School Board Busy Explaining Tax Bills

Sending Out of Recent Statements Give Tax Payers Benefit of 5% Rebate, Says Official

Quite a number of the taxpayers of the Newark District are at a loss to understand the recent statements received requesting payment of school tax levies.

In order to put at rest erroneous theories relative to the bills and to explain the situation thoroughly to the taxpayers, the Newark Board of Education, through one of its members, issued the following statement to THE POST yesterday:

"There appears to be some of our taxpayers who do not understand why they are receiving tax bills at this time, when they have just recently paid a similar bill. As a matter of information we submit the following explanation:

"The bills for taxes levied for year July 1, 1923 to July 1, 1924 were delayed on account of the work necessary to secure a correct copy of the County assessment, from which Special School Districts are required to make their list of taxables. Therefore, the taxes in many cases were not paid until near the close of the taxable year. For the year July 1, 1924 to July 1, 1925 the work of preparing the assessment list was not so difficult, and as the interest on bonds are payable semi-annually, January 1 and July 1, arrangements were made whereby on any taxes paid before November 15, 1924 a rebate of 5 per cent will be allowed.

"This accounts for the bills being sent out so early this year, but those who do not care to take advantage of the discount may have until June 30th, 1925 to pay their bill.

"It will be noticed by referring to bills just sent out that it was found necessary this year to levy only 40 cents on the $100.00, which is 5 cents less than last year. This decrease being made possible on account of reduction in amount of interest, account of bonds retired and increase on assessment of the district."

PROPERTY TRANSFERS

The Real Estate Department of the Newark Trust and Safe Deposit Company reports the following property transfers this week:

The Rebecca Rose dwelling near the P. R. R. station has been sold to Mrs. Jennie Smith.

A lot on Sunset Avenue, in the Depot Road section of town, has been purchased by J. C. Willis from David C. Rose.

"Summit View Farm," at Kemblesville, the property of Dr. F. B. West, of that village, has been sold to William W. Cloud, of Newark.

FEDERAL AUDITOR HERE

A. P. Williams, of the Federal Board for Vocational Education, was a recent visitor in Newark, where he made his annual audit at the office of Director R. W. Heim. Together with Mr. Heim, he made a trip of inspection late last week to the du Pont, Laurel, Seaford, Greenwood and Caesar Rodney vocational schools.

LODGE NOTES

Messrs. Lewis Krapf and A. Sherwood Orr, of Minnehaha Tribe I. O. R. M., are attending the session of the Great Council of Delaware being held at Laurel, Del., today and tomorrow.

Ivy Castle, No. 23, K. G. E., will have an initiation next Saturday night. Several State officers are expected to be present—a large turnout is expected.

ORCHARD RIDGE HOME CHANGES OWNERSHIP

Major Arthur Underwood Buys Durant Home; Latter Will Build Nearby

A valuable piece of residential real estate changed hands the latter part of last week, when the property and dwelling of Armand Durant on Orchard Ridge in the western section of town was purchased by Major Arthur W. Underwood, military commandant at the University. The terms of the sale were not made public.

Major Underwood and his mother and sister will occupy the house shortly. Mr. Durant will build a new house adjacent to his former home.

EVENING OF MUSIC AND ONE-ACT PLAY PLEASES MUSIC SOCIETY MEMBERS AND GUESTS

"Trial By Jury" Given Under Auspices of New Century Club Monday Evening; Frank Mason Pleases With Solos

A delightful evening of music was spent by members of the Newark Music Society and their families Monday night when they were the guests of the New Century Club at an entertainment in the club house.

The affair was in charge of a committee headed by Mrs. Everett C. Johnson, and was extremely well received by an audience which filled the auditorium of the club.

The evening program began with three piano solos by Mrs. William Lasher. Her artistry is well known to members of the Club and she drew warm applause at the conclusion of her numbers.

Mrs. Johnson then introduced Mr. Frank Mason of Wilmington, one of the leading baritones of that city and known by many Newarkers who have heard him sing both at home and in the city.

Mr. Mason sang with great effect several old favorites, among them being "The Road to Mandalay," "Gipsy John," "Sunrise and You," and "Just A Song At Twilight." In the latter song, the audience joined in the chorus. This was followed by "Carry Me Back to Old Virginia," and others. Mr. Mason, possessing a deep, rich baritone, held the undivided attention of the assemblage and was encored several times.

"Trial By Jury"

The second half of the program consisted of a one-act play by Gilbert and Sullivan, entitled "Trial By Jury."

Mrs. James O. G. Duffy, who arranged for the evening's entertainment, also directed the piece. Members of the cast were well known Newark people, and the show greatly pleased the audience.

Those in the cast were: Plaintiff—Mrs. J. P. Cann. Defendant—F. Johnson Rowan. Judge—T. R. Dantz.

Counsel—Prof. George R. Ryden. Usher—A. D. Cobb.

Foreman—James M. Barnes. Bridesmaids—Mrs. C. A. McCue, Mrs. T. A. Baker, Mrs. J. M. Barnes, Miss Eleanor Duffy, Mrs. Reese Griffin, and Mrs. Allyn Cooch.

Spectators—Mrs. William E. Holton, Mrs. James C. Hastings, Mrs. Mervyn Lafferty, Miss Katherine Thompson, Mrs. Harvey Hoffecker, Mrs. William Bernard, Mrs. William Lasher, Miss Florence Cook.

Jurymen—J. M. Barnes, E. R. Sheaffer, Richard Cooch, Fred Strickland, Joseph McVey, Ira Ellis, Edwin Meredith and Eugene Kennedy. Accompanist—Miss Nell B. Wilson.

The piece opened with the reading of the humorous prologue by Mrs. A. D. Cobb.

"Trial By Jury" is a clever satire upon the British Courts by W. S. Gilbert, himself at one time a lawyer in London. Throughout the trials and tribulations of the plaintiff and defendant in their futile efforts to effect an agreement, turns the Gilbert wit. The score is typically Sullivan and some of the choruses, particularly the "Dilemma" sextette, are exceedingly difficult to master.

Mrs. Cann in the role of the plaintiff, and Johnson Rowan, as the effeminate defendant, carried off high honors in the performance. Mrs. Cann made a fetching bride, and carried away both the judge and jury.

New Physician Buys C. H. Blake Home Here

Dr. Raymond Downs and Family to Move Here Soon. Opened Offices Monday.

The valuable property of the late Dr. Charles H. Blake on West Main street has been purchased by Dr. Raymond Downs, formerly of Preston, Md., and now of this town.

Dr. Downs has disposed of his property in Preston and will make his permanent residence here. He opened the offices of the late Dr. Blake Monday and started his practice here. It is believed that his family will take up residence here shortly.

Dr. Downs, upon inquiry this morning, stated that until further plans have been made by Mrs. Blake, no date has been fixed for the arrival of the Downs family in Newark. He said Mrs. Blake is now making future arrangements, but nothing definite has been decided upon.

Mrs. Downs is understood to be finishing up the business affairs of her husband in Preston, Md. Dr. Downs began his practice here on Monday.

TWO CARS COLLIDE

Owner Settles Case Out of Court Monday

Two Ford roadsters belonging to E. F. Keen, of Wilmington, and Grason Wilson, of near Landenberg, colored, collided at the corner of Main and South College Avenue last Monday afternoon, about one o'clock. The Wilson car was badly dented amidstships, Wilson and four other companions were returning from Elkton, where his sister had been married an hour previous. Both the bride and groom appeared in Magistrate Thompson's court for the hearing. The parties concerned agreed to settle the case.

Candidate Hastings States His Position

Candidate for General Assembly From This Hundred, Addresses Voters

In reply to a recent editorial query in THE POST, inquiring as to the position of candidates to the Legislature on questions on which they must vote at the coming session, James C. Hastings, Republican candidate from White Clay Creek Hundred, has addressed an open letter to the people of the Hundred through the columns of this paper. Mr. Hastings' statement reads as follows:

"National extravagance must stop. We must look forward to a decrease of the burden of Federal taxation."

Calvin Coolidge.

Should not the same doctrine apply to our State. We must have honesty and common sense in our State government. I am in favor of and will give my support and initiative to tax reduction and tax reform. Our State platform states that:

"We believe that a modern and efficient system of public education is one of the chief assets of a State and that all children should be given modern educational opportunities. To this end we promise our best endeavors in so far as our financial resources will permit." This statement I am in hearty sympathy with.

I recognize the needs of our various State institutions, but their affairs must be administered efficiently and economically, always bearing in mind that the tax burdens on our farmers, industries and the individual are now sufficiently large.

I believe that our laws should be vigorously enforced and that no favors be shown to persons on account of wealth or social position.

I pledge myself to zealously protect our State Sovereignty against all encroachments. And if elected I shall go to Dover pledged or "tied-down" to no person or persons.

HALLOWE'EN PARADE

From present indications the Halloween parade to be staged by the members of the Good Will Fire Company, of New Castle, to precede the opening of their annual ball, which will be held in the Van Dyke Armory, will be one of the most elaborate that New Castle has ever seen.

COMMUNITY SHOWS

Community shows under the auspices of Farmers' Clubs and Granges are being held this week in Cecil County. West Nottingham held a very successful affair Tuesday, Oakwood today, Appleton tomorrow, and Calvert Friday and Saturday. The entries were large and much enthusiasm was expressed in the affairs which brought the farmer out in showing his product raised during the past year.

POULTRY SUPPER

Little Elk Council Degree, of Pocatontas, will hold their annual poultry supper in Red Men's Hall, Cherry Hill, on October 29 and 30. These affairs are largely attended and always enjoyed.

Superintendent Owens, of the Public Schools here, and R. W. Heim attended a conference of High School Principals, held at Caesar Rodney School, Wyoming, Del., last Friday.

MENCKENITES

A LA LA FOLLETTE

According to reports sifting from the halls of learning at the University, the H. L. Mencken Correspondence Course, recently come to life among the undergraduates, is booming along with rare vigor. Several students are browsing at the feet of the Baltimore Behemoth of criticism, lapping up choice bits of gossip about the so-called "big men" in politics, which fall from that virile pen.

Mister La Follette and Mister Wheeler, while not as yet sending stamped envelopes to the boys, have been discovered on bulletin boards during the past week.

Somewhere back in the dusty distance, the G. O. P. and Old Democracy are plodding along, hoping against hope to come up with t tatfeh-evarlgnim up with the fast-travelling mind of the Collegian. Shades of '96!

HOLDS BIRTHDAY PARTY

Master Merville Lewis Pence, son of Mr. and Mrs. M. O. Pence, celebrated his eighth birthday last Saturday afternoon, by entertaining ten of his young companions at a party. A very merry time was had by all the young people.

TAKEN TO HOSPITAL

Mrs. M. O. Pence, of Park Place, was taken to the Maryland General Hospital, Baltimore, last Thursday for treatment. It is understood that she will remain there from four to six weeks. Reports last night indicate that her condition is serious.

THE STORK

Mr. and Mrs. Donald P. Horsey are receiving congratulations on the birth of a son last Wednesday, in a Wilmington hospital. Mrs. Horsey will be remembered as Miss Cornelia Pelley, of Newark.

Mr. and Mrs. Griffith Moore are receiving congratulations on the birth of a son—Earl Vernon, October 15.

Mr. and Mrs. David W. Chalmers announce the birth of a son—Raymond David—at the P. and S. Hospital, Wilmington, Del., Sunday, October 19th.

E. J. Cattell Unable To Speak At Dinner

Wires Local Chamber of Commerce Committee of Sud-den Call to Coast—Affair Postponed

The following wire was received by the Chamber of Commerce here this week from Edward J. Cattell, of Philadelphia, who was to speak at the semi-annual dinner on the night of October 30th next:

"Mr. W. A. Singles, Sec., Chamber of Commerce, Newark, Del.

"Since engaging to speak at your Chamber of Commerce dinner I have been suddenly called to the Pacific coast and I am sorry that I will not be able to meet with you.

E. J. Cattell."

In announcing the change in the committee's plans, George W. Griffin, chairman in charge of the dinner, issued the following statement:

"The telegram will indicate the necessity of postponing till November 6th the Chamber of Commerce dinner, in order to canvass the speaker field to find one to fit our need, and furthermore, the political draft will be over by that time, and the membership will have ample notice."

CANNERY ACTIVITIES TO END THIS WEEK

Tomatoes Clipped By Frost; Will Not Can Pears, Is Report

The tomato canning season is expected to come to a close at the United Packing Company's plant here toward the close of the week, according to recent reports.

The sharp frosts this week have nipped the tomatoes and foreshadow the end of the canning activities. Several growers are reported to have several tons ready to be picked, notably H. G. Crowgey of Elkton.

The warm fair weather of the past two weeks considerably lengthened the season at the canning plant here, and they have been fairly busy.

Recent experiments in canning of Keiffer pears have indicated that such a department will not be started this year. The pears hereabouts were small and only a small percentage could be used for first grade packs, according to an official of the plant.

Many of the Negroes employed here during the season have left for their homes, others are working on nearby farms and for contractors. The balance will leave within a fortnight, it is said.

NEWARK BOY WEDS

Invitations are out for the wedding of Miss Mary Elizabeth Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas S. Smith, of Bridgeville, and John Savin Hoffecker, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Hoffecker, of Newark, at the Smith home, on Saturday of this week at 1:30 p. m. Mr. and Mrs. Smith have several relatives and friends in Newark.

Registration Here Beats 1920 Totals For White Clay Hd.

2157 Enroll as Against 2107 Prior to Harding-Cox Campaign—May be Record

What is believed by many local political leaders to be a record registering of voters in White Clay Creek Hundred, was made at the closing of the booths last Saturday evening.

A total of 2,157 men and women are now qualified to cast their ballots in the November elections. Divided into districts, the totals are: 1st district, 882; second district, 890; 3rd district, 415.

The registration Saturday by districts follows: 1st, 238; 2nd, 278; and 3rd, 69.

Beats 1920 Mark

The figures compiled last Saturday beat the previous high mark set in 1920, during the memorable Presidential race between Warren G. Harding and James Cox.

In that year, great activity was evidenced to get out the voters to register on the last day, October 16th, 1920.

In the first district, 237 registered, bringing the total to 744. In the second district, 347 qualified, making a total of 873. In the Christiana district, 107 men and women enrolled to bring their total to 400.

The enrollment last Saturday kept ahead of the 1920 figures in every way save for the 3rd district, where the registration fell off slightly.

Local leaders are enthused at the response by the voters of the hundred. The district polling places were crowded during the hours of registration, and workers for each party were kept on the jump getting out the vote.

MEN'S LEAGUE MEETING

Rev. Zach. W. Wells Addresses Local Church Group

A large attendance marked the regular monthly meeting of the Methodist Men's League, of this town, at the church last evening.

Rev. Zach. W. Wells, of New Castle, made the principal address of the evening, following a musical program in charge of Prof. E. B. Crooks.

Solos were rendered by Dr. Crooks, F. Johnson Rowan, A. D. Cobb and E. R. Sheaffer. Mrs. Lasher was accompanist.

HAS GORGEOUS BLOOMS

J. Franklin Anderson, of Delaware Avenue, is receiving many congratulations these days on the beautiful chrysanthemums which he has raised on his property.

The blooms, some of which are enormous, are all perfect ones of all the popular shades. Mr. Anderson raises them as a hobby and had particularly good luck this season. They are worth making a special trip over to Delaware Avenue.

TO CLOSE PRIZE LIST

The prize list for the Diamond State Poultry Show, to be held here in January, closes next Wednesday evening. Any who wish to offer a prize are requested to get in touch with either Samuel Little or William E. Renshaw before that date. At that time the catalogue will be laid out and printed for the big event.

MANY AT WELSH TRACT CHURCH SERVICES

Visitors Entertained By Townspeople During Stay Here Over Weekend

Members of the church and friends from several states attended the yearly meeting of the Old School Baptists held at Welsh Tract Baptist Church Saturday and Sunday. Elder J. G. Eubanks is in charge of the Welsh Tract Church. Some of the visiting Elders during the meeting were, Elders James and George McClanahan, of Poca, W. Va.; Elder J. W. Wyntt, of Selma, N. C.; Elder J. F. Murphy, of Poca, W. Va., and Elder Walker, of Philadelphia. Services were held at the church Saturday afternoon and Saturday evening and there was preaching at the home of John B. Miller, on Delaware avenue. Services were also held at the church all day Sunday.

Several Newark people made the visit of the Elders pleasant by entertaining them Saturday evening and Sunday.

Hundreds Attend Unveiling Ceremonies At Old Indian Town Near Kemblesville

241st Anniversary of Purchase of White Clay Valley by William Penn Commemorated Last Saturday—Indian Chieftain Present

With a crowd of five hundred people present from every community in Chester county, points in Delaware and Maryland, the 241st anniversary of the founding of "all the lands from the Delaware Bay to the Chesapeake as far north as the Falls of the Susquehanna" by William Penn by the Lenni-Lenape and Delaware tribes of Indians held in 1683 was celebrated last Saturday afternoon at London Tract Baptist Church, between Kemblesville and Teatman Station, north of Newark.

The chief event of the program was the unveiling of a monument marking the spot where the Indian Chieftain and William Penn met and arranged the boundary.

The ceremonies, which began at 2 o'clock, were opened by the sounding of bells by Pennsylvania Boy Scouts, followed immediately by the appearance of Chief Spring Wolf, who made an impressive invocation, calling upon the Sun Father and the Earth Mother to their their sacred blessings on all present. While kneeling upon the Sun Father, he lighted his pipe and held it aloft, then pointed the bowl of it toward the north as he asked the second blessing. Next the pipe was passed to the other members of the committee, who also went through the ceremony.

Following the invocation, the flag was slowly lowered from the monument by Miss Sophie L. E. Neen and George E. Johnson, revealing a slab taken from White Clay creek, which flows through the village, about 12 feet in height and five feet in width. In the center was fastened a bronze tablet about 18 by 24 inches, bearing the words: "Wingmanna Indian Town. To Chief Mankashela, or Ovtahla, and the people of the Lenni-Lenape, or Delaware. Their Town

—the Town. Sold to William Penn the lands between the Delaware River and Chesapeake Bay to the falls of the Susquehanna River, October 18, 1682. Marked by the Pennsylvania Historical Commission and the Chester County Historical Society."

The monument is situated about the road leading through Teatman, just outside the cemetery part of the London Tract Baptist Church, one of the oldest churches in this section of the country, and made famous because of the "hacking stone" in the cemetery yard, which George Alfred Townsend speaks of in his book by that name.

Following the unveiling of the monument, speeches were made by Albert Cook Myers, secretary of the Pennsylvania Historical Commission; George E. Johnson, a descendant of the original Quaker settlers of London Tract Township, and others.

Governor Fletcher, of Pennsylvania, who was scheduled to make an address, was unable to attend the ceremonies.

Many cars passed through Newark Saturday enroute to the old church yard. The new stretch of road from the Delaware River to Kemblesville was shown open that day.

OBITUARY

Mrs. Julia D. Sheppard

The funeral of Mrs. Julia Dean Sheppard, wife of Charles Sheppard, of Iowa Hill, who died at her home on October 11th, was held on Wednesday last, with burial at Cherry Hill M. E. Cemetery. She was a daughter of the late John and Julia Clenden, of Cat Swamp. Her husband, one brother, Henry Clenden, of Elkton, and one sister, Mrs. Daniel Smith, of Newark, survive.

HALLOWE'EN DANCE IN ELKTON OCT. 29th

"Boost Elkton" Club At Head of Big Masquerade Party

Elkton never lets Halloween pass without a bit of fun and frolic of some kind. This year is no exception. While a number of young men are trying to get up a parade, another group called the "Boost Elkton" Club are preparing to welcome a large crowd to a big Halloween masquerade dance in the Elkton Armory on the evening of Wednesday, October 29th. The Club Pyramid Orchestra of Wilmington has been engaged for the party, and a number of novelties will be ready for the dancers, including the well-known confetti.

The committee in charge of the dance comprises the following young Elktonians:

D. R. Perkins, Frank Blanton, Clarence Brown, William Foster and John Gilpin.

SURPRISE ELKTON GIRL

About forty girls, mostly from Elkton, tendered Miss Elizabeth Lewis, daughter of H. Winfield Lewis, a large surprise shower at the home of Miss Katherine Minster, on Main Street, Monday evening last.

Arrangements for the affair were well handled, and the guest of honor was led into a room, almost completely filled with a huge paper pumpkin, inside of which the silhouette of a witch riding a broom could be seen. Suddenly the pumpkin burst, and scattered at its base were scores of beautiful and useful gifts.

Refreshments and a merry time followed during the evening.

Down Go the Flower Tubs; Owners Sit and Glare at Town

Following weeks of diplomatic sallies, proposals and counter-proposals, and once in a while a flank maneuver, engineered by a passing autoist, the flower tubs, barrels, and beds fronting the Misses Ash property on North street, Elkton, have finally been captured by the Town and are now prisoners of war in the municipal "dump" outside the limits.

The owners were proud of their flower and shrubbery display, but the Town decided that they obstructed the view at the North and High street crossing, and were menaces to the safety of passersby. Thus started the Battle of The Tubs.

It is understood that Constable Ott played a leading role in bringing the controversy before the town, when he had one of the tubs on the end of a tow rope recently.

But the Misses Ash stood firm, and the deadlock continued until a few days ago, when members of the Town street force swooped down and carried the bushes and their containers to the outskirts of town, and there they are.

Details as to further action are a bit obscured by the heavy atmosphere about High and North streets.

Right vs Wrong not Right and Wrong

Right is right and Wrong is wrong—there is no compromise. This applies to candidates for office just as it does to the ranking file of voters. A candidate is either on the right side or wrong side. He may be right and honest in his convictions; he may be wrong yet honest in his views. Either of these situations is possible. But he can't be both—that is certain. He can't serve both. He can't in civic decency be a candidate for both. Nor can he, as we see it, be honest or loyal to either, in attempting to serve both.

James Tunnell was nominated by the Democratic Party as its candidate for U. S. Senator. He accepted that party's platform and endorsement. That is well. We respect it. The History of that Party is linked with the history and development of the country. He is a candidate of the Party of Jefferson, of Jackson, of Cleveland and of Wilson. They are the leaders, the guides, the inspiration of the Democratic Party—and rightfully so. Their names are linked with the history of the Republic, its Declaration of Independence and Constitution. They are a part of it. Mr. Tunnell is a candidate with John W. Davis. We know and Mr. Tunnell knows what Mr. Davis thinks of his Party and its history and its leaders. We all know that he and they would guard the Constitution—even with their very last and all. Are they right? If they are, then La Follette is wrong. Yet Mr. Tunnell accepts the endorsement of Mr. La Follette's Party, whose platform and words and deeds, if successful, would tear down the Constitution and the guiding principles of this Republic.

If Davis is right, La Follette is wrong—yet Mr. Tunnell presents his name to the voters on both tickets.

We should like to ask Mr. Tunnell if Jefferson would have done this, or Hamilton, or Jackson, or Lincoln, or Cleveland, or Roosevelt, or Wilson. We go further. Mr. Tunnell is a lawyer and knows better than we the significance of the Courts; does he agree with Senator La Follette or Mr. Davis? One is right and one is wrong—which side is he on?

Again, what would Marshall, Taney, Choate do, if placed in the position of Mr. Tunnell? Still further, Mr. Tunnell, what would Judge Boyce do, who is your running mate for Congress—or what does your candidate for Governor think of your attitude? What do you think your associates at the Bar think? What would they do?

There is in this a right and wrong so plain that even he who runs may read. And of all the candidates to accept this, yours, a national office, is the most serious.

The Every Evening claims that the Republicans, in refusing to accept endorsement of the La Follette Party, assume a pose, "a holier than thou" attitude—that it is assumed piety. That may or may not be, and it is not pertinent to the case just now. Whether they are sincere or not, the fact remains that they are honest in this particular and are not trying to serve two masters.

The Constitution was formed by two schools of thought, created and defended through all these years by those representing the Republican view and the Democratic view. Our interpretation is the one held by Hamilton, Lincoln, Roosevelt and Coolidge but we respect and honor those who hold to Jefferson and Jackson and Cleveland. But we can only condemn the action of a man who seeks office at the hands of those who would build, and at the same time through the voice of those who would destroy. And to the orators and editors who are approving, let us say, we are both sad and disappointed. We thought more highly of their civic integrity. Right is right and Wrong is wrong—no man can serve both—and his country.

"Let the ends thou aims't at
Be thy country's, thy God's, and Truth's—and all are involved in the issue."

College Students And Politics

College students are destined to the future direction and control of the master industries and ventures of their nation, and it is consequently vitally important that they give most serious examination to the real measures and policies of the respective national parties.

They cannot afford to have their attention distracted by the political "red herrings," or nonsensical side issues, which are designed to lead them away from the trail of the really serious issues.

In ten years the college student of today will in all probability be a responsible portion of the executive department of American industry, and the success or failure of those industries at that time will depend greatly upon the administration and policies of the men who are to be elected in the present campaign.

Therefore, we must decide now whether or not it is safe and good judgment to place the administration in the hands of Mr. La Follette, who declares in advance that he does not like our form of Government and does not propose to continue it if in power.

Again if the Democratic candidates control the administration during the next four years they promise and propose amongst other things, to remove the protective tariff system.

The two issues in the present campaign which will most directly effect welfare and industrial opportunity are:

First, the tariff, and
Second, government ownership of railways which is advocated by the Socialist Third Party.

Fair-minded students will examine this government ownership question very carefully. In Italy it has been tried five times and each time it has failed with most serious consequences to the Government and to all Italian industry; and in America our Government operated the railways for twenty-six months, and the deficit during this time was greater than the deficit in running the United States of America from the date of the Constitution up to the date of taking over the railroads, including all wars and development costs; in addition to which, when the roads were handed back, the operating expenses had been increased $1,765,000,000 per year.

If college students feel that the future would be safer if they voted for President Coolidge, they must also feel that it is equally important that they work energetically to secure the election of a working majority of the houses of legislation in order that the hands of President Coolidge be not tied if he attempts to carry out the policies which he favors.—College Republican Club News.

"Good Roads, Flowers, Parks, Better Schools, Trees, Pure Water, Fresh Air, Sunshine and Work for Everybody"—OUR MOTTO

Inquiry

It may not be of any particular importance but it would be interesting and, we believe, rather pertinent, if someone of the Democratic orators or Democratic editors would tell us just who it was that the Democratic Convention at Madison "Swear" Garden nominated for Vice-President. There is considerable talk by these orators and editors concerning Mr. Dawes, the Republican Candidate for Vice-President. And we can readily understand that, because Mr. Dawes is a man known not only in the West and in the East and in the councils of the nation at Washington, but is a man who is known internationally as a speaker of words and doer of deeds.

We are not asking what the Democratic Candidate for Vice-President has done or what he has said or where he lives just now, though this, of course, would be interesting and pertinent, but what is his name—we should like to see it once more in print.

Everything is not Fair

A Democrat Publisher said to us the other day that "Everything is fair in Love and War and Politics is both Love and War. Not so. Everything is not fair. To win Love by deception, to win War by dishonor, to win office by sacrificing Honor and Principle is not fair. It is wrong, seriously, critically, damnably wrong—and a State's honor, National preservation and simple integrity are at stake. Love, War and Politics have Honor in them."

Won The Race

"Pop" Geers is dead. The veteran trainer, the world's greatest horse-general, the Master of the Rein, the Hero of the Stable and Track has driven his last race—and won. Won, we render the decision because he died as he hoped to die—"in harness" with the "ribbons between his fingers," behind.

"A steed of noble breed."

Seventy-three years old with over a half century given to the breeding and training of champion trotting horses. How he loved horses! And, they him. How they responded to that gentle master voice, that loving touch!

It was our good fortune some years ago to see "Pop" drive Abbot Junior at a Fourth of July Matinee on the Training Track. It was not an Official Track Performance—rather a Private Exhibit to Friends around the Country-side. A Great Day as we recall it, now. The tribute and applause given to Horse and Man were truly beautiful—they were thoroughbreds and looked the part.

It was there we met young Elbert Hubbard, now at the head of the famous Roycroft Shops. The Hubbards and Pop Geers were warm friends. "I love you because you love the things I love" said Elbert Hubbard and that explains their friendship.

The Roycroft for October pays the "Silent Tennessean" fine tribute, saying, "He has thundered down the home stretch and come in under the wire—'A winner!' He died with 'the ribbons between his fingers,' behind.

"* * * a steed of noble breed,
Full of fire, and full of bone,
With all his line of fathers known;
Fine his nose, his nostrils thin,
But blown abroad by the pride within;

Minding One's Own Business

Glen Frank of The Century evolved." The Publishers Auxiliary says: "Newspaper folks are the only ones who have any license to mind other people's business; in our opinion, they are the only ones who have ever made anything like a constructive job of it. If there is any diminution in the influence of the press it is largely due to the fact that newspapers have surrendered a portion of their prerogative of looking into and advising on public affairs, and have turned the work over to ambitious busy-bodies and professional up-lifters. These meddlers, instead of accomplishing any good, have merely interfered with the workers of high and low degree out of whose daily plodding and honest efforts better things are evolved." The Publishers Auxiliary makes this comment: "A curious thought comes to us if Mr. Frank's 'mind your own business' is to be accepted as a correlative of the golden rule: What is going to become of all the press agents? What will all the boys who are thrown out of jobs by Frank Munsey and other newspaper-consolidating gentlemen when the hundreds of uplift bureaus in Washington and elsewhere are closed? There will be a big demand for oxygen to be used on the senators and representatives whose political lives depend upon the various congressional blocs which receive their impetus and sustenance from those bureaus and (Continued from Page 4.)

In Memoriam

LLOYD. In loving memory of our darling little girl, Helen Pearl, who was called home to Heaven October 20, 1918, age 1 year and 10 months. We loved her as no tongue can tell. How much, how dearly and how well. God loved her, too, and thought it best To take her home, with Him to rest. Oh could we open wide your grave And see your face once more, And hear your voice is all we crave, As in the days of yore.

Sadly missed by Father, Mother and Sister.

THE GREATEST GIFT

PARENTS can give their children many gifts. But the greatest gift of all is the gift of good health. Without the gift of health any other gifts—money, education, position—amount to very little.

The time to begin the building of good health is at the beginning. And the place is in the home.

First, have your home well plumbed. For good plumbing makes a home sanitary, and there can't be the best of health without the best of sanitation.

Next install a complete bathroom, and teach your children the importance of the bath. The bathroom is the health room of the home.

Then see to it that your home is properly ventilated and heated. For pure air and pure water are great health builders.

Start your children right, give them the gifts they most need, and they will grow up to bless you and the world.

VOTE BACKWARD AND SEND MR. JOE SPIVUS TO DOVER

"Where—again I repeat,—where can you find a man to fill the shoes of Mr. Spivus. I hold, dear people, that it is an impossibility.

Do you want a little zip in state affairs? Do you pine for the sight of a man of the Soil, a tough hewn chunk of your citizenship, in the place of the Mighty Ones of History?

Do you like turnip greens?

THEN VOTE FOR JOE SPIVUS (himself) FOR GOVERNOR

Extract from an Address by Mr. Tewbury Garp, the Spivus campaign manager, reprinted by special permission from the Youth's Companion.

(Adv. expected to be paid for by the Spivus, or Bust Club of Cooch's)

WHAT THEY THINK OF THE "SPIVUS MENACE"

(A few of the hundreds of letters which have been received at the Spivus headquarters during the past week; compiled, indexed and submitted to THE POST by special permission of Mr. GARP.)

FROM COL. JAMES C. WICKES
Delaware State News, Dover.
(Hooray For Our Side)
October 17th, 1924.

Joseph Spivus, Esq.
Cooch's Del.
Sir:
I'm so glad to hear you're out for Governor. It's so noble for you to sacrifice everything for the good of the State and the Democratic Party.

Now, Joe, if there's anything in The State News you don't like, don't blame me. George Maxwell wishes to be fondly remembered to you—he who does those Stanley Astor-like sketches of "the pig" in black and white. But seriously, Joe, you know the State News is always close to the Governor. We are with you at Cooch's, at the Movies and in our hearts—Let's Double Dover—and a State News Accident Policy with every five gallons of gasoline.

Yours with tears,
JIM WICKES.
Gawgetown, Del.
October 19th, 1924.

Mr. Joseph Spivus,
Somewhere in Cooch's, Del.
Dear Joe:

Welcome—thrice welcome—to the fold of the ambitious! Your entry into the gubernatorial race is most gratifying. Tell me, Joe, old fellow, I wonder if there's a chance of me being endorsed for Senator on your Backward Ticket. You are a scion of that great family of Spivuses whose ancestors helped the boys shove back the British up in Purgatory Woods back of Cooch's Bridge. Incidentally, I am figuratively speaking, in the same woods at present. You will do this favor for me, won't you Joe. There is ever recompense for deeds well done in politics, my boy,—after election.

Got any good cider up your way?

Sincerely,
JIMMY TUNNELL.

FROM JACK LEVEY

Christiana, Del.
October 17th, 1924.

Dear Sir:
Of all the blithering, unadorned cream puffs, you are the worst. Just when we have the "district" all whipped into line, and everything set to go, here you come along and spill the gravy all over our nice boiled shirts.

Some day I hope they begin to grow people in Cooch's Bridge who are blessed with a trifle more brains than it takes to get the cows in. Speaking of animals, how's your Aunt, and Sally Ann, and the brindle heifer?
Don't you dast come over to Christine. If you got any storkin' to do, you better do it in the dark of the moon.

Lovingly yours,
JACK LEVEY.

Ee-yow-w! that's us—red hot and rarin' to go! Down with rum, down with tyranny! Open wide the gates—we're comin' down the Avenue! Hold 'er Newt—Whambang!—wheel!

Let us send you some good gags to use when your crowds get sleepy.

From our live Candidates' Aid Department; address, Box A-11.

THE COOLIDGE RECORD HAS IMPRESSED VOTERS

The voters of the country who have been looking up the records of the different candidates have, no doubt, made up their minds for whom they are going to vote.

They have found that Calvin Coolidge has an honest clean record—that he has been the cause of great tax reductions and advocates further reductions—that he has stopped the waste of the people's money—that he has brought marked economy into effect in the affairs of the government—that he has earnestly worked for the interest of the whole nation. Even the warmest supporters of LaFollette cannot deny these facts nor can they point to any helpful laws that bear LaFollette's name during the many years that he has been in Congress, his course has been that of a fault finder; whatever anyone else did was wrong—he never appeared to seek to help build up—he is like an actor who never can give any credit to another performer, no matter if the latter is a star and deserves commendation.

Even William Jennings Bryan said nice things about political opponents if they did something that he considered of a constructive nature.

Every neighborhood of any size has an individual who finds fault with what the rest of the men and women neighbors are doing if he cannot be chairman of every committee and the principal speaker on all occasions.

Fortunately for the good of our country the voters think before they cast their ballots and the best friend that Europe, with her low standards of living, ever had to espouse her cause at the expense of our people is not going to fool the people this year.

ACCUSED OF THEFT

Bessie Winters, of near Thompson Station, was hailed before Magistrate Thompson last Friday evening on a charge made by two women living near Corner Ketch. Bessie was accused of stealing odds and ends from a house in which she worked. After hearing the evidence, Magistrate Thompson dismissed the case.

RIGHT HOME FOR FISH They Need Oxygen Just as You Do, So Measure the Place You Put Them In

Do you know what is correct in choosing a home for fish? There is a right and wrong about it. Like all creatures in the world, fish have to breathe oxygen. Except when water is very hot, it contains free oxygen. It will be recalled how bubbles form in a standing tumbler of water. That is some of the free oxygen which has been liberated. "Gifts of fish mechanically extract the life-giving element from the water. It is in their breath," writes William T. Jones of the Aquarium Society of Philadelphia in Nature Magazine of Washington. "Without enough oxygen they soon perish. The only of free oxygen in a given body of water is limited. As the fish consume it, where is more to come?"

The answer contains the key to all aquarium difficulties, and that is, from the surface of the water. When the normal amount of oxygen is depleted from the water by the breathing of the fish, the water absorbs more oxygen at its surface.

The practical idea then is to have a high air surface to replenish the oxygen as rapidly as it is used. A general rule is to have about thirty-five square inches (five inches square) to a goldfish an inch long. For two fish would, of course, require twice as much; for two two-inch fish, four times as much.

Usually we find the average unsatisfactory aquarium has about one-quarter enough air surface, or four times as many fish, and that the fish are up at the surface, "blowing bubbles," as some call it, trying to get oxygen directly from the atmosphere.

"Under these circumstances a partial change of water is expedient, but success will not be had until either the number of fish is reduced or the air surface is increased. If fresh water is added, it should be of nearly the same temperature as the old, and when the water is entirely changed, the new supply should stand a couple of hours to 'ripen.'

"Raw water from the spigot usually contains too much free oxygen, and this also is bad for the fish. It causes bubbles to form in the fins and outer protective mucous covering of the body. When these burst, pockets are formed which make lodging places for the harmful bacteria which are ever present.

"A small bowl or 'globe' can, by courtesy, be considered an aquarium. 'Fish prison' would be better. The facts are that goldfish are hardy and tenacious of life. In a fair-sized aquarium they should live at least ten years. The water not only does not need to be changed but under proper conditions should not be."

by her ingratiating mannerisms. Finally, being unable to stand it further, the Judge "ups and marries her himself." And that's that.

Mr. Rowan sang two splendid solo parts in the piece, and Mrs. Cann's song with the bridesmaids grouped about her was warmly applauded.

Prof. Ryden, in his robes and powdered wig, was master of his role as Counsel for the plaintiff, and sang in his usual splendid manner. A. D. Cobb held complete sway over the jury and did his best to keep the court in order during the "trial." At last the strain told, and he fell asleep. Mr. Cobb's portrayal of the Usher was very well liked.

The bridesmaids formed a pretty picture in their songs and manœuvres about the stage, and together with the spectators and the jury, swelled the choruses—perhaps the most important parts of a Gilbert and Sullivan piece. The singing was uniformly good and each person on the stage acted his or her part with real ability.

NEWARK, 25; ELKTON, 0

Newark High defeated Elkton High at Elkton yesterday afternoon before a fair sized crowd, 25-0, making the second beating administered the Marylanders this year. It was Newark's 4th straight victory.

Newark rooters were out in force, nearly matching the Elkton home crowd in numbers and noise. The playing of the entire Newark team was of a high order and the result of the game was never in doubt after the first few minutes of play.

Newark plays Smyrna High at Smyrna next Friday afternoon.

Unless the blessings of prosperity, the rewards of industry, justice and liberty, the satisfaction of duty well done, can come under a rule of the people, they cannot come at all. We may as well abandon hope and, yielding to the demands of selfishness, each take what he can.—Calvin Coolidge.

But nothing is settled that evil and selfish men can find advantage for themselves in overthrowing. We must externally smite the rock of public conscience if the waters of patriotism are to pour forth.—Calvin Coolidge.

Tax Reduction Should Be Crusade

The question of tax reduction and the curtailment of public expenditures is not merely an economic question, but a moral question which involves American homes and American families. The increase of taxes during the past six or eight years present the most searching tragedy in American life today. The anxiety, the discouragement, and the broken plans underneath this tax burden, language is inadequate to tell. No man, woman or child, no part of the entire country, and no kind of legitimate business escapes the demoralizing effects of these constantly increasing taxes and this constantly increasing tax burden. * * * The question of tax reduction ought to be made a crusade in this country.—Senator William E. Borah.

"RAIN"

"Rain," the long looked for and widely discussed play which bears the unique distinction of having broken all records for dramatic plays on Broadway, will open a 3-day engagement at the Playhouse, Wilmington, Monday, October 27th, with matinee Wednesday. Its success in New York can be described with but one word, "phenomenal." For more than two years it has continued to fill the theatre night after night and apparently could stay there another two years. Taken from W. Somerset Maugham's magazine story, "Miss Thompson," and dramatized by John Colton and Clemence Randolph, it was produced by Sam H. Harris, the president of the American Theatrical Producers, whose activities in things theatrical are always of the best and whose good taste in the handling of the artistic side is well known.

"Rain" has caused such wide discussion and has become so firmly entrenched in theatrical fare that not to have seen it is unusual even for the theatre-goer who but seldom attends.

Continued demand from the cities away from New York caused Mr. Harris to send a specially organized production in exact keeping with the New York company on tour.

It is certain to prove the outstanding dramatic treat of the current season in Wilmington.

NEWARK, DELAWARE, OCTOBER 22, 1924.

NUMBER 39

CORN THE GOLD THE WHITE MAN SOUGHT

"The annual value of the corn crop ranges from one and a half to three million dollars," writes D. F. Jones of the Connecticut Agricultural Experiment Station in Nature Magazine of Washington. "This is approximately two times the annual value of iron produced and 20 times that of the gold mined each year. The white man came to America seeking gold and found corn which is much better than this yellow grain produces annually more wealth than all of the yellow metal that is mined."

"Unknown to the world before the discovery of America, corn is grown in nearly every country in the world and has even replaced wheat and rice as the staff of life in some places."

"Of the world's four billion bushels of corn the United States produces three-fourths. Loaded in wagons this would make a train long enough to go nine times around the world at the equator."

"Corn was the first crop cultivated in America by the white man. Cononots in Virginia and Massachusetts found the Indians growing corn and preparing it for food in many different ways."

"Because their own plants from Europe were not adapted to the new conditions the white settlement of America would have been extremely difficult without corn. This plant thrives on newly cleared land, is tilled without elaborate machinery, and furnished food for man and grain fodder for animals."

"Corn was first grown among the charred stumps of burned forests, fertilized by burying a fish in each hill before the seed was planted, cultivated with a clam-shell hoe, and eaten as roasted ears or ground into meal and prepared in the form of bread, pancakes, or porridge."

"How long corn has been cultivated no one knows. That it originated somewhere in the Western Hemisphere there is no doubt. It was not known in Europe before the return of Columbus and no authentic records exist indicating that corn was grown in China or Japan before the voyages of the early European discoverers who carried the grain with them from America."

"Corn has several well-defined types. The principal ones are known as dent, flint, flour, sweet, and pop corn. Dent corn is practically the only corn grown for animal consumption in the corn belt."

"Flint corn is similar to it in composition except that the grains are harder and smoother and do not have the characteristic indentation. Flint varieties are preferred in the northern corn-growing districts because of their early maturity, freedom from mold on the ears, and ability to germinate in the cool, rainy weather of early spring."

"Flour corn is similar in appearance to flint but has the consistency of chalk. It is easily ground into flour and for that reason was probably preferred by the squaws who ground the flour and who likewise sowed the seed. Flour corn is not now grown to any appreciable extent."

"Sweet corn is characterized by a high-sugar content. In field corn this sugar is largely converted into starch. Well-formed starch grains are not formed in sweet corn kernels. The sweetness of this type makes it much more palatable and that is why it is preferred as a vegetable and for canning. On account of the density of the kernel and the tough hull in which it is enclosed, pop corn has the interesting property of expanding enormously when heated rapidly."

"Fossil ears have been found in Peru which closely resemble varieties now grown there. The antiquity of corn under cultivation has been roughly placed at 20,000 years and it may easily have been cultivated much longer than this. Corn, like wheat and rice, have been cultivated before history began and have accompanied man from savagery to civilization. In fact, the cultivation of crops necessitating a more or less fixed abode and some ingenuity in devising tools for cultivation has probably been one of the most potent factors in bringing about civilization."

IN SERIOUS CONDITION FOLLOWING SHOOTING

Alpheus Little Lying In Delaware Hospital; Leg Amputated Friday

The condition of Alpheus Little, 27 year old son of William Little, a farmer along the Lincoln Highway east of Newark, continues serious, according to reports from the Delaware Hospital early this week.

Young Little's left leg was amputated just above the knee Thursday evening by surgeons at the hospital, following a serious gunning accident near Woodland Beach, Del., the same day.

The injured man has lived near Newark practically all his life and is well known in the community.

According to reports of the accident, Little, in company with a number of friends, had just completed a day's ducking trip on the marshes near Woodland Beach, a resort near Smyrna. While unloading their guns preparatory to entering their autos for the homeward trip, in some manner one of the guns exploded prematurely, the entire charge entering Little's left leg at the knee. The knee was completely shattered and the fleshy part of the leg mangled.

Realizing the seriousness of the injury, Little's companions rushed him to the office of Dr. Deakne, at Smyrna. First aid treatment was applied and the injured man was rushed at high speed to Wilmington.

Surgeons at the hospital decided to amputate the leg as the only means of averting a fatality.

REPORT BLACK BEAR NEAR TOWNSEND

Great Excitement Aroused by Appearance of Animal In Fields and On Roads

Residents in the rural sections of lower New Castle County, particularly those living in the "Levels" and near Greenspring, do not venture out of doors unless they are armed, for a bear has been seen by several farmers, roaming through poultry yards and across fields.

Last Tuesday night twenty residents searched the woods and fields in an all night hunt in an effort to kill the animal. Residents of the farming section that surrounds Greenspring began a search last night, in an effort to find the animal and kill it, where it was last seen on Thursday by a farmer. The farmer, John Daniels, and his two sons were returning from the home of a neighbor where they had been on an errand, when the bear crossed the road about 400 feet ahead of them and disappeared in the woods that borders on the highway for about one mile. The animal had evidently enjoyed a diet on apples in the orchard on the Daniels farm and was leaving the orchard when Mr. Daniels and his sons noticed it crossing the highway, the approach of the trio having caused it to return to the woods. As the bear crossed the road, it looked toward the party of farm folk who were walking briskly toward their home, showed its teeth and disappeared in the bushes nearby.—Sunday Star.

DELAWARE BEATS LAST YEAR'S MARK IN SWEET POTATO PRODUCTION

According to reports received by the Bureau of Markets of the State Board of Agriculture, at Dover, this year will be a banner year for the Delaware sweet potato growers because of the fact that Delaware has more sweet potatoes this year than last year, while the total sweet potato production for the United States is approximately 22,000,000 bushels short of last year, and last year there was a sufficient demand to enable the Delaware sweet potato growers to sell their products at good prices.

According to the United States Department of Agriculture, the total production for the United States for the year 1922 was 109,534,000 bushels. This was an overproduction, and the result was that the price of sweet potatoes all over the country was very low, and practically all of the growers throughout the country suffered a loss on that year's crop.

For the year 1923, the total production, according to the figures of the Department of Agriculture, on December 1, 1923, was 97,177,000 bushels, or 12,357,000 bushels short of the crop of 1922, and according to the

Who Wants A Deer?

Threats of starvation to an ever-growing herd of deer in the Kaibab National Forest in Northern Arizona have resulted in an offer to give away some of the deer to any one applying for them.

All it will cost the applicant will be crating and shipping, a sum estimated at an average of about $35. Young mule deer only will be shipped, and to sections east of the Sierra Nevada and Cascade Mountains.

Thousands of the 30,000 herd will be given away in this manner. Applications should be sent to the Forest Service of the U. S. Department of Agriculture at Washington.

HOUSES CONTINUE TO BE SCARCE IN NEWARK

Conditions Better Now, However, Due to Building Last Summer

The well-worn joke about the fellow who saw a man drowning in the river and hurried forthwith to the real estate office to rent his house, only to be told that it had already been rented by the man who pushed him in the water, seems to still apply to Newark and immediate vicinity.

While the housing problem has considerably abated during the past year, due to the great increase in home building, there is still a demand for desirable homes to rent, according to the real estate men of the town.

With the opening of the college year, several new families have moved to Newark and taken up their residence, and more and more inquiries are coming here from Wilmington and nearby towns for information concerning available houses to rent.

The gratifying increase in the building of homes, and their immediate occupancy by the owners is felt to be the forerunner of a bigger boom in 1925.

SIX TICKETS NAMED ON OFFICIAL BALLOT

Last Date for Changes In Tickets Expired Saturday Last

Six tickets will be on the official ballot for the election in November. They will be the Republican, Democratic, Progressive, Forward, Commonwealth Land and LaFollette Parties.

The Republican party has its eagle and star for its emblem, and the Democratic emblem is the plow. The Progressive Party will have a broom as its emblem; the Forward Party a diamond; the Commonwealth Land Party a globe, and LaFollette the Liberty Bell.

Time for filing petitions for places on the ballot expired Wednesday night and the various parties had until Saturday at noon to make changes in their tickets due to possible resignation, death or removal of candidates.

PAUL LOVETT ELECTED V. P. OF ENDEAVORERS

State C. E. Convention at Dover Closed Saturday Night

Paul D. Lovett of this town was elected as vice-president for New Castle County of the Delaware Christian Endeavor Society at its convention held two days last week at the Dover M. P. Church.

The elections were the concluding items of business at the closing sessions Saturday evening.

Other officers of the Society elected at that time were the following:

Ernest J. Peoples, of Wilmington, president, re-elected; vice-presidents, Ralph H. Vaughn, Wilmington; Mrs. John Mitchell, Dover, Kent County; George O. Adams, Cannon, Sussex County; general secretary, Miss Dorothy H. Krauss, Wilmington; assistant secretary, Emma M. Huey, Wilmington; treasurer, Robert G. Hackett, Wilmington; fifty-fifty treasurer, Mrs. A. J. Bock, Wilmington; directors—New Castle County, Rev. Joel S. Gillfillan, Wilmington; Kent County, Rev. Avery Donovan; Sussex County, Rev. John W. Townsend, Milton.

Mr. Peoples, the president of the State Association, in his annual address spoke of the continued progress of the Christian Endeavor in the State brought about mainly by the untiring efforts of the executive committee, as well as the hearty co-operation of the entire body of Christian Endeavorers throughout the State.

HE LIVES IN TREES

Sloth Never Comes Down Voluntarily; Odd Feet Make Helpless On Ground

The two-toed sloth is found from Brazil and Ecuador north to Costa Rica. The three-toed sloth does not come so far north. It is confined to the deep humid forests of South and Central America.

The nearest living allies of the sloths are the anteaters; the ground sloths of North and South America, one of which was about the size of an elephant, were their closest known relatives in ancient times, and possibly their ancestors.

Sloths and anteaters are thus the sole surviving members of an ancient and numerous tribe, says Nature Magazine of Washington. They continue to survive only by virtue of the remoteness of their haunts and their peculiar adaptations to special conditions of life.

The two-toed sloth passes its life entirely among trees, traveling slowly about beneath the branches, from which it hangs by means of its sharp and strong claws. The forelimbs are used to draw the twigs and leaves within reach of its mouth.

It never descends voluntarily, but passes from tree to tree by means of the interlacing branches, or, if these fail, by seizing a favorable moment when the wind swings them close together. If forced to descend, the animal has great difficulty in reaching another tree, its peculiar foot structure making it almost helpless on the ground.

When it wishes to rest, the sloth rolls itself into a ball and is very inconspicuous among the mosses and lichens owing to its dull grayish color. It is aided in concealing itself by the fact that the hair on its back often has a greenish tinge, this color being almost unknown among mammals, and due in this instance to an alga, the growth of which is promoted by the dampness which pervades the tropical forests. Sloths have but one young at a time, and this is carried about by the mother in her inverted travels until it is able to climb.

The "Right Of Way" Question

Superintendent Reynolds of State Police Gives Views on Much-Discussed Points

That the failure of motorists to observe the right-of-way rule and Boulevard stop provision of the State Motor Vehicle law as stated in Section No. 217 is the cause of the majority of automobile intersection accidents was the statement of Mr. C. C. Reynolds, Superintendent of the State Police at a conference with officers of the Delaware Safety Council recently. This provision of our regulations was introduced at the last session of the Legislature at the direct behest of the Delaware Safety Council as it is one of the most effective safe practice rules when complied with. The law covering these two points reads "The operator or driver of a vehicle upon any street, road or alley within this state shall have the right of way over the operator or driver of another vehicle who is approaching from the left on an intersecting street, road or alley; and shall give the right of way to an operator or driver of a vehicle approaching from the right on an intersecting street, road or alley; provided, however, that wherever traffic officers are stationed they shall have full power to regulate; provided further, however, that on any principal highway outside the limits of any city or town, the State Highway Department shall have the right to declare that vehicles traveling on such principal highway shall the right of way over vehicles approaching said principal highway from intersecting roads, and provided further that the State Highway Department shall erect and maintain wherever it is deemed necessary, clear and legible signs requiring motor vehicles before driving into or across such highway to slacken speed or to come to a full stop as the sign shall specify or require."

"It should be borne in mind, however," said Mr. Reynolds, "that the law giving the operator on the right, the right of way means only that when two motorists arrive at an intersection about the same time, the one on the right takes precedence. It does not mean that the man coming from the right is licensed to make a mad dash for an intersection in order to get the right of way. The State Highway Department is now erecting a number of signs as required by law calling attention to the fact that motorists must come to a full stop before entering a number of arterial highways such as the duPont Boulevard, Philadelphia Pike, Concord Pike, etc. Eventually all roads leading to these arteries will be so marked. This is in accordance with the best traffic practice which holds that traffic on main arteries should have right of way over those entering from side streets, or roads. The signs erected by the State Highway Department bear a large cross with the word 'Stop' above and 'Main Highway 300 feet ahead' below."

P. T. A. MEETINGS HELD NEAR HERE

Program Suggestions For November Are Sent Out

The first packet containing program suggestions for Parent-Teacher Associations throughout the State to use at their meetings during the present school year, were mailed from the State Office on October fifteenth. The packet contains recommendations for the program at the November meetings. The general subject recommended for consideration is "Accident Prevention." The Program Leaflet contains information of the most practical nature in the prevention of accidents, prepared for distribution by the Parent-Teacher Associations, by the Delaware Safety Council; also a number of lesson outlines for the teachers to use in Safety Education work with the children in their schools. Among the latter material is a lesson plan developed by Mrs. Charles W. Carey, teacher in Williamsville School, District No. 30, Sussex County. Mrs. Carey was recently awarded the first prize in the State of Delaware for the plan for Safety Education on the Highway in the national contest.

A fine attendance was reported from the first meeting of the Delaware City P. T. A. which met on Monday evening, October 13th, in the Assembly Room of the High School. A Drive is being started, the object to have someone from every family in Delaware City represented in the membership of the association. The President of the Senior Class of the school, and the President of the High School Athletic Association brought before the association the purpose of purchasing a gold cup to be awarded to the class winning the Inter-Class Debates. The association voted to buy this cup for the school, and also decided to give a new Bible to them.

Harmony P. T. A. No. 23, near Marshallton, held their first meeting of the year on Wednesday evening, October 15th, with 18 members enrolled and an expectation of at least (Continued on Page 12.)

Villanova Trounces
Delaware Gridders
In Hard Game 17-3Blue and Gold's Weak
Defense Glared Out in First Defeat of Season —
Gibson Kicks Goal

The strong and scrappy Villanova eleven, denied a victory for the past two years of college football, came into their own last Saturday at the expense of McAvoy's Delaware boys. The final score was 17-3.

Both teams played hard, aggressive football, and the going was mighty rough at times. The Delaware attack was stopped at every point and never got going during the fracas. On the other hand, Villa Nova seemed to have little trouble in scoring first downs through and around the Delaware line. They used a Penn State style of interference, which swept Blue and Gold tacklers aside with comparative ease.

The only Delaware score came in the last second of the game, when most of the Delaware second team was in. Choe Gibson started the work by intercepting a forward pass on the Delaware 30-yard line and running it back 10 yards. He then tossed a forward pass to Hanson for a gain of 15 yards. This placed the ball on the Villa Nova 45-yard line. Two forwards failed and a line buck dropped the ball back to the mid-field point. Gibson dropped back to punt, and although he was hurried he punted behind the Villa Nova goal line. On this play, however, Conlon of Villa Nova, kicked Miller, the Delaware fullback, and as a consequence Villa Nova was penalized half the distance to the goal line, placing the ball on the Villa Nova 25-yard line. At this point Gibson dropped back to the 40-yard line, received a clean pass from Lohman, poised a moment in careful calculation and sent the ball hurtling between the uprights for a 40-yard drop kick. The whistle sounded an instant later ending the game.

The Delaware backfield put up only a fair game at best. The backs were lacking in drive and speed and the plays were often smeared before they hit the line of scrimmage.

The Blue and Gold line stood up well under the terrific battering, although several of the linemen, particularly Lou Kramer, were pretty well done up towards the end. Kramer suffered a sprained ankle and had to be assisted from the field. Several other Delaware men and some Villa Nova men were taken out because of injuries. It was a scrappy game every minute and used up the players on both teams.

During most of the game Delaware was found fighting with their backs to the wall to prevent a score. The Villa Nova attack swept towards the goal, and the two touchdowns were made, not by smashing through but by covering Delaware fumbles. Both scores were recorded in this manner. Callahan, the star of the Pennsylvanians, also added a field goal from the 15-yard line in the third quarter.

Captain McKelvie and the whole line with the exception of the guards, played splendidly for Delaware, and stood up well under the terrific battering of the Villa Nova backs. Jackson was forced out of the game towards the last when his neck muscles were severely strained.

The score:

ELKTON TEAM LOSES
TO ABERDEEN SOLDIERSPreston Stars for County
Seaters in Lively Game
Saturday

Elkton played a return game with the 18th Aero Squadron of Aberdeen in Elkton, and although they put up a mighty good game, they were out maneuvered by the soldier team and forced to accept a 12-0 defeat.

The Aberdeen team played smoothly and showed the worth of constant practice. Their plays went off smoothly and they had a well balanced line.

Socias, the clever end, scored the first touchdown on a pass, and White plunged for the last one in the final period.

For the Elktonites, the work of Preston, the little halfback, stood out above the others. Time after time he stopped dangerous plays and carried the ball nicely when he had a chance. The entire Elkton team put up a scrappy game, but lack of condition and practice told on them. Hizzoner Bob Gonce, mayor of the East End, was right there with the usual chatter and pep. The lineup:

ELKTON HIGH LOSES

Wilmington High Seconds Trample Neighboring Footballers

The Junior Varsity eleven of the Wilmington High School scored its second consecutive victory Saturday, winning from Elkton High School, 13 to 7, and incidentally making it the second reversal out of as many games played by the Elktonites.

Captain Smith and his mates were fighting every minute, but could not push over the tieing score. A. Kay made the lone touchdown. Considerable improvement was noted in the Elkton team Saturday.

HAVE NARROW ESCAPE

While driving from his home in New Castle to Newark Monday night, John G. Leach, president of the Student Council at the University and two companions, his brother Benny, and Harry Ahern, the latter a Freshman here, narrowly averted serious injury when their touring car collided with a Ford just this side of New Castle. The Leach car was badly battered, and the boys were severely shaken up. Ahern and Benny Leach receiving painful cuts and bruises about the arms and head.

Title—Newark
Backs Star

A great victory was won by Newark High Friday last when the ambitious gridders from the Old Academy, hot on the trail of another championship, wallowed the strong Delaware City High School team on the latter's grounds, score 19-0.

The canal boys were set to scalp Coach Nunn's proteges to the queen's taste, as they were fresh from a 50-0 victory over Smyrna the week previous. But Newark had the punch and drive and outplayed the home team at every stage of the game.

The Patchell-Chalmers forward pass route was opened up in the first period for a Newark touchdown. Pat tossed the ball to Shorty at midfield and the latter scampered over the goal, thus registering the first shock to the supporters of Delaware City. The try at point failed.

After a potential touchdown was called back with Davis already over the line with the ball, Newark kicked and recovered a fumble immediately on the canal boys' 20-yard line. From that point, Rose took it over in one play on a nice run. Chalmers made the extra point.

From that play to the end, Delaware City was a beaten team, and Newark was right on its toes. Held for downs in the last of the third period on their own 10-yard line, Delaware City punted to midfield, and another march to the goal line began. Davis, Jaquette, Rose and Patchell alternated in running the ball for good gains. Finally Davis wormed his way through the line for a nine-yard plunge for touchdown.

The last period saw both teams fighting hard but nothing doing in a scoring way. Newark was held pretty well by their opponents, but in turn, had no trouble in smearing the Delaware City plays.

One of the largest crowds ever to see a school game at Delaware City turned out Friday. Newark sent a large contingent of rooters to the game, and plenty of noise was occasioned by the rival cheering sections.

Chalmers, Rose, Patchell, Doordan and MacMurray were among the best for Newark. Bendler for Delaware City showed up best. The lineup:

ON THE 2.32 FROM ELKTON

Being a Casual Traveler's Account of How It Feels to be in the "Honeymoon Car" of this Popular Train

The last seat on the 2.32 from Elkton, the Gretna Green of the East, to Wilmington is a much coveted place indeed, for the last coach is known as the Honeymoon car, and usually lives up to its name. Since there is more privacy for the newly-weds on the last seat, it is naturally held in great favor by those who have spent $15 in Elkton to get hitched with the town's nuptial blessings.

Contrary to common belief and tradition, the writer, though the thirteenth one to enter the coach, was the most fortunate one in the crowd, for no dainty bit of feminine humanity clung to his arm and commanded his attention. By chance I had gotten safely into the coach which the brief visitors to Elkton consider their common property. Also, I had the audacity to drop into the coveted seat, and committed the sacrilege of staring boldly at the car.

Directly opposite in the equally coveted seat, sat a couple, each of whom had seen at least fifty winters, but whose marital bliss on the first day out seemed to be as keen as that of their younger fellow passengers. Every girl in the car proudly displayed a rolled bit of parchment that proclaimed her, master of man—for the moment, at least. But her willing victim had to be content to view it from a safe distance.

The majority of the elder girls acted in a sophisticated manner, but a few of these wiser ones looked at their latest fancy and smiled in much the same manner as the cat who has just emptied the canary bird cage. The younger girls were plainly nervous—evidently they did not realize that the main quest of the female had now ended for them—and laughed long, but not heartily, at almost everything their new partners for life, or less, had to say.

The boys, for the most part, showed plainly that they fully realized the calamity that had befallen them. The rest in the language of the conductor, "sit an' hold onto her paw lookin' like a moon-struck calf." Although I have never seen a moon-struck calf I have learned to have a great sympathy for them.

Came a sharp blast of the whistle, the plaintive, but sometimes incoherent, "All Aboard!" the usual jarring of the cars, and everyone was embarked on the homestretch. With the starting of the train an instant hush fell over the car. Heads slowly disappeared from above the backs of the seats as couples one by one slid deeper into the cushions. Arms that had rested gingerly upon the backs of the seats now encircled cuddling shoulders, and a faint monotone of cooing voices pervaded the car.

The 21-year-old benedict just ahead of me had an inspiration. He seemed under the impression that the car was overcrowded, and he gallantly tried to relieve the situation by sitting his 18-year-old better half upon his lap. Yet it is doubtful if he would have appreciated it if anyone had sat down beside them, though it is possible that he would not have known it if they had. The bobbed-haired Cleo in the seat ahead had rested her wooly locks on her slicked-haired spouse's shoulder and appeared to be asleep. But she wasn't, for he was whispering words of sweet endearment in her attentive ear.

At that moment a spinster entered the car from the coach ahead. With many audible sniffs she came down the aisle and seated herself beside the only unattached male in the car. After a careful scrutiny of his shoes and hat, her heaven-turned nose seemed to descend a little, and, with a voice just a bit too friendly, she inquired when the next train left Wilmington for Elkton. Her companion took the warning and gave her the entire seat. Up near the front of the car, for those who cared to listen, a couple having their first matrimonial debates. On the platform between the two cars a sheik whose sheik days were over stood scratching his head with one hand and counting his change with the other.

With a sigh of relief, the writer hurried on to the peace and safety of the "smoker."—Ex.

Action A-plenty in Tony Sarg's Marionette Treasure Island

From among the many thousands who saw the dog fight in Tony Sarg's Marionette version of Rip Van Winkle have come scores of letters to Mr. Sarg commenting upon the "Gorgeous Fight." Such friendly letters please Mr. Sarg, as a matter of course, and he has prepared a series of hand-to-hand, sword and bludgeon, marlin-spike, and other physical clashes in his new "Treasure Island" which he promises will surpass any of those presented in the popular Rip or even those of Don Quixote.

Because they use different weapons, and because of his natural aptitude for caricature, Mr. Sarg has most enjoyed building his scene in "Treasure Island" where the dog and the tomcat disagree as to which is the favorite of the pirate crew.

From the opening scene where the pirate cutthroats gather at the Inn, sing their Pirate Chorus, and depart for the ship where a Hornpipe Dance of most intricate steps takes place, to the Cave Scene and the final curtain there is no moment when action lags. Were Robert Louis Stevenson able to see this Marionette version of his great book, he would surely have all the thrill you and I had when we first read it.

With "Treasure Island" as the evening offering, and "The Pied Piper of Hamelin" with shorter novelties for

LARGE SURPRISE PARTY FOR LOCAL RESIDENTS

Mr. and Mrs. James E. Tasker Receive Many Guests On October 11th

Upon returning to their home from the movies on Saturday evening, October 11th, Mr. and Mrs. James E. Tasker found a host of friends waiting for them, and a lively surprise party was staged.

About 35 people attended the party, most of their relatives, friends and neighbors of the well known couple. Refreshments including lemonade and cake were served. Mr. and Mrs. Tasker received many pretty gifts.

Among those present were: Mr. and Mrs. John Davis, of Newark;

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Grant and family, of Kennett Square; Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Cloud and family, of Clifton Mills, Pa.; Miss Mazie Demrell and Ernest Grant, of Yorklyn; Mr. and Mrs. Roy Grant and daughter, of Newark; Mr. and Mrs. Clinton Tweed and family, of Newark; Mr. John Joyce and son, Harry; Mr. and Mrs. James Moore, of Kennett Square; Frederick Davis, of Newark; Miss Lida Rudolph, of Philadelphia; George C. UNLAWFUL TO POST SIGNS

Delaware Residents Warned Not To Infringe On Maryland Roads

A warning from one of the Road Commissioners of Maryland received by The Post last night, indicates that action will be taken against any individual or firm having its business in Delaware which allows signs to be posted on the State Road, between Elkton and Newark.

It is understood that such signs have been posted on the right of way, and the statement by The Post's informant is in the nature of a final warning.

Good Corn Breeders

Indians were good corn breeders. Varieties grown by them when the white man first came are still being grown in New England, and are fully as productive as other varieties maturing in the same time.

Watch for Meteors

November is the month of meteors. The Great Nebula in Andromeda can be seen without the aid of a telescope in October. In the East in November you will see the Pleiades and Hyades in Taurus, and Aldebaran, the fiery-red eye of the Bull.

WANT SCOUT TROOP AT EACH LEGION POST

Plans whereby American Legion posts throughout Delaware may prove of benefit to the Boy Scout movement and themselves receive some of the enthusiasm inherent in the coming generation, got underway at a meeting held at Milford. Wherever there is a post, it is hoped a Boy Scout troop will be organized and in addition to this, many towns where there are no posts, it is expected a troop of Boy Scouts will be started before the year is out.

Milford has a thriving post and Boy Scout troop. Other towns, Dover, Harrington, Georgetown, Milton, Laurel, Lewes, Ellendale, Smyrna and Lincoln were represented at the meeting, and these towns either have troops or are discussing plans for the organization of such a body.

In the work or organization, any of the towns can have the aid of Amos R. Shields of Wilmington Council, Boy Scouts of America. Mr. Shields is a veteran of the World War and a man of wide experience in Scouting. It is stated that it is not the intention of Wilmington Council to attempt to organize troops anywhere, but the Council is willing to help the citizens of any town who may show a desire to organize the boys into a troop. In this organization work Mr. Shields is available and would be of great help to any community.

At the Milford meeting, Josiah Marvel stressed the great value the American Legion posts could be to their communities and urged them to get back of all good movements and how their Americanism. In this he believed there was nothing better they could do than to aid in the organization or support of Boy Scout troops.

Scout Executive Shields spoke on some of the essential details needed in organizing a Scout troop and of the demand for Scout Leadership.

William P. White who led community singing at the meeting made such a hit that instead of ten minutes, at least a half hour was devoted to community singing.

University Watchmen Named Constables

Governor Denney has appointed Mr. Joseph W. Christadoro and Mr. William H. Harrington special constables. This will give them full authority to arrest any person or persons interfering with University property. Mr. Christadoro is watchman at Delaware College, and Mr. Harrington at the Women's College.

OWN YOUR HOME

Near town where you can keep a cow, chickens and grow your own vegetables and fruit.

We have 30 acres, 18 in cultivation, facing 1,000 feet on Park Place Road within 3/4 mile of town. This farm has enough timber to furnish all the framing for house and other buildings. Lots of cord wood. Land is located less than 1/4 mile from a tract that is selling for 15 dollars per foot for building purposes.

This place must be sold soon.

See Mr. Davis, Real Estate Dept., Newark Trust & Safe Deposit Co.

The New Studebaker Big Six Duplex-Phaeton

Two Cars in One—
An open and closed car combined

STUDEBAKER Duplex—a closed and open car combined. An entirely new type car—developed by Studebaker and available from no other maker.

It is the most sensational—most talked-of car in America.

One minute you are enjoying the comfort and protection of a closed car—next the unhindered freedom that made the open car so popular. And the change can be made in 30 seconds by simply lowering the roller side enclosures.

Yet with all this two-fold convenience, the Duplex-Phaeton sells for no more than an open car.

The new Studebaker Big Six is strikingly beautiful—with long, low sweeping lines. It is especially designed and powered for seven-passenger service.

The Big Six Duplex-Phaeton is delivered to you with complete equipment. This even includes two highest grade bumpers, extra balloon tire, tube and tire cover—there is nothing else to buy.

But to appreciate this car you must inspect it—drive it. Test its delightful ease of operation—steering mechanism especially designed for its full-sized balloon tires.

Notice the new location of the lighting switch on the steering wheel—and many other new and unusual features.

See this car that has definitely solved the open-closed car problem.

The Wild Horses of Chincoteague

Signals of wild horses, the arid odor of burnt hair, thumping hoofs and dust; all the thrills of a round-up, not on sage brush plains, but way down East, are behind the scenes of recent announcements in Atlantic seaboard papers.

"Virginia has just staged her annual wild horse round-up which was first established when the Cowboy's West was still a terra incognita," says a bulletin of the National Geographic Society from its headquarters at Washington, D. C.

"Virginia does not even compromise by holding her round-up in the western part of the State; she confines 'wild West stuff' to the easternmost East of the Old Dominion—Chincoteague Island.

"Chincoteague, or Fortunate Isle, as some people call it, is located in the Peninsula. In a nation noted for disregard of natural boundaries such as rivers and mountain ranges as dividing lines, the Peninsula separating Chesapeake Bay from the stormy Atlantic, contains probably the most artificial state line to be found in the United States. At the upper end is the swinging L of tiny Delaware, almost entirely surrounded by Maryland. But the tail of the Peninsula is chopped off with a straight, decisive Virginia line and at the Atlantic end of the line lies Chincoteague.

"It is eight miles long and about three wide and nowhere rises much higher above the sea than a Pacific coral reef. A slender line of pines forms Chincoteague's backbone; all else is waving grass and in these uncultivated plains thrive, wild ponies.

There is no competition for existence between the ponies and Chincoteague's 2,000 or more inhabitants because the natives take their living entirely from the sea. Agriculture is for landlubbers, so the ponies run the island, grazing on salt marsh grass and getting their water supply from stagnant or brackish pools.

"Chincoteague stages its annual wild west show in August and hundreds of sightseers come over from Franklin City on the mainland to see the fun. Although the tough ponies boldly rush into the salty surf and have been known to swim small straits, the islanders are able to herd them to one spot. The colts are branded and a certain number auctioned off. Chincoteague ponies are tamable and by virtue of their rugged, outdoor life are far sturdier than ordinary ponies.

"When captured in the round-up the wild Chincoteague ponies are hairy, unkempt, ill-looking beasts but clippers and care transform them into little miniature horses. The origin of the breed is lost to history, but legend has it that they are descendants of horses which swam ashore from a shipwreck in the eighteenth century.

"Wild ponies are found in many places, notably the high hills of Wales and Southern Spain, where similar round-ups are held. The only place where there are wild ponies which are not run-out breeds of domesticated horses is in mid-Asia.

"Hides lie at Chincoteague's front door and that is the island's principal claim to the title Fortunate Island. Unemployment is unknown, for the sea spreads her treasure and the only individuals who are down-right poor are those who will not work. Oysters are the chief crop. Most of the beds are not controlled by a few citizens because the many original oyster farmers who obtained tide flat space when Virginia changed her policy from public to private oyster bed control sold out their rights to 'hogs' for someone who would take the responsibility of proprietorship.

"If Chincoteague were an outsider of the peninsula, bearing the brunt of Atlantic storms, it would not have the nickname, Fortunate Isle. Instead it is sheltered affectionately in the bent arm of Assateague, a long sand spit, bulwark of the coast. Chincoteague's tonging oysters and digging clams know little of the old ocean's disregard for human life. In the shelter of the pleasant, profitable isolation the fisher-folk communities are apparently naturally peaceful. One ancient old thrill-seeker tells visitors in great detail of the island's four murders, the first of which occurred during the American Revolution. A further sign of the island's prosperity is the large families. Indeed, it is heartily asserted that in Chincoteague a man is not said to have a family of ten but to be the father of 'ten head of children.'

"Clamming on Chincoteague is a dooryard occupation. Each householder owns riparian rights to the beach in front of his home as far out as the tide goes. Beyond are the oyster beds rented by the State government.

CALLED TO OXFORD, PA. Wilmington Pastor to Lead U. P. Congregation There

The Rev. Thomas Kerr, who for the past seven years has been pastor of Greenhill Presbyterian Church, Wilmington, has received a call to become pastor of the Union Presbyterian Church, near Oxford, Pa.

Dr. and Mrs. Kerr left Monday afternoon to visit the field to which Dr. Kerr has been called. Dr. Kerr came to Wilmington from the Berlin, Md., Presbyterian Church of which he was pastor for six years. He came to the Presbytery of New Castle from the Chester Presbytery, of Eastern Pennsylvania. He was pastor of the

SEEING GRANGERS FIRST HAND

National Master Makes a
10,000-Mile Inspection
Trip

Louis J. Taber, Master of the National Grange, has just completed a round trip, has just completed a "swing around the circle," which is the most noteworthy trip ever carried out in equal time by a Grange official. During a little more than a 60-days period National Master Taber made a 10,000-mile rail journey among the Granges of the Northwest, covering a half-dozen of the big states, and then in an automobile trip of more than 3,000 miles went to the Atlantic seaboard, speaking nearly every day and covering a full dozen different states.

By these two trips National Master Taber reached the membership in fully one-half of the organized Grange states of the country, spoke to thousands of members, conferred with leaders in all these states, and outlined a constructive year's program ahead which shall enlist the joint energies of national and state organizations. No previous National Master has been able during the first year of his administration to get so directly in touch with his co-workers in all parts of the United States, nor to secure so directly a nation-wide view of agriculture and its needs, as well as the directions in which the Grange can most helpfully function.

Leo an "Early Bird"

Severely meteor swarms are due in November each year. The Leonids, so-called because they come from the general direction of the constellation Leo, appear about November 15. You will have to be up before sunrise to see them because Leo is then in the morning sky.

Popping of corn is simply an explosion of steam and oil vapor held under pressure until the seed is burst and the pressure suddenly released. Corn to pop successfully must have just the right quantity of moisture, neither too wet nor too dry. The most common cause of poor popping is due to drying. Pop corn, when cured thoroughly, should be stored in sealed jars or other air-tight containers.

STUDENTS INTERESTED IN OUR POLITICS

Never has there been a political campaign in which young men and women attending the colleges of the country have taken as much interest as is being shown this year, according to Director John Hamlin of the College Bureau of the Republican National Committee. "The keen interest on the part of students is attributed largely to the Socialist Third Party movement, and its attack on the constitution," says Mr. Hamlin.

Students in universities, colleges and normal schools have made quick response to the College Bureau's suggestion that Republican clubs be formed to take an active interest in the campaign. "Dozens of requests for information regarding the national issues involved in the election come to us daily," says Mr. Hamlin, "and a large portion of the requests come from sections where La Folletteism is supposed to be the accepted nostrum for all economic ailments."

Activities of college Republican clubs are directed first of all toward getting students to vote. Clubs are also engaged in disseminating information regarding voting by mail and in co-operating with State, county and local Republican Committees in arranging political rallies and distributing campaign literature.

Women students are taking equal interest with the men and many are serving on executive committees and in other responsible positions.
