ELLISON AGAIN NAMED CHIEF OF AETNA CO.

Will Mark Sixth Year as Leader of Fire Fighters in This Town

NOMINATIONS MADE

Fire Chief Elmer J. Ellison has been nominated for chief of the Aetna Insurance Company for the coming term of office. The meeting for the placing of nominations was held last week, and at that time Chief Ellison was nominated, without opposition, to again fill the place he has held for the past six years.

Chief Ellison has served more than twenty years with the Aetna Insurance Company. Before he became chief, he served for about 15 years as assistant chief under the late E. C. Wilson. After the death of Mr. Wilson, Mr. Ellison was named chief, and has held that position with the fire company since that time. During the time he has been connected with the Aetna Company he has seen the fire company grow to be one of the largest volunteer companies in the state, and it is largely due to the able direction of Chief Ellison and to the good work of the men of the company that the fire loss in Newark is kept to such a low point as it is.

There will be several contests for offices at the annual election of the company at the January meeting. Those nominated for various offices follow: Assistant chief (two to be elected), Walter R. Powell, Charles Tasker, William Cunningham, Edward Shakespeare and Ewell Buckingham; fire recorder, Charles Eissner; chief pipeman (one to be elected), Ewell Buckingham, Robert Cook, John Cunningham and Herbert Murphy; assistant pipemen (five to be elected), Waldo Lovett, Herbert Murphy, C. B. Richards, Edward Shakespeare, C. R. Pool and Leslie Jones; directors (three to be elected), Walter R. Powell, Charles W. Colmery, Harry R. Powell, Henry Gregg, Harlan Herdman, Herbert Henning and R. C. Ramsey.

The board of directors consists of nine members, three being elected each year for three years. The directors after the January meeting will elect the president, secretary and treasurer of the company.

LEGION AUX. TO HOLD XMAS SALE

Articles Made by Disabled Soldiers Will Be Sold Saturday

A sale of articles made by disabled World War Veterans at Perry Point Hospital will be held Saturday, December 13, at Sheaffer's Paint Store. The articles to be sold include baskets, trays, doorstops, leather coin purses and toys.

The American Legion Auxiliary is sponsoring this sale. This sponsorship consists of paying the cost of shipping these articles to Newark and of arranging for a place to conduct the sale.

The entire proceeds of the sale are returned to the hospital at Perry Point. The greater portion of a sum received for an article is paid to the veteran that constructed the article and the remaining amount is kept by the hospital to pay for the material used in making the article.

The American Legion Auxiliary receives no financial returns from this sale. Conducting this sale is one of the many welfare activities carried on by the Auxiliary. In this way the Auxiliary is endeavoring to aid in the rehabilitation of the disabled service men at Perry Point Hospital.

It is hoped that this sale will prove as successful as a similar sale which the Auxiliary sponsored last year.

AUTO THIEF ARRESTED

John Reynolds, of West Grove, Pa., was arrested Sunday by Officer Cunningham while driving a stolen automobile. He was fined $10 and costs by Magistrate Thompson on a charge of driving a car without a driver's license, and was then turned over to Pennsylvania authorities, who are holding Reynolds on a stolen automobile charge.

SPEEDERS FINED

Charles Regan, of Chester, and William Lockman, of West Chester, were arrested Sunday by Officer Cunningham on charges of reckless driving. Both were fined $10 and costs by Magistrate Thompson on the charges.

LETTERS TO SANTA CLAUS

Letters to Santa Claus—dozens of them—will be printed in next week's Post, so that Old Chris will be sure to know just what the little boys and girls of Newark and this community desire for Christmas. Santa sent a special message to The Post a few days ago and asked that The Post print all of the letters sent to him. So every little boy and girl should write to Santa Claus AT ONCE and tell him just what they want him to bring them. Address the letters to Santa Clause, care of The Newark Post, and the Post will be sure that Santa sees the letters.

S. WHITNEY DAY IS PROMOTED IN P. R. R. WORK

Becomes Freight and Passenger Agent at Salisbury

SIX YEARS AT NEWARK

S. Whitney Day, for the past six years agent at the Newark Center station of the Pennsylvania Railroad, has been promoted to the position of general passenger and freight agent of the railroad company at Salisbury, Md., and will assume his new duties next Monday, December 15.

Mr. Day, in the time that he has resided in this community, has made a host of friends, all of whom, while pleased at his advancement in the Pennsylvania Railroad, will be sorry to know that he is leaving Newark. Mr. Day will go to Salisbury alone and will establish a residence for his family, who will join him later this winter.

Mr. Day has been in the employ of the Pennsylvania Railroad for the past twenty-two years. He entered the service of the company in Wilmington, and for sixteen years was located at the freight station of the company at Third and Pine streets, in that city. While in Wilmington, he held a number of different positions, and gained a wide experience in railroad procedure and in freight handling. After sixteen years of meritorious work in Wilmington, he was made freight agent at the Newark Center, and during his residence here, he has taken an active interest in local affairs and has made many friends. He is a member of the Lions Club of Newark, and has served on a number of important committees in that organization.

John W. Beall, passenger agent of the Pennsylvania Railroad station at the end of South College avenue, will assume the duties of freight agent in addition to his present work. He will continue to have his office at the passenger station.

SCHOOL BOY INJURED IN FALL IN PLAYGROUND

The second accident to happen within the past two weeks on the playground of the public school at Academy street and Delaware avenue occurred this noon, when Frank Bailing, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Bailing, of Academy street, fell from the sliding board in the playground and suffered a concussion of the brain.

It is understood that the boy was unconscious for some time, but after regaining consciousness, was sent to his home, where a doctor attended him and treated his injury. He will be confined to his home for several days before it will be deemed safe to allow him to return to school.

On Monday, December 1, Du Vall Cleaves was also pushed from the same sliding board and suffered a fractured arm.

R. L. HARRIS, U. OF D. STUDENT, NAMED AS RHODES SCHOLAR

R. Laird Harris, a senior at the University of Delaware, son of the Rev. W. W. Harris, Presbyterian minister at St. Georges, has been approved by the regional committee for candidacy for one of the Rhodes Scholarships at Oxford University, England. It was learned Monday. There will be a meeting of the regional committee later in the winter to select from among 12 candidates, of whom Harris is one, four men for the scholarships offered in the region.

The Rhodes scholarships were provided for in the will of the late Cecil Rhodes, British statesman and scholar, who conceived the scheme of bringing England and the United States into closer relations through a plan of having the best American college and university undergraduates or graduates take post-graduate or undergraduate studies at Oxford, his Alma Mater.

MICHAEL STRANGE, POET, PLAY-WRIGHT, ACTRESS, HERE DEC. 16

Familiar Character in American Contributors to Field of Writing is Sponsored by College Hour

Poet, playwright and actress, whose contributions to the art of the American theatre are universally recognized as among the most important of our era, Michael Strange will speak under the auspices of the College Hour Committee of the University of Delaware on December 16, at 8 p. m., in Mitchell Hall, taking as her subject, "The Stage as the Actress Sees It."

Born in New York City, Miss Strange has lived for the most part in New York and Newport, Rhode Island. She began writing at an early age, and her youthful poems, slight, tentative and yet challenging, quickly marked her out as an important figure on the American literary horizon.

In 1908 she married Leonard Thomas, and eight years ago was married to John Barrymore, the most famous figure of the American stage, from whom she recently separated. She is at present living in New York and in the country, educating her three children and devoting herself entirely to her literary and dramatic work.

Miss Strange's more important poetical works include "Poems," "Miscellaneous Poems," and "Resurrecting Life." Of her poetic drama "Claire de Lune" the famous critic, Ludwig Lewisohn has said: "There are bits of speech that tingle in the heart and nerves. There are rich, strange images, worthy of Yeats or Hoffmannsthal."

THREE BOYS ARRESTED FOR STEALING RADIATOR

Floyd Baker, 19, John Moore, 19, and Charles Simpson, 16, all of Newark, were arrested Monday by Officer Cunningham and were arraigned before Magistrate Daniel Thompson on a charge of larceny of an automobile radiator. The radiator was stolen from an automobile belonging to Walter Walbridge.

Magistrate Thompson, after hearing the evidence in the case, held the older boys under $200 bail for trial in the Court of General Sessions. In default of bail, they were committed to the New Castle County Workhouse, where they will be held until bail is provided, or until their cases come up in court.

The Simpson boy, because of his youth, was sent into Wilmington, where he was taken before Judge Charles M. Curtis in the Juvenile Court. After hearing the case, yesterday, Judge Curtis placed the lad on parole, and he was turned over to Parole Officer Oliver.

SWINNEN TO GIVE PROGRAM OF OPERATIC SELECTIONS

Firmin Swinnen, organist, has chosen a program for his concert this Monday night which is sure to please everyone. The entire program will be of operatic selection, and includes such favorites as parts from "Madame Butterfly," "Pagliacci," and "Faust."

As it is expected that one of the largest audiences of the season will attend, it is requested that people arrive at the concert before 7 o'clock, so that their entry into the Mitchell Hall auditorium will not disturb others who are already in their seats.

The program for the concert is as follows:

1. Madame Butterfly—G. Puccini
2. To the Evening Star—R. Wagner
3. Barcarole—J. Offenbach
4. Pagliacci—R. Leoncavallo
5. Cavalleria Rusticana—F. Mascagni
6. Faust—G. Gounod

ORVILLE MANN NAMED NEW OFFICER BY TOWN COUNCIL

A special committee appointed by Town Council to decide on a third police officer for Newark named Orville Mann, of South Chapel street, to fill the position, at a special meeting yesterday afternoon.

Mann is a former enlisted man in the United States Navy. He will go on duty Monday, December 15. Plans were discussed at the meeting for a schedule of patrols and working hours for the three officers, and it was decided that Officers Keeley and Mann should alternate on day and night work, and that Motorcycle Officer Cunningham should work a schedule varying in hours according to the need of the day.

AUTO LICENSES ON SALE AT SQUIRE'S OFFICE SATURDAY

Representatives from the State Motor Vehicle Department will be in the office of Magistrate Thompson Saturday to issue automobile licenses to Newark drivers and drivers in this community. The officials will have the license tags with them, and motorists, in paying for their licenses there Saturday, will save themselves the trouble of sending to Dover for their licenses later.

de Lune" the famous critic, Ludwig Lewisohn has said: "There are bits of speech that tingle in the heart and nerves. There are rich, strange images, worthy of Yeats or Hoffmannsthal."

Miss Strange's appearances on the New York stage, in such plays as Strindberg's "Easter," Rostand's "L'Aiglon" and with Margaret Anglin in Sophocles "Electra" have attracted almost universal attention and enthusiasm. Her adaptation of "The Daughter of Jorio" by Gabriel D'Annunzio will be produced by Arthur Hopkins in New York this winter.

DRIVERS TEST EACH FIVE YEAR PERIOD URGED

Traffic Organization Also for 40 Mile Speed Limit on Highways

OPPOSE "HITCH-HIKERS"

The examination of motor vehicle drivers every five years and the mandatory examination of all vehicles, were endorsed by the Delaware Conference on Aviation and Street and Highway Traffic which met in Wilmington Monday.

The conference also went on record as favoring a change in the State highway laws which would place the speed at 40 m. per hour, instead of the 35, which is now permitted.

The reason for this stand was that the developments of the motor car in the last few years have made this speed permissible with safety to other vehicles and pedestrians on the highway and to make it uniform with the neighboring states.

A change in the state laws pertaining to the speed of trucks was also recommended by the conference. It was pointed out that the present speed might be safely increased.

The conference went on record as favoring legislation that would make it unlawful for anyone to solicit lifts along the highways of the state.

One other piece of legislation endorsed by the conference is a proposed act making it illegal for anyone to solicit funds from an automobile proceeding along the highways of the state. This legislation would prohibit persons running carnivals along the state roads to stop a car and solicit funds.

A change in the clearance lights on trucks proceeding through the state was also recommended by the conference in order that the state law might conform with the model law as set up by the national conference on highway traffic. The present state laws permit the use of a green light at the rear of truck. The proposed law would make it mandatory to show red light at the rear of a truck as well as two green lights which would show the dimensions of the truck clearly to a motor vehicle approaching from the rear.

Two other recommendations of the conference would make it unlawful for any person to ride on the tail-board of a truck in such a manner as would put his body beyond the confines of the truck and an act that would make it unlawful for any person to throw an object from a vehicle proceeding along the public highway.

The meeting was presided over by I. B. Finklestein. Those present included Philip Guerke, traffic manager of the Chamber of Commerce of Wilmington; L. L. Hoopes, Delaware Motor Association; G. E. Bailey, representing Secretary of State Charles H. Grantland; W. W. Mack, Engineer of the State Highway Department, and C. C. Reynolds, superintendent of the State Highway Police.

BARACA CLASS TO HAVE CHRISTMAS BANQUET

The Christmas dinner of the Baraca Class of the Newark Presbyterian Church will be held tomorrow evening at 6:30 o'clock in the church auditorium. The largest crowd ever to attend one of these affairs is expected at the banquet tomorrow night, and provisions are being made to have 250 guests at the dinner. A number of prominent speakers will address the gathering following the dinner, and a special program of entertainment has been arranged. Reservations for the dinner must be made prior to the time for the dinner with L. A. Stearn.

CHRISTMAS EDITION OF THE POST ON TUESDAY, DEC. 23

In order to accommodate advertisers, and so that they may advertise "Last Minute Specials" just before Christmas, the issue of The Post, which would ordinarily come off the press on Thursday, December 25, will be printed and distributed on Tuesday, December 23. This will enable readers of The Post to choose their "Last Minute Specials" advantageously, and will inform them just where to shop for the articles they desire.

OUTWARD BOUND WILL BE GIVEN THIS EVENING

Capacity Audience Expected at Presentation of E-51 Play

PATRONS ANNOUNCED

"Outward Bound," the famous drama written by Sutton Vane on the subject of life after death, will be presented by the Class E-51 of the University of Delaware this evening in Mitchell Hall. That the production of this noted play by the E-51 players has aroused the interest of the residents of Newark and of the student body and faculty of the University is demonstrated by the fact that the advance sale of tickets for the production has exceeded the entire sale of tickets for any play given in Newark in recent years. It is expected that the ticket sale tonight will result in an audience that will fill the seating capacity of Mitchell Hall.

The play has been directed by C. R. Kase, assistant professor of English in the University. Miss Dorothy Deiser, a student at the Women's College, is the assistant director. Under the efficient work of a group of students in charge of the staging of the play, a most effective set has been constructed, and special lighting effects, combined with the set, will make this the most unusual play seen in Newark for some time, and will demonstrate the full capacities of the equipment in the new Mitchell Hall.

Among the patrons and patronesses who will attend the play are Dr. and Mrs. Walter Hüllihen, Dean and Mrs. George E. Dutton, Dean and Mrs. Charles A. McCue, Dean Winifred J. Robinson, Dr. George H. Ryden, Dean and Mrs. Robert L. Spencer, Dr. W. O. Sypher, Major and Mrs. Ray Baldwin, Mr. and Mrs. John K. Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. H. Warner McNeal, Judge and Mrs. John P. Nields, Mrs. Charles L. Penny, Mr. and Mrs. Henry P. Scott, Dr. and Mrs. Charles L. Reese, Mr. and Mrs. Edward L. Richards, Warren A. Singles, Colonel and Mrs. S. J. Smith, Mr. and Mrs. G. Tallman, Miss Mary E. Wright, Mr. and Mrs. Norris N. Wright, Mr. and Mrs. R. R. Wittingham, Dr. and Mrs. R. B. Mathews, Judge Charles M. Curtis, Judge and Mrs. Hugh M. Morris, Dr. and Mrs. Robert E. Price, Mr. and Mrs. Irving Warner, E. S. Cannon, and Mr. and Mrs. E. William Martin.

BUTTON, BUTTON—WHO'S GOT THE BUTTON? TOWN COUNCIL ASKS

Sometime in the early hours yesterday morning, four of the new "mushroom" stop buttons that were recently placed on the streets in Newark were stolen. The missing buttons were located at the corners of South College avenue and Main street, South College avenue and Delaware avenue, South College avenue and Park Place, and Delaware avenue and Chapel street.

Just who the culprits are, local police and Town Council officials do not know, but the finger of suspicion points rather surely at a certain group of young men in Newark. Who ever they were, it is certain that they went to a lot of hard work to gain their souvenirs of the town, as the buttons are of heavy iron, and were fastened securely in the streets with long, heavy, lag screws. A considerable amount of "elbow grease" and a number of strong backs would be necessary to remove the buttons, one town official said, and after the buttons had been secured, they would be rather heavy and bulky to lift and carry away.

The serious side of the matter seems to have been overlooked by the group who stole the traffic buttons, however. If the guilty parties are discovered—and it is believed that they will be—they are faced with the possibility of going to jail or else paying a substantial fine. The cost of the buttons removes the act from the category of petty larceny or mischief, and makes the theft of the signals a more serious crime. Again, the theft of the buttons can be classed as endangering the lives of motorists and pedestrians, as the buttons were placed to remove the menace of intersection accidents.

Two of the buttons were found later yesterday, but the other two are still missing. It is hoped by Town Council officials that they will turn up somewhere soon, as the danger of the intersections will remain until some warning signs are placed again.

ROB FADER MOTOR CO.

Thieves entered the property of the Fader Motor Company sometime Monday night and stole two new automobile tires and two tire rims from an automobile parked in the yard in the rear of the garage. The rim and tire on another car were found loosened and about ready to remove, and it is supposed that the thieves were frightened away from their job before they had time to get the third tire and rim. The loss is estimated to be about $75.

U. OF D. TRUSTEES TO DETERMINE FUNDS NEEDED

Meeting Saturday Will Decide Amount to be Asked from State

GROWTH IS CITED

The Board of Trustees of the University of Delaware will hold their semi-annual meeting at the University this Saturday, and at the meeting will take definite action on the amount of money which will be asked from the coming session of the State Legislature for the operation of the University for the next two years.

This is expected to be the most important meeting of the Trustees for some time. It is evident from the growth of the University in the past few years that a larger appropriation from the Legislature is needed to carry on the work at the University, and to care for the future growth of the institution. Interest in the University of Delaware has been gaining for the past several years, and especially this year the school has attracted more and more attention. During the past two years several new buildings have been erected on the campus of the University, but more buildings and additional facilities are needed to insure for an adequate plant for the future. At the present time, the new gymnasium at the Women's College is uncompleted, and will have to wait for an appropriation from the Legislature before the building can be used by the students.

Reports which will be submitted at this meeting will show that the enrollment at the University this year is the largest it has ever been in history. The student body this year at the men's college and the women's college exceeds 760 students, and the prospects are that this number will be considerably increased next year. The value of the University plant is well over $4,000,000.00, and with the needed buildings and equipment needed, the University will soon exceed $5,000,000.00 in value.

SCOUTS BUSY WITH CHRISTMAS TOYS

The request of the Welfare Committee and the Boy Scouts for used toys has met with a very generous response from the people of Newark. The Scout room at the Academy Building is nearly filled with toys of every sort and description and fresh supplies are still coming in. Different patrols have worked every night this week painting and repairing the stock on hand and it seems probable that they will have to work equally hard next week in order to finish the job.

HEAR MUSICAL PROGRAM

Sixty people attended a recent meeting of the Brandywine Springs Parent-Teacher Association to hear a musical program prepared by three of the members in which the following took part: Mrs. Harry Harrington, Mrs. Rice, Miss Marguerite Bacon, Miss Lizzie Williams and Miss Florence Parker. Miss Walker, of Tower Hill School, visited the association and assisted with the music.

FOREIGN STUDY PLAN OF U. OF D. IS BROADENED

Delaware Second in Number of Students Abroad; New-

NAME SPONSORS

The University of Delaware's Foreign Study Bulletin has just been issued. It represents a considerable advance over its predecessors, and contains the latest developments of the Foreign Study organization. The list of participating colleges on page ten, with the number of students drawn from them during the past eight years, is significant. Wellesley has sent the most students, thirty-nine, but Delaware follows very closely with thirty-eight.

Page eleven is important in calling attention to the splendid recognition that the committee on the Junior Year Abroad of the Institute of International Education has given to the Delaware plan while on page fourteen appears its unqualified endorsement.

For the first time, this year, mention is made of the generous Delawareans who have provided scholarships of $300 during the past three years. These scholarships have been valuable in attracting the type of student so much desired by the University of Delaware authorities to send abroad but who might find the total cost of the year prohibitive. Dr. Hullahen's efforts in this line have met with encouraging responses and it is felt it is only just to recognize the donors of the scholarships, who are: H. Fletcher Brown, Miss Eviline du Pont, Harry M. Pierce, John J. Raskob, Robert H. Richards, Frank G. Tallman, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Wilson, all of Wilmington, and J. Pilling Wright, of Newark.

Pages twenty and twenty-one contain the announcement of certain changes in the plan of study abroad and the establishment of major and minor courses. This step, with its tendency towards concentration, has been highly approved by the American educators who have examined the plan in France. Pages 52-55 contain the announcement of special courses which are arranged for Delaware students by the Delaware office abroad and which are given by some of the most distinguished French scholars. This step has been an important one and its effects are even now far-reaching as it draws the French professor into direct contact with the American student. These men have been most generous in devoting large amounts of their valuable time to planning these courses for Delaware students and their efforts have been greatly appreciated by the university officials.

The long list of students on pages 59-66, three hundred in all, shows the rapid increase in interest in the Delaware Plan among the college students of the United States and it is the hope that the numbers may increase even more rapidly during the coming year. A vigorous campaign is being undertaken this year and according to latest reports from the cooperating colleges and universities, the interest in the Junior Year Abroad is widespread. On page 67-69 is a bibliography of various articles which have appeared in regard to the Delaware Plan and the year abroad. It is impressive and indicates that the idea is sound and is capable of interesting large numbers of people.

WINTER PIGS CAN MAKE MONEY By Prof. W. B. Krueck

Too often the Fall pig is treated like an orphan child—neither can succeed if given no attention.

The Minnesota Experiment Station has demonstrated quite effectively that practically as much money can be made on Fall pigs as on Spring pigs provided they are properly fed.

Pushing the pigs by liberal feeding early in the Fall in order that they may obtain some size before cold weather arrives, is one of the important factors in successful Winter feeding of hogs.

In doing this, however, the feeder must keep in mind that Fall and Winter feeding do not provide some of the things that are ordinarily provided by Summer and Spring seasons. Therefore, the ration must help to supply the things that nature is unable to supply for the Fall pigs.

The little Fall pig ordinarily is not a very good scavenger. Too often, however, he is asked to find his living largely in the corn field, depending largely upon waste in harvesting. This, however, does not produce results. It is very essential that a complete ration be fed. A variety of proteins will help supply the vitamins and proteins that are most essential for successfully starting these pigs.

In addition to proteins and vitamins, certain minerals are essential. Several of the Experiment Stations have demonstrated the importance of certain minerals to keep these pigs in proper condition. For instance, a lack of iron has a tendency to lower the hemoglobin content of the blood and develops an anemic condition in pigs that are suckling brood sows. It requires a very small quantity of iron to supply this and keep the blood of the pig in condition to function efficiently. Therefore, the importance of a complete ration cannot be over emphasized in starting Fall pigs. More liberal feeding is also essential. The government has answered this question and demonstrated the economy of self-feeding both brood sows and pigs while suckling and has showed that practically 160 pounds of feed can be saved on each hundred pounds of pork produced during this period. Therefore, the good feeder will take better care of his Fall pigs and place before them a good pig meal in self-feeders and give them a start before cold weather hits them.

from one of the school children who are solving actual problems as they arise in connection with their own construction of a school driveway. The adults have already contributed ashes for this driveway, a First Aid Kit, paper towels, victrola records, a flag rope and clock and plan to buy floor oil, repair the school porches and furnish paint for the coal shed. A Child Study class, under the direction of Miss Elisabeth Brugger, is bringing the home and school closer together. Ten pupils are receiving weekly instruction from Charles Edwards, of Wilmington, as members of the orchestra sponsored by the Parent-Teacher Association which will make its first appearance at the Christmas meeting, December 17th. The D'esta Rhoades Entertainers gave a marionette show during the social hour.

DEC. ISSUE OF "SIGNPOSTS" IS OFF THE PRESS

Bulletin of State Education Has Many Interesting Features

MISS WILSON EDITOR

The December number of "Signposts," the Delaware bulletin of education now off the press, features the White House Conference on Child Health and Protection attended by thirty representative Delawareans. Miss Edna J. Wilson, editor, has prepared abstracts for this issue of the first two sections of the report of the committee on the school child, one of 172 different committees which had been working for a year and a half to define minimum standards for the nation.

Departmental meetings of the Delaware State Educational Association addressed by such leaders as Dr. Agnes Snyder, Maryland Normal School; Dr. P. M. Harbold, Franklin and Marshall College; Dr. James Hsieh, Teachers College, Columbia University; Dr. R. C. Morrison, Chicago University; and Dr. John M. Brewer, Harvard University, are reported in this issue.

"Music and its Power to Increase the Joy of Christmas," is contributed by Miss Helen E. Martin, State supervisor of music.

Parents and teachers would have found much to challenge them to action in the sessions of the Professional Social Workers' Conference whose dates conflicted with those of the Delaware State Educational Association. Reports are given in this number of "Signposts" of the speeches made by William L. Butcher, executive secretary, New York Crime Commission; Leon C. Faulkner, managing director, Children's Village, Dobbs Ferry, N. Y.; and Bernard Newman, managing director, Philadelphia Housing Association.

Parents interested in the purchase of toys for children from two to four years old and of books for those from three to fourteen will be interested in suggestions made by Miss M. Elizabeth Brugger of the State Demonstration School.

Developments within the last year in the school system of Wilmington, are cited from the recent report of S. M. Stouffer, superintendent.

Successful units of work which might be adapted to the needs of other groups are described by the teachers under whose guidance the units were developed.

The cover design is again the work of Miss Amy E. Gardner, Parent-Teacher Association Publicity Chairman, and act as subscription agents for the magazine.

URGE LOWERING OF AUTO TAXES

Robertson Asks Elimination of Fees on License, Gasoline

Former Senator James W. Robertson, speaking Monday night at the twenty-sixth annual meeting of the Delaware Automobile Association held in the New Century Club in Wilmington, says he admires the stand taken by Governor Buck against the gasoline tax, but believes that the State cannot consistently continue a tax on the resident car owners, on himself, his car and on the gasoline that car consumes and at the same time condemn the wholesale distributor of gasoline.

"Out of the necessity of providing funds for the construction of roads grew our present system of taxing the automobilist, his car and the gasoline his machine uses," said Senator Robertson. "These taxes are invariably payable in advance."

"The automobilist has been suffering for a long time. He has felt until now that the taxes paid for the privilege of driving a car and on the fuel that it consumed, has produced something for him, and he has been given something for the money expended—good roads."

"Now that the good roads system of the State has attained a degree of completeness, he feels that the present tax on himself, his machine and on gasoline that he is entitled to liberal consideration in any system of a general tax reduction that may be contemplated."

Mr. Robertson said he believes that the automobilist in general feels that it may be nothing more than just to eliminate the operators license and the tax on gasoline entirely, and retain only such tax on his car as will maintain the highways in good condition and provide such good roads as are necessary.

ADOPTED CONSTITUTION

Minquandale Parent-Teacher Association, recently organized, has adopted a constitution and appointed Miss Evelyn Carey program chairman. Mrs. E. V. Vincent has been appointed chairman of a committee to give a series of parties to raise money for school equipment. Hereafter the association which already has 24 members, will meet on the second Tuesday of the month.

Forester Says Wye Oak Tops Its Rival In Kent for Md. "Championship"

EASTON, Md.—Again the argument over the "tree championship" of Maryland has been settled.

According to the report of Assistant State Forester Karl E. Pfeiffer, who has measured the various oak trees in Maryland, the Old Wye Oak at Wye Mills, Talbot County, is the largest and finest oak in Maryland, while the most serious contenders for greatness is the fine specimen in Old St. Paul's Churchyard at Fairlee, Kent County. Mr. Pfeiffer, who has measured both trees, reports as follows:

St. Paul's Oak—Circumference at five and one-half feet from the ground, 20 feet 2 inches; spread, 124 feet; height, 86 feet.

Wye Oak—Circumference at five and one-half feet from the ground, 20 feet 11 inches; spread, 165 feet; height, 95 feet.

While it is customary to take the circumference at a distance of four feet from the ground, it is not possible to do this with the Wye Oak because the "swell" at that point is so great, and it is, therefore, impractical to take the measurement at a point closer than five and one-half feet to the ground, and this was used also in connection with the St. Paul's Oak.

In reference to this pride of Talbot countians, Mr. Pfeiffer says: "I think we can safely say that the Wye Oak is the best specimen of White Oak in the State of Maryland. Within the past few weeks this tree monarch has been put in the best of physical condition that tree surgery makes possible. This expert attention having been given by H. Stevenson Clopper, of Baltimore. The money to pay for this treatment was raised by public subscriptions. The tree, it is claimed by the expert to be over 400 years old."

DELAWARE FIVE OPENS SEASON

Played College of Osteopathy Last Night; Play Next Tuesday Also

The basketball season at the University of Delaware opened last Wednesday night with the Philadelphia College of Osteopathy as opponents for the opener in the local gymnasium. This game was originally scheduled for tonight but at the request of Osteopathy was moved ahead one night. A game scheduled for Monday night of next week also for the local floor with William and Mary has been cancelled by the latter and no other team has been secured to take their place.

The only other game scheduled for before the Christmas holidays is Baltimore University for Tuesday night of next week.

The entire varsity football squad of the University of Delaware were the guests on Saturday at the Penn-Navy football game in Philadelphia of George Stewart, chairman of the athletic committee of the alumni association who takes an active interest in athletic affairs at the university.

There will be a meeting of the Athletic Committee of the University some time this week when it is expected that letters will be awarded the football schedules for basketball and swimming approved.

Charlie Hartman student at the university who suffered a vertebrae displacement early in the Fall has been able to leave the Wilmington General Hospital but has not resumed his studies at the university. Hartman spent several weeks in the hospital and was able to leave shortly before Thanksgiving. He attended the Delaware-P. M. C. game in Chester on Thanksgiving Day when he was accidentally injured again while seated in the stands and had to return to the hospital.

The injury to Hartman is a severe loss to the swimming team as he made many points for the team last season in the diving events.

Coach Bardo is gradually getting the swimming team in shape for the season which starts after the Christmas holidays. The prospects are bright for a good team. The first meet will be with Johns Hopkins in the local gymnasium pool on January 10.

Tribute to a President

Once in a while the wandering wind of destiny blows away the mist of surface living and fog of misunderstanding that obscure a man's soul. When that revelation occurs, especially if the man be in a high place with the eyes of the multitude upon him, he is judged and the judgment is more nearly accurate than the summary of a thousand opinions based on the externals of a lifetime.

So, at the recent White House Child Welfare Conference, was disclosed something of the inner being of Herbert Hoover when the plight of unfortunate childhood brought from his heart expressions which, for their wisdom, tenderness and deep humanity, are worthy of perpetuation among the great utterances of America's immortals.

Immediate and generous was the Nation's response. In one vivid flash of understanding the people of the land saw the true greatness of their Chief Executive, and the press, from coast to coast, voiced the acclaim of the millions.

Politics and partisanship were forgotten as a truly United States expressed its pride and confidence in a President who, having the genius to conceive and the power to execute, has also the nobility of soul to endow an organized philanthropic movement with the rich warmth of human kindness.

The man who saved Belgium, the man who refused to let the world vent its hate on thousands of starving German children, has become a prophet to his own people.

Local Labor on School Building

A number of people in Newark have been asking if local labor will be employed on the new addition to the Newark School. As a considerable number of men in this town are unemployed at the present time, the erection of this addition will prove to be of great aid to them in finding a means of providing a livelihood for themselves and their families.

While no clause in the contract, at least none that we know of, calls for local labor on the project, the contractors in charge of the building of the addition state that they intend to employ local men for all of the work that it is possible to do so. In the case of certain skilled labor that is required, workmen from other communities will be brought to Newark if Newark workmen are not trained to handle these jobs.

In the main, however, local labor will be used for the school. This is a commendable attitude on the part of the contractor, as it gives Newark workmen an opportunity to find employment, and it will aid materially in solving the economic problem for a number of families.

Newspapers and World Court

If there has been any real doubt on the part of the public, as to the advisability of American adherence to the World Court, the result of a canvass of the daily newspaper editors of the country, made public today, should be helpful in an effort to reach a decision.

The canvass, made by the American Foundation, a great national peace organization, founded by the late Edward Bok and sponsored by many of the greatest minds in the country, shows what the informed, thinking people of the country, as reflected by the newspaper opinions, really believe. And the fact that the preponderance of these opinions is strongly in favor of our entry into the World Court may be regarded as highly significant.

When 66.65 per cent of the American dailies, with 65.68 per cent of the total circulation, agree that America ought to be a member of the international tribunal—and that is what the figures show—there must be real merit in the proposition. The editors of these papers believe America will help itself by adherence. There is, of course, a minority that takes the opposite view. Still the weight is pronounced in the affirmative direction.

The result of this canvass is interesting and informing. Furthermore, in our opinion, it is convincing. It confirms our own conviction that American adherence to the World Court is desirable, and that to remain on the outside would be against our own interests and certainly would not be helpful in the promotion of international concord and understanding.

The American Foundation has performed a great service in making this canvass and in giving an unbiased analysis of what the figures show.

It is gratifying to note that Delaware, so far as the state has been polled, stands 100 per cent for American adherence to the World Court. Our newspaper showing, as revealed here, is supported by all the Delaware members of the National Economic League who recently voted, in a national poll, for adherence. The Delaware members of the league are Joseph Bancroft, Edward P. Bardo, Lammont du Pont, Dr. Walter Hüllihen, Judge John P. Nields, Otho Nowland, F. W. Pickard, John J. Raskob, J. Edgar Rhoads, John S. Russell and S. D. Townsend. This poll was completed November 1. Of the whole number of votes cast by the membership throughout the country, 1,985, there were 1,862 favorable and 123 unfavorable, the favorable percentage being 94.—Every Evening.

Coming Out of Woods Now

It may seem a bit foolish to ask how far a dog can run in the woods. It may seem even more foolish to connect that up with this so-called depression era.

You might scoff and answer that he can run as far as he wants to in the woods.

But that isn't the answer.

He can run only half way in the woods.

After that he is running out of the woods.

Perhaps that is a bit of homely philosophy, but, after all, homely philosophy has formed the basis for the teaching of all the great masters. The famed Greek and Oriental thinkers understood it and taught their truths in that manner.

And a dog can run only half way in the woods. After that he is running OUT of them.

We can run only half way in the woods of depression. After that we are nearing the other side.

History and all philosophy teach us that we never see how bad conditions are until the worst is over. The stock market almost invariably had had its slumps six months before conditions reached their worst, and started to improve six months before economic conditions did.

The stock market held true as a barometer this time also, in that it had its first bad break about six months before we realized how bad conditions were. Now it has started to pick up, and from various parts of the country, such as the Pennsylvania coal fields, certain automobile centers and some shipping points, comes the news of almost unbelievable increase in business.

Last week a man went into a haberdasher's store in New York to buy six suits of underwear. He had held off buying as long as possible because of the vague idea it might be as well not to spend any money with conditions as they were. He had to have new garments. The store had only two suits of his size. The storekeeper had held off from keeping his stock up because of the same vague idea it might be as well not to spend any money in an uncertain market. He lost the extra sale, doing one-third of the business he might have done.

Two gasoline stations not far from Trenton could not fill the tank of a passing motor car and both proprietors admitted they had sold more gas than the supply company expected they would. A druggist in Brooklyn regretted he did not have a certain brand of shaving cream because he didn't want to tie up more money in stock than was necessary. He simply lost business.

Throughout the middle west many stores have carried only one piece of each kind of merchandise. If two customers on the same day happen to want the same article one must wait or go elsewhere, and the merchant loses business.

All of which shows you one thing conclusively. A large share, perhaps 50 or 60 per cent, of this so-called depression era is due to that ancient and pitiful human weakness—FEAR.

The man who is running around hurriedly seeking a place to buy new undies; the merchant who couldn't increase sales by supplying him; the gasoline company; the druggist in Brooklyn; the middle west merchants, all of us are paying the price of our partly senseless ancient human weakness—FEAR.

We are the dog that has been running in the woods. We didn't know it when we were running in until we suddenly awoke to the fact that we were in the deep jungle of depression. Then we all became terribly, ridiculously frightened, as we usually do.

And now we are running out and we don't know it and are held back by our own fears, over which we stumble and hesitate. What a relief it would be if the 123,000,000 persons in this country would take about five minutes off all together, say six months from now, after we are safely in the open again, just to laugh at ourselves.—Philadelphia Daily News.

The Appreciation for Good Roads

Good roads are appreciated by all of us, but to one group of men they mean perhaps more than to any other class of individuals. For this small group each day travel from thirty to fifty miles over these roads, day after day—year after year, and, after having driven these roads a few years ago when they could hardly be called roads, the hard-surfaced, well-drained, well-maintained highways that we now enjoy mean comfort, safety, and contentment in their work.

This group is composed of the rural mail carriers. Their business is to drive these roads daily, under all kinds of conditions, and in every kind of weather, so that the people living on them will receive their mail on time. Before the days of the automobile, the rural carriers covered their territory in buggies drawn by teams, and often the mud in the roads would be knee deep on the horses. It was no unusual occurrence for a rural mail carrier to exhaust two or three teams of horses a day in his rounds. Later the automobile aided him in his work, but the bad roads still retarded him and caused his work to be unpleasant and full of hardships. Now, however, with all-weather roads throughout the state, the dangers of mud, wash-outs, and holes in the road have been removed, and the rural carriers job has been made much more pleasant and safe.

The carriers out of the Newark postoffice have Frank McFarland to thank in a large extent for fostering and championing the good roads plan in this section of the state. To him should go a lot of credit for his good work in sponsoring paving and improvement projects in this hundred. The good roads built under his direction while a member of the Levy Court will long be a credit to his name, and for them he deserves and has the thanks of everyone who drives over them.

MORAL—TROUBLE OCCURS WHEN YOU INVITE IT

Never look for trouble—if you do, you're sure to find it. Joseph Hitzelberger, of Havre de Grace, believes this statement to be true, especially since Tuesday evening.

Tuesday evening Hitzelberger arrived in Newark in a mellow frame of mind. In fact, he was quite inebriated when he walked into a certain restaurant here and took a seat at one of the tables. Shortly after he entered the cafe, Officer Cunningham, accompanied by two State Highway Police, went into the restaurant to get their lunch. Hitzelberger at once began a tirade against police officers. "You're no good," he remarked. "You couldn't arrest anyone if you had to. I dare any one of you to try to arrest me."

A few minutes later Hitzelberger was facing Magistrate Thompson with Officer Cunningham supporting him with a firm grasp on his shoulder. "Drunk and disorderly, Your Honor," said Officer Cunningham, indicating Hitzelberger. "$10 and costs, young man," said Magistrate Thompson.

It is not supposed that Hitzelberger will challenge the authority of the police, at least not in Newark, again.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR NEWS

The Christian Endeavor Society president, Miss Ann Chalmers, will lead the weekly meeting on the topic of "How to Make Others Happy." The recent selection of the nominating committee, points to prompt action in the electing of the society's 1931 officers.

CORNELL MUSICAL CLUBS TO GIVE CONCERT, DEC. 11

The Cornell Club of Delaware is sponsoring what promises to be the leading social event of the holiday season. The Cornell Musical Club, comprised of about one hundred members, have been secured to give a concert in the Gold Ballroom of the du Pont-Biltmore Hotel on the evening of December 11th. These clubs make a concert tour during every Christmas season. This is the first time since 1924 that they have visited this section of the country. The Cornell Clubs are very well trained and give a program that is of high quality and varied in character.

At the close of the concert there will be a dance in the ballroom. George Kelley's Orchestra of five pieces will furnish the music. Many people may obtain tickets from Mr. William, Jr., T. A. Baker, H. G. Ford or Rhodes' drug store. The tickets sell at $2.50 and include admission to both concert and dance.

ROBINSON AGAIN GRANGE HEAD

Former Governor Robert P. Robinson, who has already served eight years as worthy Master of the Delaware State Grange, was Tuesday elected to that office for another two-year term at the annual session of the Grange at Felton. Although the State Grange meet, annually the officers are elected for two-year terms.

As far as can be learned Mr. Robinson has served longer as Master than any other man in the history of the Grange. He has been a member of Delaware Grange at Newport for many years, and has done much to make the State Grange the strong organization that it is. In addition Mr. Robinson has served a number of years as treasurer of the National Grange.

There are about 100 members of this organization. The members of the executive committee are: Mrs. Hullahen, Dean Winifred J. Robinson, Mrs. Dutton, Mrs. McCue and Mrs. Spencer. Dean Robinson will entertain the organization at the Women's College at the January meeting.

WEDDINGS

Hannum-Brannan

Miss Frances Marguerite Brannan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Brannan of near Newark, became the bride of Mr. Charles Leroy Hannum of Hockessin, Del., on November 27. Mr. Hannum is an employee of the B. and O. Railroad. The couple were married at the Red Clay Creek parsonage by the Rev. Blake. The bride and groom were attended by Miss Pearl Brown of Wilmington and Mr. Agnes McCullaster of Colonial Heights. After the ceremony they all motored to Miss Brown's home where the bride and groom were entertained at a turkey dinner.

Mr. and Mrs. Hannum are making their home with Mr. Hannum's mother until their future home, being built at Hockessin, is completed.

Tutwiler-Watson

John Meredith Tutwiler, son of Mrs. E. B. Harris, of Paper Mill road, Newark, was quietly married last Saturday evening in Elkton to Mrs. Lillian Watson, of Philadelphia.

The young couple will make their home in Newark with the groom's mother, Mrs. Harris.

DATES FOR XMAS VACATION AT UNIVERSITY CHANGED

The faculty of the University of Delaware, at the request of the student body, has made a slight change extending the Christmas and New Year's vacation, which will give the students three week-ends at home. The vacation will begin after 4 o'clock Thursday, December 18, as originally scheduled, but will continue until 8 a. m., January 5, instead of ending 8 a. m. Friday, January 2, as originally planned. This will give over two weeks holiday with three week-ends.

OBITUARY

Benjamin M. Butterworth

Funeral services for Benjamin M. Butterworth, 47 years old, of Newark, who died yesterday morning in the Delaware Hospital, will be held from his late home Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Interment will be in Ebenezer cemetery.

Mr. Butterworth had been living in Newark for the past 20 years and is survived by his wife and five children.

Robert S. Wilson

Robert S. Wilson, about 70 years of age, a former resident of Newark, died in Wilmington Tuesday from a sudden heart attack. His wife, a son, and a step-son survive him at his home.

Five sisters and one brother also survive him. The brother is Lindsey Wilson, of Newark, and two of the sisters are the Misses Lou and Allie Wilson, also of Newark. The other sisters are Mrs. Anna Gillis, Mrs. Ray Kurtz, and Mrs. Clara Whitaker.

The funeral will be conducted from the Haines Funeral Home in Wilmington tomorrow afternoon. Interment will be in Silverbrook Cemetery.

700 KIDDIES THRILLED BY SANTA CLAUS AT JACKSON'S

Santa Claus was in Newark last Saturday afternoon as the guest of Jackson's Hardware Store, and about 700 children met the merry old gentleman and told him their many desires for Christmas presents and gifts.

Santa was due to arrive at the Toyland in Jackson's store at 1 o'clock, but long before that hour the children began to arrive, and to wait impatiently for Old Chris to join them. Promptly at 1 o'clock, Santa shouted greetings to the children and appeared in their midst. From that time until 9 o'clock that evening he was kept busy shaking hands with the kiddies, answering their questions, making lists of the toys and things they wanted for Christmas, and telling them about his great toy factory at the North Pole. Needless to say, the children had a fine time.

Before he left Jackson's, Santa Claus gave each little boy and girl a book and a bag of candy, the compliments of George Jackson, proprietor of the store. Before he left, he promised his little friends that he would be back to see them on the night of December 24, and that when they awoke Christmas morning, they would find that he had remembered them.

HIGH SCHOOL FOOTBALL TEAM GUESTS AT DINNER, SHOW

The Newark High School football team, champions for the second year of the D. I. A. A. league, were entertained with a turkey dinner last Thursday night by Mr. and Mrs. Walter Powell at Powell's Restaurant. Thirty-eight boys, including the mascot, Clem Brown, were present for the banquet.

On Wednesday night of last week, the team members were the guests of the State Theater, and enjoyed a free moving picture through the kindness of Louis Handloff, owner of the theater.

RED MEN ENTERTAIN

Minnehaha Tribe, No. 23, I. O. R. M., on Tuesday evening entertained members and their families. The regular meeting was dispensed with and turned over to the entertainment committee. ## A LATE TRAIN

A Short Story for English IV by Elanor A. Doordan

As she passed the window Peg paused long enough to glance disgustedly out at the rain which had been coming down in torrents all day and which showed no signs of ceasing. All day Peg had been thinking, and thinking hard. How in the world could anyone be expected to persuade that stubborn brother of hers to leave those silly aviation catalogues long enough to go to the station and meet Wanda? With a worried sigh she picked up the dish of fudge she had been carrying and started again toward Jim's den. Jim never paid any attention to girls anyway but he just loved aeroplanes, so Peg knew she had a difficult problem to solve. She, however, had plenty of courage and thought that with the aid of some marshmallow fudge she might be able to persuade Jim.

Finally, after about three-quarters of an hour of arguing, during which time Peg had explained at least twenty times just why some one should go to the station and why she could not go, she succeeded in getting her brother to do as she asked. Peg had met Wanda at boarding school and had asked her to spend her Thanksgiving vacation at their home. Consequently someone had to meet her at the station, but since Jim had never seen Wanda, one cannot blame him very much for not being anxious to meet her. The cause of the argument was to arrive on the three-fifty-five train. Although it was now only twenty-five minutes after three, Peg feared her brother might change his mind, so she said, "Jim, you had better go now because the train might be early, you know."

After taking about six extra helpings of fudge Jim started. It was with a sigh of relief that Peg watched her brother jump into his car and disappear around the corner.

Jim entered the station about five minutes later and rushing breathlessly up to the porter yelled "Hey! Have you seen a girl with a green coat and brown shoes and brown stockings and a green b-b-bonnet?" (Peg had said bet but Jim couldn't remember that.) The porter gave him one disgusted look and walked away without even answering. Did people think a porter should know every person getting on or off a train? Jim, however, was not daunted by one failure, and going up to the ticket seller, he repeated his question. The ticket seller looked at him rather hopelessly and said he hadn't seen any such person. "Are you sure?" Jim asked in amazement. "She's 'sposed to get here on the three-fifty-five," Jim thought the ticket seller was going to jump through the bars at him as he shouted to the amusement of several passers-by. "Young man, we don't usually expect the three-fifty-five train at three-thirty!" Jim was so embarrassed he asked if his watch was right. On being told it was he said, "Well, where is the three-fifty-five train?" The ticket seller decided he had had enough silly questions; he said, "I don't know; I haven't seen it but you can go down the track and look for it if you want to." This was the last straw. Jim swore, to himself, that he would not ask another question if he never found Wanda.

The three-fifty-five pulled in ten minutes later. It was exactly ten minutes after four. By this time Jim was almost frantic. Dashing up to the gates he stared at everyone getting off the train. He asked about eleven people before he finally found the right person. Some people didn't answer him, several answered sarcastically, and one almost slapped him for staring at her. At last he saw a girl answering Peg's description but Jim didn't think it could be Wanda. Peg never brought such good looking girls home. In fact Jim thought this one was the prettiest girl he had ever seen. However, deciding one more person wouldn't make much difference, he asked the girl if she were Wanda Montgomery. He almost fainted with relief when she said she was. Somehow he managed to introduce himself. One could see he was going to pay attention to at least one girl from then on. He was heard to remark, as he put Wanda's bags in the back seat (he had put her in front) "Gee, I'm glad I came down to the station even though the train was late."

WHAT WE ARE DOING IN BIOLOGY

In Biology for the last eight days we have been studying birds. Before we took up birds we were studying amphibians, reptiles, fishes and the introduction to vertebrate.

On the study of birds we wrote to the societies interested in bird preservation to see what they were doing for bird protection. We haven't received any answers yet.

Each topic that we take up there is a vocabulary of hard words which we have to learn. On these vocabularies we are given tests. In the units we have, there is a "C" assignment, a laboratory exercise and a "B" assignment. We are given a certain number of days for each unit.

The next unit we are about to take up is mammals.

MR. PHILIPS ADDRESSES THE FOURTH GRADE

On Tuesday afternoon, the fourth grade was given a treat. Mr. Philips, of the Department of Agriculture of Newark High School, gave the pupils a very interesting talk on the history of corn. This talk lasted from 2:30 to 3:15 o'clock.

When he arrived he hung a chart on the blackboard. On this was a picture of an ear of corn and its different parts. He first told the history of corn. He told about where it was first grown and who grew it. What happened when the Pilgrims came over and what the Indians called corn were other interesting topics. When he finished the history he told about how corn grows and the location of most of the corn plantations. Everyone understood everything quite plainly as there were no questions to be answered.

INITIATIVE By Thomas Foster

Initiative is an important factor in the success of every student. What do we mean when we mention the word initiative? By initiative we mean the power to begin. In reference to schools we usually find that it applies most of the time to the beginning of study in study hours. To obtain initiative we must first have the fundamentals, co-operation and concentration. The student body must cooperate in silence which, along with the collecting of the individual's thoughts, will lead to concentration. Proper lighting and ventilating conditions in a room will aid the student to not only begin studying, but to enjoy and obtain the maximum amount of knowledge from the time spent. When a person can acquire initiative he will make the most of his education and will develop his sense of need for cooperation.

NINTH GRADE HOME ECONOMICS CLASS

The girls in the ninth grade Home

Economics Class have been studying luncheons. Each day they have taken a different step in preparing a luncheon. After all of the steps were completed an entire luncheon was prepared and served by different groups.

The class was divided into four different groups. Each girl had a certain duty. Various dishes were prepared under the skeleton menu of: Main dish, bread and butter, salad and a dessert. The tables were set attractively. The class was under the supervision of Mrs. Hancock.

vitamins in feeds; the chemistry and bacteriology of milk; and the manufacture of condensed milk, milk powder, ice cream, cheese, casein, milk sugar, whey albumen, and cultured buttermilk.

The bureau's research and experimental work in the breeding, feeding, and management of dairy cattle, which is carried on in laboratories and at the eight Federal dairy experiment stations in various parts of the country, is reported briefly. This work embraces the breeding and selection of families; official testing of cattle for milk and butterfat producing ability; proving of bulls for their ability or lack of ability to transmit high production; the health, breeding efficiency, fertility and longevity, and culling efficiency of dairy cattle; studies of the mammary system; formation and growth of dairy cattle; the relation of the conformation of the cow's body to her milk production; various problems of pasture crops and management; and feeding for efficient and economical milk production.

The service which the bureau renders to the dairy manufacturing industries, in making available to them the results of its research and experimental work which make for more efficient and more profitable commercial operations, is discussed in the report. This, as well as a great deal of the other work of the bureau, is done in cooperation with the State colleges of agriculture, and these arrangements are working out effectively for the benefit of the dairy industry, says Mr. Reed.

DAIRY BUREAU STRIVES TO IMPROVE AVERAGE QUALITY OF MILK SUPPLY

Dairy Industry of United States Greatly Needs Production and Cost Records on Larger Numbers of Cattle, so that Dairying Will Be More Profitable, Says Chief of Bureau of Dairy Industry

Raising the quality of the Nation's supply of dairy products, particularly market milk and cream, until the point is reached where all the people, whether they live in city or town or on the farm, will be provided with an abundance of dairy foods of high wholesomeness and quality, is one of the most important concerns of the dairy industry of the United States, says O. E. Reed, chief of the Bureau of Dairy Industry in his annual report on the work of the bureau, which Secretary Hyde of the U. S. Department of Agriculture made public in Washington Tuesday.

Reporting upon the bureau's milk quality-improvement project, Mr. Reed says that this is considered one of the most important features of the work of the bureau and the regional dairy extension specialists. As a result of the cooperative efforts of the bureau and the extension services of the State colleges of agriculture, considerable progress in quality improvement has already been made in several States, the report says.

"To reach the goal of general high quality is largely a matter of getting before the dairy farmer and others of the industry the facts regarding the practices which have been found to give the best results," says the report. "To stimulate the development of a comprehensive plan for improving the quality of milk, a great deal of work has been done, not only in planning programs but in making them effective in several States."

The importance of interesting the boys and girls of the 4-H clubs of the country in the program for improving the average quality of the milk produced on American farms, has been recognized by the bureau and the Extension Service in quality-improvement activities, says Mr. Reed. He says that suggested programs for quality improvement have been drawn up for the use not only of the adults who are the dairy farmers of today, but also for the club boys and girls who will be the dairy farmers of tomorrow.

The quality-improvement work is now in progress in many places, with the bureau, the State extension services, State and city departments of health, and other agencies, all cooperating. Some dairy communities have made marked improvement in the quality of the dairy products which they produce and market, says Mr. Reed.

The efficiency and economy with which the milk supply of the Nation is produced is another subject to which the report gives particular consideration. "From the standpoint of research, one of the most important things which confronts the dairy industry today," says Mr. Reed, "is that of determining more definitely the production of the Nation's dairy cattle, by studying the actual cost and production records of large numbers of dairy animals."

Mr. Reed reports significant progress during the year along many of the bureau's lines of research. This work covers a diversity of subjects, including among others, the metabolism and nutrition of the dairy cow;

IT'S FEEDING THAT MAKES A FOOTBALL TEAM "FIGHT"

EDITOR'S NOTE

In his eleven years at Notre Dame University, prior to 1930, Knute Rockne has turned out four national championship teams and has seen 101 victories chalked up by the eleven under his guidance. Naturally, these men have been most carefully conditioned—for no sport is more exacting in its demands upon stamina than is the particular brand of football played by Coach Rockne's "Fighting Irish". We feel that Mr. Rockne's views on correct eating may be copied profitably by all who must face the struggle of modern life—and surely no man is better able to speak authoritatively on this matter of outstanding importance.

EDITOR.

By Knute Rockne

Too much emphasis cannot be placed upon the importance of proper diet in the moulding of a football team. A coach is faced with the task not only of bringing his men to a fine fighting edge for any particular game, but also of being able to hold them at their physical best throughout an entire season. And I find that watching carefully over what my men put into their stomachs is even more important to assure a team's continued fitness than is the usual required abstinence from smoking and other undermining habits.

Mental alertness—so necessary in the Notre Dame system, where speed and the ability to think quickly are stressed more than sheer weight—is directly dependent upon a healthy body. And a healthy physique, as we all know, is one that is kept free at all times from those accumulations of residual poisons that might have been eliminated through a carefully balanced diet.

Unfortunately, very few persons seem to "have time" to study their diet. They must be educated and guided in what to eat and what not to eat. This is particularly true of those just entering upon college life; and thus we find the conscientious coach faced with many duties other than teaching embryo stars the fundamentals of the game. Early in his experience he learns that he must emphasize the principles of hygiene and balanced diet along with his instruction in football lore—and see to it, personally, that every player has real appreciation of the needs of his body to endure the strain of competition on the gridiron.

Notre Dame football teams have been called the "eleven halfbacks," because we do not stress weight in the line so much as we insist upon speed and the ability to think quickly. This physical stamina and mental alertness are promoted through strict adherence to fundamental dietary laws—and just as much stress is placed upon this building of bodily energy as is given to playing instructions in our workouts on the field.

At Notre Dame, both the scrubs and members of the varsity football team are held to a strict diet throughout the playing season. While this is not at all an unusual practice in collegiate athletics, we do believe that our system of conditioning is largely responsible for the success of the "Fighting Irish". In those special dishes which we prepare for our training table are included generous quantities of fruits, fibrous vegetables and those cereals that give a bulky "vegetable effect". Thus the normal secretory activities of the athlete's body are promoted, and his system kept free from accumulated residues that induce both mental and physical inertia.

Such a careful and rigorous schedule of diet brings real results. And it is imperative for the success of our teams that it should, for one physically weak or mentally sluggish man in the line creates a gap that may render the rest of his team mates impotent to win. The chain and its weakest link—the team and its weakest player! The analogy is absolute.

All other things being equal, the healthy football team is the winning football team. And at Notre Dame we know it's food that puts the "fight" into a squad.

RABIES SPREAD ALARMS STATE HEALTH BOARD

Number of Cases of Dreaded
Disease in State; Urge
Caution for Dogs

THREE CASES THIS WEEK

The State Board of Health has issued the following statement relative to the spread of rabies:

"The extent to which rabies is present among the dogs of the State is alarming. At the present time there are portions of both New Castle and Sussex counties which are under quarantine because of the disease. In fact, there have been but very short periods in a number of years when in some portion of the State it has not been necessary to resort to this repressive measure, provided for by the law in order to keep the disease under control. The effect of this measure, if judged by its results, must be considered disappointing.

"That there have been few deaths of human subjects can only be looked on as the result of peculiarly fortunate circumstances, for the continuation of which we have little reason to expect. A number of persons have been bitten during the period and, while the early institution of treatment has up to the present been able to avert the outbreak of the disease, the time will surely come when this measure of prevention will fail or will not have been resorted to.

"Within the past week there have been examined at the State laboratory three heads of animals which undoubtedly showed evidence of the presence of the disease. Several persons are now under treatment in New Castle County on account of their having been exposed to infection. In Sussex County, while it is not known that any persons were bitten, it is thought that a number of dogs received wounds from animals in the furious stages of the malady, each one of which may later develop the disease, for its perpetuation and to the detriment of many in the county. There, several dogs examined within the week must have been infected a number of weeks ago, though at the time nothing was known of there being a rabid animal in the vicinity. The number of animals bitten then cannot now be determined, and there may be still more cases developing within the next week or two.

"That a large percentage of the persons injured by rabid animals are children adds greatly to the seriousness of the situation. The only human death reported in the State of recent years was that of a child. These, if bitten, often receive injuries about the face or hands—injury to which parts is most often followed by the disease. "The State Board of Health wishes to urge the strictest compliance with quarantine regulation and the destruction of all dogs which may have been infected by an animal proved to have been rabid."

DATES FOR MAILING XMAS PACKAGES ARE ANNOUNCED

Postmaster William H. Evans has announced the dates on which Christmas packages should be mailed in order to insure delivery before Christmas. It is advisable, it is pointed out, to mail the packages before these dates, so as to avoid a last-minute rush at the postoffices.

The dates for the mailing of parcels to different points are as follows:
December 15—Arizona, California, Colorado, Idaho, Montana, Nevada, New Mexico, Oregon, Utah, Washington.

December 16—Wyoming, Texas, South Dakota, North Dakota.

December 17—Oklahoma, Kansas, Nebraska, Louisiana, Arkansas, Wisconsin, Minnesota, Florida, Mississippi, Alabama, Georgia, Tennessee, Kentucky, Illinois, Michigan.

December 18—South Carolina, West Virginia, North Carolina, Virginia, Ohio, Indiana, Maine, New Hampshire, Vermont, Massachusetts.

December 20—Connecticut, Rhode Island, New York State, Pennsylvania, Maryland, New Jersey, Delaware.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to thank all our friends, neighbors, and relatives for their kind expressions of sympathy in our recent bereavement.

Mr. and Mrs. Laurence Pierce.

HERD OF WILSON PRICE LEADS IN BUTTERFAT PRODUCTION

With an average butterfat production of 38.2 pounds per cow, the Jersey herd owned by Wilson Price of Twin Pine Farm near Glasgow, led the New Castle County Cow Testing Association during the month of November. This farm herd has 15 milking cows in it and is always to be found among the leaders in the butterfat and milk classes. The average milk production for these cows was 733 pounds which is considerably higher than the 553 pounds average of the 500 cows tested during the month.

Fifty-three cows produced over 1000 pounds of milk each and 27 over 50 pounds of butterfat each during the 30-day testing period. The highest individual cow producing the most butterfat is also a registered Jersey in the herd of J. Wirt Willis near Glasgow. She made 81.8 pounds of fat during the month with the second highest cow, a Holstein owned by Robert Walker of Hockessin producing 72.9 pounds of butterfat. These figures are in the monthly summary of the County Cow Testing Association which has been recently mailed to the 22 members from the office of the County Agent, Ed Willis, Jr.

In the report is also found the ten highest herds in butterfat and milk production, and the same number of highest individual cows in that classification. The ten highest herds in butterfat for the month are: (1) Wilson Price, Glasgow, Jerseys averaging 38.2 pounds of butterfat per cow; (2) Fred Stafford, Montchanin, Holsteins, 31.2 pounds; (3) J. H. Mitchell & Sons, Hockessin, Jerseys, 29.3 pounds; (4) John Mitchell, Hockessin, Holsteins, 29.0 pounds; (5) Frank McVaugh, Hockessin, Mixed, 27.4 pounds; (6) Granogue Farms, Guyencourt, Mixed, 2.3 pounds; (7) Irvin Klair, Marshallton, Guernseys, 27.3 pounds; (8) Robert Walker, Hockessin, 27.1 lbs.; (9) Wallace Cook, Newark, Holsteins, 26.9 pounds; and (10) Breidablik Farms, Marshallton, Guernseys, 26.2 pounds.

In milk production these ten herds are leaders: (1) Frederick Stafford, Montchanin, Holsteins, 962.0 pounds; (2) Wallace Cook, Newark, Holsteins, 841.0 pounds; (3) Robert Walker, Hockessin, Holsteins, 783.0 pounds; (4) John Mitchell, Hockessin, Holsteins, 756.0 pounds; (5) William Price, Glasgow, Jerseys, 733.0 pounds; (6) Granogue Farm, Guyencourt, Mixed, 624.5 pounds; (7) Wilson Pierson, Hockessin, Mixed, 617.4 pounds; (8) Levis Phipps, Wilmington, Mixed, 602.5 pounds; (9) James Smith, Middletown, Holsteins, 590.1 pounds; (10) Frank McVaugh, Hockessin, Mixed, 581.0 pounds.

Individual high butterfat producers are: in the herds of J. Wirt Willis, Glasgow, Jersey, 81.1 pounds; Robert Walker, Hockessin, Holstein, 72.9 pounds; Wallace Cook, Newark, Mixed, 72.1 pounds; J. Wirt Willis, Glasgow, Jersey, 71.3 pounds; Frederick Stafford, Montchanin, Holstein, 68.4 pounds; Harold Little, Newark, Holstein, 66.1 pounds; Wilson Price, Bear, Jersey, 65.2 pounds; George Danby, Newark, Holstein, 62.6 pounds; John Mitchell, Hockessin, 61.6 pounds; and Frederick Stafford, Montchanin, Holstein, 61.0 pounds.

With 1905 pounds of milk, the Holstein cow of Fred Stafford led the ten highest cows in milk production. The other nine are: (2) Harold Little, Newark, Holstein, 1740 pounds of milk; (3) Wallace Cook, Newark, Mixed, 1716 pounds; (4) Fred Stafford, Montchanin, Holstein, 1710 pounds; (5) Robert Walker, Hockessin, Holstein, 1620 pounds; (6) Fred Stafford, Montchanin, Holstein, 1620 pounds; (7) John Mitchell, Hockessin, Holstein, 1590 pounds; (8) George Danby, Newark, Holstein, 1527 pounds; (9) Wallace Cook, Newark, Holstein, 1524 pounds; and (10) John Govatos, Wilmington, Holstein, 1500 pounds.

Lodge Notes

JR. O. U. A. M.

Next Tuesday evening, December 16, the Children's Branch of the Ancient Order of United Workmen will hold their Christmas party in the Red Men's room at Fraternal Hall. At present the young people are very busy rehearsing their different parts, under the direction of Misses Elizabeth Lindell and Edith Jackson. A very interesting program has been arranged and a big turnout of the children and their parents is expected. At the regular meeting tomorrow evening final arrangements for the affair will be completed. The Wilmington and New Castle Jr. A. O. U. W. Lodges have been invited to attend, as have also the Grand Officers of the A. O. U. W.

K. OF P.

Oseola Lodge, No. 5, Knights of Pythias, on Monday evening received a welcome surprise by a visit of the Grand Chancellor of Delaware, Laurence Kirby, who was accompanied by Grand Prelate Boyce and Grand Outside Guard McGuigan. Brother Kirby outlined a plan which will mean a boost to Pythianism in ensuing term. After talks by brothers and visiting brothers, refreshments were served. All members are requested to be on hand next Monday as business of importance will be discussed.

V. F. W. AUXILIARY GIVEN PRIZE WON IN PARADE

On Monday, the post and bugle corps of the William C. Griefzu Post No. 598, Veterans of Foreign Wars, of Darby, Pa., visited the Thomas Cooper Auxiliary and the Lieutenant J. Allison O'Daniel Post, V. F. W., of Newark, and presented the local organization of the auxiliary with a handsome prize that they won in a parade in Darby on Armistice Day.

A card and bingo party will be held in the post rooms on Friday evening, December 12, for the benefit of the Auxiliary and the V. F. W. Post. A number of prizes will be awarded, including a door prize. Refreshments will be served.

MILFORD CROSS ROADS SCHOOL NOTES

Just one peep into the Milford Cross Roads School room will show you that the school children are enjoying their preparation for Christmas. The Art class is most busy with clay (dug from our own Mr. Walmsley's farm), paint and shellac. The 4-H Club girls are making the thread and silk "fly." The English classes are working on Christmas dramatizations. Every day is filled to the utmost, and the children are happy.

The following program will be rendered at the monthly P. T. A. meeting next Wednesday evening, December 17, at 8 o'clock.

"Joy to the World," orchestra and audience; "Christmas is Coming," Agnes Kwiatkowski; "Christmas Eve," Paul Nelson; "To Santa Claus," Gladys Walmsley; "Silent Night," orchestra and audience; story, "The Little Dwarf's Christmas," Carolyn Guthrie; "The Two Little Stockings," Hazel Johnston; "Hang Up the Baby's Stocking," Annie Kwiatkowski; "Holly," Daniel Reed, and "Ned's Christmas Tree," Grayson Greer.

Next will come the Christmas Bible story read by Delaware Reed; selection, "There's a Song in the Air," orchestra; "Charity," Howard Walmsley; "Christmas Bells," Virginia Hall; "It Couldn't Be Done," Delaware Reed; First grade reading demonstration; Christmas Greetings, Karl Greer, Norman Reed, Daniel Reed, Walter Walmsley, Alfred Phillips, Kathleen Starkey, Paul Ayars, Stanley and William Kwiatkowski, Dorothy Reed, Annie Kwiatkowski, Grayson Greer, Scottie Guthrie and Charles Nelson.

"Santa Claus," by Charles Nelson; "Sing a Song of Santa Claus," Kathleen Starkey; "Adestes Fidelis," orchestra.

Two plays will be presented at the meeting: "Father Christmas," and "Christmas Then and Now."

The characters of "Father Christmas" follow: "Emily," Mr. Chalmers' housekeeper, Agnes Kwiatkowski; "Mr. John Chalmers," an elderly business man, Delaware Reed; "Father Christmas," Charles Greer; "Spirit of Christmas," Carolyn Guthrie; "Mrs. James Brown," Virginia Hall; Mr. James Brown, Helen Kwiatkowski, dressed as a man; chorus of first and second grade children; ragged girl, Hazel Johnston.

"Christmas Then and Now," another play, will be sure to please everyone.

Hazel Johnston will be "Mrs. Halsey Ramsdell"; Robert Walmsley, "Mr. Ramsdell"; Gladys Walmsley, dressed as a boy, will be "Jack," their son; Ruth Reed, their daughter. "Aunt Fanny" Halseyworth will take the part of Great grandmother, and Mrs. Fisher that of Great-grandfather. Paul Ayars and Kathleen Starkey will be the two small children.

The pupils are working to make the Christmas program the best ever. Plan to be with them next Wednesday evening, December 17.

Adult Education

For this week only the adult education class will meet tonight, Thursday, instead of on Friday night. Mrs. Elizabeth Bieon and Miss Florence Bieon, accompanists, will be on hand at 8 o'clock. Let's have a large crowd. Had 41 last week. Let's make it at least 50 this week.

CARD PARTY

A card party for the benefit of the Minola Council, U. of P., will be given Wednesday evening, December 17, at 8 o'clock, in the Odd Fellows Hall. Awarding of a turkey will be made at the party.
