Fraternities Hold Special Rush Week For New Freshmen

For the first time in the history of the University of Delaware the fraternities are holding second Rush Week of the year. Starting yesterday, Rush Week will continue until this Friday, February 12.

This special Rush Week is for the benefit of the twenty-five freshmen who entered the college at the beginning of this term. They are permitted to visit the fraternity houses any time during the day from 8:00 a. m. to 8:00 p. m.

The usual "silent period" will start at 8:00 p. m. Friday. From then until the pledge lists are released by Dean Dutton, freshmen are not permitted to enter the fraternity houses or discuss fraternities with any of the fraternity men. Saturday morning, during the regular hours that the Dean's Office is open, the freshmen who are interested in fraternities will go to that office and indicate their first and second choices of the fraternities they wish to pledge. At the same time, the fraternities will send their choices to the Dean's Office. The two lists are then combined, and those names that are on both lists will compose the pledge list which will probably come out next Monday.

Rush Week this year is somewhat different from those of the past. In former years, the fraternities held smokers, entertainments, and house parties for the freshmen. This term all of these have been omitted, and the fraternities will all just have a week of Open House for the new freshmen.

Records of Del. W.P.A. Now in Mem. Library

From the Memorial Library this week comes news that the "real" due from the now-abandoned W. P. A. project in Wilmington is being turned over to the Memorial Library. The material includes books, pictures, and records which the office kept. Although much of it may duplicate the papers already in possession of the library, there are some documents which may prove valuable for source material.

It has also been announced that the Library will again be open on Sunday evenings from 7:00 p. m. until 10:00 p. m.

William D. Lewis, librarian, announces that the Wilbur Wilson collection of 475 maps of Newark and vicinity has now been completely indexed and cataloged. However, the most interesting news item of the week from the Library must be withheld until the next issue of the REVIEW. Watch for this.

For three years of varsity football service awards went to the following men: Bogovich, Paul, Newcomb, Hancock, and Baer.

The awards were presented by Dr. J. Fenton Daugherty, chairman of the Athletic Council.

Conspicuously absent were many of the above recipients because they are now serving in the armed forces of our country.

Jack Carrow is Elected to Kappa Alpha Presidency

Beta Epsilon Chapter, Kappa Alpha Order, held its annual election of chapter officers on January 27, 1943. John W. Carrow, III, was elected Number I; Peter J. Zannoni, Number II; and W. Drexel Peirce, Number III. These three offices correspond to president, vice-president, and secretary, respectively.

Jack Carrow, the president elect, is a Junior Civil Engineer. He became active in October, and from that time, he has been an interested and able asset to the Chapter. Jack was a member of KA's championship intramural football team, and at the present he is giving his all to the Chapter basketball team. In addition to this, Jack has a part in the play being presented in conjunction with the Campus Playbill. He is also taking the advanced R.O.T.C. course.

The new Number II, Pete Zannoni, is very well-known on the campus. He is a Junior Chemical Engineer; a member of A. I. Ch. E., and he served on the committee for the K. A. Formal.

Pierce, the new Number III, is also a Junior Civil Engineer. Along with Carrow, he is taking Advanced Military, and has a role in the Chapter play.

Watch next week's REVIEW for an important announcement!!!!

A recent announcement of the War Man-power Commission revealed that the University of Delaware has been selected to serve as one of the institutions for training engineers for the War Department. Delaware is one of 281 colleges and universities which are to be used by the Army and Navy for training scientists and other specialists. The only other nearby college approved is Swarthmore, for training engineers for the Navy.

Notice

Due to a recent ruling of the Post Office Department, this paper can no longer accept subscriptions for men who are overseas in the Armed Forces unless a written request is received by the REVIEW from the soldier.

Free subscriptions can still be entered for former Delaware students now in the Armed Service stationed in the United States.

Tryouts for E 52 'Allison's House' Begin This Week

After several months of deliberation, the Play Selection Committee of the E 52 Players has chosen "Allison's House" by Susan Glaspell for the major production of the Players this term. A definite production date has not as yet been set, but will probably be the first week in April.

Tryouts, open to any student of Delaware College or the Women's College, will begin Monday, February 22. Definite times for the various tryout scenes will be announced soon. A number of copies of the play are now on reserve in the Memorial Library. All persons desiring to participate are urged to read the play and to study the specified tryout scenes, page numbers of which are listed in University Hall and in the Library.

The play, a Pulitzer Prize winner, is a beautifully constructed story of the effect of Allison, an inspired and wistful poetess, on the other members of her family. The period of the play is December 31, 1899, fifteen years after Allison's death; the scene is the beautiful old country residence where Allison spent her entire life. Allison's story closely resembles that of Emily Dickinson, although Miss Glaspell insists that her play is not intended to be biographical.

Mr. Robert L. Durkee will direct the play.

Schulman Named S.T.P. President

Morton Schulman was elected chancellor of Delta Chapter, Sigma Tau Phi Fraternity, on February 3, 1943. Schulman succeeds Harry M. Zutz, past chancellor of the fraternity.

Other officers elected were Stanley H. Bell, vice-chancellor; Seymour Bellak, Busar; George Samuels, Recording Secretary; Herman Fishman, Corresponding Secretary; Gilbert Spiegel, Senior Student Council Rep.; Mark Jacoby, Junior Student Council Rep.; and Louis Pais, Sergeant at Arms.

Morton Schulman is a Junior Chemistry major and a member of the advanced R. O. T. C. He has (Continued on page 6)

The selections were made by WMC and the War and Navy Departments. It was emphasized that this is only a first list with additional institutions to be announced from time to time.

President Walter Hulihan said that he has had no direct information on the nature of the courses that the university will be asked to give enlisted personnel, or when the courses will be established.

The government will offer a contract, he said, providing for payment to the university of the costs of providing the training for the enlisted men. The basis of payment will be the fees charged non-military students now.

Dr. Hulihan pointed out that the government will not take over the university or interfere with its administration. Enlisted men will be assigned here for training, he explained, and these men may be the university's present students, or men sent directly from active service.

An officer will be assigned as liaison between the Army and the enlisted students, and the men will be subject to military discipline, but teaching and administration will remain in the hands of the present civil authorities.

The program will relieve the state of none of the expenses of maintaining the university, Dr. Hulihan added. The federal government will pay only the actual expenses of men assigned to the Newark campus, replacing those previously lost to the armed forces. The university's income will remain substantially the same.

At Washington, it was stressed that listing of the colleges coincides with adoption of a policy designed to safeguard the health, welfare, and education of youth. Principal provision of the policy is:

"It is essential that young people have the fullest possible opportunity consistent with the war effort to complete their education. Those with special aptitudes and capacity for further training should continue their education in order to develop their maximum abilities applicable to the war and post-war needs."

All Class Periods Now Begin 10 Minutes Later

Dean Dutton has announced that beginning on Monday, February 8, 1943, all classes and laboratories will begin ten minutes later than at present. For example, the first period will begin at 8:10 a. m. and close at 9:00 a. m. The program of classes and laboratories will be as follows:

8:10 to 9:00 a. m.
9:10 to 10:00 a. m.
10:10 to 11:00 a. m.
11:10 to 12:00 noon

1:00 to 1:50 p. m.
2:00 to 2:50 p. m.
3:00 to 3:50 p. m.
4:00 to 4:50 p. m.

The foregoing revised schedule is designed to meet transportation problems. Beginning on Monday, February 8, 1943, every student will be expected to report for his classes on time.

A SECOND RUSH WEEK

For the first time, the fraternities on the campus are holding a second Rush Week. January Freshmen—this Rush Week is solely for your benefit, and it is up to you to make the most of it.

You have probably noticed that none of the fraternities had approached you on the matter of joining a fraternity until Rush Week began yesterday. But don't think for a minute that the fraternity boys weren't paying any attention to you. Ever since the day you came to the University of Delaware they have been watching you to see if you are the kind of person they want in their house.

Now it's your turn. Before you decide about which fraternity you want to join, you should look them all over. To help you do this, the fraternities are holding Open House all week. You should spend some time in each of the houses, meet the members, look the house over, and find out everything possible about the fraternity.

The choice of a fraternity is one of the most important decisions you will have to make while you are in college. Remember, in the fraternity which you select will be the boys that you will be very closely associated with while in college. They are the boys you will have to live with. They will probably develop into life-long friends.

Keep all these things in mind as you visit the fraternity houses, and think of them as you make your final choice.

ODDS AND ENDS

During the past two months, with an issue only every other week, all sorts of little things have been cropping up about which we wanted to comment, but just couldn't find an opportunity to do so. Therefore, we are taking this chance to remark about a few of these odds and ends.

At its last meeting, the Board of Trustees moved that the new dormitory be called "Brown Hall." We don't believe that a more suitable name for the building could be found. H. Fletcher Brown has played an important part in the development of the University, and this gesture is a fitting tribute to him.

As described elsewhere in this paper, the Student Council has given the Red Cross the use of its meeting room. The Red Cross is certainly a very worthy cause and deserves all the help that can be given. We think that this act is one of the most notable that the present Council has completed.

We are glad to hear that Firmin Swinnen is returning to the campus. We missed his concerts last term, and are looking forward with pleasure to the approaching series.

Dr. Squire leaves for the Navy Thursday. We are sorry that he has to leave the University, but, of course, he must go where his duties are most needed. In the same breath we want to welcome Dr. Squire's successor, as well as the other new instructors, to the University of Delaware.

Incidentally, we are glad to announce that arrangements have been made so that we can publish a REVIEW each week from now until the end of the term.

Watch next week's REVIEW for an important announcement!!!

Little Lessons in History . . .
Ever hear the expression "Tell it to Sweeney?" It originated long before "Tell it to the Marines." Here is how it came about.

In a tiny New England town whose name is larger than its population, lived a scrawny little fellow who loved everybody. His name was Sweeney and he was as Irish as a blade of grass is green. Everett Percival Sweeney was famous in his profession—best silver-plate etcher this side of the Atlantic—but he was very unhappy. He liked to be free—maybe that's why he was a bachelor (though folks tell of how he did fall in love once but the young lady talked him out of it). So much did he like freedom that he talked it, ate it, and slept with it.

One night, Sweeney had a strange dream. He was in a land of midgits and he was eighteen feet tall and strong enough to crush a bull to death with the fingers of his mighty hands. And miracles of miracles! when he awoke, he discovered that his feet stretched way beyond the foot of his bed and his head hung a good six feet off the other end. Yes, Sweeney was eighteen feet tall. He got out of bed and his head crashed through the ceiling and up into the cloudy skies. Sweeney was confused—he thought he was still asleep but a hearty pinch disproved that.

Sweeney was really worried for his hands were too large and clumsy for the delicate work of silver-plate etching. He didn't know what to do—that is, not until he suddenly realized that maybe someone made him so big so he could push Europe back a few thousand nautical miles so that there would be no danger of foreign elements imposing their will on Sweeney's friends.

Sweeney went down to the local shoemaker's shop and ordered two huge boots—the biggest boots ever made. Then he went home and prepared himself for the tremendous task of pushing back a whole continent. He worked close to a year doing calisthenics, getting plenty to eat and sleep, and studying all the maps of Europe so he could place his hands exactly on the right spot for the mighty shove. Finally he was ready.

He swam across the Atlantic in the still of the night and reached Europe early the next morning. At the same instant, he heard a crash behind him and turning around, he saw that he had pushed so hard, Japan was sitting on California's lap. Yes, Sweeney forgot the world was round and if he shoved in one place, the other would come around and crash into the other side of his continent. He swam back, raced over America from east to west, and shoved Asia back to its normal position.

Quite exhausted, he sat down on the Grand Canyon and decided to think the issue out. While deep in concentration, he fell asleep and dreamed he was two Sweeneys—each nine feet tall. A heavy rain awakened both Sweeneys and they looked at each other in amazement. After introducing themselves, they sat down and held a little tete-a-tete. I don't know what they said, but a few hours later they leaped to their feet—one traveling East and the other West. One reached Europe and placed his hands on France and Norway. The other, at the edge of Asia, placed his hands on India and Japan. They grunted and groaned and finally felt the land giving way. To make it short, the whole blamed business crumpled like an accordion and beautiful music flowed from the instrument—music of people singing and laughing and crying happily.

But every lesson in history has its moral—so if you should ever think that you can do a big job with one little push, you can tell it to Sweeney—both of them!

One of the largest classes ever to receive silver pilot's wings was graduated from the Army Air Forces Gulf Coast Training Center. New pilots from the University of Delaware include Lieutenant Chas. Lieutenant Leonard L. Lipstein tells us he is stationed in North Africa with the internationally known General Jimmie Doolittle. Lt. Lennie reports that he has found a fourth hand for his favorite card game pinochle which makes him perfectly happy. What the Army won't go through to satisfy its sons! He writes as follows:

Dear "Review,"

I received the second issue of the Review yesterday and was glad to hear from my alma mater.

I am now in North Africa, and with Gen. Jimmy Doolittle's assistance, I hope to finish Rommel off very shortly. Seriously, things look pretty good for us. All we need is a tailback like Paul Hart and we'd be unbeatable.

I heard that Delaware was undefeated again this year. My belated congratulations to all the boys on the team are enclosed.

I would love to tell you of some of the more thrilling incidents since my departure from the States, but, unfortunately, censorship prohibits it.

Well, keep the Reviews coming. Your ex Bus. Mgr.

Hen Scratches

DOUGHERTY AND PIPER

A most fruitful week has this one been, netting two swimming victories, a sparkling wrestling debut and two more dumpings on the boards which, happily enough, no one seems to mind.

IN THIS CORNER . . .

The mat team, of which everyone had heard plenty and seen little, smashed into the limelight with an abundance of skill and muscle to smash the Sho'men despite the loss of a bevy of stars. Octopus Laur-elli, master of the art, is a cinch to be a big drawing card, but the crowd's heart, come what may, will be with Chubby West. Like something out of the current movie, Gentleman Jim, he gave the match a little of yesteryear's atmosphere of black cigars, derbies and big men.

The ref for the contest kept his eyes open for more reasons than one for it seems that he is the coach of the Swarthmore outfit whom the Hens tackle Saturday night. The Gentlemanly Garnet, making their first bid in the grunt and groan racket, have already blasted Temple and may out-squeeze the Hens. Behind the horn-rimmed glasses and unshorn mops there must be some real bone and gristle.

CALCULUS 406 . . .

After the Hens had narrowly out-splashed Loyola to rack up their third successive win, mentor Shields sighed, murmured, "I had to use calculus to win that one." He wasn't stretching it far because it took a lot of paper work and talent juggling to beat the Stelgass brothers by a lone point. The men who won the meet: Coulter and Frankel who sweated blood to account for an all-important four points.

Coach and Captain Hank Steingass, one time 4th ranking Eastern Intercollegiate century champ, promptly challenged the Hens to a return meet Saturday night in Newark. Delaware, needing the time to polish up for the Teachers on the 20th., would be stupid to accept, but if the Baltimore speed demon gets his way a scorching meet is in the offing.

Awards and medals being the thing these days, this column would graciously present the Clair Bee Loving Cup, if there was a Clair Bee Loving Cup, to Freshman Basketball Coach Norm Lord.

While overseeing his charges one afternoon in January, Coach "Buddy" was approached by a reporter seeking to determine the merits of his basketballers. "My first team? That's it out there, except Jack Lewis plays at center. And you should see the left hand shot that kid has, Buddy. Mark my word, he's liable to be on the varsity pretty soon."

So we marked his word, and now Coach Lord can add the title of Prophet to his list of capabilities. It's all yours, Norm.

The Hens always win one the hard way, and this season they did it by knocking Drexel out of the undefeated ranks. The Dragons were winners of four games, including a victory over P. M. C., until the Hens reversed them.

True, basketball fans missed Angelo Musi and Marty Passiglia when Aberdeen came to Newark, but were still rewarded with a fancy exhibition of court tactics. The underdog Hens gave them a chase until the soldier power began to pull away in the third period. Carol Hauptle, who kept the Hens in the fight during the second quarter with four pivot shots, bids fair to become an ace pivotman with more training.

Tankmen Win 3rd Meet By Close Win Over Loyola Col.

Coach Joe Shield's tank squad churned the waters of Evergreen Pool in Baltimore last Saturday night to hand Loyola College its first setback in ten meets. The Hens swam their way to a well-earned 38-37 victory.

Although the Greyhounds won the greater number of first places, five out of nine, the Blue Hens had a sufficiently powerful squad to land the required points in seconds and thirds.

Trailing 34 to 25, with the 440-yard free style event coming up, Loyola might have won the meet had they been able to garner either a second or a third in this event. They won the event but Catts and Taylor of the Hens finished second and third respectively to give the Hens four points and ultimate victory. The seven point increase in the Loyola score by virtue of their winning the final relay event was then no longer able to effect the outcome.

Harley Funk, Blue Hen backstroke specialist, not only won the 150-yard backstroke event, but lowered by a tenth of a second the pool record set by his brother Dave, a former Delaware swimmer. The new mark is 1 minute 50.2 seconds.

Delaware's next meet will be with St. Joseph's College of Philadelphia in the local pool Saturday.

Intramurals

Intramural basketball is entering the second half of play with hard fought games the men for followers of the respective Red, White, and Blue leagues.

In the Red league, Sigma Nu emerged as the first half titleholder by coming from behind in the last quarter to defeat Sigma Phi Epsilon by the score of 21-20. Every player participated in the scoring in the late surge which netted twelve points and erased the 20-9 lead held by Sig Ep at the start of the period. Bill Morton's team play and shooting was outstanding for Coach Ben Crescenzi's five.

First half champions in the White league were the Nailbenders. Under the leadership of Jay Wingate the Benders romped through their schedule without loss. Plaudits also to Jimmy Moffet who had a hot hand on several timely occasions.

Glisson, Coulter, et al of the Training House Hot Rocks paced their team to the first half title in the Blue league. A hard fighting Blue Hen Chick team battled the Rocks on even terms throughout the game only to go down to defeat, 34-32.

The complete results of the first half are:

Wrestlers Win First Home Meet By 25-13 Victory Over Washington College

Last Friday evening, after the presentation of awards to the football, soccer, and cross-country athletes, the University of Delaware introduced its first wrestling team to the student body. Under the able coaching of W. "Shack" Martin the Blue Hen wrestlers defeated a strong Washington College team by a 25-13 score.

Basketball Team Loses Three Close Games in Week

The University of Delaware experienced another week of setbacks, when they suffered three defeats in a row last week. The Hens who have been a hard luck team ever since they dropped a heart-breaking 39-38 game to a strong Rutgers team continued to lose the close ones. The Delaware combine has now dropped ten of the eleven games it has played.

On Tuesday of last week, the Blue and Gold traveled to West Chester for a return game with the Teachers. The Teachers had triumphed in an earlier game on the Hen's court 27-23. This time, the game went for two extra periods before the Delaware team was subdued 47-45.

Playing at home the following Thursday against an exceedingly powerful Aberdeen Proving Grounds team who had only been beaten by the Wilmington Bombers of the American Pro circuit in an extra period, and who had trounced Pennsylvania for the Red and Blue's only defeat of the season, the Blue and Gold put up a valiant fight but succumbed 42-32. Moe Becker, former All-American from Duquesne University was the spark that provided the winning margin for the soldiers.

On Saturday night, the Hens met the Western Maryland Terrors in a return Mason-Dixon Conference game and again a close game resulted. On the Green Terror's floor earlier in the season the Blue and Gold were downed 35-24.

The Western Marylanders who are currently leading the conference, exchanged the lead with the Adkins-coached team and only a final period rally enabled them to gain their 32-29 win. After a close scoring game with first one team and then the other gaining the lead, the third period closed with the score deadlocked 25-25.

The final period rally was enough to give the Terrors victory and to also inflict Delaware's tenth defeat of the season.

The Coaches' Corner

prop: Bob Levine

Each week, till we run out of coaches, one of the sports mentors of Delaware will make known his views on some phase of athletics. For our leadoff column, we decided to interview the man who was instrumental in bringing the Blue Hen football team to its first perfect season—head football coach Bill Murray.

Bill Murray has just completed three years as football coach at the University, and in that time he has converted a consistently bad Delaware team to one which completed the last season with an undefeated string of 21 in their possession.

Bill learned his football at Duke University, where he was an all-Southern half-back in 1930. In his senior year he was voted the most valuable Duke player. In 1931 Bill graduated with a B. A. degree in history and economics.

Murray is a native of North Carolina, is married, and has three daughters.

Well, the first thing we asked Bill was the all important question of the "place of sports during the war." He had a quick answer for that one.

"Sports has made three great contributions to the war," he told us. Here's how he listed them:

1. The greatest contribution to warfare is the teaching of muscular coordination. This has been developed chiefly through the everyday practice of the throwing of baseballs, footballs, and basketballs.

2. The pure physical hardening of boys for toughness and endurance.

3. The building of competitive morale.

"Then," we asked Bill, "you believe that sports should remain during the war?"

"Yes," he told us. "Sports should be carried on as far as possible." Then he brought up the point which sums up the argument in a nutshell.

"Sports should be carried on," he said, "BECAUSE OF THE PHYSICAL AND INSPIRATIONAL VALUE TO YOUTH, AND THE MORALE VALUE TO THE GENERAL PUBLIC."

Bill believes that sports should be carried on in the universities on an intercollegiate basis because of its highly competitive nature. Intercollegiate sports also bring the schools to a singleness of purpose and develops a fighting spirit. Bill thinks that a mandatory intramural program should be developed, too, and that everyone should learn how to swim proficiently. (Get that, you fellows who are complaining about the new swimming requirements!)

"Of course," Murray added, "no sport should be carried on at the expense of keeping the participant out of military service or a defense industry." (Bill made that point very emphatic). "Sports should not be allowed to interfere with the war effort."

We then asked Coach Murray the question that was bothering all the students of Delaware College.

"What is the future of Delaware College sports for next season?"

"Naturally," he answered, "the future of sports depends upon the future of the college itself. If Delaware is taken over by the government for military training, intercollegiate sports will probably be kept alive. If the government does not take over the college, there will be so many fellows drafted that there most likely won't be enough material left for athletic teams."

"The chances of the football team illustrates this. Since the end of last term, we have lost through enlistments and the draft, about 13 men to the service. At that rate, you can see for yourself what the situation will be next Fall."

In any event, fellows, the athletic department is going ahead with all spring sports. And Bill Murray promises that, if it is humanly possible, Delaware College will get its share of intercollegiate sports.

Civil Service Calls For Economists And Statisticians

Because of the urgent need for economists, economic analysts, and statisticians for civilian war service in the Federal Government, recruiting is being intensified for these positions on a nation-wide basis, the Civil Service Commission announced today.

The positions pay from $2,600 to $6,500 a year plus overtime, which increases salaries by about 21% on the first $2,900 for 8 hours overtime a week, when the aggregate does not exceed $5,000 a year.

The greatest need is in the fields of transportation, labor, commodities, and industrial studies. For economist, marketing, international trade, money and banking, and housing are also important fields. Experience in other lines will also be utilized, and complete information may be obtained at first- and second-class post offices, from Civil Service Regional Offices, and from the U. S. Civil Service Commission at Washington D. C.

Positions are both interesting and important to the war program. They include dealing with economic and statistical problems arising from the reoccupation of areas once held by the enemy, the sale of U. S. securities, exports and imports in connection with the war economic program, requirements for procurement of war materials, etc. Positions will be located throughout the United States and a few will be filled abroad.

Requirements for the positions have been lowered. In general, only 5 years of college or university education or experience in economics or statistics, or a combination of the two, are necessary for the $2,600 grade. The minimum requirements for the higher grades are proportionately greater.

There are no age limits and no written examination will be given. Applications will be accepted until further notice, but qualified persons are asked to apply immediately. Applications are not desired from persons already using their highest skills in war work. War Manpower restrictions on Federal appointments are given in Form 3989, posted in first- and second-class post offices.

Hedgerow Actress-Director to Judge Competitive Plays

Due to the overcrowding of the Social Calendar, the Campus Play Festival, which had been rescheduled for this week, has been definitely postponed until the 17, 18, and 19 of February, that is, Wednesday, Thursday, and Friday of next week.

As in the last contest, the critic-judge system will be used. Miriam Phillips will be sole judge for all three nights of the competition. At the end of each evening, she will present a critical analysis of each play. Miss Phillips is a featured actress and director in the Hedgerow Theatre company. She has often served as critic-judge at the Cultural Olympics of the University of Pennsylvania.

On the first night of the Festival, plays will be presented by the Freshman, Sophomore, and Junior classes of the Women's College. The directors of these plays are Joy Stecker, Freshman; Phyllis White, Sophomore; and Kay Guinard, Junior.

Thursday and Friday will be devoted to the Delaware College Competitives. Directors for the six plays in this contest are Bruce Ayars, Sigma Nu; James Quinn, Brown Hall; Norman Bunin, Sigma Tau Phi; Walter Lilley, Sigma Phi Epsilon; Layton Mabrey, Harter Hall; and Richard Hoots, Kappa Alpha.

Tickets for the Festival will be on sale in Mitchell Hall every afternoon this week. Admission price for any one night is 25c; for all three nights, 50c.

S. C. Room Used By Red Cross As Local Sewing Hdq.

Perhaps you have been wondering just what all those females have been doing in Old College during the past few weeks. Or, maybe you've noticed small pieces of thread here and there. Did you know?—the American Red Cross has moved in.

The Newark Sewing Unit of the Red Cross was growing so fast that the Century Club kept getting smaller and smaller every day. Hearing that the ladies were looking around for larger quarters, the Delaware College Student Council very generously offered its meeting room—on the second floor of Old College.

The Student Council room was a perfect solution to the problem, and the Red Cross made arrangements to move in right away. Moving day brought quite a scene to Old College. There were tables, chairs, sewing machines, boxes, etc. It seemed as though the steady stream of equipment would never stop. However, it didn't take the women long to fix things up and they were ready for work the next day.

Now, any time during the day and even Tuesday and Thursday evenings, you will find thirty or forty women up in the Student Council room busily making bandages for use where they might be needed.

The Student Council now holds its regular Monday night meetings in the Lounge of Old College.

Yale Professor Gives Lecture on Near East Finds

Dr. Harold Ingholt, of the University of Copenhagen and Yale University, lectured last Monday Night at the University after attending a tea in Brown Hall Monday afternoon. Dr. Ingholt's lecture was entitled "Biblical Characters in the Light of Recent Excavations in the Orient" and was sponsored by the English and Art departments.

The lecture was illustrated with lantern slides depicting various excavations, discoveries, and restorations of ruins discovered in the Near East. Pictures were shown of the great temple in Palestine, in which were discovered layers of fourteen ancient civilizations. The audience saw the ruins of Jericho and were shown that only an earthquake could have destroyed the walls in such a fashion.

Dr. Ingholt came down through the ages showing artifacts and remnants of the Philistine civilization, the Temple of Solomon, the ruins of Hamar, destroyed by Sargon, and incidentally, primitive safety pins.

The lecture ended with pictures from the ruins of Dura on the Euphrates, showing the oldest extant pictures from the Old and New Testaments, Moses in the Bulrushes, The Anointing of David, Abraham and Isaac, the Crossing of the Red Sea, and in the oldest Christian Chapel ever unearthed, pictures of a beardless Christ, and Saint Peter on the Sea of Galilee.

Dr. Ingholt's lecture was well attended and well received. The English and Art departments are to be congratulated on arranging such a lecture by so eminent an archeologist.

English Reading

The fourth English Reading of the current series is to be presented by the English Department of the University tonight, at seven o'clock, in the Hilarium. Warner Hall, Women's College. Dr. N. B. Allen announces his topic as "Romantic Poems." The public is cordially invited to be present.

WAR CALLS COME FIRST!

OUR DAY

By Stew & Hank

Someone said you gotta be a football hero to get along with the beautiful gals. Here's proof: While Hugh Bogovich was traversing the distance between the Engineering building and University Hall he had no less than three invitations to the Valentine dance this Saturday!

While we have been groaning our way through the last few b-ball games we have thoughtlessly overlooked our rasslers and swimmers. On the side, and not beset with a tribe of gremlins, they have been doing plenty ok by themselves and we take this opportunity to give them the NOMINATION OF THE WEEK. And in our eyes, the glaring main trouble of the basketball crew, glaring as it is, goes on uncorrected.

The eyes of the entire waiter staff of the Commons eatery are focused on that colorful character, Aggie Butler. The eternal question is asked repeatedly. Will Aggie keep up the tradition? Who is Patty? Will Jim Meyers get his fifth glass of milk? Tune in next week!

Tom "Stinky" Saunders seems to be spending a lot of time down Practice House way. A piece of ham, a deck of cards and thou—Winnie. For some time we have been noting that Buck Burkett and Bonnie have much in common. Perry will soon star in a Mitchell Hall production of "Moonset."

They didn't set a new record in the Wanamaker Mile in the Garden the other night but we think the great white father did when he pinned Ruthie of the English Dept. staff in no less than 10 days! Her number 1 and 2 fans gave her an appropriate gift at dinner in the Commons on Monday nite.

An engagement announced—and one to be. Charlie "Seabiscuit" Oberly has done it and our best couple will also break the news in the near future.

The lights are on late at night in the new dorm as BZ thinks up new ways to sabotage the New Order as established therein. Seems that he can't understand why he can't bet a chip on Sunday and keeps imagining what will be next.

The little moron is in again. Seems he heard a woman singing in the bath, so he put his ear to the keyhole.

Rene, queen of them all, let us in on a secret the other nite while we were refilling our Schlitz quart. She says a certain young prof here has a certain attraction for her. May-be it's that nice big, shiny belt buckle.

Overheard: The first gent looked like he had got hit with a freight train when the second exclaimed: "Migawd, explosion?"
"No, Laurelli."

SCOOP! Usually reliable source puts Army in Delaware within week! Straight stuff!

WOW! When ye ed let us in on this news that he is going to break next Revoo issue you could have knocked us over with a hammer! It's the biggest news since Branch Rickey called up Murph about the Field House for the Dodgers! It's sensational in good old Brooklyn style! Watch next issue!

Chinese Garden Theme Of Sigma Nu Formal

Last Saturday night the Sigma Nu's presented their annual formal dance in the Commons of Old College. The theme of the decorations was a Chinese garden, augmented by a pagoda, which served to shelter the band; a huge green dragon; and a Chinese bridge.

Preceding the evening affair, a tea dance was held in the chapter house from 3 p. m. to 5 p. m. As the evening began, fraternity members, their guests, and alumni were served a buffet supper also in the house. The supper was from 7:00 p. m. to 8:00 p. m. after which time the main event of the evening commenced.

Music for the evening was furnished by Jackie Fields and his orchestra from Philadelphia. Patrons for the dance were as follows: President and Mrs. Walter Hulihan, Dr. and Mrs. J. Fenton Daugherty, and Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Grubb.

CAPITAL to CAMPUS

ACP's Jay Richter Reports from Washington

WASHINGTON—(ACP)—By the end of this year, about 20 per cent of America's industrial war workers will be women—a total of 6 million of them, according to the War Manpower Commission.

In aircraft production, employment of women is expected to be greater than that of men.

The War Manpower Commission has indicated that the proposed nationwide occupational registration of women may be abandoned in favor of an "educational program" to enroll women on a voluntary basis in specific labor-shortage areas.

Proposed by the Women's advisory committee of the Manpower Commission, the new program would be aimed at women who have never worked before. Questionnaires would be sent to women willing and able to do the type of work involved. A house-to-house canvass to recruit them would be made as a follow-up.

Again, during the next year, one of America's most urgent needs will be for nurses. Paul V. McNutt, Manpower director, pointed out the other day that 65,000 young women must enter nursing schools between June 30, 1943, and July 1, 1944, "if even minimum civilian and military needs of the nation are to be met." This number exceeds the 1942-43 group by 10,000. Where state nursing laws permit, schools are being urged to reduce the usual period of training from three years to 30 months, or less.

And incidentally, the Civil Service Commission is now authorized to employ part-time women workers in government agencies. That does not mean, however, that there will be part-time jobs in all cities. Part-time workers will be hired when the market for full-time employees has been exhausted.

CAPITALISMS

Those now in college who expect to follow careers in Washington will be most grateful to Capital to Campus, we're sure, for the following list of "capitalisms"—those time-honored phrases, those in-the-know catchwords, those respectable clichés which a good bureaucrat wouldn't be found dead without.

You must remember, for example, that no government conference is quite complete without reference to the "over-all picture." The over-all picture, of course, is something you "should never lose sight of."

And when someone asks you how the situation looks, the appropriate preface to your remarks is the observation that "The last report from the field was . . ." "The field" may be any number, or all, of the 48 states.

In ducking a responsibility—an important technique to develop if you wish to progress—always remember to say, "We're not the action agency on this." Or you can say, "That's outside our jurisdiction." Or, if you don't have the slightest idea of what your questioner is talking about, "We'll check the file on that."

If someone remonstrates at your caution, point out that you're merely "following the lines of the directive." A directive, like virtue, is something no one can afford to argue against.

When you send some correspondence, or a memo, to higher authority, the correct remark to make to your associates is that you've sent the material "through channels." Everything in Washington moves "through channels."

When you're in an aggressive mood, or wish to impress a superior, simply thump your desk, temperately but firmly, and say: "This—this, gentlemen—is all-out war!"

Once you've mastered these few comparatively simple fundamentals, you may consider yourself well on the way to a bright career in Washington.

DON'T WASTE TELEPHONE CALLS!

The weight of war on telephone lines grows heavier every day. We can't build new lines to carry the loads because materials have been "drafted" to produce the tools of war. We've got to make the most of the telephone equipment we now have. Important war calls of the government, the armed forces and war industries must go through promptly.

You can help us speed war calls:

- 1 Make only the most necessary calls.
- 2 Keep ALL calls brief!
- 3 Whenever possible, call by number.
- 4 Don't call the busy war centers if you can avoid it.

Every call you save . . . every second you save . . . helps us speed the calls which are most important to every American.

12 Pledges Become S. P. E. Brothers

Twelve pledges were extended membership into the brotherhood of Sigma Phi Epsilon on Sunday evening, January 31, at the Chapter House. The initiation culminated a term and a half of pledge-ship training. The addition of the twelve initiates makes the total enrollment of active "heart bearers" equal forty two.

The pledges that were initiated are: Knowles R. Bowen, Jr., Harcourt R. Burns, Jr., Norman H. Cooke, Jr., Mason P. Currier, III, Charles W. Kenworthy, Henry L. Maxwell, Robert R. Miller, Francis T. Mulrooney, John N. Simons, James C. Otton, William B. Zolper, Jr., and Richard C. Zolper.

Following the initiation a song fest ensued and in addition Captain Harvey Bounds, S. P. E. Alumnus, spoke on the various phases of Army life and how it would affect young men of college age.

At a meeting last Wednesday evening the newly elected officers were inducted into office. The new officers are: Roland Reed, president; Henry Winchester, vice-president; Walter Tilley, comptroller; Jack Lee, secretary; Bill Morton, guard; and Jim Sterner and Jim Orr, marshalls.

The new president announced his appointments for the following term.

Michigan Students Try Strict ROTC Training

ANN ARBOR, Mich.—(ACP)—Forty basic University of Michigan ROTC students, commanded by 3 cadet officers, have moved into the bare-walled military barracks of a student dormitory to live under a strict military supervision that requires special passes even for dates.

A West Point in miniature, the barracks were organized by Cadet Col. Charles M. Thatcher, a senior. Purpose of the experiment, which has received full support of university officials, is to give training far stiffer than that ordinarily received in ROTC.

The student soldiers have liberty granted by pass only, and to get that pass they must be caught up on their studies and have no demerits.

Two large rooms in the basement of the East Quadrangle dormitories house 20 men each. Every man is supplied a bed, chest of drawers and a clothes locker. A study room is situated between the sleeping quarters. The men eat in the regular dormitory dining rooms, although the cadet officers, directly responsible to Thatcher, live separately in an adjoining room. Room rates are $40 a semester as compared with $75 for regular students.
