NUMBER 26

NAME WORKERS FOR CARNIVAL

Chairman E. C. Wilson Makes Formal Announcement of Committees

SIXTEEN SEPARATE FEATURES PLANNED

Everything Points to the Biggest Carnival of All on August 18th-25th

Clifford Wilson, Fire Chief and chairman of the Carnival Committee of the Aetna Hose, Hook and Ladder Company, announced yesterday the list of committee chairmen and workers for the 1923 Carnival. With but one exception, every stand has been assigned and the committees are squared away for the work of preparing for the week of August 19th to 25th.

For the most part, those men who are included in the committees are all experienced in carnival work, having been on the job year after year when Newark's biggest outdoor affair starts. Mr. Wilson stated that there may be a few more names added later but that this list is authoritative and final.

Open Air Theatre

Following its success last year, the firemen will again use the moving picture "airdrome." The new arrangement for the movies is more convenient, safe and economical than the old tent which was previously used. Movies, under the direction of A. L. Beals, chairman, will be held each night, with two or more shows on the program.

Another feature this year will be the Merry-Go-Round, whose attraction for young and old alike has not waned with the passing of years. The owner of the merry-go-round, it is understood, may place other concessions on the grounds, thus adding to the features of the Carnival.

While the grounds adjoining the High School are somewhat cramped by the erection of the new fire house nearby, the Carnival officials believe there is plenty of room for all.

The new Studebaker touring car to be awarded the last night of the Carnival is one of the latest 1924 models and is receiving many longing glances from passers-by in the showroom of Charles W. Strahorn, on East Main Street.

The new fire house will be thrown open to the public each night during the affair. Rest rooms for ladies will be fitted up, and visitors to Newark will be cordially welcomed by a special staff in the building.

The Committees

The following is the complete list of committees as prepared by Chairman Wilson:

Carnival Committee—E. C. Wilson, Henry Gregg, Norris Worrall, William Gregg, George W. Rhodes, Daniel Stoll, Thomas Spogal, Ray Jacobs, G. I. Durnall.

Treasurer—R. S. Gallaher. Assistants—Charles P. Medill, Harlan Herdman, F. M. Lutton, J. E. Dougherty, Irving Crow.

LOCAL TRAVELLERS RECEIVED BY POPE

Mussolini Also Entertains American Tourists In Rome

Directors of International Tours, Inc., have recently cabled to Newark people the news that a delegation of the students on the tour were received on the 23rd by His Holiness Pope Benedict in the Vatican in Rome. The message also stated that Premier Mussolini, perhaps the biggest political figure in Europe, played host to the American tourists on the 25th.

A letter from Miss Edith Spencer, a Newark member of the tour, reports a wonderful trip so far. The letter stated that all the local travellers were well and enjoying themselves thoroughly.

SLIGHT OPERATION

Mr. William Clancy, of this place, underwent an operation for the removal of his tonsils at the Delaware Hospital, Wilmington, last Friday. He is much improved at this writing.

PAINFULLY INJURED WHEN STRUCK BY CAR

Miss Alice Kerr Knocked Down and Bruised Near Her Home Saturday

While hurrying from the Newark-Wilmington bus directly in front of her home on Elktion Avenue last Saturday, Miss Alice Kerr was struck by a passing automobile, bearing a Pennsylvania license. A heavy rain was falling at the time, and Miss Kerr did not see the car approaching. The driver of the machine stopped immediately and offered his services. Miss Kerr, however, absolved him of all blame in the mishap. She is able to be about now, but is suffering from bruises and a severe shaking up.

GEORGE L. MEDILL RESIGNS STATE POST

Tenders Resignation To Governor Monday; Assumes New Duties Today

Due to the fact that the State Banking Commissioner cannot hold an office in a private banking concern, George L. Medill, on Monday last, tendered his resignation to Governor Denney. He was re-appointed to the important post by the Chief Executive a few weeks ago.

Mr. Medill entered upon his duties as vice-president of the Farmers' Bank in Wilmington today, receiving many congratulatory messages by phone and letter as well as several callers. He was elected to the position at a recent meeting of the officials of the bank, shortly after being appointed State banking Commissioner.

Governor Denney this week appointed Harold W. Horsey, of Dover, to fill the place resigned by Mr. Medill. Mr. Horsey is a graduate of Delaware College, Class of 1917, and is well known in Newark. He has been for some years connected with the investment firm of Laird, Bissell and Meeds, in Wilmington.

Banks On High Level

Since the creation of the office of State banking commissioner about four years ago, the banks of the State have maintained a high level of efficiency and not one failure has been reported. Mr. Medill performed his duties during his tenure of office in a thorough, sincere manner and won the respect and admiration of the bank officials all over the State. His appointment to the official family of the Farmers' Bank is a big stride forward for the Newark man.

ROBBERY ATTEMPT FOILED

William Smith, negro, was arraigned this morning in Elktion on a charge of attempted robbery. He was caught by Walter Truman, of Elktion, as he was about to break into the department store of John E. Gonce, on East Main Street. He had intended hurling a brick through a front window, it is alleged.

LOCAL FURNITURE DEALER LEAVES TOWN

A. L. Green Said to Have Left Trail of Bad Debts Behind Him

Legal action has practically ceased in the case of A. L. Green, a cabinet maker and furniture dealer, with a workshop and store room in the rear of Powell's restaurant building on Main Street. Attachments on what property was left behind were lifted yesterday and owners of the furniture left there for repair may have same upon identification. Green, it is alleged left town without notice about two weeks ago, leaving behind him a trail of debts. It is said that just prior to his exit he borrowed some money from several men in town. Chief among his creditors is Walter Powell, owner of the property in which he had set up his business. Mr. Powell has received no rent for several months.

Green repaired and refinished several pieces of valuable furniture for townspeople and was generally considered to be a good workman. It is alleged that he bought furniture on credit, refinished it and sold it for cash and failed to pay the original seller his price. It is understood that this procedure was followed on several occasions.

No trace of the missing man has been found to date.

CHILD WELFARE OFFICE OPENS

First Clinic Held Today in Council Offices—Open Once a Week

The Newark branch of the State Child Welfare Bureau opened today in the Donnell building on Main Street, now occupied by Town Council. The Council offices are still being maintained in the building pending the early completion of their new home on Academy Street. Both organizations can be accommodated in the former building, but the lease formally called for August 1st as the day of occupancy by the Welfare branch. Miss Marie Lockwood is the trained nurse assigned to this office and Mrs. Wigglesworth is in charge of the branch. The clinics will be held weekly, probably on Wednesdays, for the benefit of mothers and children of the community. Free advice and suggestions will be given and the nurse will be ready for duty at any time.

Meanwhile work is being rushed on the new Council offices in the old fire house. The interior is being extensively remodelled and re-arranged.

GRAY CARTER SAILED TODAY FOR ENGLAND

Will Spend Three Years At Oxford and Traveling On the Continent

George Gray Carter, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. George Carter of Newark sailed today shortly after noon from New York for Liverpool and Southampton. He will embark at the former port, it is understood, and thence go to join his brother, F. Bayard Carter, in Edinburgh, Scotland.

He was accompanied to New York by his mother and father and the party was joined there by Mrs. Charles Affleck of Brooklyn, formerly Miss Mildred Carter. The trip was made yesterday in the Carter car.

On Sunday, Mr. and Mrs. George L. Townsend gave a little dinner for Mr. and Mrs. Carter and Gray, and during the latter part of last week, the latter was kept busy saying goodbye to his many friends all through the State.

It is expected that Bayard Carter will arrive in the United States in the Fall, to complete his studies in medicine at Johns Hopkins University, Baltimore.

FURNITURE ARRIVES

Almost all the furniture and equipment for the new fire house has been installed. The committee in charge of the purchasing expects the rest of the rugs and chairs to arrive in a few days.

RECEIVE BOXING GLOVES

James King, former champion boxer of the A. E. F. forces and a resident of Newark, has presented the members of Battery E with a splendid set of kangaroo leather boxing gloves. It is said that several boxing and wrestling shows may be staged in the Armory this fall and winter.

BOYS' AND GIRLS' CLUB WEEK BEGINS IN NEWARK NEXT TUESDAY NOON

A. D. Cobb, State Leader, Predicts Biggest Attendance Ever of Club Members for Annual Instruction Course

ROOM IN DORMS—MEALS AT COMMONS

The annual Boys' and Girls' Club Week, held under the auspices of the Extension Department of the University Experiment Station, and under the personal direction of A. D. Cobb, State Club Leader, will begin next Tuesday at noon, when the club members from all over the State will arrive in Newark. They will remain here until Saturday of that week.

Mr. Cobb and his associates are busy arranging an attractive program of instruction and recreation for the youngsters in an effort to make their visit to Newark the most successful ever held.

Most of the instruction periods will be held at the College farm where special demonstrations in judging, care of stock and general farm practice will be held. The girls for the

LOCAL BATTERY GOES TO CAMP

Leave Saturday Morning for Long Island Training Camp

About fifty or more members of Battery "E," 198th Artillery, Anti-aircraft, Newark's unit in the National Guard of Delaware, will entrain at the Pennsylvania station here on Saturday morning for Camp Alexander Hamilton, on Long Island, New York, where they will spend six weeks of intensive military training, as prescribed by the War Department.

Two members of the group, William Crow and John Hughes will leave Friday evening. These men are company cooks and will have the first camp meal ready when the main body arrives Saturday.

The outfit will leave Newark on a special car at 9:13 a. m., going straight through to camp.

Local relatives and friends of the battery men may reach the unit by addressing the mail to Battery "E," 198th Artillery (A. A.), Camp Alexander Hamilton, Manorville, Long Island.

The company will accept recruits up until 8 o'clock Saturday morning. Those who will make the trip are:

Capt.—J. W. Davis.
1st Lt.—F. E. Mote.
2nd Lt.—H. W. Cook.
1st Sgt.—James C. Keeley.
Supply Sgt.—Howard D. Jester.

CARNIVAL CLOSES TONIGHT

The Elktion Firemen's Carnival will close this evening, rain or shine, according to the latest information. The affair has been considerably handicapped by rain this week.

NEGRO BADLY INJURED

Alfred Taylor, a negro, was seriously cut by flying glass in a motor accident near Cooch's Bridge last night. Face and head wounds, some of them requiring many stitches, were treated by a local physician.

EVERYBODY OUT

Newark Plays New Castle in a County League Baseball game on Frazer Field next Saturday afternoon. The game starts promptly at 3 o'clock.

Local fans are urged to be present to see these rivals battle for a victory.

DELAWARE BOYS SEE PARIS

Now At Work in School At Nancy

The Post is in receipt of Greetings from the University of Delaware French students, dated from Paris. Kenneth Mendenhall spokesman for the party recites of wonderful times in Paris and announces their schedule for the future. By this time they are settled at Nancy for their school work.

This experiment is being watched by educators, diplomats, and big business men all over the world. Delaware has naturally a pride and with it a responsibility to make successful this project of international understanding.

SUMMER SCHOOL CLOSES FRIDAY

Successful Session Has Prepared Many For Teaching And College

The 1923 session of the University of Delaware Summer School will close Friday afternoon, after a six weeks' intensive course, which was attended by men and women from all parts of the State and from nearby sections.

Prof. W. A. Wilkinson, director of the school, has pronounced this session to be perhaps the best in the history of the school at Newark. Coupled with an adequate teaching staff and a uniformly good attendance at classes, the school had the advantage of hearing some of the finest lecturers in the East in the series arranged by the Service Citizens of Delaware.

Most of the students have prepared themselves this summer for advanced teaching standards in State schools, while others gained necessary credits for their entrance to colleges.

The present week is being spent on examinations in several courses. There will be no formal exercise to close the school. Grades in the various courses will be mailed to the students a week or two after the session closes.

HERMAN CONNOR, Jr. WINS TRIP TO SHOW

Crawford Sheldon of Glasgow Also Selected to Attend Dairy Exposition

A trip to the National Dairy Exposition, all expenses paid, is no small event, especially to an energetic farm boy. This trip was awarded to Herman Connor, Jr., of Newark, and Crawford Sheldon, of Glasgow, as a result of their winning high honors in the dairy cattle judging contest, held on several successful New Castle farms last Friday. The National Dairy Exposition will be held this year at Syracuse, N. Y., the week ending October 13th. The third member of the team will be chosen from down State.

The team will be sent under the direction of the Extension Service of the University of Delaware. The team will be coached under the personal supervision of Messrs. A. D. Cobb, State Club Leader, and R. O. Bausman, County Agricultural Agent.

LEVY COURT ASKED TO RULE ON AUTO LIGHTS

Cars on Lincoln Highway Every Night Without Proper Headlights

NEW STANTON ROAD

At the weekly meeting of the Levy Court yesterday, complaint was received from the Delaware Safety Council saying that every night there are automobiles traveling along the Lincoln Highway in this county, between Newark and Wilmington with but one light burning, thus becoming menaces to the safety of other motorists on the highway. The court referred the communication to County Engineer Grub to take up with special officer Jones.

The county engineer was also authorized by the Court to ask for bids for the construction of an improved road through Stanton and for a section of the Lancaster Pike. The Stanton community has been urging this action for some time and it will be a great advantage to the village and the nearby countryside.

ALLEGED ABDUCTOR HELD FOR COURT

Charged With Reckless Driving and Attempted Assault on Girl Near Newark

HEARING HELD AT OFFICE OF MAGISTRATE

Fined $50.00 and Costs and Held Under $5000 Bail for September Court

Joseph Sheer, thirty-five years of age, who gave his residence as 321 North 16th Street, Philadelphia, was given a hearing Monday evening in the office of Magistrate Daniel Thompson here charged with reckless driving, driving a car without proper license and attempted assault upon and abduction of his companion, Miss Marie Shutter, also of Philadelphia.

After hearing the testimony in the case, Magistrate Thompson fined Sheer $25.00 and costs on each of the first two charges and held him under $5000 bail for the September term of General Sessions Court. In default of payment of fines, Sheer was sentenced to the Workhouse for 60 days.

Collides With Truck

The case was brought to the attention of Newark authorities by a collision between Sheer's car and a meat truck belonging to Joseph Weiner, of Townsend, Del. The accident occurred at the intersection of Pike creek road and the Lincoln Highway about four miles east of town. Constable Ellison arrested Sheer for reckless driving and later when Miss Shutter appeared on the scene and preferred charges against the prisoner, the constable brought them both to Newark for the hearing.

The two cars were badly damaged but no one was injured. The truck suffered broken radius rods, the front wheels being driven clear under the frame. Both cars were damaged about the fenders and radiators.

Hearing In Newark

At the hearing held in Magistrate Thompson's office early Monday evening, Miss Shutter related the alleged abduction of her by Sheer under pretense of a dinner party in Philadelphia, and further stated that she was taken as far as Baltimore Sunday, remaining Sunday night at a hotel in Havre de Grace.

She stated that Sheer agreed to take her home but when between Newark and Wilmington he veered off into a side road, presumably Pike Creek road, and stopped at the foot of a hill near a bridge. It was there the attempted assault took place, according to the girl.

Dr. Merritt Burke, of Newport, happened by shortly after the accident and notified Newark authorities of the case.

Miss Shutter was held under bond as a material witness to appear at the September court. Her sister came down from Philadelphia to Newark Monday night, gave bond and took the girl home with her.

C. M. BEADENKOPF LOSES 16 SHEEP

Asks Levy Court for Reimbursement; Appraisal Ordered

As the outgrowth of a recent raid made by a dog on his farm near Newark, killing sixteen sheep including some lambs, C. M. Beadenkopf appeared before the Levy Court yesterday and asked that body to reimburse him for the loss sustained. The amount he asked was not disclosed.

The court ruled that Mr. Beadenkopf should abide by the laws of the State in regards to the case.

The law sets forth that the owner or owners of sheep or lambs killed, injured or destroyed shall immediately notify three disinterested farmers residing in the hundred in which the damage was done to view the sheep or lambs and appraise the damage.

The farmers making the appraisal, the law stipulates, shall give to the owner or owners a certificate signed by at least two of them, and, on presentation of the certificate, the county treasurer shall pay the amount of the appraisal.

"In no case," the law requires, "shall there be so appraised or paid a greater sum than five dollars for each sheep and three dollars for each lamb killed, injured or destroyed."

LAST OF LECTURE SERIES WELL ATTENDED

Newark Community Chorus Displays Real Talent at Sunday Evening Concert

The last of the series of Sunday evening services held in connection with the Summer School at the University was given last Sunday evening in Wolf Hall before another large and appreciative audience. The threatening weather kept many away but the auditorium was well filled when the program began.

The Newark community chorus under the direction of Miss Dora Wilcox, and assisted by Philadelphia and Newark soloists gave its first concert of the summer. The members of the chorus had rehearsed diligently for the occasion and the several numbers sung showed the results of real practice. The audience was pleased with the chorus and it was the general opinion that the community would do well to arrange other concerts during the early fall.

Miss Cora Frye, a soprano well known to Newark music lovers, came from Philadelphia to assist at the concert as did Howard P. Haug, tenor. Dr. George H. Ryden and Miss Kathryn Graybill were the local soloists. Miss Graybill and Dr. Ryden sang a duet during the evening which was very well received. The concert included many sacred songs and choruses of note and one or two were old favorites among music lovers.

Grace Pastor Speaks

Following the sacred concert, the pastor of the Grace M. E. Church, one of the largest in Wilmington. Dr. Johns took for his theme the lives of recent prophets of the gospel showing how they had followed the footsteps of Nicodemus, as having been born again and went forth preaching the teachings of Christ. He referred in his sermon to several great figures in medieval and modern religion including Martin Luther, John Wesley and Billy Sunday.

His sermon was carefully prepared and was followed closely by all present. The sermon was based on the biblical story of Nicodemus coming to Christ for counsel.

Lectures Great Success

The Sunday evening concerts this summer clearly upheld the reputation made by previous years in the matter of interest to the local community. Hardly one passed without Wolf Hall being crowded to its doors. The appreciative audiences were always on hand early and were rewarded with the appearance of some of the most prominent religious personages in the East.

The concerts arranged by W. LeRoy Fraim of Philadelphia preceding each sermon were strictly up to standard and compared favorably with those of other years.

Naughty, Naughty

A countryman on his first visit to New York came out of the Grand Central station into the confusion of Forty-second street, and after standing somewhat bewildered for a few minutes walked over to a traffic officer and said: "Mister, I want to go to Central Park."

"All right," said the officer. "You can go this time, but don't you ever, ever ask me again."—Everybody's Magazine.

His Progress

An old Southern planter met one of his former negroes whom he had not seen for a long time. "Well, well!" said the planter. "What are you doing now Uncle Amos?"

"I's preachin' of de gospel!"

"What! You preaching?"

"Yassah, marster, I's apreachin'."

"Well, well! Do you use notes?"

"Nossuh. At fust I used notes, but now I demands de cash."

President Harding

The President of the United States lies seriously ill in San Francisco. The deepest sympathy will be felt for the executive and his wife, and regret that his summer tour should be marred by this unfortunate illness. Above everything else President Harding is a man of tender sympathies and kindness. He would be the first to thrust out a hand to a friend in distress or need. The country has come to look upon him as having the finest qualities of heart. There will be universal sorrow that he is now an ill man and if the hopes of the citizens everywhere are realized he soon will recover.

The above from the Every Evening shows the heart throb of America at its best. A Democratic paper, a critic of the policies of the present Administration, it speaks kindly and true of the Nation's Chief in his distress. Sadness, emergencies, danger—all bring us together so quickly.

Every American, today, worthy of the name awaits anxiously for the latest news from the bedside of Warren Harding—the man, the President and by virtue of oath and office—The First American.

The Lecture Series

The Concert and Lecture Series of the Summer School is now history. Their success is admitted, the pleasure given is generally recognized but their influence cannot be reckoned, now or ever. We are not speaking at this time, of the Summer School and its unusual success but of the lectures and concerts to which the public has been admitted. Newark and surrounding community is signally fortunate in the opportunity to thus hear and enjoy in their home town the Nation's thinkers and artists.

Speaking for the Community, these words are but simple appreciation of the opportunity given. We believe we express the thought of the town when we thank the Service Citizens and all those who made possible and directed this work. Increasing interest and popularity was plainly shown by the audiences this season. The general comment is the question—Will they be continued another year?

VAUDEVILLE SHOW AND DANCE MAKE MERRY WEEK-END FOR SUMMER SCHOOL

The last full week-end of the current summer school session was crammed full of entertainment for the members of the school and their guests, and nearly all were present for the celebration.

A farewell dance was held in the Commons on Saturday evening, while Wolf Hall was the scene Friday evening of a clever vaudeville show, with music, dancing and dialogue providing plenty of entertainment for a large audience.

Show Proves Successful

The show was divided into short skits, interspersed with several vocal and piano solos.

The clever dancing of Aubrey Travers, well known principal in several Footlights Club shows at the College, and in plays given by townspeople, delighted the audience. Mr. Travers gave three dances, the "Old Fashioned Girl," "The Scarecrow" and "Harlequin." The costumes were particularly attractive and were designed by Mr. Travers, and made by Mrs. Travers. This was probably the last time Mr. Travers will dance before a Newark audience, as he leaves shortly for his new home near Vineland, N. J., where he will take up poultry raising. He is taking major studies in Poultry Husbandry at the Rehabilitation School here. He was accompanied at the piano by Miss Emily Vineyard, of Milford.

A laugh-provoking hospital scene opened the show. A patient on a stretcher was brought in by several nurses and a prominent "surgeon" operated immediately in full view of the audience, using a cleaver and butcher knife. The operation proved successful, and the patient will recover from "projectitis," a disease now prevalent among Summer School students.

Then followed recitations, black-face dialogues, and a Broadway chorus, fresh from the Manhattan. Chorus was lead by Miss Eleanor Titus, chairman of the social committee at the School.

The Seven Ages of Women, an attractively original piece depicting the various stages in the life of a woman, evoked appreciative applause from the audience.

Several Solos Please

During the intermission between acts by the students, several solos were given.

Miss Dora Wilcox played two selections on the piano, and Dr. George H. Ryden sang two baritone solos. A piano solo by Miss Vineyard also pleased.

Miss Kramer Dances

An interpretative dance by Miss Ollie Kramer delighted those present. Miss Kramer has won many admirers by her dancing in Women's College affairs. She gave a Robin Hood Dance Friday night, accompanied at the piano by Miss Elizabeth McNeal.

Farewell Hop Saturday

About seventy-five couples enjoyed a farewell dance in the Commons Saturday evening. It was an informal affair and all present enjoyed it immensely.

After greeting the patronesses, headed by Mrs. Annie E. Snyder, Dean of Women, the dancers went through a formal grand march before the first dance. Winthrops Orchestra furnished excellent music for the dancing. Punch was served during the evening.

In the lounge rooms, a series of clever games were indulged in by members of the school who do not dance. They were led by two young women from the Wilmington Community Service.

FISHING IS GOOD AND SPORT A-PLENTY AWAITS YOU AT THE NEW JERSEY COAST RESORTS

If Isaac Walton were alive, he might still love to rest by the side of the peaceful brook in quest of the sport his gentle nature loved so well, but his modern followers, seeking the thrill which only the true fisherman understands, of landing the gamey fish of the sea, find at the resorts along the Jersey Coast ideal spots and unexcelled facilities for fishing, where fish abound.

WHERE THE FISH AWAIT YOU

Atlantic City	Corsons Inlet	Seaside Park
Wildwood	Beach Haven	Seaside Heights
Angelsea	Long Branch	Belmar
Cape May	Barnegat Pier	Asbury Park
Stone Harbor	Ocean City	Bay Head
	Somers' Point

With their bays and inlets and fishing grounds, the Shrewsbury, Shark and Delaware Rivers, the great wide Barnegat Bay, Little Egg Harbor, Grassy Sound, Hereford Inlet, Townsend Inlet, the fishing banks out at sea and the many fishing piers along the coast, all combine to present a piscatorial paradise.

BURNISH UP YOUR FISHING TACKLE

Forget your cares and worries and enjoy a day of royal sport. THE FISH AWAIT YOU! THE JERSEY COAST INVITES YOU! SELECT YOUR BAIT! TAKE YOUR CHOICE!

Weak Fish	Sea Bass	Croakers
Flounders	King Fish	Cape May Goodies
	Blue Fish	Sheepshead

A sail on the sea, a boon companion with you, a care-free day or week-end vacation with rod and reel—what more could be desired?

Heat by Radiators

—and you will have a heating system that saves time, temper and money.

Adequate radiation, correctly installed, means heat that properly takes care of any desired variation in room temperatures. The fact that there is a separate heating unit (the Radiator) in each room, permits the keeping of a healthful temperature throughout the house. The result is greater satisfaction, with less expense than with old-fashioned methods.

When properly designed and installed, in even the coldest weather, three or four firings in twenty-four hours, is all that is necessary with radiator heat.

Fatima Axworthy Again Carries Off Feature Event
J. P. T. Also Wins Again

While farmers and sportsmen from the Newark-Glasgow-Middletown district were torn between their universal need of a good horse race, and their desire to see a horse race, and between the two issues, were exceedingly flustered, it happened that they saw both the horse race, and a racing rain, all of which made the evening Saturday evening an at all time for several weeks. Lowering skies and a stubbornizzle kept a good many of the faithful from the Wirt Willis track near Glasgow Saturday afternoon, but there was still a good crowd present at the start of the first event.

The big event of the day, bringing together two well-known horses of the community was the third event on card, Fatima Axworthy, a speedy gelding repeated her victory of the last meeting when she carried off the event in straight heats. The first at went in 2:25½, with Ruth Todd finishing the competition. Fatima came right back and carried off the second dash in two seconds slower. The Willis entry, Laura Axworthy, could do no better than second in the last heat.

The fourth event brought together favorites with the fans, all the entries being regular entries at the Willis matinees. Prince Boy won the wraps in two heats; Bohemia and Doctor Dell were second in respective heats. Wapontett, the winner two weeks ago was a disappointment to his followers.

The Saturday afternoon racing at the Glasgow track has been attracting a great deal of attention among the horsemen of the locality, and had it not been a bad day, a record crowd would have witnessed the racing. The last of the series of meetings will be held a week from next Saturday. The Summaries:

NEWARK WILL NOT ENTER SUSQUEHANNA BASEBALL LOOP

Report That Local Club Takes Place of Rising Sun Unfounded—River League Crippled by Loss of Contender

NEWARK PLAYS NEW CASTLE HERE

Reports circulated during the past few days to the effect that Newark's County League team will enter the Susquehanna League, taking the place of Rising Sun, are unfounded, according to Dr. George W. Rhodes, president of the local baseball association.

Dr. Rhodes when reached Monday stated that he did not believe the directors of the Club would sanction the withdrawal of the team from the County League and branded the rumors as false.

The Newark-Five Points battle scheduled for last Saturday and postponed on account of rain, has not been definitely assigned. The game will probably be played at the close of the season.

Efforts to transfer the New Castle game next Saturday to the Fishtown grounds met with failure. The officials of the New Castle club wish to arrange the game for the benefit of several hundred visitors to be there as guests of the city. It is now assured that the game will be played on Frazer Field next Saturday afternoon.

Rising Sun Leaves League
Maryland baseball fans were surprised to hear of the withdrawal recently of the Rising Sun team, one of the original entrants in the first league and a chief contender in every pennant race.

Manager Taylor Biles, of Rising Sun, himself one of the organizers of the league, took this action because of a fine of $25.00 imposed on him by President Jewell, and the awarding of the Perryville-Rising Sun game of July 14th to the former team. The trouble arose over the participation in the game of Hasson, an alleged member of the Martinsburg, Blue Ridge League team, and a member of organized baseball. President Jewell interpreted the rules of the league which specifically state the penalty for signing a class player.

On the other hand Manager Biles stated that Hasson had been released from his Martinsburg contract before playing with the Sun boys, and later was recalled and signed a new contract for the Blue Ridge League.

No team has as yet been decided upon to take the place of the ousted club.

Rising Sun was a healthy contender for second half honors during the past week or two. The memorable battles between that team and Elktion in the past, which games were always witnessed by record crowds, will be but a memory. Manager Biles appears determined to keep his team out of the league.

NEWARK BOYS LEAVE FOR PLATTSBURGH

Four Enrolled In Citizens Military Training

Four Newark boys left Monday of this week for a month's training course at the Citizens Military Training Camp at Plattsburgh, N. Y. They are Henry C. Townsend, George L. Townsend, 3rd, H. James Watson, Jr., and James Thompson.

The Plattsburgh camp is an infantry camp and one of several such posts to which the young men of the country will train during the month of August. About 150 boys from Delaware are scheduled to attend the various camps. Fort Hancock, Camp Dix and Madison Barracks are the other three camps to which the boys from this state will go.

Mistaken

"John, John!" whispered a congressman's wife. "Wake up! I'm sure there are robbers in the house."
"Robbers in the house?" he muttered, sleepily. "Absolutely preposterous. There may be robbers in the Senate, Mary, but not in the House. Absurd."

PROVIDENCE TIES DELAWARE MILLS

League Games Postponed On Account of Heavy Rain

Providence played a twilight game with the Delaware Mills team of Wilmington, last Wednesday evening, July 25th.

The game was a very interesting one and ended in a 7-7 tie in nine innings, being called on account of darkness. Evans for the home team struck out 15 of the visitors. The hitting of Strawbridge for the Delaware boys was the feature of the game, he being responsible for five of their seven runs, collecting tow home runs, one with one man on and the other with two men on. Lindsay's playing around second base for the visitors was also notable. The score:

GRAY CARTER LEAVES

This column joins most heartily with the community at large in bidding God Speed to George Gray Carter, a Newark boy, who sailed today for England there to take up his studies at Oxford University as a Rhodes Scholar.

Gray, as he is known to most everybody, is a typical embodiment of ideal American youth. A keen mind, and able body and an even temperament are his—all three well developed but not in a way to encroach upon one of the others.

When Gray caught baseball games for Delaware, it was not entirely his splendid physique which called the attention of Eastern baseball experts to him. It was brawn plus BRAINS. That's what made him a catcher extraordinary.

We, of course, feel that we have more than a passing interest in Gray, for he is indeed, a firm friend. But even as a stranger, he would seem, to us, to be a real American boy, sincere, talented and ambitious.

And it is with a feeling of sincere admiration that we here congratulate Gray and his proud mother and father. Two study sons, both splendid athletes, and both recipients of one of the highest of all student honors, the Rhodes Scholarship.

Is there not reason to be proud?

WE REGRET TO REPORT

Our estimable special writer, Mr. Joseph Spivus, is now sojourning at his Turkey Point country estate for the next two weeks. He wishes thereby to gain a complete rest from his journalistic work. He informs THE POST that the crabbing and mosquito hunting is fine.

Readers of this column will thus be deprived of his weekly classics for the nonce.

AND GREAT WAS THE FALL THEREOF

Every community, not only in Delaware, but all over the country has something of which to be proud. And rightly so. In this section, history is the instrument most used. Cooch's Bridge, New Castle, Dover, Lewes, communities without number have at some time in the dim past taken their place as important locations. Therefore, have the people derived a pride which is all enveloping.

But sometimes history takes a temporary slump and another rival takes its place. And here is where we come to the real story.

Down in Harrington, Delaware, the rival has-taken the shape of a race horse. And strange to say, there are more people in that town who can tell you its pedigree than can place Caesar Rodney.

Minor Hal, owned by Senator Charlie Murphy, and driven by Ed. Saunders, is a Harrington institution. He has beaten so many pretenders to his laurels as to defy count. He is known from the Cypress swamps of Sussex to the wheat fields of Middletown. When he starts, all Harrington reaches in its pockets for more cash.

So on Thursday last, the biggest day of the Fair ever held in Harrington, the great Minor Hal took the track for another conquest in the free-for-all pace.

And he did it here that never before did Harrington receive such a jolt as she did that day.

For down from Newark came a dainty little brown mare, trained and driven by our own Herman Tyson, and completely spoiled the parade. Cherry Willis beat the big sorrel pacer and beat him before most of Sussex and Kent Counties. And since that sad hour, Senator Charlie and his cronies have been wailing and gnashing their teeth.

Brethren, that was a hoos race!

Three heats, all blanket finishes, a track record broken and a new conqueror crowned—that's the layout.

The Tyson mare never faltered once during the test, pacing like a little machine. After breaking the track record of 2:10½ in the first dash, Saunders drove his sorrel past the stand—and the stand went wild. Reputable witnesses will agree that it was the last squeak of the afternoon.

The third and deciding heat saw Cherry Willis at the pole with Minor Hal at her shoulder for three quarters of the distance. Coming into the stretch, Saunders went to the whip and the big gelding closed up a few inches. Saunders did everything but fall off the sulky in that last hundred yards, but he could not disturb the little brown beauty along the rail. Tyson lifted his reins a trifle and just sat there. And that is the way they went under the wire, Cherry Willis a good head in front.

That race was more than an upset—it was a calamity.

While newspaper reports failed to mention Cherry Willis and Herman Tyson, those who saw that race were not deceived. It was a bitter pill for Harrington to swallow, and they kept it as quiet as possible.

So once again Newark came through with an intersectional victory. And horse lovers in this community are proud of the little mare and her wise trainer.

A Labor of Love

Making a Will is a labor of love for your wife and family. It is the crowning act of forethought that will help to protect them when they must battle alone with the shifting sands of fortune.

Making the proper arrangements may be a simple proposition or it may be difficult, involving a great deal of study and careful thought. In any case it will be easier, if you confer with your attorney and with our officers, who know from experience how to proceed.

Newark, July 30, 1923.

The Newark Post:

I am writing you in regard to an item which appeared in the Post last week saying that—

"Mr. and Mrs. T. E. Johnson announce the engagement of their daughter Edith to Mr. Meade Ragan."

This is not correct, and was not sent in by any of those concerned. I suppose it was sent by some mean, unprincipled person. I am not blaming the editor at all, but would like very much to know who the guilty one was. All I ask is that you will correct the matter by publishing a denial of the statement above.

(Mrs.) T. E. Johnson.

R. D. No. 2. Newark, Delaware.

We regret more than we can say that this report was published. If the Post has one rule above another, it is that every item published is verified. At the head of our Editorial column we print the fact that no news sent in without name of author is published. This policy has often been questioned and criticised and often it is, correspondence is thrown out because the writer has failed to add his signature as standing responsible.

But in the above instance, by one of those chance errors, this report slipped through and was published without investigation. We can appreciate the embarrassment to all the parties concerned but can relieve the situation only by this correction. It is a proof in conclusive evidence how carefully the printed word should be edited.

Whether this be a practical joke or the work of pure maliciousness, we do not know. This we do know, however, that the author is a coward to thus be ashamed of his or her name and to cause such embarrassment.

We are glad to make this correction and realize more than ever that our rule established for verification of all news is most worthy of continuance.

Incidentally, it would be scant courtesy if those papers who copied this item from the Post would make similar correction—Ed.

The New Studebaker
Special-Six Touring Car

Before you buy any car, see the
STUDEBAKER
1924 MODELS

Studebaker presents its complete line of 1924 models, announced a week ago, with the conviction that they will increase the prestige of the name Studebaker which, for 71 years, has stood for the best in transportation, quality and value of product.

Into these 1924 cars are built every proved feature in design that makes for the comfort, convenience and safety of passengers, and many refinements that further enhance the value of a line of cars already highly perfected.

It is common knowledge in the steel industry that Studebaker uses only the highest grades of the finest steels. And the same is true of the electrical equipment, instruments, bearings, batteries, upholstery, finishing paints, tires and accessories used in Studebaker cars.

It is equally well known that Studebaker, with $90,000,000 of actual net assets, including $45,000,000 of plant facilities, is unsurpassed in ability and resources to manufacture economically and give maximum intrinsic value for a given price.

Produced under these favorable conditions, the 1924 Studebakers are distinctly the finest cars and greatest values Studebaker ever offered.

These are not careless statements. They are facts that reflect the honesty and integrity of the manufacturer and its product just as they do the truth of Studebaker advertising.

The public has placed its confidence in Studebaker by accepting these facts, supported by the performance of Studebaker cars in owners' use. That's why Studebaker sales for the past six years have increased progressively each year and sales for the first six months of 1923 of 81,880 cars broke all six months' records.

Studebaker never cheapens quality to meet competition. The name Studebaker stands for satisfaction and service.

NEWARK POST, NEWARK, DELAWARE, AUGUST 1, 1923.

NUMBER 26

REHAB STUDENT IN MARRIAGE TANGLE

Allege Joseph R. Smith Married Without Divorce From Wife No. 1

HEARING THIS WEEK

An Elkton despatch to the Post last Friday stated that the authorities of that town had arrested one Joseph R. Smith on a charge of bigamy, and had placed him under a $1500 bond for appearance at a hearing this week.

It is alleged that Smith has two wives living, the charges being brought by Miss Virginia C. Young of Norristown, Pa., who stated that she and Smith were married in Elkton on August 22nd, 1922, by the Rev. Daniel Forbes Lockertie.

She however recently discovered that on May 9th, 1917, Smith had married a Miss Elizabeth Given, immediately prior to his leaving for France with his unit at the entrance of the United States in the Great War. It was further stated that Smith had deserted his first wife and without obtaining a divorce had married Miss Young.

Contrary to the erroneous reports being circulated throughout the State, Smith is not a student of the University proper but of the Rehabilitation Division and is taking the course in General Agriculture. He is registered in the catalogue as being from Conshohocken, Pa., and is well known among the students of the division.

The details of the arrest were simply the following of the procedure by the county authorities in lodging a detainer upon the accused, and the formal charge of bigamy.

MIDDLETOWN

Mrs. John Wright has returned from Brooklyn, N. Y.

Mrs. Edward Reynolds is at Rehoboth.

Miss Effie Riley, of Laurel, is visiting her sister, Mrs. C. C. Hopkins.

Mrs. Joseph R. Heldmyer and children are spending two weeks at Reynolds' Wharf.

Miss Jane Reed Anderson, of Washington, is the guest of Mrs. W. S. P. Combs.

Mrs. Katherine Slaughter, of Lebanon, is the guest of Mrs. James C. Hall.

Mrs. W. R. Jacobs is spending a week with her aunt, Mrs. J. B. Montgomery, at New Castle.

Mrs. Burton Hall and little daughter, of New York City, are spending sometime with Mr. and Mrs. William B. Hall.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard S. Kane, of Philadelphia, are spending a week with Mr. and Mrs. Dan M. Cochran, near town.

Mr. and Mrs. Jesse L. Shepherd and daughter, Miss Jessie, left last week for a month's trip through the Canadian Rockies and Canada.

Mr. and Mrs. W. K. Betts and son Winfield, were entertained over the weekend by Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Records at their cottage at Rehoboth.

Postmaster and Mrs. John J. Jolls have returned home from a trip to Fort Constitution, N. H., where they visited Lieutenant and Mrs. Ephraim P. Jolls.

Mrs. Joseph A. Noe, of Pittsburgh, Pa., entertained with a luncheon at her home recently to announce the engagement of her daughter, Miss Betty Noe, to Allen J. Johnson, of Atlantic City, son of Dr. and Mrs. J. Allen Johnson of this town.

ERECT BIG MONUMENT

Joseph Sloan, Elkton marble and granite contractor, is busy erecting a beautiful memorial monument in Elkton Presbyterian Cemetery for Ex-Postmaster - General Creswell and wife, formerly county residents. The monument is somewhat on the style of the Soldiers Memorial now standing at the Court House corner. One slab which goes into the completed work weighs 10 tons.

PRETTY WEDDING IN STANTON

Fisher-Hedlicka Nuptials Attended By Many Relatives and Friends

At the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Fisher, of Stanton, Miss Ethel Josephine Fisher, and Mr. Joseph Otto Hedlicka, of Wilmington, were married at 4 o'clock Saturday afternoon by Rev. Z. W. Wells, pastor of the New Castle Methodist Church. The bride was attended by Miss Sadie Simpson, of Wilmington, as maid of honor. Mr. T. Vaughn Crawford, of Wilmington, was best man. The bride wore white canton crepe and carried a shower bouquet of bride roses. The maid of honor wore orchid colored canton crepe and carried pink roses. Following the ceremony a reception was held at the Fisher home which was decorated with palms, ferns and cut flowers. Mr. and Mrs. Hedlicka left in the evening for New York, Niagara Falls, Canada and the Great Lakes. Upon their return they will live at Stanton. The bride's traveling costume was dark blue canton crepe with hat to match. Both young people and well known in Stanton and Wilmington. Mr. Hedlicka is employed in the Wilmington postoffice.

MILITARY DISPLAY DRAWS BIG CROWD

Searchlight and Anti-Aircraft Battery Feature the Demonstration

198th BAND IN CONCERT

About two hundred townspeople gathered at the High School field on Academy street, Friday evening, to witness the military demonstration of the 198th Field Artillery (anti-aircraft) of which Battery E of Newark is a member.

Chief among the features of the display were the anti-aircraft guns and the 2,000,000 candle power searchlight. The scene during the firing of the 75 m. m. guns with the brilliant beam from the searchlight playing across the sky recalled to many of the ex-service men present the nights in France and Belgium during the Great War.

The 198th Field Artillery Band under the direction of Capt. Harvey Bounds played two or three selections during the celebration. Previous to the artillery display, members of Battery E gave a short drill for the spectators who arrived early.

The machine gun demonstration failed to materialize owing to the jamming of the guns by the blank ammunition used. These guns are of no display value without bullets, and the near proximity of buildings and spectators forbade the use of the regular cartridges.

The entire demonstration lasted less than a half hour, and the trucks containing the searchlight and the big guns left for their base in Wilmington. Several officers and men from the city batteries came down with the caravan.

Newark's battery is after recruits to bring the company up to full strength before leaving for camp next Saturday. The camp will last about four weeks.

LOCAL BOYS GIVE DANCE

A dance will be held this evening in the Armory by a committee of young men of Newark. Shorter's Orchestra from Wilmington has been engaged for the occasion.

Members of the committee are John Mayer, Leo Moore, Charles Clarke and William Schwartz.

BREAK GROUND FOR ADDITION

Workmen broke ground last week for an addition to the Radnor Mills of the Jessup and Moore Paper Co. at Elkton. The new building will house a complete rotary incinerator unit, an important part of pulp-making process. With its completion the mill will be equipped with two such units. Radnor Mills has one of the largest production records of any such industry in the United States.

"I may seem cruel, Topsy," said a young man, "but I ought to tell you that last night at your party your sister promised to marry me. Will you forgive me for taking her away?" "Forgive you!" replied she. "Why that's what the party was for."

POWDER BOYS MAKE MERRY AT GOLF, DINNER, AND DANCE IN NEWARK

Two Hundred and Fifty at Dinner in Commons Thursday Evening--duPont Club Guests of Hercules Club

DuPONT GOLFERS SWAMP THEIR HOSTS

The Newark County Club and later in the day, the University Commons, were scenes of great activity last Thursday, when about two hundred and fifty members of the duPont and Hercules Clubs of Wilmington, their wives and friends spent the afternoon and evening in Newark.

The occasion was a party given by the duPont Club to their friends, the Hercules Club. Both organizations are social groups whose members are connected in the various departments of these two great powder companies.

In the afternoon, the guests began arriving by auto at the Country Club grounds. The links were crowded by the golfers all afternoon, and competition between the twosomes ran high. Later in the afternoon, tennis matches between members of the two clubs were staged on the University courts, and some very smart tennis was displayed by both the men and ladies.

Dinner and Dance

Promptly at seven-thirty, the members of the two organizations and their friends sat down to dinner in the Commons. The dinner was prepared under the supervision of Miss Reese, dietitian at the Summer School, and A. G. Wilkinson, Business Administrator of the College, attended to the arrangements for the guests.

Following the dinner, the visitors enjoyed dancing until midnight. The entire outing went off without a hitch and the Wilmington people spent a most enjoyable time in Newark. This was the first time the powder clubs chose Newark as their pleasure ground, and it is likely that the visit will be repeated next summer.

BAD BLAZE IN SMYRNA OVERCOMES FIREMAN

Cole Property On Main St. Destroyed With $3000 Loss

A fireman was overcome by smoke, three autos and a barn destroyed and a house damaged by fire of undetermined origin on the property of Martin Cole, Main street, Smyrna, about two o'clock Saturday morning.

While fighting the blaze which caused about $3,000 damage, Samuel Cole, a cousin of the owner of the property and a member of the Smyrna fire company was overcome.

URNS FORD INTO AIRPLANE FOR ONE GLORIOUS MOMENT NO CASUALTIES

Local Man "Takes Off" Through Backstop on Frazer Field Recently--Air Currents Prevent Longer Flight

TON TRUCK HARD TO NAVIGATE

An experiment of no small interest has recently come to light, after remaining under cover for all of two weeks. As a scientific venture in the realm of aeronautics, it proved a dismal failure but for thrills--it was a huge success. Here is the story as it came from an interested party.

George Buttles, physical director of the Rehabilitation Division, baseball coach and lately swimming instructor for men at the Summer School essayed to defy the existing natural laws of gravity with a one-ton Ford truck, belonging to the Rehabilitation Division. He, it is understood, essayed enough but unfortunately failed to prove his theory--that a Ford can navigate the air.

It all happened to George on Frazer Field one day about two weeks ago, when he drove the truck behind the back-stop at the lower corner, then suddenly stricken with a desire to do something different, found himself going through the backstop and leaving the high embankment in a flying leap, Ford and all.

Splendid Golf Scores

The duPont Club won an overwhelming victory over the Hercules golfers at the Country Club in the afternoon, winning 32 matches to their opponents' 11. One match ended in a tie.

R. L. Kramer and J. C. Guenveur, of duPont, were the golf stars of the day. Kramer turned in a card of 39-42, for a total of 81. Guenveur tied this score with 41-40. These scores put them three strokes ahead of E. L. Kinsler, of duPont.

C. C. Gerow played one of the best games for Hercules, when he defeated W. J. Morley, of duPont, by 2 and 1.

Miss Beacom, of duPont, turned in a 56, the low score for the women. Miss O'Connor, of duPont, was second with 59. The Hercules women were far more successful on the links than the Hercules men. Mrs. John Shaw won from Miss Tatnall, of duPont, 2 and 1. Mrs. C. W. Hymer, Hercules, defeated Mrs. L. C. Read, duPont, 2 and 1. Misses Hasson, Cutts and Osborne, and Mrs. Clark were the other four Hercules who helped to win six out of the ten games among the ladies.

The tennis matches, held on the University of Delaware courts, resulted in nine victories for duPont and four for Hercules.

Boyd Cooling, the Hercules star, once more displayed his brilliance in defeating Koffenberger, one of the duPont cracks, in straight sets, 6-3, 6-4.

Powelson, who recently arrived from the Pacific Coast, added greatly to the strength of the Hercules aggregation. He won from Whitney, of duPont, in straight sets, 6-4, 6-1.

Cooling and Powelson won their doubles match by defeating Koffenberger and Manchester in a well-played contest, score 7-5, 6-4.

ENGAGEMENT ANNOUNCED AT PARTY TODAY

Miss Emily Williams, of Elkton, gave a party this afternoon at her home, "Brantwood," near town, for a number of her friends. During the party announcement was made of the engagement of Miss Sara J. Brown and Mr. George McKeown, both well known young people of Elkton.

He was revived shortly after. One of the destroyed autos was owned by Mrs. Cole while the other two were the property of Samuel Gooden and James Van Pelt.

The home of John Pillotson, colored, which adjoins the Cole property, was damaged by the fire.

UNUSUAL AMOUNT OF GANGRENE IN HOCKESSIN

Six Old Residents Stricken By Dangerous Disease In Few Months

The Hockessin community has had six of its old and respected residents stricken with deadly gangrene poisoning during the last four or five months, of whom two died from the disease. Two more were forced to undergo operations for the amputation of feet and legs. Seldom has the disease struck one community so hard.

Philip T. Pierson, a Hockessin farmer, had his right leg amputated in the Hahnemann Hospital, Philadelphia, recently. Since the operation his condition has improved. He is 74 years old. Oliver Eastburn, of near Union, is in the Delaware Hospital, where his leg was amputated. He is 76 years old.

Harrison Worth, of near Newark, and Harry Chandler, of near Kennett Square, died as the result of the disease, which is caused by the stagnation of blood in a certain part of the body, due to poor circulation. The disease usually occurs in persons well advanced in years. The two other afflicted have recovered.

DEAN HAYWARD PAYS TRIBUTE TO F. W. AYER

Former Agricultural Head Here Takes Part In Memorial Service

A few weeks after the death of Mr. F. W. Ayer, the Master of Meridale Farms, there was held in the home church, Camden, N. J., a memorial service at which representative men in various walks of life spoke of their close relations with him.

Mr. Earl D. Babst, President of the American Sugar Refining Company, spoke of Mr. Ayer--The Business Pioneer; Mr. James C. Colgate, of Colgate & Company, of Mr. Ayer--The Religious Leader; Mr. Cyrus Curtis, founder and President of the Curtis Publishing Company, of Mr. Ayer--The Friend; Doctor John R. Mott, General Secretary of the Y. M. C. A. International Committee, of Mr. Ayer--The Christian Statesman; and Dean Harry Hayward, of Mr. Ayer--The Farmer.

The last address, prepared and presented by Mr. Hayward, formerly Dean of Delaware Agricultural College, now at the head of the Agricultural Division of the N. W. Ayer & Son organization--a man thoroughly familiar with Mr. Ayer's farming proclivities and policies, gave to a host of friends gathered to do him honor, a side-light on Mr. Ayer's career and personality with which many of them were unacquainted.

Mr. Hayward's address was repeated for the benefit of Delaware County friends and neighbors of Mr. Ayer during the Sunday evening services held at the Meridale Church near the Ayer farms on Sunday, July 22nd. The church was packed and all listened attentively to the splendid tribute to the man whom they all knew so well.

TAXI BUSINESS IN ELKTON GETS A JOLT

The last of the far-famed "marriage taxis" has made its last trip to the parson in Elkton. The mad scramble for lovelorn couples alighting from Pennsylvania trains in that town has ceased, and now there will be no more excitement around the historic station than at any other along the line. All because the Pennsy system has decided to abolish taxi stands in Elkton.

The railroad authorities have appointed John W. McCool, well known Elkton man as their sole agent in the business of getting the couples off to the minister as quickly as possible and back again for the next train.

The fare has also been regulated. For the entire trip, station to Court House to parson and back to station again the charge will be $3.00. For the transportation of a resident of town to or from the station the fare will be twenty-five cents.

The announcement while ruinous to the taxi men is generally well thought of in the town at large. The incessant, persistent activities of the taxi men, it is stated by one citizen, has made it very annoying for many patrons of the railroad.

POULTRY EXHIBIT A FEATURE AT THE FAIR

Entries in All Departments Close August 11th

Entries in all departments of the Delaware State Fair will close on Saturday, August 11, at 11 a. m., standard time. After that hour the books will be closed against any new entries in all classes and cannot be inspected by any one except proper officers, until awards shall have been announced. Every one who is anticipating entering the hundreds of contests in any of the departments of the Fair should see that their entries are in the hands of the Fair officials by August 11.

One of the big new exhibits at the Delaware State Fair this year will be that devoted to poultry, under the auspices of the United States Department of Agriculture. It will be one of the largest and most expensive of its character and will provide many suggestions and ideas for the advancement and profitable raising of poultry. Poultry, like other lines of livestock, must be properly managed to produce the best results. Improperly fed fowls kept in damp, dirty quarters, are not money makers. Good poultry management consists of properly built, clean, sanitary houses, correct feeds, and methods of feeding, careful selection for breeding purposes, early hatching, culling for egg production and other essentials. These factors and others are emphasized in the Government's exhibit. There will be found illustrations of six-unit gable roof and combination roof poultry houses; brood coup; three section trap nests; dry mash hoppers; standard varieties of poultry and illustrations showing how a standard bred male will improve a mongrel flock; how to hatch early to produce fall and winter eggs; feeding hens for egg production; preparing birds for exhibition; capons and caponizing; pedigreed breeding; and culling the farm flock. Each one of these factors will be orally explained by Government experts in poultry who will attend the Fair and answer all questions regarding raising chickens as a money making business. Their explanations will be supplemented by literature which the Fair visitors can take home so that if he forgets what has been told him at the Fair the printed matter will act as a guide and refresh his memory.

Faster horses for larger purses, bigger and more cattle, lazier and fatter pigs, the greatest display of vegetables, most skillful exhibit of needle-work, sewing, canning and preserving, finest display of grain and forage, most varied vaudeville, and the most thrilling automobile and motorcycle races will make the 1923 Fair bigger and better than ever before.

APPLETON

Mrs. George T. Peterson and daughter, Ida, have returned home from a very enjoyable trip to Berkeley Springs, West Virginia, the hot baths being very beneficial.

A birthday surprise was given Mr. George W. Buchanan on Monday evening by his family. A beautiful gold watch and chain were presented to him by his wife. Cake, ice cream and lemonade were served in abundance. All had a very pleasant time and wished Mr. Buchanan many more happy birthdays.

Mr. Norman L. Burke, of Claymont, Del., spent the week-end with his family near here.

Mr. and Mrs. George W. Buchanan spent Sunday with their son, Norman L. Buchanan, of Newark.

The community wish to extend their sympathy to Mr. and Mrs. Paul W. Peterson in their sad bereavement.

Mr. Edgar M. Buchanan spent Sunday with his sister, Mrs. Taylor Brown, of Fairhill, Md.

Master Paul W. Burke is spending the summer with his sister, Mrs. William Oman, of Wildwood, N. J.

W. James Holland, near Centre School House, has been spending some time with friends in Wilmington, motoring to Betterton and other interesting places.

The Story of Elkton, County Seat of Cecil County

Being a History of that Historic Town Written by Students of the High School, and Reprinted in The Post as a Concluding Chapter in "The History of Cecil County."

Cecil County High School, Elkton, Maryland

The "History of Cecil County," which concludes in this issue of The Post, was written by members of this school. The history first ran in the "High School Review," published by the students, and was reprinted in the Post by special permission.

ELKTON, MARYLAND

Elkton was settled about 1677. Simeon Johnson, who was the owner of property in Cecil County at that time, came to the head of the Elk and had a dwelling built there. Later he sold the whole tract of land to a George Talbot, who named this tract of land "Friendship," and put at the eastern limit a stone marked with the letter "F" which can be seen along the Red Hill road.

"Friendship" covered the greater part of Elkton. In December, 1683, George Talbot agreed with three Swedes to build a mill, these men were to get fifty acres of land apiece for building the mill. They built what is now Davis and Vinsinger's Mill. Each man was given his share of land but sold it soon afterward to Henry Hollingsworth. Mr. Hollingsworth had the Court House moved from Charles-town to Elkton.

In April, 1787, Elkton was incorporated as a town. The first court was held in a house kept by John Barnaby, on June 1, 1787. This house was torn down to make room for the addition to the Scott Fertilizer Company.

In 1837 or '38 a large fire that threatened to destroy the town occurred on Main Street. It was fought with an old hand engine which is still in existence. The ladies of the town carried the water while the men worked the engine. It was said to be a regular man-killer. The whole town worked with such energy that the conflagration was finally subdued.

There has been considerable discussion over the origin of the name "Elkton." When Elkton was first settled, it was called Elkton being situated at the head of the Elk River. Later it was changed to Elkton.

That part is easily understood but the question is: How did the Elk River get its name?

The general explanation of this is, that when Captain John Smith sailed up the river, he noticed that the river resembled the horns of an Elk, and therefore called it the Elk River.

This may be true, but so far no one knows the origin of the name as Captain Smith did not mark the river on his map.

When the town was organized it contained but six houses. It has finally increased its size until it covers an area of about a hundred acres, and has a population of 2,919 persons.

Elkton like a number of the oldest towns on the eastern shore of Maryland, can boast of more than one historic place of interest. One of the earliest of which there is any record is the house located in the western part of the town. This building was a hotel when the British were here in 1777. According to tradition, General Washington and General Howe were at one time guests in this house, and General Howe occupied the same room and was waited upon by the same negro servant, who served Washington. The house is now occupied by Mr. B. B. Craycroft.

Standing in the heart of the town, on Partridge Hill, is an old historic mansion once the home of the Partridge family, whose grandfather, Colonel Henry Hollingsworth, was a very prominent citizen in Revolutionary days. Mr. Hollingsworth furnished firearms and ammunition for the American troops.

The house is built of English brick and has a wide hall through the center. The main parlor is on one side with the library and the breakfast room on the other. A quaint stairway ascends from the rear of the hall. The bedrooms suggest the space of colonial times. The first piano in Elkton was placed in this home.

In the year 1787 on the twelfth day of May, Colonel Henry Hollingsworth, by his deed of that date conveyed to seven trustees of Cecil County a lot of ground containing about an acre of land on which was to be erected a school.

When the school was first built it was composed of but one story. Later another story was added for a school of higher grades. It is certain that this building was used as a hospital by the British Army during the Revolutionary War while they were encamped in Elkton. During their encampment some of the soldiers died and were buried in different parts of the lot, which is now used by the pupils for a playground.

The grant of this land by Colonel Hollingsworth as expressed in his deed, was in consideration of promoting and encouraging a good school and a place of divine worship. In the deed there was also a proviso to this effect, "If the said property should cease to be a school of literature or for a place for the worship of Almighty God agreeably to the Christian faith, thereupon for the space of two years, then the trust estate should determine and the property revert to the grantor or his heirs."

This building called the "Elkton Academy" burned in 1854, and the present one was rebuilt in the same year, on the same site. The school is over sixty-seven years old and is now used as the Primary School of Elkton.

Another place of historic interest on the Main Street in the center of the town, is the Tobias Rudolph House. Granite steps lead up to the old house barely three feet from the curbstone.

The house is of brick and has a quaint old corner fireplace in each G.A.L. 2 History Cecil Co. 7.26.23 JAK room, and in the parlor fireplace is the eastern plate marked "T.R.—1767." The doors are of heavy oak with antique patterns and the old iron latches are still in use on a few. The stairway is very beautiful. It and the halls are paneled all the way to the garret. This building has been a landmark in the heart of Elkton since its erection nearly 154 years ago. Michael Rudolph was believed by many to be Marshal Ney of the staff of Napoleon Bonaparte. A descendant of this family was the wife of President Garfield.

The people of Cecil County were generally loyal to the cause of their country. However, one man named Robert Alexander prepared a fine feast and entertainment for the British officers at his home, now the Bratton property. While the host was on the errand to invite his guests, Lafayette and his troops reached Elkton, coming by way of Red Hill, and the feast fell into their hands.

Alexander acted as agent for the Tories. He joined their fleet while it was on the Elk River, went away with it and never returned. Many years later, two old ladies came to Elkton, and asked for the oldest inhabitant of the town. They were directed to Mr. William Eder. It was later found out that these two ladies were the daughters of Robert Alexander.

One night, while the British were encamped in Elkton, the people of Elkton were afraid that these soldiers would rob the bank. A man by the name of Levi Tyson came to Elkton in a farm wagon which had two barrels and some straw in it. He got the money and took it to his home to keep over night. His servants asked him what was in the barrels. He told them that it was ammunition to protect his home. The next morning Mr. Tyson brought the money back to the bank.

Elkton in the past has had a great many citizens who have risen to importance. Henry Hollingsworth was the owner of much of the land on which Elkton is now built.

Dr. W. H. Machell was a noted physician. He also took an interest in education and was, for a short time, owner and editor of the Cecil Democrat.

The Gilpin family has a history of importance. They are one of the oldest families in Cecil County. The family, at the time of the Civil War was divided, the majority for the South. Mr. John Gilpin won distinction in the Confederate Army.

Dr. Amos Alexander Evans, who served during the War of 1812, was a doctor on the ship "Constitution." For his bravery on the ship he was presented by Congress with two silver medals.

Francis Ellis was always interested in the growth of our town. Much credit is given him for the growth of Elkton. He was the father of Dr. C. M. Ellis, a physician of distinction.

Henry Torbert was for many years editor of "The Cecil Whig." He was surveyor of the port of Baltimore city and later worked in the Custom House at Baltimore. Before becoming editor of "The Cecil Whig" he was a lawyer.

George Johnston was the author of "The History of Cecil County." John A. J. Creswell was Postmaster-General of the United States under President Grant. He was for many years the recognized Republican leader of Cecil County.

Hiram McCullough was the last Congressman Cecil County has produced. He served about the middle of the 19th century.

James Black Groome was governor of Maryland in the latter part of the 19th century. He also served out an unexpired term in the United States Senate.

Daniel Bratton was a member of the Cecil County bar and served as State's Attorney. Later, he was owner and editor of the Cecil County News.

George W. Cruikshanks was a member of the Cecil County bar. He owned the Cecil Democrat, later publishing the "Baltimore Day," a daily paper of Baltimore.

Palmer Ricketts was the founder of the Cecil Whig.

Ruben Jamar served for twenty-four years as Register of Wills of Cecil County.

The most noted woman resident of Elkton was Miss Martha Finley, a writer of fiction. Among her best known works are, "The Elsie Books," and "The Mildred Series."

From 1908 to 1912, Austin L. Crothers governed our State. He was the originator of the "Good Road System." While he was governor the first loan of $3,000,000 for roads was appropriated. A brother, Charles C. Crothers was a State Senator during the latter part of the 19th century. He began his career as a school teacher, and studied law while pursuing that vocation. He was also State's Attorney for four years.

Albert Constable was perhaps the most able lawyer who ever practiced at the Elkton bar.

George R. Ash was Deputy Register of Wills and State Auditor from the time the office was originated until his death, and editor of the "Cecil Democrat" for twenty years.

Some of the most prominent citizens of Elkton during the eighteenth century were: Tobias Rudolph, Colonel Henry Hollingsworth, Joseph Gilpin, Robert Alexander, the Mitchell family and the Evans family.

Descendants of some of these families reside in Elkton. For instance, there are several Gilpin families in Elkton, all descendants of Joseph Gilpin. The house on Partridge Hill which was built by Colonel Henry Hollingsworth was recently occupied by Miss Margaret Gilpin. Descendants of the Evans family, a distinguished family of Cecil County, still reside in Elkton.

Dr. H. Arthur Mitchell was one of the leading physicians of Elkton, and his recent death has grieved many.

The majority of the male population of Elkton is employed in the town. The first industry of Elkton was what afterwards became the James Powers Foundry Company. It was situated on what is now known as Water Street. The second largest Pulp Mill in the United States is situated at Elkton. This mill affords employment for several hundred men. When the Pulp Mill was started by Mr. William Singler the foundry was removed to its present situation.

The Scott Fertilizer Company distributes very good fertilizer. The company owns an office, a storehouse and a bone mill. Several years ago the bone mill was burned.

The Prest-O-Lite Company situated in the western part of the town has been very successful in its distribution of gas. The Davis & Vinsinger grist mill is still a very successful mill. It supplies small nearby towns with flour and grain.

The Newton-Mitchell Ice and Ice Cream Company was started several years ago. It has been very successful.

Davil Sloan started the Elkton Granite and Marble Works, which is now conducted by J. H. Sloan.

The Keys and Miller Lumber Company and Evans Bros. furnish coal, grain and lumber to the community.

A. J. Reach Company manufactures sporting goods, which are sent throughout the country.

The Victory Sparkler & Specialty

Company is the latest industry established in Elkton. It is managed by Mr. J. B. Decker. This company sends fireworks all over the world.

Elkton is well situated for trade and manufactures, nearly midway between Baltimore and Philadelphia, on the Philadelphia, Baltimore and Washington Railroad, within ready reach of the Baltimore and Philadelphia extension of the B. & O. Railroad.

The Elk River affords water transportation to the heart of the town. From thirty to forty trains stop at the railway station daily. The mail facilities are excellent, the morning papers arriving before breakfast, and evening journals before the supper hour.

The town has two banks, the National Bank of Elkton, reporting the largest amount of undivided deposits among all those on the Eastern Shore of Maryland, and the Elkton Banking & Trust Company, a solid institution.

The town is also equipped with gas and electric light works, the latter being supplied with current from the big power plant at Gilpin's Falls.

An efficient fire company, supplied with adequate apparatus, is housed in the lower story of Council Hall.

Elkton has two hotels and several boarding houses, which meet the demands of the traveling public.

There is no more striking example of the internal wealth of Cecil County than the beautiful Gilpin's Falls Water Course, the strength of which is now harnessed to furnish electric light and power for manufacturing enterprises. This equipment is first-class in every particular, the machinery being up-to-date in every detail. This enterprise is regarded by those who are competent to estimate its advantages, as being one of the most important developments ever made in the county. It was the beginning of a new era in the history of our county, furnishing, as it does, cheap light and power over a large area. This development was the enterprise of Mr. W. T. Warburton of Elkton, Maryland.

Most of the stores in Elkton are along Main Street, from Lee's store on East Main to King's hardware store on Partridge Hill, although there are quite a few in other parts of the town. The Atlantic & Pacific Company and the American Stores Company are the only stores operated by outside companies, the other stores of the town are owned and operated by Elkton citizens.

There are three drug stores in Elkton, namely: Well's, F. Frazer's and R. Frazer's.

There are three hardware stores in the town, and five dry goods and department stores. Of the latter the most important are those of J. E. Gonce and G. R. Davis.

Jeffer's confectionery store, Scarborough's, and Elkton Candyland are the most important ice cream stores in the town.

Lipman and Singman have the most modern clothing and shoe stores, while Cohen Brothers also have a shoe store.

Pippin's and Reubenstone's are the only furniture stores in the town, but they both have a good stock of furniture.

Thomas R. Freeman has a musical supply store and sells Victor machines and records.

Elkton also has two millinery stores and a newspaper stand.

This list of the stores of Elkton is rather incomplete, but a fuller list would only make this story less interesting.

The National Bank of Elkton was established in the year of 1863. Mr. Jacob Tome was president, and Charles B. Finley was cashier. After Mr. Tome's death he was succeeded by Mrs. Tome, while Mr. Finley remained cashier. Mrs. Tome, who later became Mrs. France, was succeeded by Dr. C. M. Ellis as president, Frank R. Scott succeeded Dr. C. M. Ellis as president, and Mr. C. B. Finley became vice-president. Frank R. Scott was succeeded by C. R. Finley as president and Mr. C. C. Strickland as cashier. Mr. C. B. Finley was succeeded by T. B. Miller as president, and Mr. C. C. Strickland as vice-president by David Scott.

The capital of the bank is $50,000. The surplus and undivided profits, $150,000. Deposits, $1,450,000.

The Elkton Banking and Trust Company was organized May 5, 1911.

The officers elected were: John Tucker, First President; Frank P. Price, Vice-President; Irvin T. Kepler, First Secretary and Treasurer; Clarence S. Diggs, Assistant Secretary and Treasurer.

The original directors were: John E. Alexander, Lambert Davis, John E. Gonce, Joseph R. Brose, Harry H. Mackey, Ellis S. Short, Edward W. Taylor, George W. Gonce, William Evans, Irvin G. Grifflin, Carl Kirk, Robert J. McCauley, Charles R. Simpers, Henry Vinsinger, Emerson R. Crothers, Oliver C. Ghee, John M. Tucker, James R. Kirk, Frank T. Price, John W. Starrett, Roger Worth.

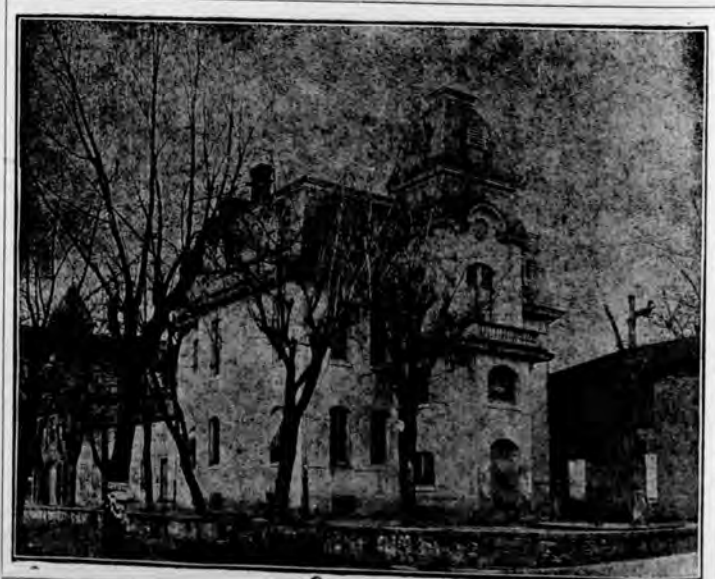

Officers of the present time: Harry H. Mackey, President; Dr. S. Clark Sykes, Vice-President; Irvin T. Kepler, Treasurer; Lynn B. Gillespie, Assistant Treasurer.

Directors of the present time: J. Frank Blake, Lambert W. Davis, Irvin T. Kepler, S. Claude Sykes, Joseph T. Tyson, George Gonce, Joseph T. Grove, Harvey H. Mackey, Edward W. Taylor, Emerson Crothers, J. Otis Kennard, Robert J. McCauley, John H. Terrell, Henry Vinsinger.

The capital stock of this bank is $25,000.00. Surplus, $5,000.00. Undivided profits, $5,698.00. Deposits, $1,254,476.09.

There are six churches in Elkton. The Methodist Episcopal was organized about 1800 and in 1813 they built a church on East High Street. Later this site became unsatisfactory and (Continued on Page 11.)

new church was built on East Main Street in 1859.

The Catholic church was built in 1848 and is on the corner of Bridge and Catholic Streets. The Catholic office have a monastery near Childs, Maryland, and are about to build one at Holly Hall just outside of Elkton.

Trinity Episcopal Church was built in 1832. It is situated on the corner of Bridge and Main Streets. The land was given by Mr. Hollingsworth.

The Presbyterian church was organized in 1741. It is oldest church in Elkton and is situated on East Main Street. Services were first held in a log house on Bow Street, but this place was abandoned and the congregation worshiped in the Penckader church at Glasgow. In 1833 the church on East Main Street was erected. The colored people of Elkton have two churches, the Protestant A. U. M. P., and the Wright's A. M. E.

The Latter Day Saints had a chapel here but it is not used now.

The education of the children of Elkton has been carefully provided for. The Board of Education has made laws compelling children to attend school regularly, or their parents must pay a fine.

The Elkton High School was built in 1896 at a cost of $10,000. It is estimated that it would cost $50,000 to build a school now like it. Many prominent people have graduated from Elkton High School. The Elkton High School is on Mackall Avenue, and is built on a sort of knoll.

The Elkton High School is called Cecil County High School due to its being the first one built in the county.

The contract to build it was given to a man by the name of Wilson. He failed, and the contract was then given to Mr. A. M. Strickland who completed the work.

It might be added that in the High School Building are also some of the grammar grades.

The Howard Street School which takes care of the second, third, fourth and part of the fifth grades, is situated on Howard Street. The Howard Street School was built for a private school and used to receive $500 every year from the state until it was turned over to the Board in 1896 when the High School was built.

The Academy which now stands was built in 1854 the old one having burned in February of that same year. It is situated on North Street and its nearness to the railroad disturbs the students and teachers. This building houses the first grade pupils.

For a small town Elkton has quite a number of organizations. The most important of these are the Masons, the Red Men, the Knights of Columbus, the Radnor Relief, and the Odd Fellows. Among the smaller organizations are the Junior Mechanics, and the Owls.

All of these lodges are for men. Some of the lodges for women are the D. A. R., and the Daughters of Pocahontas. The School Improvement Association, The Women's Club, the G. A. L. 5 History Cecil Co. 7,26,23 JAK Patriotic Literary Society, and the Chamber of Commerce are also important organizations of the town.

Elkton has always been interested in athletics.

Elkton Base Ball Team won the championship of the Susquehanna League of 1922. Ellis Deibert was manager and Russell Smith was captain. Mr. Deibert improved the Base Ball Park last year to such an extent that it was said to be one of the best parks outside of Baltimore city.

The Foot Ball Team went through the season undefeated. The Basket Ball Team was also very good last year. We saw many well matched and interesting games. The basket ball games are held in the Armory which is a very good place for such sports. However, the attendance is usually small. The people do support the base ball team and foot ball team probably because it is an outside sport and it is played in the better weather.

Elkton played a very prominent part in the World War. Its people did everything they could to raise money for the benefit of the soldiers who were in camp. Thousands of Liberty Bonds and War Saving Stamps were sold to help the Government with its finance. An organization called The Victory Girls and Boys was formed and the girls and boys were to earn money that was to be spent for the comfort of the soldiers. Everybody, large and small, learned to knit, or to do something that would help the cause.

The Red Cross was also kept very busy helping to get supplies that would be necessary in camp and in the hospital.

Among the men who went to the War from Elkton were:

Major Charles B. Finley, Doctor Arthur H. Mitchell, First Lieutenant Harlan Johnson, Doctor William Cawley, First Lieutenant Otis McCauley, First Lieutenant Charles S. Woodruff, Captain Daniel Bratton, Doctor A. B. Pancost, Calvin Fox, Harry Eder, John K. Burkley, Herbert Morgan, Roy Eder, Howard B. Cameron, Harry Dean, Harry Scarborough, William H. Kempa, William McLaughlin, J. A. Thompson, John P. Ferry, George E. Clark, Clarence Harold Cole, Thomas Cooper, Mauldin Dennis, John Hager, Benjamin Harlan, Eugene R. Hevelow, Willis Jackson, Earl C. Kelly, Ellis P. Mahan, Phineas A. Peterson, Milton W. Scarborough, William Slicker, Arthur Todd.

Elkton, in 1923, will be a city of about 150,000 people.

First, the reasons for thinking so. Elkton has many facilities, which will cause progress. Elkton is favorably situated for trading purposes. Passing through the center of the town, is a main line of the Pennsylvania Railroad, the Philadelphia, Baltimore and Washington Railroad. Elkton now has good train service from this railroad, and with the growth of the town it will improve. Three miles north of the town is the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad. With so many trucks and other kinds of automobiles, it is very easy to reach this railroad, and Elkton is now growing toward the north.

The Elk Creek must not be forgotten. The creek is now used very little, except by the large barges, which carry logs from the south to the Pulp Mill. This creek with a dredging, could easily be made navigable for shipping. The creek empties into the Elk River, which empties into the Chesapeake Bay.

Elkton is situated in one of the most thickly populated sections of the United States. A branch of the Lincoln Highway passes through Elkton. In this part of the country most of the manufacturing is done. Coal can be easily sent to Elkton by rail. The creek further north could be put to use for manufacturing purposes, now. When so much is done by electricity, power could be obtained in this way.

Elkton has room to grow. Some towns would naturally not enlarge as they have no space. Perhaps a large hill or mountain is on one side and a river on the other and there is no possible way for such a town to spread out. About Elkton there is plenty of fertile ground. To the north of the town lots are laid out for building.

Plans are now under way for the moving of the P. B. & W. Railroad about a quarter of a mile north. After the railroad is moved, the public buildings will probably be built on the old ground. A new and modern court house will be erected. A library and community house will also be erected. New school buildings will take the place of the old dilapidated buildings.

From the railroad south to Main Street, with Main Street, will be the business section. The old stores now standing will be either torn down or so improved that one will not recognize them. The streets will be made wider, and concreted from curb to curb.

West and northwest will be the industrial and manufacturing center. The industries will be enlarged, and new ones will be started. North and east will be the residential sections.

The town will never grow much to the south on the other side of the creek.

For these reasons Elkton will progress. It is well situated, has good facilities for trade, and there is room to grow.

Give it time and it will be a metropolis.

PROGRESSIVE FLORIDA

Florida's legislature has submitted to the people a strutting amendment to their state constitution. It proposes to prohibit the levy of income or inheritance taxes on citizens or residents, for twenty-five years.

Evidently somebody in Florida recognizes the necessity of first creating capital before taxing it. Think of the inducement a measure such as this would be to the prospective investor and developer of industry, to locate in Florida.

The increased value in real estate and industries that would result from such a measure would undoubtedly furnish the state a great deal more revenue from the ordinary property tax than it can now collect through an income tax from a few citizens who are in increasing numbers putting their money into tax-exempt securities.

The Florida proposition has more hard sense in it than the man who cries, "Tax wealth," would have us believe.

THE STORY OF THOMAS MCKEAN

Born and Raised Near Newark; Became Prominent Among Revolutionary Statesmen and A Noted Delawarean

Thomas McKean, the third of the Delaware signers of the Declaration of Independence, was born March 19, 1734, in New London township, Chester County, Pa., and studied law at New Castle, in the office of his relative David Finney. Before he was twenty years of age he became clerk to the prothonotary and register for the probate of wills, and when he had attained his majority was admitted to the Delaware and Pennsylvania bars. In 1756 he was appointed deputy prosecuting attorney for Sussex County, and in the next year clerk of the House of Assembly, and in 1762 was chosen, in company with Caesar Rodney, to revise and print the laws. In October, 1762, he was elected to the Assembly from New Castle County, and returned annually until 1770, although after 1773 he resided in Philadelphia. From 1767 to 1776 he was trustee of the loan office for New Castle County, and was a delegate to the general congress which met in New York in October, 1765, where, in conjunction with Lynch and Otis, he prepared the address to the House of Commons. When President Ruggles and other members refused to sign the proceedings of this Congress, Mr. McKean arraigned them so severely for unfaithfulness and cowardice that Ruggles extended him a challenge to a duel, which McKean promptly accepted, but the President departed from New York before dawn of the next day without fulfilling his engagement. Returning home through New Jersey, McKean announced to the people of that province that their representative, Robert Ogden, had also shrunk from signing the proceedings; Ogden threatened him with a challenge, but followed the example of Ruggles in declining to go upon the field. Mr. McKean was now appointed a justice of the New Castle Courts and sat upon the bench which in the November term, 1765, and February term, 1766, resisted the Stamp Act by ordering the officers of the court to use unstamped paper in the routine of their business. In 1771 he was appointed collector of customs at New Castle, and in October, 1772, was chosen Speaker of the Delaware House of Representatives. Although he had in the previous year made his permanent residence in Philadelphia, Delaware elected him to the Congress of 1774, and he was annually re-elected until February 1, 1783, his period of continuous service exceeding that of any other member. It is also remarkable that while he represented Delaware in Congress, he was, subsequent to July, 1777, Chief Justice of Pennsylvania for twenty-two years, each State claiming him as their own. In Congress his work was important and multifarious. He was a member of the committee to state the rights of the colonies, the secret committee to contract for the importation for arms and ammunition, and the committee on the confederation of the colonies when George Read refused to vote for the Declaration of Independence. Mr. McKean sent a message to Delaware to summon Caesar Rodney in order that the affirmative vote of the State might be cast, and the obstruction offered by Mr. Read was overcome. Mr. McKean was at that time colonel of a regiment of Associators in Philadelphia, with which he served in the flying camp for the remainder of the summer of 1776. In October he was elected a member of the Delaware Convention, and Robert Walsh, Jr., author of the "Biographies of the Signers of the Declaration of Independence," relates that on his arrival at Dover "a committee of Gentlemen waited on him and requested that he would prepare a Constitution for the future Government of the State. To this he consented. He retired to his room in the tavern, sat up all night, and having prepared it without a book or any assistance whatsoever, presented it at 10 o'clock next morning to the House, when it was unanimously adopted." In 1777 he acted in the double capacity of President of Delaware and chief justice of Pennsylvania. On July 10, 1781, he was chosen president of Congress which office he resigned on October 23d, but at the request of Congress served until November 5th. A storm of opposition was aroused to his holding two or more offices at the same time, but he continued in the discharge of his duties. He was chief justice of Pennsylvania until 1799, when he was elected Governor of the State, a success which opened the way for the accession of Mr. Jefferson to the Presidency, of whom he was a warm supporter. In January, 1808, an unsuccessful attempt was made to impeach him. It would have been possible for him in 1803 to become the candidate of the Republican party for Vice-President, but he refused to permit the use of his name. After retiring from the Governorship of Pennsylvania, at the close of 1808, he held no further position, and died June 24, 1817.

They Don't Do It

A furrier was selling a coat to a lady customer.

"Yes, ma'am," he said, "I guarantee this to be genuine skunk fur that will wear for years."

"But suppose I get it wet in the rain," asked the lady. "What effect will the water have on it? Won't it spoil?"

"Madam," answered the furrier, "I have only one answer. Did you ever hear of a skunk carrying an umbrella?"—London Opinion.

FOREST REPORT IS WARNING

Wood Products Must Be Kept Flowing to Industrial Centers

Keeping forest products flowing steadily to the great manufacturing centers must be the corner stone of any industrial plan for the future, says Charles Lathrop Pack, president of the American Tree Association, in a letter to Julius H. Barnes, president of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, who has just returned from the International Chamber of Commerce.

Mr. Pack points to the warning of a world timber famine in the annual report of the British Forestry Commission just issued. Gen. Lord Lovat, the chairman of this commission, has cabled Mr. Pack he is coming to the United States and Canada. His object is to ascertain what future timber supplies Great Britain may expect from North America. Mr. Pack has sent millions of American tree seeds to the commission and to France to help reforest areas cut down for war use and areas devastated by war. The letter to Mr. Barnes follows:

"My dear Mr. Barnes: In the report of the British Forestry Commission there is warning of a timber famine not alone in the British Isles but throughout the world. Any plans for the future of industry must take into account a steady flow of forest products to the great manufacturing centers. Forest products are the corner stone of all industry. They enter into and influence every phase of our commercial life.

"In the report of the British commission there is a warning for the United States where we have 81,000,000 acres of idle land fit for little else than growing trees. That the British Empire is alive to the situation is evident from the following excerpt from the commission's report:

Quite apart from the question of the provision of timber for war purposes it is evident from the measures adopted in other countries that there exists widespread apprehension of a timber famine at no distant date.

Results of such a famine would be more disastrous to the United Kingdom than to any other country. The demand for timber is constantly increasing, and the virgin forests are being worked out far more rapidly than was expected.

The commissioners are taking steps to ascertain what reserves of coniferous timber are available for import and how long they are likely to last. But there can be little doubt that the government will in the near future have to choose between the resumption of the full planting program adopted by Parliament and taking a risk which no other country is prepared to take.

In its arrangements with regard to education and research and the sowing of seed and raising of plants the commission is keeping in view the possibility of an early resumption of the full program.

The area actually acquired during the year under review was 23,937 acres, making a total acquisition of plantable land of 92,426 acres. Of this 69,540 acres had been obtained by leasing and 22,886 acres by purchase.

"In your comprehensive article in 'Our World' on 'American Individualism and European Recovery' you state that between 1913 and 1922 our population increased 14,000,000 'with the enlarged production which that assured.' You also state that in the same period the ton miles of service in the transportation industry increased from 166,000 per worker to 243,000 per worker. To help keep this industry going five million trees are cut down every year just to provide poles to carry the wires over which hum the messages of industry, and 200,000,000 cubic feet of wood are consumed every year in 'tunnel' industries such as mining and quarrying. The great enemy responsible for the loss of a fifty-six million acre area during a recent five-year period. The center of the lumber industry is fast approaching the Pacific Coast and soon you business men will be turning to Alaska. That means higher freight rates and long hauls.

"This is the situation in brief that confronts the business men of the country today. The warning of the report of the British Forestry Commission is a warning to this country. Hand in hand with any program for the future must go a program looking to the replenishing of our idle acres close to the point of consumption. Business cannot continue without this question being answered. European recovery is a world problem but continuation of American business is just as important, and I trust that American business will never allow this country to get back to the 'recovery stage' at which point it will surely return unless the reforestation problem is soon solved."
