animal control in District 2 [George Read Village, South College Avenue to Yorkshire], which is most satisfied, and District 5 [ex. Fairfield, Christianstead, West Branch], which is least happy. Now the police department has to take a look at its service delivery for animal control and find out if the number is because they are not delivering the service to District 5 as well as they ought to or whether it has something to do with pet ownership in that particular district.

"There's another interesting contrast in satisfaction with recreational programs, which is something the Parks and Recreation Department will look at," said Roser. "District 1 [ex. Nottingham Green, Oaklands] is by far the happiest. There is a 22% difference in satisfaction between District 1 and District 6 [ex. Cleveland Ave., Ridgewood Glen, Hunt at Louviers]."

"Similarly, geographic area designation does not seem to have a significant impact on satisfaction with city services with the exception of water quality," said Roser.

"The only variance of significance within a geographic area was a 26.6% differentiation with water odor/taste satisfaction between the most satisfied respondents who live north of the Chessie System Railroad and the least satisfied who reside south of the Amtrak Railroad."

The results of the survey were calculated to have a 90% confidence level, with a 3.5% margin of error. This means that if the same survey was administered repeatedly, nine times out of ten, it would render the same results, give or take 3.5% error in each response category.

"This is a tool," said Roser, "not only to validate the fact that we are doing a good job, but to point out areas where we need to continue. Now we have to set a goal for the next five years to maintain the high level of service that we are providing while improving on those areas that need improvement."

More information about the survey will be forthcoming in the quarterly city newsletter which will be mailed to Newark residents in December.

Any resident wishing to review the survey report may do so in the City Planning Office of the Municipal Building during regular business hours.

Pencader Hundred residents unite to form a collective voice

By JENNIFER L. RODGERS

NEWARK POST STAFF WRITER

The Pencader Hundred area, including the postal district of Bear and the village of Glasgow, is projected to grow 209 percent by the year 2020, according to New Castle County planners, but representation is not expected to increase.

Newcomers or those looking for "someone who will listen" might be frustrated by slow responses from county agencies. However, some residents are tired of talking about issues over backyard fences and have organized the Bear/Glasgow Council of Civic Organizations (BGCCO).

Stephanie Hansen, president, started the all-volunteer umbrella organization in her living room. Today the group has more than 16 civic associations as members as well as many individuals.

According to Janice Hawkinson, vice president, the council's mission is to "work for orderly paced development in the Bear/Glasgow area," as well as to "open communication with county and state officials and developers."

Recently, in what was hailed a success by county council members and developers, the Bear/Glasgow council's planning and zoning committee worked to slash the number of proposed units in Brennan Estates, a future development off Del. 896 in Glasgow, by about half.

In addition to the planning and zoning committee the council also has an environmental, parks and recreation, and public works committee. Residents who feel they might fall through the cracks in Wilmington's most rapidly growing suburb can find strength in numbers through the collective voice of BGCCO.

County council representatives, state representatives, public works employees, and city solicitors have all addressed the BGCCO and attended meetings. The council has become influential enough to stall recent desegregation action with the stroke of a pen and main-stream enough to enter their first float in Newark's Memorial Day Parade.

For information about the council, call Hansen at 323-4588. Membership for individuals is $5, $20 for civic associations and $10 for businesses. BGCCO members meet in Room 209 of Glasgow Medical Center at 7 p.m. the first Monday of the month, except during the summer.

Volunteers Needed

All of our state parks need volunteers throughout the year to help with important activities. Our volunteers greet visitors, feed and care for animals at our nature centers, adopt trails, serve as daycamp aides or campground hosts, assist with special park events, help keep our parks tidy, staff displays in malls, do typing or woodwork, and so much more. Whatever your skills are, we would like to hear from you. The work is meaningful and the rewards are many.

For more information, call or write your park of interest, or the Volunteer Coordinator, Division of Parks and Recreation, 89 Kings Highway, P.O. Box 1401, Dover, DE 19903. Tele:(302)739-3197.

Five of Delaware's thirteen state parks feature family camping.

Cape Henlopen and Delaware Seashore State Parks are located along the Atlantic Coast. These beach parks provide opportunities for ocean and bay fishing, nature study, swimming, hiking and bird watching. They are minutes away from the coastal resort towns of Lewes, Rehoboth and Dewey Beach.

Lums Pond, Killens Pond and Trap Pond State Parks are also great areas for camping. Each features a freshwater pond for boating and fishing, with game courts and recreational activities. Miles of hiking trails allow you to view the woodland and wetland beauty of these parks.

Most camping facilities are open April 1 through October 31. Trap Pond is open through Thanksgiving Weekend, and Killens Pond is open year-round for camping.

All campgrounds provide outlets for drinking water, modern shower and sanitary facilities and sewage dumping stations. Many campsites have water and electric hook-ups, a picnic table and fire ring. Delaware Seashore State Park offers sites with three-point electric, water and sewer hook-ups as well as a picnic table and fire ring. Laundry facilities are also available at Cape Henlopen, Trap Pond and Delaware Seashore State Parks.

Campsites are available on a first-come, first-served basis with no reservations accepted.

Organized youth camping is also available. Pets are welcome at Delaware State Parks, but must be attended at all times.

Trap Pond and Killens Pond State Parks have sites adjacent to the family campground for a more secluded camping experience. The Trap Pond area can be reserved for group camping. Group reservations of three to ten sites can be made through the park office with a deposit of one night's camping fee ($10) for each site reserved.

This summer, Killens Pond will feature the first camping cabins in Delaware's State Park system! The cabins are designed to accommodate a family of four. They feature an efficiency kitchen with an eating area, bedroom with a double bed and twin bunk, bath with shower, porch, A/C, heat, and a picnic table and fire-grill located outside.

Cabin Rental Fees:
Weekly	$192.00
Daily	$ 32.00

Parks & Rec overview

Newark has enjoyed Parks & Rec for over 25 years

Department has flourished amid great support

By MARTY VALANIA

NEWARK POST SPORTS EDITOR

When many people think of the Newark Parks and Recreation Department; they think of the softball leagues or sports leagues for children. The Newark Parks and Rec Department, however, is infinitely more than that.

Yes, adult softball and youth leagues are run by the department. But so too are Community Day, the Halloween Parade, Liberty Day and over 400 other activities annually from a vegetarian cooking class to the brand new Texas two-step class.

There are over 11,000 registrants each year for the activities that Parks & Rec has to offer.

That overwhelming number of activities and participants just makes up the Recreation part. The department also manages over 350 acres of parkland that it has developed; takes care of the traffic island beautification and gets involved in the beautification of neighborhoods as well.

It would be an understatement to say the Parks and Recreation Department is obviously a very important part of Newark.

"The community support [for Parks & Rec] has been terrific," said Director Jim Hall, who has been with the department since its beginning days with the city in 1968. "We started with just a few programs and have continued to expand quite a bit."

Parks and Rec, which celebrated its 25th anniversary last fall, grew out of the Greater Newark Recreation Association (GNRA) — which operated independently of the city from 1947 to 1968. Some of today's most popular activities, such as the Halloween

Director Hall has seen it all in 25 years

By MARTY VALANIA

Not too many people would stay somewhere for 30 years if they didn't love the place. That would be the case with Newark Parks and Recreation Director Jim Hall as well.

Hall has been the head man at city's Parks and Rec Department since its inception in 1968. Before that, he directed the Greater Newark Recreation Association, which he arrived at in 1964.

"It's been great," Hall said of his long association with the city and the Parks and Recreation Department. "There are so many people that have contributed to the growth of this department — it's just unbelievable."

Hall has seen Parks and Rec grow from a department that managed just a few programs and activities to one that oversees over 400 now. He has also been part of a large land acquisition that has seen the city's parkland system grow from 50 acres to 350 in the past 25 years.

"We've been very fortunate to have an excellent City Council over all these years," Hall said. "And the community support has been terrific."

Hall, who attended Marshall University before coming to Newark, can't point to one single highlight or turning point in his long tenure but feels the successful passing of four separate bond issues were keys to the growth of the parks system.

"The passing of the bond issues really made a difference," he said. "Each one showed the support we had from the community. None has ever been defeated."

Harsh winters bring busy springs for department

Fields, trees, parks take beating

The Parks and Recreation Department is a busy place all year around; but it is hard to imagine a much more busier time than early spring.

The department has the Herculean task of maintaining the city's 19 parks, landscaping the traffic islands, doing a lot of tree work and preparing for the onslaught of baseball and softball leagues.

"This time of the year is really tough," said Parks and Recreation Department director Jim Hall in early April. "The biggest enemy is the wet ground."

This year's heavy rains and snows left the water table very high meaning the work crews could do only so much.

The rough weather also damaged many city trees leaving a large workload.

"This time of the year is really rough."

"The winter and ice caused additional problems this year," Hall said. "That resulted in the need for more than the normal trimming and removal."

The two city swimming pools — Edna C. Dickey and George Wilson pools — also had to be pumped out, cleaned, dewatered and filled with water and chemicals before the school year ends. The pools are slated to open the Monday after schools let out.

Parks and Recreation Department work crews worked long hours to fix the parks and the softball fields for this spring's action in the softball and baseball leagues.

City acquires another park for green area and recreational use

The City of Newark has acquired a fourth park since September of 1992.

Iron Glen Park, approved for purchase by City Council at its December 13, 1993 meeting, is the fourth park acquired under the Open Space and Parkland Acquisition Program. The new park is located on the north side of Elkton Rd. adjacent to the Maryland/Delaware stateline.

The 12.67 acres of open space was purchased from Newark Developers Inc. at a cost of $550,000. The purchase was funded through the Open Space and Parkland Acquisition Program. Financial assistance of up to 50 percent of the purchase price may be obtained through a State Department of Natural Resources and Environmental Control grant.

A portion of Iron Glen Park will remain in its natural state along the Christina Creek floodplain and within a wooded landlocked area.

Originally targeted for townhouse development, the flat six-acre section is being eyed by the Parks and Recreation Department for future development of facilities for active recreational use such as tennis courts and ballfields.

The city continues to evaluate and appraise other sites which may be suitable for purchase under the acquisition program.

In order for a property to be considered it must meet certain criteria established by the city and meet program goals including acquiring lands to help preserve Newark's stream valleys, provide green buffers between existing and future development and meet future recreational needs of the Newark community.

Volunteers a big asset to the many programs

By MARTY VALANIA

NEWARK POST SPORTS EDITOR

Community support has been of the biggest allies that the Newark Parks and Recreation Department has had over the past 25 years.

The department has received countless hours of help from volunteer coaches, teachers and program directors over that time period. It has also received facility help from the schools and the University of Delaware.

"We just couldn't do this without volunteers," said Assistant Director Charlie Emerson. "They are extremely important to us and all the programs. The schools are also very important to us. We need as much indoor use as we can get; especially in the winter. We use all the schools in the city plus the Wilson Center; the University of Delaware Ice Arena, Newark Hall and the senior center."

Emerson also points to the large number of volunteers that continue to come back and help.

"We've had high school kids as camp counselors that have come back and helped us year after year," Emerson said. "It's very gratifying that they think that highly of us that they continue to come back."

Volunteers coaches can sometimes difficult to get but Parks and Rec does a wonderful job in helping the people they do get. Many of the youth baseball coaches go to a clinic given (voluntarily) by Newark High baseball coach Harry Davies and his staff and team.

Emerson will bring some Blue Rocks' players in for a clinic as well.

"We are constantly trying to educate our volunteers and help them as best we can," Emerson said. "We try to get the best available people to help. We've been fortunate to get such quality."

That quality would also apply to the hundreds of other programs that Parks

Fees and government also a big plus

By MARTY VALANIA

NEWARK POST SPORTS EDITOR

Why has the Newark Parks and Recreation Department continued to flourish throughout all these years while cities like Dover and Seaford have seen reductions in their parks and recreation?

According to Newark Parks and Rec Director Jim Hall, Newark's philosophy of charging fees and the city's structure of government have been two of the big keys.

Many cities in the country received much of their parks and recreation funding through the federal government. That funding has pretty much stopped, however, and so has the progress of many of the nation's parks and recreation programs.

Newark, however, relies on fee-charging system.

Everyone that wants to participate in one of the city's numerous leagues, classes or activities is charged a fee.

This has kept the revenue coming in and has led to this city's Parks and Recreation Department overwhelming growth. From a department that had just a few activities and less than 50 acres of land in 1968, Newark Parks & Rec has blossomed into a over 400-program department with over 350 acres of parkland to manage.

Last year the Parks and Recreation Department had a budget of $1.3 million.

Hall also points to the council management form of city government as a plus.

"I'm convinced this is the best way of government for our city," Hall said. "It's a form that has worked for our department and the city. We wouldn't be where we are without the support of the City Council, the City Manager and the Mayor. The administrative support has been so good."

VOLUNTEER OF THE SEASON

CARA WITTENBACH

Cara Wittenbach was named the Newark Parks and Recreation Volunteer of the Season for the Fall 1993 and Winter 1994.

Cara is non only dedicated to volunteering in the Parks and Rec's youth basketball league as a coach; but she's dedicated to volunteering in general.

She has volunteered at Delaware Day, served as an officer in VOICE (Volunteer Organization Involving Community Events) and has applied to serve with VISTA (Volunteers in Service to America).

Originally a Lutherville, Md. resident, Cara balances her volunteering with psychology courses at the University of Delaware, as well as recreation — she runs in several road races each year. In addition to serving as one of Parks and Rec's basketball coaches, she has worked as a lifeguard and swim instructor as well.

Parks and Rec department history a long, rich one

► HISTORY, from 2

Parade, youth basketball and baseball leagues and the adult softball league, had their start under the GNRA.

The GNRA saw its funding dry up in the mid 1960s and in 1968 the citizens passed a bond issue that led to formation of what is now the Parks and Recreation Department. Back then the motivation was the public's concern over preserving the city's green areas. In fact the initial bond referendum also led to the acquisition of over 50 acres of new parkland.

Hall, who had been director of the Greater Newark Recreation Association, was named the city's first director of Parks and Recreation. He's still here today.

"It's been my pleasure to serve for the past 25 years," Hall said in an article commemorating the department's 25th anniversary. "We've enjoyed the support of City Council, City administration, numerous groups, organizations and individual volunteers too numerous to mention for fear of overlooking many."

Today, Parks and Rec is one of the most popular parts of city government.

"Each year there are surveys and [Parks and Rec] has never been rated below 96 percent," said Assistant Director Charlie Emerson. "That's a telling sign of the support we have from the community.

"We take a lot of pride in what we do. We're well staffed and we get tremendous support from the schools and many volunteers."

Hall saw inception of dept.

► HALL, from 2

The long-time director also noted that the school system deciding to allow the department use of the schools for its programs was a key turnaround.

"We weren't able to use the schools when we first started," Hall said. "When we got use of the schools, it really accelerated our programs."
