COLLEGE OPENS WITH CONVOCATION

Dr. Charles A. Richmond to be Speaker at Exercises on Upper Campus

ACADEMIC PROCESSION

Classes Will Start on Same Day—Enrollment Up to Standard

The University of Delaware will officially open for the 1923-24 term on Friday afternoon next, when Convocation exercises will be held on the upper campus immediately in front of Old College. The program will begin at three o'clock, with an academic procession, embodying Trustees, members of the faculty, prominent visitors and portions of the student body. The procession will, no doubt, form at Wolf Hall and will march to Old College. Invitations to the ceremony have been issued by University officials to friends all over the State.

The principal address will be given by Charles Alexander Richmond, D. D., LL. D., Chancellor of Union College, Schenectady, N. Y. Dr. Richmond is one of the most prominent educators in the East and officials at the University consider themselves fortunate in procuring his services.

The program following the academic procession is as follows:

Invocation;
Reading of Scripture;
Singing of "America";
President's Announcements;
Announcements by the Deans;
Benediction.

In the announcements, Deans Dutton, McCue and M. Van G. Smith will give the changes in the personnel of the various departments and other important information.

It is expected that Dr. Hulihan, who also presides at the exercises, will review the past year's work, and pay particular attention to the success of the Foreign Study Plan now going on.

The students are coming in daily, and the enrollment is estimated to be about the same as the past year or two. The buildings have been completely renovated and many have been painted. D. Lee Rose, superintendent of grounds, stated that the campus and buildings were never in better condition.

Local ministers will officiate in the religious part of Friday's program. Professor H. K. Preston is in charge of the arrangements for Convocation. The Women's College will begin its term on the same day, and will cooperate with the Men's College at Convocation.

SLIGHT OPERATION

Mrs. John Pilling underwent a slight operation in a Philadelphia hospital the latter part of last week. She is recovering rapidly from the ordeal, and is spending a few days this week visiting her daughter, Mrs. Donald P. Horsey, at her home in Darby, Pa.

CONSTITUTION WEEK OPENED SUNDAY WITH APPROPRIATE CHURCH SERVICES

Presbyterian Pastor Gives Two Interesting Sermons On Great Document; Local D. A. R. Cooperating With Bar Association

MONDAY SEPTEMBER 17, WAS 136TH ANNIVERSARY

On September 17, 1787, in Philadelphia, the Constitution of the United States of America, the greatest document of its kind in the world, was adopted at a meeting of the Constitutional Convention.

Constitution week, opening on the 136th anniversary of the event last Monday, is being observed all over the nation with appropriate programs in the church, school and home.

On last Sunday, Rev. H. Everett Hallman, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church in Newark, took for the subject of his sermon, "The First Amendment," and in the evening again preached on "Enemies of the Constitution." Both sermons were well received by large congregations.

The local Chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution, of which Miss Eleanor Todd is head, is co-

TO HAVE NEW QUARTERS

Building and Loan Association Moves Into Bank Building

Beginning this month, the Newark Building and Loan Association, will hold its monthly meetings in new offices in the Newark Trust and Safe Deposit Company's building, where extensive interior improvements, have resulted in much more room.

Heretofore the Association has met in Odd Fellows' Hall, on Main Street, a few doors from the bank building.

OLD HOME WEEK FOR NEWARK

Chamber of Commerce in First Meeting Will Discuss Project Friday

The Newark Chamber of Commerce, through its president, James C. Hastings, announces the first meeting of the season for Friday evening next at 8 o'clock. The meeting, while not definitely placed as yet, will perhaps be held in the new Fire House.

The major topic of discussion will be a proposed movement to start an annual Old Home Week for Newark. This idea has spread rapidly throughout towns in nearby districts, principally over the line in Pennsylvania. The object of the Week is to bring all the old residents back home for a short visit, and to promote local advantages for the prospective home builder and business man. The events have been considered successful wherever held. There will be no stated speech on the matter, but a general discussion of its merits as applied to Newark.

In response to several inquiries from members of the Chamber, it is also proposed at Friday's meeting to lay plans for the third annual Fall Dinner, an event of great importance among the business men of the town. Committees will no doubt be appointed and a date set for the affair.

President Hastings in his statement requested that all members make it a point to be present Friday evening at the first meeting for several months.

GLASGOW PEOPLE HIT BY BOOZE CARRIER

Mr. and Mrs. Sprinkle Shaken Up in Mishap; Alleged Liquor In Car

While on their way to Wilmington to market last week, the team of Mr. and Mrs. William Sprinkle, of near Glasgow, was run into by a machine on the State road near Hares' Corner, tearing off a front wheel and throwing the occupants out, bruising Mrs. Sprinkle considerably.

One of the machines was hauling liquor but before the driver of the car that held the liquor, the man grabbed the booze and ran for the nearby woods. He could not be found later. The horses were frightened to a great extent, ran away and completely scattered the vegetables along the road.

DR. WALTER HULLIHEN

Dr. Hulihan will preside at the Convocation Exercises on the University Campus, Friday afternoon.

LOCAL COUPLE IN SURPRISE WEDDING

Miss Helen Jarmon Became Bride of John C. Magraw In Elkton Saturday Last

Two well known young people of Newark slipped a surprise to their many friends recently, when Miss Helen Jarmon, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Jarmon, of this place, and John C. Magraw, son of George Magraw, also of Newark, quietly journeyed to Elkton and were married there on Saturday afternoon about three o'clock.

The happy couple left immediately after the ceremony for a short wedding trip to Washington, D. C., and nearby points. Upon their return, they will reside on the small farm of the groom, along Paper Mill Road.

Mr. Magraw has established a successful produce business, buying up poultry and farm produce and selling at Wilmington markets. During the early summer he was with the Rittenhouse Motor Co., of this place, and also with the Packard branch in Philadelphia.

Mrs. Magraw is well known among the young set of Newark and vicinity, and the news of the wedding came as a complete surprise to her many friends.

BADLY SCALDED

"Jerry" Miller Falls Into Tub of Hot Water; In Hospital Recovering

"Jerry" Miller, Newark's real handy-man, suffered a painful accident Saturday, when he was suddenly taken ill while cleaning a cabinet at Blockson's store on Main Street.

He was using scalding water from a tub to clean out the interior of the cabinet and when stricken fell head foremost into the water. He was painfully scalded about the head and shoulders.

At a Wilmington hospital, where he was rushed, it was learned that he would recover and that the injuries were not considered serious, although he will be under medical treatment for some time.

SEPTEMBER COURT OPENED MONDAY

The September Grand Jury went into session Monday morning at 10:30 o'clock. The September term of Superior and General Sessions court opened at the same time. About 30 criminal cases have been prepared by the Attorney General's office for presentation to the jury.

Monday was devoted by the court to hearing uncontested divorce cases which number about one hundred. There are about fifty new cases on the court calendar.

Those indicted by the Grand Jury were arraigned today. The trial of civil cases will begin Monday, September 24.

AT RED MEN'S HOME

Another of the series of religious services at Red Men's Home along Depot Road will be held next Sunday afternoon, beginning at 2:30 o'clock p. m.

The Rev. R. H. Adams, pastor of the Brack-Ex M. E. Church, will deliver the sermon. It is also planned to have a part of the Brack-Ex choir on hand to lead the singing of hymns.

Local Red Men request the attendance of as many townspeople as possible at these services.

SERVING ON GRAND JURY

Mayor Eben B. Frazer and R. J. Colbert, of Newark, are serving this week on the Grand Jury during the September term of the Court of General Sessions, now in full swing in Wilmington.

The Mayor stated last night that the pressure of business in the Jury will keep them busy for the remainder of the week.

FIREMEN GO TO HAVRE DE GRACE

Big Parade Scheduled for Monday Night Next in That Town

The Aetna Hose, Hook and Ladder Company of Newark will parade at Havre de Grace next Monday evening, in conjunction with the Firemen's Carnival which will be in full swing there, according to Chief E. C. Wilson.

Plans call for one of the largest firemen's parades ever to be held in this section. Practically all the companies in Cecil County have signified their intention of being on hand, and with the crack Newark outfit, winner of first prize at Oxford recently, on hand there will be keen competition for the honors Monday.

FALL RECEPTION AT PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

Delightful Program Given Last Evening; Musical Numbers Feature

The annual Fall congregational reception at the First Presbyterian Church was held last evening in the Lecture room, and was attended by a large percentage of the church membership.

Mrs. H. E. Tiffany and her associates arranged a delightful program, with musical numbers proving a feature of the evening.

Mrs. Franklin Springer played two piano solos; these were followed by readings by Mrs. Alma Cooch. She gave two clever numbers which were greatly appreciated by the audience.

Mrs. J. Pearce Cann sang three songs, and Misses Kathryn Graybill and Jane Dutton sang a duet, "Whispering Hope."

Later in the evening light refreshments were served by members of the committee in charge.

Rev. H. Everett Hallman gave a short talk to the congregation, in which was interspersed several bits of humor. The evening was well planned and carried off in splendid style.

The reception is an annual event in the affairs of the church and marks the real beginning of the many activities during the Fall and Winter months.

SPEEDER GETS A FINE

A Dodge touring car, bearing a Maryland license, whirled through town headed south, Monday morning, but unfortunately did not see Highway Officer Jones in Judge Thompson's office. The car was going over 30 miles per hour through Main Street.

Jones took to his motorcycle and gave hot pursuit. The speeding car made a desperate dash for the Maryland line, but Jones caught up, and escorted them politely back to Magistrate Thompson.

"$25.00 and costs," said the judge. The driver of the car, Henry Sewell of Baltimore, and his party of friends, paid the fine and said not a word.

THE WANDERER

A new feature makes its bow to Post readers this week, in the form of a weekly "column," written by "The Wanderer."

Philosophy, homely humor, and a real lesson is embodied in each one of these contributions.

Appreciation or criticism of these bits of prose and poetry will be welcomed.

LOCAL RED CROSS RAISES OVER $400 TO DATE FOR JAPAN RELIEF FUND

Continental Fibre Company Heads List of Contributors With Large Gift—Mrs. Duffy Plans to End Drive Sunday

COMMUNITY EAGER TO GIVE TO THE CAUSE

An amount well over $400 is the estimate made today by Mrs. J. O. G. Duffy, as Newark's contribution to the relief fund for stricken Japan, being engineered all over the country by the National Red Cross.

In reviewing the drive in Newark, Mrs. Duffy said that the people of the town and community were eager to give to the local fund, and in some cases, when district workers were delayed in making their rounds, the residents hunted them up and voluntarily gave their share.

The Continental Fibre Company heads the list of contributors so far with a check for $100. Mrs. J. P. Wright gave $50.00, the second largest contribution. The list of subscribers to the fund, together with the corrected total cannot be given as the drive is still under way. The complete returns will be published in next week's issue of the Post.

It was announced today that the Presbyterian Sunday School will take up a special collection next Sunday for the relief fund, and will turn over the money to the local Red Cross chapter.

In the matter of district returns, the Chapel Street district, under the direction of Mrs. Grimes, leads all other districts by a wide margin. The residents there will no doubt be the leading contributors at the end of the drive, as they have compiled a big lead.

All moneys received will be turned over to the Wilmington Red Cross for immediate transmission to Washington, where it will be pooled with other returns and sent forthwith to Japan to aid in caring for the thousands of homeless natives in that stricken country.

FORMER NEWARK BOY PAYS TOWN A VISIT

Edward L. Heavellow Visiting Parents After Four Years Absence With Marines

Edward L. Heavellow, a former Newark boy and well known about town, paid a flying visit to his parents living near town, one day last week. While in Newark he also renewed some old acquaintances among his former chums.

Edward, or "Pete," as he is better known, has spent the past three years in the service of the Marine Corps in the Philippines and in China waters. He looks fine and said he was mighty glad to get back again to his old home town, if only for a brief visit.

COURT NEWS

Happenings of Past Few Days At Magistrate Thompson's Office

Rebecca Anderson, a negro woman living near Summit Bridge, Del., appeared before Magistrate Thompson yesterday morning and swore out a warrant for the arrest of her husband, Ellwood Anderson, charging assault and battery and accusing him of being drunk and disorderly. Constable Ellison was instructed to serve the warrant.

Highway Officer Jones brought two more speeders into court Monday. Both were fined $25.00 and costs by the Magistrate. One of the autoists, David Alhoup of Asheville, N. C., was picked up by Jones near Cochran's store east of Newark, and was alleged to have been driving at 60-mile per hour clip. The second autoist was a man from Illinois.

RUNNING GEAR OF NEWARK'S FIRST AUTO STILL IN SERVICE ON WAGON

Joseph Crockett's Unusual Vehicle Boasts Ball-Bearing Wheels, Drum Brakes and Rubber Tires. Came from Auto of Late S. M. Donnell

SAYS HE WON'T SWAP FOR BEST FARM WAGON MADE

Hundreds of people, hurrying to and fro along Newark's streets have seen genial Joseph Crockett pass with his two faithful horses hitched to a comfortable old wagon, but few realize that the rubber tired wheels on the vehicle graced the first touring car ever to pass down Main Street. It's a fact, nevertheless.

Mr. Crockett, who lives on a little farm near Appleton bought the entire running gear from Geist and Geist for $5.00, took it home and next day came forth in a new wagon.

The noble automobile, no doubt an awe inspiring chariot, was owned by Mr. Donnell over a score of years ago. It was an International double chain drive car. Later it was sold to Armstrong and Shank, hardware merchants on Main Street. When Geist and Geist took over the business some years ago, the historic old machine, then a truck, went along. Mr. Crockett bought it from the latter firm.

"I bought the runnin' gear from the junk pile for $5.00," said Mr. Crockett, between yanks to demonstrate the easy motion of the wagon, "and before the day was out, had me a wagon. Right now I wouldn't swap her for the best farm wagon ever made. No sir."

And after looking at the huge brakes, testing the easy "heft" of those ball-bearing hub, (and examining the sturdy springs, the Post man was inclined to agree with him.

"Lots of folks are too proud to ride in a wagon like this," continued Mr. Crockett, "but there's durned few of them who ride more comfortably, at that."

So the remnant of the first pleasure car owned in Newark is still in service, and will be for years to come. More power to "Davy" Crockett and his interesting outfit.

LOCAL SPORTSMEN SEE BIG BATTLE

Prof Koerber Says, "It Was Sure Worth the Money"
Radio Brings News

That Newark had a whale of an interest in the Dempsey-Firpo fight at the Polo Grounds in New York, Friday night last, was evidenced by the fact that three prominent Newarkers attended the struggle, and at least a hundred were camped around various radio sets within the environs of the town.

Jim King, former amateur boxing champion of the A. K. F., and a student in the Rehabilitation school here arranged to procure tickets for three Newark citizens—Victor C. Wynn, proprietor of the Washington House here; Dr. Charles Blake, an authority on boxing and a former wizard with the gloves; and Prof. George A. Koerber, Lafayette football star of several years ago and an all-round sportsman. These men attended the battle at the Polo Grounds, and all expressed themselves as having seen the most furious bout in their recollection.

"Terribly Quiet At Times"

In speaking of the bout, Prof. Koerber said that contrary to popular belief, hardly a sound broke from the immense throng during the progress of that fierce first round.

"You could carry on a conversation with another party several rows away," said Koerber, "the crowd seemed to be sitting there actually gasping at the suddenness and fury of the spectacle before them. There was no cheering whatever, only an occasional shout." The bull-like rushes of Dempsey and later the destructive right swing of Firpo's that actually lifted Dempsey off his feet and drove him through the ropes—even those thrilling moments brought not a sound from the 80,000 or more people there."

"I had my glasses focused on Dempsey's face," continued Prof. Koerber, "as he slowly climbed back through the ropes in the first round. His face bore a worried look, but showed no pain. He looked quickly towards Kearns in his corner, and spread one hand out palm down, meaning that he was all right and was taking his time to clear his head. I'll bet Kearns breathed a mighty sigh when he saw that gesture. I have never seen a more furious, blasting attack than that launched by the champion; nor have I ever seen a man take the punishment that Firpo took, and rush right back in wild recklessness and fury, with guard down, and right hand poised for another mighty swing, only to be beaten down by crushing blows to his unprotected heart and jaw. He had absolutely no defense. He might as well have left his left arm in the dressing room."

Radio Bugs Active

As the time for the fight drew near, Friday night, most of the residents, who were at all interested in the battle, flocked to the home of some friends who had a radio set. Bert Everson, in his headquarters in the Newark Inn, was host to a small party and got the blow by blow returns from the ringside. Those who listened in said that they could hear the referee tolling off the counts, the hot dog men peddling their popular animals, and the announcement giving the weights to the crowd. The roar of the vast assemblage as the knockout occurred sounded like the rush of a mighty body of water to those on the receiving end of the radio.

Bert further entertained his callers with several concerts from other stations, interspersed with announcements of the progress of the preliminaries to the big fight.

Perhaps there is no one in the county who keeps as accurate a record of radio broadcasts as does Bert Everson. He has every baseball score at 5 o'clock p. m. He has market reports, and a list of stations he gets each night. In a loose leaf book he records his daily radio "log," and it runs back for a year or more.

Chief among his pets on the radio, however, is his frequent audience with old Monte Cross, probably the best shortstop in baseball history, a member of the old Athletics, and a real friend of Bert's. Monte Cross broadcasts from a Philadelphia station several times a week, giving anecdotes and personal stories about the old timers in the national game, most of whom are known by Bert. "It's just like old times," says this famous old ball player, "to hear old Monte talkin' about the game."

Bert was a strong rooter for Dover in the Five State championship series and hopes Dover and Elkton will play in a past season battle.

MISSIONARY MEETING

The regular monthly meeting of the Woman's Home Missionary Society was held at the home of Mrs. Leonard Lewis on Thursday, September 13th. Plans for the coming year were discussed. A pleasant social hour followed the business meeting.

UNIVERSITY GYMNASIUM IS PROV- ING INADEQUATE TO MEET NEEDS OF LARGER STUDENT BODY

Continued Growth of College Will Soon Force Either Addition or Entire New Building, Is Opinion Of Many

LARGER SWIMMING POOL WOULD ADD ANOTHER SPORT

INTERIOR OF UNIVERSITY OF DELAWARE GYMNASIUM

With the opening of the University for another term, the need of better gymnasium facilities for the students is again emphasized.

Officials in charge of athletics state that in the space of a few years, with the enrollment continuing to grow, the Gym will be too small for even training purposes.

Last year many of the athletes were forced to have their lockers in Old College, and some even dressed for sports in their rooms in Harter Hall.

A few years ago a movement was talked about throughout Alumni circles advocating a drive for a new athletic headquarters, but it was abandoned, in the face of the Library drive, and for other reasons.

Delaware is host next spring to all the principal colleges of nearby States, at the annual Middle Atlantic States Track Meet. Between two and three hundred athletes will be the guests of the local College, and already the officials are trying to figure out a way to handle the crowd without causing any hardships.

Pool Too Small

The swimming pool, a portion of which is pictured above, has proven too small for anything save a plunge after coming in from the field. If in the future an addition is built, or an entirely new building is erected, swimming meets, water polo and other water sports would automatically become popular in the University.

As far as can be learned, there has been no move made during the past year to lay plans for a new gymnasium. Whether the matter will soon be brought to the attention of the authorities or whether it is the intention to continue with the old building and put up with the cramped condition, is not known.

Playhouse

"FORBIDDEN"

The play, "Forbidden," which John Cort will produce at the Playhouse, Wilmington, for a three days engagement commencing Thursday, tells a quaint original and highly diverting story, dealing with intimate matters with skill and candor, yet never giving offense to good taste.

It is the work of Sydney Rosenfeld, who has a long list of plays to his credit.

Of the interpretation of his new comedy by the company which has been selected, the author says:

"I am grateful to Mr. Cort for having given me the most perfect cast I have ever been favored with in my career as an author. Each individual member has thrown himself so completely into his part that my play will be really made to live; and if my expectations as to its success should in any way fall short of realization, I shall not be able to lay the blame at anybody's door but my own."

"Forbidden" derives its title from the fact that it deals with that perverse streak in human nature that finds fascination in the forbidden thing.

Mr. Cyril Keightley, a deservedly popular Broadway favorite, plays the leading male character. Miss Mary Young plays the equally prominent feminine role.

But those two artists do not, in the language of the ritalo, "have it all." Mr. Harry Minturn, another recognized leading man, contributes a very stimulating creation. Miss Josephine Stevens plays the part of the young niece of Mr. Keightley. John Daly Murphy is the comedian.

"SUNBONNET SUE"

More than ordinary interest attaches to the coming engagement of "Sunbonnet Sue" at the Playhouse, Wilmington, next Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday through the fact that it boasts of the first complete musical comedy score that Gus Edwards has provided in ten years. Several numbers already give indication of unusual popular success. Among them are "I Knew That You Would Come Along Some Day," "Little Boy Blue Jeans," "Love Is A Garden of Roses," "I'm Going to Meet Minnie Tonight" and "They Used to Call Me Grandpop, But Now They Call Me Kid."

CECIL BOARD ORDERS VOTES TO BE COUNTED

Fair Hill District Muddle Not Due To Fraud, Is Decision

The Board of Supervisors of Elections of Cecil County, has decided that the five hundred and more voters who cast their ballots at the primary elections in the Fair Hill district on Monday, September 10th, shall not be disqualified. Upon being petitioned by several of the candidates who participated in the primaries, requesting the votes of the Fair Hill district to be counted and tallied, the Board of Election Supervisors in special session here Monday evening, unanimously decided favorably upon the petitions, also fixed Thursday of this week as the time for starting the work.

The decision is said to have come about by the issuance of testimony by several unsuccessful candidates that the Maryland Court of Appeals had issued such orders at other times when the same matter had cropped up. The supervisors and all concerned believe that there was no semblance of fraud in the Fair Hill district and have ordered all candidates to appear on Thursday to witness the count.

1924 Model Studebaker Light-Six Touring Car
$995

The Price of This Car Is Misleading

Some buyers take it for granted that cars which sell at about the same prices are equal in value. This is distinctly not the case. To buy on this basis would be an injustice to yourself.

You can pay several hundred dollars more than the Light-Six price and get a car that represents no greater, if as great, intrinsic value as the Studebaker Light-Six.

Or you can pay about the same price as the Light-Six, or less, and get a car that is high-priced when compared with the Light-Six because it does not represent as much for the money invested.

And in the Light-Six you enjoy all the advantages of smooth, flexible, dependable, six-cylinder performance.

You get a beautiful, substantial, well-built, roomy and comfortable car.

The practical absence of vibration in the Light-Six is a notable achievement. It is due largely to the fact that the Light-Six crankshaft and connecting rods are machined on all surfaces. This is an exclusive Studebaker practice on cars within hundreds of dollars of the Light-Six price.

Stop in and see the 1924 Model Light-Six.

Test it for yourself—drive it and make your comparisons. Driving is believing.

After seventy-one years of service the name Studebaker enjoys confidence and respect more than ever.

FRAGMENTS

THE SYMPATHETIC TOUCH

ONE of the greatest gifts a man or woman can possess in this every-day, matter-of-fact life of ours, is a truly sympathetic nature. It is the magic touch that makes the world akin—the golden chain that binds all mankind in one vast brotherhood of complete understanding, irrespective of race, color or creed. Fortunate indeed are they who have this divine gift, for to them every door is always open; all human hearts beat with theirs in perfect unison, attuned to the divine harmonies of a Perfect Love; and all are proud to call them friend.

To be able to listen to the woes of others patiently and understandingly; to say the comforting word that brings the ray of hope through the clouds of despair; to lay the loving hand upon the brow of the afflicted—this, indeed, is the thing that is "beautiful beyond compare" and "free and without price."

The Great Emancipator, a lowly man of the people, had it in fullest measure; the lovable Riley, with his immortal lyrics, fully exemplified it in every poem he ever penned;
while Ella Wheeler Wilcox, Godly-inspired as she was, breathed it in every line of her exquisite verse. Among such famous living writers, too, as Henry Van Dyke, whose "Footpath to Peace" is one of the finest gems in American literature; Edgar Guest, a worthy successor to Riley; Dr. Frank Crane, Anne Campbell, and others, you will find the sympathetic touch highly developed.

Too many folk confuse being sympathetic with being maudlin, and often repress their feelings for fear of ridicule.
There's a vast difference between true sympathy and the super-emotional kind. Some folk rush and gush with the best of intentions, when the silent hand-clasp is a thousand times more comforting; the truly sympathetic person understands, and instinctively does the proper thing at the right time and place.

The sympathetic touch cannot be bought, nor is it, thank God! confined to any one class, but is the common birthright of all mankind. Everyone who will may cultivate it, no matter whom or where they are, and thus build friendships and associations that will send them through life rejoicing; to sleep some day "at the foot of the hill" with an epitaph as wonderfully expressive as that of a certain Southern woman on whose head stone is engraved the words:
"She done what she could!"

SYMPATHY

Oh! Golden Touch, that makes the world akin,
Abide with us as on our way we go,
Banish every thought of self within,
And teach us how to share our brother's woe!

Teach us how to say the soothing word,
Teach us to be humble when we do;
That ev'ry good deed has its own reward,
And makes us just a trifle better, too.

Many a heartsick soul, and weary, too,
Is longing for a friendly, helping hand;
Teach us to extend it, clean and true,
Regardless of the one whose needs demand.

For what are we, but weary pilgrims all,
Journeying onward through this vale of tears,
Before the Reaper, grim, we all must fall—
Oh! Golden Touch, be with us when he nears!

—The Wanderer.

ELKTON DRUBS BELAIR IN UNINTERESTING BALL GAME SATURDAY 11-0

Harford County Team No Match for Elkton Boys; Big Crowd Overflows Stands to See Victory. Shanner Invincible

ELKTON EXPECTED TO WIN AGAIN TODAY

In a game which for the most part was viewed with apathy by the 1000 or more fans gathered in the Elkton Ball Park Saturday, the home team, second half winners, drubbed, wall-popped and generally outclassed Bel Air, first half champions, in the second game for the championship of the league. The score was 11-0.

Jumping into a three-run lead in the first inning on a mixture of Elkton hits and Bel Air errors, the Delbert clan was never headed. Four more in the fourth and three in the seventh helped raise the total to a point far to great for Bel Air to match.

Shanner, Elkton's brilliant twirler, held the Bel Air batsmen in the hollow of his worn old glove. Two hits was the total garnered from his delivery. Elkton made eight safeties, Chun showing a return to batting form by getting two. Rothwell also hit well.

A feature of the game that caused some excitement was the spectacle of Finn walking on four balls, and continuing around to home when the Bel Air catcher foolishly threw to first base. The ball was lost in the grass and the right fielder could not find it. The crowd howled as Finn crossed the plate.

The game Saturday so convincingly proved Elkton's superiority over their rivals for the pennant, that today's game is confidently expected to give the County Seaters the title. They play at Bel Air this afternoon. The score Saturday:

DOVER MAY PLAY ELKTON CHAMPS

Two Teams Should Afford Brilliant Battle If Matched

If plans already formulated do not go astray, the champion Dover Eastern Shore League Team will go on a barnstorming trip through this and nearby States before cold weather puts a stop to baseball for this year.

This announcement was unofficially made Saturday last in Wilmington. It is planned to arrange a tour of Maryland, Eastern Pennsylvania and Delaware to last about two weeks before the team is disbanded for the season.

In the itinerary, a stop is planned at Elkton, where the Dover Club will hook up with Elkton's machine, winners of the second half race for the Susquehanna League flag, and if victorious in today's game with Bel Air, champions of the entire circuit.

The probable meeting of the two teams, both well known in this territory is the subject of much discussion in Elkton, Newark and Wilmington. Elkton fans are sure that their favorites will give the Five State champs a run for their money.

It is assured that a series of three games would draw the largest crowds of the season to the Elkton park.

Herman Hirtzel, an umpire in the New York-Pennsylvania League, and a native of Wilmington, has been placed in charge of the arranging of a barnstorming trip for Dover, according to reports. Other towns beside Elkton, which may be visited, are Hazleton, Baltimore, York, Pa., and Hagerstown.

THOSE THE DEVIL LOVES

Little Elsie had been particularly trying to her mother that day. She really seemed to find delight in teasing to the height of exasperation.

"If you are so naughty, Elsie, no one will love you," said her mother with a frown.

"Yes, mother; I know some one who will love me. The badder I am the more he loves me."

"Why, Elsie, what do you mean?"

"The devil,"—Everybody's Magazine.

McDONALD NOT IN GAME THIS YEAR

Ike Elliott Also Forced To Give Up Football For the Season

Word has been received from authoritative sources that Harvey McDonald, veteran half-back on the Delaware football team for three seasons, and lately star batsman in the Eastern Shore League, will not come out for football this fall at the University.

McDonald is now on a barnstorming tour of nearby cities and towns with the Dover Five State Champions and will not arrive in Newark until next week.

McDonald is President of the Senior Class at the institution, and an all-around athlete. He will be missed on the squad this year.

"Ike" Elliott, sturdy half-back of last year, will not be able to play football this season, either. It is understood that injuries received last season have forced him to give up the game.

Price, last year's end and one of the heroes of the Dickinson game at Harlan Field, will be back at college this fall but it is a problem whether he will become eligible for the team on account of trouble with his studies last term.

A FAMILY MATTER

A man of considerable position and importance confesses, with a merry twinkle in his eye, to a serious blow to his reputation from an unexpected quarter.

His small son returned from school and confronted his father with the question, "Father, what are you?"

"What am I, my boy? Why do you ask?"

"Well, father," was the reply "Jenkins came up to me in the dinner hour and said, 'What's your father?'"

"And what did you say?" asked his father.

"I didn't say anything," answered the boy. "I just hit him."—Tit Bits.

THE SPORTING TICKER

A Column Devoted to Clean Athletics and Sportsmanship, written by one who loves the Game.

"EVERY EVENING vs. THE JOURNAL"

They're at it again! In glancing over the columns of these two leading Wilmington newspapers Saturday afternoon, we came across a most interesting divergence of opinion. It recalled the ever colorful days of childhood—the days of "I did; you didn't" arguments.

But leave it to these two upholders of the free press of the country to somehow revert to kid days again.

It all came over the Firpo-Dempsey fight Friday night. The streets in front of each office were crowded with fans. When the knockout news came over the wires, both staffs almost broke their several necks getting the announcement to the throngs. The Every Evening says, "I did it first!" and the Journal says, "You're a liar, I did it!"

And just to prove it, here are two extracts from the rival sheets of the Saturday editions:

(THE EVERY EVENING)
"Every Evening first gave the word to the fans of Wilmington that Dempsey had won."

(THE EVENING JOURNAL)
"The announcement came into The Evening Journal office over the special wire of the United Press and was given to the crowd in front of the News-Journal building two minutes ahead of any other newspaper. Persons who heard the announcement by The Evening Journal had walked to Fifth and Shipley streets before the opposition newspaper made its announcement that Dempsey had knocked out the 'wild bull of the Pampas' and retained the world championship title."

It's a lot of fun, this newspaper business, but frankly, folks, isn't it terrible how they scrap?

We feel quite sure, furthermore, that had our Mr. Spivus been at the ringside, The Post would have beat them both to the story. Mr. Spivus, you know, has the happy faculty of "pulling strings" and "getting things through." The combination of Spivus, and Bert Ever-son, via Radio, is well nigh unbeatable.

DELAWARE FOOTBALL CANDIDATES ARE PLEASED WITH FALL TRAINING CAMP

Augustine Hotel and Practice Field Is Ideal For Squad; Light Signal Practices And Hardening Exercises Make Up Program

McDONALD AND ELLIOTT NOT PLAYING THIS YEAR

The Delaware football squad is hard at it down near Port Penn, along the Delaware Bay. The squad is quartered at the Augustine Beach Hotel, a large roomy structure, and practices twice daily in a large field adjoining.

Coach McAvoy has about twenty-five men under his wing down at the camp. They arrived last Friday and will come to Newark to continue practice on Frazer Field tomorrow, it is believed.

Considerable interest has centered about two new men on the squad this year. They are Lohman, of West Philadelphia Catholic High, and Garvibe, a Wilmington boy, who won athletic laurels at Perkiomen. The latter is a three letter man, and has an enviable record on the gridiron. For the present, McAvoy is playing him at quarterback, the position he held at Perkiomen.

Lohman looks like a fine prospect for one of the end positions on the Blue and Gold aggregation. He is fast and experienced and looks very good.

Some of Old Guard There

A few steady veterans remain on the squad and it is hoped that they will have big years this fall. Williams, Cherub Aiken, Magaw, Donaldson, and Nunn are within the fold. Aiken and Williams are two brilliant footballers who are playing their last year for the Blue and Gold. Both have spent most of the summer in the outdoors, and look fit for a gruelling season. A lot depends on these two men, and upon Captain Donaldson for the steady influence and hard work needed to inspire fighting confidence among the green members.

Newark Represented

Newark High sent two of its star players from last year's team to Augustine at the call of the coach. They are former Captain Floyd Hubert and Marshall Manns. Hubert has gained some weight and Coach McAvoy is favorably impressed by his work. He was playing at tackle during the past week. Manns, a veteran linesman, was also given a chance in the signal practices.

Accommodations Fine

According to the players, the accommodations at the hotel are splendid. The rooms are light and airy, the meals wholesome and well cooked.

After breakfast, the squad gets into uniforms, and takes a morning workout on the field. Then comes lunch, and a long drill in the afternoon. Most of the men usually follow this with a dip in the bay. Then supper time, and quiet evenings, spent playing cards or reading.

Bed time usually about ten o'clock.

Several Visitors

During the training period, many alumni and friends of the College are present each day to watch their favorites working out.

On Saturday last Alec Crothers and Harris Samonisky, of Wilmington, viewed the squad, and on Sunday Pat Keyes, track coach, was present at the camp.

Dr. Walter Hulihan and a party of Faculty members made the trip down Monday of this week. Major Row and Dr. W. O. Sypherd were also among the Sunday visitors, as were Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Howard.

WHAT SHE WOULD DO

"What would your father do if I told him I wanted to marry you?" asked the young man.

"He'd refer the matter to me," promptly replied the girl.

"And what would you do?" he said, hopefully.

"I'd refer the matter to the young man who proposed to me and was accepted while you were trying to make up your mind."—Pittsburgh Chronicle-Telegraph.

FIVE POINTS WALLOPS YORKLYN AND CARRIES AWAY LEAGUE RACE

Tenth Inning Rally of Five Runs Routs Haggerty and Enables Pointers to Capture Second Half Bunting

PLAY NEW CASTLE CLUB FOR TITLE

The Five Points aggregation, under the fiery and capable leadership of Johnny Naylor, won its way to the second half championship of the New Castle County Baseball League Saturday last, when the Pointers trimmed Yorklyn by a 6-1 score.

The game was a thriller for the fans, the final scores coming in the home half of the tenth inning.

Yorklyn scored in the first inning. Fowler singled to center and went to second when White let the ball go through his legs. He stole third and later scored when Vannort juggled McCarty's easy grounder and threw late at the plate.

This run looked mighty big for several more innings. Haggerty was pitching a splendid article of ball, and his mates were going strong afield. Tripp for the Pointers, was again in fine fettle and he set the Yorklyn batters down with alarming regularity.

In the ninth, he averted defeat for his team by driving a scorching single to left, scoring McDaniel with the tying run.

With extra innings facing them, the fans grow wildly excited, and the teams more determined. But as in many times the case, the least expected circumstance crops up and ends it all.

The tenth inning was a nightmare for Haggerty and his mates. Naylor singled and went to third when Haggerty threw wild fielding Vannort's grounder. Vannort stole second. Both scored on Brodley's single which got past Fowler. McDaniel walked. Proud hit to Haggerty who tried to throw the ball in the bleachers, Brodley and McDaniel scoring. Proud scored on P. Kerns' single. That was plenty.

A large crowd saw the game at Harlan Field and were given plenty of good baseball in return for their money. Five Points will hook up with New Castle, winners of the first half championship, the first game probably starting next Saturday. The winner of this series will receive the cup emblematic of the 1923 Championship. Saturday's score:

NEW PASTOR AT EBENEZER CHURCH

Rev. G. T. Gehman Takes Over Progressive Rural Congregation

COMES FROM DOVER

The Rev. Gilbert T. Gehman and Mrs. Gehman have moved into the parsonage at Ebenezer M. E. Church, north of Newark. Services under his leadership began last Sunday and will continue regularly from now on.

Rev. Gehman comes to Newark from St. Paul's M. E. Church in Dover; he is a graduate of the Wesley Collegiate Institute of Dover, a school sending many able men to the pulpits of the State. Last year Rev. Gehman took the post graduate work offered for the first time by the institute.

In addition to his work at Ebenezer, the young minister plans to continue his studies at the University of Delaware.

With the aid of several of the church leaders, Rev. Gehman has started the various activities of the church and everything is moving along smoothly. The pastor and congregation look forward to a successful year in every way.

UNUSUAL EXHIBITS AT DAIRY SHOW

National Event at Syracuse
Will Have Many Nations Represented

Butter made among the green hills of Ireland, condensed milk made in Japan, sacred cattle from India, a life-size bust of Governor Smith of New York modelled entirely from New York State butter and innumerable other features of interest to dairymen will be shown at the National Dairy Exposition on the state fair grounds at Syracuse, N. Y., October 5-13, County Agent R. O. Bausman has announced.

These displays showing the products of the dairy industry in other countries and other states, will add color and interest to the main part of the show, which promises to be of unusual interest to everyone connected in any way with the dairy industry. Methods of increasing production and cutting down expenses demonstrated at the exposition, will be worth thousands of dollars to practical dairy farmers, he said.

A large number of residents of the county have signified their intention of visiting the show, according to Mr. Bausman.

Because of the unusual opportunity—it is the first time the exposition has been held in the east since 1916—he believes every farmer interested in dairying should make every effort to visit the show. The ideas brought back to the farm will be worth much more than the cost of the trip, Mr. Bausman is confident.

He has received full information concerning the exposition from the offices in Syracuse and will be glad to pass it on to everyone interested.

FINISH HIGHWAY

St. Georges-Smyrna Section of Boulevard Will Be Open Soon

Sherman & Rhodes expect to complete the shoulder work on the Boulevard through Smyrna this week. Good news to motorists is that the last of the concrete on the Odessa-St. Georges road is being laid on the St. Georges section, this week and in about two or three weeks the road will be open without detours. With the exception of the Dover approaches which will take several weeks yet there will be no detours from one end of the State to the other. The approach to Dover from Smyrna was closed this week and a detour into Dover by way of the electric light plant is being used.

HOW MANY RECOGNIZE IT?

Here we are—Newark, the budding metropolis of the County—as it looked in the "old days," before Motor Cars, Bus Lines, and Express Trains disturbed its peaceful existence.

This is a reproduction of an old wood cut made many years ago. The wood cut was authentic, and not taken from memory. The reproduction was too interesting to keep, so we published it. It is a view looking north from the site of the Pennsylvania Station.

Who can recognize the house in the foreground, or, in fact any of the buildings or landmarks seen in the picture? Any anecdote or reminiscence concerning this view, or brought to mind by it, will be gladly published in the columns of THE POST in its next issue. Send in your contributions.

TOMATO GLUT IS ON DOWN THE STATE

Growers Hardly Realizing
Cost of Picking In New
Drop In Prices

CANNERIES NOT BUYING

The tomato glut is not confined to this vicinity alone, according to word from down the state. The Smyrna Times says in a current issue that growers in that vicinity are facing a heavy loss on this staple crop. The market has gradually dropped during the week, and many hundreds of baskets will spoil. The Times further says:

Tomatoes, tomatoes everywhere. The glut is on and prices dropped yesterday at the boat at Smyrna Landing to 15 cents a basket and there being no boat today farmers on the open market offered them this morning for 10 cents a basket. Canneries are loaded up so much so they are getting enough from their contractors to supply their needs and are buying few on the open market. Growers on open market are not getting the high prices they anticipated. New Jersey and Maryland have their own crops and are not eager to buy here like in former years. Consequently it is keeping prices down. Not for many years has there been such a glut of tomatoes in lower Delaware as at the present time. The canning factories have more than they can handle which has depressed the price and many farmers aver they will not pick until the market advances. The latter part of last week buyers were only offering five cents per basket around Milford. This week the price has increased to fifteen. It cost the grower five cents to have a basket picked and twelve cents to obtain the carrier. Those who have contracts with the canners consider themselves lucky, as the contract price is twenty-five cents per % basket. At the canning establishment at Houston there were standing piled Monday evening 1100 baskets of tomatoes which they had been unable to handle. In order to take care of the large yield this cannery has been offering 7 cents per bucket to "skinners," the regular price paid being 5 cents per bucket. Many laborers are taking advantage of the offer and this has made a scarcity of help at other places. At Milford and other down state towns where there are factories the streets are lined with wagons loaded with tomatoes and it takes many hours for a farmer who has brought tomatoes to the factory to get his wagon unloaded, as they are compelled to wait their turn. It is stated that next week conditions will be improved as the glut of the season will then be over, and tomatoes will take an advance in price.

Shall Wheat Acreage Be Reduced in Delaware?

An Article of Unusual Interest to Farmers of This Section

By M. O. Pence, Delaware Experimental Station

Delaware farmers who are wheat growers are planning to cut down on wheat production as indicated by their intention of sowing decreased acreage this fall, which is shown in a preliminary survey made of a few farms of each county taken during State Fair week by the Delaware University Extension Service. Applying these estimates of intention to plant to all the farms of the State it is found that about 50 per cent will reduce their acreage from last year by 15 per cent, about 20 per cent will increase their acreage by 25 per cent and 36 per cent will plant the same acreage. On this basis the net decrease in acreage from the 1923 crop would be from 10 to 16 per cent. This is in line with the policy of Delaware wheat growers as shown by the wheat acreages which have dropped from 126,000 acres in 1919, 116,000 acres in 1920, 113,000 acres in 1921, 109,000 acres in 1922 and 102,000 in 1923. According to present intentions of farmers the acreage planted for next year will be below 100,000 acres, which is the smallest acreage since the low prices of the nineties. The decrease in wheat acreage of 14,000 acres from 1920 to 1923, the latter representing the 1922 planting, has been followed by an increase of corn acreage of 12,000 acres. (1920-22).

The previous acreage of wheat in Delaware, according to the census, has shown a progressive increase from 88,000 acres in 1880 to 126,000 acres in 1920, largely at the expense of the corn and oats acreage which have shown a corresponding decrease during the same period. Contrary to popular opinion, the yields of wheat per acre averaged over five year periods since 1870 shows a steady increase from 11 bushels (1870-75), to 17 bushels per acre, (1911-15) or in comparison with the average production per acre for the United States the yield has increased from 8 per cent below to 13 per cent above the average of the country.

Delaware As A Wheat State

Delaware is one of three states east of the Mississippi producing a wheat surplus above the needs of its own population. Of the approximate 2,000,000 bushels wheat crop produced annually in Delaware, 10 per cent is required for seed, 57 per cent is shipped from the county to primary markets and the remainder, outside of the small amount usually fed, is ground in merchant mills of the State (figures for 1911-15). Although the corn acreage of Delaware is (Continued on Page 10.)

F. Allyn Cooch, son of Francis A. Cooch, and residing on West Main Street, has engaged in the insurance business, representing the Continental Life Insurance Company, from their Wilmington office.

Mr. Cooch is covering this district for the company and reports a distinct liking for the work. He joined the forces of the insurance company several weeks ago.

After being graduated from the University of Delaware in the class of 1921, Mr. Cooch was appointed instructor in Agriculture in the duPont High School, along the Kennett Pike, near Wilmington. He took agricultural work while at Delaware.

Mr. Cooch is married, his wife being remembered formerly as Miss Gladys McCallister, also of Newark.

DOVER'S WINNING TEAM BACK HOME

Town Baseball Crazy As Five
State Champs Arrive

The Dover Dobbins, conquerors of Martinsburg of the Blue Ridge League for the Five-State Championship honors, arrived in Dover Sunday last. The last game, played at Hagerstown, Md., clinched the series for Dover by a 9-5 score. The team was accorded a royal welcome upon its arrival home. The news of Dover winning the series with Martinsburg by copping the sixth game in Hagerstown was still fresh in the minds of the residents. It called for a general celebration. The players can have the town now.

Dover's victory was all the more notable in that they are the "baby club" of the Eastern Shore League. Entering the circuit this season they won the championship and then came from behind after losing two straight games to defeat Martinsburg, Blue Ridge League champions, in the Five State Series.

POLITICS SIZZLING IN CHESTER COUNTY

Even Get Pleasure Boat On North East River Mixed Up
In Fight

Our neighboring county of Chester across the Pennsylvania line is deep in the throes of a political struggle within the fold of the Organization forces, led by State Senator T. Larry Eyre, of West Chester.

The newspapers of the county are alive with barbed and pointed arrows of ridicule, sarcasm, irony and the hundred and one other styles of writing, aimed at one candidate or another.

The latest skirmish on "the inside," relating to the unwelcome disposition of campaign money—that is, unwelcome to many voters, appears to have dragged North East River into public print again.

Says the Oxford, Pa., News, in one of its political bombshells:

Now that Hon. Fred Cope has definitely announced that he refuses to be double crossed any longer and is supporting John Groff for Register of Wills against "Bill" Clark, the hand picked candidate of the organization, for whose welfare all the other candidates are being sacrificed, all West Chester is wondering what will become of the boat, christened T. L. Eyre, which Fred Cope, Bill Clark and Howard Green, the reputed Paymaster of the organization, own in partnership on the North East River. If Bill takes one end and Howard takes the other, it will only leave Fred the middle, and it is reported that one of the owners said he could take that and row to H—in it. Fred insists, however, that by the time the votes are counted Bill Clark will be swamped, so that he will have no use for a boat, but will need a life preserver. Politics makes strange boat-fellows.

BIG EXPOSITION SHOWS
MILK AS NATION BUILDER

Public health and welfare organizations of nation and state-wide scope have offered their cooperation to the national farmers committee and Manager W. E. Skinner, in charge of arrangements for the National Dairy Exposition in demonstrating to visitors the importance of milk as a food. The show will be held at the State Fair Grounds, Syracuse, N. Y., October 5th to 13th.

Among the organizations cooperating in a big human welfare display at the show are the Child Health Organization of America, state colleges of agriculture, state departments of health, the New York State home bureau federation, the nutrition bureau of the Dairymen's League, and others.

Investigation has shown that 20 cents of every dollar in the average food bill is now spent for milk; dietitians assert that at least 44 cents of every food dollar should be spent for milk. If the right amount of milk were consumed the demand for the dairy farmer's product would be doubled, it is stated. It is the aim of the committee in charge of the human welfare display to show by striking exhibits the importance of milk to the health and welfare of children and adults alike.

Thousands of city residents will visit the striking display and learn graphically the importance of having plenty of milk in the diet; in this way the committee believes the exposition can play a great part in promoting the health and well-being of the nation.

FIXING HIS STATUS

A new-married couple were entertaining their friends. The rudeness of one of the guests made him objectionable to the rest of the company. His conduct was tolerated for some time, until at the table he held up on his fork a piece of meat which had been served him and in a vein of intended humor asked: "Is this pig?" "To which end of the fork do you refer?" asked a quiet-looking man sitting at the other end of the table. He moved to a new neighborhood.—Pittsburgh Chronicle-Telegraph.

Jay a Compliment

When we come to the naming of the bluejay we find the name attributed to the brilliant plumage of this stately creature, says Nature Magazine. The source of "jay" is given as the French "gai" or "gai" equivalent to the English "gay." With this in mind one finds that the use of the term "jay" to describe a person is by no means as uncomplimentary as it is generally supposed to be.

SHALL WHEAT

one-third greater than the wheat acreage it is significant to note that only 10 to 15 per cent of the corn crop is ordinarily sold to be shipped out of the county where grown. Corn is largely fed to livestock.

Wheat is grown as a ready cash crop and secondly for its by-products as straw and as a nurse crop for clover. The price of wheat becomes therefore of primary importance to a large area of the state depending on it as the big cash crop. The price of wheat greatly increases or curtails many farmers' purchasing power. Wheat is 28 per cent of the total crop acreage of the state and in New Castle County it makes up 40 per cent of the crop acreage (Census 1920). The farm price of wheat is about the same or slightly higher than before the war, but its purchasing power in terms of other commodities is only 79 per cent of what it was in 1913.

Delaware has one distinct advantage over the far western surplus wheat states as the freight differential in our favor in shipping wheat to seaboard varies from a few cents in the midwest to as much as 25 cents a bushel in the far west. This advantage will be permanent and the amount will depend almost entirely on transportation costs.

International Wheat Situation

With improved storage and transportation facilities, wheat, once a local commodity, has become a world commodity subject to the law of world supply and demand. The expansion in the wheat area of the chief exporting countries coupled with decreased buying power of Western Europe is responsible for the price situation which now prevails. With the increased bread grain production of Europe the future prices to ours as an exporting country look very discouraging unless we adjust our acreage. The principal exporting countries of United States, Australia, Canada and Argentina are growing 28 million more acres of wheat than the pre-war average. With the old world countries turning their attention first to increased grain production, including Russia formerly the leading wheat export, it is certain that American winter wheat growers should take the first positive step this fall to adjust the winter wheat acreage in accordance with this situation.

How Shall We Reduce?

The necessity of reduced wheat acreage is only exceeded by its difficulty of being carried out on many farms. Obviously no formula could apply to all Delaware farms, and if an average reduction could be calculated not all farmers should reduce alike. The crop acreages of Delaware, previously quoted (1920-23), show that Delaware farmers started to reduce acreage as soon as wheat prices declined rapidly. This movement has been accentuated by recent poor crops resulting from disease, and unfavorable weather at planting and harvest time. The farmer on the poorer wheat land with the lowest acre yield will be the first to be forced to abandon the crop in any given locality where other conditions are similar. The farmer with large acreage, good acre yields and relatively low production costs, with no alternative crop to use as a nurse crop for grass should certainly reduce his acreage but little, if any. Even under present conditions any acreage reductions should be gradual or our rotations and systems of farming would be so disrupted as to cause greater losses from maladjustments than would be gained directly from reduced wheat acreage. Reducing wheat acreage is a matter to be decided largely by the individual farmer on his own farm in the light of his own experience as a wheat grower, keeping in mind his yields, soil adaptability, cost of production, other crop alternatives, but all adjusted to the price outlook as outlined above. Fortunately, in Delaware our farmers have the alternative of a greater choice of substitute crops than obtains in most any section of the country, such as numerous canning crops, corn, soy beans, small fruits, or pastures whose acreage might be increased as market and soil conditions justify.

It is the best time for all farmers to determine proper steps in reducing production costs—difficult though it may be. Farmers are not all equally efficient in the use of man and horse labor, in the use of low unit cost fertilizers, in the use of the best seed adapted to their respective localities, in planting at the proper time to avoid Hessian fly and in treating wheat to avoid stinking smut or "bust." Neither have all our farmers made the fullest utilization of wheat as a feed crop for poultry and livestock, especially the lower grades, heavily discounted in the market and now cheaper sources of feed than corn.

PICKING, PACKING AND SHIPPING PEACHES ON EDEN HILL FARM DOVER

Panoramic View of Experimental Farm in Newark

Time was when Delaware was noted far and wide for its peaches. Even today the huckster traveling along the residential streets of the cities seeks to enhance his sales by calling "Delaware peaches." If all the peaches sold as Delaware peaches were grown in Delaware there would scarce be room enough in the little Diamond State to grow the trees necessary to produce the crop.

Delaware gained its reputation for peaches back in the seventies and eighties when large areas of land in New Castle County were given over to growing that luscious fruit. Delaware City was once the great peach shipping center, the industry gradually moved southward and Odessa and Middletown became the great peach centers. As time went on the peach gradually trekked southward and Smyrna Landing became a bustling shipping place during peach harvest. Brenford shipped many cars of luscious fruit to the cities. The territory south and southeast of Dover with Wyoming as a shipping point next held the stage. Milford developed a peach industry. Bridgeville, Seaford and Georgetown annually contributed their quota. By 1900 the majority of farms in Kent and Sussex county boasted of their peach orchards. By 1905 the industry began to decline. Long before this date Delaware City and Middletown drifted out of the peach game and 1906-7 and 8 witnessed the last struggles of the Smyrna-Brenford districts. The peach orchards began to disappear from the farms of Kent and Sussex. Today only the Dover-Wyoming district and the Bridgeville districts are still shipping peaches in great quantities. The peach has disappeared as a general farm crop and the industry is in the hands of a few specialists as compared to the great number of farmers who grew the Queen of fruits thirty or twenty years ago.

There must have been a cause or causes for such an evolution in peach growing in Delaware. These causes can briefly be named as Yellows, Little Peach, San Jose Scale, Scab and Brown Rot.

Fighting the Pests

In the early days of peach growing about all that seemed necessary to grow a crop of peaches was to plant an orchard, give it fair cultivation and then sit on the fence and watch the fruit grow until harvest time. About 1870 the yellows began to make its appearance in New Castle County. The disease spread rapidly and there seemed to be no way to combat it. Trees were dying annually by the hundreds and gradually the industry retreated southward before the disease. The decline of the peach industry in New Castle County may be laid at the doors of the yellows. About 1900 the San Jose scale made its appearance over the entire state and thousands of trees were killed and hundreds of orchards were pulled out before a remedy was discovered and put into practice. A few years later brown rot and scab began to make serious inroads on the fruit. The growers time and time again had the experience of growing a fine crop of luscious peaches only to have them rot on the trees at harvest time. It was not until about 1909 and '10 that spraying to control brown rot and scab began to be a common practice. In the meantime few of the many who had formerly grown peaches were willing to spray for scab and brown rot. Better packing methods became necessary to meet market demands. Many drifted out of peach growing because they were unwilling to meet market demands. Varieties also have changed during the past thirty years. When Delaware City and Middletown were in their prime as peach growing centers, Crawford, Mamie Ross, Moors' Favorite and other varieties of the Persian type were grown. All of these were very susceptible to yellows and other peach diseases. Elberta, Carmen and Belle of Georgia came in to take their place. Today the principal varieties grown are Elberta, Belle, Carmen and Hale.

Delaware Apples

While the peach was occupying the center of the fruit growing stage, a few men were quietly experimenting in growing apples. The late J. G. Brown of Wyoming may be called the father of Delaware's apple industry. A few men such as S. H. Derby, E. H. Bancroft and F. M. Soper got into the game and demonstrated that commercial apple growing was a profitable industry for Delaware. In 1900 these three men were the principal apple growers of Delaware. Today the apple grower's name in Delaware is legion. At first attention was given mostly to late fall and winter varieties, but about 1904-08 it was demonstrated that early apples such as Yellow Transparent, Early Ripe and Williams were money-makers for their growers. From 1908 on, thousands of apple trees were set, and many peach growers abandoned the peach for apple. The early apple industry has grown by leaps and bounds and today, Delaware ships each week of the Early Apple season about one-fourth of the carloads of early apples shipped that week in the United States.

The apple growers early in the game learned that apples could not be grown haphazardly. The Experiment Station demonstrated to them that insect and diseases could be controlled by spraying. Every apple grower in the state worthy of the name now sprays as a matter of routine of the season's work and thinks no more about it than the wheat farmer does of plowing his field for seeding time. Delaware today has more apple trees per square mile of her territory than any other State in the Union.

The Scab, and the Codlin Moth are the principal enemies of the apple, but modern science has demonstrated that they can be controlled. A rapid evolution has taken place in control of fruit diseases. At present the growers are experimenting with dust to take the place of liquid sprays. Dusting for peaches is now a standard practice. The next few years will probably witness such improvements in dusting materials and dusting machinery that dusting will come into general use by the apple growers.

Natural Advantages

Delaware has many natural advantages as a fruit-growing State. Situated between the waters of the Chesapeake and Delaware bays, the climate is so modified that winter killing of tree or fruit bud is a rare occurrence. Spring frosts trouble occasionally but not to the extent to which many other fruit growing centers suffer. Delaware's fruit soils are kind, and they respond quickly to treatment and culture and give fine rewards for the energy expended upon them. Market facilities are rapidly improving. The future problems of the growers for assured success lie in developing a standard pack of guaranteed quality for his fruit. The experiment station stands at his elbow to help him in his problem of insect and disease control. His future is bright.

Strawberries

Some twenty-five or thirty years ago a young preacher demonstrated to Selbyville and Baltimore hundred that the strawberry was a paying crop for that section of Delaware. Almost overnight Selbyville became a great strawberry growing center, and late in May and early in June of each year hundreds of refrigerator cars of strawberries go out of Selbyville for Northern markets. Bridgeville caught the contagion and plunged into strawberry growing and for a few years rivalled and even replaced Selbyville as the world's greatest strawberry shipping station.

Sweet Potatoes

The town of Laurel is also famous for a farm product. Years ago that section of Sussex county south of the Nanticoke river began to develop a sweet potato industry and Laurel became the center of the industry.

Seaford just to the North realized the importance of the crop and today Seaford and Laurel are rivals in the shipment of delicious "sweets" to Northern and Western markets. Outside of two small districts, "Paradise Alley," southeast of Felton, and Houston, the Seaford-Laurel district holds the stage in sweet potato production in the State. The experiment station has worked out all of the sweet potato diseases except one, and has spent considerable time and money on research work on better curing and storage methods for sweets. The industry is well established and with proper advertising methods Delaware Sweet Potatoes should capture the North Eastern markets. New England is a peculiarly fertile field for Delaware growers of sweet potatoes to extend their markets.

Other Fruit Crops

Cantaloupes are also grown to perfection in Delaware. Hundreds of cars are shipped each season from Delmar, Laurel, Seaford and Bridgeville. Southern Delaware is one of the principal cantaloupe growing sections of the U. S. Disease control is a serious problem for Delaware growers. The Experiment Station is hard at work trying to solve some of the production problems of the cantaloupe grower. The cantaloupe grower like the sweet potato grower, is in need of better regulation of grade and quality of pack.

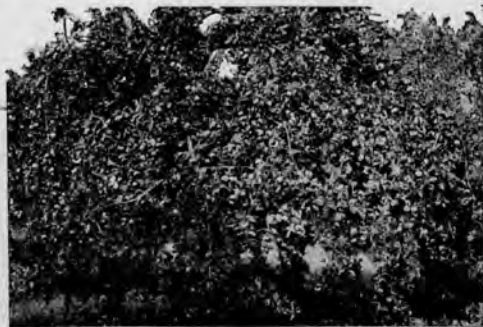

An article of this kind should not omit the grape industry which is progressing so rapidly in Kent County. Delaware is rapidly coming to the front as an important grape growing center. The Delaware grapes are of superior quality. Her growers are intelligent, wide-awake and progressive. The future of the grape grower is bright.

The fruit and vegetable industry of Delaware is greatly diversified and capable of still further development and diversification.

The Tomato canning industry of Delaware is world famous and capable of still further development.

Other vegetable crops of minor importance, but many of them subject to greater development are Irish potatoes, cabbage, celery, cucumbers, summer squash, lima beans, onions, sweet corn for canning, canning peas, fall lettuce and numerous others.

In possibilities of markets, soil and climate, Delaware is a veritable garden state.

WILMINGTON FRIENDS SCHOOL OPENED

Friends School in Wilmington opened today with an enrollment of over 300, the largest in several years. The number of pupils is nearly equally divided among the three departments of the school, the Primary, Grammar and High School, with a slightly greater number of boys and girls. The teaching staff, headed by Charles W. Bush, so well known here, has been added to and strengthened and among others, Eugene W. Ellis returns to the School as Boy's Physical Director, which assures good physical training and strong athletic teams.

The school has always been noted for the excellent preparation of its students for college and during the last five years over ninety per cent of its graduates have gone to college. Of last June's class, sixteen out of seventeen plan to enter college this fall.

Usually a number of Newark boys and girls attend Friends School. G. Burton Pearson, son of Dr. Geo. B. Pearson, of Newark, graduated last June with the highest honors in his class and, having successfully passed the entrance examinations, will enter Princeton University this month. Other Newark pupils now in attendance at the school are Marjorie L. Johnson, J. Wilkins Cooch, J. Pearce Cann, Jr., and Henry C. Townsend.

WHAT IS THE FREIGHT ON APPLES

This spring the agricultural agent of the American Railway Association bought some northwest coast apples from retailers in New York City and paid from 10 to 15 cents each for them. He found on investigation that the grower received about 1 cent each for that quality of apples. The freight from the shipping point to New York was a cent and a quarter, and the cost of distribution in the city by truck about the same. With a reasonable wholesaler's profit added, the cost of such apples to the retailer should be about 5 cent each.

The railways present this instance as proving the injustice of the complaint that high prices are due to high freight rates—and in a wide range of articles, perhaps in all, the railways are right. If the apples in question had been carried free from Washington or Oregon to New York the consumer never would have known the difference. Somebody would have "taken up the slack," whether wholesaler or retailer the agent who made the investigation does not indicate.

The dealers from whom that agent bought sell many things beside fruit. They sell service and convenience. Even with those items added, the "spread" between producer and consumer is far too great; but is not a part of the remedy, at least, in the consumer's own hands?

The average American likes to take an attitude of "damn the expense." He wants what he wants when he wants it, and even when being stung on small items, counts it beneath his dignity to haggle. Naturally, he pays for this illusion of grandeur. The primitive rule of business is to charge what the traffic will bear, and there is a considerable group of American buyers who will bear anything.

There are signs, however, that this lordly attitude is changing, indications that the American buyer is growing more concerned to get the worth of his money, and more ready to resist holdup charges. Such a change—if it only lasts—will be to the advantage of progressive retail business, as well as to the consumer; and, meantime, don't blame the railroads for everything.—From the Chicago "Daily Journal."

Thirty Years Ago--- And Now

The books of a school child of today would have astonished us 30 years ago.

Then schooling was confined to the three R's and our eyes were not taxed beyond their strength.

Many children of today are thought to be dull, stupid and sometimes unruly when the trouble is merely eyestrain, due to long lessons and close application.

Investigate your child's eyesight. If you have reason to believe that glasses would help, let us make a thorough examination. We can tell you.

FAREWELL RECEPTION FOR DR. AND MRS. JONES

Alfred A. Curtis Presents Rector With Traveling Bag; Many There

Members of St. Thomas' P. E. Church gave a reception last Friday night to Dr. Edgar Jones, rector, and Mrs. Jones at the parish house. Dr. Jones some time ago resigned as rector to become Dean of the Episcopal Cathedral at Cincinnati. The reception was a complete surprise to Dr. and Mrs. Jones who knew nothing of it until they arrived at the parish house.

Dr. Jones was presented with a traveling bag. The presentation was made by Alfred A. Curtis, senior warden of the church, and Dr. Jones responded with a few words of appreciation for the gift.

ENGLISH AT HOME

"When I was cycling through England," writes R. B. W., "I started off one morning to ride from Clacton to St. Osyth. After a while I became uncertain about the road and meeting a laborer I inquired, 'Am I right for St. Osyth?' The man looked puzzled and said he never heard of any such place."

"A second wayfarer whom I asked was equally ignorant. Then came a third. This fellow scratched his head, but presently a look of comprehension dawned upon his face. 'Ay, to be sure, I have it now—it's Snosey ye mean!'"—New Haven Register.

100,000 STAR CARS BUILT IN 12 MONTHS

Search the records of the automobile industry, from the year of the first crude motor car to date, and you cannot find a record to parallel or even approach the first year's record of the Star Car.

More than 100,000 Star Cars have been built and sold in one year!

The building of this great number of standard-designed, dependable, low-priced cars in twelve months is a colossal achievement. Great plant facilities were necessary to bring such a result. The nearest approach to the Star Car's first year record the automobile industry affords, is the success of the Durant line in its first twelve months.

This is the secret of the great achievement recorded in the first year of Star Car sales—the vision and leadership of W. C. Durant and his ability to read the public mind and build the kind of an automobile the public will buy in great numbers.

It is not difficult to appreciate the wonderful merchandising opportunity the Star Car provides for Durant and Star Car dealers. It is not difficult to understand the success of this Durant product when it is considered that it is just the kind of a motor car the world has been waiting for—and, in addition, it is sponsored by W. C. Durant.
