Ernest Campbell, Young Farmer, Commits Suicide This Morning

Body Found Shortly Before Noon by Family—May Have Been Result of Business Reverses

Family of Five Left

Ernest Campbell, 35 years old, hung himself this morning shortly before noon at his farm on the Appleton road near the Head of Christiansburg, north of Newark. Word was received at the Richards home on Main Street during the noon hour and his immediate family were notified. The deceased had been running the farm for three or four years and was known to many residents of the town. The news of his sudden death came as a blow to his close friends here. It is reported that he had suffered a minor business reverse during the last year or two, but no definite cause for the deed has been ascertained at this writing. The deceased leaves a wife and four small children, the oldest being seven years of age.

MISS MEDILL LEAVES IMPORTANT POSITION

Resignation Effective Today, Accepted by Trustees. Served for Five Years

PLACE NOT FILLED

The resignation of Miss Agnes P. Medill as County Club Agent of New Castle County under the Extension of the University of Delaware was recently accepted by the trustees of the University and becomes effective on January 31st.

Miss Medill has been a member of the Boys and Girls Club Department for over five years. In 1917 she was appointed as the County Club Agent of New Castle County, a position which she has held with great success.

During Miss Medill's period of service she has extended the popularity of the Boys and Girls Club work in New Castle County. She has done especially good work in the organization of Girl's clothing and work done by girls under supervision has twice won championship honors at the Delaware Fair. Boys and girls and many parents, from all over New Castle County have expressed regret at Miss Medill's services.

At the office of the State Department reveals the fact that all probability the office of County Club Agent will not be filled for several months.

Explanation of this situation the statement was made by Miss Medill, State Club Leader: Miss Medill's resignation means a great change in this department, and even under the best of circumstances it would be difficult to find someone to fill her place as trained club workers are in demand. New Castle County is the only county in Delaware which has never taken advantage of the extension work. For this reason the State Department is so limited that it would be difficult to secure the type of trained club work for which Delaware is famous.

Unlike many public work extension agents must furnish their own automobiles, and the life of a County Club Agent's salary is only about two years.

At the time the Club Department was bound to give more consideration to the counties which suspension work financially, until such time as the people of New Castle County which will enable club work on the same basis as conducted in Kent and Sussex.

Applications for the position have been received. They will be given due recognition in which they were received. In the meantime, with the help of volunteer local leaders

PLANS PROGRESSING FOR DAIRY TOUR

"This auto dairy tour is the biggest event we pulled off last year. When you get one hundred twenty farmers to turn out as we did last year it shows that they are interested in getting new ideas about keeping their dairy herds." This came from H. C. Milliken, of Cooch, at the meeting of the committee in charge of the annual auto dairy tour. The committee met Monday in the County Extension office at Newark. The members of the committee are: J. D. NORRIS GILLESPIE DEAD AFTER SHORT ILLNESS

Well Known in Newark Where He Made a Host of Friends. Buried at New London Monday

Norris Gillespie, aged 31 years, died Thursday evening at the home of his brothers-in-law, Emory and Morris Ewing, near Newark. Mr. Gillespie had been suffering a little over a month from a tumor. Recently the seat of the trouble shifted to his brain, and the end came very quickly. He was a young man, just in the prime of life, and his passing was a great shock to the local people who knew him so well. He was genial and kind hearted at all times and became very popular among the townspeople. For many months he was employed in Fulton's store, where he proved himself capable and trustworthy. Shortly before Christmas the deceased complained of a general run-down condition and intimated that he was going to take a rest for several weeks. He was taken seriously ill a few days later and was removed to the University Hospital, Philadelphia, for an operation. His condition improved slightly afterwards but he never regained his former strength.

Mr. Gillespie is survived by his widow, who formerly was Miss Eva Ewing, sister of Emory and Morris Ewing.

Funeral ceremonies were held Monday with two separate services. At 10.30 a. m. services were held at his late home, the Ewing farm, near Newark. Later, at 2 o'clock in the afternoon, another service was held over the body in New London Presbyterian Church, of which he was a member. Interment was made in the cemetery close by.

$120.03 RAISED FROM SALE OF XMAS SEALS

Miss Maxwell Reports Returns From Annual Drive. $25 For Hope Farm

Miss Jane Maxwell, chairman of the Red Cross Christmas Seal Campaign in Newark, has about completed her work and yesterday submitted her report to the State headquarters. There are still a few stamps in the hands of the workers, but it has been estimated that the sum of $120.03 was raised in Newark for the worthy cause. This amount is slightly under that raised last year, in fact, the sales are said to be dropping off each year.

Twenty-five dollars were donated by residents for aid in supporting the Delaware Hope Farm, now the Brandywine Sanitarium. That the great work will continue for the present year is beyond doubt.

J. C. HASTING TO LEAD CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

Other Officers and Directors Elected at Meeting Held Last Week

The annual meeting of the Newark Chamber of Commerce was held last Thursday evening in the Hose House and was attended by about 20 members of that body. Chief among the items of business was the annual election of officers for the ensuing year. George W. Griffin called for the election after the meeting came to order, and at the same time announced that he would not be a candidate for reelection.

James C. Hastings, H. Warner McNeal and George W. Rhodes were nominated for the office of President, but the latter two withdrew their names. The secretary then cast the ballot for the unanimous election of Mr. Hastings.

The results of the elections for the other officers were as follows: Vice-President, George W. Rhodes; Secretary, G. H. Stewart; Treasurer, William H. Evans. All the officers were elected without a dissenting voice.

In the by-laws of the constitution of the body it is stated that a Board of Directors, consisting of the four officers and seven additional men are to be elected. The seven men chosen to make up the board were: Everett C. Johnson, George W. Griffin, E. L. Richards, H. Warner McNeal, J. E. Dougherty, Warren Singles, and Mayor E. B. Frazer.

Red Men's Band To Realize About $450 From Recent Carnival

Three Night Affair Draws Large Crowds—Many Donations and Help at Tables Acknowledged

For New Outfits

The Red Men's Band Carnival which came to a close Saturday evening last, proved, according to reports, a success in every way. Although inclement weather kept down the crowds on Wednesday and Thursday nights, the people crowded in from then on and on Saturday the old Armory was filled with pleasure seekers.

The total receipts of the Carnival amounted to $755.22, or about $188 per night. As the expenses have not been accurately estimated and all bills have not as yet been paid, no exact figures on the profits of the affair are available, but it will run between $425 and $450, according to good authority.

All success attributed to the Carnival, stated C. T. Denny yesterday, was due in a large measure to the unstinting help of all interested and the many and valuable donations made by friends of the organization. The various tables were manned by enthusiastic men and women and they sold their wares with all enthusiasm. In addition to these things, mention must be made of the willingness of the patrons to spend.

Dancing was one of the features of the Carnival. Jack Smith's Serenaders furnished the music, and many young people came over from Elkton, Wilmington and nearby towns to join in the fun.

Those who won special articles chanced off were: Umbrella, won by Harry Mercer; Lady's Scarf, won by Mr. Ramsey; Shirtwaist Box, won by A. L. Greene; Rug, won by Mrs. F. M. Smith; Ton of Coal, won by N. C. Messinger.

The receipts from some of the tables were: Blanket table, $174.05; Candy table, $115.18; Cake table, $49.64; Fancy table, $49.25; Apron table, $40.40; Grab bags, $16.43; Ice cream, $28.86; Punch and soft drinks, $19.75; Dance floor, $137.20; Hot dogs, $49.05; Check room, $5.10.

There were about 35 blankets chanced off and 115 pounds of candy sold during the four nights.

The exercises opened with a selection by the Buddies Orchestra, composed of Rehabilitation students, and which played at other times during the program.

One of the graduates, Mr. Mitnick, finished his course last year, but returned to get his diploma. He is at present conducting a successful poultry plant in southern New Jersey.

Dr. Walter Hulihan addressed the graduates and assembled students and at the end of his talk, passed the diplomas to Dean C. A. McCue, head of the Department of Agriculture, who in turn, with appropriate remarks, delivered them to the graduates.

Upton, Director of the Rehabilitation School; Address, Dr. Hulihan; Music, Buddies Orchestra; Presentation of Diplomas, Dean McCue; Alma Mater, Buddies Orchestra; Benediction, Rev. Herson; Selection, "Auld Lang Syne," Orchestra and students.

University Affairs Aired Before Budget Committee

Charles R. Miller Submits Report of Finances—Gov. Denney Inquires About Loan for President's Home

Collins Takes Decided Stand

A special dispatch from Dover to "Every Evening" yesterday concerning the hearings on the Budget with special reference to the University, says:

Governor William D. Denney, who attended yesterday afternoon the budget committee hearings when former Governor Charles R. Miller appeared to report on the finances of the University of Delaware, did not conceal his chagrin when he learned that he had not been made acquainted with all the details relating to the financial transactions at that institution. He stated with some emphasis that he knew nothing of the purchase by the college of a building to be used as a home for President Hullihen with money that was borrowed and which loan has not yet been returned.

Governor Miller had stated that the indebtedness against the University for the president's home is $16,000 and that there is another item of $18,000 for three tenement houses at $6,000 each which had been purchased during the war time period for homes for the University attaches but two of which are now occupied by persons not in any way connected with the college. The loan was secured for the purchase of the president's house and this loan has not been refunded.

Governor Miller said the purchases had been made by the property committee of the University with the sanction of the Board of Trustees. He explained that Charles B. Evans had been instrumental in this matter and that as he was a good lawyer he supposed the college authorities had the legal power to make such a purchase. He made this statement in reply to Representative Melson's question as to their right to buy real estate in this manner. Governor Miller said he was not connected with this matter as he was away at the time.

"I knew nothing of the purchase of any building and that it was not paid for" declared Governor Denney. "If this be so then I think now is the time to settle this matter and that this Legislature should take up the question and provide for this obligation."

Chairman Collins and Governor Miller got into a verbal tilt when Governor Miller told the committee the University now has all the students it can care for under the funds appropriated by the State, especially in the Women's College. He said the boys can board elsewhere than at the college but if the women students do this it entails additional expenses as a matron has to be provided for every group outside the college. Mr. Collins wanted to know how or where the college authorities got the right to say who shall and who shall not be admitted to the University for he declared every boy and girl in the State has an equal right to be admitted to the institution. He insisted this is a State institution open to all, in which every child in the state has an equal right to admission and he claimed the college authorities are not the ones to say who shall be admitted and who shall be rejected there.

Governor Miller insisted the college could not accept any more students than can be accommodated under the appropriation made to the University by the State but the question as to the college authorities' right to exercise discrimination on the admission of students remained unanswered. Governor Miller thought it was one for settlement by the Legislature.

He thought there should be a fund of at least $10,000 for emergency purposes but that it should be set up as something other than a contingent fund.

PLEASANT VALLEY CLUB HOLDS REGULAR SESSION

Enjoyable Program Given by Pupils. Play Draws Applause

The January meeting of the Pleasant Valley Community Club, near Newark, was held Thursday evening, January 25th. The meeting was called to order by the President, Mr. G. O. Lomax. The opening song, "Our Delaware," was sung with great enthusiasm. The minutes of the December meeting, read by the Secretary, Miss Mabel Steinbaker, was received by the members with no objections. Following the reading of the minutes, the visiting committee for the month of January gave their report. To the credit of the teacher and the school, the visiting committee found the condition of the school satisfactory, and the children at the height of progress. A new visiting committee for the month of February was appointed by the President. Those who will serve for the next month are Mrs. Doyle, Mrs. Stewart, and Mrs. Reid.

The following program was given by the pupils of the school and was highly enjoyed by the members and friends:

"A Boy's Mother," Ernest Lomax; "Only One Mother," Florence Kirkley; "Tyrol," a selection on the victrola; "If the World Busts Through," John Reid; Reading, "Hanging a Picture," Edna Doyle; "National Emblem March," a selection on the victrola; "When De Co'n Pone's Hot," Alice McCormick.

The topic for the month entitled, "Home," was illustrated by the teacher. Special leaflets were supplied by the State Parent-Teacher Association, which were distributed among the members. Much consideration was given to these leaflets by the mothers who have children in the school.

"The Mother's Reform Club," a short play given by a class of girls, received much applause.

The presentation of Good and Perfect Attendance Pins, and the singing of "My Old Kentucky Home" closed the meeting. Refreshments were served.

Following Suit

An eminent London judge who wrote a wretched hand, once sent a note to a friend among the lawyers seated at the barrister's table.

Not being able to make anything of it, the friend scribbled something absolutely undecipherable upon a half sheet of note paper and passed it up to the justice. The great man looked somewhat annoyed at it and said to his friend:

"What do you mean by this? I invited you to come and dine with me tonight."

"Yes," said the lawyer, "and I replied that I should be delighted to do so."—Harper's Magazine.

NEWS OF THE NEIGHBORHOOD

AS TOLD BY CORRESPONDENTS AND EXCHANGE

ELKTON

For the time being, residents of Elkton, Chesapeake City, and points east, west, north and south will be deprived of the services of the Bush Line. Just what legal and technical fault was found in the plea of the line to enter Maryland and haul sugar and coffee and velocipedes to eager Maryland merchants is somewhat cloudy. However, Judge Bond in Baltimore Circuit Court, found something the matter and upheld the Public Service Commission's injunction. And there you are. People in Newark swear by the Bush Line; people along the road swear at it, and folks in Elkton joined Mr. Bush et al in swearing at the Courts. Outside of that, the decision handed down last week is of very little importance.

They say that the Bush Line has another nigger in the woodpile, which it is expecting to turn loose pretty soon.

They raided Luke Goodyear again last week. Officers found him laid up with a broken leg and he could not accompany them to Baltimore for a hearing. Luke is said to have had some "infirmity" in the house for his sore leg.

A clipping from a daily paper shows how the Federal agents finally decided that Luke should be paid a visit if nothing else than for the sake of Auld Lang Syne:

"The Federal Agents have been following up the case for some time. They have gathered evidence of sales of liquor by him, trafficking between Maryland and Delaware, they assert." No comment is necessary.

Not all the thrills are seen in the movies.

Not many days ago, A. Victor Davis, well known in Elkton, was performing a delicate operation upon the vitals of his sedan. The sedan was parked in the Davis garage. The sedan's engine was also running. Victor was about to mount to the saddle and apply spurs, when the sedan decided that it needed exercise, so without warning it backed unceremoniously out of the garage with Victor clinging to the gunwales.

Eye witnesses assert that the spirited wagon tore through three complete fences, dug up two flower beds, scared all the chickens in the neighborhood and would have been running yet had it not backed plumb into a sturdy telephone pole. Since it couldn't get around the pole, the sedan was forced to stop. Victor was still clinging to the gunwales, and is said to have shouted "women and children first" as he went through the first fence. He made manful efforts to reach the helm but just about the time he had a firm grip on it, another fence would whiz by and deposit Victor in the dust.

After the dust of excitement had somewhat cleared Victor explained to the paid admissions that the sedan was possessed with a delicate reverse gear. No casualties were reported other than a bruised knee where the unruly vehicle tried to run down its owner.

The flock of chickens have not as yet recovered their composure.

ANOTHER BARN BURNS SOUTH OF ELKTON

Blaze on Waters Farm Consumes Seven Horses. Fire Co. Saves House.

ORIGIN UNKNOWN

The barn on the William P. Waters estate about three miles south of Elkton, caught fire Saturday evening and before aid arrived the flames were beyond control. The big double decker barn was completely destroyed as were several small outbuildings. Seven horses were stabled at the time and all perished. Other livestock in the barnyard were driven to safety.

The fire drew many people to the scene but the flames had gained such headway that nothing could be done five minutes after the first wisp of smoke was seen.

The Singery Fire Co., of Elkton, responded to the call and greatly aided in saving the farm house.

As yet there has been no clue found as to the origin of the fire. The loss was estimated by Mr. Waters as close to $12,000.

The committee comprises Mrs. B. L. Dickey, Miss Lora Little and Mrs. Charles P. Dickey. This committee will make its calls within the next few weeks.

Maryland Governor Is Guest Of Press Bodies of Two States

Maryland and Delmarvia Associations Hold Annual Meetings Saturday—Elect Officers for Year

Support School Bill

Extracts from Governor Ritchie's Address to Newspapermen

"It is infinitely worse for a State to fall down on its health work than to fall down on the tax rate."

"One thing the press asks is sincerity of purpose. If a public man is honest in trying to make a good job of a thing, if he really is trying to do the right thing, he will find the press behind him."

"The fundamental conception of good government is that everybody should have a fair chance to compete with everybody else. Equality of opportunity in the field of human rights is everything."

"A State never has a right to complain if its boys and girls fall down because they are not given the opportunity to do the things other boys and girls are given the opportunity to do."

The members of the Delmarvia and the Maryland Press Associations held their annual meetings in the Hotel duPont Saturday last. Chief among the speakers at the luncheon was Governor Albert C. Ritchie of Maryland. The chief executive delivered a powerful address and brought out many points applicable to the present situation in Delaware today. He declared openly and without reserve for the equality of opportunity for every citizen of a State and warned that unless this objective is religiously adhered to, the State government has failed of its supreme purpose. In particular, he paid a tribute to the press in its accuracy in siding up a public man, and added that too many officials blame their shortcomings on the fact that the press is "out to get them."

Perhaps the most significant part of the speech from a Delaware standpoint was his reference to the part played by boys and girls in the up-building of a State's power. He pleaded for more progress upon lines of Health, Welfare, and Schools. In reference to his points he gave several examples of the work being done in Maryland along these lines. Governor Ritchie showed his old fire and enthusiasm and spoke frankly and openly upon all subjects relative thereto. He was accorded stormy applause when he finished.

A. Morris Taylor, editor emeritus of the Every Evening and a man who has been in closer and more constant touch with public affairs of the State than any other Delaware man, spoke briefly at the luncheon, stressing particularly the great progress made in newspapers since the days of the old Delaware Gazette, some sixty years ago.

Other speakers were James H. Hughes, former Secretary of State, and Mayor Harvey, of Wilmington. Colonel Theodore Townsend, of Milford, was toastmaster.

Business Meetings

Before the luncheon, respective business meetings were held by the two associations.

F. E. Shanahan, retiring president of the Delmarvia Association, thanked the members for their co-operation and good will during the five years he has been at the helm. Officers were elected as follows:

Delmarvia Press Association—President, Colonel Theodore Townsend, Milford; vice-president, George Carter, Wilmington; secretary and treasurer, William F. Metten, Wilmington; executive committee, C. H. Walls, Centerville; F. E. Shanahan, Easton; H. K. Smith, Salisbury.

The Maryland Press Association elected: President, Rieley Melvin, Annapolis; vice-president, Clarence Vincent, Snow Hill, and Leo Moore, Havre de Grace; secretary and treasurer, F. E. Shanahan, Easton; directors, Messrs. Diffendall, Walls, Usliton, Smith and Benson.

On motion of Mr. Carter the Delmarvia president appointed a committee consisting of Col. Theodore Townsend, Everett C. Johnson and James H. Hughes to memorialize the Legislature of Delaware that the newspaper men of the State will support progressive school legislation.

Upwards of sixty men from Delaware, Maryland and the Eastern Shore attended the affair, representing the vital papers on the peninsula.

(Mary writes to Jane about that wonderful Summer Camp.)

January 31, 1923.

Dear Jane:

There is such a fine Girl Reserve group in the High School. We started off with fifty members. We have meetings every other Tuesday and are trying to do what we can to help in the community. Last summer we raised enough money to send Ida McMurray, our president, to Camp Nepahwin, near Canton, Pa., for two weeks and another member and an advisor went, too. The stories those girls tell about their camp life were fine and now more girls want to go. It seemed such a shame at first that more of us couldn't go this year but after our trip to Reybold's farm down near Town Point this summer, we decided that those girls couldn't have had a better time than we did. The camp lasted a week and each of us paid $6.00. It was worth more than that for we slept in a dandy old farm house and were taken care of by Rosie—the finest cook around. The swimming was great—horseback riding—but not enough horses to go around and the one poor beast got tired!

Oh yet, let me tell you, too, that after buying all the equipment for camp and it came to a lot for we had a stove, pots and pans, food and loads of other things, a Victrola and a set of Health Records besides other records. I wish you could have seen us girls doing exercises. We had minstrels, movies, stunts, and everything, too.

Love to you.

Mary.

P. S. Here I have been taking up all this space and never told about Miss Lela Jackson and the wonderful talk she gave us about Rumania, but I'll tell you that next week.

REVENUE OFFICERS TO HELP TAXPAYERS

Field Deputies to Sit in Newark Feb. 14-16 to Assist in Filing Returns

Announcement was made Friday of the course to be followed by deputies from the office of U. S. Collector of Internal Revenue, John W. Hering through the rural New Castle county towns to assist taxpayers in filing their Federal Income Tax returns for individuals, partnerships, corporations, and fiduciaries. Field Deputies of the Revenue Force will be detailed to sit in the postoffices of the following cities and towns unless such facility is not available, in which event a prominent public place will be named at a later date: Middletown, Wednesday and Thursday, February 7th and 8th; St. Georges Friday, February 9th; Odessa, Saturday, February 10th; Delaware City, Monday, February 12th; New Castle, Tuesday, February 13th; Newark, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, February 14th to 16th inclusive; New Castle, Saturday, February 17th; in addition to which an additional deputy will sit at Marshallton, Wednesday, February 14th; and Claymont, Thursday and Friday, February 15th and 16th.

It is recommended that all citizens who desire the assistance of the deputies be prepared to furnish itemized statements of amounts of income and expenses for 1922 when calling upon the deputy for assistance. Doubtful items of income and deductions should be explained at the time for his determination. Income from every source should be stated as well as all expenses considered as allowable deductions from the return.

It is suggested that a visit to the deputy in the locality will avoid a trip to the revenue office in Wilmington, and at the same time save penalty later for failure to file return. Government representatives detailed to this work will be thoroughly conversant with the features of the act and changes in making the returns for 1922, including changed rates of surtax and late rulings of the department.

PLAN LAFAYETTE ALUMNI GROUP FROM DELAWARE

A meeting of Alumni and former students of Lafayette College at Easton, Pa., was held in Wilmington, Friday last, when preliminary steps were taken to form the Delaware Alumni Association of Lafayette College.

After considerable discussion of plans, Dr. Willard Springer who graduated from Lafayette more than fifty years ago, was chosen President and Mr. Emmons was elected secretary. These two with William F. Smalley and Albert W. Cummings compose a committee to arrange for the dinner. It is hoped that several of these meetings will be held yearly. Efforts will be made to reach all the former students of the college in the state. Three members of the faculty of the University of Delaware are graduates of Lafayette as is also Coach McAvoy of the football team.

The college is actively pushing the formation of alumni associations in cities and states where the alumni are not organized.

WILL SOMEONE PLEASE FIND THE ROBBER?

Delaware City in Arms Over Series of Thefts. Another One Saturday

State Detective John Moore is in Delaware City investigating the robbery of the Reybold store, which occurred Saturday morning when thieves made away with loot valued at $500. An unsuccessful attempt was also made to enter the Samonisky store, adjoining Reybold's.

This robbery is the sixth that has occurred in Delaware City in the last three months. Citizens are up in arms over the matter. It is said that a public meeting will be held to ask for better police protection.

The robbery was reported to the Wilmington police by Mr. Reybold and they are making a search of that city for suspects. It is thought that a motor truck was used to carry away the loot. Several valuable guns were among the articles stolen. Entrance was effected by smashing a window in the rear of the store, police think.

AT THE MOVIES

No fashionable cabaret in New York, the City of Lights, can surpass in brilliance or color or extravagance of finish that which is shown in George Fitzmaurice's Paramount production of "Experience," which is to be shown at the Opera House February 2nd. The scenario of this well-known play by George V. Hobart, called for a typical New York restaurant, after the manner of such institutions of pleasure before the days of prohibition. No expense was spared to make this scene realistic and beautiful.

The color scheme is black and gold with a background of gold metal cloth. Huge ornate pillars, capped with metal domes, are set at intervals on the dining room floor.

A striking effect was obtained in this scene by the use of four little girls who soared above the dancers in swings and dropped rose-leaves on the crowd below. Five hundred pounds of artificial rose-leaves and two bushels of confetti were let loose from "snow" banks above the setting.

Although only one-quarter of the cabaret was built it accommodated four hundred people. For richness of color and novelty, this has seldom been surpassed in any picture. Richard Barthelmess, a popular young screen player, has the leading role of "Youth."

"If you keep on at that rate," remarked the caddie, "you will soon be the champion of Scotland."

"Do you mean that?" she simpered in wonderment.

"Aye," replied the caddie, "at throwing the hammer!"—Ex.

Newark High Drops Thrilling Contest To New Castle Boys

Lone Point Gives Verdict To McDevitt's Charges at End of Forty Minutes

Hubert Plays Well

One of the most exciting games of basketball one would wish to see anywhere was staged in the Armory Monday evening when New Castle High and Coach Wilson's Newark team engaged in a hair-raising struggle for the supremacy of this part of rural Delaware. New Castle won the laurels 19-18.

For the better part of the first half the teams rushed up and down the big floor and missed many shots during the rushes. Both coaches had taught their pupils a real system of five-man defense and there was little to choose between the defensive play of the two teams. If anything, Newark was on the offense most of the time. That the score would be low was evidenced shortly after the opening whistle, for both teams guarded just as close as the law and Jack Williams would allow.

Hubert, Chalmers and Wilson managed to work the ball up the floor consistently but the majority of their shots were wild. Chalmers, Hubert and Townsend, however, caked spectacular goals from all manner of positions. New Castle's offense was built around McKnitt, and they certainly made no mistake about the foundation. The latter was all over the floor and personally escorted the ball up the length of the floor for a field goal. He is an almost sure shot from within twenty feet of the basket. At the end of the first half, Newark led, 10-8.

Second Half Fast

Beginning the final period, both teams went in there to win the old game, and the play immediately speeded up. The score slowly mounted with Newark always a point or so in the lead, until with about eight minutes to go, New Castle on a long shot by McKnitt tied the count at 17. At 17. Shortly later Hubert and King, rival centers, were banished from the pastime for personal fouls.

Chalmers caged a foul with a couple of minutes to go and Newark again led. Then the irrespressible McKnitt got loose and registered two points. With less than a minute to go, New Castle "froze" the ball, but it almost proved disastrous as five Newark men were down there under New Castle's basket taking pot shots as the whistle blew.

Lots of Noise

Throughout the game, the enthusiasm was intense. Newark rooters held sway in the matter of noise because they held the balance of power.

The game was clean and well handled by Jack Williams. Newark failed to keep up its earlier speed during the last five or six minutes and as a result allowed New Castle to draw up. And once in the lead, they are a hard club to stop.

The change made by Coach Wilson when he shifted Hopkins to guard and brought Hubert to the pivot position is a wise one. With his reach and weight, Hopkins is very valuable when it comes to taking them off the backboard. Hubert is clever on the offense and a good shot, far better than Biff. Townsend and Chalmers work splendidly together. Newark should certainly have won Monday night's game, but they lacked the final drive to hold their lead. The score:

HURT IN FOX HUNT

Miss Clara Brown, of near Lewisville, Pa., while riding to the hounds as a member of the Brown Hunt at the big meet near Kennett Square last Friday, fell from her horse and was painfully injured. It was reported that the girth broke and she had no chance to save herself from a fall.

THE SPORTING TICKER

A Column Devoted to Clean Athletics and Sportsmanship, written by one who loves the Game.

"RIDIN' ON THE DOGS"—A MEMORY

Once again this column becomes old fashioned.

Perhaps it is because there is nothing in the world of sport to write about just now, save the violent announcement that Jack Dempsey will meet any lamb led to the slaughter providing said lamb is worth about $300,000. Somehow or other, the Dempsey-Brennan-Willard-Kearns-Rickard act is becoming stale. The sage needs a good clearing off, and all the properties, extras and scenery which go to make up the pathway to a championship bout are soiled and worn. Worse than that—the audience is beginning to yawn.

May we take you back to an old fashioned country fox hunt?

Out in the pasture behind the barn on a crisp, crinkly December morning, with the frost still on the roof, and the clatter of hoofs on the hard ground.

Ten o'clock arrives and with it—the whole community. Brake carts, jagger wagons, buggies, a few motor cars, and riders, seated on everything from old Ned, lately removed from the milk wagon, to the graceful long limbed hunter with the blue grass of Kentucky racing in his blood. They're all there—neighbors, sportsmen, politicians, and the inevitable cider barrel.

On the barn floor, carefully guarded, are the hounds, not imported, not registered, but by the gods, able to trail a fox over hot coals.

A snap of the box lid, a slim reddish shape slips away down the slope at a trot, riders mount, and adjust stirrups; a last visit to the cider barrel. The milling, noisy dogs are turned loose—a few inquiring yaps, and then down the trail at full cry, riders following at the canter.

Late in the afternoon, far away from the start, the dogs are sticking to the trail. The yare close now; passers-by inform the riders that the fox is running clear half a mile ahead. The hunt has thinned down to a bare dozen men. Bad falls, a broken leg—it has been a punishing hunt. The end is near. Tired heels spur tired horse, and blowing dogs drive on.

Playing a hunch, we turned off, took a fence and made a half circle, bringing us down into a narrow valley, clean and free from timber. Sure enough, the old boy doubled back, and we heard the hunt coming our way. For once our hunch came through and we witnessed a sight never to be forgotten.

Along the crest of the opposite ridge, in perfect silhouette against the flaming western sky, came Reynard, stretching his tired limbs to their utmost at every leap, low to the ground and running a race with Death. And well he knew it. Not a hundred yards behind came the pack, a few with their noses to the ground but the leaders, bent to their task, saw the kill before them. That was sufficient.

It didn't last very long. The end came in that little valley before the red sun had fallen from the sky.

A game race was run during those last moments, but the dogs slowly drew up, then sunfished out and ran parallel with their fear-maddened quarry, as only fox hounds will do. Then the lead dog cut into the path of the fox, came a flurry of bodies, and all was still.

Galloping riders tore into the valley, shouted and spurred on to the kill—and the brush. Someone got in first and won the honors. That does not matter.

It was tragedy—yes, but it was glorious. Generations have come and gone since the first fox hunt, but its lure to the real outdoor man and woman is ever the same.

Maybe we forget ourselves sometimes and bore. Then again, one experiences and feels and sees things which are peculiarly one's own. All of these mistakes are acknowledged.

But dogged if we don't believe we would rather "ride on the dogs" than see Jack Dempsey maul a punchesick mammoth at $25 a punch.

TOO MANY APPLES IN THE BAG

From reports emanating from both ends of Kent County, it looks as though Milford and Dover are about to continue their baseball controversy where they left off last fall, except that they are both going in to the Eastern Shore League, where they can get a crack at each other without one of them rushing out into the highways and market places and trotting in a bunch of high priced performers to gull the opponent.

There aren't two towns this side of Halifax which can be put in their class when it comes to baseball rivalry, and with an almost big league schedule confronting them, there should be some grand old battles down yonder. From a Kent County standpoint the league will no doubt assume the form of "dog eat dog," with the other six teams taking minor parts.

But as we see it, there's still a few things which will annoy the two Kent County teams before the first day of August rolls around.

It's almost two hundred miles from Dover to Parkersley, Va., and to travel that distance and back for a two game series, with long jumps like Cambridge and Pocomoke thrown in, is not good for any ball team, and particularly not good for any ball team's purse.

The Eastern Shore League is small, but geographically speaking it covers quite a few acres or versts, or whatever you wish to call them. Dover is a long way from the real scenes of action, so far off in fact that we wonder all those long trips, meet the salary list, pay overhead expenses and return all those long trips, will be enough left in the family sock to pay for just a bit whether there will be enough left in the family sock to pay for anything to the treasury. And this goes for Milford as well as Dover.

We have never been accused of drenching any enterprise with cold water until it has been given a fair trial, but we know enough about travelling ball clubs to be convinced that long trips, either by day coach or motor car, take the drive out of bodies, the snap out of arms and put cobwebs where brains should be.

A ball club next to a used automobile is about the most expensive thing to run we know of, and when you get too many apples in the bag, she's liable to bust, you know.

Outside of these observations, we can't see anything wrong with the Kent County entries in the league.

Uproarious Basketball Game Monday Night Goes to Students 8-7

No Casualties

The students of the Rehabilitation Division of the University of Delaware and their instructors went to the mat Monday night, in what was termed the most delicious exhibition of how to play the game of basketball without getting angry and trying to put the sphere in the basket.

Fortunately no one was hurt, and few harsh words were spoken which could be construed as slander on the part of the speaker. As the score indicates, there was a considerable amount of running hither and yon about the gymnasium court, with no particular object in view save running a little faster than your opponent.

For the faculty, the work of Ham and Butties was worthy of especial mention. They are in no way to be mistaken for the better known combination of Bacon and Eggs. The famous "General" Brinton was also present at the performance and while not in the faculty troupe, he cavorted gaily through the scrimmages in his usual blithe way. In fact, he was one of the leading lights of the game.

For the rehabs, Kennedy outshone his teammates in most departments and his all-round wrestling and steeplechasing was one of the main factors which decided the battle.

No attempt was made to keep the score as the game was far too exciting to bother with a pencil and paper. It is to be hoped that the next game will be properly advertised and that will draw the townspeople and their friends to the scene.

FORMER DELAWARE STUDENTS COMMISSIONED IN ARMY

Announcement was made the latter part of last week that the following successful candidates for commissions in the United States Army were recommended to the President by the Secretary of War: Maynard H. Carter, Louis E. Roemer, and J. Howard Harper, to be Second Lieutenants of Infantry. All three men were members of the Class of 1922, University of Delaware.

Frank Baker May Go to Minors as Pilot

Frank "Home-Run" Baker, still a sound third baseman and good hitter, will not be with the Yankees next year, according to report. He is planning to retire and take charge of a minor league club. If he is wanted by an American League club this plan may be changed. It is not the intention of the Yankees to use him regularly next season and Baker does not want to sit on the bench.

With Dugan going strong at third, Baker will not be needed. But there are one of two clubs in the American League that might use him at third. The Browns, particularly, have a third-base problem.

Baker, in midseason, was hit by a pitched ball, with Urban Shocker of the Browns, doing the hurling. He spent a few days in the hospital, but subsequently came around all right. In the meantime Joe Dugan was holding down the far corner and Baker did not return to his position.

SECOND MEETING OF BASEBALL BOOSTERS TOMORROW NIGHT

Expect Definite Plans for Financing Team as Outcome of Session in Armory

Another meeting, the second to be exact, of former players, officers and all interested in Newark's bid for a baseball team next summer is called for tomorrow night in the Armory, at 7:30 sharp.

At the last meeting, held about two weeks ago, several phases of the proposed season were discussed, but no action was taken. At this meeting an effort will be made to lay definite plans before the townspeople in some way in order to learn the sentiment regarding a team, and if possible to arrange for ways and means for financing.

All are cordially invited to attend the session and to offer advice, criticism or suggestions to those assembled.

"WHERE THE SUBWAY ENDS"

"Where the Subway Ends," the comedy that is announced for presentation at the Playhouse, Wilmington, for three nights and a Saturday matinee starting Thursday night, was written by James V. Auditory and Joseph Noel as a sort of satire on the housing system of New York and shows what might happen if two young married couples were to share the same apartment for the purpose of saving rent.

The people with whom the authors deal are those whom we meet in every day life and there is a natural spirit throughout the piece that makes the story interesting and lifelike. Those who have seen the piece describe it as one of the brightest comedies written in years and filled with laughter-making situations and dialogue. A clever company organized with the idea of presenting the play later on in a Broadway theatre will be seen in the piece here.

THE HOUSING PROBLEM AND A FEW OTHER LITTLE MATTERS

Discussed
by
The Loafer

During the lull in bridge battles, and following heated elections, Christmas dinners, and budget hearings, the very elastic minds of many Newark habitants are of on another track.

We present the Housing Problem. It has been duly decided by the very best informed people of the town that we need more houses. So much for that.

Tales of frantic home seekers storming the doors of our real estate sanctums, and of at least one-tenth of the city of Wilmington ready to come down on us at one full swoop and gobble up all the houses in sight is enough to excite anyone. And in essence, these statements are verified and almost correct.

But what about our own people? What about the man who works every day for six days a week and spends Sunday wondering how much longer the grocer will trust him? There are in Newark today scores of families whose incomes aggregate perhaps $80 to $90 per month, and whose house rent is in the neighborhood of $40 per month. There is the real problem. Can this family make ends meet? Can they keep up the fight, raise children, and live with any degree of happiness with the inevitable sheaf of bills coming in each month, eating up to the last cent the hard earnings? Some one will suffer, either the grocer, butcher, the wife or the children. But never the landlord. The spectacle of being removed to the street is to the American mind a thing to be shunned like a leper.

No finer, more progressive or more useful enterprise could be undertaken by this community than to devise ways and means for the erection of modest homes to rent for modest sums of money.

The land is here, the employment is here, the demand is acute. Is there a man or a group of men who will take the chance?

Meanwhile, they're going to put up some signs along the highway at each end of town, telling everyone what a fine place Newark really is, and they're going to patch the streets in the spring, and maybe fix up Delaware avenue down by the Century Club.

The moral of this story is—a smokestack is an institution just as American as the college spire and sometimes towers equally high in the ideals of Democracy.

That the opportunities for all manner of work are present everywhere still seem to have but little influence in the lives of the "wandering ones."

Last Friday Officer Lewis picked up a young man about 21 years old, on his way from Brooklyn to—well, he didn't know just where. Lewis gave him a night's lodging in the town jail, and after quizzing him thoroughly, decided that he would let him go.

So down Elkton Road trudged the wanderer early Saturday morning, no money, no breakfast, although some one did give him a pack of cigarettes.

Which makes a home somewhat more than a place in which to read the paper and play bridge, doesn't it?

The residents of Depot Road petitioned the Levy Court for five electric lights to guide weary travelers through the gloom and darkness surrounding the old station. But the Levy Court disagreed with them, and gave them six lights. Great are the ways of the magnanimous.

This week marks the eight hundredth anniversary of the death of Omar Khayyam, the noted tent maker, bar tender and society devil of those palmy days.

One thing we must say about Omar, he was perfectly frank in his convictions, and managed to get away with it. His epic concerning that jug of wine and somebody named Thou still comforts some folks. And it was written eight hundred years ago. When a writer can do that, he has arrived, mark you that!

CHORAL CLUB MEETS

The Newark Choral Club meets tonight in the High School at which time beside the regular rehearsal, an effort will be made to find a night for practice which will be suitable for as many members as possible. Several have been inconvenienced with the Monday night rehearsals.

Miss Wilcox stated some days ago that she would be able to arrange for a concert to be given by the Club on very short notice, but it is hoped that a full quota will be present from now on in order that sufficient practice may be had for the affair.

WITHDRAWS SUIT

Ellis Brown, a farmer near Newark, has withdrawn a suit for alleged damages to his car suffered one day last week on Main street. The defendant named in the suit was Nathan Slomann, of Wilmington.

It appears that the autos of the two parties collided while Brown was pulling out from the curb. Minor injuries were reported about various parts of the Brown car. Notice of suit was given and the date was set for Friday next.
