Baccalaureate Exercises

The custom inaugurated by the Class of 1913, Newark High School of baccalaureate Sunday has proved itself a popular one. The Presbyterian church, where the services were held last Sunday evening, was crowded to the doors with friends of the twenty graduates who comprise the largest class ever graduated from the institution.

The graduates, followed by the teachers of the school and members of the Board of Education, attended the service in a body. Special music was rendered by members of the choir. Rev. L. E. Poole, pastor of the M. E. Church, assisted in the services.

Rev. W. J. Rowan preached a strong sermon from the text Psalm 119-105: "Thy word is a lamp unto my feet and a light unto my path."

The speaker urged upon his hearers the adoption of the grand old Book as their guide, declaring that along whatever line their interests might run, they would find a supply to satisfy their wants within the limits of God's Word. Should their inclination lead to History, the rise and fall of the great nations of antiquity is spread before them, should it be for science, behold the principles with which the most advanced learning in no wise conflicts; be it poetry, again they may find it in any form, while the romances have been unequalled by the writers of any land. It presents the interpretation of human nature from the Great Master himself, and lays down laws and precepts as infallible today as the day they were delivered, and will so continue to the end of time. Intermingled with the arguments were quotations from leaders of the world's thought and action.

After proving conclusively that of all the world's books, the Bible stands well-named the Book Pre-eminent, Dr. Rowan took up the spiritual side of its study.

CHURCH NOTES

The regular Children's Day services at White Clay Creek church will be held on next Sunday, June 15th, beginning at 10:30 a. m.

The children of the Sunday School have been preparing their different parts which will, we think, be interesting to all. The choir will play a prominent part in the exercises, and with the assistance of violins, will render several selections. A cordial invitation to all. The offering will be for Sunday School work.

Children's Day exercises held last Sunday morning in the Newark Presbyterian Church were largely attended. No feature was lacking to make the service a beautiful one.

The high, deep windows were banked with fragrant ferns while a profusion of bright-eyed daisies hid everything commonplace. In front of the platform from which the children recited and sang was placed a real cradle, transformed by the daisies into a bed of flowers, the wood-work being so completely hidden that few suspected its presence.

The choruses by the school, to the accompaniment of organ and four violins, were especially bright and pretty, and the cunning ways of the little ones as they recited their optimistic verses of sunshine and cheer proved as attractive as in previous years. The singing of a special arrangement of "Nearer My God to Thee" by Master Johnson Rowan in a sweet, true soprano was particularly appreciated. Eight children received the rites of baptism.

Sail On Thursday For Europe

Prof. and Mrs. A. V. Vaughn leave tomorrow for Boston, from which city they will sail on the "Winifredian," White Star Line for Liverpool.

Their itinerary includes points in England, Holland, Belgium, Switzerland and France.

Prof. and Mrs. Vaughn expect to return by September eighth.

American Flag Council, No. 28, Jr. O. U. A. M., of Newark, will entertain a large delegation of Juniors of Winona Council, No. 9, of Wilmington, on next Monday evening.

TROT AND TANGO BARRED FROM DANCE

Faculty And Students Cooperate

The Delaware College Faculty on Tuesday afternoon issued a strong statement relative to their position on the question of the fancy dances so much in vogue throughout the country. The action was adopted purely as a precautionary measure, since the position taken by the Faculty is in accord with the sentiment that prevails at Delaware, the students themselves having taken similar action previous to the mid-year dance. The Faculty statement follows:

"In accord with the best sentiment of the community and the action of other institutions of learning, the Faculty of Delaware College will see to it that the coming Commencement dance is not an opportunity for exploiting the vulgar dancing, which, of late, has gained considerable popularity.

Feeling their duty to the community and recognizing their obligations as educators of the young people of the State, they wish to give the widest publicity to the fact that efforts to engage in objectionable dances on that or other occasions in the College buildings will result in ending the dances. The music will be stopped, the lights extinguished and the buildings closed.

It is hoped that a word to the wise will be sufficient. If it is not, College dances at Delaware are likely to be discontinued.

SITE FOR COLLEGE SELECTED

Ground To Be Broken Next Monday

At a meeting of the Affiliated College Commission held in Wilmington on Monday, the Wollaston property was selected as the site for the Woman's College. The property consisting of 18 acres, is the field on Depot Road, directly opposite the Red Men's Home. It is bounded on three sides by public roads and it is understood the Commission will open a street on the northern side, thereby providing a pleasing seclusion.

The decision of the Commission which is understood to have been unanimous, was reached after careful deliberation. Unknown to the general public, landscape architect advice was secured and upon his recommendation was the site selected as the best available, taking into consideration the amount of money available and the utility standpoint of convenience to the College proper and the Farm.

The amount agreed upon was $9,000, which is reckoned as a good bargain. Contrary to impressions in some quarters, no amount was specified in the bill as passed by the General Assembly. The bill provides simply for an annual appropriation of $30,000 for 5 years. This is to be expended on interest, site, buildings, furnishings and equipment, ready to be opened for work September, 1914.

Mrs. A. D. Warner and Prof. Twitmyer, members of the Affiliated College Commission, were appointed to arrange for exercises for breaking ground on Farmers' Day, June 16th. Although the time is short, it is expected that an interesting program will be given, thus bringing the College in tangible form before the people.

PRIZES FOR PLANS

In order to arouse an interest and secure the best possible plans for the buildings, the Commission decided to offer five prizes for the five best sets of plans. Three Hundred Dollars will be the first prize, $250 the second, $200 the third, $150 for the fourth and fifth prizes. All plans to be submitted by July 7th.

Sewer Specifications Delayed

Because of unavoidable delay in issuing the specifications for the installation of the Sewer for Newark, it has been decided to give bidders another week. The bids will be opened on the 25th of June instead of the 18th as at first advertised.

Immediately on awarding the contract, the actual work will be started. The Commission will likely make some provisions in the contract for the completion of the work in a reasonably short time.

Mr. Gilfillan Graduates

J. Earle Gilfillan of Newark is a member of the graduating class from the University of Pennsylvania, whose exercises will be held in the Metropolitan Opera House, Philadelphia, on Wednesday morning, June 18th.

Mr. Gilfillan receives a degree in Veterinary Medicine.

Accident Report Unfounded

The reports circulated last Friday night that Harry Cleaves, in riding from Newark to Elton, had run over a child, inflicting serious injuries are grossly false.

On investigation it was found to be without any semblance of foundation. Mr. Cleaves has had no accident whatever and is at a loss to know how the report started. Investigation made of relatives here this morning showed the report was entirely false. The child was at home, the day in question, and had no experience as related.

Suspiciously incidental to this report, the party who started the story is now at large with warrants out for his arrest on charges of theft.

Crisis Successfully Passed

Mrs. J. R. Chapman, who is ill with typhoid fever at the home of her sister in Baltimore, is improving. Word was received this morning that the crisis was past and the patient will soon be on the road to recovery.

Experiments With Tomato

During the past three years the Horticultural Department has been investigating the influences of various plant foods in growing the tomato crop.

In order to widen the scope of this work and to render it more accurate, the department has had some tanks constructed of galvanized iron. These tanks are two in number, and each is divided into twelve compartments. It is purpose to fill these compartments with a uniform soil and grow one tomato plant in each. These plants will be fed with different combinations of plant food, and the effect upon the tomato plants as to yield, health, vigor, size of fruit, the effect upon the root system, will be carefully noted. Among the common elements of plant foods used will be nitrogen, potash, phosphoric acid, lime and magnesia.

It is hoped that by growing tomatoes in this way, the Station will be able to solve some of the perplexing questions regarding fertilizers for tomatoes. Some of these questions are: Does the tomato need lime? Do Delaware farmers use too much phosphoric acid in their tomato fertilizers? Does a magnesium line have a detrimental effect upon the tomato crop? Does potash make a better canning tomato.

In short, the experiment is an effort to determine the proper practice in fertilizing the tomato crop. It is thought that it will be necessary for the experiment to run at least three years before definite results can be obtained.

WEDDINGS

COLBERT-WOOD.

A pretty wedding was solemnized last Wednesday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Colbert, South Newark, when their daughter, Edna Roberta, was given in marriage to Mr. George S. Wood.

Following the opening chords of the Wedding March, played by Miss Reba Vansant, the wedding party appeared.

The bride was gowned in ivory satin charmuse entrain, and wore a veil of white embroidered tulle. She carried a shower bouquet of bride's roses and lilies of the valley.

The bridesmaids were: Miss Efel Groves of Wilmington, Miss May Chambers, Miss Myra Funk and Miss Helen Moody. Misses Groves and Chambers wore pale blue messaline with chiffon overdresses; Misses Funk and Moody, yellow messaline with rosebud trimming. Miss Florence E. Colbert, sister of the bride, who acted as maid of honor, wore a pink messaline chiffon gown. The ushers were C. Walton Smith of Bridgeville and Alvin Moody of Elton, cousins of the bride. The best man was Carl R. Wood, brother of the groom.

LAFFERTY-GARTLAND.

The wedding of Miss Jane M. Lafferty, daughter of Mr. Charles F. Lafferty, whose summer home is in Maplehurst, near Newark, and Mr. John J. Gartland, Jr., of 504 South Forty-second street, Philadelphia, took place last Friday morning in St. Agatha's Roman Catholic Church, Philadelphia. Rev. Father Michael Donovan performed the ceremony.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, was attired in a handsome gown of white lace and orange blossoms and made with a court train. Her tulle veil was arranged becomingly with a cap of Duchess lace and sprays of orange blossoms. She carried a shower bouquet of lilies of the valley.

Miss Marie Lynch, who was maid of honor, was attired in a beautiful gown of shell pink charmuse with a coat effect of cream colored lace, trimmed with forget-me-nots. She wore a large white straw hat, trimmed with pale blue ribbon, forget-me-nots and pink roses. She carried a bouquet of pink and white sweet peas, tied with blue ribbon.

Mr. Earl Christian was best man. The ushers were Mr. William A. Blair, Mr. Percy Busby, Mr. John Franz and Mr. James Logan. A breakfast and reception at the bride's residence followed the ceremony. After an extended wedding trip Mr. and Mrs. Gartland will reside in New York.

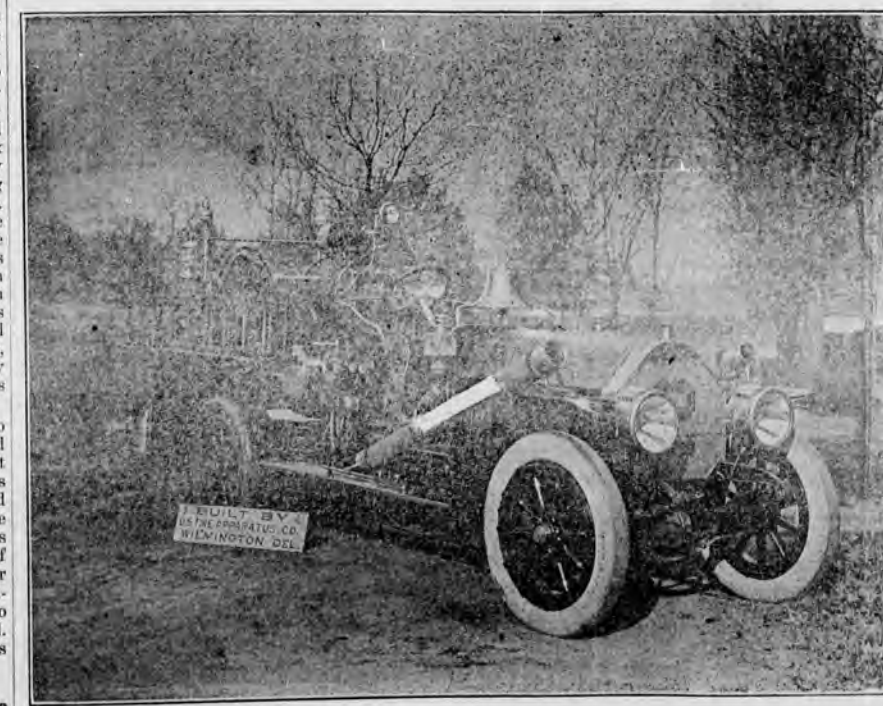

FIREMEN'S CARNIVAL JUNE 30-JULY 5

---NEW ENGINE WHEN COMPLETE MODERN IN EVERY DETAIL---FIREMEN VISIT PLANT

Within a few weeks Newark will have the distinction of being protected from fire by the finest fire fighting apparatus in Delaware. The $9,000 90-horse power combination chemical hose wagon and pumping engine being built by the United States Fire Apparatus Company of Wilmington for the Aetna Hose, Hook and Ladder builders early this week and inspected the new apparatus. While the machine is not completed and is not put together yet, all the details of the car were thoroughly explained to the delegation by John T. Lally, president of the building company. The delegation was delighted with the apparatus and the fine work being done on it by the

THE ENGINE AS IT WILL APPEAR WHEN COMPLETE.

Company will be completed by that time. As a matter of fact the machine is to be near enough completed by the last of this month to be on exhibition during the Carnival to be given by the local fire company which opens on June 30, but it will be taken back to the shop after the Carnival to receive the finishing touches.

A delegation of Newark firemen headed by E. Clifford Wilson and A. L. Beals, visited the plant of the builders. While the new fire fighter will naturally give additional protection to Newark, the benefits will be even greater to the many farmers, mill owners, etc., in the vicinity of the town. It will mean that with the numerous good roads leading to Newark, the automobile engine can reach any point within five miles of the town in not more than 10 minutes after being notified of a fire. This practically brings the latest improved city fire protection engine. By having a number of members who can operate the machine there will be practically no delay during either day or night in case of a call for assistance from a nearby point.

The chemical tank is of 40 gallons capacity and can be charged in two minutes, so that even should there be no stream near the fire the machine is well equipped to cope with the ordinary fire without putting on a plug stream.

HOW EVERY WOMAN MAY HELP SAFEGUARDING THE FACTORY AND HOME

To enlist every woman in America in the fight for safe and fair conditions in the factories and shops of the land is the ambition of the National Consumers' League, organized by an energetic little woman of Boston about thirteen years ago.

The "Woman's Home Companion" for June in an interesting article by Constance D. Leupp puts the question to every reader: "Will you make it the motto of your town that there is not one minute to lose?"

The story connected with the motto runs as follows:

The late Carroll D. Wright, while Commissioner of Labor in 1899, received a visitor from Boston who unfolded a plan by which the sweat-shop industry with its injustice and menace to the health of the land, might be checked. The Commissioner listened patiently to the plan. "That is a splendid idea, of course," he said, "but do you realize that to accomplish anything by that method would take at least one hundred years?"

"One hundred years!" the lady exclaimed. "Then plainly there is not one minute to lose." She hurried back to her home and organized the National Consumers' League, which from that day to this has labored in behalf of the betterment of the working girls. Their method has been so simple that even the busy working women themselves may share in the movement and no thinking woman will fail to support it.

The weapon used is a tiny label whose presence on the garment the shopper buys is a guarantee that the article has been well and cleanly made by workers surrounded with conditions in keeping with the spirit that prompted the idea.

It is estimated that there are today in New York City more than one hundred sweat shop industries. These have grown out of the crowded conditions in the tenements following the great wave of immigration that has brought newcomers to our land by the millions during the last twenty-five years. With this congestion in the poorer districts has come a class of women, in many instances the old or invalids, who are glad to increase the income in any way. This opportunity the manufacturer, anxious to reduce the cost of production, has been eager to seize. A manufacturer owning a small factory and employing a half dozen girls to run power machines and do stitching during the day may turn out quantities of work in every twenty-four hours by following this method. The girls going to their homes in the evenings carry the underwear for ribbing or the men's coats for felting. These articles are distributed among the neighbors who work far into the night inserting ribbon, working button holes, etc., so that the finished garments may be delivered on the following day. The manufacturer is in reality employing fifty persons but paying for the rent, light, heat, cleaning, etc. for a factory that accommodates only six. Do we catch the secret of the cheap garment over which we exclaim in such surprise?

The conscientious buyer from the department store who insists on seeing the workrooms where the clothing is made is shown only the light and airy factory. He catches no glimpse of the one dark crowded room, which serves as bed-room, dining-room, kitchen and living-room in general for a family of well and invalids. He does not guess that the hand-work and ribbing has come laden with the germs from these dirty bed-rooms and kitchens. How many epidemics might be explained if he had seen all the workrooms through which the garments had gone!

The matter has proven a hard one to regulate. The factory inspector cannot force his way into the home, neither can the guardian of the child labor law. An attempt to pass laws to prohibit this tenement work, on the ground of protecting the public health, was made in 1884. The bill passed the New York Legislature, but was later pronounced unconstitutional and void, and the result of this judicial decision has been so far-reaching as to check all similar legislation.

The History Of Cecil County

(From Cecil Co. News, April 30.) Active work was begun this week by the editorial board and staff, in the preparation of the new and completely illustrated History of Cecil County—Her People at Home and Abroad. The Town Council room on North street, Elkton, is being used as the central office and branches will soon be opened in different towns of the county. The editorial board is made up of prominent men from the various sections of the county, and already a subscription list has been secured sufficient to assure the success of the enterprise. The publication will illustrate the wonderful advantages of Cecil County, and record Cecil's history fully and thoroughly from the early settlement right down to the present time.

Since the organization of the National Consumers' League many gains have been made in behalf of the American working woman. Their activities have extended beyond the sweat-shop to the girl behind the counter by bringing home to the shoppers of the country the idea that it is they who are responsible for the conditions under which the articles are made and sold. The state leagues have persuaded the public to do their Christmas shopping early.

"They have persuaded merchants that it pays to give their clerks shorter hours, wages on which they can live properly, half holidays on Saturdays in summer and a vacation with pay. They have made white lists of stores where conditions are best, and have persuaded their sympathizers to patronize only these stores."

"The National Consumers' League has won in the Supreme Court of the United States a decision settling for all time that it is constitutional for the states to pass laws in defense of working women; that is, a recognition before the law that women cannot, for the safety of the race, labor any number of hours they please, or their employers please, in competition with men."

Following close on the heels of this Supreme Court decision, they triumphantly steered through the legislatures of many states laws restricting the employment of women in stores, factories, laundries and hotels to eight, nine, or ten hours a day. Such a law protects the right-minded employer in his desire to give his employees a proper working day, because it compels his competitors also to regulate their shops according to restrictions which the best medical advice has pronounced essential to the health of working women.

"They have made painstaking studies of the actual effect upon the human system of continual fatigue, and in the course of time they will doubtless convince even the most skeptical employers that it actually pays in better product and more of it to have a shop full of workers who come with the zest of good health each morning instead of dragging themselves in, spent and worn from the overtime work of the previous day."

The Consumers' League is established in 18 states and the District of Columbia, our own Delaware being represented in the number. Membership in the League requires:

1. The payment of small annual dues, usually one dollar. (Dues are used for printing and postage, to get more members.)
2. A resolution never to shop on Saturday afternoons or after five o'clock on any day unless absolutely necessary.
3. To do all Christmas shopping before December 15th.
4. To discourage tradespeople from making deliveries after six in the evening.
5. To avoid placing hurry orders with tailors, dress-makers, and milliners.
6. Always, when buying women's white underwear, to demand garments bearing the Consumers' League label.

The experience following the organization of a League by the women of Oregon may be repeated anywhere. The demand for labeled goods became so positive that the buyers for the white goods departments were forced to write the factory in Massachusetts. The manufacturer telegraphed to New York for a representative of the Consumers' League to visit the factory and state the requirements necessary for the use of the label. Better sanitary arrangements, fire protection, non-employment of girls under sixteen, ten hours a day even in rush season, no work finished at home was the verdict. The big manufacturer in order to satisfy his far-away patron was compelled to make good. In spite of temporary inconveniences in not one instance was it necessary to advance the price of the goods.

Suppose every woman in America should register a determination to make this simple but effective effort to better conditions in the factories and shops? Could the battle not be won within one year?

Every interest of the county will be treated and pictures inserted of all historic places, rivercourses, industries, etc. The section devoted to sketches of the people of the county, at home and abroad, will be a special feature.

Already a large collection of views and data has been made, and all persons of the county who can help in any way are requested to call at the headquarters in Council Hall, Elkton, or correspond with the publisher, Victor Torbert. Those desiring the history should send in their subscription orders at once. Along with this project is being organized the Cecil County Historical Society.

Inspector Assumes Duty July First

Miss Mary S. Malone, the new inspector in compliance with the ten hour law, will begin her work of looking after and improving the welfare of 15,000 working women and girls in this state on July 1st.

Her duties will force her to travel over 2300 square miles of territory, and Miss Malone declares the law will be enforced. She will have jurisdiction over all industries in Delaware that employ females except canning factories.

Delaware has a woman factory inspector but never before has it had a ten-hour law for women on its statute books. The law was only passed after a hard fight at one stage of which supporters gave up hope. It is modeled after the Maryland law.

Miss Malone comes of Quaker stock. She is a graduate of Smith College, having graduated eight years ago and is now first vice-president of the People's Settlement. Since her graduation she has been engaged in sociological work. Her campaign at the start will be one of education. Her initial task will be to place postcards at all industries affected by the new law. She will ask the co-operation of all employers and employees.

If an effort is made to evade the law there will be prosecutions. Under the new law the maximum weekly toil of women and girls will be fifty-five hours.

School Display At State Fair

Final arrangements were completed last Friday for the school display at the Delaware State Fair, September 9 to 12 inclusive. Altogether there will be about 2,000 feet of this work. Each school will have its specimens mounted together and then the whole will be mounted in a logical sequence showing the evolution of the studies. This will be the first time in the history of the city that all of the work of the public schools will be shown in one place and at the same time. Heretofore it has been necessary, either from a lack of space or desirable central quarters, to make such a showing, and the instructors at the various schools are more than delighted to have this opportunity to make such an exhibit.

One Tree's Large Yield

Over 200 quarts of "Early Richmond" cherries were picked last week from one tree on the Thomas Meclary farm near this place. After reserving enough for the family supply the remainder was disposed of, netting nearly twenty dollars.

The Summer School for Teachers at Delaware College

Will begin Tuesday, June 24, 1913, and will be open five weeks.

Monday June 23 is registration day and all are urged to be present on that date so that arrangements may be made to begin work on Tuesday morning. A bulletin will be published as soon as the courses are arranged, giving full particulars of courses, instructors, text-books, board, accommodations, etc. Tuition is free to all students.

THE CHAUTAUQUA MOVEMENT IN ELKTON

SPLENDID PROGRAM OFFERED

Most of the larger towns of Delaware, with those of adjoining counties in Maryland are enjoying Chautauqua week as planned by the Chautauqua Association of Swarthmore, Pa. Newark has been unable to consider this proposition since the program is offered during June, when the community is at the height of preparation for the Commencement exercises of the schools and college. Her citizens are fortunate, however, in having one of the large tents only six miles away, in Elkton, Md., where the program opened on Monday afternoon, to continue until Saturday evening.

Henry M. McCullough, chairman of the Elkton Chautauqua Committee, opened the session with explanatory remarks regarding the purchase of tickets. The speaker urged the people to support this educational feature which is aiming to gain a foothold in the community. Dr. Jesse H. Holmes, of Swarthmore College, who is platform superintendent for the entire week, gave some interesting data concerning the movement. The stockholders who subscribed funds for the venture are public-spirited gentlemen, whose idea is far removed from personal gain. All the returns are to be invested in strengthening this movement toward the establishment of an American forum where our national problems may be threshed out before the American public. As a matter of fact there were no profits last year—the first, this, however, is regarded in no way discouraging as the successful institution cannot be the outcome of a day. The stockholders, however, have agreed that they will never accept profits exceeding four percent, all surplus to be used for the edification and betterment of the original plan.

This season there are 102 towns on the Swarthmore Chautauqua list. It is not intended to include so many permanently—the present instance being largely a test to find in which towns the movement can be made the greatest success. The policy is sincerely stated from the platform. It only remains for the people of the community, by their patronage, to register their desire for the future.

The entertainers and lecturers represent the best the American platform affords, all offered at a price which is easily within the reach of the mass of the people. No community can fail to be better from contact with the forceful personalities represented on the program. From the big Chautauqua tent goes forth inspiration and enthusiasm which will be registered on the life of the community in an awakened civic consciousness and an ambition for usefulness.

The complete program for the week follows:

SCHEDULE FOR SATURDAY.
Providence at Iron Hill.
Strickersville at Newark.
Bay View at Appleton.

The Iron Hill team won from Newark on Saturday by a score of 7 to 6. The game was long drawn out, taking 2 hours and 15 minutes to complete it, and was featured by many errors. In the 7th inning, with the score 7 to 3 in favor of Iron Hill, the visitors made a rally making a fair bid to tie the score having the bases full and two down. E. Dawson made a 2-base hit which took an ugly bound over S. Slack's head. That ended the scoring for the game for both sides.

Davis made practically the same hit in the 5th inning, Iron Hill scoring 5 runs before the side was retired. Short had a good day at bat, having 3 slashing singles to his credit.

RE-ELECTION OF HOWELL

In the re-election of Mayor Howell on Saturday, New Castle County, all Delaware, as well as Wilmington, has reason for congratulation. The honor conferred on him in his first election was founded on opinion of the man and promise; his re-election is founded on actual worth, tried out, and fact. It is indeed no small honor and his administration won it.

Without pretense or bombast, he has given Wilmington a creditable administration and has done much to bring her to a realization of her possibilities. Safe, sane, progressive—are terms that can well be applied to his term in office and by co-operation with him, we believe that Wilmington can go far in assuming her proper place among the eastern cities. Not only do we believe that Wilmington is fortunate but the whole State as well. In all the city movements, toward closer co-operation with the lower counties, he has been in hearty accord and has taken more than ordinary interest.

We look for big things in Wilmington during the next few years and in Mayor Howell, we believe she has a worthy asset toward their execution.

PUT WIRES UNDER GROUND

Unwisely poles and overhanging wires detract from the appearance of any street. Existing conditions in this respect have been subject of discussion for years. All agree that the wires should be placed underground and the reason for this neglect has been the hesitancy of tearing up the streets for this improvement.

Now that the streets will be torn up in laying the Sewer, Council can add much to the present and future appearance of the town by authorizing all wires to be placed underground. This is the opportunity time. It is likely that Council will make permanent improvements to Main street next Spring, thus practically preventing this improvement for several years.

We believe we are correct in expressing the opinion of the citizens when we make this suggestion. Action should be taken as soon as possible in order that the companies operating lines here could have ample time to conform with the request.

CLEAN UP A BIT

Beginning Sunday morning, Newark will be the center of State interest during the next week. Visitors, more of them than usual, will be in town and to us comes the duty of preparing for these honored guests and making our best impression.

As introductory to the hearty welcome accorded them, let's do a little extra town cleaning on Saturday. By a general sweeping-up out front, we can do much toward presenting a better appearance. Our Street Committee would do well to give the gutters a little extra flushing on Saturday morning. The Sprinkler man must realize that it is Commencement and Gala week for Newark. Then the Boy Scouts can set good example by seeing to it that their friends remember the waste paper cans on the street and urge their use.

This applies to everybody, ourselves included. Let's put on a little extra touch for Commencement company.

HIGH STANDARD MAINTAINED

The favorable reputation and character of the dance at Delaware College will be maintained. Such is the statement given out by the Faculty yesterday afternoon. As will be seen in another column the Faculty has taken a strong attitude on the subject of the Turkey Trot, Tango and the like, and has stated in no uncertain terms, its position.

This stand has been taken, not because of any previous trouble at College functions, but merely as a precautionary measure. In many of the dances held recently throughout the State, the grace and dignity of the floor has been disgraced by these semi-barbaric displays and this action is to see to it that the like is not attempted here.

The Commencement Hop at Delaware is one of the social functions of the State, and grace and propriety have always been dominant features. Not only has this been a matter of pride among the College officials but among the students as well. In the coming dance we anticipate nothing else but that the students will see to it that the Farewell Hop is kept at its present pleasing standard.

To every student of the College comes the duty to see that no guest so forgets himself to attempt to bring discredit to his Alma Mater. By this statement from the Faculty, along with the recent action of the students, condemning the Trot, we can all feel proud in the fact that Delaware adheres strongly to the grace and dignity of the dance—and stamps as ostracized any one daring to bring shame to her name.

GRANTHAM IN DEMAND

There are some men who ought to be allowed to go when they hold out for more money. One of these, however, is not Professor Grantham, agronomist at Delaware College. He should not be released by the state of Delaware unless he wants to go to take the lucrative position offered. With the work he is accomplishing among the farmers in this state, who would vote no when a few hundred dollars would keep him? We believe the people of Delaware made a mistake in letting a now notable agronomist go at the very time this state needed an agronomist. What is the use of Delaware boasting of her pride as a state, her leadership among the States, if she is going to give up her best men to other states as fast as she develops them, and then expect to interest and keep at home her boys?

Professor Grantham is a modest young man, not afraid of work or of weather or even of soiling his hands or clothes to carry out his corn growing, his persistence in pushing alfalfa and his efforts for better wheat have already amounted to much more than the little difference in the salary paid elsewhere and the bare living offered him here.

The development of our agriculture, raising "ten more bushels to the acre," for instance, is either worth nothing or it is a big thing, worth much more than can be measured by one man's salary.

Firemen's Carnival June 30 to July 5

To meet the cost of this engine the fire company is asking for contributions not only from the property owners of Newark but also the farmers and others having property in the rural districts near Newark. As the latter will be the ones especially benefited the firemen anticipate liberal financial help from that source and in fact some contributions have already started to come in. Under the circumstances the committee of the fire company is anxious that all persons who intend to do so make their contributions as soon as possible. There are in the vicinity of Newark several hundred farmers and a number of mill owners who are fully able to assist considering the protection that they will get and it is from these that substantial assistance is expected. The property owners of Newark, however, are also urged to make liberal contributions.

The new machine is patterned after the combination engine that the Reliance Company of Wilmington purchased from the same company some months ago, but it has many improvements over the former machine and some of the equipment is arranged differently, which adds to the efficiency of the fire fighter. The finish decided on by the committee, it is thought, will greatly add to the attractiveness of the machine. Many of the parts are to be finished in maroon and gold and the running gear and wheels in red and gold.

While the machine will be 90 horse power, it will be able to develop 110. The pump capacity will be 700 gallons a minute. One of the noticeable improvements over the Reliance machine is that it will have a frame of alloy steel while the former has a wood frame. Some of the details of the equipment of the machine as included in the specifications are as follows:

Motor, six cylinder, four cycle, water cooled, cylinders cast separately, 5 1/2 inch stroke, 5 3/4 inch bore, carburetor, float feed, single jet, water jacketed, automatic air control, and can be flushed from front of car. Springs, semi-elliptic, front and rear with rebound clip construction.

Both the front and rear axle is of the highest grade of alloy steel, solid forging. The brakes are internal expanding on rear wheels. External contracting on counter-shaft. The wheel base is 144 inches and wheels of artillery type of selected second growth hickory.

The tires are solid cushion, 40 by 4 1/2 inches, single in front and dual in rear. The spark and throttle control is above 18-inch steering wheel. There is a foot accelerator. The automobile equipment is complete with two electric headlights, two combination air and electric side lamps, two batteries, one for lighting system and one for ignition, with numerous tools and extra parts.

The hose reel will carry 1000 feet of 2 1/2 inch fire hose properly mounted on chassis and is so arranged as to operate with power from engine. As stated, there is a 40-gallon seamless drawn chemical tank of Lake Superior copper, equipped with Novo acid jar and holder, with Lally quick opening and self-packing top. The chemical hose reel will be mounted near the chemical tank and will carry 200 feet of special 4-ply chemical hose. There will be two soda bags, two acid receptacle holders and 3 gallon hand extinguishers of brake bottle type.

The ladder equipment will consist of one 20-foot extension ladder; one 12-foot roof ladder and one 12-foot ladder and one pike pole.

The water pump will be a rotary, arranged to work from main shaft of engine, 700 gallons capacity per minute through 100 feet of hose at 120 pounds pressure. The pump will be so arranged that either suction or discharge can be taken from either side.

Frogtown Defeats Deandale

An interesting game of ball was played at Frogtown last Saturday afternoon, when the South Chapel street team defeated Deandale to the tune of 2 to 1.

The burning building was completely surrounded by frame buildings, built close together, making the situation a dangerous one. About 10 a. m. on Saturday, fire broke out in the house which was badly damaged. Mrs. Rutter telephoned Mrs. Maurer who, she said, told her to pack up what furniture she could save and get out. Governor Miller has offered a reward of $100 for the capture of George Dutton, a negro desperado, hailing from Middletown, who, just as he had won a game of crap along the public road, near Greenwood on June 1, saw Arnold Tennant, colored, of Bridgeville, approaching and remarking, "Here comes a nigger I'm going to kill," fired four bullets from a revolver at him, killing him in his tracks. Dutton fled another revolver and hurried away, escaping on a passing freight train. He appeared near Smullen's Crossing on Tuesday and a posse beat the woods in search of him but without result. At last accounts he was still at large and supposed to be hiding in Ivy Swamp in Caroline county, Md. Dutton is said to have boasted that he carried two bullets in his body received during a quarrel over crap at Newark. He formerly worked for J. W. McAllister, of Elkton, where he also was in trouble, and is thought to be affected with homicidal mania.

The commission set its value at $50,000 and made like reductions on the other properties. Appeals will be heard today.

The Court of Oyer and Terminer at Wilmington last week, set aside the State's motion to vacate the order for a new trial for Charles B. Naylor, of Townsend, found guilty of murder in the second degree in shooting Earlvil Francis in January last. Naylor's brother, George, his new witness, died at Farnhurst on May 17, but made an affidavit covering his proposed testimony. The case was continued until the next term of court.

During a quarrel at a baseball game in Christiana Park, Wilmington, on Saturday, Earl Storm, aged 16 years, struck Martin Welsh, aged 16, in the mouth with his fist. Welsh, it is stated, got up, grabbed a bat and struck Storm on the head, knocking him senseless. Storm was taken to Delaware Hospital, where physicians think his skull is fractured. Welsh surrendered and pleads self-defense.

The Republican-National Progressive fusion ticket won in the Wilmington City election on Saturday, including Mayor Harrison W. Howell, William P. White, president of council, and James F. Price, city treasurer. James H. Morris, Republican, and Eugene M. Sayers, Democrat, were chosen assessors in the northern and southern districts. The Democrats elected five of the twelve members of Council. John Hopkins, colored Republican, won in the Sixth ward. Francis I. duPont, Bull Moose candidate for Mayor, polled upwards of 2500 votes, drawing largely from the Democratic front. Recovery of the Delaware water front, submitted on referendum, carried by a large majority.

Active preparations are now in progress for the meeting of the Peninsula Horticultural Society at Easton, Maryland, next January. The best fruit growers of the Peninsula will explain how they have succeeded in making their farms genuine garden spots, and some of the most noted horticulturists of the county, both practical and scientific, will be present to give addresses and engage in the discussions.

The exhibition of fruit and vegetables will no doubt be the best ever given on the Peninsula, even eclipsing that held in Wilmington last winter. Cash prizes amounting to about $1500 will be offered. There are some thirty varieties of apples of recognized value and each of these will receive prizes as boxes and as plates, and some of them as barrels and other form of packaging. The first prize for the best box of apples of each variety will be $5; the second prize $3, and the third $2, or $10 for each variety. This will amount to some $300. In addition the best single box of apples will receive $25, the second $15 and the third $10. The best three boxes will receive $15, $10 and $5. The best five boxes will receive $25, $15 and $10. The best ten boxes will receive $50, $20 and $15. In other words more than $500 will be given for boxes alone.

The complete premium list will be issued in a short time. In addition to these cash prizes many special prizes will probably be offered. The Delaware Nurseries, at Milford, has sent in the first offer, namely, 20 worth of nursery stock; and Gen. Joseph B. Seth of Easton, a member of the executive committee, offers $10 for the best Martin house exhibited at the meeting, made by a boy. The house must contain not less than fourteen compartments and not more than twenty. Beauty and workmanship will be considered in awarding the prize. This prize is offered to encourage boys to make Martin houses and to encourage farmers to put them up.

Good Advice For Farmers

In a talk to growers recently, R. F. B. Woodall of Milford particularly advocated a more general cultivation of sweet potatoes. He said, among other things:

"The Delaware peninsula is blessed with small streams on which steamers ply between the large centers and the farm lands, thus making the freight rates practically nothing. When the potato industry is developed hundreds of buyers will come here to buy the crop. Canneries ought to be more generally supported and petitioned for by the farmers, for these offer means of disposing of large acreages of small fruits and produce when the city markets are glutted. In addition the freight charges, costs of baskets and crates and cartage charges are done away with. And while there are already hundreds of tomato and pea canneries in lower Delaware, it is now time that industries which will can strawberries, blackberries, pears, small peaches, apples, pumpkins, beans, corn and other vegetables should be encouraged."

"For instance, I have found that the blackberry called the Lovett can be grown with much satisfaction and can be canned equally as satisfactorily. I grow it now quite extensively and all of my berries find a ready purchaser from the Torsch factory at Milford, where they paid me last year $2 a crate, and I grow 100 crates to the acre. Now if we encourage more canneries for these undoubtedly we could grow them profitably at 50 crates to the acre, and even though the price were cut to $1.50 a crate. It makes a fine and highly esteemed preserve. This blackberry is a heavy producer and comes into bearing between seasons."

Farmers' Day At Delaware College

Everyone in Delaware, Maryland, New Jersey and Pennsylvania who is interested in any phase of agriculture is cordially invited to attend the Sixth Annual Farmers' Day at the State Farm, Newark, Del., on Monday, June 16, 1913.

The trustees of the College are making every effort to have the coming Farmers' Day more interesting and more attractive than any of the previous occasions. Aside from the exhibit of the work of instruction and experimentation that is carried on at the State Farm, the demonstrations that have been arranged, and the speakers that have been engaged will be unusually attractive.

In spite of the backward season Prof. Grantham will be able to demonstrate a large number of valuable lessons that have been learned from 500 plots in the Agronomy field. The wheat and clover rotation and fertility experiments all bear testimony of the thought and care that have been put upon them, and show for themselves what effect may be expected from a given cause under given conditions.

In the orchards there are over 550 varieties of fruit under cultivation. The different methods that have been used in fertilization, tilling and pruning are now producing definite results that are of incalculable benefit to the fruit growers of the Delaware-Chesapeake Peninsula.

The barns are full of different breeds of live stock. Some of the animals are superior in merit, including cows that have produced over one ton of milk in 40 days, and others that have made nearly 500 lbs. of butter in a little over 300 days. It is expected that a cow judging contest will be arranged, with suitable prizes for the successful competitors.

One of the most attractive demonstrations will be that of farm tractors. Arrangements have been made to have at least two, and perhaps three different makes of farm tractors suitable for Delaware conditions, give a demonstration of ploughing and tilling both in the open and in orchards. It is expected that this demonstration will be of great value to those who are contemplating the substitution of gasoline or oil for a part of their horse power.

The speakers of the day have not all been definitely engaged yet. Governor Miller has promised to be present, and tentative promises have been obtained from the Gov-trepid, enters the trap door with a motorcycle. To ride the ordinary bicycle in the globe is one thing, but to be able to control a motorcycle, a machine much heavier, and much more difficult to handle, in a confined space, is quite another proposition. To give an idea of what a feat it is, we want to state that Ce'Dora is the only woman in the world that accomplishes this feat. Perhaps there are a few women who ride a motorcycle on the road, and there are a few men who ride it in the "Globe of Death," but no other woman has had the temerity to attempt to ride the motorcycle in the "Globe of Death." As soon as she is inside the globe, she mounts the machine and begins to wind the spiral around the limited confines of the sphere. Ce'Dora rides more and more parallel to the globe's Equator as the speed of the motor increases. Finally, at full speed, which is nearly 50 miles an hour, Ce'Dora, like the downward rush of an eagle after its prey, dives to the bottom of the globe to dart up the other side and pass over or rather under the exact top of the sphere. Again and again does Ce'Dora repeat this seemingly impossible feat, dashing up and down inside the globe, overcoming, by her great speed, the laws of gravitation. No doubt sensations will come and go, but there is only one woman doing this sensation of sensations, and that woman is Ce'Dora.

Speak Distinctly When Telephoning

Many errors in telephone calls are due to indistinct enunciation and to the confusion of numbers which sound so much alike over the telephone—for example: Eighty-three and thirty-three, seven and eleven.

In calling a number speak plainly with your lips close to the telephone mouthpiece. Separate the number as one-two-oh-three. Correct the operator if she repeats the wrong number.

Never take a number from a card or memorandum, for numbers are occasionally changed. The current issue of the directory is the surest—the only guide.

Arranging For Carnival Parade

The Firemen's Carnival will be opened on June 30, by a grand parade, in which will appear the leading fire companies of the near-by towns, their engines, etc., also many beautifully decorated automobiles, for which there are prizes offered of $5.00 and $2.50 for the first and second best.

Special attractions are being arranged for the Fourth of July, among which are a number of features to appeal to the children.

The Committee is ever alert to the possibilities of profiting by the experience of past years. A number of changes will be made. Those in charge of the Baby Show are trying to arrange to hold this popular contest in the Hose House, in order to guarantee cooler and more comfortable quarters for the little ones than the tent offered last year.

The Cake Committee will include in the delicacies offered for sale all kinds of home made pastry as well as bread and rolls.

Without any attempt at advertising it can well be said that this year's Carnival promises to be the greatest Newark has yet seen.

BASE BALL NEWS

In one of the most exciting games ever played on the Newark grounds between Newark and Elkton, on a squeeze play in the eighth inning Elkton succeeded in scoring the only run during the game.

Brickley of the Elkton team was injured in the first inning and had to retire for the rest of the game.
W. Scott taking his place, played a very creditable game. The features of the game were the all around playing of Beatty and Johnson and the pitching of Hogan, striking out 13 batters. The score:

Newark 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0—0-41
Elkton 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 1—1-32

All the home clubs in the Tri-County League were shut out.
Hogan certainly should have won his game.

Beatty plays a good game at third. We wonder if the Gas Co.
misses him?

Johnson accepted five chances without an error.

Marney has not been able to connect with the ball yet. But wait awhile.

Iron Hill got to Lovett in the fifth inning, but Gray put the crimp in them.

Manager should give Gray another trial in the box. He seems to have the goods and knows how to deliver them, too.
