200 Conscripted Men Training in Newark

Sent from Pennsylvania by War
Department to take Special
Industrial Courses

Classes for the two hundred conscripted men who arrived at Delaware College Monday and yesterday for special training under the auspices of the War Department, were started today and will continue during the eight weeks that this contingent remains.

All the men are from Pennsylvania and were sent here because they are especially fitted for this training. Many of them are college men and all seem already to be well pleased with their surroundings. While they will be under military discipline all day they will have each evening from 6 to 10 o'clock to themselves. The schedule calls for a busy day for the men. They will have to get up at 6 o'clock each morning and will have breakfast at 6.30 o'clock in Old College Hall. Classes will start soon after breakfast and from then until supper most every minute will be taken up with classes and lectures. Most of the men are taking a course in gas engine work the Newark Garage having been taken over by the government to be used as the shop for this work.

Captain Camp and two lieutenants have been sent here by the War Department to have charge of the men and they were also joined yesterday by a Medical Officer. Regular drill periods have been provided for on the schedule. Yesterday the men were drilled in overalls and jumpers which the government has provided for them to wear when working in the shops. Their uniforms will arrive later. About 125 of the men have sleeping quarters in Company E Armory and the remainder in the college gymnasium. Every thing possible is being done for their comfort and to make their stay in (Continued on Page 2)

WORK OR FIGHT

Adjutant General Issues Additional Instructions

Additional instructions concerning the operation of the "work or fight" order, which goes into effect on July 1st, have now been received by the local boards of exemption from the office of the adjutant general.

The instructions may be summarized as follows: Managers, clerks or cooks who do not themselves serve food or drink in public places, are not classed as "waiters," and do not come under the ruling, and will not be disturbed in their positions.

Bell-boys and porters (except those engaged in heavy work) come under the ruling.

Actual performers in legitimate concerts, operas and theatrical performances do not come under the ruling, which does, however, apply to "all persons engaged and occupied in games, sports and amusements."

Public and private chauffeurs who devote their whole time to this occupation do not come under the ruling.

Office clerks are under the ruling as well as sales clerks.

The assistance of the Federal Employment Service will be given in obtaining new situations, in productive industries, for those who come under the ruling and are obliged to relinquish their present situations.

It is expected that some time will elapse before the many and various angles of the matter are fully straightened out. In the meantime, it is not anticipated that such men as are likely to be included in current quotas, of which one or two are scheduled for the month of July, will be disturbed in their present positions.

Guild Holds Meeting

The Guild of St. Thomas Church at a meeting Monday night made final plans for the picnic which will be taken to Augustine Park on July 24. Following the business meeting refreshments were served and the remainder of the evening spent in playing games.

NEWARK PLAYS HOST TO SOLDIERS

Books and Magazines Wanted

As an expression of the interest of the community in the soldier-mechanics who have encamped in Newark for instruction, two social centers are being prepared for their use and enjoyment,—the Century Club, and the Assembly Room in Old College, on the Delaware College Campus. The Century Club is to be converted into a hostess house, the Assembly Room into a reading and writing room and lounge.

At the Club the men will be invited to meet mothers, sisters, sweethearts, and other women friends or relatives; and the women of the Club are busy making their house ready as a place where these visitors may be entertained hospitably, and be assured of a warm reception and thoughtful attention to their comfort and well-being. Members of the Club are volunteering to act as chaperons. The hostess house is to be open every evening from 6.30 p. m. until 10, and on Saturday afternoons and Sundays, when the men will have week-end leave. They will be (Continued on Page 2)

Another Soldier Killed

Near Newark

Monday afternoon as a troop train was passing on the Pennsylvania railroad one of the men on it met with a horrible death. He was standing with his foot evidently hanging over. As the train passed alongside the iron fence between the tracks at Iron Hill, Md., a short distance from here, the man's foot caught in the top of the fence. He was dragged loose from the car and whirled along the top of the fence and beyond, perhaps fifty feet in all, then dropping to the ground. When picked up his body was found to be badly mutilated. The top of his head was cut off, his left arm amputated and both feet cut off.

When the train reached Newark it was stopped and a sergeant and two men returned on a work train to take charge of the body. They said their unfortunate comrade was Albert Jackson of North Dakota, but they knew nothing more about him. Jackson was a member of the Medical Corps and he and the others were bound for Philadelphia. The sergeant and the two men awaited the arrival of the coroner and then took charge of the body and joined the other men later.

Major Miller In Line for Service Overseas

Major Thomas W. Miller, of Wilmington, former Congressman from Delaware, has been assigned under orders from the Secretary of War to the staff of Major General Joseph E. Kuhn, commanding the 79th Division of the National Army now in training at Camp Meade, Md., for service overseas.

Major Miller is the Division Ordnance Officer on General Kuhn's staff and in that capacity is responsible for all matters pertaining to the artillery, ammunition and other ordnance equipment for an infantry division of twenty-five thousand men.

Chapman's Sold to Philadelphia Firm

The J. R. Chapman Store has been purchased by a Philadelphia concern and will be opened today under the name of Newark Department Store. Mr. Chapman is retiring from active business. Coming to Newark several years ago when he purchased the business of Theodore Armstrong, he soon became recognized as a leader in the business. Later he purchased the present property, completely remodeling the building, making it one of the high class stores in town. Without the dramatic business, he has built up a large clientele, recognized as the best. There was an atmosphere about the store that was dignified and refreshing. "Select" seemed always to be the slogan.

The new firm has acquired more than ordinary goodwill and their coming will be watched with the usual good-old rural interest.

Summer School Opens Monday

Patriotic Training Course for Teachers to be Given

The regular session of the Delaware College Summer School will open at Newark next Monday, July 8. All classes will be held at Science Hall of the Women's College, and meals will be served in the dining rooms of Residence Hall. In this way the activities of the school will be concentrated so that a minimum of walking will be necessary. Everything points to a successful session.

The session this year will be characterized by many special and unusually attractive features. The attempt has been made to make the school function in the very largest way in meeting the needs of the teachers of this region during this period of great national crisis.

A Patriotic Training Course for Teachers, consisting of eight lectures, will be given during the third and fourth weeks of July. The Honorable Adolph O. Eberhart, formerly governor of the state of Minnesota, possessing a national reputation as statesman and patriot, will deliver four of these lectures. The other four will be given by Professor J. Vincent Crowne of the College of the City of New York, a man eminently qualified for this type of endeavor. The Demonstration School, under the immediate direction of Mr. (Continued on Page 2)

LET US HAVE YOUR CO-OPERATION

In an endeavor to compile an accurate list of all men from this community now in the army or navy, the Post asks that names be forwarded to this office by the nearest relatives and friends. We wish to list all men whose home post office is Newark. If your boy is in any branch of the service kindly let us know about it. The boys as well as the community will appreciate your co-operation.

PATRIOTIC SERVICES AT HEAD OF CHRISTIANA

Henry M. McCullough Makes Address

Historic old Head of Christiana Church, from whose pulpit the doctrines of Christianity and Americanism have been preached throughout all the wars in which this country as a nation has been engaged, was the scene of an impressive patriotic service last Sunday morning. Special speeches, special music and the presentation of a beautiful American flag by the Sewing Society of the Church were features of the occasion. "The Battle Hymn of the Republic," "America," and the "Star Spangled Banner" were sung by the congregation.

Especially impressive was the manner of presentation of "Old Glory," a wonderful rippling banner, that stirred the hearts of all who beheld it, carried reverently to the pulpit by two men in the uniforms of Uncle Sam—Calvin C. Miles, Jr., of the U. S. Merchant Marines in the blue of the navy, and Harry Gibson, of Company H, 59th Pioneer regiment, in the khaki of the army. The flag was brought forward as the strains of a patriotic anthem rendered by the choir died away, the congregation rising as the national emblem came into view, and joining heartily into the refrain, "The army and navy forever. Three cheers for the Red, White, and Blue."

Henry M. McCullough, Esq., of Elkton, made the presentation speech in behalf of the Sewing Society. Mr. McCullough said: "It gives me great pleasure to be here amid the sacred memories that cluster around this edifice; to be here where two generations of my family worshipped the God of our fathers. I come to rejoice with you in the fact that the Christian Church today is showing patriotism; I rejoice that the flag has in-

WOUNDED MARINE KNOWN HERE

Nephew of Mrs. Amos Osmond in Hospital in France

Mrs. Amos Osmond of Newark has received word from her sister, Mrs. Joseph L. Kite, of Philadelphia, telling of severe injuries sustained in battle by the son of the latter, in the recent gallant charge of U. S. Marines in France. The wounded man, Joseph B. Kite IV, was one of the "gallant seventy-six" called from the vicinity of Philadelphia at the entrance of the United States into the war to fill up the vacancies in the Fifth Regiment of Marines, the first to be sent across to fight the Huns. It was indicated that he was in the thick of the fighting in the region of Chateau Thierry in the Marne battlefield. Kite left this country as in the quartermaster department, but word soon reached his parents that he had been transferred to the 47th Company of the regiment—one of the line companies. Rumors have been received many times that he had been commissioned, but the announcement of him being injured lists him as a private.

Young Kite has a twin sister, who is doing her bit for the Red Cross. He had ancestors on both his father's and mother's sides who fought in the Civil War. Before this country declared war he joined the military class of the Drexel Bible Bible Class, near Lansdowne. After about three months calls were made for enlistments in the marine corps. He enlisted in the reserve and later as a volunteer for the Fifth Regiment. He has been in France since early in June, 1917.

Ex-Governor Miller to Speak at Christiana

The recently organized Christiana Village Improvement Association has arranged for an interesting celebration tomorrow. The celebration will be held on the grounds of the Methodist Church and at 2 o'clock there will be an address by former Governor Charles R. Miller. An American flag and also a service flag will be raised. Refreshments will be served free and the public is invited to attend.

WAR CONFERENCE AT WASHINGTON

National Speakers to Attend

Win the War Conference. It has been announced that Governor Townsend will issue a Proclamation this week calling for a State Wide War Conference to be held at The Dupont on Wednesday, July 10th. The program while not yet definitely is that there will be a meeting at the Playhouse in the afternoon attended by the State, City and County Councils and Delegates from all over the State. In the evening it is understood that Governor Townsend will entertain at dinner, the various Councils and State officials. After the dinner, a mass meeting will be held at the Playhouse. Representatives of the National Council will be present and speak on the part Delaware is called upon to play in the War.

The address in the evening is held as the surprise of the Conference. A National speaker is expected to address this meeting. Between the meetings, Round Table discussions are being planned to take up various details of the work.

The object of the conference is to explain the work of Council and the demands made upon the State by the National organization and to create a cooperative sympathy with all sections of the State. The public is invited to attend. It promises to be the Clearing House of all the War Activities. With all, certainly it can be predicted that the greatest War Rally in Delaware this year.

Annual Session of Women's Clubs

The twenty-first annual meeting of the Delaware State Federation of Women's Clubs met in Rehoboth last week, clubs from all parts of Delaware being represented at the meeting. The reports presented showed a splendid activity in all phases of war work.

Mrs. A. D. Warner, of Wilmington, the chief figure in the organization of the Federation twenty-one years ago, was elected president.

Carnival at North East

An all-day carnival to be held at North East, July 4, for the benefit of the Navy League. Music will be furnished by the soldiers from the Proving Grounds. Every one is invited. A supper will be the main feature of the evening.

Suspend Rhodes Scholarships

The Trustees of the Rhodes Scholarship have notified Delaware College that the selections for all Scholarships have been postponed on account of the war. The examination, however, will be held at Delaware College on October 1st and 2nd of this year. The Trustees have decided that candidates who are eligible this year will be held to be qualified whenever the selection for the Scholarships are made. Anyone interested in applying to the Rhodes Scholarship should apply to the President of Delaware College.

Catching the spirit of the Town's folk to entertain the soldiers, Father Dougherty has offered the use of the grounds at St. John's Church. Tables, lighting and booths are all in place from the recent Carnival. Ice Cream and other refreshments—games of sport will all be there—and the proceeds, yes? Well, the proceeds go to the Soldier boys themselves.

So here is a chance for Newark to have an evening's fun, to entertain and be entertained by real soldier boys (Girls they do say, these are a handsome set) and to spend your money on an honest to goodness Yank. It is hoped that everybody will cooperate with Father Dougherty in making the welcome in keeping with our best hospitality.

Regular Meeting of Town Council

Baltimore Engineer Inspects Sewer System—Recommends Changes

Town Council at its meeting Monday night refused to pay a bill of $46.37 presented by the Newark Opera House Company. In a letter accompanying the bill it was explained that the amount represented the actual loss sustained by the company because of the town being in darkness on the nights of May 13 and 21. The company conducts the "movie" shows in the Opera House building and because of their being no current on those nights the shows could not be given.

The bill was itemized showing the exact items making up the loss. This included films that had to be paid for but could not be used, express charges, pay for employees, etc.

As is known Newark for some months has been getting its current from the Wilmington and Philadelphia Traction Company. On the two nights referred to there were storms and members of Council took the stand that it was the storm that put the lights out of commission and consequently beyond their control. They contended that to pay the bill under such circumstances would establish a bad precedent. On motion of Mr. Wilson, the secretary was instructed to write to the Company explaining their action in refusing to pay the bill.

Mayor Frazer reported that Alfred J. Hartman, of Baltimore, one of the engineers who built the Baltimore sewer system, came to Newark last week and inspected the local system. He said Mr. Hartman recommended some changes at the disposal plant to improve conditions and also suggested that the well where the pump is located on the South Chapel street extension should be cleaned out at once. Arrangements will be made to have this done as soon as possible.

Koehler, will make vital and real the entire instruction of the session. Those who attend the Summer School will have the opportunity of seeing teaching in the grades of as high order as can be found anywhere in the United States. The courses in educational theory will be definitely correlated with the work of this school.

During the latter part of the first week of the session a training course for public speakers will be conducted. The object of this course is to give assistance in the developing of speakers for patriotic and public service during the war.

Several of the regular courses to be offered are designed to clarify thinking in connection with the issues involved in the war. Dr. Vaughn, Professor of History in Delaware College, is offering a course entitled "The United States as a World Power" which will cover recent American History and furnished a background for understanding the war. Dr. Greenfield, Assistant Professor of History and Economics in Delaware College, will give courses in French and English History which will give an insight into the civilization and ideals of these two great peoples.

And finally a State Teachers Institute will be held at Newark during the week immediately following the Summer School. This is a very important step in educational progress in Delaware.

The people of the State should perhaps again be reminded that the State pays the expenses of its teachers who attend the Delaware College Summer School. In view of this fact every teacher in the State should think twice before permitting this splendid educational opportunity to pass.

invited to receive their guests there for the first time next Sunday morning, when the Club will be thrown open in its new use.

The room at Old College is to serve many of the purposes of the Y. M. C. A. hut at the cantonments. Equipment has been improvised to make it a place to which the man will resort to sing, write letters, read books, papers and magazines, at all hours of the day. It is expected that, with a schedule crowded with drill and shop-work from 7 in the morning until 6 at night, the men will use the room principally in the evenings.

Mr. S. J. Wright has generously thrown open his bowling alleys and billiard room to the use of the men, and this will probably be their most popular resort.

It is very much to be hoped that the hostess house and the Lounge will be regarded in their true light, as outlets for the interest of the community in surrounding the soldiers with a wholesome and cheerful atmosphere. Those who have been charged with the responsibility of taking the initiative stand need not only of good-will but of positive assistance. There has been a generous response to the appeal made through the churches on Sunday. The following list of periodicals which were found among those contributed will indicate the wide range of materials that can be used with great advantage: Rural New Yorker, Hearst's, Cosmopolitan, Agricultural Digest, Science, Christian Work, Survey, Union Signal, Open Court, Review of Reviews, Association Men, Carnegie Peace Tracts, Rural Manhood, Red Cross, Literary Digest, Saturday Evening Post, Harper, World's Work, Blue Book, Red Book, Century, Presbyterian, Leslie's, McClure's, Independent, Woman Citizen, Ladies' Home Journal, Women's Home Companion, McClure's, Independent, Outlook, Peoples' Home Journal, Country Gentleman, Collier's, Philadelphia Record Sunday Magazine. The magazines are to be used both at the hostess house and Old College, and more are needed; and furthermore, a continual stream of them is needed, which subscribers can feed from current numbers as they are used. Some Victrola records have been received; the Y. M. C. A. is to furnish a machine, and more records of all sorts will be needed. The Y. M. C. A. is also going to lend a library, but this can be supplemented by the donation or loan of such books as we have been accustomed to send to camps elsewhere. Contributions should be left at the College Library, or delivered directly to Miss Elsie Wright, at the Century Club or Dr. K. Roberts Greenfield, Old College.

Newark pleasant. Dean E. Lawrence Smith, director of the training school, has appointed Dr. K. R. Greenfield to look after the Y. M. C. A. work. The men will have a smoking room and reading matter will be provided for them.

Director Smith has also made an appeal for funds with which to secure athletic equipment for them. He thinks that $100 would get what is required in that line at this time. Many of them are baseball players and the college has turned over the diamond on Frazer Field for their use. As the men have the entire evening from 6 o'clock there will be plenty of opportunity for baseball or eveningings all summer.

Another feature promises to be chorus singing of evenings. This was started last night when under the leadership of Robert P. Koehler, former principal of the local schools, sang on the steps of Old College Hall for nearly an hour. Some of the men have excellent voices and the singing was greatly enjoyed not only by them but also by the residents of the town.

St. Johns Carnival a Success

The St. John's Carnival which was held last Thursday, Friday and Saturday was a great success. About seven hundred dollars were cleared. SMALL WHEAT CROP

Secretary Webb Discusses Yield

According to Secretary Wesley Webb of the State Board of Agriculture, the wheat crop in Delaware is not going to be as large as had been hoped for.

While there was ten percent increase in acreage of wheat planted last fall, the acreage being harvested is about the same as for last year planted in the autumn of 1916, as many growers abandoned the wheat crops as much of it was frozen last spring.

The government estimate for the Delaware wheat crop at the first of June was a 73 percent yield, which is 83 percent as much as last year. Professor Webb, however, believes that the government estimate is too high, as reports received from farmers throughout the state indicate that there will only be a 60 percent yield. The estimate crop, at the 73 percent yield, would have been 1,796,000 bushels, but at the 60 percent yield, which the secretary of the Board of Agriculture believes to be the more accurate estimate the crop would be about one-seventh less, or approximately 1,549,500 bushels. Compared with last year's crop of 2,162,000, and considering the acreage planted last autumn was 10 percent larger than the acreage planted in the autumn of 1916, it can readily be seen but a bumper one.

The estimated acreage planted in wheat in Delaware is 131,000 acres, divided as follows: New Castle county, 47,160; Kent county, 69,260; Sussex county, 23,580. Thus it will be seen that Kent alone grows almost as much wheat as the other two counties combined. The crop in Kent county last year was 99,520 and Professor Webb estimates that this year's crop will not exceed 750,000 bushels.

Song of Courage

Come! Dig a grave, and lay therein All the Things-That-Might-Have-Been, And all the Things-That-Used-to-Be! Nor ever open it to see These tear-provoking sights again; For, mark you, after leaves and showers For years upon that spot have lain. From the time-seasoned earth will spring Rare and wondrous flowers! —Youth's Companion.

GIRLS AND WOMEN TO HARVEST FRUIT

More than 1,000 girls in Oregon cities have been interested in the farm work by farm-help specialists of the United States Department of Agriculture, and are now being placed in the fruit districts of the State to assist in picking berries and fruit. In some cases these girls and women receive training in grading and packing fruit and have shown that they are more efficient helpers in this line of work than men. Many of the growers are providing tents as quarters for the women.

Farnum Against Law

Joy to Fight-Lovers is promised in "The Heart of a Lion," at the Opera House, Tuesday, July 9th. All the world loves a fighter. That is why William Farnum, who is preeminently the fighting man of the screen, is one of the favorites of the silent drama. The distinguished William Fox star has literally smashed and bruised his way to photoplay fame because of the strength of his hard right arm.

None of Farnum's battles has been "stagey." The famous player has battered his way to victory each time. Now he is pitted against a man still more rugged, and probably as powerful as himself.

This man is Walter Law, who is cast for an important part in "The Heart of a Lion." Law has acted in many William Fox productions and is counted as one of the most herculean members of the film profession. He weighs 225 pounds, stands 6 feet 1 inch high, has a 37-inch waist and a chest measurement of 41 in. His entire build is greater than that of his adversary, but Farnum has never quaked in the slightest before superior size.

So if you want to see a real hammer-and-tongs, up-and-at-'em bout, watch for the picture. The fight is sure to be the best in the history of the photoplay because both of the contestants have a hankering for the vigorous.—Adv.

JULY 3, 1918

WHAT IS AN AMERICAN?

What is it to be American? We say that it is to love the Stars and Stripes. But a flag is no more than a symbol. It represents hopes and fears, struggles and achievements, something done and something yet to be done. The story of America is not to be told in the landing of the Pilgrim fathers, the fight with the Indians, Bunker Hill and Yorktown, Gettysburg and Appomattox, Santiago and Manila, nor is the story told in the advance of the pioneer from the Atlantic to the Pacific, in the building of great railroads and the conquering of the wilderness, in the searching of the mountains and the establishment of great industries, in the coming of the immigrant, or in the philosophy of Emerson and of James, or the poetry of Whitman and Poe, in the inventions of Whitney and Edison, not even in the lives of our great leaders. All these are expressions of the American spirit of adventure, of purposeful searching after the thing that is better. It is an expression of a divine dissatisfaction. It may be that this nation, like all others, will come to a period of decline. We cannot expect to live forever. But if we do come to such a period it will be because we rest content.

—Lane.

The New Fourth of July

The Fourth of July is as much a French holiday as American. It is a world holiday.—Maurice Damour of the Chamber of Deputies.

Independence Day is no longer ours alone. Henceforth it belongs equally to the nations with which the cause it commemorates has allied us. Let us observe it, not in a boastful spirit, but reverently and with thanksgiving, as a new covenant that we will be worthy of our heritage.—Youth's Companion.

"Money for the Fourth of July put into thrift stamps does not make any noise that you can hear in this country, but it 'speaks' in France."

Conversion of Liberty Bonds

Liberty bonds of the first and second issues and those obtained by converting bonds of the issue into 4 percent bonds can be converted into 4 1/4 percent Liberty bonds during the six months' period beginning May 9 and ending November 9, 1918. The new bonds will be dated May 9, 1918.

After November 9, 1918, no further rights of conversion will attach to the 4 percent bonds, either the original bonds of the second loan or those obtained by conversion of bonds of the first loan. All of the 4 1/4 percent bonds are nonconvertible.

Bonds for conversion may be surrendered at any Federal Reserve bank or at the Treasury Department. Registered bonds must be assigned to the Secretary of the Treasury for conversion, but such assignment need not be witnessed. On conversion of registered bonds registered bonds only will be delivered, neither change of ownership nor change into coupon being permitted.

Coupon bonds, however, may be converted into registered bonds upon request. Coupon bonds must have the May 15 or June 15, 1918, coupons attached and all subsequent coupons attached. Coupon bonds issued from conversion will have only four interest coupons attached, and later must be exchanged for new bonds with the full number of coupons attached.

The Need for Nurses

Editor Every Evening: In regard to the inquiry as to the danger of withdrawing nurses needed for civilian population, it seems wise to make the following statement: A special service for nurses who are eligible for active duty, but whose present positions seem essential to the community in which they live, has been established by the American Red Cross, and a special service chevron is to be issued to the nurses placed in this group. It is imperative at this time to maintain the teaching and executive staffs of our training schools, in order to keep up a continuous supply for future needs, as well as to provide the most economic nursing care for the civilian population.

Directors and superintendents of organizations conducting Public Health Nursing activities are asked to have the members of their staffs placed in the special group, so that chevrons for their use while in their present positions can be issued to them, which chevrons are to be recalled should they be released by the organization's national service. The hospitals and other organizations have been complying with this request to safeguard the public health institutions in Delaware.

It is also urged that high school and college graduates take up nursing as a patriotic duty, to release graduate nurses for active service under the Red Cross.

Instructions from Red Cross national headquarters in regard to this matter have been received from Washington, in order "to bring this great need and opportunity to the attention of those young women now graduating from our high schools and colleges, encouraging them and urging them to enter the training schools nurses, both military and civilian, so as to fill the gaps made by the enrollment of graduate nurses into the military service."

Visits have been and are being made to all schools in Delaware, to present this need. The greatest difficulty seems to be the objection of parents to girls entering the training schools. Mrs. James A. Delano, national director of the Department of Nursing, American Red Cross, puts it: "In the present crisis, the girl who enters a training school for nurses is just as truly serving her colors as her brother in khaki. She is doing this literally from the first day of her training, in helping with the care of the civilian sick, a service which has a part in releasing more graduate nurses for military duty."

Elizabeth H. Bancroft,
Chairman Red Cross Nurses
Campaign Committee.

Wielding a Two Edged Sword

The farmers of the country have in their hands a two-edged sword against Germany—production on their farms and giving financial support to our Government. They are sharpening and wielding this powerful instrument, as is seen by their support of the Third Liberty Loan and the increased acreage on their farms.

Agricultural Warnings

The State Board of Agriculture warns farmers to beware of cheap feeds and cheap fertilizers. It is important to save and to prevent waste and to use everything that will produce animal products or crops. But this condition is a standing temptation to put cheap or fraudulent materials on the market. Every farmer should be sure that he knows the food value of the feeds that he buys and the real value of the fertilizers and usually the cheapest in price is the dearest in the end. The law provides for the analysis of fertilizers, and the Board will have examined free of charge samples of feeds that are sent in by farmers. They may be sent by parcel post to the State Board of Agriculture, Dover, Del.

There is an acute scarcity of crude botanical drugs such as roots, herbs, barks and berries in the United States at this time. Before the war Germany was an important source of supply. The gathering of drug plants may prove to be profitable work. There is a market for dandelion, Star Root, Mandrake root or Mayapple, Lady Slipper Root, Jimson leaves, bark of Sassafras Root, Snake Root and Jerusalem Oak seed.

The State Board of Agriculture, Dover, is glad to encourage the development of this industry and will supply further information on request.

Miss Shew Improving

Miss Bessie Shew, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Shew, of Delaware Avenue, who has been at the Homeopathic Hospital, Wilmington, for a week is much improved and will probably return home today. When first taken to the Hospital last week it was expected that she would have to be operated on for appendicitis but that was not found to be necessary.

A Chance for Service

Mr. Everett C. Johnson, Editor "The Newark Post" Newark, Delaware

Dear Sir: The Delaware College Detachment for Educational Training of Drafted Men is in need of funds with which to purchase athletic equipment for their use. It seems to me that this presents an excellent opportunity for residents of our territory to contribute to a splendid cause. Equipment purchased in this manner by voluntary contribution will be used in Newark and hence it will be possible for those who have contributed to the fund to see for themselves the benefits that will be derived from their generosity.

The men of this detachment will be deeply grateful to you for any publicity you may give this matter in the columns of your paper. I should like to be guided by your judgment as to the proper method of procedure. I should be glad indeed to have you handle it in any way you may see fit, that is either to collect the fund and hand over the proceeds, or request that contributions be sent to the undersigned.

Thanking you for anything you may be able to do in our behalf, I remain

Very truly yours,

E. Lawrence Smith,

Dean and Director, Delaware College.

What Tin Cans Are Worth

Many letters in regard to the advisability of collection and sale of old tin cans are being received from private persons by the U. S. Department of Agriculture. The Department has been informed by a company engaged in detinning work that cans practically free from rust and foreign matter are worth $12 a ton f. o. b. its factory and that there are from 7,000 to 8,000 cans in a ton. The company stated it believes the recovery of tin cans to be advisable only in the larger towns.

Women Produce Sugar and Starch at Home

Women in Uinta County, Utah, are going to make sugar at home. The great interest taken in sugar-beet production for sirups by the women of that county has led to the planting of from 75 to 100 pounds of sugar-beet seed. This is the direct result of the work of the county-demonstration agent, who has demonstrated the use and making of the sirup to each of the fifteen organizations in the county with whom she works. The women have also made between 2,000 and 2,500 pounds of potato starch, averaging 25 pounds to 4 bushels of potatoes. This means the saving of 400 bushels of potatoes that otherwise would have been wasted.

COMPULSORY WORK LAW NOW IN EFFECT

Christopher L. Ward, director of the Compulsory Work Bureau of the State Council of Defence, opened an office today on the ground floor of the old Federal Building, Sixth and King Streets.

Mr. Ward has appointed Miss Elizabeth Sheward, daughter of Caleb M. Sheward, secretary of the bureau and is considering applications for appointment to the position of district inspector, of which officials there will be one for Wilmington, one for rural New Castle county and one each for Kent and Sussex counties.

One of the first duties of the bureau will be to put to work between 100 and 200 idlers whose names already have been obtained.

Barbers, bartenders and men engaged in other lawful occupations need not give up those positions and seek employment in shipyards or munition plants through fear of State interference. Mr. Ward says such men are exempt from the provisions of the State Council of Defence act, which clearly sets forth that "it shall be the duty of every male resident of the State between the ages of 18 and 55 years, who shall not be in the National Army or a public officer, to be employed in a useful or lawful occupation."

The provisions of the Federal law, however, are more drastic, but they apply only to men of draft age. Misunderstanding seems to have been due to the publication of certain classes of occupation which the Federal government designated as non-essential. Federal or State laws do not require any man, except in the draft age, to give up any lawful occupation.

Section 4 of the State law provides:

"It shall be the duty of every male resident of this State between the ages of 18 and 55 years, who shall not be in the National Army or a public officer, to be employed in a useful or lawful occupation during the said period, and every such person who shall not be so employed shall be subject to be assigned by the said council to such employment as the said council shall from time to time determine and at such compensation to be paid by the employer as the said council and employer shall agree to be reasonable and proper, provided that the provisions of this act shall not apply to persons temporarily unemployed by reason of differences with their employers, nor to bona fide students during the school term, nor to persons fitting themselves to engage in trade or industrial pursuits."

Section 5 provides:

"Any resident of this State who shall refuse to obey or shall fail to comply with any order of the said council relating to any of the provisions of this act shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof shall be fined not more than three hundred dollars, or imprisoned not exceeding three months, or both, at the discretion of the court, provided that all prosecutions under the provisions of this act shall be in the nature of an appeal, in which any matters which could have been urged by the defendant against the issuance of said order by the State Council of Defence may be used as a defence in said prosecutions, the right of waiver of hearing and to bail being preserved in all cases, and all such prosecutions shall be handled expeditiously by the prosecuting officers and court."

Fearing their work might be classed as an unlawful occupation, some barbers and bartenders sought employment in shipyards and munition plants last week, and one saloon closed its eating bar. In the Hotel duPont a woman is employed at the dining room hat-rack.

PATRIOTIC SERVICE AT HEAD OF CHRISTIANA

many Christians who believe in the reign of the Prince of Peace many doubts have come, concerning this war. But one of the strongest pictures in my mind from the life of the Prince of Peace is that of Christ driving the money changers and the thieves from the temple; when he taught us that it is necessary sometimes to apply force to drive out iniquity and unrighteousness. Every time an added outrage is perpetrated by the Huns, the Home Fires of America are intensified; they flame throughout the length and breadth of our land. I believe a wise God will bring to us victory. I believe this flag will shine until the banner, as an emblem of humanity, shall be second only to the cross of Calvary.

"I would bring one message to you today. Our nation is not great by reason of its material resources,—its strong armies, strong navies, or the wealth of our people. We are great only as we live up to those things that God holds dear. Our flag is the emblem of Conscience, Heart, and Soul. May it wave long as the emblem of God and a loving nation."

Rev. Walter Clyde, pastor of the church, accepted the flag, with the words, "May it inspire every member of the congregation to live a life of service for our country and the King of Kings." "The church," he declared, "has a service flag with three stars. Two of the men represented are here today, and have taken part in the service."

Samuel Schoolfield, Jr., Esquire, of Philadelphia, delivered an earnest address, calling upon the people here to demand that our armies fight to the end, thus assuring a permanent peace to the world, and to shield our boys and girls, the hope of the future.

Mr. Schoolfield described his experience at the Yale commencement a few weeks ago, when the entire graduating class presented themselves in uniform, to receive their diplomas. "For the first time within my experience," Mr. Schoolfield said, "the president of Yale University removed the historic gold cap, as he conferred degrees upon seven Yale men, who had purchased them with their life's blood. He told of the wonderful singing of that audience of ten thousand people. 'The song they sang,' he said, 'was the one we have just sung—The Battle Hymn of the Republic.' And how significant those words were! How perfectly they applied to the present situation! As they sang that hymn they changed only one word: 'As he died to make men holy, So we'll die to make men free,' they sang it 'So we'll die to keep men free.'"

"There is but one thing we can talk of now-a-days," Mr. Schoolfield said. "There is but one thing now—the great world war—the war in which all the nations that are not lined up on one or the other side can be counted on the fingers of one hand."

"We must conquer our horror of war," the speaker said. "As we look back over the three thousand years of history, we find that only two hundred twenty-seven of them have not been years of war. In our own nation, in our century and a half, we have had six wars. Only seven percent of the time in the world's history has been a time of peace. Peace has never been the normal condition of the world. Old Saint Augustine said, 'Why should men who have to die anyway be afraid to die in a righteous war?' We must get over the horror of war; we, of this generation, may never see peace again. The Napoleonic wars which produced greater generals than any this war has revealed, lasted for twenty years. God grant this war may not cease until we can secure a permanent peace."

"We can't compare this with any previous war," Mr. Schoolfield said. "There are no knights in armor, there are no charges of a wonderful Light Brigade. All that is picturesque, all that is beautiful, is gone. This is the last and the most horrible war of all. There is nothing romantic in killing men sixty miles away by orders given over a telephone; there is nothing inspiring in hurling death out of the air upon innocent women and children. There is nothing except terror, fear, blood and agony everywhere. But God uses even War, with its awful death, suffering, and torture. Back of it all stands God, building better than we can know. Even now we catch a glimmer of it. I have seen men whose lives we thought were ruined, hurried to the front, and now has come back to us of wonderful records made there. God knows how he can sweep away inertia, love of luxury, and the indifference of our generation. Do you suppose that God will let the lessons of this war be wasted? Can you believe it will not occur to a nation raising seven billion to kill men, to raise seven billion to save men? By a stroke of the pen we have made the world stand still one hour; we have gained one hour's more time to work and to play. Twenty years ago such a thing could not have been done without a constitutional amendment. We'll do those things for peace after it all."

"What is the lesson of this war for us? In this war we don't have to think for ourselves; the government thinks and tells us what we should do. We don't need to say anything to our young men. They have had the duty shown to them and they are doing it. But what can we do? What is our lesson? There are great things ahead of us. This war is like a football game. All of us older folks are barred from the game, but we are to stand on the side lines and cheer them on. Everything love and experience can suggest, we must give to them. We can tell them to hold at the Marne, to run around the end at Vimy Ridge or to crash through world is in our boys, the younger boys left with us. They've got a part to play ahead of them. I plead with you to give yourselves to these boys. Don't let a day go by without knowing what your boy is doing. Show him where we have fallen down. Let him carry on the torch that is in our hands today."

"War isn't going to be here forever," the speaker said. "Perhaps some here can remember slavery in the land. Before the Civil War, slavery seemed just as much an institution as war is now. War isn't going to last anymore than slavery did. There have been three great scourges in the world since the beginning of History—Pestilence, Famine, and War. When have we heard of famine? Commerce has conquered famine like a dead snake by the railroad tracks of the world. There was a time when the Black Death swept over the world and nearly depopulated the earth. But science has conquered that. Yellow fever, cholera, and the bubonic plague, are all conquered. Only war remains. How shall we conquer it? There is only one way, I believe,—through religion. That's what we can do to help God rid the world of these scourges; that's the duty that comes to the stay-at-homes."

The speaker related the story of David in the cave of Adullam; of his warriors fighting their way to the center.

"But the last best hope of the well of Bethlehem, for the drink that he craved; of David's declaration 'I can not drink this water; it is blood of men.' 'Sometime,' he said, 'these men will win for us the waters of peace. Woe be to us if we use that for our own ends; we can only pour it out for God's use; to carry on God's love and God's work.'"

Mr. Schoolfield quoted Tennyson's lines, "More is wrought by prayer than men dream of." "President Lincoln once said," he declared, "when a great delegation of ministers came to visit him, 'Without your prayers I might have faltered; with your prayers

I'll keep on fighting.' God bless those boys who have gone, I say; God grant this war may lead us nearer to Him who plans all things well."

Head of Christiana Church has taken on new life since the coming of the present pastor, the Rev. Walter Clyde. At Sunday's service a number of announcements were made. A special sermon to men next Sunday afternoon, subject: Quit You Like Men; be Strong. Women are likewise welcome. On the following Sunday, there will be a special sermon to women, subject: Mary and Martha. Mention was also made of a home-coming day, the date to be announced July 28.

Wait Until the "Number" Answers or the Operator Reports

ONE of the things that causes telephone congestion is the practice of abandoning calls. Very often a subscriber will call a number and if he doesn't get an almost instantaneous connection will hang up and try again later. He feels that minutes have elapsed while, in reality, it has been but a matter of seconds.

This hanging up of your telephone receiver means that your time, and the time and labor of the operator, has been wasted and the whole operation repeated later; then again if the called party comes on the line the operator must answer: "Party's gone" or "Excuse it, please."

Please remain at your telephone until the called subscriber answers or the operator reports. This will mean a saving in the time and effort of the three parties to the call, and involve less use of the lines and equipment at a time when the Telephone Company is striving to avoid unnecessary service congestion, when all its facilities are directed to the task of meeting the increasing general needs of the country.
