Why Not Take Up Dentistry?

Q The profession of dentistry is now regarded as an important branch of medicine. The dentist is no longer looked upon as a mere "tooth fixer," but as a medical specialist.

Out of every ten persons who should go to the dentist, only one goes now. Yet every dentist in America has all the patients he can properly attend, and the continually increasing interest in dentistry, with greater appreciation of the value of dentistry in preserving health and preventing disease, is bringing people to the dentist's office in ever increasing numbers.

More dentists are needed. It will be many years before there can possibly be enough dentists to do the work the public wants.

BATTING PRACTICE

SAFETY FIRST

In all its activities this Institution is thoroughly conservative. Safety First and Profit Second is its rule. The constant effort of the management is to obtain both Safety and Profit for its customers and for the Institution.

You should take advantage of this splendid organization, placed at your service, by maintaining with it both a checking and savings account.

You would also do well and wisely by making your Will without delay and naming the Security as your Executor and Trustee.

THE KING OF THE CAMPUS

Like the life history of all of our friends of the field and the forest, the life history of the King of the Campus is a tragedy. Yet it is a tragedy which has its high points, its glory, its moments of supreme happiness.

When first I met the King of the Campus, he was a callow thing—verdant and free from guile—yet he developed from his puppyhood. He lived and he fought; fought his natural enemies, the Sophomores, and his unnatural enemies, the Faculty. And as he fought he grew; growing, he learned.

When the Hunting Moon came the King was at his prime. He had lived through the mid-winter onslaughts of the Faculty; he had beaten off the attacks of the Sophs. For three weeks he was monarch of all the region. None dared dispute his sway. All the animals of his domain bowed before him, offering him tribute and seeking to curry his favor, for he was all-powerful.

Yet as they flattered him, they set their snares. And for once the cunning of the King failed him. He was captured.

And now the King is King no more. When last I saw him he wore the insignia of servitude. He was an humble Pledge, doomed to suffer in captivity for a year, running errands and answering the door-bell for his master.

Long live the King, the King is dead!

Greetings To Old Delaware

In the opinion of THE EVENING JOURNAL there is no educational institution in Delaware that is more deserving of public encouragement and support than is the University of Delaware.

It gives us pleasure to contribute this space to the college annual and to bespeak for the institution the liveliest interest of a public that has so much of a moral and material nature at stake in the college.

It also affords us special pleasure to emphasize the fact that if the University is to grow and prosper, the foundation for such growth and prosperity must be found in a fixed determination on the part of Delaware parents to send their sons to Newark to obtain their higher education.

It will continue to be the policy of THE EVENING JOURNAL to promote at all times in its editorial, news and sporting columns the very best interests of Old Delaware.

Sincerely,

(Unequaled for its Combined Weekly and Yearly Milk and Butter Records)

Our herd sires represent lines of breeding that are noted for type, size, and short and long-time milk and butter production. Their daughters are making excellent A. R. O. records in both the 7 and 365-day divisions.

We always have for sale from 10 to 30 bull calves that possess inherited individuality and size. These well-bred calves are priced at figures that will enable YOU to own one of them.

Heifers and milch cows with creditable A. R. O. records, are also for sale. These make good foundation stock for beginners.

Our herd is under Government supervision and is regularly tuberculin tested. When purchasing cattle, a careful buyer looks for this guarantee against tuberculosis.

We respectfully invite you and your friends to come and see our herd of Holsteins (325 females).

In the same class we were, at college.

Bill stood at the top; I was worst.
We graduated in '21—
But Bill, he got rich first.

We loved the same fair co-ed,
My heart with love was cursed;
I went to ask her paw's consent—
But Bill, he got there first.

The "white mule" stood in the bottle,
I had an awful thirst.
We both dived headlong for it—
But Bill, he got there first.

He drained it to the bottom,
While I did loudly curse;
I'm high and dry on earth today—
But Bill—he's in a hearse.

The stuff contained formaldehyde,
It burned his hide the worst;
He once told me to "go to h—"
But Bill—he got there first.
