WELCOME, KIWANIANIS!!

To Install 16 Hour Watchman Service At North College Ave.

B. & O. R. R. Compromises With Town Council and Will Provide
Watchman at Dangerous Crossing;
Outcome of Meeting Thursday

V. P. MAKES DECISION

Mayor Frazer received notice this morning that the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Company would install 16 hour watchman service at the North College avenue grade crossing. Watchmen will be on duty from 6 a. m. to 10 p. m. When the watchmen are not on duty the blinker lights will be in operation. It was not stated just when this service will go into effect, but arrangements are expected to be made in a few days.

This decision was the direct result of a meeting, last Thursday afternoon, between the Council of Newark and F. G. Hoskins, chief engineer of this division of the B. & O. Mr. Hoskins was accompanied by John W. Huxley, Jr., the railroad company's legal representative in Wilmington. The letter Mayor Frazer received this morning was from Mr. Huxley.

Mr. Huxley stated in his letter that he had been informed by J. P. Galoway, vice-president of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Company, whose office is in Cincinnati, that the railroad would go along with the recommendation suggested at the meeting between the Council of Newark and Mr. Hoskins, and install 16 hour service. He said that while this was done in a desire to cooperate in a friendly spirit with the Town of Newark, it was looked on by the railroad as a backward step, as they were of the opinion that the blinker system was the most effective yet devised. Mr. Huxley expressed gratification at the friendly way in which the matter was successfully concluded.

Plans About Complete For Blossom Festival

To be Held in Dover, Probably Next Week; Newark Community Float Possible

The general plans for the annual Delaware Apple Blossom Festival, which will be held in Dover, probably next week, are practically completed. It is expected that this event will draw to Dover the largest crowd assembled in the history of the town, and a full day's program has been arranged for the entertainment of the gathering. The plans for Newark's participation are still somewhat nebulous. However, a combined committee of members of the Chamber of Commerce and the New Century Club are said to be working on a community float.

The morning of the Festival will be devoted to visiting the orchards which will be in full bloom. There will be a regular caravan of tourists, but routes will be laid out and each one may take either a short or long route and be assured of seeing many large orchards. For those who come on the train, it is planned to have buses meet the trains, so that those who desire, may immediately take a trip through (Continued on Page 4.)

DOUBLE CHARGE

Paul Carline, of Newark, was arraigned before Magistrate Thompson, last week, charged with larceny as a motorist, and when he was examined it was found that he was using Ford registration tags on a Dodge car. Chief of Police Keeley had served the warrant. He was released from the double charge, a technical one, when he complained the matter out with the complainant. He was fined $10, and sent to the improper registration charge.

SPEEDER FINED

Orville Little Heads Newark Legion Post

25 Veterans Attend Organization
Meeting of New Post;
Officers Elected

At a meeting held in the Newark Armory, Monday night, the newly chartered Newark Post of the American Legion was organized and officers were elected. Ira S. Brinser, superintendent of the Newark Schools, acted as chairman and conducted the meeting. Orville Little was elected the first Post Commander.

Other officers elected were: Vice-post commander, Fred J. Strickland; adjutant, John R. Fader; post finance officer, Lester Scotten; post historian, Ira S. Brinser; chaplain, Paul D. Lovett; sergeant-at-arms, C. H. Sheaffer.

Twenty-five ex-service men from this vicinity attended the meeting. After the business was transacted, Walter R. Powell served refreshments. It was decided to hold a meeting for the installation of officers on April 30, and the Drum and Bugle Corps of Delaware Post No. 1 will be invited to this meeting.

Major Duncan, chairman of the State Legion recruiting committee was present at last Monday's meeting and assisted with the organization. It was estimated that there were about 125 ex-service men in the community, and a vigorous effort will be made to enroll a large percentage of them in the local post.

The charter members of the Newark Post are: T. E. Baker, A. E. Tomhave, P. D. Lovett, W. W. Daily, C. E. Green, Lester Hall, Gerald Gilligan, I. S. Brinser, C. E. Phillips, F. E. Mote, Orville Little, Dr. J. R. Downs, Dr. P. K. Musselman, D. S. Marshall, C. R. Runk and J. P. Rhodes.

Delaware Observing American Forest Week

State Committee Launches Intensive Campaign of Forestry Education

The Delaware Forest Week Committee, headed by Willard Springer, Jr., began Monday, a vigorous observance of American Forest Week by the most intensive campaign of forestry education ever attempted in this state. The week of April 22 to 28 was proclaimed as American Forest Week by President Coolidge, and observance by the State of Delaware was proclaimed by Governor Robinson.

According to Mr. Springer and W. S. Taber, State Forester, the response to the State committee's plans has been most favorable from school officials, leaders of women's clubs, public officials, members of business and luncheon clubs, as well as from those organizations within the State primarily interested in forestry and kindred subjects.

"The public seems keenly interested this year in American Forest Week and its purposes," said Mr. Springer in discussing the work of (Continued on Page 2.)

Kiwanis Club Makes Eighth Annual Pilgrimage To University Tonight

315 Members and Guests Expected at Dinner; Sir Frederick Magill Will Be The Speaker; Dancing And Bridge To Follow

With probably the biggest caravan in the history of the occasion, the Wilmington Kiwanis Club will make its eighth annual pilgrimage to the University of Delaware, this afternoon. It is expected that 315 Kiwanians with their wives and guests will assemble in Old College at 6:30 this evening to sit down to the banquet which will usher in the official festivities. This annual visit was instituted eight years ago by Arthur G. Wilkinson, who is business administrator of the University, and this year is president of the Wilmington Kiwanis Club.

A. G. Wilkinson will preside at the dinner and respond to the address of welcome which will be made by Dr. Walter Hullahen, president of the University. The Reverend Disston W. Jacobs, pastor of the Newark M. E. Church will deliver the invocation.

The Kiwanis Club always takes this occasion to celebrate United States-Canada Week, which comes at this time. The speaker tonight is Sir Frederick Magill, who is offered as a surprise. It is the supposition that his address will bear on the relations between Canada and the United States. In honor of the week, Mr. Wilkinson's daughter, Miss Irene Wilkinson, will play the Canadian national anthem, "Old Canada," on the piano during which the assemblage will stand. The Canadian flag will be draped over the balcony, while the American and State flags will flank the speakers table. At one end of the speakers table will be an electric Kiwanis "K", at the other end will be the Kiwanis motto, "We Build," in electric lights.

A special innovation of the program will be the induction into Kiwanis of Edward W. Cooch, who was elected a member at the regular meeting, last week. Russell Ramsey will conduct the induction. An interesting sidelight to this event is that the last time Mr. Cooch was in Old College Hall he was the guest of honor at a dinner given him as Grand Master by the Masonic Lodge.

Charles M. Banks will lead community singing and the College Orchestra will play during the banquet. The banquet will open with the singing of "America" and close with the "Star Spangled Banner."

After the banquet, the guests will be offered two kinds of entertainment. There will be dancing in the main hall to music by the College Orchestra. This will be in charge of Harry P. Dunbar, Jr. For those who want a less strenuous diversion, there will be bridge in the lower room, in charge of Dean C. A. McCue.

As a result of Delaware Night, the Kiwanis Club in 1923 instituted a scholarship of $300, to be awarded to a deserving Wilmington boy who wanted to attend the University of Delaware. This scholarship is carried forward annually to a student.

The committee for Delaware Night is composed of, Dr. J. F. Adams, chairman; J. A. Crothers; H. P. Dunbar, Jr.; William E. Holton; T. B. Stein and Dean C. A. McCue.

The officers of the Wilmington Kiwanis Club are, A. G. Wilkinson, president; Alvin B. Robertson, vice-president; J. Wilbur Hiron, treasurer; Sherman H. Stradley, secretary.

Among the invited guests, other than Kiwanis members, who have accepted invitations are: Governor and Mrs. Robert P. Robinson, Dr. and Mrs. Walter Hullahen, Dean and Mrs. George E. Dutton, Dean Winifred Robinson, Mrs. Everett C. Johnson, Dr. and Mrs. Claude L. Benner, Dr. and Mrs. E. B. Crooks and Mr. and Mrs. James A. Berkley. Governor Robinson will probably be called on for an address.

We Build

(Editorial by Everett C. Johnson, Reprinted from The Newark Post, April 22, 1925.)

"We Build" is the motto or slogan of the Kiwanis Club. But it is not a motto for the desk and stationery, nor is it just a slogan for the banquet table and convention. "We Build" in this organization is no mere policy representing the ambition of an ideal; it is action and living in its realization.

These Builders as we have observed and know them are Good Fellows, Good Citizens going through life with a smile, working with determination, attaining things worth while by giving. Giving to the Kiwanian is both an art and a practical fact. They go round doing good with genuine joy—doing it artistically. They have learned the Art of Living.

This is no mere banquet flattery. The published records of their deeds tell a greater story than words from the desk. This Community, this University, this State have felt and benefited by the real service rendered by the Guests of this evening.

So, if we may, Welcome to Newark—the town delights in your coming. Welcome to the University—it belongs to you. Thanks for your service—and for your personalities. Your Motto, "We Build" suits you. You are our friends. Your visits and acts prove it. We are yours—Come again.

SCHOOL BOARD ELECTION

The annual election of one member to the Board of Education, Newark Special School District, will be held on May 5, from 2 to 5 p. m. Polls will be in the school office. There will be no contest this year as only one candidate, E. L. Richards, has filed. Mr. Richards was appointed to the Board, last year, to fill the unexpired term of John S. Shaw, resigned. Mr. Richards will be elected for a term of three years.

BIDS FOR MAIL SERVICE

Sealed bids for mail delivery service between the Newark Post Office, the Pennsylvania R. R. station and the B. & O. station, and between the two stations in Newark, will be received by Postmaster Evans. Proposals must be at a yearly rate. The annual inspection will be made on May 7 by General Ely, commander of the Second Corps area. The sham battle, which is usually a part of the annual inspection, will be omitted this year.

WOODS ON FIRE

The Aetna Hose, Hook and Ladder Company was called at 1:30 this afternoon to subdue a fire in Whitakers Woods, on Iron Hill. The firemen found the fire consuming underbrush and extinguished it before it had spread to the larger tree. It took just about an hour to completely put it out.

State Will Celebrate National Egg Week

State Poultry Association Plans
Program for Week of May 1 to 7

The Delaware State Poultry Association is again joining hands with the National Poultry Council to celebrate the 1928 National Egg Week—May 1 to May 7. The objects of these Egg-Week Celebrations are to annually call attention of the consuming public to the rapid growth of the Poultry Industry and the importance of poultry and eggs as food products. Another object, of course, is to stimulate the consumption of eggs during the spring period of flush production.

The annual products of the Poultry Industry in the United States are now valued at more than one and a quarter billions of dollars. In the entire United States the Poultry Industry stands sixth from the top in the list of agricultural products, the five leading products being Dairy products, Corn, Cotton, Hay and Swine. In Delaware poultry and eggs stand second, being exceeded in value by only one agricultural product—corn. As a cash crop poultry products rank first in Delaware. This means that any decrease in the poultry output of the state would greatly curtail the buying power of Delaware farmers. (Continued on Page 2.)

Questionnaire Sent To All State Adults On Prohibition Views

P. S. duPont Asks Every Delawarean
How He Stands on Dry Law Question; Six Queries Cover Whole Situation; Returns to be Made Public

OVER 100,000 SENT

The first of this week, Pierre S. duPont, for the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment, Delaware Division, sent a questionnaire to every known person in Delaware, over 21 years of age. The questionnaire asked six questions, which could be answered to indicate a sentiment either for or against the present national prohibition laws. A letter signed by Mr. duPont accompanied the questionnaire and a return stamped envelope was provided to make returns.

The questionnaires are to be returned to the Trust Department of the Wilmington Trust Company, Wilmington, where they will be kept, unopened, in a locked receptacle until a committee is appointed to open them and make known the findings of the referendum. The committee will probably be composed of six persons, three of which will be prohibitionists, and three anti-prohibitionists. Over 5000 returns were received in the first day's mail. It is said that 110,000 questionnaires were sent out. The postage cost on this number alone, would amount to $4,400.

This is probably the first time in any state that such a comprehensive canvass has been made, privately, of public attitude on any question. Mr. duPont heads his letter; "What Is Your Opinion on Prohibition?" "An Answer to the Enclosed Questions is an Important Public Duty." The letter (Continued on Page 8.)

Noted Indian Opera Star At College Hour

Chief Caupolican, Former Leading
Baritone of the Metropolitan Opera,
Gives Program in Wolf Hall

The University of Delaware had one of the richest treats in the history of "College Hour", this morning, at 11 o'clock, when Chief Caupolican, famed Indian baritone, who was formerly leading baritone for the Metropolitan Opera Company, and the Philadelphia Grand Opera Company, gave an extensive program in Wolf Hall.

Chief Caupolican (Emile Barrangon) is a South American Indian, a native of a tribe in Chile. He is also an adopted member of a number of North American tribes, and sings in several Indian dialects. He consented to give a concert at Delaware through the entreaties of a number of friends on the faculty.

The Chief is a man of wide interests and education. He is a graduate of the Sorbonne, Paris, and is a linguist of note. He has sung in practically every city in the United States both in grand opera and as a headliner in vaudeville. He always headlines the bill when he appears at the Palace, New York. The Chief's talent for study has been passed on to his children. His daughter, a student at Smith College, has recently been elected to Phi Beta Kappa, and he has a son, who is a graduate of Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

Chief Caupolican brought with him his accompanist, Miss Renard, of Philadelphia, and gave the following program:

Selection from Mignon; "I Know a Lovely Garden"; "Because"; Group of Indian Songs; "Waters of the Minnetonka"; "Sunrise Call"; Sioux Death Chant; "Flower Rain"; Tears at the Spring.

In addition, Miss Eleanor Edge, of the Women's College, gave a piano solo.

CARD PARTY

The Orpha Lodge, Daughters of Rebecca, will hold a card party in the Odd Fellows' Building, Tuesday evening, 8 o'clock.

Ask Federal Aid For Market News Service

Del-Mar-Va Association to Ask Appropriation for Market Service; Peninsula Large Producer of Perishable Products

That the commercial production of fruits and vegetables on the Del-Mar-Va Peninsula is of more than local importance has been developed by statistical data assembled by the Del-Mar-Va Eastern Shore Association, in cooperation with the Marketing Bureaus of Maryland, Delaware and Virginia, in an effort to secure from Congress an appropriation of Federal funds for the establishment of a permanent Market News Service on the Peninsula.

In discussing the matter Dr. F. B. Bomberger, Director of the Marketing Bureau of Del-Mar-Va Association said:

"The people of the Del-Mar-Va Peninsula, and of the U. S. generally, for the most part are totally unaware of the size of the contributions which this comparatively small Peninsula make to the commercial shipments of some of the more important fruits and vegetables. In a sense the figures are really astonishing.

"Most people are doubtless aware that in the Delaware, Maryland and Virginia Counties which constitute the Del-Mar-Va Peninsula is a very large production of perishable products, especially of strawberries, Irish potatoes, early apples, cucumbers, cantaloupes, peaches, sweet potatoes and late apples, but the following illustrations will be surprising to many.

"During the month of August in 1926, 1104 cars of cantaloupes were shipped from the Eastern Shore of Maryland points, and 462 cars from points in Delaware, as compared with a total shipment of 5575 cars for the entire United States. This indicates that at least 20 per cent of the total shipments of the United States during that month came from the Del-Mar-Va Peninsula. The only other section of the United States shipping anything like this number of cars during the month of August is Colorado, which in 1926 shipped a total of 1506 cars.

"The shipment of cucumbers from the Eastern Shore of Maryland and Delaware during 1926 was a total of 692 cars during the month of July, as compared with a total of 1774 cars for the entire United States. This would indicate that during the month of July 38 per cent of the total shipment of cucumbers for the entire United States was from this Peninsula. The only other state shipping anything like this amount was North Carolina, which shipped 458 cars during this month.

"The shipment of strawberries from the Eastern Shore of Maryland during June, 1926, was 877 cars, from Delaware 612 cars, from the Eastern Shore of Virginia 130 cars, or a total of 1619 cars, as compared with a total of 4281 cars for the entire United States. The only section in the country shipping anything near the number of cars shipped from the Peninsula is Missouri, which shipped 1135 cars. This shows that approximately 40 per cent of the total shipment of strawberries during the month of June came from the Del-Mar-Va Peninsula.

"In the total shipments of sweet potatoes in 1926, Delaware shipped 1728 cars, the Eastern Shore of Maryland 1971 cars, and Virginia 6053 cars. Most of these shipments were made during the months of September and October, during which time the Eastern Shore territory shipped 6012 cars, out of a total movement for the entire United States of 8668 cars. This would indicate that approximately 75 per cent of the movement of sweet potatoes in the United States during September and October comes from this territory.

"In the shipments of Irish potatoes, it is found that during the month of July, 1926, the Eastern Shore of Maryland and Virginia shipped a total of 10,358 cars, as compared with the total shipment of the United States of 20,310 cars in that period. In other words, the Eastern Shore of Maryland and Virginia during the month of July were shipping more than 50 per cent of the potatoes shipped throughout the United States. During certain weeks the percentage of white potatoes shipped out of the Eastern Shore of Maryland and Virginia amounts to as much as 65 per cent of the total shipment of the United States.

"While the movement of apples and peaches does not constitute such a high percentage of the total shipment in the United States, the movement of early apples, from Delaware and the Eastern Shore of Maryland is very important, and the movement of peaches and late apples constitutes a considerable volume, and is of course highly important to the producers and shippers of these products from the Peninsula.

"For the past two years there has been a limited Market News Service available to the producers and shippers of agricultural products on the Del-Mar-Va Peninsula, which has been available through the cooperation of various private agencies on the Eastern Shore with the State Department of Markets of Maryland and the U. S. Bureau of Agriculture Economics. In 1926 the Peninsula Produce Exchange, located at Pocomoke City, and the Extension Service of the University of Maryland, each contributed funds to enable the U. S. Bureau of Agriculture Economics to establish a Market News Service at Pocomoke City for a period of approximately three months and covering strawberries and Irish potatoes.

"In 1927 a similar service was established at Pocomoke City by cooperation between the Marketing Bureau of the Del-Mar-Va Eastern Shore Association, the Pocomoke City Chamber of Commerce, the Maryland State Department of Markets and the U. S. Bureau of Agriculture Economics. In this year the service covered Irish potatoes, cantaloupes, cucumbers and a limited service on sweet potatoes.

"In view of the figures above quoted, it is apparent that the volume of business originating in this territory deserves that there be established a permanent Market News Service, supported by public funds, independent of contributions by local or State organizations extending over approximately six months, and including service on strawberries, early apples, Irish potatoes, cucumbers, cantaloupes, peaches, sweet potatoes and late apples. Efforts are now being made by the Del-Mar-Va Association and the Market Bureaus of the States of Delaware, Maryland and Virginia to secure a federal appropriation for this purpose."

the committee. "From all quarters there has been a steady demand for literature and information relating to forestry matters. It is not possible at this time to make any definite estimate of the number of forest week observances that will be held throughout the State this week, but I believe we are safe in saying that the number of such observances will exceed any previous year."

Information given out at committee headquarters places the total acreage of land in the United States better fitted for tree crops than for any other crop at approximately 470,000,000 acres. The magnitude of this area can be grasped, say committee officials when it is realized that the total acreage of improved farm land in the country stands at about 500,000,000 acres. To keep all of these 470,000 acres busy growing tree crops is one of the primary purposes of the special week set aside for forestry education, say members of the Delaware Committee.

In the proclamation issued by President Coolidge all citizens are urged to "give thought to the preservation and wise use of our forests to the end that energetic forest policies will be adopted in all Communities."

In commenting upon the President's proclamation, Delaware forestry officials say that citizens in each community should study local forestry problems and determine what action is necessary to place tree crops on a secure footing. Prevention of forest fires, planting of waste areas, extension of public-owned forest land, equitable taxation laws, protection of lakes, streams and water supplies, and the establishment of proper recreational areas are all questions that can profitably be studied and determined during American Forest Week.

In those States where logging operations and wood manufacturing industries form a considerable share of the business activities, American Forest Week has a strong appeal as the time for citizens to give serious thought to the perpetuation of these important lines of business life, say those who are active in the State's forestry work.

"Timber is a renewable crop of the soil and should be so regarded by all citizens," Mr. Taber said. "The primary object of American Forest Week is to enlighten public opinion on the need of wise and practical conservation of our forests and their products. In the last analysis the solution of the forest problem will be greatly assisted by a thorough understanding by the public and by public encouragement and cooperation.

"The common welfare of the generation requires that idle forest land be put to work growing tree crops, and that producing land be made to grow timber to its utmost capacity."

STATE WILL CELEBRATE NATIONAL EGG WEEK

Shrewd business men whose prosperity depends upon the buying power of farmers will realize the significance of this situation and do all they can to promote and stabilize the poultry industry of the State.

The Value of poultry and eggs in the human diet is just being recognized. Poultry meat has long been the favorite for banquets and other special occasions. It is now being used more extensively as a part of the everyday diet. Eggs are not only nourishing, but recent discoveries show that they contain important vitamins that protect the health of children and even grown-ups.

The Delaware State Poultry Association has purchased 500 National Egg Week posters from the National Poultry Council and will distribute these among the grocers, restaurants and hotels to be displayed during the week, May 1 to May 7. These food distributors are requested to feature eggs and poultry during that week. The public is invited to eat more eggs for their health's sake.

Local Contractor Erecting Plant at Newport

Hutchison Building New Dielectric Plant

Company Will Manufacture Newly Discovered Insulating Material

Business in the building trades has fortunately, not been visited by the slump which a few months past had the country in its grip. This has been true during the past winter and from present indications the summer is going to witness a real boom in this line.

James Hutchison, local contractor, is working on three large operations, at Newport, Wilmington and Newark.

At Newport the plant of Dielectric, Inc., is well under way and work is progressing satisfactorily. Foundations and framework have been completed and much of the masonry is already in place. Corrugated sheet steel is to be used for the walls of the building the plates will arrive in a few days and the work pushed rapidly.

In addition to the regular contract on the structure, Mr. Hutchison was given the job of erecting boiler, still, and condenser-pan foundations for the internal equipment of the works.

The Dielectric Company, of which Mr. James Hammond is General Manager, is to produce a newly discovered insulating material, revolutionary in its relation to the industry.

Besides the Dielectric plant Mr. Hutchison is building the new service station of the Diamond Ice and Coal Company, just off Main street in this city. Foundations have been laid and workmen are toiling earnestly so as to have the station ready when hot weather strikes Newark.

In Wilmington a beautiful residence is being built at 908 Greenhill avenue, in the Wawaset Park section, also by the local contractor. This, the new home of Mr. Fred Gerner, is to be of brick and frame construction. The bricks are laid with what is known as the "squash joint" a rough, unfinished yet artistic effect. In fact the ultra-modern will be kept in sight throughout the appointments of the building.

Work here has advanced to a stage where the plasterers have begun work.

Have you seen the new leaflet, No. 17, on "Cooking Beef According to the Cut"? It is issued free by the U. S. Department of Agriculture. One of the recommendations made in it is that a thermometer should be used in roasting ribs of beef, in order to tell whether they are rare, medium, or well-done. This removes the element of guesswork and gives the same results every time.

Linoleum, to give good service, should be laid over a smooth floor in such a way that it does not buckle, and it should be cleaned with a damp cloth wrung out of suds made with mild soap. Alkali washing powders, strong soap, or too much water, will ruin even the best linoleum.

What becomes of all the old cars? When your car is ready to retire, it has a value that perhaps you have never had the privilege of knowing. You may be one of those fellows who does not have to make every cent count, but you might also be one who delights in fixing up the old bus. Well the next time your 1924-25 or whatever you have needs a repair part—don't run right to the garage—but know your model and pay Ploener a visit. Perhaps you only want a fender, or an axle—you will be surprised how easy it will be to get it and then you will be more than surprised at the little it will cost you. Summer is getting near your radiator may leak badly and you must realize that this condition cannot help your engine this summer. You might get along in the cold weather, but not in the hot spells. Here is another opportunity to meet Ploener, he will be glad to furnish you with a radiator and you will find that it will be cheaper and more satisfactory than the price of repairing your old one. Perhaps you only want a small part, a set of bearings for the right hand front, well, he has them.

BLUE HEN TEA ROOM Observes First Anniversary

Mrs. Reynolds, proprietress of the Blue Hen Tea Room last week celebrated her first anniversary in her present location. During the past year she has made many new friends among her fellow-townsmen as well as among newcomers by the fine service rendered by herself and able assistants.

Blue Hen cleanliness and service have been especially attractive to those who above all else require their food served daintily and palatably. Mrs. Reynolds, in addition to a la carte service, maintains table boarders and caters to banquets and dinners—which has been much used by the Girls at the Women's College during the past winter.

We, in the United States, have come more nearly to making every citizen feel that there is no limit to his success except the limit of his own usefulness than has any other country.—Thomas N. Carver.

QUEER WILLS OFTEN PROBATED

To all of us who think of wills in terms of lawyers, "bequeaths", "afore-saids" and heavy bond paper it often comes as a distinct shock to read a news item such as the following.

"A will laboriously penned on an egg shell was today admitted to probate by the Court of Appeals in hearing at Greensboro.

"It was held to be the valid last testament of a well-to-do eccentric who refused to have dealings with lawyers."

Such will usually do not meet with the approval of courts especially when they are contested. It is safer to consult a lawyer—someone who has experience and knowledge in law.

Just as important perhaps as having a valid will is to have an executor to carry out the provisions of the will as the testator intended.

The Security Trust Company in Wilmington is being selected as executor by more and more people in this vicinity to take care of this most important office especially where a widow without business experience or children to be protected.

YOUR LAWN

Lawn experts all agree that the secret of a real lawn is a heavy sod and the absence of weeds so the beauty of the lawns in this vicinity should be better than ever. Newark prides itself on the beauty and cleanliness of the town, this to a large extent is due to the well kept and generous size grass plots. According to Harry L. Solomon, of Wilmington, he is sharpening more lawn mowers than ever before.

Nothing helps rid lawns of weeds more than the regular cutting with a sharp properly set lawn mower. Grass will stand and really grow with a good regular close cutting but the weeds will not survive. Mr. Solomon hopes to be of assistance to you in the care of your lawn.

HAMMOND MOTORS NEW SHOWROOM NEARLY DONE

Satisfactory progress is being made in the work on the new showrooms of the Hammond Motors, Oldsmobile distributors, at 37th and Market streets, Wilmington. The building is expected to be completed by the middle of May.

When finished it will be one of the largest and perhaps the most attractive in the state, giving ample space for the proper display of all models. Sixty-one feet by forty-eight in size, plenty of daylight is assured through the use of six large windows, while at night flood-lights will illuminate interior and exterior. Floors are to be of red concrete, blocked out in a unique pattern.

The large lot alongside the building has been filled in, giving the Hammond Company the entire block facing Market street from 36th to 37th street. The lot will be used as an open air used car market, while in the rear of the showroom will be a large service garage.

The Hammond Company formerly maintained showrooms on West Ninth street, but the increased demand for the improved Oldsmobile rendered these quarters far too small for proper display. Temporary showrooms have been installed at 35th and Market streets and business during the past six weeks far surpasses records for the same period during the history of the company.

The Council Gets Results

Notice was received this morning that the Town of Newark had won its fight for increased protection at the North College avenue grade crossing. It was only through consistent and vigorous effort on the part of Mayor Frazer and the Council of Newark that this vitally needed protection has been obtained. The railroad company upset tradition in acceding to the demands of the Council, and it was only when it had been given strong evidence of the determination of the Mayor and the members of Council to have this protection, that the railroad promised the desired service. Mayor Frazer and the Council of Newark are to be warmly congratulated on their success in this matter. They not only have done a large service for the Town of Newark, but they have upset a precedent that may result in other communities in the State receiving protection which they need.

A Fair Request

Mr. Pierre S. du Pont, acting for the Delaware Division of the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment, has mailed a letter and a questionnaire to every known adult in Delaware asking his honest opinion of the present national prohibition situation. Every effort has been made to make the questionnaire easy to answer and return, to make the queries on the questionnaire cover every important phase of the question, and to make the compilation and publication of the findings reflect the true attitude of the people of the State, regardless of what that attitude may be.

It would seem that Mr. du Pont is doing a valuable service both to the anti-prohibition and the prohibition forces in the State of Delaware. A return large enough to bring to light the true attitude of the State as a whole should be of considerable use to both parties in governing their future activities, and would show everyone just how the people of the State stand on the question. In order that the findings of this referendum show the true and complete situation, it is necessary that a large percentage of the questionnaires be returned, and that each return is the personal and uninfluenced opinion of the person making the return.

Mr. du Pont has asked that the questionnaires be filled in and returned promptly. He has asked that both the anti-prohibition and the prohibition parties refrain from any activities that might influence the number or sentiment of the returns. These are fair requests, and both sides of the question should co-operate with Mr. du Pont in his effort to determine the true feelings on this all important question.

One opposed to Mr. du Pont's views may ask, "Why should he busy himself to do this?" We believe that, notwithstanding Mr. du Pont's opinions against the present prohibition laws, he is financing, fairly, an opportunity for those who disagree with him to accumulate the votes of their forces.

The reader may say that the eighteenth amendment is the law of the land and that no one should question it. We do not believe that is a safe attitude to take. The question looms high in political plans today and is growing. Therefore, good can result from an intelligent survey. Such evidence can not change the law, only in as much as that evidence already exists in public opinion; on the other hand, the conclusions may point out that the law is safe in public opinion.

The Newark Post is not trying to influence anyone in the matter of opinion on such important questions as are included in the questionnaire. We are trying to think them through ourselves and expect to answer them and we hope every one will do the same. We repeat that those who disagree with Mr. du Pont have an opportunity to show their strength; those who agree with him will need no urging.

There is just one conviction that we wish to voice: that there will be absolute fairness in the tabulation of the replies; Mr. du Pont is not working a scheme; he is trying to secure a canvass of opinion in as dignified and intelligent a manner as possible.

State Delegates and County
Committee Members

At a meeting of Democrats of White Clay Creek Hundred held in Odd Fellows' Hall last Friday night, former Representative Frank Collins was endorsed for delegate to the Democratic National Convention at Houston, Texas, in June, and the hundred delegates to the State Convention were instructed to support him for that honor.

The meeting was presided over by J. Harvey Dickey, a member of both the state and county committees with William E. Hayes, as secretary. Nominations were made for members of the county committee as follows: First district, J. Harvey Dickey and Mrs. Bayard Perry; second, Ralph D. Edmundson and Mrs. Guy Hancock; third, W. Truxton Boyce and Mrs. Ida Tomlin.

Delegates for the State Convention to be held at Dover on May 8, were nominated as follows: First district, Dr. C. L. Benner and Frank Collins; second, Benjamin Wirt and Frank K. Widdows; third, George Walters and W. Paul Wier. By motion the hundred members of the county committee were empowered to fill any vacancies on the committee in this hundred and delegates to the State Convention were given authority to name their own alternates in case any delegate is unable to attend.

MRS. COOCH RETURNS FROM CONFERENCE

Mrs. Edward Cooch, who succeeds Mrs. J. Pearce Cann, as Delaware State Regent of the D. A. R., returned on Tuesday afternoon from the annual congress of that organization, which was held in Washington, D. C. Mrs. Cooch and Mrs. Cann both stayed at the New Willard, which was the headquarters of the D. A. R.

Mrs. Cooch remained in Washington after the adjournment of the Congress for the supper which Mrs. Brosseau, the president-general, D. A. R., gave on Sunday evening for the national officers, also for the board meeting on Monday and for a delightful tea which was given on the same day by Mrs. William C. Gorgas.

One of the big achievements of the D. A. R. Congress was the completion of the million dollar fund for the building of Constitution Hall in Washington. Work on the building will begin at once.

BAKE

The Willing Workers of Head of Christiana Church, will hold a Bake in the store-room at the home of Mrs. Elma Fox, Cowtown, on Friday evening, April 27th.

State Education Head To Speak Here Monday

The chairman of the Education Committee of the Newark New Century Club, Mrs. W. A. Wilkins, has been fortunate in securing Mr. George S. Williams, president of the State Board of Education, to address the meeting of the Club on Education Day, Monday, April 30th.

Because of the importance of the message which the speaker will bring and of the general interest in the subject, the meeting of the club will be an open one and both men and women of the community are invited to attend. The business session will precede the open meeting, which will begin at 3 o'clock. Club members should be at the club room promptly at 2:30, in order that the business meeting may be concluded before the hour for the program.

Mrs. J. P. Cann Visits Washington Cathedral

Mrs. John Pearce Cann, of Newark, retiring State Regent of the Daughters of the American Revolution, was one of a group of prominent club women received at Washington Cathedral by the Very Rev. G. C. F. Bratenahl, Dean of Washington, who conducted the group on a tour of the edifice, which is being built on Mount Saint Alban to symbolize and stimulate the religious life of the nation.

The cathedral, which is 14th century Gothic in architectural style and the first great edifice to be attempted in this design in modern times, proved of exceptional interest to the visitors as did the Bishop's Garden, which is one of the landscape features of the 67½ acre cathedral close, and contains many historic plantings, including a tree, planted by Thomas Jefferson, boxwood hedge from George Washington's Hayfield Manor estate, and boxwood, grown from twigs taken from Dolly Madison's inaugural bouquet.

A short service was held for the group in the Bethlehem Chapel, the first portion of the cathedral to be completed and the scene of daily cathedral services since 1912. This chapel is of special interest because it contains the tombs of Woodrow Wilson, Admiral George Dewey and other eminent Americans. The visitors also inspected the other chapels in the crypt and the architects' model of the completed cathedral.

General John J. Pershing is National Chairman of a committee which is now raising $6,800,000 for the completion and adequate endowment of major portions of the great edifice. Ultimately it is proposed to raise a total of $30,000,000 for the cathedral and its many associated institutions. When completed the cathedral will rank with the great church structures of the world affording standing room for 27,000 persons. Its great central tower when completed will rise 107 feet higher above the Potomac River than the Washington Monument.

the orchard growing section of the State.

During the afternoon, the exercises will be held at Dover. There will be a parade of floats in which a large majority of the communities' civic and industrial organizations will take part, depicting educational and historical features; and some communities will enter floral floats. It is known that more than forty floats will participate in this parade. There will be several bands to provide the music, and it will be one of the most colorful parades ever held in this State. The pageant, which is directed by Miss Edith E. Robertson, will be held on the historic Dover Green, the school children being the leading figures.

Miss Frances Robinson, the daughter of Governor and Mrs. Robert P. Robinson, will be the Princess. It is called "A Pageant of Spring," and there are four episodes depicting Spring, Summer, Autumn and Winter. Various insects and diseases will be portrayed and the orchardists will be shown successfully repelling them by spray. The participants will be in costume and the pageant promises to be a most spectacular one.

C. Douglas Buck will provide a large force of the State Highway Police, and Mayor Woodford, of Dover, will use the local police, assisted by the firemen, so that traffic may be properly guided, and there will be efficient handling of the crowd.

Weather conditions continue to hold the growth of apple trees, so that it is probable the Blossom Festival will be scheduled some time during the first week in May. Definite date will be announced by the newspapers and over the radio at least a week in advance.

Delaware invites every one to witness and take part in its first Apple Blossom Festival, and those who do, will enjoy a full day of beauty and splendor and will be favorably impressed with the beauties of the apple trees in full bloom and with the entertainment provided for them.

Headier, Incorporated, outdoor advertising agency of Wilmington, have donated two signs to the Festival committee, both of which are on the Philadelphia Pike, near Holyoak.

general organization are working. It will be a party given by the losing boys team in the magazine contest to the winning girls. There will be games, refreshments, and dancing to music by the school orchestra.

The annual New Castle County Track Meet, on Frazer Field, will be held on May 18. The various grades will have entries in the many events.

The Newark High School baseball team will play du Pont, at du Pont, Friday.

In the New Castle County Spelling Bee, held in the du Pont School, last Friday, Elizabeth Lanimon, of the Newark Junior High School, won fifth place, as alternate for New Castle County in the State contest to be held in Wilmington, May 3. The Spelling Bees are being sponsored in Delaware by the Wilmington Every Evening.

MODERN HEALTH CRUSADE

Thousands of children have been benefited in all parts of the state this year through the Modern Health Crusade carried on by the Delaware Anti-Tuberculosis Society, which is now distributing buttons, pennants, and certificates of honor to the children who have completed the course. How the children have profited is indicated in reports from their teachers sent to Miss Helen H. Thomson, Executive Secretary of the Society.

At the Woodside School No. 1, Elizabeth Smith, teacher, the children increased in weight from one to ten pounds. At the Mt. Pleasant School No. 2, at Holly Oak, Mrs. Levinia Wenger, teacher, has had many mothers tell her how glad they were of the crusade because it brought the children in the house early at night and kept them from late hours. Alice G. Baldwin, of Wilmington, No. 5 School (colored), states that the children have been impressed with the necessity of carrying out the daily chores. These children also have endeavored to make home conditions better and some have expressed their displeasure at coming to school sometimes in soiled clothing.

The schools in New Castle County that have finished the crusade so far, are: George Gray School, Wilmington, Amanda Palmer, teacher; New Castle Special District, Carrie Downie and Ruth Zimmerman, teachers; Mt. Pleasant School No. 2, Lavinia Wenger, teacher in charge; Arden School No. 3, Mae H. Danby, teacher; Hanby School No. 4, Lida P. Hanby, teacher; Walnut Green No. 25, Amelia B. Mullen and Bessie O'Neil, teachers; Center Grove No. 26, Catherine Cheney, teacher; Clinton No. 28, Agnes Ackerley, teacher; Ogletown No. 42, Jennie E. BREAK GROUND FOR NEW ENGINEERING BUILDING

Work of removing the top soil on the site of the proposed engineering building at the University of Delaware which is just south of Wolf Hall, has been started. The North Eastern Construction Company, of Baltimore, has the contract. It is hoped to have this building completed and ready for occupancy in the fall.

Ground has also been broken near the site of the old power house for the building to house the equipment of the R. O. T. C. of the University. The last legislature appropriated $4000 for this shed. When the local unit was changed from infantry to Coast Artillery the War Department sent some valuable equipment including large guns here to be used in the work and one of the conditions is that the University must provide the building to house the equipment.

FLYING SQUADRON MEETING

Albert G. Drummond, of Indianapolis, spent Friday in Newark, to arrange for a community meeting of the Flying Squadron Foundation, to be held at the First Presbyterian Church, Sunday afternoon, May 6, at 3 o'clock. Dr. H. R. Dinwiddie, of Washington, D. C., will be the speaker.

A Bit of Friendliness

The editor of a country weekly may not make a pile of money; but there are other items that may be added to the credit of the ledger, and the most worthwhile of these is the confidence and interest of our readers.

Last week, we were slow in making our usual calls for news. Before we had covered our list, a call came from a good friend. She was ready to take a car to go to the hospital where, the next morning, she would undergo a serious operation; she waited a moment to call us to give us some bits of news that she had gathered. "And if I hear of anything more," she added, "I'll have the folks call you."

We were deeply touched by her unselfish interest. That kind of a friend makes one feel rich!

HAVE WE LEARNED TO LISTEN?

One of the best ways to be a popular host or hostess is to ask intelligent questions and let your guests do the talking. Now, to develop the art of pleasant and gracious listening, let us ask ourselves these questions and do some thinking about them:

1. When you talk with a person, do you try to absorb what he is saying, or are you eagerly waiting till he has finished, so that you can say what is on your mind?

2. Do you ever sit relaxed and encourage someone else to talk by asking him intelligent questions, and actually get fun out of the experience? When a pause comes in the conversation, have you ever found out that it is better to ask a good question than to start to give your own ideas?

3. When you meet strangers, do you like to discover their interests by asking them questions, or is your plan of entertainment to tell them all about yourself?

4. Do you consciously try to talk to people about what will interest them, or do you talk about the same thing to everybody?

5. Do you really enjoy the pastime of finding out what other people are like inside, or are you really at heart indifferent to them? Does your chief joy come from your own plans?

6. Finally, when you are in an argument, do you defend your own ideas through thick and thin, or are you quick to see whether your opponent has a good point in his argument, and accordingly modify yours? When you argue, do you want to carry your point, or are you bright enough to take up a good point from your opponent?—Hidden Treasure.

STRONG LANGUAGE, BUT TRUE

The business man who meets with a bootlegger in his back office, thus becoming a party to a conspiracy to violate the prohibition law, has no right to complain if a bandit meets him in his front office. The man who does business with an outlaw need not be surprised if outlaws break in on his business. The business man or manufacturer who conspires with bootleggers to nullify the law is in a poor position to criticize Bolshevism and Bolshevism. The man who is willing to trade the Constitution of his country for a glass of beer, or a bottle of whiskey, needs to take instruction in patriotism and good citizenship. The newspaper publisher that defends and coddles liquor criminals, while condemning the enforcement of the dry law, is as much a traitor as was Benedict Arnold.—The American Issue.

THE WAY TO HEALTH AND HAPPINESS

Eat less, scold less, worry less, talk less, preach less, practice more.

Chew more, walk more, sleep more, smile more, read more, think more, and you'll live longer and be much happier while you live.

And the interesting thing about these suggestions is this: They cost much less money. If they were all expensive plans or extravagant ideas, you would probably adopt them, pay the price, and call the advice cheap at any cost.—Van Amburgh.

YOUTH LAUGHS LAST

A professor at George Washington University failed to show up on time for class. The young men waited fifteen minutes. No professor! The class evaporated. Next day the teacher avowed he had been "constructively present" because his hat had been on his desk.

On the third day the instructor entered the classroom to find the usual chairs, each with a hat upon it. American humor is still "constructively present."—Lafayette Journal and Courier.

"A DECENT DAY'S WORK"

If at the end of the day you can say that you have caused no unhappiness to any one you have met, that you have lessened no one's belief in life or mankind, that you have helped the discouraged and added nothing to the vanity of the ostentatious, then you have done a decent day's work.—London Express.

FARMERS CLASSIFIED

Professor of agriculture classifies farmers into two types—the "hoe" and the "cerebral." But the former merges into the latter when he knows enough to attack the weeds before they have grown out of bounds.—Portland Oregonian.

The newspaper, taken as a whole, is the most compelling and brilliant and deservedly successful phenomenon in modern literature.—Arnold Bennett.

"It makes very little difference whether a man is driving a tramcar or sweeping streets or being Prime Minister, if he only brings to that service everything that is in him and performs it for the sake of mankind."—Premier Baldwin.

"We are known by the company we keep—books we read or persons we associate with."

Infidelity Was Admitted Under Fear, Says Wife

Mrs. Price, Cecilton, Asks Open Court Hearing to Prove Innocence

That she was compelled, under threats on her life, by her husband, to admit false stories of misconduct, is one of the allegations made in the counter charge of Mrs. Addie J. Price, who is being sued by her husband, Alvah A. Price, of near Cecilton, for a divorce on the grounds of infidelity.

The hearing of the suit is to come up in open court before Judge Lew W. Wickes, in the Circuit Court, Elkton, on May 3, on the plea of the defendant, who now contends that statements that she made in the presence of State's Attorney Henry L. Constable and her husband, were made under duress. Usually in such cases, wherein both parties are local residents; the cases are first referred by the court to a referee, but Mrs. Price, in her counter charges, claims she is an innocent woman, and has been "horribly abused," and wants an open court hearing.

Mrs. Price makes the odd charge that her husband turned to a quarrelsome, fault-finding suspicious spouse when he stopped excessive drinking. It was then, she alleges, that he became morose, and given to imaginative misdeameanors on her part.

The defendant, in her answer to the bill of complaint, says that so far as she knows, her husband has been faithful to her as far as his association with other women is concerned but she denies that he has been faithful in every respect to her, and also denies that he has been an affectionate husband.

She denies having committed the charges preferred against her. She counter charges that the plaintiff, during the year 1927, drank intoxicating liquor to excess, and that about the first of the present year he ceased drinking to excess, but became morose and quarrelsome and imagined all sorts of crimes and misdeameanors against her. She alleges that he beat and bruised her and at the time threatened her life.

During the month of February last, she alleges, he again charged her with misconduct, and in order to save her own life, she admitted the charge he preferred against her. She charges that he threatened her life if she did not go with him the following day to see State's Attorney Constable, in Elkton, and admit misconduct. She alleges, that because of her fear, she did come to Elkton in company with the plaintiff and told the State's Attorney of such improper conduct, even though she knew she was telling a deliberate lie in order to save her life. She says she is an innocent woman and has been "horribly abused by the unreliable and unsupportable charges of the plaintiff."

Former State's Attorney Joshua Clayton has been engaged as counsel by Mrs. Price.

WOMAN, LIVING ALONE, FOUND DEAD IN HOUSE

A rather pathetic incident came to light yesterday afternoon, when Mrs. Lydia Cowden, an elderly woman, was found lying dead in a house which she occupied alone, back of Kennedy's Machine Shop, on Cleveland avenue. She had apparently been dead since sometime Sunday, as that was the last time that neighbors saw her. She was found lying on a couch and had apparently passed away in her sleep.

Neighbors, who missed her and found the house locked, notified Chief of Police Keeley, who had to break down the front door to gain entrance. He found her lying on the couch fully dressed. An unlighted lamp was in the room, and the fire in the stove had burned out. The lamp was full of oil and the chimney clean so it was assumed that Mrs. Cowden had laid down to sleep. Some baby chicks, which she had apparently brought in the house just before she died, were found alive in the room with her.

The body was taken in charge by Robert T. Jones and services will be held from his Funeral Home tomorrow afternoon, at 3. Interment will be in Head of Christiana Cemetery.

Mrs. Cowden had lived all her life near Head of Christiana and Cowden town. Her husband, Newton Cowden, died about two years ago.

Important Changes
In Train Schedules

Changes will go into effect the last of this month in the train schedules on all three of the railways patronized by residents of this community.

The passenger train on the Pomerooy Branch from Newark Center will make only one round trip each day, leaving here at 6:25 a. m. and returning at 6:05 p. m.

Daylight saving will make only slight changes in the schedule of the trains on the B. and O. Railroad. The trains will all run on standard time, but the train which was due here formerly at 7:20 a. m., northbound, will leave Newark at 6:20 a. m. In two other trains on that road changes of a few minutes have been made: the 11:16 a. m. northbound will leave at 11:15; the 8:56 southbound will leave at 8:54.

A great many changes have been made on the Pennsylvania Railroad. Leaving Newark, northbound, week-days, we shall now have trains leaving: 5:17 a. m., 6:34 a. m., 7:35 a. m., 8:32 a. m., 9:20 a. m., 11:18 a. m., 2:43 p. m., 4:37 p. m., 5:48 p. m., 1:08 a. m. The 9:08 has been discontinued. Southbound, week-days: 8:03 p. m., 8:27 a. m., 9:55 a. m., 12:11 p. m., 3:02 p. m., 5:01 p. m., 5:47 p. m., 6:45 p. m., 9:36 p. m., 11:28 p. m. The 10:28 a. m. and the 1:21 a. m. have been discontinued. On Sundays northbound trains will leave at 8:32 a. m., 9:20 a. m., 11:46 a. m., 2:43 p. m., 4:37 p. m., 5:48 p. m. (Sunday, only), 8:53 p. m. Southbound trains on Sunday will leave Newark: 8:27 a. m., 9:24 a. m., 9:55 a. m., 12:11 p. m., 5:47 p. m., 6:35 p. m., 8:24 p. m., 9:36 p. m., and 11:28 p. m.

GARAGE THREATENED

The Aetna Hose, Hook and Ladder Company was called out at noon Friday to extinguish a fire that was threatening to consume the garage of J. Pearce Cann, back of his residence on Main street. The exact origin of the fire is unknown, but it thought that a neglected rubbish fire had ignited a pile of shingles that were piled against the garage. The fire was discovered by J. Penrose Wilson, who turned in an alarm. When the firemen arrived they found the flames licking up the side of the building. The fire was put out before it could break through the wall of the garage.

On Friday afternoon, the Aetna Company responded to a fire in Stanton, that destroyed a large barn owned by W. Truxton Boyce. The barn was filled with new farm machinery, a large part of which was ruined. The Aetna Company did not go into action, as there were already all the companies at the fire that could find room to work.

WHAT TREES MEAN TO NATION'S PROSPERITY

North America, with one-twelfth of the world's people, uses about one-half of all the timber consumed in the world, says the Forestry Primer published by the American Tree Association at Washington.

There are 200,000 known kinds of tree-attacking insects. It is estimated that these cause a loss of one hundred millions of dollars every year.

The railroads of the United States use about 130,000,000 new wood ties every year. There are about 3,000 to the mile.

Something like 5,000,000 trees are cut annually for telegraph and telephone wires; we use 500,000,000 fence posts every year.

The forest fires in the United States cost us nearly a hundred thousand dollars a day.

There are eighty-one million acres of idle land in this country all of which should be put to work growing trees.

Millions of feet of pulpwood are used every year to keep the newspapers of the country providing you with the news of the day.

About two-thirds of the population uses wood for fuel. A greater amount goes to this account than for any other purpose.

Experts say our population is increasing at the rate of a million a year. We must grow trees for a growing people.

TAKE CARE OF WOODLAND

A fully stocked pine forest not only means a greater growth return upon the same investment in land and effort, but it assists itself in its own maintenance and propagation far more than can a ragged and patchy piece of woodland. Trees grown fairly close together, says the American Tree Association, make straighter stems and yield better grades of material.

A BIT OF FOOD HISTORY

That whole grain products contain valuable food principles and cereals is not a fad. It is a fact that has come as the result of years of careful study and research. The origin of the study along this particular line reads like a fascinating story. For centuries the people of the Orient especially the sailors, were troubled with a nervous disease—beriberi. This disease was not only wide spread but it carried a high death rate as well. Finally through the investigation of a Japanese naval officer, Takaki, followed by other investigations and experiments conducted by our own Army Medical officers in the Philippines. It was found this disease could be cured by adding whole grains, vegetables or unpolished rice to the diet. This, of course led into a more intensive study and scientific research.

Whole Wheat Products Higher in Food Value

Today, science tells us the whole wheat products are richer in protein, fat, minerals and vitamins than the highly patent flowers or cereals because of the inclusion of the outer layers and usually the germ of the wheat berry.

Vitamin B

The important vitamin in the whole wheat products is "B". This vitamin is essential to the health of all ages. The absence of it from the diet is first noted by loss of appetite, weight, and vigor. If the diet is not corrected collapse—beriberi, the dread Oriental disease and even death may follow. Vitamin "B" has a wide distribution in Nature, it is found in fruits, vegetables, leaves, stems, tubers and yeast.

Minerals Found in the Whole Grain

The minerals of importance which are found in the whole grain products are calcium, phosphorus and iron, all essential to health and growth. The iron is used by the body for blood and the calcium and phosphorus for the making of strong healthy bones.

The bran of the whole grain products give roughage to the diet. Over-refined foods lack bulk in the diet, and this accentuated by the habits of civilized life which inhibits the natural digestive processes makes constipation a common malady. Fad-dietists have over emphasized the eating of bran in great quantities. In some cases this can do even more harm than good. The whole grain products which offer not only bulk to the diet but food value accompanied with minerals and vitamins are valuable foods to include frequently in the menus.

Delicious Recipes Using Whole Wheat

smooth consistency. Fold into stiffly beaten egg white. Pour into a buttered baking dish and set in a pan of boiling water. Bake in a moderate oven (350° F.) about thirty-five minutes. Serve cold with soft custard or whipped cream. Serves five.

Whole Wheat Tarts.—¼ cup butter, 1 cup sugar, 3 tsp. baking powder, 1 egg, 2½ cups whole wheat flour, ½ tsp. salt, ½ cup milk, 1 tsp. vanilla.

Cream the butter and sugar, add beaten egg, then the dry ingredients sifted together and milk alternately. Add flavoring. Roll out on a thin sheet and cut out in circles. Put a spoonful of filling on one round cover with another and press the edges together. Bake in a moderate oven (375° F.).

NEED BOTH KINDS OF WOOD

Needs at the present time require a continuous supply of both softwoods, says the American Tree Association of Washington, which will send you for a two-cent stamp a Forestry Primer. For the past decade it appears that the demand for hardwoods has been in the neighborhood of one-sixth of the demand for softwoods. This refers to lumber only and does not take into account the other important uses of wood.

I love the man that can smile in trouble, that can gather strength from distress, and grow brave by reflection. 'Tis the business of little minds to shrink, but he whose heart is firm and whose conscience approves his conduct, will pursue his principles unto death.—Thomas Paine.

Delaware Track Team Swamps St. Joseph's

Take Ten Firsts and Pile Up Score to 83-43

Coach Doherty turned an agile, speedy Blue and Gold track team loose on Frazer Field, on Saturday afternoon, and they practically ran roughshod over St. Joseph's, carrying off the meet, 83 to 43.

St. Joe won but four of the 14 events and three of these were captured by Cuniff, the speedy St. Joe sprinter. He captured both the 100 and 200 yard dashes and the broad jump. He featured the meet by taking the 100 yard dash in a drizzling rain in 10 seconds flat equalling the track record. Considering the conditions this was remarkably fast time.

McMullin of St. Joe, won the one mile race, and Jamieson of St. Joe, tied Rose, of Delaware, for first place in the pole vault.

Parkinson and Paxson, of Delaware, each won two events. Parkinson captured the shot put and discus and was third in the javelin, while Paxson won both of the hurdle events. Altogether Delaware won nine events and tied one.

In the high jump Delaware took all three places, Garrett, Kerbin and Ruggerio tying for first place. After the St. Joe jumpers had failed with the bar at 5 feet 1 inch the three Delaware jumpers made it but decided to not any more jumps because of the weather conditions. Delaware also took all three places in the javelin.

H. Roser, of Delaware, ran a fine race to win the 440 yard dash, while Voysey, of Delaware, captured the two mile run and Wright of the Blue and Gold the 880 yard dash.

The summaries:

Shot Put—Won by Parkinson, Delaware; second, Mulligan, St. Joe; third, Baker, Delaware. Distance, 35.3-4.

High School Beats Smyrna Nine, 7 To 4

Mayer Fans 15, Allows 3 Hits; Newark Weak In Field and With Stick

Airtight pitching by "Winnie" Mayer, who fanned 15 and allowed only 3 hits, gave the Newark High School a 7 to 4 victory over the Smyrna High School baseball team, in a game played on the local diamond last Friday. The work of the Newark fielders left something to be desired and four errors gave Smyrna an opportunity to score. Smyrna was guilty of only one error. The Newark batters had some difficulty in finding the slants of Lamb, Smyrna moundman, and bumped him for only four bingles. The score:

NEW WEAPONS ENLISTED IN WAR ON MOSQUITOS

Armed with a formidable array of weapons, health authorities in many parts of the country have launched their annual offensive against mosquitoes. Poison gases, deadly acids and powders, oil, fish and birds are among the means employed for their extermination. Federal and State Governments will spend this year upward of $100,000,000 in the work.

Airplane dusting has proved efficacious and economical and will be tried on an extensive scale. A plane specially equipped for the purpose flies low over a mosquito swamp, spreading a Paris green mixture or oil. This method has been found to destroy from 80 to 99 per cent of the larvae in the swamps treated, and is cheaper and quicker than the old-fashioned hand spraying.

The use of oil to treat breeding places has proved valuable in many cases, especially to check the spread of the pest when heavy rains have made small ponds and pools of stagnant water.

The natural enemies that are also employed include many varieties of birds, bats, spiders, lizards and frogs, as well as many insects and plants. Dragon flies are among the greatest feeders on mosquito larvae. The bladderworts, plants living in marshes, have small bladders for trapping the larvae. One of the water ferns, known as Azolla caroliniana, is deadly to mosquitoes, according to the curator of the Brooklyn Botanical Garden.

Goldfish, minnows and others of their tribe devour enormous quantities of mosquito larvae. For this reason scientists have urged the propagation of them in waters that remain stagnant.

The State of New Jersey, for decades afflicted by the pest, is taking radical steps. Its Mosquito Extermination Society devotes thousands of dollars yearly to complete the work of stamping out the insect in the undrained salt marshes. The radio and motion pictures are used each Spring to disseminate information to householders as to how to rid their premises of mosquitoes. The 50,000 members of the New Jersey Federation of Women's Clubs and the school children and Boy Scouts of the State are pledged to wage a vigorous campaign.

Blue And Gold Nine Wins Opener Easily

Turns Back College of Osteopathy, 19 to 1, in 7-Inning Game; Team Looks Good

The University of Delaware opened its baseball season here last Wednesday, by slaughtering the Philadelphia College of Osteopathy, 19 to 1, in a seven inning game. The Delaware nine, with the exception of the outfield which made a couple of errors, showed promise of a smooth running, hard hitting machine. The Philadelphia visitors gave it little opposition, but the Blue and Gold had plenty of punch and pep.

Garrett pitched the first five innings for Delaware and allowed only one scratch hit. He was succeeded by Hall, a freshman, who pitched the remaining two innings, keeping the opposing batters hitless and fanning 8. Hall, who started out as a backstop, has been developed into a promising pitcher by Coach Rothrock.

The game scheduled with Drexel last Saturday, which was called on account of rain, will be played May 2. Delaware plays St. Mary's here, today, and Hampden-Sidney, here, tomorrow. On Saturday it will play Swarthmore, at Swarthmore.

COUNTRY CLUB BEATS WIL. HIGH GOLFERS

In the first match of the season, held last Saturday afternoon, on the local course, a team of twelve golfers of the Newark Country Club defeated the Wilmington High School golf team by one point in a point score match. The score was 6½ to 5½. Because of the rain, only 9 holes were played in each match. Newark won six matches and the High School boys won five. One match, between P. F. Pié, Sr. and H. A. Turner, Jr., was tied.

ZEV'S PROGENY READY TO BATTLE ON TURF

Five Youngsters Ready to Challenge Man-o-War Family

What charm is to a woman, luck is to a race horse. And that is one reason why the careers of a quintet of two-year-olds in the troupe of thoroughbreds, which will sport the green-trimmed white silks of the Rancocas Stable during the metropolitan turf season opening at Jamaica tomorrow will be followed with so much interest. For these juveniles—Zest and Zephon, colts, and Zevana, Zevelyn and Zalamea, fillies—are the first offspring of Zev, the luckiest race horse, as well as one of the greatest, which ever sped down the stretch of an American track.

Already it is being whispered among turfmen that if the sons and daughters of Zev inherit the magic luck of their sire as well as his courage, speed and stamina, the line of Zev may in time supplant that of Man o' War as the first family of the American turf, just as Zev during his racing days usurped the throne of Man o' War as the country's leading money winner. Zev, it should be said, was bred by John Madden and sold for $12,500 to Harry F. Sinclair, owner of the Rancocas Stable, as a yearling. Today he stands in stud at the Rancocas Farm in New Jersey.

So successful have been the get of Man o' War that their sire has been generally acclaimed as the greatest American stallion. The brilliant exploits of Crusader, American Flag, Mars, Scapa Flow and Edith Cavell, among others, are well known. In 1926, for instance, Man o' War's get collectively earned $358,612, the largest sum ever won by the offspring of any stallion during a single season, and the more surprising in view of the fact that Man o' War was represented by a comparatively small number of racers.

Thus a most formidable task awaits the offspring of Zev if they are to make a reputation for their sire at all comparable to that of Man o' War. In 1921, when Man o' War was retired to the stud with earnings of $249,465, it was believed that it would be many years before this mark would be eclipsed. A season later, however, Zev came along and in three years amassed $313,639, and the brown colt stands first today among the money-winning horses of the world.

Zev's Romantic Story

The story of Zev is, perhaps, as romantic as any ever told on the turf. And the high spots were crowded into his sensational campaign as a three-year-old, during which he won $272,008, more than any other American race horse has earned in a single season.

As if made to order for the son of The Finn and Miss Kearney, a unique opportunity was created in 1923 for an American thoroughbred to gain extraordinary fame and fortune. Not only were purses larger than ever before, but the opportunity suddenly arose for a match for a purse of $100,000. And as a result of the glamour of a race in which America and England met on the race track for the first time, plus the fact that radio broadcasting had come in, the winner of the event was sure to be the best advertised race horse in history.

Once Discredited

Zev made his debut as a three-year-old in the Panmonok Handicap—whose renewal will feature the card at Jamaica tomorrow—at the start of the New York racing season of 1923, and won the six furlong dash in the fast time of 1:12. But this victory was swiftly followed by a stunning defeat, the worst of his career. Starting as a favorite in the Preakness Stakes at Timlico, Zev finished next to last in a field of thirteen.

Discredited and almost friendless, with the notable exception of Earl Sande, who rode Zev in all of his races as a three-year-old, the brown colt was shipped back to New York instead of being sent on to Louisville for the Kentucky Derby. Sam Hildreth, trainer of the Rancocas Stable, felt that the colt would have little chance in the classic against practically the same field that had so soundly defeated him in the Preakness.

Sande, however, pleaded with Hildreth to give Zev another chance, insisting it was not the real Zev that had trailed home in the rack in the Preakness, but that the colt had been buffeted about at the post and kicked and losing his temper had refused to extend himself during the running. Not all jockeys know horses; Sande does, and so Hildreth decided to place Zev on probation.

On Tuesday of Derby week, the classic being invariably run on a Saturday, Zev got his chance. His fate trembled in the balance, however, as he paraded to the post for the Rainbow Handicap at Jamaica, for unless he demonstrated to Hildreth that he held a fighting chance for a place in the Derby his accumulation of a record sum was out of the question. This was one rainbow, however, at the end of which there really was a pot of gold, and Zev was to find it. The brown colt won the sprint in 1:12, his time for the Panmonok, and as a reward was rushed into a box car and shipped to Louisville.

In the Derby Zev got off tenth, but quickly forged past the horses that had shown him their heels in the Preakness and was leading at the end of a quarter mile, and maintained his advantage to the finish in the field of twenty of the best three-year-olds in the country.

How lightly his chances had been regarded by the public was demonstrated when the mutual betting odds were announced—19 to 1.

A series of brilliant victories followed the Derby, Zev capturing the classic Withers, Belmont and Lawrence Realization among others, until it was said of Zev, in regard to his rivals, "he breaks their hearts when he gallops." As a measure of his gameness, during the running of the Realization he split a frog, but completed the long mile and five furlongs in the fast time of 2:44 3-5.

FRIGIDAIRE The Best In Their Class

The Passing of the Globe Trotter

The spell of Phineas Fogg is broken. The globe trotter of song and story, carrying and notebook in one hand, umbrella in the other, counting globe-circlings and ocean crossings as so many hard-won victories, is vanishing. "No that people have stopped traveling," explain steamship line officials. "For they go farther and more often. But they do it differently. They take organized cruises and avoid the discomfort of making their own way in foreign lands."

On February 8, 1873, just 100 years ago, Jules Verne was born in Nantes, France. Ignored during his lifetime, he wrote many tales of airplanes, balloons, and submarines when such things were merely dreams; and he spun the legend of Phineas Fogg, a phlegmatic Englishman who toured the world in eighty days in the journey that has since thrilled countless schoolboys. But he traveled in the 1870s. Modern world voyages have acquired new comfort and speed. They have become commonplace.

Guides in every country of the world will remember Celeste J. Miller of Chicago for her thirty-one trips around the globe. At eighty-one she is still as eager for new scenes as at twenty-one, when she made her first circle, alone. All her 900,000 miles have been traveled alone.

"The Pacific Ocean is my front yard!" claims Frank Coffee, known as the American from Sydney, Australia. Since he set Dana's editorials by hand in New York half a century ago, he has been around the world twenty-two times.

Dr. Philip G. Peabody of Boston counts 126 crossings. He recently spent his seventieth birthday in Rome. Nelly Bly set out on the grand tour in 1889, bound to break the record of Phineas Fogg. She followed his route as nearly as possible, and her paper, the New York World, chronicled every adventure of her seventy-two days. Henry Frederick, one-time Park Row magazine editor, clipped eighteen days from this in 1903, then John Henry Mears of the New York Sun lowered the time to 35 days in 1913.

In July, 1926, just 400 years after the passing of Magellan, the first circumnavigator, Linton Wells and Edward Evans, aviators, set the present record of twenty-eight days, fourteen hours, thirty-six minutes and five seconds.

Not only speed, however, but unique modes of transit have held the spotlight. Thirty-three years ago, for instance, Capt. Josh Slocum traveled 46,000 miles in a thirty-foot sloop.

An Irishman went round in a 1910 model Ford. Some have chosen bicycles, roller skates. They have set out in reproductions of Viking ships, in rowboats, tiny schooners, Chinese junks. One experimenter designed a sort of half submerged submarine. Countless vagrants have chosen the gypsy trail, with their feet for locomotion and native hospitality for bed and food.

The chapters of American trading history glow with exploits of pioneers who circled the globe selling American goods. In 1794 Capt. John Boit, Jr., though only nineteen, blazed the trail to the Orient as mariner and trader. E. Wilhelm Droosten, Wilson D. Lyon, W. Tyrie Stevens, Leo Alexander, and James Birch, Jr., are among the living merchants who introduced many lines to foreign fields. V. A. Dodge has been trading around the world fourteen times since 1897, until the trip has become for him "just a nice ride."

The Circumnavigators' Club of New York, with branches in Australia, Europe and the Philippines, includes many of these, besides such prominent persons as General Pershing, John Philip Sousa, Ex-President Taft, Gov. Henry Allen, Ex-Governor-General Gilbert of the Philippines, Admiral Sims, Harry Lauder, John Henry Mears, and that Capt. Arthur H. Rostron of the Mauretania, who as commander of the Carpathia rescued victims from the Titanic.

"I have lived as firemen sleep, with boots at the foot of my bed," says Harry Corson Clarke, actor, who has played 755 parts in every country of the globe. He has been around the world five times.

In the constant trek to lands beyond the horizon, literary vagrants have, perhaps, found and given more joy than any others—those who wander for sheer love of wandering. From Marco Polo and Casanova, through Stevenson, to our own day, they have carried the tradition.

Sir Richard Burton's adventures in the nineteenth century read like a page from the Arabian Nights. He knew thirty-five languages and dialects, wandered from one land to another, sometimes British consul, sometimes disguised as Hindu or Mohamadan, known throughout India as "Ruffian Dick," or the "White Nigger."

Lafcadio Hearn drifted from his native Ionian Isles to England, to the levees of New Orleans, the South Seas, and the Orient, and his vivid word pictures have endeared him to countless readers. Bayard Taylor and Charles Godefrey Leland in the last century preceded Richard Halliburton in their youthful view of the world scene. A continuous stream of works has come from the pen of Harry Al- verson Franck since he first went vagabonding around the world in 1904-1905.

The organized world cruise now supplanting these more spectacular journeys began in 1910 when Frank Clark conducted 400 passengers of a Hamburg-American line steamer. In the 1926-1927 tourist season, six special globe-circling expeditions, aside from the regular tourist lines, set out, in the Southern Hemisphere.

Even so lately as 1922, twenty-five world-circling expeditions devoted to scientific and other purposes were being fitted out. Every large steamship line now sponsors at least one seasonal world tour, in conjunction with the tourist agencies—K. Y. M. in Christian Science Monitor.

ZEV'S PROGENY READY TO BATTLE ON TURF

(Continued from Page 8.) national Match Race. If Zev won it his earnings would surpass those of Man o' War. If he didn't his chances of accumulating a record sum were slim. And a few days before the race another crisis arose in the hectic affairs of Zev when the committee to select America's best horse to match strides with Papyrus began to fear that Zev, suffering with a cough and an attack of the hives, would not be in shape for the race. Admiral Grayson's My Own was rushed to Belmont Park as a substitute. The committee had practically decided to shelve Zev in favor of My Own when Lady Luck again took a hand. The day before the race rain fell in torrents, insuring a muddy track for the running, and, as My Own was known to be strictly a fast track runner, the committee had little alternative but to let Zev represent America.

Then against a vivid Autumn background of red and gold Zev—miraculously recovered from his ailments and clearly in fine form—paraded proudly to the post while 50,000 spectators in the stands looked tensely on. In a twinkling the two horses were off. Zev quickly went into the lead and held it all the way, galloping home five full lengths ahead of the gallant but tired Papyrus.

As a smashing climax to the year's campaign that had held so much melodrama came the match race with In Memoriam at the Louisville track. Into the breathlessly exciting two minutes of that race were crowded all that was Zev—his gameness, his speed and his endurance, and, above all else, his invincible luck.

Battling desperately the pair flashed under the wire locked together as closely as Siamese twins. Which had won? The crowd couldn't tell; even the judges hesitated. Tense moments elapsed—and then Zev's number went up.

And so it is little wonder that racing enthusiasts, with poignant memories of that great race, agree that if the luck of Zev is as potent in the stud as it was on the course, this season is likely to see the beginning of a great duel—the sons and daughters of Zev versus the sons and daughters of Man o' War.—H. Erwin Curtis, in the N. Y. Times.

IN MEMORIAM

In memory of Herman A. Messick. Tender Shepherd, Thou hast stilled Thy little lamb's brief weeping. Oh, how peaceful, pale, and mild On its bed, 'tis sleeping. And no sigh of anguish sore Heaves that little bosom more. In this world of care and pain Lord, Thou wouldst no longer leave him. To the sunny, heavenly plain Thou dost now with joy receive him.

Clothed in robes of spotless white Now he dwells with Thee in light. Oh, Lord Jesus, grant that we Where he lives, may soon be living. And the lovely pastures see That its heavenly food are giving. Then the gain of death we prove Though Thou take what most we love.

"Ester," questioned the teacher of a member of the juvenile class, "what is the difference between electricity and lightning?" "You don't have to pay anything for lightning," came the prompt reply.

ON CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

An interested reader has sent us the following excerpt from the lecture on "Christian Science" which was delivered by John Ellis Sedman, C. S., in Wilmington on April 12.

On one occasion Jesus said, in explanation of the purpose of his great work for humanity: "I am come that they might have life, and that they might have it more abundantly." Again he declared, "And this is life eternal, that they might know thee the only true God, and Jesus Christ, whom thou hast sent." What more important question can occupy the thought of any man or woman of today than this, How can I gain, and do all in my power to help others to gain, that understanding of God which is eternal life? We all know with what happy anticipation people journey to a new section of country in order to make their first acquaintance with some beautiful scenery which they have not seen before, or to become still better acquainted with the grandeur and beauty which they have previously enjoyed. We all know what joy has come into our lives through association with grand and noble men and women. Sometimes a single hour spent with one of God's noble men or noble women, stands out as something for which to be increasingly grateful down through the years. With what earnestness then, with what eagerness, should we embrace every opportunity to become better acquainted with our heavenly Father, the Giver of all good.

Recognition of the fact that God is forever governing His perfect creation, and that all contained therein is essential and is in its proper place, brings to the individual a sense of peace with regard to himself and all his fellow-men. It reveals the fatherhood of God and the brotherhood of man as eternal and unalterable facts. It dispels all indifference and all enmity. The loving mother cannot be indifferent to the welfare of her child, because she recognizes that its welfare is inseparable from her own. Similarly, one individual cannot be indifferent to the welfare of any other, when it has become clear to him that where material sense says there exists only an imperfect mortal, spiritual sense reveals man, made in the image and likeness of God,—man who is necessary and dear to God, and who exists to express God's perfect being.

Jesus taught his disciples that all men should call God, Father, as he did, and look upon themselves, in their true spiritual being, as sons of God. John, expounding Jesus' true theology, makes this remarkable declaration concerning the true being of man: "Whosoever is born of God doth not commit sin; for his seed remaineth in him; and he cannot sin, because he is born of God." Here we have a plain, clear declaration, in the inspired Word of the Bible, that the man whom God creates never sins or falls, but remains forever upright, pure, perfect, spiritual.

By this we do not mean that the human conceptions of man, or in other words mortals, are perfect. We all know that a false concept of something is not that something. Mortals are no more like the real spiritual man than false human concepts of God are like the perfect, eternal Supreme Being. False concepts can be changed and improved; and they need to be. Mortals vary according to the degree of enlightenment they possess concerning the real nature of God and man. Plato uttered a great truth when he said, "What thou seest, that thou beest." What mankind needs above all else is spiritual enlightenment. The highest type of humanity is the one who knows best what God and man are.

The wonderfully gifted man is he who sticks like a leech to a single purpose.

ter states that this is the only means by which the public attitude on the important question of prohibition may be obtained, and that it is the desire of the Association to know the true situation in Delaware. It says that the Association will refrain from any activity that might influence the outcome of the referendum, and asks that those in favor of prohibition maintain the same attitude. It concludes with the statement that every endeavor will be made to make the referendum a fair test of the attitude of the people of the state on the question, and that the findings will be published, regardless of the opinions that they may indicate.

A boxed note on the questionnaire states that the answers will be counted, whether signed or not, but that it is desirable to have them signed to prevent one person from making more than one return. It says that all signatures will be held strictly confidential.

The questions on the questionnaire, which were framed to concisely and comprehensively cover the whole question of prohibition, are as follows:

1. Do you believe that much harm results from abuse of drink under the prohibition laws that are in force in this country?
2. Do you believe that alcoholic liquors such as beer, wine, whiskey and gin may now be bought, illegally but freely by those who wish to buy?
3. Do you believe that the general disregard of prohibition laws is leading to other lawlessness?
4. Do you think that change in existing prohibition laws is needed?
5. If the sale of light wine and beer were permitted, do you believe that the call for whiskey and gin would materially decrease?
6. If you favor a change in our laws but do not want the old time saloon back, would you vote for a change that permitted sale of spirits, wine and beer through properly conducted and government supervised places of sale?

Should anyone find that he cannot give his true opinion of any of these questions in a single word, he can qualify his answers at any length he wishes to.

To Install 16 Hour Watchman Service at North College Ave.

Council demanded 24 hour watchman service. Mr. Hoskins replied that he had been instructed to offer only an 8 hour service. He stated that the railroad company were not in sympathy with the idea of installing watchmen or gates, as these were considered obsolete. The Council replied that the record of death at this dangerous crossing had offered conclusive evidence that the blinker lights were not an effective protection at this crossing. It was pointed out that no deaths had occurred at this crossing until the watchman had been removed. After some discussion, the Council agreed to accept a 16 hour service and Mr. Hoskins left, saying that he would try to have that recommendation approved.

Mayor Frazer attended a meeting of the Delaware Safety Council, held in Wilmington, Monday, and reported the meeting between the Council of Newark and Mr. Hoskins. It was voted at the meeting, that the Safety Council should write the B. and O. railroad, backing up the stand of the Council of Newark. This letter, which will not now be necessary, was to be signed by Lewis A. Drexler, president of the Safety Council, and by Walter Dent Smith, secretary.

A recent survey revealed the fact that there are in the attics and storerooms of this country 3,467,893 sets of an ancient Chinese game called Mah Jong.

IN OLD COLONY TIMES

Some quaint and curious customs relating to animals and birds recently came to light by the discovery of an old history of Cape Cod during the early years of the Plymouth colony. It is of interest to find that the town of Eastham as early as 1622 decreed that a part of every whale cast ashore should be appropriated to the support of the ministry.

Some fifty years later the crow and blackbird situation in this town became so serious an issue that each housekeeper was compelled to kill three crows or twelve blackbirds owing to the damage done by them to the corn. In addition to this obligation placed upon the housekeepers, the town voted that every unmarried man must kill three crows and six blackbirds while he remained single and not until the order was obeyed could he be married. How far this requirement succeeded in remedying the crow situation history telleth not.

All horses in the town were branded with the letter E to distinguish them from animals owned outside the township. Few vehicles were yet in use and walking was not considered a hardship or disgrace. The common method of travel was by horses fitted out with saddles and pillion. A man and a woman rode often together on the same horse, and sometimes a little boy rode before the man, and an infant in the lap of the woman. Horses were made to pace that they might carry their riders more gently.—Our Dumb Animals.

During the past year forty thousand gloves were left in underground or tube trains in London. The right-hand glove is hastily removed while the passenger digs into his purse for a coin. The discarded glove slips to the floor and in the owner's hurry to get off at the right station is forgotten.

In thirty European style, a business has grown up of selling single gloves to match these mateless relics. At this rate, the life of a pair of gloves in London should be a long one, for there are special shops also for rethumbing old gloves, or setting in a new finger when one digit has worn out before its time.

A story is going the rounds here of a New Yorker who dropped one glove as he was stepping into a train at Grand Central. As the train pulled out of the station, he realized his loss and quickly threw the remaining glove out of the window. To his staring seatmate he explained that one was of no use to him, and somebody might as well be stepping into a train at Grand Central. USE OF ALCOHOL

"The proper place for alcohol is in the engine, not in the engineer." This well-known dictum of Henry Ford was taken as a text by Dr. Caleb W. Saleeby, in an address given at the last meeting in London of the National Commercial Temperance League. "The time is rapidly approaching," said Dr. Saleeby, "when something will have to be done to deal with the pollution of the atmosphere in our cities by petrol-driven engines. Alcohol used to drive cars will not pollute the atmosphere and the supply can never fail. The soil will always exist, the sun will always shine, and therefore there will always be production of green leaves which can be turned into alcohol so that we can live on the income of sunlight." Dr. Saleeby agrees with Henry Ford that a product so abundant ought not to be wasted. But there are better uses for it, he points out, than to employ it as a drink.—Christian Science Monitor.

"Just as family patriotism gave way to tribal patriotism and tribal to national patriotism, I believe that we shall, if this world's affairs are to be carried on in peace, ultimately develop a world patriotism."—Sir Esme Howard.
