A film on the control of termites was presented by Harold H. Vigneulle, of Terminix Company, Wilmington, at the weekly Rotary Club meeting Monday evening. Program chairman was Alan Jones.

In a brief introductory talk preceding the film, Mr. Vigneulle explained that subterranean termites usually come to the surface to feed on cellulose products, principally wood and cotton.

The purpose of termites in nature, said the speaker bringing out a little-known fact about the insects, is to convert, through their feeding, the rotten stumps and vegetable matter in forest into humus for refertilizing the soil. The insects, he said, can be controlled but not exterminated.

PLANS FOR NEXT YEAR DISCUSSED BY P.T. A.

Executive Committee Considers New Projects

A number of proposed projects, including the securing of uniforms for the school band, aid for the school guidance program, and the installation of "steri-lamps" throughout the school were considered for action during the next school year by the Newark Parent-Teacher Association at a recent meeting of the executive committee in the school office, with President Earl Wyatt and other newly elected officers attending.

The "steri-lamps" have germ killing properties, it was said, and greatly reduce the number of colds and other illness where used.

The proposals will be presented for discussion and choice of action to the association in general at a future meeting. Meanwhile, the executive committee will welcome additional suggestions and ideas, it was said.

The work of the P.T. A. during the present school year was also reviewed with Supt. Wilmer E. Shue expressing the satisfaction of the school and the community with the efforts of the group in the furthering teacher salary adjustments and the plans for the new school building. He also thanked the group in behalf of the school pupils for the prizes awarded in those home rooms having the highest parent attendance at P.T. A. meetings.

The prizes, prints of famous paintings, were chosen by a faculty committee comprising: Miss Estelle Kinigh and Miss Mildred Leupold. The winning home rooms were Miss Irene Wilkinson's ninth grade; Mrs. Margaret Koellig's sixth grade, and Miss Jennie Smith's second grade. He further commended the association for its contribution to the Newark Recreation Program's Fund.

Operating committees appointed at the session will be announced later. The promise of a vigorous and interesting P.T. A. program next year, serving the needs of pupils and school, was made by President Wyatt at the conclusion of the session.

DR. C. DAY RESIGNS AT UNIVERSITY

Faculty Member Since 1931

Dr. Cyrus Day, associate professor of English at the University of Delaware and a member of the faculty there since 1931, has submitted his resignation to accept a professorship of English in September at the University of Colorado, Boulder, Colo. It was announced this week by Dr. W. Owen Sypherd, university president.

At the University of Colorado Dr. Day, who served as acting head of the English Department at the University of Delaware during the 1944-45 academic year, will teach graduate courses in Elizabethan Literature and will represent the English Department on that university's Committee on General Education.

On leave of absence during the present collegiate year, Dr. Day previously was in charge of the English program for A. S. T. R. P. students at Delaware, was president of the Faculty Club there in 1937-38, and was president of the local chapter of the American Association of University Professors in 1941-42.

In 1939, 1940, and 1941, Dr. Day organized and directed the Delaware Scholastic Press Conference sponsored by the University of Delaware which was attended by several hundred high school students from a four-state area. Dr. Day is the author of four books written and published during his fifteen years in Newark. They are: "The Songs of John Dryden," published in 1932; "The Songs of Thomas D'Urfey," published in 1933; "Sailors' Knots," 1935; and "English Song-Books, 1651-1702," a Bibliography, published in 1940. He also has contributed several articles to various philological journals.

Graduated from Harvard University with a B. S. degree in 1923 and from Columbia University with an M. A. degree in 1925, Dr. Day was an instructor in English at the University of Texas from 1925 to 1927. In 1927 he returned to Harvard where he studied for three years being awarded a Doctor of Philosophy degree by that institution in 1930. During 1930 and 1931 he studied at the Library of the British Museum in London and at the Bodleian Library at Oxford on a Sheldon Fellowship from Harvard.

In the summer of 1935 he returned to London and studied on a research grant from the American Council of Learned Societies.

Dr. Day is married to the former Camilla Downing, and they have two children.

LIMA BEAN ACREAGE IN DELAWARE TO TOP NATION

14,000 Acres
Allotted For Bean Growing
In Delaware

Agricultural statistics released by the U. S. Department of Agriculture of farmers intentions to plant this season indicate that Delaware will again move to the front in acreage planted in lima beans for processing.

Delaware leads the nation in planting intentions with 14,000 acres listed. This is a ten percent increase over last year. New Jersey is a close second with expectations of 14,000 acres.

Through continued research and demonstration plots, farmers in lower Delaware are expected to continue to lead in the production of this important processed food crop.

E. P. Brasher, head of the Department of Horticulture and extension horticulturist for the University of Delaware, reports that this season demonstration plantings will be made in lower Delaware to test new varieties which it is expected will excel varieties now generally grown.

One variety demonstration plot has already been planted on the Julian Townsend Farm, near Lewes. Later plantings will be made on farms in Kent and Sussex Counties.

One variety which will be tested is a development of the U. S. Department of Agriculture known as No. 243. This variety is expected to prove well-adapted to Delaware conditions because of its ability to produce high yields under adverse conditions. The quality is high for both canning and freezing.

Yields per acre of lima beans in Delaware rate second to California in the country. Last year Delaware's average yield was 1620 pounds of shelled beans per acre.

2 DISEASED DEL. FLOCKS

Poultrymen Are Warned

Newcastle Disease of poultry has been definitely found in two flocks in southern Delaware, according to H. R. Baker, poultry pathologist of the State Board of Agriculture. Newcastle Disease has been recognized in other countries for the last twenty years, and first appeared in the western part of the United States about ten years ago. Although the presence of this malady was discovered in a neighboring state in 1945, it did not appear in Delaware until last winter.

Because of the high mortality rate, and because little is known about the methods of spread of this disease, the authorities of the State Board of Agriculture wish to warn all poultrymen, especially broiler raisers, to guard themselves against the introduction of the disease into their flocks. Among the main practices to observe are to allow no visitors to enter the chicken houses, eliminate rats and sparrows, and properly dispose of all dead birds.

As the symptoms of this disease resemble those of other diseases such as epidemic tremors and the respiratory diseases, it is highly important that all suspicious cases be brought to the attention of the poultry pathologists in order to obtain a correct diagnosis and take prompt measures to prevent the spread of the disease.

Evictions In Delaware During May Rose By 239

Evictions in Delaware so far in May rose to 239, an increase of 27 per cent over the total of 188 evictions approved in April. John L. Walmsley, area rent director, said recently.

Mr. Walmsley said the evictions were authorized by his office for purchasers of homes who wished to remove the tenants from the newly acquired houses.

In April 269 requests for approval of evictions were received, and 188 were granted in the month.

Six months notice of eviction is required, Mr. Walmsley said, although veterans may obtain certificates to evict in three months if the veteran's present housing accommodations are inadequate.

PLANS TO REVAMP DEL. GUARD

Bacon Limits
New Guard To Pre-War Size

Approval of plans to reorganize the Delaware National Guard, with the proviso that it be limited to its pre-war strength of 1,400 officers and men, instead of the proposed expansion to 2,604, was given by Gov. Walter W. Bacon last week.

Tentative plans drawn up by National Guard officials with War Department approval called for 181 commissioned officers, 14 warrant officers, and 2,450 enlisted men.

In approving immediate organization of the National Guard, Governor Bacon maintained that a pre-war guard strength would be sufficient for Delaware's needs, and that any increase in strength if desired by the War Department should be financed by that federal agency.

Plans for the reorganization of the Delaware National Guard were presented to the Governor by Brig.-Gen. Paul R. Rinard, the adjutant general, and Col. John B. Grier, U. S. property and disbursing officer.

COUNCIL OF NEWARK

4000 CANS DONATED TO FOOD DRIVE IN 2 WEEKS

Over $300
In Cash Also Received In Collections

Approximately 4000 cans and exactly $300.61 in cash have been collected in Newark during the past two weeks of the UNRRA food drive, it was stated by the Jaycee food collection committee this week.

Major boost to the rising total was given by the highly successful campaign conducted recently at the Newark Public Schools, where Supt. Wilmer E. Shue reported 1247 cans and $157.19 in cash were turned in by the pupils.

While donations thus far have been exceedingly generous, officials said, many quarters have yet to be heard from. Contributions in Newark's stores can be doubled, it was pointed out, if everyone who enters drops a coin in the box by the cash register.

Cash returns from the store collection boxes thus far total $84.50.

Several noteworthy contributions from groups and individuals were listed: Rev. Evan W. Renne's Head of Christiansa Presbyterian Church, gave 70 cans and $30; the Rock Presbyterian Church, gave 20 cans and $2.05; two anonymous Newark citizens donated $50 each; the George Read Village contributed 57 cans; a Public School sixth grade with an attendance of 40 pupils gave over $40; and the Pleasant Valley School gave $9.00, which represents almost 100% contribution there.

Breakdown of the total cash receipts of $300.61 is as follows:

Lions Club, $6.70; Glasgow Home Demonstration Club, $9.00; Head of Christiansa Church, $30.00; Rock Presbyterian Church, $2.05; Newark Public Schools, $157.19; Newark Stores, $86.61; and Pleasant Valley School, $9.00.

UNIVERSITY GIVEN FHA GRANT FOR NEW DORMS

Temporary Buildings To Provide For 200 Students

One or more temporary dormitories providing quarters for 200 students will be set up on the University campus, it was revealed last week. Approval for the buildings was given by the Federal Public Housing Authority. Site for the temporary structures cannot be finally decided upon until more details regarding the buildings are known, a university spokesman said.

At the same time, a university committee announced that it will recommend increases in student fees and non-residents' tuition to the board of trustees of the university at its meeting June 15.

Gov. Walter W. Bacon approved the university's application for three buildings to house about 200 students, a university spokesman said. Whether one or three buildings will be sent here was not known. On the Governor's recommendation, the Permanent Budget Commission allocated up to $10,000 from the state emergency fund to furnish the dormitory units and to make them available for use by student veterans.

Granting of the university's request for the accommodations was revealed by all three members of Delaware's Congressional delegation—U. S. Senators C. Douglas Buck and James M. Tamm and U. S. Rep. Philip A. Tracy. They said the approval came from the New York regional office of the FPHA, which is the government's housing agency in charge of the temporary war housing units.

The dormitory may be one like that at Shipside, near Wilmington. Under the FPHA program such temporary structures are moved from areas which do not need them and erected at educational institutions or in other communities for the use of veterans.

OUTLINE METHODS OF PRESERVING VEGETABLES

Freezing Is Ideal Method
For Preserving,
Home Aide Says

With asparagus plentiful on the Delaware markets now, homemakers are planning to preserve a sizeable quantity for use next winter. According to Miss M. Gertrude Holloway, State home demonstration leader and Nutrition specialist for the Delaware Extension Service, canning asparagus is a highly acceptable method and will probably be used by the majority of women in the State.

For the more fortunate homemakers who have access to locker plant facilities, or have freezing units of their own, freezing is the ideal way to preserve asparagus. It is quick, and the flavor of frozen asparagus is comparable to that of the best fresh asparagus. Properly frozen foods retain substantially the same nutritive value as cooked fresh vegetables.

As is true of all frozen foods, the time between harvesting the asparagus and freezing it should be as short as possible. Two hours from the garden to the freezer is a good rule to follow. Only the young tender stalks should be used.

Cut asparagus in lengths to fit the carton you are using. If there are tender short lengths left, they may be cut in one or two inch lengths and packed in a separate carton, to be used for soup or seasoned with butter or bacon fat.

Wash thoroughly and remove any large scales. Tie in bundles and stand upright in kettle with stem ends in boiling water to about one-half the length of the stalks. Cover kettle and pre-cook three to four minutes. Cool immediately in cold running water. Pack in cartons. Seal and freeze as soon as possible.

The pre-cooking or blanching stops the action of the enzymes in the vegetable and insures good flavor in the frozen food even though it may be kept stored for several months. It also shrinks the vegetable before packing and conserves the natural color.

The amount of asparagus that each family freezes will depend on the appetites of the family, the size of the locker space available, and the availability of other foods later in the season.

Directions for preparing other fruits and vegetables for freezing may be obtained by writing to the Delaware Extension Service, Newark, or to the County Extension offices in Newark, Dover, and Georgetown.

RESEARCH ON PLANT DISEASE EXTENDED

University
Scientists
Working On New Project

Delaware growers of cucurbits—cantaloupes, cucumbers, watermelons and squash—are faced annually with a disease control problem that the Delaware Agricultural Experiment Station hopes to further eliminate through research, says George L. Schuster, Director of the Agricultural Experiment Station and Extension Service.

Director Schuster reports that the Experiment Station plant pathology department has developed a new project that will deal with the control of these crop diseases. The project will be conducted for a five year period.

Research work will be conducted by Dr. John W. Heuberger, associate research professor in the plant pathology department.

Plans for 1946 call for research plots on cantaloupes at the University of Delaware Agricultural Sub-Station near Georgetown, and on cucumbers at Wyoming in cooperation with the Libby, McNeill and Libby Canning Co. Squash diseases will be studied in cooperation with H. P. Cannon and Son Co. at Bridgeville. Research on watermelon diseases will begin in 1947.

According to Dr. Heuberger, the main objective of the research work to be conducted is the development of new fungicide sprays and dusts that will give effective disease control without reducing yields. Such a fungicide is needed in Delaware that growers can apply every year as a disease preventative.

Fungicides now in use on these crops give fairly good disease control but they tend to reduce yields. It is only in years of severe disease outbreaks that their beneficial effects overbalance their reduction in yields. In view of this, growers are hesitant about using these fungicides until disease becomes serious, then it is often too late for them to do much good.

Bread Shortage To Become Acute In June

Government officials and bakers predicted this week that there will be critical shortages of bread throughout the country within the next three weeks.

The prediction was made as the OPA prepared to order a "slight" increase in the price of white bread.

A bakery association spokesman said that current shortages of bread developing in the U. S. are "just the beginning." He predicted the situation would get increasingly worse unless the government took steps to provide more grain for American flour mills.

Food, Clothing, Furnishings Up 50 Per Cent Since 1939

Most of the things that make up the average family budget now cost more than 50 per cent more than they did the day war started in Europe, the Bureau of Labor Statistics said last week.

"Food, clothing and house furnishings costs, which represent 57 per cent of the budget for wage earners and moderate income workers, in large cities, are now a little over 50 per cent higher than in August, 1939," the bureau declared, in a report reviewing the steady climb in retail costs.

The consumer's price index now stands at 130.9 per cent of the 1935-39 average and three per cent above the average a year ago.

Plan of Improved Delaware Park

Wide roads, broad entrances and plenty of room to park automobiles are the keynote this year at Delaware

Park, where the horses will run for 30 days, starting yesterday at 3 p. m., eastern daylight time. This map shows a few of the changes made in the picturesque track so that the patrons can come to and from the grandstand with more ease. The three parking fields have room for more than 12,000 cars while special space has been provided for taxis and buses. High speed roads will carry the fans into and out of the track.

Increase In Living Costs Is Predicted

Dr. Claude L. Benner, vice-president of the Continental American Life Insurance Company, and a member of the graduate school faculty at the University of Pennsylvania, predicted recently that the costs of living will be increased at least 10 per cent by the end of the year, and forecast more labor troubles.

Speaking at a dinner meeting in the Hob Tea Room of the Alpha Chapter of the Tau Beta Pi, honorary engineering fraternity at the University of Delaware, Dr. Benner said: "We would be lucky to hold prices under a 15 per cent increase before very long, whether the OPA was renewed or not." He added that the influence of the 18½ per cent increase in wages has not yet been felt.

CANBY IS SPEAKER AT UNIVERSITY GRADUATION

Noted Literary Authority Will Be Commencement
Speaker, June 17

Dr. Henry Seidel Canby, nationally known educator, author, and literary authority—and a Wilmingtonian by birth—will deliver the commencement address at the University of Delaware on June 17 at exercises to be held in Mitchell Hall beginning at 11:15 a. m. (D. S. T.). It was announced today by Dr. W. Owen Sypherd, university president.

At the same time Dr. Sypherd announced that the Baccalaureate Service will be given on the preceding day in the same hall at 11:00 a. m. (D. S. T.) by the Rev. F. Raymond Baker, pastor of the Second Baptist Church, Wilmington, for nearly 17 years.

Now chairman of the editorial board and an associate editor of the Saturday Review of Literature, Dr. Canby has a long and distinguished career in letters. For many years a professor of English at Yale University, he has contributed to the Encyclopedia Britannica and has written many text books, especially in the field of the short story. He is also well known to thousands of American book readers as chairman of the board of judges for the Book-of-the-Month Club, which position he has retained since 1926.

In recent years Dr. Canby has written such widely-read books as "Thoreau: A Biography" and "Walt Whitman, An American." He is also known locally as the author of "The Brandywine," published in 1941 as a part of the popular Rivers of America series.

During World War II Dr. Canby served in the capacity of a consultant to the Office of War Information and in World War I performed valuable liaison work for the British Ministry of Information.

President of the College English Association since 1943, Dr. Canby also is a member of the Modern Language Association, the National Institute of Arts and Letters, and the American Association of University Professors.

The Rev. Baker, who in 1937 served as president of the Wilmington Council of Churches, recently was named chairman of a committee to formulate recommendations to be made at the International Conference of Christians and Jews which is to be held in Oxford, England, in August. His appointment to that post was announced this month following a seminar held in the Hotel DuPont under the sponsorship of the Middle Atlantic Region of the National Conference of Christians and Jews. Its purpose is to help foster better human relations. The Rev. Baker served in the Army in World War I and a few years later entered the Bible Institute in Chicago, Ill. He then studied at the University of Pennsylvania and later was graduated from the Crozer Theological Seminary, Chester, Pa.

Other events scheduled for the commencement week-end include a senior dance in the Women's gymnasium at 9:00 p. m. (D. S. T.) on Saturday June 15; the university president's reception for graduates, faculty, alumni, and friends of the university in Warner Hall at 4:00 p. m. (D. S. T.) on Sunday, June 16; and vesper music in Mitchell Hall at 8:00 p. m. (D. S. T.) on Sunday evening.

Services will be held in the afternoon at the Head of Christiana Presbyterian Church this Sunday. Sunday School will begin at 1:30, and the church service will follow at 2:30 o'clock.

The various Sunday School classes will discuss the lesson "Expressing Our Friendship for Christ."

The pastor, Rev. Evan W. Renne, will begin a series of four sermons on the theme, "Our Protestant Faith," using as the subject of his first sermon, "What Christianity Means to Me."

Children's Day will be observed on Sunday, June 9, at 10:30 a. m. with a special program, "Bearers of Light." All are invited to attend.

What's your score in this Money quiz?

Q. Will money make the mare go?

A. Yes, sir! Of course it doesn't mean putting your hay-burner on a diet of dollar bills. But this old saying does emphasize the fact that an income of hard, cold cash is necessary for the existence of any individual, any family, any business. Every dollar you put into Savings Bonds now, assures you an income—in hard, cold cash—later on, when you may want or need it most!

Q. Are a fool and his money soon parted?

A. They usually are! But fortunately you and millions of other Americans are no fools. You've learned that the Payroll Savings Plan is the safest and surest way of piling up dollars for your future. That's why wise Americans keep on buying Bonds through the Payroll Plan—why they keep all the Bonds they buy!

Q. Does it take money to make money?

A. It sure helps! And just about the best way to put your money to work is in U. S. Savings Bonds, where the $75 you invest today will come back as $100 in 10 years. So, if you want your money to make more money—if you ever expect to have enough to buy a home, or to travel, or to quit work for good—put every dollar you can spare into U. S. Savings Bonds!
