STUDENTS AND FACULTY MAY DIG MEMORIAL LIBRARY FOUNDATIONS

Committee Approves Plan To Start Work This Fall—First Week in December Set For Actual Beginning

NOVEL PLAN UNDER CONSIDERATION NOW

That the actual work will start on the new State War Memorial Library for the campus of the University of Delaware this fall was assured at a meeting of the Library Committee, held in Wilmington this week.

A. J. Taylor, engineer of the Delaware School Auxiliary, in whose hands the construction work will be placed, announced this morning over the phone, that while unable to set an exact date for the start, it will be probably the first week in December and not later than the 15th of the month.

With the last obstacle passed and the way now open the Committee and everyone else who had a part in the drive for funds, are greatly relieved that the work may now go on uninterrupted.

Faculty May Dig

As the result of a suggestion made at the meeting this week by a member of the Committee from Newark, a plan is being considered whereby the entire Faculty and Student Body of the University will have a hand at digging the foundations of the building.

This novel and happily-conceived scheme would cut down the cost of the building almost $1000 and, in addition, would give all in the University an opportunity to take a real part in the erection of the building for which they have so long waited.

No action has been announced on this matter as yet. Mr. Taylor, however, stated that the plan would receive his stamp of approval and would be an excellent move.

Dr. Hullahen, when asked about the novel "digging party," said, that the Committee was giving it every consideration and that a decision would be announced very soon.

The actual foundation work of the building does not entail the average amount of earth removal. It is the plan, according to good authority, to use some of the excavated earth from the new High School to build a terrace.

Some minor alterations, suggested by H. Rodney Sharp, chairman of the Building Committee, were unanimously approved by the Committee at its recent meeting.

A total of $250,000 in subscriptions has been collected to date, it was reported at the meeting.

Those who were in attendance were Dr. Walter Hullahen, H. Rodney Sharp, Henry P. Scott, A. J. Taylor, John S. Russell, Everett C. Johnson, Dean Winifred J. Robinson, George M. Davis and Dr. W. O. Sypherd.

EPISCOPAL PARISH RECEIVES DR. MATHEWS

New Rector Extended Hearty Welcome by Newark People Monday

ARRANGED BY GUILD

The parish house of the St. Thomas Episcopal Church here was the scene Monday evening of a whole-hearted reception to the new rector, Dr. R. B. Mathews, formerly of Snow Hill, Md., and the members of his family.

Dr. Mathews preached his first sermon as rector of the church last Sunday, and the affair Monday evening was arranged in his honor. The program was entirely informal, and beside members of the congregation, many townspeople from other churches were in attendance to welcome them to Newark.

The reception was arranged by the Guild of the church, and after several short talks by members of the Vestry and parish, refreshments were served (Continued on Page 5.)

MRS. SARAH WHITEMAN DIES IN 91st YEAR

Was Former Resident of White Clay Creek Hundred; Prominent Church Worker

FUNERAL TOMORROW

Mrs. Sarah P. Whiteman, widow of the late Israel Whiteman, died at her home on Clayton Street, Wilmington, yesterday morning. She succumbed to an illness which had its beginning early in the Fall, and was aggravated by a fall suffered about three weeks ago. Mrs. Whiteman, despite her advanced age of 90 years, was a marvel of physical and mental stamina up to the past few weeks.

Funeral services will be held at her late residence tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock. Rev. W. R. McElroy, pastor of the White Clay Creek Presbyterian Church, of which she was an active member for over sixty years, will have charge of the services. Interment will be private.

Born and raised in Chester County, Mrs. Whiteman and her husband, Israel, came to White Clay Creek Hundred when both were young, and were prominent and highly respected residents of the county.

Mrs. Whiteman is survived by three children, J. Harvey Whiteman of Wilmington, who was speaker of the House of Representatives, Secretary of State under Governor Watson and former president of the Tonopah Mining Company; J. Leonard Whiteman, who is a prominent physician in New York City, and Frank V. Whiteman, a farmer in White Clay Creek hundred.

MISS FRANCES MEDILL IS SERIOUSLY SICK

Taken To Wilmington Hospital Last Week; Condition Is Very Grave

Miss Frances Medill, widely known member of the Public School teaching staff here and a Newark resident all her life, was suddenly taken ill last Thursday, and when her condition became serious, was rushed to a Wilmington hospital Friday morning.

The latest word received from the bedside of Miss Medill reports that she spent a restless day yesterday and that the operation has been delayed until her condition has improved.

Miss Medill is afflicted from acute stomach trouble, and has been suffering great pain since she has been stricken. Her sudden relapse on Friday caused the family and her host of friends great alarm. A sister, Mrs. Joseph McVey, is constantly at the bedside and other relatives are attending her at frequent intervals.

Miss Medill has taught in the local schools for the past thirty-six years and is a well-loved friend of hundreds of men and women, both old and young. Her record in teaching probably is not surpassed by any one in the State. She was actively at work up until a few hours before she was stricken.

SPECIAL TRAIN TO FRANKLIN FIELD ASSURED

Special Reduced Fare to Dickinson Game Available For Newark People

After some days of suspense, due to the slow sale of tickets to the game, followed immediately by a big jump in general interest from students, faculty and townspeople, University authorities announced early this week that a special train has been assured by the Pennsylvania Railroad to carry Newark rooters to the Delaware-Dickinson game on Franklin Field next Saturday afternoon.

The train will leave the Pennsylvania Station here a few minutes after twelve noon Saturday, and will make a stop at Wilmington, to pick up more Delaware enthusiasts.

The entire student body, accompanied by the band and including the Women's College will likely be on board, in addition to scores of townspeople and alumni from the northern half of the State.

A special fare has been arranged for by the railroad official. Notice of this rate will be found elsewhere in The Post.

GEORGE C. BROWER DIES IN FLORIDA

Victim of Sudden Illness Was Well Known Among Newark People

ATTENDED UNIVERSITY

George C. Brower, better known to many friends and acquaintances in Newark as "Buddy," died suddenly yesterday in a hospital in Deland, Florida, according to a despatch from Seaford, Del.

Taken suddenly ill with acute appendicitis at his home in Crescent City, Fla., he was rushed to the hospital and went under the knife. He failed to rally, however, and steadily sank, despite all medical aid.

"Buddy," who was about 27 years of age, was a student at Delaware College, being graduated in the class of 1919.

His college career was interrupted by the war. He went to an officers' training school with a number of other Delaware students and was commissioned second lieutenant, and was stationed for the remainder of hostilities in Virginia.

Following his completion of college work, the deceased spent some time in his home town, Federalsburg, Md., where he had formerly been principal of the schools.

Engaging in a business with interest in Florida, "Buddy" moved to that State about three years ago.

As the culmination of a romance, extending throughout his college career, the deceased married Miss Cardelle Williams, also of Crescent City, and a student at the Women's College, during his stay in Newark.

He is survived by his widow and an infant daughter, born the day before his death. He is also survived by two sisters, Miss Veva Brower, teaching in the Palmyra, N. J., schools, and Mrs. Earl G. Poole, of Federalsburg, Md.

While in Newark, "Buddy" had a host of friends. He was a leader in class and fraternity activities, and one of the best liked men on the campus. He studied engineering, and stood high in his classes.

Many townspeople are shocked at the news of his untimely death, and many messages of sympathy and condolence are on their way to his bereaved widow.

STRANGE SIGHTS

Freshmen of University In Novel and Quaint Costumes

As a result of a meeting of the "kangaroo court" last night, in which several Freshmen of the University were brought to justice for various misdemeanors, many novel and up-to-the-minute costumes are now being worn in Newark by the first year men. Wooden snowshoes, umbrellas with the well-known "hot dog" dangling from them, horse collars cocked at a fashionable angle and many other oddities in dress are in evidence.

The monster Freshman Parade is scheduled for Friday evening of this week. Several cash prizes will be awarded to the winners, and the parade will be followed by a big smoker in Old College later in the evening.

EIGHTY-FIVE ATTEND FATHER AND SON BANQUET AT PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

Splendid Dinner Served Last Evening, Followed By Speeches and Singing; Teachers and Officers of Sunday School in Charge

The annual Father and Son banquet of the Presbyterian Church was held last evening in the lecture room of the church. Eighty-five guests, the largest number in recent years, were served a delicious dinner prepared by a committee of officers and teachers of the Sunday School.

The menu was as follows:
Roast Beef
Peas and Carrots Mashed Potatoes
Rolls Jellies
Fruit Salad
Fruit Gelatin with Whipped Cream
Coffee

Rev. Hallman, who has been a leading figure in these affairs in Newark, arranged many of the details of the dinner and had charge of the after-dinner program.

GYPSY CARAVAN IN LAW'S TOILS MONDAY

Wandering Band of 20 Caught For Speeding; Finally Pay Fine After Long Wait

PILE OUT ON STREET

A band of close to 20 gypsies, including nine children, two of which were too young to walk, was the center of attraction for a big crowd of townspeople Monday afternoon, when after they were arrested for speeding along the Lincoln Highway northeast of town, refused to pay their fines, and prepared to spend the rest of the day and evening on Main Street's hospitable pavement.

After a series of debates with Magistrate Thompson, and with the approach of night, the leaders of the band finally decided it was unhealthy to defy the law, and, taking advantage of a compromise made by the Magistrate, repacked their belongings and moved out of town, heading south.

Caught by Highway Officer

When the three cars, Ford, Reo and Stutz, drew up to the curb in front of the Magistrate's office about 1.30 Monday afternoon, quite a crowd gathered to witness the hearing. The gypsies were overhauled by Officer Jons of the Highway Police between Marshallton and Newark, and he escorted the three leaders to the bar of justice. Fines of $25.00 and costs were imposed on each of the three cars by the Magistrate.

Then came forth eloquent oratory in the Lost Language, many gestures and protestations of innocence from the members of the band. They balked at paying the fine, and unloaded their cars on the pavement at Center Hall. Witnesses say there was enough baggage present to fill a freight car.

The first move to break the deadlock came when the officers agreed to let them proceed on their way in two cars, holding the third one here for payment of the fine. This failed to satisfy the nomads, and they continued to hold forth on the pavement. The problem of caring for the women and children, especially the tiny members of the party, in view of the small Newark jail, was saved by the decision of the leaders to pay a part of (Continued on Page 5.)

ON TO DOVER

Local High School to Have A Large Following

Newark school supporters and townspeople in large numbers are already planning to accompany the High School football team to Dover Friday afternoon of this week, when the local warriors tackle Dover High in the second game of the series for the championship of the upper half of the State.

Superintendent Owens, in speaking of the game Friday, called attention to the fact that parents should supervise the transportation plans of their children to Dover. Most of the group will go by autos or buses, and every effort will be made to insure their safety while on the trip. The game starts at 3.30 and will be over by 5 o'clock.

OVERCROWDED CONDITION OF GRADES IN PUBLIC SCHOOL PRESENTS BIG PROBLEM

Seventh and Eighth Grades, With 120 Pupils, Must Find More Room—School Board, Council and Parents Involved

WILL ASK STATE BOARD FOR MORE MONEY

An alarming congestion in the seventh and eighth grades of the Grammar School here is developing into quite a problem which will somehow have to be solved by school and town authorities within a few weeks.

At a meeting of the local Board of Education about two weeks ago, the matter was called to their attention by Mr. Owens, at the suggestion of parents.

It appears that 122 pupils are enrolled in these grades, 58 in one and 64 in the other. Three rooms only are available for their use, and while they can be very well accommodated, in one way, neither of the rooms is large enough to hold one complete class for recitation or study without serious overcrowding.

A plan under consideration at the meeting called for a request to be sent to the State Board of Education for additional funds with which to procure the services of another teacher, and to purchase additional equipment for another room.

In the meantime, an effort was made by the Board to obtain the use of the room above the present Town Hall on Academy Street, now under the jurisdiction of Town Council.

Council Objects

As the result of informal conferences between Councilmen and members of the Board, and between the Mayor and interested parents, a special meeting of Council was called last Thursday evening, at which time the request for the use of the room was considered.

After considerable discussion, Council ruled that under existing circumstances, they could not see their way clear to let the School Board use the room for school purposes.

HOLSTEIN HARVEY CLUB IS UNDER WAY

Meeting Friday Night, Followed by Personal Canvass This Week

Inaugurated by a big mass meeting of housewives and their husbands in the Armory last Friday night and being continued through personal efforts of members of the staff, the Holstein Harvey Cooperative Consumers Club is in the process of organization in Newark this week.

Between three and four hundred townspeople crowded the Armory at the first meeting last week. Morton Harvey, J. S. Richardson, and other members of the Holstein Harvey organization spoke briefly on the proposed club plan. A good quartet furnished music at intervals during the evening. After the business meeting, a dance was held in which all participated.

PASSES BAD CHECKS

Newark Merchant Victim of Worthless Paper Passed By Elkon Man

A Main Street merchant, according to report based on good authority, has been twice victimized by bad checks during the past two weeks.

The checks, later found to be worthless, were drawn on an Elkon bank by an alleged resident of that town, and cashed in Newark. Cecil County authorities were at once notified, and payment of the checks has been assured.

With the approach of the heavy Christmas buying in Newark and other town, it has been urged that everyone be on the lookout for a repetition of this case.

LOCAL PEOPLE WED

Miss Nellie Reid and Mr. Albert T. Boys were married Saturday morning last by the Rev. Frank Herson, in the parsonage of the Newark M. E. Church. The wedding was a quiet one, and attended only by close relatives and friends of the young couple. Both Mr. and Mrs. Boys are Newark residents and have a host of friends in the town.

After a short wedding trip they will reside here. Mr. Boys is employed by the National Vulcanized Fibre Co. at their plant in Newark.

In making this decision, the following objections were stated:

(1) That the lack of fire escapes and fire prevention made it unsafe for the children to be quartered in the second floor of the building.

(2) Heating facilities, especially in the back room of the building are not adequate for the proper comfort of the children.

(3) Valuable personal property belonging to the town is stored in the back room, downstairs, and with the necessity of the room being opened a greater part of the day, it cannot be safely cared for.

(4) Due to the poor acoustics of Council's office, the added noise and confusion of children moving about upstairs would make it almost impossible to transact business downstairs, especially over the phone.

No Remedy In Sight

While the School Board is not discouraged over their failure to get the Academy Street rooms, there is little possibility of the situation being adjusted within a few days.

The result of the appeal made to the State Board is awaited with interest by school authorities and parents alike. It may be possible to gain sufficient funds to rent a room, buy additional equipment and hire a new teacher. Dr. Walt Steel, president of the local board, and J. H. Owens, another member, expect to have the situation relieved as soon as possible.

It is said that the closing of many rural schools in the interests of consolidation, has greatly increased the enrollment in Newark, and made the existing facilities entirely inadequate for the proper handling of the pupils.

NEARBY FARMER LOSES EYE IN ALTERCATION

Jacob Gicker and Trespassing Gunner Stage Shotgun Duel

One man lost the sight of one eye, and another received several shot in various parts of his anatomy last Thursday, the first day of gunning season, when Jacob Gicker, farmer living in Mill Creek Hundred, near Milford Cross Roads, ordered a group of gunners off his place. When at a seemingly safe distance away, Gicker is said to have fired at them. One of the party, Walter Waldrich, of Cleveland Avenue, received part of the charge in his body. The latter turned sharply and fired back at Gicker. It was reported that several shots were exchanged. During the firing Gicker received a small shot in his eye.

The eyeball was removed Friday by surgeons in a Wilmington hospital. He is still confined there.

Waldrich was treated by a Newark physician and was not seriously injured, although shot was taken out of his body by the doctor.

Gives Himself Up

Waldrich appeared before Magistrate Thompson on Friday last and gave himself up.

No charges have been preferred against him by Gicker as yet, and he was not held by the police.

The names of the men who were in the party with Waldrich could not be learned.

YEATMAN MILLS SOLD

Canadian Firm Buys Historic Old Property Near Here

Announcement was made yesterday of the sale of the Yeatman Mills, situated along the White Clay Creek, about three miles from Newark, along the P. and N. R. R. to Woodworth Bros., a Canadian firm. The former owner, J. Sherman Dayett, is leaving the mill property, and plans for a clean sweep sale to be held on November 30th next. Numbered among the Dayett household goods are several valuable antiques which have been in the family for many years. Several historical relics are also included in their property.

WILLS FARM TO CHURCH

Oxford, Pa., Church Receives Place In Will of Member

A will recently probated in West Chester, Pa., the county seat of Chester County, called for the disposition of a 103 acre farm in Lower Oxford township, to the Oxford Presbyterian Church. The will was made by the late Virginia Richmond, a former member of the church.

It is reported that the farm will be used for a convalescent home for members of the congregation. Those who wish to live there for a period of time may do so at the consent of the pastor.

POULTRY STOLEN

Two Mt. Pleasant Farmers Suffer Losses by Thieves

Forty or more chickens and a dozen turkeys were stolen on Monday night from the premises of I. N. Biddle and G. B. W. Rhodes, near Mt. Pleasant, a couple of miles west of Middletown. The thieves, it would appear, used a motor truck which they drove on the Biddle place in which they put the stolen fowls and sped away, probably gathering up the turkeys which were roosting in trees on the Rhodes farm. Two colored suspects were arrested in Middletown and held for examination.

AT THE PLAYHOUSE

"The Vegetable"

Sam H. Harris will present F. Scott Fitzgerald's comedy, "The Vegetable," starring Ernest Truex at the Playhouse, Wilmington, for four days beginning November 26 and including Thanksgiving Day matinee. When Sam H. Harris presents a play, theatregoers have come to learn that not only the piece itself but the acting and the production will be well worth while.

In selecting "The Vegetable," in which to star Mr. Truex, Mr. Harris has hit upon a comedy which is sure to excite a vast deal of public interest.

Ernest Truex as Jerry Frost, the Vegetable, otherwise soft mental pulp—is certain to provide entertainment of the most enjoyable character. The piece has been staged by Sam Forrest, who has staged all of Mr. Harris's successes.

NEW OFFICE BUILDING OF CONTINENTAL FIBRE COMPANY IS A MODEL STRUCTURE

Fire-Proof Building Completed and in Use Now—Great Growth of Business in Last Few Years Made Addition Imperative

MODERN AND CONVENIENT IN EVERY DETAIL

A visit to the new office building of the Continental Fibre Company last week, during which the writer was escorted through the building from top to bottom by Mr. C. C. Hubert, disclosed the fact that here in Newark is one of the finest examples of modern office construction to be found anywhere in the State. The visit was made through the courtesy of S. J. Wright, president of the firm.

The building, designed and built according to the most modern ideas in office planning, is correct in every detail. Light, Air and Convenience—the three watchwords in this kind of construction work, were not overlooked anywhere. The various private offices and the long general offices each have plenty of light, from big windows, and the air at any place in the building is clean and fresh at all times.

Fireproof Throughout

Concrete, steel and brick form the frame and outside construction of the new building. It is two stories high, and is connected with the old office, directly adjoining, by a runway, not steps. Both buildings will be used, according to the plans of the officers of the firm. For many months the working conditions in the old office have not been of the best, due to the fact that the staff hardly had room to turn around. The building of an addition was deemed imperative. And when they built it, they built it to stay. From roof to cellar, inside and out, it is a compact, attractive, and sturdy monument to the successful growth of the company.

A sprinkler system has been installed, making it almost impossible to lose the contents of the building by fire.

Upon entering the office a neat little reception hall where sits the telephone operator, greets the visitor. A long hall runs through the center of the building on the first floor, ending in the old office. Beyond the hall is a long, light airy room, the Accounting Department. Desks are placed well apart with plenty of room for everybody. Directly above this room is a similar one on the second floor, occupied solely by stenographers. They were all lined up in a row, industriously rattling off letters and bills, and the steady, rhythmic clatter of the machines bespoke more than this article can, of the condition of business at the Continental.

Not All Present

Complete changes of personnel to the new building have not been made as yet. Several new people have been hired for office work in the past few weeks, and the change from old to new is gradually being accomplished. About 24 people, not including the officers, occupy it at this time.

Several vacated office rooms in the old building are to be fitted up for members of the staff holding responsible positions.

The officers of the company with lone exception of Mr. S. J. Wright, have moved into the new quarters. The latter, when asked about his unusual tardiness, stated that they had been trying to get him to move for several weeks, but somehow he just can't forsake the old room which he has called his own for so many years, and from which he has seen the company rise to its present high position. However, he promised them, he said, that he would march over with his secretary, Mr. Hubert, in a few days now.

The offices of Norris Wright and his father occupy the two front corners of the first floor. On the second floor are the offices of J. P. Wright, Harry L. Bonham and Ernest B. Wright. Benjamin Proud, who recently became connected with the company, occupies an office on the first floor formerly used as a Directors' room.

The private offices are luxuriously but not overly furnished. There is an air of comfort about them, but they cannot be mistaken for lounge rooms. The air of business exudes from every corner of them. Big, broad mahogany desks, swivel chairs, attractive coat lockers in one corner and the desk ornaments are all in good taste and very plain.

Every effort has been made to make the office convenient and comfortable for the occupants. The floor plans provide for no extra or unnecessary steps.

Basement Plans

One of the real features of the building is the roomy, well-lighted basement. This will be used exclusively for correspondence files for the entire plant.

The Continental Company saves its correspondence for seven years after receipt and maintains one of the best organized and accurate filing systems in the East.

The Best is None too Good

This old adage is especially true with reference to bathing and toilet equipment.

No dwelling is safe that is lacking in sanitation.

The church, theater, school or office building that does not provide sanitary toilet and wash room facilities menaces health.

The old-fashioned water closet—or the out door privy—wherever found, should be replaced with a modern sanitary fixture. Comfort requires... demands modern sanitary water closets.

Let Good Health Week, October 21st to 27th, find your property completely equipped for sanitation, ventilation and hygiene.

We'll gladly serve you—to your advantage.

DANIEL STOLL

With this wealth of correspondence to be kept, the basement has been turned over to that activity entirely. Some idea of what these files hold may be taken from the statement made by one of the staff, that 1000 letters a day received at the office is not at all unusual, in fact it is close to the average.

Everybody is busy down at the "Continental" these days, and from a hurried examination of this latest addition to the plant, it would seem that everybody's happy, too.

There is no doubting the fact that Newark has one of the finest office buildings to be found anywhere. It is not huge, nor filled with rare tapestries or oil paintings. It is a place for business, first, last and all the time.

FIRST FATALITY

First Day's Gunning Results In Tragedy Near Hockessin

Joseph Fahey, about 45 years old, of 600 French Street, Wilmington, was killed by a charge from his own gun while hunting north of Hockessin, near Jordan's Corner, last Thursday afternoon. The death marked the first accident of the 1923 rabbit season.

It is believed by two companions who heard his cries, that Fahey, in climbing a fence, in some manner slipped and fell, the gun going off close to his body. He lived for a few minutes but was past all help.

The funeral was held last Saturday from his late residence in Wilmington.

WELSH TRACT P.T. ASSOCIATION MEETS

Visiting County Teacher Speaks on "The School Library"

The Welsh Tract Parent-Teacher Association met at the school on last Tuesday evening.

The meeting was opened by singing the hymn, "Come Thou Almighty King" followed by a prayer by the President, Curtis W. Johnson. The association plans to build an addition to the school to provide room for serving hot lunches. It was also voted to contribute $5 to the Blue Bird Sewing Club and to buy song books to be used in the school. Twelve new members were secured, making a membership of seventy.

Mrs. N. B. Mousley, Visiting Teacher of New Castle County, was present and spoke on "The School Library." The pupils gave a number of interesting Thanksgiving recitations. The first grade children dramatized "The Little Red Hen" and other grades gave a short play, "Hansel and Gretel." A solo was sung by Vera Connor.

After the program Mrs. Mousley decorated twenty-four children with attendance buttons, while the pupils responded with yells for good attendance.

The social committee sold refreshments of ice cream and cake and about $12 was cleared.

CECIL COUNTY MAN 83, STILL YOUNG

James L. Craig Cuts 50 Shocks of Corn on 62nd Wedding Anniversary

Just to show that he's still a youngster, James L. Craig, who is 83 years of age, three days before the recent anniversary of his marriage, cut fifty shocks of corn in half a day at his home in Cecil County, Md., between Charlestown and Principio Furnace. His wife, who is 2 years younger, does most of her own housework, and they are both as "lively as crickets." Mr. Craig was 83 years "young" last January and Mrs. Craig was 71 years of age last March.

To have resided in the same house in which they now live for the past 52 years and in the same neighborhood all their lives, are among other unusual experiences in the lives of Mr. and Mrs. Craig, who observed their sixty-second wedding anniversary on October 16 last.

They had three children but only one of them is living. Henry F. Craig, the only living child of this union, is a conductor on the Maryland Division of the Pennsylvania Railroad. The other children were: Elmer E. Craig, who was a train dispatcher on the Pennsylvania Railroad, and Martha E. Gross, who lived in Philadelphia. They have eight grandchildren and five great grandchildren.—Sunday Star.

REJECT SCHOOL BIDS

Newark Contractor Among Bidders On Additions In Cecil County

Bids for the proposed additions to the High School buildings in Cecil County and North East were received and opened recently by school authorities in Cecil County. Bids were received from H. C. Phillips and Son, and Julian Smith for the Cecil County job, and by James H. Hutchison, and H. H. White, of North East, for the latter work.

All bids were rejected as the estimates in every case were considerably above the money available for the improvements.

NOVEMBER 21, 1923

A Delawarean

This description was given some years ago by the Honorable Victor B. Wooley at the installation exercises of Samuel Chiles Mitchell as president of Delaware College. Born in Sussex County, an alumnus of Delaware College, with an unusual record at the Bar and on the Bench, a keen observer, a deep student, he has by word, deed and experience earned the title of a Leader of that citizenship, he so well describes. Modest, unassuming, a carriage of dignity, a graciousness with a twinkle of humor, a part of yet apart from the crowd, a logical thinker, an easy and convincing speaker, we like to think of him as the Gentleman from Delaware. To those who come to us, his words should be of special interest. It depicts the Delawarean of yesterday and today and is worthy of emulation by those who will tomorrow hold the traditions of our little but strikingly interesting state.

You will find in Delaware a great and seemingly to some an exaggerated pride of state and people. Somewhat with the sensitiveness of a man of small stature, we are jealous of our statehood, and maintain that the sovereignty of a state is no more to be measured by its area than are the qualities of a man to be determined by his size.

Geographically, Delaware is divided into three parts; popularly, it is not divided at all. The people of Delaware, like their laws, are Anglo-Saxon, and again like their laws, they are probably more purely Anglo-Saxon than are the people of any other American commonwealth. There exists in this state, especially in the lower counties, whole communities of people whose blood and whose language even are as purely Anglo-Saxon as they were a century ago; and elsewhere the strain has been little diluted by immigration. Our people, therefore, are distinguished from the people of many states by possessing, in an uncommon degree, the traits and qualities that mark the Anglo-Saxon race for hard sense, calm judgment, frank expression, and deliberate action.

From such stock it is plain that the habits of thought and of life of our people are rather fixed, deep rooted and not easily moved or disturbed. We are sometimes called obstinate. We have our state traditions, which in some respects amount to state policy. Socially the lives of our people are clean and wholesome; politically, tense and at times bitter; industrially busy, for the average Delawarean is no more opposed to labor than he is averse to its rewards.

The equanimity and mental poise of our people are their distinctive characteristics. The distinguished Bishop of the Diocese of Delaware recently said, "The people of Delaware have a quality that makes them hard to 'bowl over.'" And this is true. They have a fashion of standing squarely on their feet, of looking quietly into your eyes and, if occasion requires, of hitting squarely between them. They seek knowledge for its par value and not in variety of its acquisition or possession, and in their observation of the world they are interested in but no wise affected by either exhibition of power or the exercise of authority; and no matter how humble or how poor they may be, they are neither disturbed by the display of the rich nor awed by the presence of the great. Such is the average Delawarean. The State of Delaware, like most states of our system of government, acquires its importance from its average citizens rather than from the reflected distinction of its exceptional ones. The nobility as well as the stability of the state rests upon its average citizens, who make up that great body of unnoticed men, to the great masses of toilers, the men who rarely emerge to the general view but who go on from day to day, from year to year, and from generation to generation, and by their labors sustain the whole economics of the body politic and by their characters set the standards of society.

BUTCHERING TIME

HAS ARRIVED AGAIN

November with its frosts and Thanksgiving makes us think of approaching Winter preparation. With crops all in, we begin to get ready for Butchering.

To do this well requires certain equipment. Experience has convinced me of the merit of Enterprise. It is so well known that the word Enterprise almost means Butchering.

UNION SERVICES

Churches To Co-operate In Thanksgiving Meeting
Next Wednesday

As has been the custom for many years past, the churches of Newark will hold a Union Service in the Methodist Episcopal Church next Wednesday evening, November 28th. The service will begin at eight o'clock. It is expected that special music will be arranged for the occasion.

The Thanksgiving sermon will be delivered by H. Everett Hallman, pastor of the Presbyterian Church here.

METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH

7:30 P. M., Divine worship with sermon. Subject, "The Exile of Eternity."

Music of merit. Helpful messages. Warm welcome.

WHITE CLAY CREEK CHURCH

Rev. W. R. McElroy, Pastor

An opportunity will be given at the close of next Sunday morning's service to join this church by letter or on profession of faith.

On Wednesday of last week Mr. Nathaniel Richards was taken ill with a severe headache which resulted in what was feared to be a stroke affecting his face, throat and tongue. The last few days he has greatly improved and it is now thought the spell may have been from other causes.

Mrs. Sarah Jane Whiteman, mother of Mr. Frank Whiteman, died Tuesday morning at her late residence, 1335 Clayton Street, Wilmington, at which place the funeral services will be held Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Interment in the cemetery of Old White Clay Creek Church, of which church she was a member for more than forty years. The pastor, Rev. McElroy, will officiate.

The union Thanksgiving services, embracing the two M. E. Churches of Ebenezer and Hockessin, and the Red Clay and White Clay Church, will be held in the M. E. Church at Hockessin Thursday, November 29th, at 10:30. Rev. McElroy will preach the sermon.

BIBLE CLASS STRONG

The Men's Bible Class of the Methodist Episcopal Church here is growing each week and is now one of the largest single organizations within church. Under the leadership of Clarence A. Short, the class meets every Sunday morning. Great interest is shown by the members and every meeting is well attended.

EBENEZER CHURCH

Rev. G. T. Gehman, Pastor

"Home Coming Day" is to be celebrated at Ebenezer Church next Sunday, November 25th. There will be services all day and evening. The Church School will meet at 10:00 a. m. Dr. R. W. Cooper, Newark, of The Service Citizens, will deliver an address at 11:00 a. m. In the afternoon Judge Walter A. Powell, Dover, will speak, and later Professor W. B. Thornburgh, principal of Dover High School, will speak. An old Bible that was used in Ebenezer Church over one hundred years ago, has been found, and will be presented to the Church again next Sunday. It will then be placed in a glass case and kept in the Church. Mrs. A. J. Whiteman, Wilmington, will give a historical account of the Church. In the evening Professor C. Short, Newark, will deliver an address.

Last Sunday morning the pastor received a large class of the recent converts into preparatory membership of the Church.

Mrs. Gilbert T. Gehman led the Epworth League service Sunday evening. Mrs. Gehman spoke on the topic, "Witnessing for Christ."

WEST AMWELL SERVICES

The closing service for the season at West Amwell Chapel, on the Elkton-Newark Road will be held next Sunday afternoon, beginning at 2:30.

Rev. W. G. Harris, of the Elkton M. E. Church, will make the address. Singers from the Richardson Park M. E. Church will also be present and give a special musical program.

MAY YET SAVE THE DELAWARE STATE FAIR

$25,000 In Shares Must Be Sold Within 90 Days To Prevent Abolishment

At a meeting of the Board of Directors of the Delaware State Fair held in Wilmington yesterday afternoon, a resolution was adopted in which the big Fall event may be saved.

Stock at $5 per share to the amount of $25,000 must be subscribed within the next ninety days to insure a continuance of the program for next year.

This resolution was submitted by MacMillan Hoopes, a Director and one who has been working for a plan to keep the Fair going.

Five persons in Wilmington and one person in each Hundred of the State will be appointed to canvass for the additional stock. In case the total is not raised in the given time, the money already subscribed will be returned.

The Fair it was stated yesterday faces a deficit of approximately $21,000.

Another meeting is scheduled for next Wednesday at which time chairmen for the soliciting of the money will be appointed.

SCARCITY OF RABBITS ALARMS NIMRODS

Regular patrons of the Fall hunting season in the vicinity of Newark report a decided scarcity of Bre'r Rabbit this year. In fact, there have been few who have gained the limit allowed by the laws of the State.

One Newark resident, who has always been in the field during the rabbit season, reported yesterday that in company with six other hunters and two good dogs, he tramped over several miles of hunting ground to the west of town one day last week, and the party failed to scare up a single bunny. The same situation holds for birds. Down in Cecil County and in the Middletown district, however, birds are said to be plentiful this year.

It is the general opinion of seasoned hunters interviewed this week, that the practice of allowing dogs to run loose through spring and summer months is playing havoc with game in this section. This practice is sure death to the young rabbits and birds. Scarcity of game wardens handicaps the situation further, and makes it an easy matter to evade the law.

SNELLENBURG'S WILMINGTON STORE PASSES TWENTY-EIGHTH MILESTONE OF BUSINESS

David Snellenburg, Head of Firm, Has Good
Will and Respect of the Entire Peninsula
Remembers Last Year's Dinner

With the celebration of its twenty-eighth anniversary, the Snellenburg store in Wilmington again comes to the front in the mercantile trade of the peninsula.

DAVID SNELLENBURG

Well-known throughout Wilmington and the State as a good citizen and outstanding business man, David Snellenburg, head of the firm in Wilmington, continues at the helm, and withal the many years of hard work and discouraging setbacks, is still hale and hearty, and possessed with a keen conception of conditions in this and other countries today.

Mr. Snellenburg has a high regard for the people of Wilmington and the entire peninsula. Hundreds are his personal friends, and he is always glad to see them when they drop in.

Last year, on the 27th anniversary, members of the Delmarvia Press Association tendered the Wilmington merchant a dinner. On that occasion the following testimonial was framed and presented to him:

"I love the man who faces what he must
With step triumphant and a heart of cheer;
Who fights the daily battle without fear;
Sees his hopes fail, yet keeps unfaltering trust
That God is God; that somehow true and just
His plans work out for mortals; who envies not,
Nor loses faith in man; but does his best."

"To the man who always does his best," whose unfaltering trust in Wilmington and the things that are Wilmington, has marked him ever foremost in advancing the interests of the city of his adoption; whose courage and optimism have been an inspiration to those who might have felt faint-hearted or despairing in the last twenty-seven years of Wilmington's progress; sincere friend; loyal comrade, successful business man, with name as fair and fresh as when he first embarked upon his career; tireless worker in all causes which lead to a better understanding between man and man, whether they be those which are embodied in civic progress or whether they be represented by the helping hand extended to all manner of charitable work, with no distinction of creed, race or color; the man who is now just as strong in his vision for

UNIV. FRATERNITIES HOLD THREE DANCES

Saturday Night Finds Students In Jolly Parties Here

Two fraternity dances and a house party marked the next to the last week-end before football season ends at the University.

Members of the Sigma Phi Epsilon fraternity enjoyed a splendid informal dance in Old College Saturday night. Madden's Orchestra furnished delightful music for the occasion and a number of alumni and friends of the chapter here were in attendance.

The Theta Chi Fraternity held a pretty dance in the New Century Club, their first since they were organized here. Shorter's Orchestra played for the dance.

The house party for Saturday evening was staged by members of the Kappa Alpha Fraternity at their house on West Main Street.

BLUE BIRD CLUB MEETS AT WELSH TRACT

Exhibit of Hand Embroidery Features Affair

The Blue Bird Club held a meeting at the Welsh Tract School on last Tuesday evening. The meeting was called to order by the president, Elma Cooper, at 6.30 o'clock. The minutes of the last meeting were read by the secretary, Gladys Whitten. Five members responded to roll call. The girls decided to make dolls for their little sisters for Christmas.

The Club gave an attractive exhibit of hand embroidered tea towels at the Parent-Teacher meeting. Home made candy was sold and quite a good sum was cleared for the club.

a greater Wilmington as he was when he first joined his fortunes with us—in short, to our true and loyal friend, David Snellenburg, who now completes his twenty-seventh year of business among us, we offer our sincere congratulations for his mercantile success in the past and his courageous and unfaltering loyalty to the best interests of Wilmington and of Delaware, and we trust that the future may show an even greater measure of success in all the things that make life worth while."

Notice the similarity—True, probably a great many sound alike; it's the merchant's privilege to use any words in the dictionary.

But SHOES are not alike, despite the sameness of advertising. All shoes are stitched, all cut from leather, and frequently there the similarity ends.

BOSTONIAN SHOES are unique in their making, carefully cut, correct sizing. These features contribute to long wear. The style and leather gives added value. Drop in and see them. You'll be agreeably surprised, too, at the moderate prices.

CHECKERS

A column devoted to the interests of the old game in Newark

All contributions to this column addressed to The Newark Post will be gladly published. Contributors must sign their names.

Out of deep respect for old veterans and sage champions of the ancient and honorable game of Draughts (checkers) and with a view towards encouraging an awakened interest in the pastime by members of the younger generations, THE POST plans to devote from time to time in its columns, a space of variable size, and it shall be called the "Checker Column."

To the old masters and devotees of Draughts all honor and prestige, Amen.

It was the most beautiful of all indoor games during centuries past. We believe any of the present day generation would agree if they could but see some of the pretty variations of the Bristol and Ayresshire Lassie openings played on a fine old hand carved inlaid board, with good pieces at hand.

So from time to time, as space permits, THE POST will publish gladly games submitted by any and all players of this vicinity. No "book" games will be accepted. Only original variations, and improvements on book openings will be published and reviewed.

In notating games, number all the black squares from one to thirty-two, starting at the first players right hand double corner and traveling right to left across the board and finishing in second players white double corner.

The first discussion for local talent follows:

The Fool's Fine Position

For the benefit of all amateurs, who thus far, by many and devious means, escaped this disaster, THE POST checker experts advise you to read carefully, and forever afterward avoid this universal pitfall:

REPORT OF NEW CASTLE COUNTY AGENT FOR THE MONTH OF OCTOBER, 1923

Junior Dairy Cattle Judging Team

The County Agent chaperoned the Junior Dairy Cattle Judging Team to the National Dairy Exposition at Syracuse. The personnel of the team was Herman Conner, Jr., Crawford Sheldon, Glasgow, and Lawrence Willey, Greenwood. In the judging contest at the Exposition, Herman Conner, Jr., received a bronze medal as an award of merit in placing second in the judging of Guernsey and Jersey cattle. In their demonstration the team placed seventh. The standing of the team as a whole in the judging work did not come up to expectations. However, it should be kept in mind that the competition was very keen; teams from 20 states were entered. Many of those teams had had comparatively large sums of money expended in their training.

Cow Testing Association

Harold L. Hansen, tester of the Delmarvia Dairy Testing Association, is indeed doing a good piece of work. There seems to be universal satisfaction among the members with his work. The officers are gratified to learn that Mr. Hansen is seriously considering continuing the work through the second year. In this event it is thought that the Association will reorganize automatically at the beginning of the new year.

Six Year Report

The County Agent is now proofing the six year report and he expects to have it in the mail during the next two weeks.

Factors Affecting Grades of Wheat

As time permits, the County Agent is continuing the work of factors affecting the grades of wheat. It is his plan to make the report of value from the standpoint of the entire state, and in all ninety samples have been taken from the three counties. Twenty of these samples have been taken from the drill while the farmer was seeding. A complete analysis of these samples will indicate to what extent the quality of the wheat seeded affects the commercial grades.

District Corn Show

President Yearsley has appointed the following committee in charge of the northern district corn show: W. W. Buckingham, Wilson Pierson, Fred Trimble and Paul Mitchell. Messrs. Yearsley and Bausman are members ex-officio. This committee will probably meet the night of the Hockessin Grange corn show and formulate definite plans for the show. It is the consensus of opinion that the dry weather last summer has affected the quality of the corn in the southern part of the county to the extent that it will not be feasible to hold the annual show in that district.

Motion Picture Meetings

The County Agent has been detailed to secure films to be used at the meetings in conjunction with the Farm Bureau membership drive. He will assist in arranging these meetings and speak on such topics as are incorporated in his program of work.

Diamond State Game Saturday in Wilmington Ends in Disgraceful Exhibition

LOCALS LOSE, 6-0

Newark A. C. lost a hard fought game to Diamond State Fibre Co. at Second and DuPont Streets, Wilmington last Saturday afternoon, 6-0.

A long end run by Autman of the victors, followed by a plunge through center for the remaining yard, gave the Fibremen their only score.

Throughout the game Newark suffered from alleged poor decisions of the referee, and were continually threatened by spectators. The officials, according to reports of the game, were the poorest seen this season.

With Doc Steel and Jim Keeley doing most of the offensive work, Newark had the Wilmington team on the run several times during the game. Whenever they came within close scoring distance, however, they were either forced back by bad breaks of the game or by a poor decision.

The Newark team placed a strong eleven on the field and all played good ball, but the lone touchdown proved too much for them to overcome.

Game Ends In Riot

One of the most disgraceful affairs ever seen in a sporting contest marred the game Saturday.

Immediately after the whistle blew to end the struggle, a mob of hostile fans, many of whom were from the 11th Ward, made an unprovoked attack upon the Newark players. Out-numbered 10 to 1, the local boys fought their way from the field, and none suffered save for a few bruises and cuts. Bricks and stones were thrown promiscuously and not until someone turned in a riot call, bringing a wagon load of police, did the fighting stop. Individual fracas took place all over the field. Many of the Diamond State men took sides with Newark in an effort to get them safely off the field.

After the police arrived, the disturbance ended and the local team was not further molested.

It is charged that all through the game, the Wilmington rooters hurled threats at Newark players and in no small measure destroyed the confidence of Holton's team.

Coach Holton, Jim Keeley and others were slightly hurt in the melee following the game. Doc Steel, the evident object of the attack, was extricated from the mob and lodged in a nearby house for safety.

Newark players were disgusted with the treatment accorded visitors and it is not likely that any more Wilmington teams will be played.

The lineup:

Diamond State	Newark
Bernardo	left guard
Golden	center
Burns	right end
Woods	right tackle
Masten	right guard
Autman	right halfback

NEWARK HIGH ROLLS
UP HUGE SCORE

Newark High enjoyed sweet revenge at the expense of Delaware City High last Thursday afternoon on the local field, when they swamped the visitors under a 70-0 score.

The visitors held the Newark charges to a 7-0 struggle in the canal town a few weeks ago, and those who went out to the game last week expected a good battle. Instead, it turned out to be a rout with Newark doing the routing.

The visiting line gave up all hopes of stopping Hopkins, Patchell and Townsend early in the game, and towards the last were standing aside and letting the locals do their worst.

On occasions Delaware City launched forward passes for good gains once in the last quarter completing two in succession for a total gain of some thirty yards; they became reckless with success, however, and the next pass was intercepted by Hopkins and a touchdown resulted.

The score at the end of the first half was 28-0. Every man in uniform was in the game for Newark. The scrubs outplayed Delaware City at every stage.

After the first quarter, the game lost every promise of being a struggle and it was merely a question of how big the score might be at the finish. The utter superiority of Newark in every department of the game made it hard to believe that they had been held by this self-same team to one touchdown. But strange things happen even in football.

It is hard to pick out individual performers in 70-0 games. It is not a real test of strength, as the opposition defense wilted like paper before every attack.

The locals are now priming for the second crucial game with Dover to be played at the Capital City next Friday.

DELAWARE IS VICTOR OVER G.W.

Washington Team No Match For Blue and Gold Saturday—Lose, 19-7

McAVOY USES SCRUB

With a patched up team at the start and late in the game the entire second team in the fray, Delaware had little trouble in defeating George Washington University of Washington, D. C., on Frazer Field, Saturday. The score, 19-7, does not show the superiority held by the Blue and Gold.

Coach McAvoy was forced to radically shift his team as a result of injuries to both Weggennman and Elliott, star halfbacks. Both of these men are being ured along for the Dickinson game Saturday, and they were kept out of the game that reason.

Cherpak, Hubert and Carlon started the game in the Blue Hen backfield, with old reliable Jack Williams at his post at fullback. Hubert has been drilled for the quarterback position for the past two weeks. He formerly played guard and with a little more practice should develop into a good back.

Akin Blocks Kick

The first score of the game came in the very first quarter when Akin blocked a G. W. punt on their 30 yard line, and in the scramble for the ball, Donaldson covered it over the goal line for a touchdown.

The second score came as a result of a steady attack by Williams, Hubert and Carlon, interspersed with a few forward passes thrown by the former player.

After working the ball to within five yards of the goal, Williams crashed through the line for a touchdown, and then surprised G. W. by heaving a successful forward to Lohman for the goal point.

The second half saw a desperate attempt on the part of the visitors to score by means of forwards. One of his tosses from close to his goal line, however, fell into the arms of Fahey, Blue and Gold lineman, who raced to the 9 yard line before being downed. Successive plunges by Carlon and Williams gave Delaware her final touchdown.

After this score, Coach McAvoy took out all the starters save Lohman, Magaw and Williams and sent in his second team.

G. W. continued her aerial attack for the balance of the game, and succeeded in the final period in scoring a touchdown. Lamar was adept in throwing the passes, and she was easily the star of the visiting team.

Akin, Torbert and Magaw played high class football on the line for Delaware, while Jack Williams was in fine form on the attack. He made several long twisting runs. Carlon's punting was very good, and Hubert also acquitted himself like a veteran in backfield.

THE SPORTING TICKER

A Column Devoted to Clean Athletics and Sportsmanship, written by one who loves the Game.

AND THEY CALL THEMSELVES SPORTS

With all the effort which is expended yearly to purge athletics from all taint of rowdyism and "rough-necking," there crops up perennially something to spoil it all, like the well-known football player who ran into the goal post while looking to see if anyone was following him. There is nothing to do, in these cases, but to patiently try to rebuild the lost prestige and hope that not very many people heard about it. Not very many people did in this instance, which is some help.

The Newark football team were victims of a disgraceful exhibition of rowdyism by the crowd at their game with Diamond State Fibre, in Wilmington Saturday last. Not content with seeing the visiting boys beaten, the hoodlums on the sidelines mobbed the players after the whistle had blown, drove some into nearby houses, and those who were cut off, with not a friend in sight, were bruised by fists, feet and bricks. Fortunately someone with just a little grain of sportsmanship phoned in a call for police, and the riot was over as soon as the mob saw the blue uniforms.

This strange feature is always present with such groups anyhow: They fight with the bravery of lions, when they are sure they outnumber their opponents. When they see more opposition coming, they run like cur dogs.

There is little further to say. There is no use being angry. Rather it is to pity men with so little real red blood in their veins. Whether it is water or slime running through him, we do not know. We do pity their vacant brains and jelly-like hearts, though, and then, in the next thought, thank goodness, they are not very prolific.

ENTER THE HEROES

Wilson of Penn State

With the football storm almost over, with invulnerable teams biting the dust, unheard of teams socking the proud Eastern centers of culture for several of Persian temples, and with the consequent lull which always follows the hottest of the battle, we now have a wee minute to take account of stock, to polish up the band wagon, and to begin our persistent, while futile, pastime of picking out the All-American boys.

Without degenerating this column into a book-makers' exchange, we can sometimes see easy money without straining our eyes, and therefore, we are willing to lay a slight bet that we can pick one member of Walter Camp's official team right now. We are confident that Walter, if Colliers' would let him, would place another bet on our side, just to show his confidence in our judgment. Our money is hereby placed on the noble head of Harry Wilson, of Sharpsville, somewhere in Pennsylvania, halfback extraordinary of the Penn State eleven.

If a chance to vote went with admission to Franklin Field Saturday, Harry would have polled about 55,000 votes, as All-American timber. And that's just one game.

It is hard to size up a player when he is seen in action but once, but if it is in order, we would say this about Wilson:

He has the knack of running headlong into a tackle, and to somehow slip over him, around him or through him, while the said tackler is frantically trying to lay hands on him.

He has football brains, uses them craftily, and has them running smoothly every minute of every game.

He has a pair of legs which never say "down" until some one sits on them. He will run until he's off balance, then he'll crawl and squirm until he is overwhelmed.

He can do anything any backfield man is called upon to do, and do it a little better than anyone we've ever seen, save the one and only Jim Thorpe.

He has a quiet, even temperament, never shows a sign of joy or disappointment. Whether he loses five yards or gains five yards, he never changes his manner. He would play the same way if the All-Americans ever swung into action.

THERE IS AN OLD ADAGE that says, "It is too late to lock the barn after the horse is stolen." Likewise, it is too late to get your automobile insured after the car is stolen or been ruined in an accident.

Why not let me show you what is possible in the way of complete protection at a surprisingly low cost to you. It is much better to be safe than sorry, and much cheaper for you in the long run, because automobile accidents will happen, and sometimes with disastrous results to the financial welfare of the owner, when he is not covered with reliable insurance.

NEW CENTURY CLUB TO HEAR W. A. WILKINSON

Meeting Next Tuesday In Support of Education Week

The Newark New Century Club will hold its regular meeting in the club house on Tuesday afternoon, November 27th, at 2.30.

The meeting will be in charge of the Educational Committee.

Next week will be National Education Week.

The Federal Government is vitally interested in the preparation of children for citizenship. It is hoped that all members will be sufficiently interested to come out to this meeting to hear a presentation of some up-to-date educational problems, including those of immediate local interest.

Mr. W. A. Wilkinson, head of the School of Education of the University of Delaware, will address the meeting. There will be music.

December 4th, at 5 o'clock, the Club will give a supper in the club house. There will be fancy work, cake and candy tables and other attractions.

The tickets are now on sale.

to the guests. This was followed by a short period of dancing.

Among those who welcomed the new rector in short talks, were David C. Rose, president of the Guild, George Carter, Alfred A. Curtis, Dr. George A. Harter and William D. Dean, all members of the Vestry of the church.

In response, Dr. Mathews voiced his sincere hope that he may do his part in gaining the cooperation of the entire congregation. He also expressed his desire to become acquainted with as many residents of the town as possible, and, regardless of denomination, to work for the good of the Church in this vicinity.

Mrs. Mathews was unable to be present, owing to the sudden death of her father, Major William H. Tukey, U. S. A., retired, at his home in Hancock, Maine. Members of the Vestry expressed their sincere sympathy for Mrs. Mathews.

One daughter, Miss Louise Mathews, has entered the sophomore class at the local High School, while two other children, a son and daughter, remained in Easton, Md.

HARMONY GRANGE

The regular meeting of Harmony Grange was held Monday evening, November 19th. During the routine of business the consignment of grapes, raisins and prunes were reported on hand for distribution among the patrons at the close of the meeting. N. S. Hoagland, of Massachusetts, demonstrated the benefit of a hand fire extinguisher in the home and hall. The lecture hour opened with naming and discussing a few of the most wonderful modern inventions. The patrons decided that electricity was the most useful of all. The question, Are the people of today, with all modern conveniences, more happy than people of fifty years ago, was discussed by Brother Joseph Mitchell, Sister Pennington, Sister Cooper and Brother Naudain. That modern conveniences had brought restlessness and not happiness, was the conclusion reached. Previous to the meeting, each member had been asked to bring a photograph of himself taken at any age. Guessing to whom each belonged proved very amusing. The lecturer announced the meeting, November 26th, to be in the charge of the Brothers. The Worthy Master and his wife treated all the patrons to candy.

PREPARING FOR BIG INITIATION

A feature of lodge events this week will be the class initiation, to be held by Ivy Castle No. 23, K. G. E., in their lodge rooms in Center Hall, next Saturday evening. The ceremonies will start at 7.00, somewhat earlier than usual.

Delegations from Wilmington, Elk Mills and other nearby towns are expected to be present, and together with the members of the local lodge, will make up one of the largest affairs of the year.

Following the initiation exercises, the assemblage will be served refreshments by the Newark lodge, after which a social hour will be enjoyed. All members of Ivy Castle are requested to be on hand to help make the evening successful.

STRAW RIDE TONIGHT

About forty-five young people of Newark, most of whom are High School students, and several chaperones are planning to go on a straw ride this evening in Renshaw's big five-ton truck. Their destination is Chester, Pa., where they will be loaded in the myriad parcels, children and quilts, and struck the trail again for the sunny south.

John Costello and Frank Thompson were the leaders of the band. Two of the cars bore Pennsylvania license tags, while the third was a Kentucky car. The gypsies had come to Newark from Chester, Pa.

Throughout the four hours they were in Newark, the motley group was surrounded by a large crowd of men, women and children, the latter wide-eyed and open-mouthed, gazing upon those strange, nomadic people they had heard of so many times and seen so seldom.

When asked where they were going from here, one of the men calmly answered: "South."

TOWN COUNCIL APPROVES PLAN FOR OPENING UP TWO NEW STREETS HERE

S. J. Wright Development Program Would Provide Choice Building Lots In Very Desirable Section

At a special meeting of town council held last week, Mr. C. C. Hubert submitted plans for the opening of a new street running from Main Street to close to the B. and O. Railroad, and thence at right angles to New Street, near the M. E. Cemetery. The street is part of a development plan instituted by S. J. Wright, following his purchase recently of the old Curtis property on Main Street.

Council approved the plan, and when the time arrives, will place water mains along the street and supervise the placing of sewer lines. In time, it is the belief that they will pave the street.

The proposed thoroughfare will enter Main Street along the western border of Dr. Kollock's property, from there running back several hundred feet, then to the right, connecting with New Street.

Prospective home seekers and builders hail this move as one of the most promising developments attempted here in many years.

The streets will open up several acres of land, hitherto unused, save for pasture, and, as it is centrally located and easily reached, there is no doubt whatever that when the lots are laid out, they will find a ready sale.

Several efforts have been made in the past to open up a street north of Main between Choate Street and North College Avenue, but none have met with success. It is generally believed that the Wright development will be a great boon to the housing problem in town.

In the Long Run---

High grade heating and plumbing in your house will prove a good investment.

250,000 AUTO LICENSES IN MD. IOWA LEADS STATES

Maryland has either got to increase its population or the auto owners have got to double up on cars, according to W. F. Schroeder, Assistant Motor Vehicles Commissioner. Within a year or two everybody that is now in Maryland who is above the years of discretion will have at least one car, he says, if the increase in numbers continues.

Already there are 217,000 automobile licenses in Maryland which, with a population of approximately 1,700,000, gives a car to every seven persons. Before the end of 1924, unless the unexpected happens and the ratio of increase decreases, Maryland will have more than a quarter of a million cars. Allowing for children, inmates of asylums and State institutions, this will come very nearly to giving every family in the State a car and some of them more.

No Saturation Point

Naturally there is no talk of a saturation point for automobiles—there doesn't appear to be a possibility of such a state. The saturation point, according to statisticians of a decade ago, was reached when the car ratio was one to every twenty persons. That point was reached and passed and nothing came of it except a few more automobile factories and new makes of cars.

With the increased number of cars, however, one point has been made clear. The cars are cheaper and better than ever before. They give less trouble and more comfort and they continue to work toward that point of perfection which will mean that they will become indispensable to all classes of people.

Iowa now stands at the head of the list in automobile ownership, with one car to every five persons in that State. Maryland stands in the first five States, with one automobile to every seven persons, which is mighty near to one for every family, and unless something radical happens Maryland will creep up further in the list before the coming year is gone.

The reason for the large number of automobiles in Maryland is, of course, the road system, which makes it almost a necessity to own an automobile in that state.

GOVERNMENT HAS EXPERT ROAD BUILDERS

Bureau of Public Roads Performs Great Service

The administration of the Federal Aid road acts are in the hands of the Bureau of Public Roads, Department of Agriculture, on which organization devolves the enormous responsibility of seeing that the millions of Uncle Sam's money for aid in state road programs, are wisely spent upon needed roads, that the state contribute their proper proportion of the cost of such roads, and that the roads are properly built from an engineering standpoint.

This organization, which started as a small office attached to the Department of Agriculture, has grown to the status and dignity of a bureau, housed in a building by itself, and with a large and competent force of road experts. These not only look after the clerical details of the work, and superintend the engineering features, but in addition do a great deal of educational work, and maintain one of the best equipped and most scientific of testing laboratories for road materials in existence.

The experimental work of the bureau has been of the highest value to roadmakers everywhere; not only the laboratory work, but the actual construction and testing of stretches of road of all kinds, in all climates, and in many locations. The outdoor tests of the speeds of automobiles with reference to the amount of dust raised and damage done to water-bond roads are classic in the industry, and bureau information of the effect of impact of loads upon roads, worked out according to drop of wheel, were fundamental in road construction.

The enormous road mileage built and building, with the aid of the Federal Government, is a series of monuments to the ability, foresight, wise planning, and able administration of this bureau of the Department of Agriculture.

The SMILE CORNER

Economy

Cohen and Levy were in business together, and while traveling out West Levy took sick and died. The undertaker who took charge of the body wired Cohen: "Levy died, can embalm him for fifty dollars or freeze him for twenty-five dollars."

Cohen wired back: "Freeze him from the knees up for fifteen dollars, his legs were frost-bitten last winter." —Jack-o'-Lantern.

Popular

After a loud and prolonged exhortation in a Holy Roller meeting, the preacher called for testimonials. A devout young lady of color arose and shouted her story.

"Las' night Ah was in de arms ob de debil; an' tonight Ah is in de arms ob de Lord."

A hushed but excited voice from the back of the room interrupted her. "Got a date fo' tomorrow night, sister?" —Lemon Punch.

NOTICE TO BIDDERS

Public notice is hereby given that the Board of Education of Newark, Delaware, and the Delaware School Auxiliary Association will meet at the office of the Delaware School Auxiliary Association, 4116 Du Pont Building, Wilmington, Delaware, on November 28, 1923, at the hour of two o'clock in the afternoon and then there will receive and open sealed proposals for furnishing labor and material to erect and complete a new School Building for the City of Newark, in the county of New Castle, Delaware.

The work for which bids or proposals are hereby invited will consist of a semi-fireproof building constructed of brick, concrete, and with a combination timber and reinforced concrete floor construction and a timber roof construction. The size of the building is two and three stories and part basement high, approximately 170' front by 118' deep.

Bids will be received for the erection complete of the entire building under one contract, or for the following divisions separately:

- 1.—For the general construction, which includes all masonry, carpentry, steel and iron, roofing, painting and all work kindred thereto.
- 2.—For plumbing and gas fitting, and all work kindred thereto.
- 3.—For heating and ventilating and all work kindred thereto.
- 4.—For electric work.

The Board of Education reserves the right to accept or reject any or all proposals and to waive informalities at their discretion.

All bids must be in sealed envelopes addressed to the Board of Education, Newark, Delaware, care of Delaware School Auxiliary Association, 4116 Du Pont Building, Wilmington, Delaware, endorsed "Proposal for (naming the branch of work covered by bid)" within the name of the bidder.

No bid will be considered unless accompanied by a certified check to the order of the Board of Education of Newark, Delaware, to the amount of 2 per cent of the amount of the bid or a bid Bond of like amount, binding the bidder to execute the contract if awarded him. The terms of the proposal with surety required are fixed by the specifications.

The Board reserves the right to accept or reject any or all bids. All bids shall hold good for 30 days after formal opening of same.

Copies of the plans, specifications and proposal forms will be on file in the offices of the Delaware School Auxiliary Association, 4116 Du Pont Building, Wilmington, Delaware, for the purpose of examination and estimating.

There will be a limited number of copies of the plans and specifications which will be loaned to the prospective bidders on deposit of a certified check to the order of Delaware School Auxiliary Association in the sum of $25.00. If plans and specifications are returned on or before the submission of estimates, the check will be returned, but should the plans and specifications be not returned, the deposit may become forfeited.
