WOMEN PLAY IMPORTANT ROLE IN WAR PRODUCTION

U. S. Employment Director Stresses Woman Power Need At Lions Club

"The old chant, 'the woman's place is in the home,' has been replaced by the modern swing tune, 'Rosie the Riveter,'" E. H. Smith, War Manpower Commission Director for Delaware, told members of the Newark Lions Club at their weekly dinner meeting Tuesday evening at Powell's Restaurant.

Women are now performing duties which formerly were designated 'for men only'. So successful has their performance been that Delaware employers are calling for 'more of the same' to take the places of men going into the armed forces, Mr. Smith said as he gave an interesting discussion on Man and Woman Power.

"The wide scope of varied occupations being done by women should prove a revelation to persons not familiar with the industrial world. Women are now working in war plants as sheetmetal workers, pipefitters, electricians' helpers, drill press and milling machine operators, painters, inspectors and, in one plant in Wilmington, a woman is operating a huge overhead traveling crane," Mr. Smith stated.

He urged the registration of all Delaware women over ages of 16 at the nearest office of the U. S. Employment service stating that paid, full-time training or free part-time training was available for good paying jobs.

John P. Benson, Farm Placement Representative for Delaware was also a guest at the meeting and briefly outlined the predicament of State farmers and the shortage of farm labor anticipated this spring.

A meeting of the Board of Directors was held at the conclusion of the meeting. President L. T. Staats conducted the meeting.

PLATIGORSKY TO GIVE RECITAL MARCH 9

Noted 'Cellist Presented By Newark Concert Association

On Tuesday evening, March 9, at 8:15 P. M. in Mitchell Hall, the Newark Community Concert Association presents its third and last concert of the current season. The artist at this concert will be the great Cellist, Gregor Platigorsky, whom Serge Koussevitsky, the conductor of the Boston Symphony orchestra calls "The greatest 'cellist of our day."

Gregor Platigorsky has played more concerts in the United States and Canada during the past eleven years than any other 'cellist. He has filled 450 engagements, including 120 appearances with orchestras.

Born in Russia in 1903, Platigorsky's gifts were so extraordinary that at fifteen he was engaged as first 'cellist of the Imperial Opera in Moscow. He was on his way to a brilliant career in his native land when the revolution came. He escaped into Poland, then Germany. After a brief but bitter struggle with poverty—a period when he played in cafes and cinemas to eke out a living—his talents were recognized and he soon found himself rocketing to fame. In his hands the violoncello began to bark in the limelight usually reserved for more prima-donna instruments.

Platigorsky's first American tour was made in the autumn of 1929. His immediate success was confirmed each season thereafter. He now makes his permanent home here. In the spring of 1937 he took out first papers and will soon be a full-fledged American, a citizen of the United States, a country he loves and where he is loved wherever music is important.

In concert he plays a magnificent instrument, a Montagnana of the year 1739. He also owns a remarkable collection of bows, including an unique specimen by Tourte, most famous of bow-makers.

Mr. William G. King, critic of the New York Sun says:

"Platigorsky has the technical equipment, the soul, the temperament, and the platform personality to make himself and his instrument beloved of concertgoers. It is with reason that season after season he plays coast to coast American tours to sold-out houses."

Pythian Sisters Buy Ambulance

Word has been received by Friendship Temple No. 6, Pythian Sisters that the Supreme Temple of the United States has raised enough money to purchase seven ambulances for the United States Army.

One of the vehicles has been delivered and the other six will be delivered in the near future. Members of the local Temple assisted in the drive for funds.

DeLuxe To Discontinue Hot Lunches March 1

The DeLuxe Candy Shop took the lead in meeting emergency conditions arising from the shortage of employees by announcing that they will discontinue the serving of hot lunches, effective March 1.

A sign placed conspicuously in the popular fountain and soft drink establishment proclaims the fact to the lament of numerous local and collegiate patrons.

The DeLuxe will continue to cater to its fountain, cold lunch, sandwich, candy and ice cream clientele.

$5,000 FIRE AT NATIONAL FIBRE CO. PLANT

Friction Is Believed Cause Of Fire In Machine Room

While Newark firemen were battling the worst fire in recent years at the Sheaffer warehouse on Friday morning a call was received from the National Vulcanized Fibre Company about 2:45.

Chief Ellison quickly dispatched two engines to the fibre mill where it was discovered that fire had broken out under the paper machine in the machine room of the plant.

Dense smoke hampered the firemen for a while until they put on smoke masks.

The heat from the fire set off the sprinkler system which caused most of the damage to a large number of rolls of finished paper. The water pouring down on the large rolls of paper split them wide open.

The large felt conveyor belt and the copper wire which carries the paper through the dryers was destroyed and company officials set the damage at around $5,000.

The fire was believed to have been caused from friction which set fire to the felt and the wood floor beneath the large paper machine.

SHEAFFER'S WAREHOUSE DESTROYED BY FIRE

Newark's Most Serious Fire In Years Causes $30,000 Damage

Newark's most serious fire in recent years destroyed the two story frame warehouse located back of the store and residence of I. Newton Sheaffer early Friday morning.

The large two story warehouse was filled with wall paper, paints, varnishes and oils and six automobiles in the garages attached to the warehouse were also destroyed. One automobile was saved.

Mr. Sheaffer stated that all his spring stock of paper amounting to more than 25,000 rolls of paper were destroyed along with both of his trucks and all equipment.

The fire was discovered by William Morgan, clerk at the Newark Post Office who phoned the alarm to the fire house.

Firemen quickly responded with all their equipment but the building was doomed from the start and at the early stage of the fire the Methodist Church was threatened and the woodwork was scorched but firemen quickly played a stream of water on the building.

The Christiana Fire Company was called and they were kept busy putting out sparks which fell on roofs throughout the town. Several of the roofs on South Academy Street were endangered, as large pieces of blazing paper and sparks flew all over the central part of the town at the height of the fire.

A blaze on a shed back of the Washington House was quickly extinguished.

Firemen were served hot coffee and sandwiches by George Neighbors and the Sheaffer family during the morning, firemen remaining on duty until well after daylight.

Fortunately there was not much wind during the night which was all that saved the fire from doing much greater damage.

The firemen's efforts were directed by Fire Chief Elmer Ellison.

1792 BOOKS ISSUED ON FIRST DAY AT SCHOOL

1691 Excess Cans, 38 Pounds of Coffee Declared; Closed Saturday

Carlton E. Douglass, superintendent of Newark Schools stated definitely that Newark schools would not be open on Saturday for the issuing of Ration Book No. 2.

The first day 1792 persons appeared at the local school to register for their ration books and it was stated that a total of 1691 excess cans, bottles and jars of food were declared. 38 pounds of excess coffee was also declared.

The registering is being done with teams of five and the person being registered is moved along from one to the other of the five, speeding up the registration.

Mr. Douglass has requested that everyone come in at once regardless of their name as it is feared that a last minute rush might result. Anyone who fails to get his copy of War Ration Book No. 2 before Friday night will have to wait until after March 15 to get it.

There are six five-man teams working from 10 o'clock in the morning until five in the afternoon and six additional teams go on duty from one o'clock in the afternoon until eight at night, giving a total of 12 five-man teams on duty from one until five o'clock.

Mr. Douglass wishes to express his gratitude to those persons who so generously offered their services but stated that due to the schools being closed for the rationing period the members of the faculty assisted with a number of the senior class were easily able to take care of the situation.

The number of persons registering are about the same as registered for book No. 1.

It was stated that Rationing was just another name for Fair Sharing.

TO STORE CORK AT RACE TRACK

20,000 Tons Of Cork Will Be Stored Here

20,000 tons of cork will be stored on the land formerly known as the Old Race Track on Depot Road opposite the College Experimental Farm.

The cork which is being shipped here from Spain, Portugal and North Africa is being hauled from the Newark Center in trucks but it is planned to have a railroad siding run onto the property.

The cork which is owned by the Armstrong Cork Defense Products Corporation will be piled in piles measuring 100 by 50 feet and the piles will be 75 feet apart. The piles will cover the entire property from the highway back to the creek.

Pleasure Driving Violators At Meeting

Last Friday evening a number of violators of the O.P.A. pleasure driving ban, were called before the local panel to explain their side of the case.

Each violator was given every chance to explain why he was driving at the time his car was checked and were all treated in a most courteous manner although a number of those called in to the meeting came with a chip on their shoulder.

RATIONING INCREASES INTEREST IN V-GARDENS

Early Planting Urged By County Officials

Victory Gardeners everywhere are on the alert, states Mrs. Kates Henley Daugherty, County Home Demonstration Agent and Co-Chairman of Victory Gardens with Mrs. Irving Warner for New Castle County.

She emphasizes the importance of gardeners obtaining their seeds and fertilizers early in view of a possible shortage of these items. If we want a vegetable garden this year, she says that we must not wait to hear the answer "No Seed, no fertilizer".

Every garden, regardless of size, should be thoroughly cleaned and put into condition for early planting at the earliest possible moment. But, continues Mrs. Daugherty, no one should attempt to plant a garden except those who have reasonably good soil and are willing to fertilize, cultivate and tend it even when the weather is hot and dry. It is not fair to use seed and fertilizer that someone else might use unless one plans to do a good job on the garden this year.

In order that expert advice may be given to gardeners in New Castle County this year, a house to house visit is being made in each village and town in the county by Victory Garden Committeemen appointed by the Local Chairman for each town to determine the number of people who plan to plant Victory Gardens and their interest in attending garden instruction meetings in their neighborhood. The rationing will greatly increase interest in these victory gardens.

Mr. Frank Powell, Victory Garden Chairman for Newark, reports that the results of the survey being made by his committeemen indicates that Newark will have many Victory Gardens this year which will go a long way in relieving the fresh and canned vegetable shortage and release much food for our men in the Service, our Allies and for the city dweller who does not have the space to plant a garden.

Mrs. Daugherty states that there are three big reasons for growing a Victory Garden this year. First, it is a patriotic thing to do; second, it's insurance for good health, and last but not least, it's good economy. She urges the town gardener to select at least 10 to 15 vegetables to plant, to draw a plan on paper before planting, to buy only good seed from a reliable dealer, to fertilize the soil well and to cultivate shallow but often, to plant successive plantings of 10 to 15 day intervals, to control plant diseases and insects by dusting and spraying, and lastly, to store and can for winter use.

Call on your County Extension Service if you need further advice.

HYBRID SEED GIVES MORE YIELD

State Corn Production Is Increased

"Delaware farmers can well afford to use hybrid seed corn this year; in fact, they cannot afford not to use it, especially on the more fertile soils," says C. E. Phillips, forage crop specialist for the Delaware Agricultural Extension Service.

Reports of hybrid corn trials by the Delaware Agricultural Experiment Station for 1942, which have just been released, show that adapted hybrids have again given considerably better yields than regular open pollinated varieties. In northern Delaware, the top fifteen hybrids averaged increases of 14.1 bushels per acre over average open pollinated yields during a six-year period; in southern Delaware, the hybrid average over a five year period was 6.6 bushels per acre more.

Experience has been the same in the Corn Belt, where about 90 per cent of the corn acreage in most states is now planted with hybrid seed. Average yields for four states reporting have gone up 10 to 12 bushels per acre, since the introduction of hybrid.

An increased yield per acre means that fewer acres need to be cultivated to meet goals. Limited labor and machinery supplies are thus saved for production of other necessary food and feed crops.

However, not all hybrids are suited to Delaware conditions. Farmers should consult their county agricultural agents in Georgetown, Dover, or Newark, for hybrid varieties best adapted to their localities.

4-H PROJECT WOULD AID WAR, FARM PROBLEMS

Enlistment Cards Sent To Rural Youths For Mobilization

As a part of the Delaware 4-H Mobilization Week program, enlistment cards have been sent out to farm boys and girls in Delaware who are not already enrolled in 4-H work, according to C. E. McCauley, county club agent supervisor for the Delaware Agricultural Extension Service.

These cards list projects which may be carried this year in cooperation with 4-H clubs, and boys and girls have been requested to indicate the jobs they feel that they can do as their contribution to the war effort.

4-H projects emphasizing production of food for home use and for sale for armies, allies, and war workers include raising or helping to raise Victory Gardens, producing large quantities of eggs, meat, and milk, and preserving meat, fruits, and vegetables. Projects aimed at relieving farm labor difficulties require a specific number of hours spent in aiding with farm labor. Projects in caring and repairing farm and home equipment and removing fire and accident hazards will conserve time and equipment.

Clothing projects include care, construction and remodeling. Health work, in which all are urged to participate, covers checking of daily food and health habits, planning of healthful meals, general physical examinations, immunization against disease, and study of Red Cross first aid and home nursing work. Other war activities such as Red Cross aid and plane spotting are encouraged, and provisions for listing any such projects in which the individual is interested have been made.

Leaders hope for a large enrollment of new members because they, feel that through club work farm boys and girls can make more and better directed contributions to national emergency problems.

War-Time Transportation

THE demand for transportation service for essential riding is gradually increasing. To meet this demand under present day conditions requires the making of sacrifices and the curtailment of non-essential riding.

One of the reasons for doing these things is that because of the heavy riding resulting from restrictions placed upon the use of gasoline and rubber, all of the available coaches and buses that Delaware Coach Company owns are in regularly scheduled service during rush hours.

It is impossible to obtain additional equipment at this time. Delaware Coach Company has received only about one-half of the vehicles that were ordered because of the restrictions that have been placed upon their construction by the War Production Board.

Because of the war, Delaware Coach Company does not have the free hand in the making of changes and extensions to its service that it would have in normal times. The Office of Defense Transportation, which is a division of the War Production Board, has issued instructions with reference to the extension of service, one of which is the following:

EXTENSION OF BUS SERVICE

"Extensions of existing bus routes and inauguration of new routes should be made only to places of defense employment and military and naval establishments or to meet similar situations where failure to provide such additional service will have a definitely unfavorable effect on the war effort."

The intent of this order is to restrict the use of gasoline and rubber and taken with the restriction upon the manufacture of buses and coaches is for the purpose of conserving critical materials that are necessary in the manufacture of war equipment.

Essential riding and the need for conserving essential materials come first. Where additional service may appear to be urgently needed, we are asking our riders to give consideration to the requirements of the war situation.

RHEUMATIC FEVER

Rheumatic fever is one of the important causes of death among children today, occurring generally between the ages of 5 and 15 years, says the State Board of Health.

The greatest danger from rheumatic fever is the damage done to the heart. The infection may strike at the delicate valves of the heart, allowing blood to leak back in the wrong direction, instead of closing tightly at the proper time, or the heart muscle may be injured by the rheumatic infection.

The cause of this disease is unknown, though investigators are studying the role which may be played by the streptococcus germ. There is no specific cure for the disease and, as the body does not build up an immunity following an attack, rheumatic fever can strike a child again and again.

The earliest warning signals are slight fever, nosebleeds, loss of appetite, failure to gain weight, rapid heart action, and pain (often vague and fleeting) in joints and muscles. These rather vague signs and symptoms make the disease difficult to recognize early and this is why parents should consult their physician if their child has any of these symptoms which they cannot readily explain. Later definite signs may be very painful and inflamed joints, high fever and nodules under the skin.

The State Board of Health advises parents to have their youngsters follow the rules of good personal hygiene with medical examinations once a year. Rest, play, sunshine and nourishing food help to build children up physically, so that they may ward off sickness. Protect them as far as possible from contact with people suffering from sore throats or respiratory infections as well as protecting them against wet weather and dampness. Attacks are less likely if these precautions are followed.

During an acute attack, a child should be kept in bed and under strict medical supervision. The period in bed may last weeks or months, according to the severity of the attack. By means of certain signs and tests, the doctor can tell when the illness has cleared up sufficiently to allow the child to lead a more normal life. Parents cannot be too careful when rheumatic fever strikes. Let the doctor treat the infection while it lasts, but when it has passed, if the child has no serious heart damage, he may be permitted reasonable activity, so long as he does not become unduly fatigued.

If parents understand rheumatic fever and its after effects, the Board of Health feels that they may help the medical profession in its efforts to control the disease.

HALT THAT FIRE

Recent fires that have taken a toll of many thousands of dollars in property damage bring effectively to mind the many news stories and editorials published on "Fire Prevention".

Of course, the fires were unpreventable but they had to start somehow. That just refreshes the need for the utmost care wherever fire is concerned. A smoldering cigarette, a burning rubbish pile that is 'nearly out', an unnoticed match flicked away while still flaming — any of these trifling incidents may furnish the tiny spark needed to ignite a dry field, a stray piece of paper or trash pile.

No fire is started wantonly and deliberately. But many of them are the direct result of carelessness and thoughtlessness. We hope the recent local conflagrations will serve to further impress these facts upon the minds of every resident and that we will all be certain to take every measure possible to avert and prevent fire and to eliminate all fire hazards under our control.

With Spring not far off fires will likely become more numerous. Now is the time to exercise care.

FAIR REQUEST

It is estimated that coal requirements of the nation during 1943 will total well over 600,000,000 tons. To achieve such production will be a "sizable job."

We don't hear a great deal about coal other than as something to burn in the furnace to keep us warm. But that is only one of many uses. It yields gas for cooking, chemicals for explosives, tars for a thousand uses. Its products are essential ingredients in anti-knock motor fuel, synthetic rubber, dry-cleaning compounds and paint removers. All of these uses are in addition to supplying heat and power for war industries, railroads and homes.

Coal is an essential war industry, yet it faces the maintenance and manpower handicaps of less important enterprises. The mines must be permitted to do three things that they have requested, if the 1943 production goals are reached: Retain essential skilled labor, replace essential supplies and machinery, and recover enough of their capital investment to expand production of old mines or, where necessary, open new workings.

These are not unreasonable requests. They are not based upon any attempt to profit from the war. They are prompted by a sincere effort to help win the war as soon as possible.

Euphonious titles for tax measures will not make it any easier for the taxpayer to pay the tax bills he owes. The only permanent relief he can ever expect will come from the elimination of political waste in government and from drastic pruning of the bureaucratic fungus that threatens to smother earnings and savings.

In the meantime, the taxpayer can be helped by a new tax bill that will allow the easiest possible installment tax payments from current income for current taxes. Treasury officials should not give the horse laugh to ideas to aid the taxpayer. The bureaucrats don't pay the taxes. They should hump themselves to keep the taxpayer alive.

DAIRYMEN URGED TO FEED MORE IN 1943

Milking Three Times A Day Being Urged

Dairymen are being urged by the Secretary of Agriculture to feed more heavily as one way of reaching the 1943 goal of an increased production amount to 2 per cent more than that of 1942.

The Secretary points out that dairymen have done a fine job, "but we're asking for still more milk this year and that milk has to be produced in the face of labor and other problems. We are asking a lot of our dairymen!"

Mr. S. M. Harrington, Secretary-Treasurer of the Delaware Production Credit Association says that his Association has been financing a rather large number of farmers who borrow to purchase feed, and that his PCA will offer its facilities to a large number in 1943.

"We are making these facilities available by using community representatives so that farmers will not have to use gasoline and rubber to get to our central office," Mr. Harrington said. "We are financing the purchase not only of concentrates but also hay where purchases are necessary. We also aid farmers to buy cows and heifers," he continued.

"Secretary Wickard has suggested that farmers not only feed heavier but where practical to milk three times a day," said Mr. Harrington. "He realizes the difficulties involved because of the shortage of labor but points out on many farms there is a slack period in the winter and that is a well-established fact that milking three times a day results in the production of more milk."

Delaware farmers who are doing essential production and whose conditions of work make it necessary are eligible for certificates for rubber footwear. Applications for certificates may be secured from the local War Price and Rationing Boards by writing in for the forms, by telephone, going in person, or by sending some one.

GARDENING BROADCASTS START MAR. 1

U. of D. Extension Service Sponsors Series of Talks

A new radio series on gardening and home food production has been announced by G. L. Schuster, director of the Delaware Agricultural Extension Service. This program will be broadcast on the regular Delaware Farm and Home Hour over DWEL each Monday from 1:00 to 1:15, beginning March 1, and continue throughout the garden and canning seasons.

The information given on this program will cover as nearly as possible all of the major phases of gardening, and will be of benefit to both experienced and inexperienced gardeners. Programs on the various subjects will be arranged so that the gardener will hear suggestions in plenty of time to make use of them this year.

Specialists of the Delaware Agricultural Extension Service in truck crops, nutrition, entomology, agronomy, and home management will appear on these programs to discuss the subjects of gardening and home food production, conservation, and use.

Programs scheduled for March are as follows: March 1 — Introduction of Program; March 8 — Planning the Garden; March 15 — Purchase of Seeds and Selection of Vegetables to Grow; March 22 — Preparing the Seedbed and Manure and Fertilizer for the Garden; March 29 — Planting Suggestions.

Other programs in this series will be announced later.

Use of rotenone has been restricted by WPB to insecticides for protection of peas from pea weevil and pea aphid; beans, from Mexican bean beetle; cole crops, other than brassica, including broccoli, Brussels sprouts, cauliflower, kohlrabi, mustard, kale, turnips, and collards, from caterpillars and aphids; and protection of sweet corn from European corn borer.

Save every pig possible. If we could market 80 per cent of all the pigs born instead of the 60 per cent average, pork production would jump one-third.

HOME EDUCATION

JIMMY DECIDES

Mrs. Pennington was much upset. Her beloved mother's sudden illness and the necessity for leaving Jimmy, while she went to her old home to act as nurse, brought disturbing thoughts. Her husband assured her that Jimmy would be safe in kindergarten which fortunately opened that very morning. When the child would be at home, he reminded her, their faithful maid would take care of him.

"But I am afraid the kindergarten teacher will not understand that Jimmy is not an ordinary child," wept Mrs. Pennington. "Of course I have tried to impress upon her how careful I have been with every detail of Jimmy's life, but will she have time to give him the individual attention he needs? If he doesn't like to go and isn't happy with the other children, he does not have to attend."

She would have said a great deal more but the bus stopped at the door at that moment, and with last instructions and a tearful farewell she set out to her girlhood home. Jimmy at once joined the little troop of youngsters who, in the charge of one of the mothers, were on their way to begin their first day in kindergarten.

"I'm not going back," announced Jimmy, when his father appeared that evening. "I don't like kindergarten, and Mother said I could stay at home if I didn't like it."

After some questioning, it developed that Jimmy was in a bad humor because he had not been allowed to be in one of the games. When he and mother played, he could be it all the time, so he did not want to go back to the class. Wisely, his father said nothing on that subject just then, but led the conversation to the treats awaiting the kindergarten children in the way of trips, parties and the making of small articles. When morning came Jimmy had decided to try it another day.

A week or two later, Mr. Pennington was not too well pleased at the arrival of his sister Jane with her badly spoiled boy who was about the age of Jimmy. Jane, he told himself, was even more engrossed in the business of showing the world a devoted mother than his own wife. Jane was simply Junior's mother and nothing more, he was sure.

"I'm going with Jimmy to kindergarten tomorrow," announced Junior the first evening.

"No you are not," said Jimmy. "They don't take babies and you are a baby. You've snatched all my things from me, and we don't do that at our school."

"You are mean and selfish," said Junior as his mother hastened to console him with a shining dime. "I'm going whether you want me or not."

"Now, darling," explained Junior's mother, "I don't believe you'd be happy at kindergarten. Jimmie says the children have to obey the rules, and you know you have never had any harsh rules to keep."

"We want to obey," put in Jimmy. "It is right to take turns and to do the things our teacher tells us to do."

Mr. Pennington gasped, remembering how Jimmy had found fault with the teacher on his first day away from his mother's care, but he did not answer except to say, "Jane, you are making a great mistake. I fear. You don't want Junior to be a sissy, do you?"

"There you go, just like Junior's papa," complained his sister. "Junior can go tomorrow if I go with him."

"I don't want you to go with me," burst out Junior. "Jimmy says none of the other mothers come with their boys. May I go, Jimmy?" he asked humbly. "I'm sorry I kicked your block house down and snatched your toys."

Junior's mother opened her mouth to say something, but she closed it firmly.

"Good girl, Jane!" said her brother. "Jimmy's mother is sure Jimmy will desert kindergarten the day she gets home, but he has decided otherwise."

Be Quick To Treat Bronchitis

Chronic bronchitis may develop if your cough, chest cold, or acute bronchitis is not treated and you cannot afford to take a chance with any medicine less potent than Creomulsion, which goes right to the seat of the trouble to help loosen and expel germs laden phlegm and aid nature to soothe and heal raw, tender, inflamed bronchial mucous membranes. Creomulsion blends beechnut wood creosote by special process with other time tested medicines for coughs. It contains no narcotics. No matter how many medicines you have tried, tell your druggist to sell you a bottle of Creomulsion with the understanding you must like the way it quickly allays the cough, permitting rest and sleep, or you are to have your money back. ## Weekly Sermon

The Way to God

Text: "Jesus Saith unto him, I am the way, the truth, and the life: no man cometh unto the Father, but by me." John 14:6.

What a wonderful pronouncement this is! It expresses a most sublime conception of divine and eternal reality. It is all-embracing; it is all-sufficient. It comprehends a complete view and philosophy of life, temporal and eternal. And it is given us by divine authority, by Jesus Himself.

Jesus said, I am the way. There is no other way. He is the only way to a knowledge and experience of God; the only way to the love of God, and relationship and fellowship with God.

Jesus came from the Father to reveal the Father to us. Jesus was God, but He became man in order to lead us back to God. In Him, and in none other, do we truly and fully find God. He is the answer to all the quests and longings and strivings to find peace and happiness—and God.

Jesus said, I am the truth. All truth is included, incorporated, consummated in the blessed Son of God. All truth lies within His teachings. Jesus told Pilate that everyone who is of the truth and follows the truth will hear, obey, and follow Him. As Christians, we must align ourselves so fully with Christ the embodiment of all truth, that our lives will be consistent with truth and will express the truth.

SHOTS

SURE SHOT

This week the entire population can think of nothing but the rationing of food and other commodities.

Now rationing is just like Castor Oil. No one likes it, but our government thinks we need it, so let's take it and like it.

The only thing about the new rationing of food is that it will make liars out of a lot of people.

One woman was overheard who stated that she was not going to tell how many cans she had. She had bought them and they belonged to her.

If everyone would play the game in this rationing matter you can rest assured that everyone will be treated alike.

The people of this country never did starve and even with rationing, belts will not have to be drawn any tighter.

Just think back a few years when a lot of people felt that they could not find work. The government stepped in and paid a lot of bums to lean on a shovel. Uncle Sam will take care of us.

Last Friday I attended a meeting where violators of the O.P.A. pleasure driving were called before the panel to answer for their sins.

The members of the panel really gave each case a lot of deliberation and were very patient even when those called in were inclined to be somewhat nasty about the affair. These men serving on these panels throughout the country are not being paid for the time they are giving. They are spending time in an effort to serve their country and all they are getting out of it is the ill will of some of their friends and others in the community.

No one likes the restrictions that are placed on us at this time. We don't like to be told what we can do and where we can go. The American people like to do as they please. But that is not always possible. At this time there is a war being fought. Possibly some folks think that they could do a better job of winning the war.

Too many people in this country are setting back and are willing to "Let George Do It". They are not willing to sacrifice even the smallest things to preserve that democracy and freedom for which our ancestors sacrificed everything.

No one realizes how much of the foreign element and their offspring there is in this country always ready to stir up trouble. If they were back in the old country they would not be able to open their mouths. If that part of them was still fastened to their bodies.

Some of the labor leaders in this country should be over in Germany. How long would they last?

Coming back to the rationing of food. We all have that topic on the brain this week. There is a committee formed in Newark who will help all those who feel that they will starve to death. This committee will try to help you to plan a victory garden, then if you want to stay alive and well fed, you can raise your own. Sounds like ROLL YOUR OWN. That is what the fellow said when he pushed the baby coach.

Last year I started a small garden. We had a swell crop of weeds. But this year the weeds will be pulled out, I hope.

Some time ago I made the assertion that Newark firemen could be at a fire for a week and no one would bring out coffee. My mistake. At the fire last Friday morning the firemen were given coffee and sandwiches. George Neighbors opened his store and had several pots of hot coffee ready for the firemen. The Sheffer family also supplied coffee and with SPAM rationed, opened those few hard-to-get cans to make sandwiches.

The Newark High School basketball team closed their season last week and won both games. It only goes to show that they can do it when they want to. They had the best team this year that they have had for a long time.

This year Coach Bill had several boys who had some height and they gave a good account of themselves. Also the Coach has a real good crop of material for next year. Airplane spotting did not hurt Cliff Lee's playing any. Don Huston and Wally Dunsmore accounted for most of the points for the Yellowjackets but they would never have made those points had it not been for Wayne Pollari and Harry Morrow, who were in their fighting all the time.

There is no use mentioning the names of the second string players. They are good and know it so why swell their heads until their hats fall off.

The Lions-Rotary Club bowling match was postponed for a week. Possibly they wanted to see how the new rationing program came out. The winners wanted to be sure that they would get enough to eat at the free meal they will get for beating the other team. Or could it be that they want John Fieders voice to get in shape for the match.

Twenty-nine of our boys left today for service with the armed forces of our country. These boys just left. There was no committee from the town to give them a sendoff. Someone might at least have given these boys a party before they left to make them feel that this was a pretty good town to come back to.

On Hitler's tenth anniversary in power it was discovered that his physical condition was sadly depleted. It seems that the "rat had his tongue" and the Russian Bear had his heels.

LABORERS IMPORTED

F.S.A. Brings Farms Laborers To Delaware

The Farm Security Administration has just announced through the Dover Office, which services Kent and New Castle Counties in Delaware, that twenty-five heads of farm families are to be brought to the Dover area within the next week for location on farms within the above named counties.

These men will arrive within the next week. Applications for laborers already received in the Dover Office almost equal the number to be brought in at this time. Due to the scarcity of farm labor, it will be well for those desiring additional help to call at the Dover Office, which is located in the basement of the Post Office Building and make application at once, according to J. L. Soper, Rural Rehabilitation Supervisor.

The Farm Security Administration is endeavoring to place year-round labor in the hope that the farmers thus served will be able to produce the maximum amount of food and feed in line with the United States Department of Agriculture goals.

The laborers will be transported to the farms for the purpose of entering into agreements with the farmers as to wages and living conditions. This transportation will be provided by the Farm Security Administration.

County Regional Credit Representatives Named

County representatives for Delaware for the new Regional Agricultural Credit Corporation were announced today by Clarence E. Ocheltree, chairman of the Delaware USDA War Board.

The three representatives are: New Castle County, Albert Gray, St. Georges; of the Production Credit Corporation; Kent County, Ernest Mattiford, Smyrna, county committeeman of the Agricultural Adjustment Agency; Sussex County, John O. Blake, Georgetown, community committeeman of the Agricultural Adjustment Agency.

Secretary of Agriculture Claude R. Wickard recently created this new farm credit agency to finance production of crops vital to the war effort. It will supplement other private and governmental credit facilities.

Trailing 7 to 5 at the end of the first period the Jackets deadlocked the score at half time 14 to 14.

The Yellowjackets topped the home team 13 to 9 from action and gained a 9 to 8 lead from the foul stripe.

Don Huston led the scoring for Newark with six field goals and a pair of fouls for 14 points while Wally Dunsmore tallied three shots from action and four from the foul strip for 10 points.

Homiak and Lambert divided scoring honors for Conrad with seven points each.

In the prelim Conrad Jay Vees nosed out the Newark Jay Vees 19 to 18.

WAR CROP ADVANCES ON LOANS AVAILABLE

Farmers May Sign Special Note For Crop Loans Now

Special war-crop advances or loans are now available for Delaware growers of soybeans, Irish and sweet potatoes, snap beans, lima beans, peas, carrots, cabbage, tomatoes, sweet corn and table beets, Clarence E. Ocheltree, chairman of the Delaware United States Department of Agriculture War Board and Delaware Agricultural Adjustment Agency, announced today.

The advances will be made through the State and County War Boards by the Agricultural Regional Credit Corporation to encourage greater production of war crops and other essential foods.

Farmers making extra efforts to grow the vital war crops and assuming the added risks of production in cases of crops which they ordinarily would not grow, will sign a special form of note limiting the obligation to repay to the value of the crops produced, provided certain requirements are met. These include a finding by the County War Board that the farmer has used the money in the production of crops for which it was advanced; that he has diligently applied the principles of good farming to the production of the crops; that he has harvested the crops to the extent of his ability, and that he has applied the full proceeds of such crops to the repayment of the advance.

A new market for Delaware vegetables is soon seen in the approval of 187 vegetable dehydration plants during the past twelve months under the program of the United States Department of Agriculture to encourage expansion of this vital wartime industry. Dehydration vegetables require one-third to one-sixth less cargo space on army transports, naval craft and lend-lease shipping than do vegetables processed by other methods. The new plants will have a total capacity of 200,000,000 pounds annually.

There were eight percent fewer hired farm hands on the farms of the United States on February 1 of this year than on the corresponding day a year ago. There were 5,638,000 family workers and 1,731,000 hired hands employed on February 1 of this year. The drop of employment of hired hands during the past twelve months was uniform throughout the nation, except that the West North Central States experienced double the general decline and the Pacific States experienced no appreciable loss.

Delaware's 1943 goals for war and other essential crops will not be lowered because of the rejection, at least temporarily, by a Congressional Committee of the plan for incentive payments to farmers who cooperate in producing more "Food for Freedom."

Secretary of Agriculture Claude E. Wickard says that the farmers out of patriotism and a desire to win the war quickly will proceed with their plans to meet the 1943 food goals. He claims the action on the incentive payment bill "was not final" and that he is hopeful payments to producers who increase production eventually will be forthcoming.

E. A. Soucy, Special Agent in Charge of the Baltimore Office of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, announced today that a FBI Quarterly Conference for Police will be held in Dover, Delaware on Monday, March 8, 1943 at 2:30 P. The principal speaker at the conference will be the Honorable Clair J. Killoran, Attorney General of the State of Delaware. In addition, a representative from the Technical Laboratory of the Federal Bureau of Investigation in Washington, D. C., will talk to the officers relative to the types of evidence which can be submitted to the FBI Laboratory for examination, and the results which can be obtained through this examination. His talk will include the analysis of blood stains, hair and fiber examination, soil analysis, and numerous other types of scientific tests which can be made in order to assist the investigating officer in the solution of crimes.

The Warden

Shoots the Works

The local air raid warden of a small mountain village invented his own scheme for warning the community—but it didn't work very well.

Receiving the blackout order by telephone, he stepped to his porch and fired his shotgun. The shot severed a power circuit, which fell on the telephone wires and burned them through. The blackout was perfect, but for some hours the village had no lights, no power, no telephone service, no all-clear signal, plenty of confusion.

Since the whole civilian defense system depends so much upon swift telephone communication, telephone lines must be kept clear during and after air raid warnings. Please remember—for your own protection—when the sirens sound, don't use the telephone! The Diamond State Telephone Company.

HEALTHY HENS LOTS OF EGGS

with a CONCRETE POULTRY HOUSE

More eggs for the United Nations requires more modern poultry houses on American farms.

For healthier, more productive flocks, build a concrete poultry house. Concrete has no crevices for lice, mites and other parasites; keeps out rats, weasels and vermin; is easy to keep warm, clean and dry; does away with the need for frequent, costly repairs.

Write for free booklet, "Concrete Poultry Houses," showing layouts of poultry, incubator and brooder houses of various types approved by state agricultural colleges.

Concrete farm jobs require a minimum of critical war materials.

You can build concrete improvements yourself. Or ask your cement dealer for names of concrete contractors.
