

To: Alice Ruth Moore
Brooklyn
From: Paul H. Dunbar

(1)

LIBRARY OF CONGRESS.

Washington Feb. 5th 98 Department.

My Darling:-

You are a dear little monkey. Your letter came and made me laugh when I was just in a most sadly sentimental mood and was enjoying my melancholic thrills immensely. The description of your jaw bids is bully, but you shan't come near me without being disinfected. I know for I have had some varied experiences with juvs. Confound it! I suddenly run my hand into my pocket and draw forth the letter I wrote to you yesterday and I did so want you to have it to day. It munched me all out. I could cry and I won't write

LIBRARY OF CONGRESS

Department of

(2)

LIBRARY OF CONGRESS.

Department.

any more now. But I will send it by special delivery.

Your Disappointed Husband.
I wanted you to have it on the anniversary.

LIBRARY OF CONGRESS

Department

Working paper
for the committee on the
H. and W. H. H.