Approved By Bd. of Education

Referenda Scheduled For June 6, To Approve 15-Cent Per $100 Increase For Teacher Salaries, Bond Issue Of $1,650,000 For New Elementary School, Additions

Public approval of a possible 15-cent increase in local school taxes will be sought next June 6, with two referenda scheduled by the Newark Board of Education at its meeting last Tuesday night.

One referendum will be conducted to raise the present 59-cent current expense tax rate to 70 cents for maintaining present teacher salary standards, and to provide for a proposed teacher salary schedule.

The other referendum on June 6 will be presented for approval of a $1,650,000 bond issue with an estimated four-cent increase over the present 55.2-cent rate for bonded indebtedness.

The proposed bond issue is to provide construction of an elementary school on Cash Mill Road; additions to four existing buildings; add libraries to the Jennie E. Smith and Central elementary schools; and purchase additional library books to bring the district average up to 10 books per pupil.

Current Tax Rate
The total current tax rate for the Newark special school district is $1.17 per $100 assessment.

At Tuesday's meeting, the local school board became the first to endorse re-assessment of all property within New Castle County.

The resolution adopted by the Newark Board of Education for re-assessment of property states that "the last county-wide re-assessment was 12 years ago, and changes in construction costs and marked changes in land values since that time have resulted in substantial inequities with regard to property taxation."

It also states that since "the real estate or property tax is and will probably remain the principal means by which school districts supplement the minimum operating funds furnished by the state... the board of education of the Newark special school district calls upon the County Court of New Castle County to undertake a complete re-assessment of real estate..."

The school board approved the re-assessment of two teachers — Mary Armstrong at Newark High School, and Elizabeth M. Brooks of Brookside Elementary School.

Manager Announces Plans
For WNRK Broadcasting
Slated To Begin In May

Arranging programs for a new radio station requires study of the community and the interests of its citizens, William S. Cook, manager of soon-to-open Station WNRK in Newark, said this week.

Cook pointed out that a study of the Newark area was conducted before the format for the daylight station was developed.

Station WNRK will be on the air from 5:30 a.m. to 6 p.m. daily, he said.

Because of local interest in the school system, there will be a daily program on Newark school news. Also to be heard every Sunday at 12:30 p.m. will be a feature "Schools on Parade."

Maximum community participation will be invited for a weekly "Town Meeting" to be scheduled every Saturday at 11:30 a.m.

Since the station is located in the area of the Mason and Dixon wedge — the spot where Delaware, Maryland and Pennsylvania join — there will be daily news shows of interest to each state.

"People always want news — and we hope to give it to them," Cook said. There will be two 5-minute news periods each hour during prime time, while at least one 5-minute and another two-minute summary will be heard every hour.

All newscasts will include regional and local weather reports.

Cook emphasized that much thought had been given to the type of music to be scheduled by the station. He said the decision was to present musical interludes, balanced good quality material, aimed at an adult listening audience.

The University of Delaware will have an opportunity to air its varied facets. One standard feature will be an early morning farm and home show.

Local sports is expected to be served by all round coverage, with special events as they occur, and a program will be designed to meet needs of the Greater Newark Recreation Association.

Cook said the office and broadcasting studios on Walther Road should be completed shortly.

The one-story colonial structure with its high 20-ft. high towers will add to the station's appearance.

It is hoped that broadcasting may begin early in May.

If weather does not delay construction schedules, the date should be met, Cook concluded.

City Police, VFW,
Schools Cooperate
In Bicycle Safety

The Newark school district, the Newark Police Department, and the Veterans of Foreign Wars are combining efforts to make the 1964 bike-riding season a safe one for students of Newark schools.

Planning began months ago when VFW Commander John E. Fisher offered for the second consecutive year to donate enough reflective stickers to protect bicycle-riding children in the Newark schools.

The Newark police and the information services office of the school district combined to produce "Just In Case You May Forget," an illustrated four-page pamphlet, which discusses bicycle and pedestrian safety for children.

Pamphlets are being distributed to elementary and junior high students in the Newark school district, and Lite-A-Bike stickers are available for any elementary school child in the office of his principal.

In a speech last year, Sup. Wilmer E. Shue noted that "Unless we teach these children survival, all of the fine work that our schools are doing in the vocational, academic, and cultural enrichment subjects will go for naught."

The Newark police, the VFW, and the local school district are working to make sure that the survival lesson is well understood by school children.

CHANGE OF GUARD

Newly elected Mayor Joseph A. Shields smiles a bit more than defeated mayoralty candidate Henry R. Folsom, Jr., for Nelson Brooks' photo in last night's daily paper, but Mrs. Carl S. Rankin—unidentified by caption, but unquestionably the retiring mayor's wife—has the happiest smile of all as she appears in the background between the two contestants in the photograph.

Few mayors have worked more intensely and conscientiously for the City of Newark, and the past two years have been tough ones for Carl Rankin—for Mrs. Rankin, too, in sharing her husband's worry with the multitudinous problems that confront the city's chief executive.

Thanks and congratulations Mayor Carl S. Rankin for your effort and municipal leadership.

And to our mayor-elect—Joe Shields—congratulations, too, and best wishes.

Extension Service Consumer Forum Attended By 400

Responsibilities of the consumer and the purpose of federal and state regulations on consumer products held the floor at the fourth annual Consumer Forum on April 8 at the DuPont Hotel in Wilmington, and April 9 at the Treadway Inn in Dover, as some 400 men and women attended the meetings sponsored by the University of Delaware Home Economics Extension Service.

Rights of the consumer to know, to choose, to be informed and to be heard have been stated many times, said Janet Reed, clothing specialist and chairman of the event. Yet, rights bring responsibilities, and some of the responsibilities consumers must assume are those of keeping informed, being objective and considering both sides of problems. The responsibility to act is most important, because it is upon this that improvements are made, she said.

Speakers included Delaware Attorney General, C. J. B. Buckner; Dr. Floyd I. Hudson, executive secretary of the State Board of Health; David Krige, secretary and inspector for the State Board of Pharmacy; William H. Naudain, director of the Delaware Department of Weights and Measures; and George Vapala, county agricultural extension agent.

McAllister Advises On Transfer Of Land From One Family Generation to Another

Transferring land from one generation to the next has been a problem for centuries. It can be costly, unfair to the receiving generation, and in extreme cases, receiving land may be more of a problem than a blessing. In many countries land is transferred from one generation to the next by giving the entire parcel to the eldest son. This keeps the farm intact, and according to tradition, in the hands of the most competent heir.

Another system widely followed in Europe and in this country, is to divide the land equally between all heirs. This creates problems as each succeeding generation gets a smaller and smaller piece of land. European agriculture is suffering the affects of this method now, as many farms have become too small for effective mechanization.

One even more disastrous concept has been that of dividing each piece of land between each heir. This causes a farmer to work small parcels of land scattered over a large area. Even though he may own several acres, his holdings may be so small and scattered that it is impossible to use modern equipment and farming technology.

W. T. McAllister, farm management specialist at the University of Delaware, suggests a more sensible approach to the problem of land transfer. He says a farmer should solve this problem before he nears retirement age.

McAllister lists three alternatives for accomplishing the transfer. Each has its advantages in a given situation.

These include a father-son partnership; purchase contracts; and

Present Steak Prices Cited As Favorable For Storage

Steak prices are favorable for buying extra and freezing some for summer cookouts, reports Mrs. Suzanne Tannall, New Castle County home economics extension agent.

Properly frozen steaks can be stored as long as 12 months at zero degrees, she says.

Package meat in one-meal quantities. If two steaks are to be wrapped together, place a double thickness of freezer paper between them so they can be easily separated for thawing.

$150,000 Preakness Expected To Draw Record Attendance

Early interest in the 88th running of the $150,000 Preakness at Pimlico on Saturday, May 16, indicates that Old Hilltop may play host to a record crowd for the richest jewel of the Triple Crown.

Barclay C. Odell, Maryland Jockey Club comptroller, whose job is to handle ticket requests, notes that reservations are running 10 per cent ahead of last year. Already requests have been received from 26 states. Canadian reservations are particularly heavy, since E. P. Taylor's Northern Dancer rules as one of the early favorites for the Preakness. No Canadian-bred has ever won the Preakness, but Taylor's Victoria Park ran second to Bally Ache in 1960.

Last year's Preakness attracted a crowd of 33,253 to witness Candy Spots' triumph over Chateaugay. California-owned Candy Spots is expected to have a strong stablemate representing owner Rex C. Ellingsworth this year.

Ellingsworth's Scoundrel, runner-up to Northern Dancer in the recent Florida Derby, is attracting a large following. Many West Coast fans have notified Pimlico officials of plans to witness the Preakness. The Preakness will be the focal point of Pimlico's 24-day spring meeting which opens Monday, April 27.

The $150,000 classic follows the Kentucky Derby by two weeks and is run three weeks prior to the Belmont Stakes.

These three races comprise the most cherished series in horse racing.

Only eight colts in history have been able to sweep the Triple Crown, the last being Citation in 1949.

Coach Bill Bohning's Squad Faces Friday Golf Test

Softball Leagues Meeting Scheduled Next Monday

A softball organizational meeting is scheduled for next Monday at 7:15 p.m. in the GNRA offices in George Read Village.

Rules, entry requirements, fees, and scheduling will be discussed, and a representative for each team should attend this meeting.

Last year, two leagues were formed, with four teams in the Church League and five in the City League.

Coach Roy Rylander's Hens Wallop Drexel Netmen

Delaware's tennis team defeated Drexel 8-1 last Saturday in Philadelphia for its second triumph.

Coach Roy Rylander's netmen won every match except one in which Drexel's Jose Celis bested Terry Graham 1-6, 6-3, 6-3. Graham is recuperating from a recent virus attack and showed effects of his illness.

Rylander's Hens are scheduled to play at PMC this Saturday, and at Washington College next Tuesday.

Billy's Lacrosse Team Ties In Double Overtime Test

Coach Paul Billy's Delaware lacrosse team tied Swarthmore in a 9-9 double overtime test last Saturday at Delaware Stadium, and the win-less Hens are scheduled to meet Lehigh away this Saturday.

Tom Harrison scored the Hens' goal at 11:21 of the fourth period for a 7-7 count.

Each team scored two goals in the first overtime, the Delaware tallies on stickwork of Harrison and Capt. Taylor Osborn, who led all scorers with four goals.

Harrison had three goals and Don Smith and Marty Cassidy, one apiece.

Ron Miller's Vikings Lose In Dual Track Meet Pair

Coach Ron Miller's Viking varsity track and field squad lost a pair of dual meets to Blue Hen Conference opponents—by a slim two and two-plus points each.

The Christiana High School team was edged 59½ to 57½ by DeLaWarr last Thursday, and the Vikings dropped a 59-2½ to 57-1½ nod to Westminster High's Red Devils last Monday.

THE INCREDIBLE MR. LIMPET

Even the best trained dog, however, when puzzled or scared will often startle his owner by barking his head off at anything unusual—a man in uniform, a woman in an extra-large hat, someone on a dog, or a moving man buried beneath his burden. Such outbursts are excusable, but if they cause a dog to get so emotionally upset that he sinks his teeth into the object of his frenzy, then something must be done.

Obedience training at a school may help. A check by your veterinarian may disclose some organic disturbance—and once the condition clears up, the disposition improves. If everything fails to turn up a cure then the dog must be kept restrained and under close supervision at all times. Biting, it must be remembered, is not only ill-mannered, but illegal.

Feeding tips: The practical routine on young puppy feeding is to give him as much as he'll eat three times a day. It's well for the sake of his early growth to give him a top grade of commercially prepared dog food such as Friskies, which provides complete nutrition.

Ray Ciesinski's Yellowjackets Defeated By Lions' Sweep Of Broad Jump Finale

Leading DeLaWarr by 7½-points in a home stand last Monday, Coach Ray Ciesinski's Yellowjacket track and field squad was unable to score in the final event — the broad jump — and the Lions picked up nine big points to win 59½-57½.

Last Thursday at home, Newark defeated Conrad 65½-51½.

Ciesinski's Yellowjackets are scheduled to compete in a dual meet at Wilmington High this afternoon, face the Peninsula Relays at Barnard Stadium this Saturday at 1:30 p.m., and go against Wm. Penn in a dual meet at New Castle next Monday afternoon at 3:30.

Against the DeLaWarr Lions, Capt. Mike Walker won the 120-yd. high hurdles, and repeated with a first in the 180-yd. low hurdle race as Wayne Hurd won second place. Charley Hayman won the 100 in 10.1, with Arthur Wright taking second, and Wright won the 220, with Hayman third.

Wright took second in the 440; Harry Barbarika was third in the 880; and Ricky Stearns won third place points for Newark in the mile.

John Ludlow finished second in the two-mile test, and the Yellowjackets swept the high jump with Sam Jackson and Chris Clemente tying for first, and Conway Hayman and Tom Worrall deadlocked as runners-up.

Bill Murphy won third place with the shot, and Chris Ward and Dave Eastburn took first and second in the pole vault.

And then the Yellowjackets lost the lead and meet with the broad jump finale. Charley Hayman fouled out in a 19-ft. flight that would have placed a first place for Newark. This was Hayman's initial effort as a broad jump competitor.

Against Conrad, Walker won both hurdle events, with Hurd taking second over the low hurdle course;

Wright took second in the 440; Harry Barbarika was third in the 880; and Ricky Stearns won third place points for Newark in the mile.

Rugged Ray Ott, recently returned from a winter in Florida to his home on the Elk River, reports rock being taken by hook and line fishermen in the headwater tributaries of Chesapeake Bay, and Newark's Ronald Mayer had some recent personal experience in the rocky, or striped bass in some bottom fishing from his boat off Turkey Point in the North East River.

"You have to wait on 'em," Ron Mayer said. "There early and late. But we've been catching fish — as high as 20 a day, and weighing from a pound and a half to four pounds.

"We fish with bloodworms and a plain hook — no spinner — and use a three-way swivel with a long leader, keeping the bait just off the bottom," Ronnie Mayer continued.

"Just still-fishing — no trolling. And here's no sign of birds or breaking fish. The rock just grab a bloodworm-baited hook and take off," he said.

Ronald has been fishing with a varied crew aboard during several outings, and his successful companions have included John Wollaston, Tommy Thompson, and Uncle Eric. Mayer's children — Bruce, Pepper, and Janie.

"I tried to get Uncle Win to go last Sunday," Ronald said of Vincent L. "Cape May" Mayer, former Yellowjacket and Blue Hen athletic luminary, "but he couldn't make it — and missed catching some nice rock, too," the nephew related.

After Winnie Mayer's near-fishless experience of some six weeks ago with us on the Chester River, his lack of eagerness to accompany Ronald on a cold spring fishing trip is quite understandable. But things have picked up a bit, Win, since that rainy Sunday at Larry's Landing near Millington.

Commercial netters at Rock Hall had flounder iced down in the show-cases and in the fish boxes a couple ago — the first of these flatfish that we've seen in the upper Chesapeake.

Winter flounder are the salt water sportsman's off-season staple in the fish department from North Jersey down to Cape May, and it is a different fish from the familiar fluke or summer flounder that brings a shine to the eye of J. F. (For Francis and for Flounder) Neide, Newark's city manager, and the fish that occupies Mr. and Mrs. "Ackie" Stiltz around Ocean City's Sinnepuxent Bay in Maryland during warm weather.

The winter flounder has a tiny mouth and faces left, while the more familiar fluke or summer flounder has a huge maw with the teeth of a juvenile sabretooth tiger, and faces to the right, that is, its lower jaw is on the bottom when the fish is white-side down on the sand and the flounder's head is to the right.

Anyhow, winter flounder provide a lot of sport for the Jerseyman who seek them from rowboats on the inland waterway from Manasquan Inlet south down the Garden State coast — and many Delaware and Maryland sportsmen may be missing a good wintertime fishing bet.

Mitchell Justice, after a successful sortie for crappie in the headwaters of the Chester River with wife Jean and sons Dave and Steve in one of Larry Sjoegren's rowboats, tried the Opening Day trout on White Clay Creek near Newark last weekend, with young Davey in tow.

"I saw one veteran trout fisherman — at least he had all the earmarks of a veteran with his trout-fishing regalia," Mitch Justice said, "with five trout — good ones. But most of the anglers I saw didn't have any more trout than we did — and Dave and I didn't catch any." Dad Justice concluded.

Coach Andy Marcantonio presented Newark High school varsity letters to members of his wrestling team at the Booster Club banquet arranged by Mrs. Southard Jones last Saturday night, and as a result, the senior letter-winner will have a chance to wear their varsity N's while still in high school. "Colleges don't take kindly to the wearing of high school letters on campus," Coach Marcantonio smiled.

And he really smiled when Co-Captains Perry Boone and Harvey Folk — conference and state wrestling champions at 120 and 154-lbs. — presented Mr. Marc with a handsome jacket and gift certificate from the entire wrestling squad.

Varsity letters were presented to Dennis Clancy, Joe Russell, and Phil Gibbs as senior, junior, and sophomore managers of the Yellowjacket wrestling team for 1964.

Boone, Jones, and Folk won their varsity wrestling letters for the second season.

The banquet was arranged by Mrs. Southard Jones of the Yellowjacket Booster Club. Carson F. Roselle, Jr., is club president.

Paul Billy, University of Delaware wrestling and lacrosse coach, addressed the audience of some 60 Newark High School wrestlers, parents, and friends, and presented movies of the state championship wrestling meet conducted last month in Carpenter Field House on the university campus.

Slattery Shifted To Hen Linebacker In Spring Football

Top news in the early damp days of football practice at the University of Delaware, is the transfer of Wilmington's Herb Slattery to linebacker.

Regarded as the finest line prospect in Blue Hen history, the 235-pound Slattery came to Delaware as a first-team All-State tackle at Archmere Academy. He starred at tackle for the '63 Hen freshman squad and was tabbed as a candidate for a top-level position during his sophomore year.

"Slattery has unusual quickness, not only for his size but for any size," said Hen Line Coach Ed Maley.

"As a linebacker, of course, he'd have a greater opportunity to use this quickness in our system. We plan to give him a thorough trial, and also to study his blocking as an offensive guard."

Maley also praised 200-pound Guard Bert DiClemente, of Wilmington, and 215-pound Center Russ Bonadonna, Lindhurst, N. J.

"Both played well in our first intra-squad scrimmage," Maley mused, "and each has an excellent chance to win a spot on one of our first two units."

DiClemente and Bonadonna were first-string linemen on last year's freshman team.

In general, Maley was pleased with the results of the opening scrimmage.

He reiterated that the Hens have two tackle slots to fill, as 220-pound Jay Gibbons (State College, Pa.) and 205-pound Bill Spangler (Baltimore) are the only returning lettermen at tackle.

"In our two-unit system, we need four tackles, not two," Maley said, "and right now we're looking at a fine list of candidates."

"Among those who should be mentioned are Jim Smack from Milford, a 215-pounder being moved from center; Stan Ogden, a 220-pound freshman from Flourtown, Pa.; and Dave Stewart and Dick Newman, who were reserves on last year's varsity."

After wallowing Bucknell 7-1 in the first half of a doubleheader last Saturday at Lewisburg, Pa., Raymond's squad dropped a 6-5 protest decision to the Bisons in the wind-up.

Delaware launched Pitcher Jim Umstead to a 3-0 lead over the first four innings of the second game until Joe Elliott tied it for Bucknell with a three-run 3-0 hit, homer in the fifth followed by another three-run Bison rally in the sixth.

Delaware added a run in the top of the sixth when Umstead tripled and scored on a homer by John Wallace — who was called out for not touching second base.

Then in the seventh, with the score 6-4 Bucknell, Ed Chiocki walked for Delaware and Sandy Albano hit a grounder about 5-ft. in front of the plate. He was called safe at first after the throw was misplayed, but later was called out.

Raymond based his protest on two counts: Plate Umpire Joe Dominic, who later overrode First Base Umpire Bernard Romonowski's decision, was at third base, where he should have been because Chiocki was rounding second, and was in no position to make the call.

Both umpires admitted at least twice that Albano was safe. But after a "violent" rebuttal by Bucknell Coach Rod Oberlan, the decision changed.

The rule states that the runner is out if he runs outside the 3-ft. line or inside the foul line and in the umpire's judgment in so doing interferes with the throw to the infielder.

The plate umpire told Raymond that Albano did not interfere with the throw.

Chiocki later scored Delaware's fifth run on a single by Dick Stein. Raymond said his written report will be sent to the Middle Atlantic Conference Games Committee and if it rules in favor of Delaware, the procedure is to play the game over at that point.

In the nine years he has coached at Delaware, Tubby Raymond, this is the first time he has registered a protest.

All-State Quarterback Clark Accepted As Hen Freshman Bill Clark of Middletown High School, first-team All-State quarterback last year, has been accepted in the University of Delaware's school of arts and sciences and will enroll here this fall.

"We're very pleased to have Bill with us," said Blue Hen Coach Ed Maley.

"He was an outstanding back on an outstanding team," Maley concluded.

Clark, 6-2, and 175-pounds, played basketball and baseball as well as football at Middletown.

OFF AND RUNNING by John I. Day "The 'Farmers' Horse"

This is the time of year when champions are hailed, records posted and memorable events recounted. One such memorable event, and a record of a sort, occurred on the hot July afternoon when the 'farmers' horse upset the best filled and mares in the country in the $172,812 Delaware Handicap.

Waltz Song, a good, if somewhat inconsistent mare beat Cicada, Table Mote and seven others that afternoon. For breeder-owner-trainer Thomas F. White, self-styled farmer from White Post, Virginia, Jockey Sheridan "Honeydew" Mellon, and a few hundred fans who fancied Waltz Song, the 90-degree temperature suddenly soared as the "objection" sign flashed on the tote board. Patrol films showed that there had been no foul and the race became official. Owner White collected the winner's share of $112,062.50 plus a $10,000 breeders award and those who had bought two-dollar mutual shares on Waltz Song collected $148.60 for each of the $11 two-dollar tickets sold. There were also two $50 tickets sold and a good guess would be that they were held by a former polo-playing Virginia farmer.

Coach Harold Raymond's Blue Hen Nine Faces Three Home Stands After Protest

Coach Harold Raymond's Fighting Blue Hen baseball team with a 6-4 record, is scheduled to play three successive home games, meeting Ursinus this afternoon; LaSalle on Saturday at 2 p.m.; and Gettysburg next Wednesday at 4 p.m. on Frazer Field.

After wallowing Bucknell 7-1 in the first half of a doubleheader last Saturday at Lewisburg, Pa., Raymond's squad dropped a 6-5 protest decision to the Bisons in the wind-up.

Delaware launched Pitcher Jim Umstead to a 3-0 lead over the first four innings of the second game until Joe Elliott tied it for Bucknell with a three-run 3-0 hit, homer in the fifth followed by another three-run Bison rally in the sixth.

Delaware added a run in the top of the sixth when Umstead tripled and scored on a homer by John Wallace — who was called out for not touching second base.

Then in the seventh, with the score 6-4 Bucknell, Ed Chiocki walked for Delaware and Sandy Albano hit a grounder about 5-ft. in front of the plate. He was called safe at first after the throw was misplayed, but later was called out.

Raymond based his protest on two counts: Plate Umpire Joe Dominic, who later overrode First Base Umpire Bernard Romonowski's decision, was at third base, where he should have been because Chiocki was rounding second, and was in no position to make the call.

Both umpires admitted at least twice that Albano was safe. But after a "violent" rebuttal by Bucknell Coach Rod Oberlan, the decision changed.

The rule states that the runner is out if he runs outside the 3-ft. line or inside the foul line and in the umpire's judgment in so doing interferes with the throw to the infielder.

The plate umpire told Raymond that Albano did not interfere with the throw.

Chiocki later scored Delaware's fifth run on a single by Dick Stein. Raymond said his written report will be sent to the Middle Atlantic Conference Games Committee and if it rules in favor of Delaware, the procedure is to play the game over at that point.

In the nine years he has coached at Delaware, Tubby Raymond, this is the first time he has registered a protest.

More Profitable Farming Measures Cited With Advice From Extension Specialists

Farming can be and is a profitable business in Delaware, but more and more farmers are finding it hard to show a respectable profit at the end of the year. They are dipping into life savings to meet current operating expenses. Or they are going further in debt hoping for that "good year" to bail them out. In many cases they are simply tightening their belts and taking it on the chin. In this case, the adage "if you don't have it you can't spend it" is the deciding factor.

Profitable farming is becoming more a matter of how well a farmer manages his business and adjusts to changing technology, rather than how much physical work he actually performs, according to W. T. McAllister, farm management specialist at the University of Delaware.

He says the profit picture can even be disappointing to farmers who work hard every day of the year.

An analysis of farm records in one mid-western state shows that 25 per cent of the farmers in that state had net incomes of $16,000 or more. The bottom 25 per cent, however, earned only $500 for their year's efforts.

The way in which the farms were managed and the way the farm businesses accounted for almost all of the difference. It may sound harsh, but McAllister says there is no place in today's agriculture for a farmer who earns only $500 a year above expenses.

"These low income farmers will have to change their methods of farming or give up in favor of a more rewarding employment somewhere else," McAllister warns.

Many farmers could compete if their farm businesses were properly organized, McAllister believes. This means making the best use of all resources. Land, labor and capital must be combined with the farmer's management skills in a way that returns the most dollars from that farm, and where a farmer was barely making a living before, he can show substantial earnings.

Proof of this lies in an actual case of a farmer who was earning $2,400 net income four years ago. In 1959 he sat down with agricultural extension agents and specialists to develop a plan that would maximize the use of his farming resources. His 1963 net income was $7,600.

Dorothy Emerson Warns Of Habit Hazard At Annual Banquet Honoring 4-H Leaders

"Habit is a crippling. Get away from being mentally locked in, and let imagination and new ideas take over. Don't be afraid to try something new," is the advice Delaware 4-H Club leaders heard from Dorothy Emerson, consultant to the National 4-H Foundation, at the recent banquet honoring 4-H leaders throughout the state. The dinner was sponsored by the Delaware Bankers' Association.

"You don't need a college degree to be qualified to teach and work with young people," Miss Emerson told leaders. "Make your own degree on a piece of paper if you feel you have to have one. But it really doesn't do a bit of good when eval-

Five Persons Hurt As School Guard Leaves Duty Post

A school crossing guard absent without permission at the time of an accident last Thursday has been disciplined, according to Capt. Henry Snedeker, New Castle County police chief.

The guard did not tell police that she would not be at the intersection of Chestnut Hill Road and Kenmar Road, near Ogletown Junior High School, east of Newark, and at 3:13 p.m., a two-car collision resulted in minor injuries to five persons.

Snedeker said the guard, could not provide a satisfactory reason for her absence, and her status has been changed from permanent to substitute crossing guard.

"We depend on the guards to call us if they can't be there," said Snedeker. "If we had known we would have sent a policeman to the crossing."

He said that schools also are asked to notify police if a guard is not on duty. He added, however, that Ogletown Junior High is about 200 yards from the crossing and school officials would not have been able to notice the guard's absence.

Winning honorable mention in the physical sciences division at the junior high level are Sylvia Jean Leasure and Deborah J. Lutz, both seventh grade students of John Strein's science classes at Ogletown Junior High School. Both girls developed projects on crystal formation.

Sylvia Jean placed salt, sugar, alum, and ammonium chloride in jars of water and watched crystals develop over three weeks.

For her experiment, Debbie placed potassium dichromate, copper sulfate, sodium nitrate, and Rochelle and opson salts in jars of water to watch their development. Her mother didn't wholeheartedly approve of this project since the experiment was carried on from room to room in their home, starting on the dresser in Debbie's room and eventually moving into the kitchen.

This is the second year in a row that students in Mr. Strein's room have won prizes at the Delaware State Science Fair.

The project by Newark High School ninth grader David K. Phelps — "Model Rocketry and Affects of Flight on Mice" won special commendation from National Aeronautics and Space Administration officers judging the contest. It was David's objective to find out what effect, if any, high acceleration flights would have on mice.

David's interest stemmed both from his work with Atwood Badman at Newark High, and from membership in the Newark Cadet Squadron of the Delaware Wing, Civil Air Patrol.

David padded the capsule and gave it a test flight, using an uncooked egg to see if it would crack.

New Books Slated By Edgar, Wilber Of U. D. Faculty

One book involving a University of Delaware faculty member is already off the presses and a second book by another professor is heading for the printers.

Scheduled for publication by the Addison-Wesley Publishing Co., the book contains 24 chapters, more than 180,000 words, and over 400 illustrations.

Dr. Charles G. Wilber, new director of marine laboratories at the university, was executive editor and wrote one chapter of the new volume "Handbook of Physiology."

Wilber wrote a chapter "Animals in Aquatic Environment," reflecting long-term interest in the relationship of animals in the physical and chemical environment, especially as illustrated in the ocean and estuaries.

Slipcovers' Spring Appeal Cited For Homemakers

Slip covers can give your home new spring-time appeal and appearance, and whether making them yourself, or buying new slip covers, Mrs. Suzanne Tattall, New Castle County home economics extension agent, advises homemakers to look for a fabric that has a firm, smooth weave of durable weight.

These hold their shape better, and wear longer because they are more resistant to soil and stain penetration.

Mixing texture provides interest and highlights for your room, but avoid combining rough textures with very smooth, shiny ones.

STATEMENT

Now, before the event; win, lose or draw; I would like to say "thank you!"

Seldom, if ever, can one improve upon hindsight. On the 15th there will be many who could have foreseen what was going to happen and why.

Not me. I have no idea who is going to win what positions nor why. There is this difference with me: after the votes are counted, we will all know who has won and, for my part, so be it.
