RED MEN'S BILL PASSED SENATE THIS AFTERNOON

Legislature Makes Legal A Move To Gouge Newark Taxpayers Out Of $5,000; Town Delegation Fought Issue In Senate

NOTE 12 TO 5

At a deferred press hour word has come from Dover that the Red Men's Home bill has passed the Senate by a two-thirds majority vote of 12 to 2. Action on the bill was deferred from 11 to 2 o'clock. Phillip Garrett, Wilmington Attorney, spoke before the Senate on the measure for the Red Men, and C. C. Hubert, acting Mayor of Newark, led the fight for the Town on the floor. Only one speaker was allowed each side.

If this bill is signed by the Governor, it will mean that the taxpayers of Newark are gouged out of $5,382 a year standing against the account of the Home and will be unable to collect any claims against the Home in the future. The bill provides that all claims, heretofore or hereafter, made against the Home be held in abeyance without interest or penalty until the property is sold.

Three times Newark delegations have gone to Dover to protest the bill. It was given a final reading before the Senate Tuesday, but a motion to defer action until today passed 10 to 7. The bill passed the House without dissenting vote, because no opposition was made in that branch of the Legislature.

Petitions will be made to Governor Buck to veto the bill as unconstitutional and unfair.

Last Thursday a delegation visited the Senate committee, holding the bill, to protest it. The committee listened to the protest and arranged a hearing before the Senate, Tuesday. On Tuesday, a delegation of ten citizens of Newark appeared before the Senate.

Acting Mayor Hubert stated that he represented 5,000 people who strenuously opposed this measure to force the Town of Newark to carry the obligations of a private corporation. He stated that the bill was introduced by a group of Wilmington Red Men, who were trying to evade a just debt against the Home. He stated that no appeal had been made to the town by the board of the Home, asking that time be given to settle the account with the town, amounting to $5,382, and assessed because of improvements made by the town which had increased the stated value of the property 150 per cent. He said that the Red Men had always had fair treatment in Newark and that there was no reason for their going to the Legislature to have any issues with the Town of Newark settled.

Frank Collins explained the items of the present claim against the Home. He said that the claim was for sewer and street improvements authorized by the 1927 State Legislature, and that they could have been collected through the sheriff's office, but that the town had been lenient with the Home. He said that this work was a contract authorized by the State, accepted by the Red Men, and that the Town had fulfilled its part of the contract. Mr. Collins then itemized the property of the Home, which he said was valued by the Red Men at $47,000, but whose real value was twice that. He also gave their financial report, as of August 1, 1928, and said that while the Red Men claimed that they were financially unable to meet this obligation, that their report showed them amply provided to meet the claim. He further stated that the Town had given them five years time to pay the claim.

George W. Griffin asked permission to address the Senate. He said that he had been active in the Red Men's organization for 40 years, and that he was ashamed to know that the Home had presented any such bill. He analyzed the financial statement of the Home.

LAUD ATHLETES AT BANQUET

Dr. Kennedy Tells Delaware Letter Men That Sport Is A Breeder Of True Democracy

Dr. Charles W. Kennedy, chairman of the Board of Athletic Control, Princeton University, was the speaker at the annual athletic dinner of the University of Delaware, held in Old College, last night. The keynote of his address was the importance of sport as a leveler and breeder of the true spirit of democracy. He said that on the athletic fields all toiled for nothing, and every man stood on his own footing and competed under the same conditions. Dr. Kennedy also spoke at 11 o'clock in the morning at a "College Hour" held for Delaware College only.

Dr. Kennedy praised the wearers of letters in college. The letters he compared to flags by saying that they were only symbols. Dr. Kennedy said, "The most important things in life are symbols; the flag of our country can be bought for a few cents, and yet the men of our nation die for that flag. What is it that makes me fight for this flag, a mere symbol? Athletic letters are also symbols as the flag, of something dear to every one who wears them."

The speaker also touched upon professionalism and stated that he was in favor of open and avowed professionalism, but not concealed professionalism.

Mr. Kennedy further stated that he regarded athletics as one of the very important parts of college life. Competitive sports he said, brings a respect for the physical condition of a man's life.

Dr. Kennedy apologized for absence of "Bill" Roper, who failed to get to Delaware for the banquet but sent congratulations to the letter men by proxy.

Professor Howard K. Preston, president of the Athletic Council at Delaware, was the first speaker and introduced A. G. Wilkinson, business administrator of the college, who acted as toastmaster. Mr. Wilkinson made a short talk in which he stressed leadership, personality, and achievement in athletics. At the conclusion of his talk, Mr. Wilkinson announced that Davy Crockett, holder of the Delaware record in the high hurdles for several years, had just died. Every one arose and stood in silence for a moment at the announcement.

Among the other speakers were Alec Taylor, Sr., of Wilmington, Dick French, president of the Student Council, and Coach Joe Rothrock and A. O. H. Grier.

Besides Delaware letter men and managers, other guests included H. McKay, A. K. Taylor, Sr., Harry Lawson, Major P. S. Prince, Frank Collins, Representative Wayne Brewer, Dean G. H. Dutton, Dean McCue, Dean Spencer, A. G. Wilkinson, J. Aleck Crothers, J. Pearce Cann, Professor C. J. Rees, H. K. Preston, Dr. A. S. Eastman, Dr. W. O. Sypherd, A. O. H. Grier, George Carter, Alexander R. Abrahams, William E. Hayes, Sr., Major Glassburn, Horace Weir, Fred Harmer, Lieutenant Colonel Robert S. COW TESTING ASS'N FORMED

18 Dairymen Enroll In County Organization And Appoint Tester; One Day Tests Each Month On Member Farms

The New Castle County Cow Testing Association was organized Tuesday by dairymen in the upper county. At present 18 members are enrolled, but it is expected that by the end of the first month's testing this number will be increased to 22 or 24.

The following officers were elected at the organization meeting held in Wolf Hall: President, Paul Mitchell, Hockessin; Secretary-Treasurer, J. R. Danks, Winterthur; Board of Directors, George C. Burge, Middletown; Harold Little, Newark; George B. Pierson, Hockessin.

At a meeting of the Board of Directors held at Winterthur Farms yesterday, K. Leinam was hired as tester for the association, which plans to be in operation during the coming month of April. The plans of the organization call for a one-day per month test on each farm by the organization tester. This will include the weighing of milk from each cow, night and morning of the tester's visit, weighing of the feed given each cow during the same period, and a butter-fat test of each cow's milk at that time. At the end of the year, each man enrolled in the association should have a record of every cow's production in his herd, and the feed fed her during that period. In this way the owner can discard the "boarder" cows which have not given enough milk to pay for feed alone, not taking into consideration the labor and other expense items per cow.

According to New Castle County Agent, Ed Willim, Jr., who has been interested in getting the cow testing association started in the county, records secured in this way for dairymen, could and should be used as a basis for culling and breeding operations that should soon place the herds involved well ahead of the average producing herds in the county.

CIVIL WAR VET PASSES AWAY

Charles Waters One Of Two Last Members Of Local G. A. R. Died Monday; Funeral Today

The roll of Captain Reynolds Post, Grand Army of the Republic, was reduced to one living member on Monday morning of this week, when Charles Waters died suddenly at his home on East Main street. Mr. Waters, who was in his eighty-first year, had been active up to the morning of his death, attending church the day before. He complained of feeling poorly when he awoke in the morning. A doctor was summoned, but before he arrived the aged veteran had died of acute dilation of the heart.

Mr. Waters was born and reared near Coatesville, Pa. At the outbreak of the Civil War he enlisted with the 14th Pennsylvania Cavalry and served through most of the fighting in the Army of the Potomac, under General Phil Sheridan. When he was mustered out he came to Newark, where he lived up to the time of his demise. For many years he was employed by the Curtis Paper Mill. Some years ago he retired, and after his retirement, lived with his two daughters.

He was commander of the Captain Reynolds Post, G. A. R., at the time of his death. Up to last January 25, Charles Waters, Henry Jacobs and Major R. G. Buckingham made up the post roster of living members. On that date Mr. Jacobs died, and with the passing of Mr. Waters, Major Buckingham is left alone to carry on the work of the post.

Services were held at the house at 1 o'clock this afternoon, the Reverend H. Everett Hallman officiating. The services were in charge of the Captain Reynolds Post, G. A. R., and Civil War veterans from Wilmington assisted Major Buckingham. Interment is being made in the Hepzibah Cemetery, near Coatesville, Pa.

Mr. Waters was an honorary member of the J. Allison O'Daniel Post, Veterans of Foreign Wars, and attended the meetings regularly. The post is sending a firing squad to the cemetery, and post members are acting as pallbearers.

Mr. Waters is survived by two daughters, Miss Leta Waters, and Mrs. Essie Spooner, with whom he lived, and a son, Clarence, of Wilmington.

SCHOOL BOARDS SEEK SOLUTIONS TO PROBLEMS

Meets With White Clay Creek Committee To Discuss Problem Of Increased Enrollments Due To Taking In Additional District; State Board Working On Decision

ORATORY CONTESTS

On Tuesday night the Board of Education, Newark Special School District met with a committee from the White Clay Creek School District, No. 36, to discuss fast growing problems which confront both districts.

In 1919 the State Board of Education closed the White Clay Creek District because of low attendance and sold the school building. The children of that district were assigned to the Newark Special School District and since then the White Clay Creek Board of School Trustees, which still legally exists, has had no voice or representation in the direction of the schools which the children from that district attend. There is a school tax of 15 cents throughout the state and the property holders in the White Clay Creek district pay this tax. Property holders in the Newark Special School district pay this 15 cent tax and, in addition, pay a tax of 23 cents into a sinking fund for the retirement of school bonds. Up to 1924 this additional tax was 45 cents. The property holders in White Clay Creek District do not pay this building tax. That is, they pay a tax of 15 cents for instruction, but pay no tax for the buildings in which their children are instructed.

The Newark Board of Education foresees an approaching situation when the present physical school plant will be inadequate to house both the enrollments from Newark Special School District and White Clay Creek District, in grades 1 to 6, and are trying to arrive at a solution of this problem before such a condition of overcrowding becomes a fact. Should such a condition become actual, Newark would have to provide more classroom space or decline to accept pupils from White Clay Creek.

Should larger buildings become necessary, the White Clay Creek District would be expected to assume its share of the financial burden in paying a building tax, and should it be decided to plan to provide larger buildings White Clay Creek will be asked to pay a building tax to hurry the retirement of the present outstanding school bonds.

White Clay Creek is anxious to have the problem decided to assure a decided program for the education of its pupils, but the sentiment in the district is for having its own school.

The Newark Board of Education has had a number of conferences at Dover with the State Board of Education, as well as two conferences with the White Clay Creek committee. No definite solution has been arrived at as yet, and the solution will depend largely on the final attitude of the State Board. The committee from White Clay Creek which met with the Newark Board, Tuesday night, included Nathaniel Riekey, David Eastburn, John T. Edmondson and E. S. Cochrane.

Oratory Contest

During the past two weeks every student in grades 9 to 12 in the Newark Schools has been competing in declamation and oratorical elimination contests. Elizabeth Chaytor, Roberta Leak, Alice McCormick, William Moeller, Margaret Wilkinson, Martha Elliott, Donald Harris, Caroline Cobb, William Huxtable, Louise Fulton, Verona Chalmers, Elsie Richards, Harriet Nivin, Randolph Eastburn, Virginia Thomas, William Wallis, Bill Meredith.

Newark Gouged

The State Legislature has just put the lead in a legal black-jack to bludgeon the Town of Newark out of $5,000. That is, the Senate passed the pernicious Red Men's Home Bill a few minutes ago. Perhaps the Governor will veto this measure. It is thought that he will, but whether he does or not, the Town of Newark should take immediate steps to collect this claim through the courts. The Home has already defaulted on payment and the whole amount is legally collectable until this bill is signed and becomes a law. If it does become a law, the matter should be taken before the courts to prove whether or not it is a constitutional law. Newark has been more than considerate and lenient with the Red Men's Home. It should now bring every pressure to bear to collect this just debt.

Perplexing School Problems

The Board of Education, Newark Special School District, is attempting to evolve a solution to problems involving the instruction of pupils from the White Clay Creek School District, who were assigned to the Newark District, in 1919, when White Clay Creek School was closed and sold by the State Board of Education. The problems involve the housing of pupils from both districts, but there are many complex angles to the situation, which make it a difficult task. The Newark Board is conferring with the State Board and with a committee from White Clay Creek, in order to adjust and provide for matters involving the two districts before the enrollment situation becomes acute and calls for summary measures.

The White Clay Creek committee feels that its enrollment justifies a reopening of the district with a school of its own, and if the State Board will take the same viewpoint on the matter, the problems will be solved. However, if the White Clay Creek district is not reopened, the Newark Board will be forced to take one of several courses of action to protect the pupils and taxpayers in its own district. At the present rate of enrollment increase, the Newark Schools will soon be adequate in classroom space only for pupils in its own district in grades 1 to 6. It will either have to rent or build additional buildings or refuse to accept pupils from White Clay Creek. The latter course would be one which the local Board would be loath to take as it has acquired a warm paternal feeling toward White Clay Creek pupils, but if it is forced to build more classroom space a financial adjustment will have to be made to protect the interests of the taxpayers in the Newark District.

Property owners in both districts pay a state school assessment of 15 cents, and in addition property owners in the Newark District pay an additional tax of 23 cents, which goes into a sinking fund to retire bonds issued to pay for the new Newark school building. Up to 1924 this additional tax was 45 cents. That is, Newark taxpayers pay an instruction tax of 15 cents and a building tax of 23 cents. Should new buildings be necessary, White Clay Creek would not only be expected to pay its proportionate share of the financing of new buildings, but it would be expected to assume a portion of the burden on the present building, of which it has had free use since 1919. To apportion this adjustment presents many difficulties.

The Newark Board of Education is to be congratulated on its foresight in anticipating a critical situation and attempting to provide for it before it becomes a fact. It is hoped that the State Board of Education will make an early decision on the problem so that the two districts can plan definite programs for the future.

The Red Men's Home, Incorporated, proving that it was able to meet its obligations, and stated that it was nothing more than a move on the part of a group in Wilmington to gouge the taxpayers of Newark. He said that all Newark Red Men were violently opposed to the bill, and stated that another past sacheem, Mr. Frank Smith, also of over forty years membership in the order, was with the delegation in opposition to the bill.

Louis Handloff, representing the Newark Chamber of Commerce, spoke against the measure. He stated that although he was not a Red Man, that last winter he worked on a drive to collect money to pay this sewer tax for the Home, and that he had collected $150. He wanted to know what had become of that money.

Senator Green, who said he was asked to back the bill, stated that the Red Men could not pay the account, but did not give an substantiating figures. Yesterday, Senator Green, who is a Wilmington photographer, was in Newark to take pictures of the High School basketball teams. He was interviewed by a representative of The Post and stated that the bill would be passed. Under pressure of questioning, he admitted that such a measure or issue had no place in the State Legislature, but that he was under obligations to the persons introducing the bill and had to support it. Senator Green then excused himself to take the photographs, and like the Arabs, quietly folded his camera and faded from town.

The delegation from Newark, on Tuesday included Frank Smith, E. L. Richards, George Griffin, Dr. George Rhodes, W. J. Lovett, C. C. Hubert, Frank Collins, Louis Handloff, J. M.

Barnes, and Harry Cleaves. Today, Frank Collins, George Griffin, W. P. Wollaston, C. C. Hubert and Harry Cleaves went to Dover to fight the bill.

"PAMBO" SPRING NUMBER

The second (Spring) number of "Pambo" has just been laid on the reviewer's desk. He has read it from cover to cover, including the advertisements, and considers the time well spent.

Differing considerably in style from the first number, we are inclined to think that it has advanced a step or two further in excellence. It must be that that "sunrise-aim" has had some influence. The stories are all good. We liked two of them especially but as we live in Newark we decline to say which ones. The other contributions are in pleasing contrast to one another and each one has an attractive style of its own.

"Pambo" has evidently come to stay and the success of the first two numbers should inspire the production of abundant and still better material for the next issue.

TOWNS CAN REGULATE CROSSING PROTECTION

Supreme Court Upholds Right of City To Insist on Watchman Protection at Grade Crossings

A railroad company may not replace human flagmen with electric signaling devices at dangerous grade crossings where a city ordinance requires the former method of safeguarding the traveling public, the Supreme Court of the United States has just ruled in an important decision, of interest to all motorists.

The decision upholds the power of a city to determine in what manner dangerous grade crossings within its limits shall be protected, according to the legal department of the American Motorists' Association.

The ordinance involved in the decision was passed by the city of Memphis, Tenn., forty years ago and required the presence of flagmen swinging flags in daytime, and lighted lanterns in the night-time at all railroad crossings. Without regard for the ordinance, one railroad company removed its crossing watchman and substituted in their places modern mechanical signaling apparatus. A motorist was killed at one of the crossings and the carrier's violation of the ordinance was urged as the proximate cause of the accident. The railroad company argued that in the light of modern improvements, the ordinance required human watchmen was an unnecessary burden upon interstate commerce and amounted to a denial of due process of law.

The Tennessee Supreme Court upheld the validity of the ordinance and the judgment was affirmed by the Supreme Court of the United States.

"The legislative arguments in favor of the railway are manifest," said Justice Holmes in the court's opinion, "and we may conjecture that it is only a matter of time before the old methods of guarding grade crossings will have disappeared unless the grade crossings precede them. But if the ordinance were passed today and came up for a decision upon its validity it could not be denied that a man in the middle of the street or near it, and intent on stopping traffic, might stop some travelers who might not notice electric signs."

"Many modern improvements must be expected to take their toll of life," the opinion continued. "When a railroad is built, experience teaches that it is pretty certain to kill some people before it has lasted long. But a court cannot condemn a legislature that refuses to allow the toll to be taken even if it thinks that the gain by the change would compensate for any such loss."

"The decision of the court is of great importance because many cities have ordinances similar to the one upheld in the Tennessee case," declared J. Borton Weeks, President of the American Motorists' Association. "The decision rests upon the ground that the railroad's failure to comply with the city ordinance, and not the negligence of the driver in going on the tracks, was the proximate cause of the accident."

CLOVER PROFITABLE GRAZING FOR DAIRYMEN

On soils that contain lime the most productive grazing crop known today is sweet clover, according to the experts in forage crops in the United States Department of Agriculture. They point out that a good stand of second-season sweet clover can carry two head of cows per acre from early spring until mid-summer and cases are known where four head did not keep it down. Get the stock in early, they advise, when the clover is 6 inches high and put cattle enough on to keep it from blossoming; with only one cow to an acre the clover gets old too fast.

County Agent Ed Willim, Jr., is planning to conduct a campaign in New Castle County to increase the acreage of this legume as a pasture crop. The information about the value of sweet clover for pasture is very timely and important on account of the nearness to the time when sweet clover should be sown.

For continuous grazing, they point out, two fields of sweet clover are necessary, one that has just passed its first winter and one starting its first season's growth. Turn cattle on the older field in the spring and keep them there until July 15-30. By this time the sweet clover will bloom and get too woody to be palatable and the clover on the new field should be 6 to 8 inches high. The new clover will carry only about half the stock the old field carried, and allowance must be made for that by having double the acreage or by having other pasture. An excess acreage in the fall is not a bad thing, as any field not needed for grazing the next season can be turned under the next spring for corn with great benefit to the corn.

After grazing stops on the older field the clover will make considerable growth and this can be plowed under in the fall with great benefit to any succeeding crop.

There is less danger from bloat with sweet clover than with other clovers, but cases have been known, and the usual precautions should be taken.

CARD OF THANKS

I wish to thank friends and relatives for their kind sympathy and help, and for their beautiful floral offerings at the time of the death of my husband.—Mrs. Anna Reed.

PIGEON WHISTLES

The carrier pigeons of the United States Army are now being equipped with bamboo whistles with which to scare away birds that might attack them. The whistles, very light, are attached to the birds' tails. The surprising and constant noise keeps all predatory birds away, even the trained hawks and falcons used by the Army.

The pigeon whistle originated with the Chinese. There are two principal types there; those that consist of bamboo tubes placed side by side, and those that are fastened to a gourd body or wind chest. The former type sometimes has as many as five tubes. The gourd whistle has a mouthpiece and small apertures to the number of ten or twelve.

The whistles are lacquered in yellow, red, brown and black, to protect the materials from the atmosphere. The instruments carried by a flock of pigeons are all tuned to different keys, and the greater the confusion of sounds the greater the music, as the Chinese see it.

Then the America made a third cruise under another new commander, Captain James Cheever. She made more prizes and continued her record until the end of the war...

NEWARK, DELAWARE 309 WEST MAIN ST. A delightful home of fine construction. Large lot—75 x 325—at the top of "Quality Hill." It faces the Country Club. Nothing nicer in a small house in Newark. It has a living room, dining room, kitchen, breakfast nook, three nice bed rooms, tiled bath and hot water heat. There is a garage for two cars. The owner paid $13,000 for this house which he built in 1926. Having left Newark he is very anxious to sell and is open to any reasonable offer.
