School Cafeteria Opens Monday

For Students Only; Public Will Not Be Served

On next Monday, the cafeteria in the basement of the High School will open to serve lunches to school children only. The cafeteria will be under the direction of Miss F. R. McCoy, director of the home economics department.

Mrs. Bayard Perry will have the preparation of the food, but the students will manage the rest of the cafeteria. The Freshmen girls in home economics will serve and the Sophomore girls do the marketing and accounting. Two Sophomore girls will serve each week in each of the following departments: Market-ing, accounting, menus and decorating. Grades 1, 2, 3 and 4 will be served from 11.30 to 12.00 and Grades 5, 6, 7, 8 and the High School will be served from 12.00 to 1.00.

The lunches will cost on an average of twenty cents and the cafeteria will be run on a cost basis.

Beecher Ignores Hearing

A hearing had been set for last night at Magistrate Thompson's office, for Walter Beecher, of Wilmington, to answer non-support charges brought by his blind wife, Gladys Beecher, living at 334 South Chapel street. Neither Beecher nor his attorney, Mr. Isaacs, of Wilmington, put in an appearance. Mr. Isaacs had asked Judge Thompson for a continuance when the case was set for last week, which was granted. A warrant will now be served on Beecher. J. Pierce Cann represents Mrs. Beecher.

ENJOY AIRPLANE TRIP

Miss Mary C. Anderson, of Baltimore High School (formerly of Newark High School, 1911-1914) Saturday enjoyed an airplane trip to Philadelphia, to attend the Sesqui. In passing over Elkton, the pilot reduced his flight from 4000 feet to 500 feet, and Miss Anderson dropped a letter to her friend, Mrs. Herbert D. Litzenberg. The letter was picked up on North street by Mr. Reuben T. Dunbar and delivered to Mrs. Litzenberg. Miss Anderson is popular throughout Delaware and Maryland. At one time she was professor in writing at Goldey College in Wilmington, and is known for her beautiful hand-writing.

ON BY-LAWS COMMITTEE

Mrs. J. Pearce Cann has been appointed a member of a committee to revise the by-laws of the National D. A. R. organization, and attended a meeting of that committee at the New Willard Hotel in Washington yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock. At 3 o'clock she attended a meeting of State Regents of D. A. R. and in the evening a meeting and reception in Continental Hall. Today there will be an all-day session, with luncheon, at Memorial Hall. Mrs. Cann will remain in Washington tonight, and will assist this evening at a reception to be given at the Washington Club by Mrs. James Willey.

MISS HUBERT IN FRANCE

Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Hubert received a letter on October 14 from their daughter, Miss Kathryn Hubert, who is in France in the interest of the Hayon Company, of which J. P. Wight is president. Miss Hubert has arrived in Valence and has commenced the work she was sent over to do. She reports the country around Valence beautiful and her work interesting. At the time she wrote the letter, she had met but one English-speaking person in that section of France.

SCHOOL TICKETS TO SESQUI

H. R. Porter, director of special events, Sesqui-Centennial Commission, has notified Professor Brinser that he will provide free tickets to all school children who wish to attend the Sesqui on Saturday, October 23. Children must, however, be accompanied by an adult.

M. E. LADIES' AID SUPPER POSTPONED

The Ladies' Aid of the M. E. Church have postponed their annual poultry supper and bazaar, which was announced for November 9th, until December 2nd.

Marie Greeted by Peasants

Queen Marie of Roumania passed through Newark on a special train on the Pennsylvania Railroad on Monday afternoon at 3.40, on her way from New York to Washington. A crowd had gathered at the station hoping to get a glimpse of Her Majesty, but no crown distinguished her from the other women glimpsed as the train whizzed through. The most distinct impression received was of a mass of flowers, which seemed to fill the coaches.

The Queen probably received the impression that she had had a glimpse of American peasant girls in their native costumes, when she saw the Freshmen from Women's College in their fetching caps. Had they only given an exhibition of the Charleston for her benefit, she might have added to her mental notes, "and doing one of their folk dances."

Queen Marie will return by the same route this afternoon at 4.30.

PARTY AT RILEY HOME

Wilmer Riley entertained in honor of the Newark High School football team, at his home on Elkton road, last Wednesday evening. The guests were: Misses Margaret Burke, Elizabeth Eubanks, Margaret Wilkinson, Pauline Robinson, Mary Wollaston, Frances Butler, Sara Wallace, Laura White, Dorothy Wheelless, Dorothy Armstrong, Nancy Churchman, Harriet Ferguson, Dorothy Fisher, Dorothy Hayes, Isabel Hutchison, and Jeannette Thoroughgood; Messrs. Irvin Smith, George Cook, Oscar Morris, Paul Jaquette, Amos Jaquette, Henry Whiteman, Roy Walton, James Crooks, David Cole, Vincent Myers, Ned McCully, Bill Doordan, John L. Holloway, Jr., Jack Dayett, Paul McMurray, Raymond McDowell, Harry Williamson, Charles Sylvester, and Alfred Vansant. Mr. Malin, the athletic coach, was also a guest.

17 YEARS' SERVICE

Keen regret is felt in the Sunday-School of Newark M. E. Church for the loss of Mrs. Robert Campbell as a teacher. Mrs. Campbell, who has taught in the Sunday School for seventeen years, has had the distinction of having the same class of boys from the time they entered the school in the infant department, until the present time, when ill health has forced her to resign. Her class is composed now of grown young men, some married, and members twenty-three. Mrs. Campbell is also very sad that she cannot longer carry on her work.

New Hospital In Newark Next Month

Small Private Institution To Open
In November

On or about November 10, two Wilmington nurses, Miss Mary Ford and Miss A. E. Keegan, will open a six-bed private hospital in the old Cooch home, at 172 West Main street. They have recently taken the house on a lease from Mrs. Laura R. Hossinger.

Both Miss Ford and Miss Keegan are mature women with twenty years nursing experience. Miss Ford is a graduate of St. Joseph's Hospital, Lancaster, Pa., and has specialized in maternity work and dietetics. She opened, and supervised, the maternity ward at St. Francis Hospital, Wilmington, during its first year.

Miss Keegan, originally from Wilmington, is a graduate of St. Joseph's Hospital, Philadelphia. Her training has been along institutional lines and she was supervisor of nurses in a number of large hospitals in the west. She maintained at one time a nursing cottage at Saranac Lake. She has had considerable surgical experience and is an expert anesthetist, holding that position recently at St. Francis Hospital, Wilmington.

The two nurses plan to take maternity, medical and minor surgical cases, like tonsil operations. They are starting modestly with six beds, but the most up-to-date equipment, and plan to enlarge as the requirements justify expansion.

J. P. CANN VISITS SCHOOLS

J. Pearce Cann, of this town, with the other members of the State Board of Education, left yesterday to make a two-days' survey of the schools in the western part of Sussex county.

Novel Club Has Opening Meeting

Last evening the Novel Club held its first meeting of the season at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Cobb. Professor W. E. Matthews, who acted as reader last season, read last night and will continue as reader at all of the meetings. The novel at this meeting was "The Silver Spoon," by John Galsworthy.

The Novel Club was organized last year by a group who were interested in current fiction. Last season they read and discussed eight novels, "Portrait of a Man with Red Hair," Hugh Walpole; "One Increasing Purpose," A. S. M. Hutchinson; "The Elder Sister," Swinerton; "The Eternal Circle," J. W. Hudson; "The Red Lamp," Mary Roberts Rinehart; "The Perennial Bachelor," Anne Parrish; "Hounds of Spring," Sylvia Thompson; "The Blind Goddess," Arthur Train.

The members who were entertained last evening by Mr. and Mrs. Cobb were: Mr. and Mrs. Heim, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Wilkinson, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest VanKeuren, Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Baker, Mr. and Mrs. Philip Myers, Miss Marion Skewis, Miss Ruth King, Miss Frances McCoy, Mr. William G. Lewi and Professor W. E. Matthews.

New Library To Women's College

Wilmington Century Club To Give
Library In Honor Of Miss
Worrell

At the first fall meeting of the Wilmington New Century Club, held last week, Mrs. James A. Barkeley, chairman of the educational committee, announced that the club would present to the Women's College of the University of Delaware, a new library to be called the Emma Worrell Library, in honor of Miss Emma Worrell, as a tribute to her educational and club work. Miss Worrell is nearly 93 years of age, and has wonderful mental alertness. She was one of the founders of the New Century Club in Wilmington. She has been a leader in the intellectual life of Wilmington for many years. Many prominent Wilmington men and women were trained at her school.

The tribute that the New Century Club will pay the woman, who heads its list of honorary members, is particularly gracious, in that it is done while Miss Worrell is still alive to appreciate the honor.

The Emma Worrell Library will be placed in New Castle Hall, one of the new dormitories, and will be composed of the best works of current literature of the lighter sort; including fiction, biography, essays and poetry. It will be wholly separate from the University Library and the "Browsing Room" library now in the Women's College. Its purpose is to establish a source of stable yet light reading that will be convenient to the students whenever they have an odd hour to relax.

The library is to be donated by the club members, each member contributing a book. A list will be prepared and submitted to Dean Robinson for censorship and the members will select their donations from this list.

Mr. Hursh Promoted

S. R. Hursh, who has for three years been assistant to R. G. Ford, supervisor on the Main Line of the P. B. and W. R. R., has been appointed supervisor of a branch line at Atlantic City, taking up his new duties last Saturday. Mr. Hursh's successor here is E. M. French, who comes from Freeport, Pennsylvania. Mr. French and his family will occupy the house at 49 West Main street, from which Mr. Hursh is moving his family today.

MEN'S CLUB MEETING

At the first meeting of the season of St. Thomas Men's Club to be held tomorrow, Thursday, evening, Rabbi Louis A. Mischkind will make an address on the subject, "Minorities in the International Situation." Members are urged not to miss hearing this very interesting speaker.

POULTRY SUPPER

A poultry and oyster supper will be served at Salem M. E. Church this evening, beginning at 5 o'clock.

Poultry Tour Great Chance For Farmers

Will Visit Seven Farms and Introduce Laying Contest; Valuable Work to be Shown

More than a thousand poultrymen from Delaware, New Jersey and Maryland are expected to join the Poultry Tour which will take place November 3rd and 4th. H. S. Palmer, Extension Poultryman, University of Delaware, and the three County Agricultural Agents of the State, R. O. Bausman, Russel E. Wilson and M. C. Vaughn, who were appointed as an Itinerary Committee at a meeting of the poultrymen at Newark on Farmers' Day, August 10th, have selected the farms to be visited on the tour. Seven farms in different parts of the State and the North American Egg-Laying Contest at Milford will be visited. The Committee has carried out the poultrymen's idea of making the tour an opportunity for them to exchange thoughts, learn better practices of poultry husbandry, and to advertise their product. At each place to be visited there are certain outstanding features of poultry management to be observed, which no wide-awake poultrymen can afford to miss. The farms to be visited and the features to be observed at each farm are so follows:

First Day—November 3, 1926
9.00 a. m. at Dover Green—crowd will assemble.

10.00 a. m. at farm of K. J. Karbaum, Dover, to observe: (1) Pullets housed according to maturity. (2) Hens lighted to maintain fall production. (3) Chicks and layers fed on home mixed feed. (4) Cost of rearing pullets to maturity. (5) Record of eggs and cost of production. (6) Oil-can water fountain.

11.30 a. m. at farm of W. V. Cosden, Dover, to observe: (1) Roofs for poultry houses. (2) Yarding system for sanitation and green food. (3) Management of breeding cockerels on range. (4) Preparing eggs for market. (4) Egg record and figures on production costs.

12.30 p. m. at W. V. Cosden farm—lunch served by Grange.

2.30 p. m. at farm of C. A. Newton & Son, Bridgeville, to observe: (1) Perch system without dropping boards. (2) Automatic water fountains. (3) New type brooder house and yarding system to furnish green (Continued on Page 4.)

Richard Vincent Dies

Last Thursday, Mr. Richard Vincent died at his home, Cowtown, Md. Mr. Vincent, who had reached the advanced age of 83, was the owner of the Vincent Dahlia Farms and was known throughout the country as a dahlia fancier. He had been president of the American Dahlia Association. In addition to 100 acres of dahlias, Mr. Vincent had the finest collection of geraniums in the world and the largest collection of hard chrysanthemums. He was buried on Saturday.

ELECTION OF GIRL RESERVE OFFICERS

The Newark Girl Reserves met at the High School yesterday afternoon. Officers for the year were elected and committees appointed. The officers are: Josephine Hossinger, president; Ann Chalmers, vice-president; Jeannette Thoroughgood, secretary; Pauline Robinson, treasurer. The group of girls decided to dress a doll to contribute to the 10,000 which American girls will send to Japan for the Doll Festival in March.

The next meeting of the organization will be held in the High School, November 2, at 3.30.

Ambulance Carries Mrs. Gregg

Last Friday the Newark ambulance, driven by Alfred Ewing, took Mrs. Gregg, living between Red Mill and Ogletown, to the Homeopathic Hospital, Wilmington. Mrs. Gregg died on Monday from a complication of diseases.

WOMEN'S AUXILIARY

The next meeting of the Women's Auxiliary of St. Thomas' Protestant Episcopal Church will be held in the Parish House next Wednesday, October 27, at 2.30.

SESQUI ENVELOPES AT POST OFFICE

The Newark post office has just received a supply of stamped envelopes with the Sesqui-Centennial stamp. These envelopes are of extra quality and the embossed stamp makes a distinctive appearance. The government will not accept orders to print these envelopes, but they are being sold at no addition in price.

WORTHY RELIEF WORK

One of the most worthy projects that has been undertaken by the women of this community is the work of the Needlework Guild, whose annual business meeting and exhibit will be held at the home of Mrs. Charles B. Evans on Thursday, October 28. The officers of this organization are: Mrs. C. B. Evans, president; Mrs. C. O. Houghton, vice-president; Mrs. Ernest Van Keuren, secretary and treasurer. The directors are: Mrs. George L. Townsend, Mrs. C. A. McCue, Mrs. J. I. Dayett, Mrs. George Carter and Miss Yearsley.

Each director has eleven persons on her list, each one of whom is asked to contribute to the Guild once a year, two new garments or the sum of money. The money is used to buy sweaters, shoes, trousers, and any needed articles that have not been contributed. Two years ago twelve dollars was spent for shoes.

Two hundred and eighty garments and articles of household use were contributed last year and included underclothing, bed-linen, night-clothing, towels, sheets, caps, dresses, mittens, stockings, and other necessities, all of which are given to needy persons right here in the community of Newark. Last year a pair of good blankets were given where badly needed. Sheets and night-clothing have been placed in homes where there have been none. The members of the Guild have been surprised at the many cases of real need, and wish it understood that they will appreciate having cases reported to them, which may have been overlooked. The work is strictly non-denominational, and garments are received from and distributed among people of all creeds.

Howard P. Savage New Legion Head

Delaware Prominent In American Legion Convention Held In Philadelphia

The American Legion Convention, which closed in Philadelphia Saturday, turned into what very much resembled the Democratic Convention of 1924, when it came to choosing a leader for the coming year. Howard P. Savage, of Chicago, was elected on the 21st ballot. Two of the pre-convention favorites for National Commander, General Pershing and Colonel "Billy" Mitchell withdrew their names as candidates.

Commander Savage is 42 years old and was a first lieutenant of Engineers during the war. He is connected with the Chicago Elevated System.

The Reverend Joseph N. Wolfe, Catholic priest of Philadelphia, was elected National Chaplain.

Delaware was prominent in the convention this year. Her contingent led the opening parade and was presented with the John G. Emory trophy for having had the largest percentage increase in membership over the past year.

Next year's convention will be held in Paris, France.

NEWARK REGISTRATION SATISFIES LEADERS

More than 600 voters were registered on Saturday, the final registration day in the two districts of White Clay Creek hundred with voting places in Newark. In the first district, Deer Park Hotel, 206 were registered, bringing the total registration up to 633 in that district.

In the second district the showing was even better. Previous to Saturday 368 voters had registered on the previous registration days and on Saturday 304 more were placed on the books, making the total for the district 672. While the registration in these two districts was heavier two years ago, it was a presidential election.

Clayton Hamilton On The Drama

Noted Lecturer at Wolf Hall Friday, 5 P. M.; Free to Everyone

On Friday afternoon at 5 o'clock at Wolf Hall, the people of Newark will have the rare opportunity of hearing one of the most eminent critics and commentators on the theatre, Clayton Hamilton, give a lecture on the current drama. Prof. Ernest Van Keuren, of the English Department of the University, has persuaded Mr. Hamilton to come to Newark. The general public are invited to this unusual treat; there will be no admission.

Clayton Hamilton has had an unusually broad contact and experience with the drama and its mechanics. He has served as critic for The Forum, The Bookman, Everybody's Magazine and Vogue, and his analyses have ranged from Aeschylus to Eugene O'Neill, from Aristophanes to George M. Cohan. In addition to this periodical work, he has published four volumes on dramatic criticism. As author and co-author he has been responsible for a number of successful plays—besides acting in an advisory capacity to Richard Mansfield in his acting version of Peer Gynt and Walter Hampden in his extraordinary production of Cyrano de Bergerac.

Clayton Hamilton is not unknown to the silent drama either, for he spent two years at the Goldwyn Studios, Culver City, as supervising editor.

Besides his books on dramatic criticism and the theatre, Mr. Hamilton's literary production has made him noted in other fields. His "On the Trail of Stevenson" is one of the most human documents ever given in a biography.

Mr. Hamilton is widely known throughout the country as a speaker, for he has lectured at nearly every important school and university in the United States and Canada, and has talked to clubs and meetings in hundreds and hundreds of cities. In his lecture Friday, he will touch particularly on Ibsen and the production "Ghosts," starring Mrs. Fiske, which will play in Wilmington next week.

It is not often that Newark has the opportunity of hearing a man of Mr. Hamilton's calibre and attainments, talk on such an engrossing subject. It is expected that there will be a large gathering to hear him.

Essay Contest Awards

This morning the prize offered to students in the High School by the Opera House, for the best essay on The American Indian, were awarded as follows: First, $5.00, Ruth Phelps; second, $2.00, Helen Wilson; third, $1.00, Willa Dawson. Ticket prizes were awarded the following, accorded honorable mention: Dorothy Wheelless, Dorothy Chalmers, Gilpin Churchman, Paul McMurray and Dorothy Armstrong.

In next week's issue, the Post will publish Ruth Phelps' winning essay.

COUNTY CLUB INSTITUTES

The County Club Institutes of the State Federation of Women's Clubs will be held next month. New Castle County women will meet in the school auditorium at Claymont, November 10; Kent County members at the club house at Harrington on November 11; Sussex County at the club house in Delmar on November 9. There will be all-day sessions and all club members are urged to attend their county meeting. Miss Elizabeth Jenkins, of Philadelphia, Chairman of International Relations Committee of the National Federation of Women's Clubs will be one of the speakers, and Mrs. A. A. Crooks, of Norwood, will speak on "Inter-Club Institutes."

LOCAL DIVISION GETS PRIZE

R. G. Ford, Supervisor, P. R. R., Wilmington to Perryville, received official notice yesterday that he had won the prize for maintaining the best line and surface on the Pennsylvania Railroad from New York to Washington.

BAKE AT ROCK CHURCH

The ladies of Rock Missionary Society will hold a bake in the Session House on Friday evening, October 22.

"Good Roads, Flowers, Parks, Better Schools, Trees, Everybody."—OUR MOTTO.

OCTOBER 20, 1926

A Prayer

"The day returns and brings us the petty round of irritating concerns and duties. Help us to play the man; help us to perform them with laughter and kind faces; let cheerfulness abound with industry.

"Give us to go blithely on our business all this day; bring us to our resting beds weary and content and undishonored; and grant us in the end the gift of sleep."—Robert Louis Stevenson.

PEOPLE'S COLUMN

A COMMUNICATION

The children of New England are almost invariably true to their Mother-land. Put them where you will, in whatever section of our country, the N. E. tradition will assert itself in some characteristics that betray the native origin. As a rule New Englanders hang together, and find mutual satisfaction in each other's society, especially when absent from their common heritage.

Now the city of Newark has within its borders a not inconsiderable number of these peculiar people. Many are not even acquainted with their fellows sojourning in a strange land.
May we not remedy this untoward condition? As a first step I hereby call upon all natives of New England,
resident in or about Newark, to fore-gather in the Parish House of St.
Thomas Church, next Monday evening, October 25, at 7.30 p. m., to consider the formation of a New England Society, to foster a common acquaintance, and to renew among ourselves
the dear memories of our common inheritance. I hope most earnestly for a general response to this invitation.
R. B. MATHEWS.

Newark New Century Club

At the meeting of the Newark New Century Club on Monday, October 18, special attention was again called to the State Federation Bulletin, Mrs.
Richard Cooch being authorized to accept subscriptions. All subscribers recognize the fact that the "Bulletin"
brings them into individual contact with the things the State Chairmen
and Clubs are doing, and no club
member can afford to be without it.
Only by support can the "Bulletin" reach its highest usefulness. The price is but thirty-five cents for the year of four issues. A letter was read from Mrs. Rose V. S. Berry, chairman of Art in the G. F. W. C., extending an invitation to the club to visit the American Section of the Gallery of Fine Arts at the Sesqui,
and attend a lecture during the tour of the Exhibit. Plans for the Club supper on November 16th, were outlined.
Mrs. C. O. Houghton, chairman of Needlework, asked that all articles for sale be sent to her as soon as possible. Mrs. Oscar Elliot is chairman of the cake table and Mrs. Ray Baldwin of the candy table. Announcement was made again of the invitation of Prof. VanKeuren to hear the lecture of Clayton Hamilton, at 5 o'clock on Friday afternoon of this week, at Wolf Hall.

The plan for providing undernourished school children with milk,
will be carried forward by the Education Committee of which Mrs. T. F.
Manna is chairman. A rummage sale is to be held in the Club House on the last three days of the first week in November, the 4th, 5th, and 6th;
articles may be left at the home of the chairman, Mrs. George W. Rhodes, or they will be called for upon notifying her. The program chairman, Mrs. Durant, realizing that every one likes to look ahead to see what the stars have to offer for the future, outlined a most interesting program for the next few months. A world traveler and survivor of the "Titanic" disaster
will speak on November 29th; Dr.
Benner, whose lectures, both within and without college walls, have always stirred his hearers with enthusiasm, will speak at the Club House next Monday evening, at 8 o'clock. Members, their escorts, new members and prospective members

will hear the first of a series of lectures which will be given during the winter. This meeting will take the place of the regular meeting on Monday afternoon. The program outlined for the winter includes so many good things that no member can afford to miss a single one of them.

The music for the afternoon was delightful, being in the form of a piano duet by Mrs. W. E. Holton and Mrs. G. E. Dutton. Mrs. Floy E.
Booth, of Wilmington, State Parliamentarian, and introduced as the busiest woman in Delaware, began her talk by telling of the County Institutes to be held in November. The New Castle County Institute to be held at Claymont on November 10th, in all-day session. Mrs. Booth also gave much information of the Sesqui,
as, on her seventh visit, she found she had still much to see and learn. Mrs.
Booth's talk on "Parliamentary Procedure" was, as usual, most interesting, and many points that were vital to our club were touched upon. The talk was followed by a discussion
which was very helpful to both officers and members.

Particular attention is called to the meeting on next Monday evening at 8 o'clock, when Dr. Benner will speak on "Current Events."

—Secretary Pro Tem.

ORGAN RECITAL

On Sunday afternoon, October 31st,
at three o'clock, there will be an Organ Recital given by Mrs. Ida
Cosden de Socio at the J. A. Roncy
New Opera House in North East, Md.
Mrs. de Socio has arranged an interesting and varied program, which will delight the hearts of music lovers.

DR. BENNER TO LECTURE

Dr. Benner will address the members of the Newark New Century Club and members of their families
at a meeting on next Monday evening, at the Club House. Dr. Benner's subject will be, "Current Events."

POULTRY TOUR

Food. (4) Management of breeding cockers on range. (5) Fall management of breeders to secure early hatching eggs.

Second Day—November 4, 1926
9.30 a. m. at farm of E. W. Palmer, Delaware, to observe: (1) Perch system without dropping boards. (2) Flock management, including, (a)
early and late maturing pullets separated, (b) medium quality hens that begin molting before September 1, forced for fall production, (c) best hens properly fed and managed to give good hatching eggs.

12.00 p. m. at Marvel Poultry Farm,
Georgetown, to observe: (1) Proper layout of poultryplant, including, (a) double yarding system to insure all-year supply of green food, (b) buildings located to save time and labor
when caring for birds. (2) Large commercial hatchery.

1.00 p. m. at Marvel Poultry Farm
—lunch served by Grange.

2.00 p. m. at A. C. Jones Poultry
Farm, Georgetown, to observe: (1) Large brooder house equipped with hot water system for brooding early broilers—capacity 10,000 chicks. (2) Incubators—capacity 250,000 eggs at one setting.

4.00 p. m. at W. D. Kibler's farm, Milford, to observe: (1) Colony
brooding system—six acres of colony
houses and alfalfa range. (2) Feed grinding and mixing equipment.

5.00 p. m. at International Egg-Laying Contest, Milford, to observe:
(1) System of trap-nesting and keeping trap-nest records.

for Blue Hen State Chick Banquet.

7.30 p. m. at Milford Grange Hall
for Poultry Convention: (1) Speeches
by Prof. James E. Rice, of Cornell University, and other prominent poultry educators. (2) Organize a State Poultry Association.

The medium quality hens on the farm of E. W. Palmer near Delmar, that molted before September 1, which are being forced for fall production
were selected by H. S. Palmer, Extension Poultryman, and are being managed according to his directions.
He expects them to give a 50 per cent
production during October and November while eggs are highest in price.

The brooder house at the Newton farm near Bridgeville, with its internal fixtures and its system of yards and green food management are also built according to Mr. Palmer's ideas.
It was with this same system of brooding that he conducted the brooding demonstration on Mr. Zacker's farm near Dover, which turned out so successfully. Mr. Palmer is frank to admit that he picked up the idea of this system while visiting the farmers around Delmar. This is simply an example of the value of visiting other farmers and seeing how they do things.

The Blue Hen State Chicken banquet, which will be held at Milford
at 6.30 p. m., November 4th, is being arranged by Mr. H. R. Lemex. Those who know Mr. Lemex' reputation for arranging chicken banquets have already bought their tickets. They expect three or four hundred poultrymen to eat, drink and be merry that night. Mr. W. V. Cosden, of Dover, is chairman of the general management committee and is selling the tickets for the banquet. Ninety-six poultrymen representing every community of the State have volunteered to help
Mr. Cosden boost this tour and sell tickets for the banquet.

At the Milford Convention the question of organizing a Delaware State Poultry Association will be considered. Prof. W. H. Allen, Poultry Specialist for New Jersey, will deliver a talk to point out some of the benefits New Jersey has derived from such an association, and warn us of some of the mistakes they have made.

A feature that will bring hundreds of poultrymen to the program at Milford is the appearance of the program
of Prof. James E. Rice, of Cornell University, who, by his long and valuable service to the poultry industry
of the world, has justly won the title of "Dean of Poultrymen." By means of a large collection of lantern slides
he will illustrate and describe the "Factors to Consider in Selecting High Layers."

RESOLUTIONS OF RESPECT

Newark, Delaware, October 13, 1926.
At a regular meeting of Newark
Conclave No. 6, Heptasophs, or S. W.
M., held on the above date, the following resolution was adopted:

WHEREAS, The Messenger of Death has again visited our Conclave,
and removed from us our dear beloved member, George Washington Hill,
therefore be it

RESOLVED, That while we bow in humble submission to the will of our Divine Creator, who doeth all things
well, we cannot but deplore the loss
our Conclave has sustained in the death of one whose love was binding
to the welfare of our Conclave;

RESOLVED, That we extend to his family our heartfelt sympathy in their hour of bereavement; and be it further

RESOLVED, That a copy of these resolutions be recorded on our Minutes of the Conclave and published in the press of our town; and be it further

RESOLVED, That the Charter be draped, for a period of thirty days,
and as a further mark of respect we do adjourn.

John Wiedeman,
F. M. Smith,
Stewart Hopkins,
Committee.

RESOLUTIONS

At a special meeting of the Official Board, which is composed of all the various officials in any way connected with the Newark M. E. Church, the following resolutions were passed:

WHEREAS, The Official Board of Newark Methodist Episcopal Church
has received notice of the intention of our Pastor, the Rev. Frank Herson, to ask for a transfer at the close of this Conference Year, be it

RESOLVED, On behalf of the Official Board, that at this time we express to Rev. Herson our deep appreciation for his untiring and conscientious work among us in his long and memorable pastorate in our midst. Be it further

RESOLVED, that we are grateful for the splendid foundations he has laid for the future of our Church, and we hereby pledge ourselves to see that the work is carried to a successful conclusion. Be it therefore further RESOLVED, That we shall part
with his services feeling great regret,
and we wish him God speed in his new fields of endeavor; our thoughts and interests will follow him and his family. Our loss can only be recapitulated by our faith in that the work he has so well begun will ultimately redound to the glory of the Kingdom in Newark. Now, therefore be it

RESOLVED, A copy of this resolution be placed in the hands of Rev.
Herson, as well as being spread upon the Official Records of this Church and copies sent to the press.

On motion duly seconded the above
resolutions were adopted.

ing. Interment at Moore's Chapel.

YEARLY MEETING

The yearly meeting of the Welsh
Tract Primitive Baptist Church,
south of this town, convened last Saturday and Sunday with all-day services on Sunday.

Visitors were present from many States. The preachers were Elders T.
W. Walker, of Camden, New Jersey;
E. L. Toppin, of Baltimore; and H. F.
Huchins, of Selma, North Carolina.
The old church was founded in 1793 and the present meeting-house was built in 1746.

Women's College Notes

The Vesper Service on Sunday evening was led by Nellie Lawton. It was the opening discussion of a series of talks that will be based on Internationalism. Miss Hilda Stevens, an alumna of Women's College, the speaker, gave a very interesting report on the Milwaukee Convention,
which was the ninth convention held by the Young Women's Christian Associations of America, April 21-28, 1926.

The faculty of W. C. D. gave Miss Robinson a birthday surprise on Saturday evening. They had decorated the small dining-room, which had not before been used, with lovely autumn flowers and leaves. At dinner time, the girls presented Miss Robinson with a bouquet of flowers. She was entitled into the smaller dining-room,
in order to find a holder for her flowers. There she found the faculty assembled, a birthday dinner, and a huge birthday cake. Miss Gillespie and Miss Spencer added to the fun of the occasion by announcing that they had treated themselves to a birthday cake, a belated celebration of their own birthdays, which had passed the day before. Miss Robinson, who was completely surprised, thanked the girls and the faculty in a short,
clever speech.

Miss Gillespie has been elected
faculty advisor of the Sophomore class.

Jean Blair, '28, has been elected an associate editor of the Year Book.

Florence Wilson has been chosen head of college hockey; Eleanor Butler, college head of volleyball, and Eleanor Edge, head of hiking.

The Junior Tea will be given on October 22, in the Hilarium, from 4 to 6. The faculty and student body will be invited. In the receiving line will be Katharine Horton, vice-president of the class; Jean Middleton,
president of Student Council; Dean
Robinson, Dr. and Mrs. C. L. Benner, Miss Spencer, Marian Steele, class
treasurer; Miss Keely, class advisor.
Marjorie Johnson, class president, and Dorothea Pierson, class secretary, will pour. The committee in charge of arrangements includes: Sara Coffin, Ruth Larter, Elizabeth Smithers, and Martha Hills.

The girls at the Practice House
baked a birthday cake for Miss Spencer on Friday.

Nellie Lawton and Edith Passmore,
on behalf of the Y. W. C. A., arranged the "Country Club Ball" which delightfully entertained new and old students last Friday evening in the Hilarium. The girls were in costume, and old-fashioned dances and games
were on the program.

Margaret Nunn, Helen Morton,
Helen Elliott, Jean Lobach, Dorothy Caulk, and Miss Clerihew spent this week-end at Blue Ridge College, Windsor, Maryland, where they represented this college at a Y. W. C. A.
and Y. M. C. A. Conference of those organizations from the colleges of Delaware, Maryland, and the District of Columbia. The conference will meet here next year.

A number of the girls were away
for the week-end. Tacy Hurst, at Bryn Mawr; Mary Louise Mayer, at Dover; Becky Hobson and May Thompson, at Smyrna; Anne Mc-Sorley at Holly Oak; Frances Malcolm, in Wilmington; Elizabeth Wiley
and Virginit Swain, at Bridgeville;

Kitty Krauss, in Philadelphia; Grace
Ellison, at Stanton; Louise Turner,
Jane Warner, Kitty Horton and Grace Smedley, in Philadelphia; Ella Be-olds, at Rising Sun; Florence Long, at Greenwood; Margaret Satterfield, at Abington; Romaine Robinson, in New Castle; Olive Murray, at Viola, Ab-gela Wisneski, in Wilmington, and Kitty Ady, at Sharon.

Dean Robinson and Mrs. E. B.
Crooks left early Sunday morning for motor for Poughkeepsie, New York, where they attended on Monday the opening of the new Physics Laboratory at Vassar College. Miss Robinson and Mrs. Crooks expect to return today.

Kitty Ady and Ruth Lawton will spend next week-end at Annapolis,
where they will attend the Naval Academy games and hop.

Kitty Krauss attended the Princeton-Navy game at Princeton; Louise Turner, the Penn-Chicago game, at Philadelphia, last Saturday.

University Notes

The members of the Kappa Alpha Fraternity will hold their Informal Saturday evening, October 23, in Old College. Kelly's orchestra will furnish the music. The patronesses will be: Mrs. Dutton, Mrs. George Townsend, Mrs. A. S. Eastman, Mrs. J. C.
Hastings, Mrs. Walter Steel, Mrs.
Owens, Miss Keely and Miss Gillespie.

J. Winston Walker and Millman Prettyman were among the alumni
back for the week-end.

The Theta Chi house-party on Saturday evening was a delightful affair.
Mrs. George Dutton and Miss Hartshorn were the patronesses. Clark's Colleagues furnished the music.

S. S. Lagasse spent last week-end with friends in College Park, Maryland.

Dean McCue spent Monday in Dover.

Professor C. R. Runk is spending several days this week in Washington, where he is attending the Conference of Agricultural Chemists.

Professor G. L. Shuster and Mr.
Graham spent Tuesday and Wednesday of last week in Sussex County, where they are conducting a part of the research work under the Purnell
Fund in a pasture project at Cool Spring.

Mr. Gerald Gilligan, recently appointed assistant chemist, reported for duty October 15th.

PUBLIC SCHOOLS--SEPTEMBER

The following long list of names are those of Newark Public School pupils who were perfect in their attendance for the month of September. The Attendance record of the public school system in Newark has a rather important significance, in that the greatest part of the school appropriation depends on the perfect attendance record. The appropriation for the school system is based on net enrollment plus average daily attendance, with the larger part of the appropriation granted on the latter figure.

APPLE SHIPMENTS

The exportation of apples, to foreign countries is on the increase in the Del-Mar-Va Peninsula. It is reported that more than 100 carloads have been contracted for from the State of Delaware to be consigned for shipment to foreign countries. This is the largest quantity of apples out of this country from Delaware in the history of the apple industry. Up to date the Harrison's Nurseries, at Berlin, Maryland, have shipped 27 carloads to England and three carloads to Germany; and the W. F. Allen Company, near Salisbury, Maryland, has consigned 15 carloads for over-seas consumption.

SCORCH STAINS

For serious scorch stains the following procedure may be used: Moisten a piece of cotton cloth in hydrogen peroxide and place over the stain. Cover with a dry cloth. Iron with a medium hot iron. If the hydrogen peroxide soaks through the dry cloth, replace with another cloth. Be very careful to see that the hydrogen peroxide does not come in contact with the iron as it will rust the iron very rapidly. Brown stains will then be left on any garment which the iron touches. For the same reason, do not iron the fabric from which the stain has been removed until the hydrogen peroxide has been well rinsed from it. This method must be used carefully on colored fabrics because the dyes may be bleached out. However, it can be used successfully on any kind of white fabric.

Pineapple From Paradise Islands

(By Capitola Williams Ashworth)

When you sit down to breakfast and find a dish containing a golden island of pineapple surrounded by an amber sea of liquid awaiting you, do you find your mind trying to picture the tropical islands in the midst of the beautiful Pacific Ocean where this luscious fruit was grown, and where it last saw the light of day before it was popped into a can in the heyday of its life and started on its long journey to your table?

The story of pineapple is probably one of the most interesting of any fruit in the world, even of any other tropical fruit.

In the Hawaiian Islands, principally the islands of Oahu and Lanai it is grown extensively. In fact, the tremendous, carefully tended plantations, spread out over these islands, are one of the sights and wonders of the place to tourists. In a land where palms wave in the sunlit air, where almost every tropical fruit and flower known in the world blossoms and ripens, keeping the ocean breezes laden with their sweet and heavy fragrance, the pineapple ranks as the King of Fruits, it is the most luscious of all tropical products, one of the juiciest, healthiest, and most useful fruits that are grown.

The appearance of a pineapple plantation is that of a million of cactus plants marching over plateaus and up hill and down in orderly rows, the lines as straight and beautiful as soldiers ever marched in parade, every soldier plant bearing a tremendous pine cone in its center, regally topped with a crown of pointed leaves. It is its resemblance to a pine cone, together with the tart and juicy nature of the meat that has given the fruit the name of pine-apple.

As pineapples are grown in tremendous quantities in the Hawaiian Islands, or the Paradise Islands, as they are popularly called, many hundreds of thousands of cases are canned every year and shipped to the United States, England, Europe, Asia, Australia and practically every corner of the world. Those people who live in the Hawaiian Islands may have fresh pineapple three times a day, and many of them do, as it is a fruit one does not tire of easily and is a great boon to the health, particularly of people who do not lead an active physical life. However, this same pineapple which comes to us in cans, is equally as healthful as the fresh and much more palatable than the fresh we are able to obtain in American markets for the reason that the so-called fresh pineapple has to be plucked while still green and unripe in order to stand the long trip to market. This is true even of the few pineapples that are grown in the United States.

Many housewives are learning to prize this tropical fruit that comes to her in a tin can with all its exotic and delicious flavor preserved and enhanced by the addition of sugar and cooked just long enough to make it absolutely safe and sanitary. As a matter of fact, many people, even in the Paradise Islands where the fresh fruit may be had in its glory, prefer the canned because the sugar has sweetened the juices and penetrated to the very fiber of the fruit. Also the fact that it is canned in its prime when it has reached a golden perfection of ripeness makes it more palatable than most fresh fruits and melons that can be obtained in the market.

There are many other fruits grown in these delightful islands, about which most people know little or nothing. There is the papaya, a melon which grows on trees, and is served at breakfast, or for salads, breadfruit which is baked and served as a starchy vegetable, mangoes, guavas, bananas, and rose apples. And, of course, there are coconuts. Yet the favorite of the islands is the pineapple, which is shipped in cans to every corner of the world, the greatest amount coming to the United States, where it is served on the American table as a salad, a dessert, a pie, or with vegetables and in cocktails, and is becoming increasingly popular in fruit punch to which it lends a delicious tang and a tropical flavor that can be obtained in no other way.

DELAWARE SWEET POTATOES

The Delaware sweet potato crop is now being harvested, and while there is a slight decrease in the yield per acre in comparison with last year, however, due to increased acreage, the total crop will at least equal and perhaps somewhat exceed the 1925 production.

Weather conditions have been favorable, and Delaware sweet potatoes will unquestionably meet every requirement. They are clean and bright, the quality was never better, and the flavor is exceptionally fine. Delaware sweet potatoes are procurable not only at harvest time, but also during the winter months. In fact, a large portion of the crop is generally marketed during December, January, February and March. Those intended for market during the winter months are placed in storage houses, built especially for the storing of this product and kept at certain temperatures in order to preserve the quality and flavor and keep them in first class condition.

TREE PLANTING

Idle farm lands in New York are being converted from a liability into an asset. The State forest nurseries in the Spring of 1926 sent out more than 17,000,000 young trees, or enough to plant about 20,000 acres. The year's output promises to be about 23,000,000 trees.

Every failure teaches a man something, if he will learn.—Dickens.

To look fearlessly upon life; to accept the laws of nature, not with meek resignation, but as her sons, who dare to search and question; to have peace and confidence within our souls—these are the beliefs that make for happiness.—Maeterlinck.

Triumphs of Typography

(From New York Times.)

Mr. William Dana Orcutt, in a book just off the press entitled "In Quest of the Perfect Book," says that he would have first in his collection of typographical triumphs, if he were able, the Gutenberg Bible. The purchase of one of the few remaining copies of it at the fabulous price of $275,000 was reported yesterday. He rated it as "the most valuable printed book in the world" when a copy was bought for Yale University Library at $120,000. His estimate is supported by the later sale, but not his guess that this copy "may be the last ever offered." America has now more than her full share of the copies in existence, though they are so distributed over Europe as well as America that an Englishman, a Frenchman, a German, an Italian or an Austrian need not travel beyond his own borders to see a copy of this incomparable book.

This "marvel of typography" is the more marvelous, if there are degrees in the marvelous, when the obstacles and difficulties with which the printer had to contend in those first days of the art are understood. First was the necessity of designing and cutting the first fonts of type. These were based naturally upon the hand-lettering of that period, and, as Mr. Orcutt observes, tended to repeat rather than correct the human hand, but with this obvious merit, that in order to compete with the hand-lettered volumes it was imperative to print the pages with artistic taste. Then the compositor had to be made. It was a new art. There was no manual of instructions. It is surmised that Gutenberg had to teach the apprentice the method of joining the letters together in the rude precursor of the printer's "composing stick," which was both the utensil and the symbol of his trade before the coming of the typesetting machines. Then, there were no proper iron "chases" in which to "lock up" the pages of type. This explains the frequent bulging out at the sides.

There were still other difficulties to be overcome, which only one familiar with the ways of movable types can understand, and these were increased when it was decided to put two lines more on the page without increasing its size. Types with extended shoulders or of uncommon height had to be narrowed or clipped in order to make this possible. Then, too, the molds in which the molten metal was poured, being of lead or wood, became in use enlarged or worn out, with consequent irregularities in the size of the letters.

Despite all these typographical obstacles, Gutenberg and his brother-printers of the primal period of the art of printing from movable types triumphed because the ideal was an artistic page in competition with the hand-lettered pages of the scribes under the patronage of kings and princes—and one, as Mr. Orcutt in his quest of the perfect book would insist, that suited the subject. It is the skill struggling toward these ideals that makes printing one of the supreme arts—an art that should aspire to an even higher relative place with the spread of the printed word and its importance to democracies.

It is a tribute to the printed word that a book of which there are several copies in existence should bring a price comparable with a great work of art in another field, of which there is but a single copy. It is not a matter for pride, however, that with all our improved mechanical devices and processes we have to go back to the early days of the art to find the "marvels of typography."

MESSAGE TO VOTE SLACKERS

President Coolidge's expression of desire for a larger representation of public preference at the polls is not to be attributed to a partisan wish for a majority for his party in Congress as a result of the elections next month. He speaks as the Chief Executive of the country, not as a Republican. There is urgent need of a greater response by the electorate to the summons to manifest the popular will.

At the last two elections only fifty per cent of those eligible to vote cast their ballots. This is a poor showing for a republic with a practically universal franchise.

The individual vote is what makes up the total. Many candidates have been elected to office by what has come to be known as the "stay-at-home vote." Unworthy men have been named to office because of the feeling on the part of conscientious electors that there was no use in their going to the polls. Political craftsmen count upon this lethargy or feeling of hopelessness to work their schemes, and many of the ills that this country has suffered have come from their success.

Probably the main reason the Europeans don't want to pay us is that they know how we spend the money we already have.—Columbus Dispatch.

Liberty and Responsibility

The surest way to lose liberty is to abuse it. Nations whose people turn liberty into license fall beneath the sway of despots, as France did after the French revolution, and Italy did after communism had created chaos. Restrictions upon individual liberty in the United States, much complained of, are the result of the abuse of these very liberties when they were possessed.

There is complaint of increasing encroachments upon the liberty of the press. The best safe guard of that liberty is a recognition of the responsibilities of newspaper ownership. When newspapers in the mad struggle for circulation or power lose their self respect, reek with scandal, heretize criminals, preach disrespect of law, disregard the dictates of decency in what they print, and do anything and everything that goes along with unrestrained sensationalism, they need not be surprised at loss of influence, and ultimately loss of some part of their present liberty, not through the encroachment of courts or lawmakers merely, but because of the hostility of public opinion.

"What chance has a foreigner in New York City to become the sort of American we would have him be?" inquires a Swedish minister who spent years in work among foreigners in New York. "Most foreigners learn English by reading the newspapers. They pick out the papers with the biggest type and the most pictures. What sort of an idea do they get of America from that quarter? Are they not justified in thinking this country a land of criminals, libertines, bandits and corruptionists? How much do they get of the wholesome, normal side of American life?" These questions are difficult to answer.

Newspapers are private property, but not in the sense that they can legitimately be used to invade the rights of the general public, to gratify private malice, to further sinister private ends, or to bring society, government and the courts into public contempt. Fortunately newspapers with such a policy are few in number, but no one is so much interested in keeping that number small as those publishers and editors who respect their own profession, and desire that its complete legitimate liberty of action shall be maintained.—National Republic.

Work is the mission of mankind on this earth. A day is ever struggling forward, a day will arrive in some approximate degree, when he who has no work to do, by whatever name he may be called, will not find it good to show himself in our quarter of the solar system, but may go and look out elsewhere if there be any idle planet discoverable. Let all honest workers rejoice that such law, the first of Nature, has been recognized by them.—George Bernard Shaw.

First Steamship Built of Steel Plates

Wilmington has again proven its claim to another first. It will be recalled that the city is the "First City of the First State." This time through an investigation by the Wilmington Chamber of Commerce, it has been discovered that the first steamship constructed of steel plates was built in that city in 1859.

Recently a member of the Chamber of Commerce informed Gerrish Gassaway, manager of the chamber, that several years ago while touring in the southern section of the country, he travelled on the Cape Fear River in a vessel which bore a nameplate showing that it had been built by the Pusey & Jones Company of Wilmington, Delaware, in 1859. The name of the steamer was the A. P. Hurt.

Sensing something of possible historic interest in this information, Mr. Gassaway communicated with the Chamber of Commerce of Wilmington, N. C., and learned that the A. P. Hurt had plied the Cape Fear River for a number of years. About three years ago, the boat sank at the Orange street wharf in the southern city, and to date had not been salvaged.

The records of the Pusey & Jones Company show that the A. P. Hurt was built by them in 1859 and was the first ship to be constructed of steel plates. While iron plates had been used since 1843, records indicate that this was the first time that steel plates were used in ship construction. The Hurt was the twenty-third vessel built by the local company.

The vessel was 100 feet long, with a beam of 17 feet and a draft of 4 feet. It was constructed for the Cape Fear Steamboat Company.

About twelve years ago, the A. P. Hurt was overhauled by the Skinner Company in Wilmington, N. C., at which time it was renamed the H. L. Lyon. Later the name was changed back to A. P. Hurt. After rebuilding, the vessel ran until three years ago when she sank at Wilmington, N. C., in the Cape Fear River.

The vessel was built to run between Wilmington, N. C., and Fayetteville, N. C., 110 miles up the Cape Fear River, and from information received, was always the most successful boat ever run on the upper Cape Fear River.

AMERICAN TOYS

Up to within recent years Christmas toys came principally from Germany. More lately Czechoslovakia got into the game. Now the United States is claiming its right to supply the public, and the use of such materials as fabrikoid, cellophane, pyraline, gum rubber, and rayon, have made it possible to make a better American toy than Europe ever thought of. In consequence American merchants may conclude to buy most of their toys in the domestic markets this year. One producer of American toys recently remarked that the only objection to United States toys is that they last many times longer than European articles. However, that is not a material objection that will be stressed by grown people and parents that buy toys for children. American toy manufacturers have gotten into the game and in consequence there will likely be a gradual lessening of imported toys and a corresponding increase in the goods made at home.

Paths To Paradise

On Thursday and Friday, this week, the Opera House will show "Paths to Paradise," a crook comedy, featuring Raymond Griffith and Betty Compson. The action is laid in California, starting in a Chinatown dive in San Francisco, and ending with a chase that starts from a palatial mansion and ends in Mexico. Griffith and Betty Compson are rival crooks that try to outwit each other and the police at the same time. They fall in love and reform.

The situations are unusual and funny and Griffith contributes to this picture what many critics believe his best work as a silk-hat comedian.

The Lucky Lady

"The Lucky Lady," which will show at the Opera House, Monday, October 25, is a comedy from the collaborating pens of Robert Sherwood, editor of Life, and Bertram Block. It features Greta Nissen, William Collier, Jr., Lionel Barrymore and Marc McDermott.

The action is laid in one of those mythical European empires where princesses are lovely and counts and archdukes are villainous. Greta Nissen

SESQUICENTENNIAL HISTORY SKETCHES

The one hundred and fiftieth anniversary of the adoption of the Declaration of Independence will be observed by the Sesquicentennial International Exposition, which opens at Philadelphia, June 1, 1926.

John Penn, Signer

Many of the signers of the Declaration of Independence were lawyers, but probably none had such a struggle to acquire his learning as John Penn, of North Carolina. The Sesquicentennial International Exposition in Philadelphia is now beginning the fifth month of its celebration of the one hundred and fiftieth anniversary of the signing of the document.

Owing to a singular neglect on the part of his parents who could well afford to pay the expenses of his education, John Penn had had only a few years' education at a country school by the time he was eighteen. He struggled along by himself and studied law with his relative, Edmund Pendleton. He was admitted to the bar in 1762 and displayed extraordinary ability and eloquence in practice. He moved from Virginia to Greenville County, North Carolina, where he distinguished himself in his profession. He was sent to the Continental Congress in September, 1775, to supply a vacancy. He signed the Declaration of Independence in 1776 and was re-elected in 1777 and 1779.

When Cornwallis invaded North Carolina, Penn was placed in charge of the public affairs of the State and was given almost dictatorial powers which he used to the best advantage of all concerned.

In March, 1784, he was appointed Receiver of Taxes for North Carolina, but resigned the following April because the State, while eagerly maintaining the cause of independence by resolutions, refused to furnish the means by which it could be obtained. He was the owner of sufficient property so that he could retire to the life of a private citizen later. He died in North Carolina in 1788.

The free expression of opinion, as our experience has taught us, is the safety-valve of passion. That noise of rushing steam, when it escapes, alarms the timid; but it is the sign that we are safe.

Wisdom is oftentimes nearer when we stoop than when we soar.—Wordsworth.

University Beats Springfield 3-0

Cremer's Toe Takes Game For Delaware In Last Period

The University of Delaware took a long trip last week-end to prove to the local followers that they could play winning football. Their defeat of the burly eleven of the Springfield Training School at Springfield, Saturday, conclusively showed the Blue and Gold Coaches that they could now expect, instead of hope for, the best. Coach Forstburg's boys put up a game that won spontaneous applause from the rival cheering sections.

The way was laid for the only score in the game when, in the fourth period, Loveland caught a punt by Stevens of Springfield, on Springfield's 46-yard line, and ran it back to within 13 yards of the Springfield goal before he was tumbled. Springfield held solid for three downs, and then Cremer dropped back to the 25-yard line and booted the ball squarely over the cross-bar for 3 points.

With 5 minutes to play, Springfield made a desperate attempt to score, but a fumble on the 7-yard line ruined any hope for taking the game.

Delaware remained on the defense throughout most of the first half and absorbed a merciless hammering by the much bulkier Springfield eleven. Springfield came within threatening distance of the Delaware goal on a number of occasions, but the Blue and Gold valiantly turned them back each time. In the second half Cremer opened up a dazzling aerial attack that put Springfield on the run. In the third quarter he completed four passes in a row.

Cremer's head and foot work were the outstanding features of the struggle. He ran his team brilliantly and kept their fighting spirit at a froth till the last whistle blew. Besides his victory boot, he gained yardage for Delaware in every exchange of punts; his kicks averaging 45 yards. Loveland and Di Joseph again made most of Delaware's distance, carrying the ball. Glasser's defensive work at end was outstanding. Captain Bill Lohman watched the game from the sidelines. An injured shoulder kept him out. The line-up:

Delaware	Springfield
Beatty	L. E.
Green	L. T.
Reese	L. G.
Reybold	C.
Thompson	R. G.
Coppock	R. T.
Glasser	R. E.
Cremer	Q. B.
Di Joseph	L. H. B.
Flynn	R. H. B.
Sweeney	F. B.

Goal from field, Cremer. Referee, Johnson. Umpire, Morse. Head linesman, Wall. Time of periods, 12 minutes.

Delaware Soccer Team Loses To Beacom

Monday afternoon, while the University football squad were giving themselves and Frazer field a respite from football practice, the soccer team took on Beacom College and came out on the empty end of a 1 to 0 score. The only goal of the game was made by Collison in the second half.

Soccer is an entirely new sport at the University and, as yet, has not been recognized by the Athletic Council. It is on trial, and if sufficient interest is manifest, the Council will probably take control and arrange a schedule for next season.

The line-up:

Delaware	Beacom
Ryon	Walsh
Bringham	Dulin
Powell	Lynch
Long	Quillen
Short	Boody
Potts	Pruitt
H. Roser	Bloder
Strazella	Collison
Crothers	Roser
Watson	Hanley
Milne	Pearson

Goal—Collison, Beacom. Referee—O'Brien.

Ginther In Open Tournament

Eddie Ginther, Pro of the Newark Country Club, has entered the Middle Atlantic States open tournament, to be held at the Rolling Road Golf Club, Catonsville, Baltimore, Md., October 22 and 23. The tournament will be 72 holes medal play for purses aggregating $2,000. The entry list contains a large number of the amateur and professional cracks from the Mid-Atlantic and Metropolitan sections.

Delaware Plays

On Saturday the University Football team travels to Annapolis to play St. John's. They hope to take this game in their stride and next week be set for a desperate struggle with the heavy Rutgers eleven.

Newark Crushes du Pont 34-6

Riley Penetrates du Pont Line At Will To Build Up Overwhelming Score

On Friday afternoon, on the Newark field, Newark High School football team gained an easy victory over the du Pont High in their second game on the D. I. A. A. schedule.

Coach Malin's team shows increased power with every game, but Friday's struggle was sloppy in spots and Newark should have piled up more points than they did.

With Riley leading the attack, Newark started to open up the du Pont line in the first period, but with penalties for holding and erratic playing by Newark, at times, the first half ended, Newark 14, du Pont 6. Riley made both touchdowns for Newark and kicked successfully for extra points. Rolph, the du Pont quarterback, made the du Pont score by catching a pass in the middle of the field and tearing down the sidelines for a touchdown.

In the second half, du Pont tired under the viciousness of the Newark attack and the game became a rout. However, indifferent and careless football held Newark to only three touchdowns. Riley made one on a forward pass that he intercepted on the 50-yard line, but was called back because Newark had been off-side. Riley made another touchdown that counted in three straight plunges through the line and kicked the seventh point. Morris and Jaquette also scored for Newark.

Riley's playing was spectacular both on offense and defense. Morris played the most consistent football. He never let down and his kicking was beautiful. Doordan, out last week with cracked ribs, was back with a vengeance. His bare legs flashed down the field with every kick and he was generally there ahead of the ball.

This Friday Newark anticipates a bitter struggle with the Wesley College at Dover. Wesley has a number of former Dover stars on her line-up and has already beaten Goldey College.

Newark	du Pont
McDowell	left tackle
Cook	left guard
Dayett	center
VanSant	right guard
McMurray	right tackle
Mayer	right end
Morris	quarterback
Whitman	left halfback
Jaquette	right halfback
Riley	fullback

Referee, Waggenman. Umpire, Whitmore. Head linesman, Dunlop. Timer, French. Touchdowns, Riley, 3; Morris, Jaquette, Rolph.

Local Football Stars

Play Out of Town

Inasmuch as there seems to be little opportunity in the offing for local gridiron stars, who are past school age, to get action at home, they are adding valuable support to out-of-town teams. Last Sunday Phil Cornog, George Shay and Frank Mackey went to Coaldale, Pa., to play with Chester against the nationally known Coaldale miners' team. Chester lost, 16-0, after a bitter battle. Phil Cornog played some sensational football for Chester.

FERRIS SCHOOL VS.

NEWARK 2nd TEAM

This afternoon, on the Ferris Field, the Newark High School 2nd team will play Ferris Industrial School. Three weeks ago, when the Newark Varsity played Ferris, Coach Malin sent in his 2nd team in the last half. Ferris could not score on them.

When will talkers refrain from evil speaking? When listeners refrain from evil hearing? At present there are many so credulous of evil, they will receive suspicions and impressions against persons whom they don't know, from a person who mthey do know—an authority good for nothing.—Hare.

New Laces and Ruffles for Windows That Welcome Fall!

Yards and yards of nets and laces and silks and damasks—dozens of pairs of the newest curtains are here!

And there's such variety in design and price!

Right now is the time to brighten up your home with some of these new hangings. They'll dress up and change wonderfully the appearance of your home both inside and out.

By far the most popular of all curtains is the Quakercraft lace and it is inexpensive.

They begin with a very attractive curtain in an all-over design in the natural or cream color, finished with a two inch fringe, suitable for any room in the house and priced but $2.25 the pair.

At $4.00 there are attractive curtains in fine designs finished with scalloped edges and fringed in natural color. Other Quaker curtains range at $5.00, $7.00 and $9.00 for exceptionally fine nets with dainty mottled designs, finished edges and silk fringe.

For the woman that is handy with the needle and takes pleasure in designing and making her own draperies, this desirable fabric can be had by the yard.

Quakercraft nets can be had in thirty-six and forty-five inch widths and are marked 50c, 65c, 85c, 90c and $1.25 the yard. We can supply fringe to match at 25 cents the yard.

The Rayon Curtains have the soft sheen of antique gold and are by far the richest of all moderate priced hangings. They come in panels forty inches wide and two and one-quarter yards long and they can be had as low as $4.50 the panel and range up to $9.00 for an exquisite curtain in an intricate lace design, finished with a deep lace flounce to match.

One of the newest and most popular hangings is the sectional panel lace. This fabric comes in panels nine inches wide and two and one-quarter yards long and any number of panels can be purchased to fit any size window with the necessary fullness. They range in price in the nets from $1.90 to $5.00 the yard. In the antique gold Rayon they are priced from $1.10 to $3.50 the yard.

Always popular and particularly for the bedroom are the dainty little ruffled curtains and they are quite moderately priced. There is one particular pattern in a fine cream voile with ruffled edge in blue and pink, made with a double ruffled valance and tie-back. They are priced, $2.75 the pair.

New this season are the ruffled curtains in flowered-voile. One style is in a rose design and can be had in pink or blue at $3.75. Another in a wild flower pattern, particularly rich and attractive is marked $4.50 the pair. They are particularly dainty curtains for a bedroom that needs a touch of color.

There are ruffled curtains in dotted grenadine with ruffled edges of blue and rose, with double ruffled valances and tie-backs to match. They are priced but $2.75 the pair. An exceptionally fine voile curtain in ecru of an all-over design with blue and pink roses is $4.50 the pair, and a plain curtain in cream colored voile with the ruffled edges in pink or blue is priced $2.50 the pair.

Among the finest of ruffled curtains there is one of a very closely woven voile. It is made with a double ruffled edge and is forty inches wide and comes in solid colors of rose, blue and gold. They are desirable where a one color decorative scheme is wanted throughout and are priced $7.00 the pair.

For the heavier draperies and portiere use there is a wide assortment of silks and damasks. They range in price from $1.50 to $4.50 the yard and include the very newest in wide striped effects. Of course, they can be had in all colors to match your plan of interior decoration.

We have a very complete stock of the Kirsch Rods in single, double and triple styles, in the stipple tone finish. And of course almost every other kind of drapery fixtures from pins to poles that you might possibly need.

It's high time the windows were dressed, ready to welcome fall. And you'll find here the answer to your drapery problems surprisingly easy—and surprisingly low priced.

By the way—there are a number of the newest draperies in our windows now.

EGGS—AND MORE EGGS

Remember the good old days when there were only two kinds of eggs—good and bad? There were no shades, no variations, no particular desire on the part of anyone to establish "grades."

That's all changed now. A chain grocery store in New York has just added this sign to its collection relating to eggs: "Eggs—fresh-laid by young chicks!" The exclamation point seems to indicate that the last word has been said. Other distinctions familiar to New Yorkers are "New-laid up-State eggs," "Fresh barn yard eggs," "Strictly fresh Western Eggs," "White Eggs for Invalids," and a dozen others.

Old-timers and folks who aren't so finicky will wonder just why it is necessary to advertise the age of the egg producers. A good old hen who has led a respectable life should be able to produce as delicately flavored breakfast egg as any flapper pullet.

It's all a matter of a few pennies, lured from our pocketbooks into the coffers of the grocer. These fancy phrases can't have any other purpose, because it is the tendency these days to be willing to pay a little more under the impression that the purchaser is getting the best the market affords.

One sighs for the good old days when a good egg was to be eaten and a bad one to be taken out and buried.

Household Helps

What do you look at from your kitchen window? Cleaning up the back yard may improve the view, or a lattice screen, a hedge or trellis of vines may be used to shut out undesirable features.

Twice-baked bread, that has been cut or torn into pieces and heated in a very slow oven until thoroughly dried and delicately browned is a good food for children.

Do you know kohlrabi, sometimes called turnip-rooted cabbage? Pare the globe or bulbous stem, discarding any stringy or tough portions. Slice it and cook for about half an hour in slightly salted water. Season with butter, salt, and pepper or serve with a white sauce.

Serve roast lamb or lamb chops piping hot, on a hot platter, and then on hot plates. The fat of lamb has the peculiarity of sticking to the plate when cool, also to the palate, and roof of the mouth. To most people this is unpleasant and it can be easily avoided by serving the lamb on very hot dishes.
