City Officials Are Considering Students As Part-Time Police

Suggestion That College Students Be Used To Help Regular Police During Peak Traffic Periods Receives Support

Although no official announcement has been made concerning the matter, it is reported that Newark city officials are seriously considering the appointment of several students of the University of Delaware to act as part-time police officers in the city.

These students will be duly examined, trained and sworn in as members of the police department and will serve as traffic directors at critical points throughout the city during rush periods.

All of this stemmed from a conference which was held some time ago between city officials and representatives from the staff and student body of the university. This conference was called by university officials to discuss a city ordinance which was introduced at a meeting of Newark City Council about a month ago in which parking was restricted to one hour on several of the streets adjacent to the university.

Residents of those streets had complained bitterly to Council regarding the disregard of property rights of those living on these streets by the students who parked along them in such a manner as to make it often impossible for the residents to enter driveway; littered the front lawns with debris; and by remaining there all day made it impossible for property owners to park in front of their homes.

Following this initial reading of the proposed ordinance, the conference was called for by university officials to see if some solution other than the (Continued on Page 8)

Lions Acquainted With Growing Pains Of Newark's Future

Thomas Cassidy Points Out Need For Increase In Utilities

On Tuesday night members of the Newark Lions Club were acquainted with some of the major problems of development which will have to be tackled by the City of Newark in the not too distant future.

Thomas S. Cassidy, a member of the firm Whitman, Reardon and Associates, which has been planning the development of Newark for many years, pointed out to the Lions that within the next ten years the population of the city can be expected to range between 20,000 and 25,000 persons.

This figure is purely a guess on the part of the planning firm, but has been arrived at by drawing a parallel between Newark and other communities which have gone through similar development.

This large increase in population will naturally affect the city in various ways. First, the traffic situation is expected to grow progressively worse. This necessitates immediate long-range planning on the part of city officials to prevent the situation from becoming impossible.

Another serious effect of this added growth will be the outgrowing by the city of present utility facilities. Mr. Cassidy pointed out that large investments in such things as new sewer lines, new water mains, and new electric lines will have to be financed probably by a large bond issue, within the next year or two.

It will be necessary for the city to plan for the development of the new sources of water. According to Mr. Cassidy, the city is now using about 500,000 gallons of water per day. It is possible that in the next five or ten days this amount of water will be increased threefold.

In the past Newark has operated pretty much on a pay-as-you-go basis, but with the need for such large outlays of money facing the city in the future, it is impossible for this method of paying to be continued. The only solution, says Mr. Cassidy, is a large-scale borrowing plan, probably through the issue of bonds.

The speaker concluded by saying that these are critical times in the life of the City of Newark and intelligent, long-range planning is the only thing that will prevent the situation from ruining what has always been a "nice little place in which to live."

Other guests of the local Lions club for the evening were: Garrett Sloan, Roger T. Powers, both of the same firm as Mr. Cassidy; and Ernie Jones, a member of the staff at the Chrysler Tank Plant.

Carroll W. Mumford, first vice-president of the club, presided over the meeting in the absence of president, C. Harold Sheffer.

Mayor Names Three To Serve On First City Election Board

Strahorn, Ewing, Grant Will Supervise Procedures In All Elections

In accordance with the provisions of the new city ordinance which was enacted at a recent meeting of City Council Mayor Wallace Johnson announced this week the appointment of three members to the newly created Election Board.

Those members appointed by the Mayor and confirmed by Council were: Robert K. Strahorn, from the middle district, to serve for a term of three years; Morris T. Ewing, from the western district, to serve for a term of two years; Harold Grant, from the eastern district, to serve for a term of one year.

It will be the duty of this board to designate registration days for city voters prior to the holding of any regular or special elections, and to enforce the voting regulations as set forth in the recently passed ordinance pertaining to city elections.

One of the provisions of the ordinance which occasioned considerable debate on the part of Council prior to its passing was the question of whether or not to include provisions for absentee voting. There was the belief on the part of some members of Council that the disadvantages prevalent in a system that allowed absentee voting outweighed any possible advantages. There were those, however, who were of the opinion that no voter should be denied the privilege of voting through sickness or any other reason, to be present at the voting booths.

After considerable debate it was decided by Council that absentee voting should be provided for in the election ordinance and it was included.

Dr. Walter H. Blucher, executive director of the American Society of Planning Officials and the Association of State Planning Agencies, warned the people of Newark last week that changes are coming to the city of Newark and unless intelligent planning and foresight is employed, they will not be for the better.

Speaking before an audience of some 150 persons in attendance at the annual Chamber of Commerce banquet held at the Newark Country Club, Dr. Blucher warned that if Newark is to remain a desirable place in which to live, then the residents, officials, and the industries that have come and are coming here in the future will have to take an active interest in the welfare of the community.

Too many times, said Dr. Blucher, industries invade a community with the idea of taking from it whatever it has to offer them that is to their advantage with no thought of what effect it will have on the disruption of normal conditions in the community. He pointed out that it is the duty of Newark's planning commission and City Council to weed the good from the bad industries that would desire to come here to assure that only those concerns that realize their responsibilities toward the city are allowed to operate here.

Newark, as well as the entire state of Delaware, the speaker stated, will see a new era of industrial prosperity with the opening of the new Delaware Memorial Bridge which has brought the area to the attention of industry as a possible place for new factories and industrial sites. If any and all were to be allowed to locate here then it is most likely that Newark would soon be a most undesirable place in which to live. To decide which shall be allowed is the important duty that faces the officials of the city of Newark.

Dr. John A. Perkins, president of the University of Delaware, had been invited by the Chamber of Commerce to deliver the speech of the evening but in view of the several and real problems that are now facing the city of Newark that will have to be solved in the future, Dr. Perkins stated that it would be appropriate to call upon Dr. Blucher, recognized as one of the country's foremost planning authorities, to address the meeting. Dr. Perkins stated that he had been highly impressed with the talk delivered by Dr. Blucher at the recent transportation conference held at the University of Delaware and felt that the city could gain much from the experience and knowledge of such an authority in the field.

At a meeting of the group following the banquet five members were elected to the board of directors. They were: George Neighbors, Eugene Stultz, Samuel Handloff, Russell Bing, and Al Dollins.

Ford McBerty was reelected president of the chamber and Tom Foster, National Vulcanized Fibre, Newark plant, was elected to the position of vice-president to succeed Ralph Brosius, Chrysler Parts Plant.

The Roseville Park Civic Association met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Emory Rohrbaugh on Thursday, January 17th. The President, Grover J. Hale, appointed the following to serve on the Nominating Committee: Mr. Emory Rohrbaugh, Mrs. Herbert Smith, Mr. Floyd Weaver.

It was voted to send a petition to the Post Office, requesting that the mail boxes of Maple Avenue residents be removed from Capitol Trail to Maple Avenue, inasmuch as this street has been hard-surfaced.

The present location of these mailboxes on the south side of the highway makes a dangerous hazard for children who have to cross the highway when sent to get the mail. Local Dairy Farmers Among Those Cited At Recent Meeting

Awards Presented At Annual Achievement Program At Middletown

Twenty-seven outstanding dairy farmers in this area were honored by the Clover Dairy of Wilmington at a meeting held for the producers last night at the Middletown High School Auditorium in Middletown, Delaware.

The event was the fourth annual Achievement Award Program held by the Wilmington Company to recognize and reward dairymen with outstanding production records in high quality milk and year round level production.

Heading the list of top prize winners were Hazel Price of Warwick, Md., and L. H. Clark of Hockessin, Delaware, the two dairymen cited as having achieved the greatest success among district farmers.

Milk production and consumption trends were compared by Dr. Roy F. Davenport, Director of Field Service for Supplee.

"The trend during these past four years," he said, "has been toward greater fall production. This indicates that farmers are aware of the advantages to them of a seasonal pricing program. Supplee farmers not only have increased fall production, but have increased production through the full year by an average of eleven pounds a day, which keeps us in step with the demands of an increasing population."

Other dairymen honored at the meeting attended by Clover's 127 shippers and their families were: Arthur Carrow, Smyrna, Delaware; St. Joseph's Industrial School, Clayton, Del.; William A. Adams, Smyrna, Del.; E. J. Kendall, Newark, Del.; Leonard Dixon, Cecilton, Md.; Harry D. Todd, Newark, R. D. No. 1, Del.; R. L. Lyname, Newark, R. D. No. 3, Del.; J. Amorosa, Newark, Del.

William George, Smyrna, Del.; Edwin E. Greenplate, Newark, Del.; T. H. Little, Newark, R. D., Del.; James Bolton, Cecilton, Maryland; O. S. Anderson, Earlville, Md.; Robert Gravatt, Middletown, Del.; Dragon Run Farms, 215 W. Ninth St., Wilmington, Del.; Charlotte Hukill, Middletown, Del.

Evan L. Robinson, Retired Farmer, Dies This Week

Evan Lewis Robinson, 93, retired farmer, died Sunday at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Edith Otley, Nottingham Road, near Newark, where he had made his home for the past 14 years. He had been ill for some time.

Born at Cecilton, Md., Mr. Robinson had been a farmer in Cecil County until he was nearly 80 years old. He was a member of Newark Methodist Church and formerly belonged to the Grange.

In addition to his daughter, he is survived by two brothers, Walter and Conrad Robinson, both of Newark; four grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

Funeral service were held at 2 p.m. Wednesday at the R. T. Jones Funeral Home, Newark, with interment in Newark Cemetery.

Gifts For The Engaged

Miss Gertrude Gray — Miss Lillie Scott

Miss Gertrude Gray and Miss Lillie Scott, two local young girls whose engagements were announced this month, are pictured at their desks as they were presented gifts by Mrs. Norma Handloff given by the several sponsors of the Welcome Wagon.

These brides-to-be are just two of the many people who have enjoyed the friendly services of Welcome Wagon with its two hostesses, Mrs. Norma B. Handloff and Mrs. Frances R. Perkins.

The new-comers are quickly acquainted with the possibilities of their hometown, the new babies are heartily welcomed, the sixteen-year-olds are recognized as they at long last have reached the coveted and cherished age of sixteen, and lastly the engaged, all folks of these groupings make up the prospects for the Welcome Wagon hostesses.

Both Miss Gray and Miss Scott are employed at the Farmers Trust Company and included with them in the picture is Mrs. Handloff, the hostess, and Miss Edna Campbell, vice-president of the Farmers Trust Company.

Neither of these young ladies have ventured to confide the date of the "big day."

Part Time Police

proposed ordinance couldn't be worked out with city officials. It was pointed out by someone at the meeting that the city of Newark had insufficient policemen now to enforce even present parking regulations and brought up the question of how the one-hour limit would be enforced.

It was then that the suggestion was made that perhaps the solution lay in the utilization by the city police of several of the students as part-time police officers. The names of several interested students who have volunteered for the duty have been submitted to the Newark police and they are at the present time considering them in the light of necessary qualifications. At the present it is not planned to go any further with the selection of the applicants until the start of the second semester at the university, at which time the class schedules will be examined to determine which applicants will be available at the necessary times during the day.

Students Will See Torch Sweater Burn

Garment Will Be Burned At Assembly

Newark High School officials announced this week that Fire Chief Elmer Allison and others will burn one of the so-called "torch" sweaters that have been turned over to Newark police at the school assembly this week.

It is feared that more of these garments may be in the possession of local school students who have minimized the danger involved in these inflammable articles.

Clifton Knotts, official of the Aetna Hose, Hook and Ladder Company, and employee of the local school, approached Wilmer E. Shue, district superintendent, this week with the suggestion that the demonstration be performed.

One of the sweaters is now on display in the school office with the warning that they are highly dangerous.

During the past week several more of the garments that have caused national concern recently were turned in to the local police, bringing the total to date to seven.

Hath any wronged thee, be bravely revenged. Slight it, and the work's begun; forgive it, and 'tis finished. He is below himself that is not above an injury.—Francis Quarles.
