New Restaurant On Main Street

Building Started Today

A first class restaurant, in fact as well as in name, is the latest announcement for Newark.

Winfield M. Coverdale has purchased the Singles property adjoining that of his mother on Main street and will remodel at once for the new business. The buildings will be thrown together making a 28 foot store front and dwelling. The business portion of the building will extend back 75 feet. The store will have a two story frontage.

It is the intention of the new firm, of which Mr. Coverdale is at the head, to give Newark a restaurant, modeled on the City Cafe. Beginning with the glass front and extending to the minutest details of the kitchen, the appointments will be as complete as the modern eating house demands. Sanitary conditions will be given special attention. A detail showing the idea has been caught, a ladies' rest room with lavatories for the traveling public.

In connection with the business, candy will be manufactured. A wholesale as well as a retail business will be promoted here.

Work on the building has begun and will be pushed as rapidly as possible. It is hoped to open the business late in February.

Faithful Old Horse Hurt

Belle, the thirty-two year old horse, belonging to S. M. Donnell, who after years of faithful service has been "pensioned" for the last six years, was found early Tuesday morning, caught in the trestle on the "Y" on the Pomereoy railroad leading to the American Vulcanized Fibre Mill siding. The animal, unknown to its owner, had followed some colts from the Donnell woods to the Reynolds farm. Wandering again toward home the horse struck the railroad trestle. She had threaded her way carefully for a distance of fifteen feet, evidently losing her footing within three feet of solid ground. George Moore discovered the animal's plight early in the morning. Belle recognized the approaching footsteps with a grateful whinny. She was pried from her position with rails and carried to level ground. All the flesh had been torn from one of her front legs. At present she is in the hands of Dr. S. T. Young, veterinarian, found it necessary to end the animal's misery this morning.

Senator Saulsbury In Newark

Senator Saulsbury was a Newark visitor on Monday, calling on L. K. Bowen, the nominee for the Newark postoffice. The appointment will probably be made in a few days.

Rally Day At Otts' Chapel

Rally Day will be observed at Otts' Chapel, near Iron Hill, on Sunday, November fourteenth. Sunday School will begin at 1.30. Preaching by the Rev. Bertram Shay of Ridley Park M. E. church at 2.30 sharp. Special music will be enhanced by two cornets and a trombone. A cordial invitation is extended the public.

Fourteen Powder Workers Burned

Fourteen hands employed at the sorting mill of the Carney's Point powder works were caught in a volcanic flash of powder which resulted from a spark which fired a large quantity in bags they were unloading from a car and another lot in the sorting mill, about 7.30 o'clock last Tuesday morning. Nine of the men injured were in the sorting mill, and the others were nearby outside. Four of the men were fatally burned and died successively at Wilmington hospitals to which all the injured men were hurried. The dead are, Eugene Foster, of Pleasantville, N. J., Benjamin Townsend, of 1105 Market street, Wilmington; Patrick McGovern, of Philadelphia, and Andrew McGuigan, of 730 Walnut street, Wilmington. The remaining ten are all more or less burned, the cases of Frederick Lutz of Baltimore, James Harrigan, of Pennsboro, and Edward Coniff of Philadelphia, being most serious.

Grand Jollification Over Victory

Twice during the last week Newark has been treated to a display or organized fun such as the old town has seldom seen. The college boys, last Friday night, in preparation for the big Dickinson game scheduled for Saturday, turned out in force, headed by their band and the freshmen in costume. Practically all the town-folk enjoyed the parade and thoroughly appreciated the fun. Prizes were awarded for the best costumes to I. E. E. Plumley, who carried a float representing a German submarine; 2, Henry Marsden, a ballet dancer; and 3, the Red Cross crew from the Sigma Phi Epsilon Fraternity, who carried a form labeled Dickinson on a shutter, temporarily turned into a bier.

Following the parade a public smoker was held in the Oratory, City Solicitor Daniel O. Hastings, of Wilmington, Professor Frank B. Hills, Dean E. Laurence Smith, Professor Harold E. Tiffany, and Coach McAvoy made speeches, and the college songs were sung.

On Monday the entire Freshman class was detailed in squads to collect material for a huge bonfire to be built on the D. C. Rose Field, opposite the Women's College to celebrate Saturday's victory. By seven o'clock a huge pile of inflammable material had been raised. Again the student body, this time with a great blare of red lights paraded the town, singing the college songs. As they turned the corner of Depot Road, at Main street, they broke into a wild, hilarious snake dance. The boys danced around the great pile, the band played, red lights burned, truly it was a jollification indeed. The effigy of Dickinson carried in the parade was hoisted to the top-most point, gasoline poured over the pile, and the torch handed to Captain Handy, of the football team. With a blaze and a roar it was off. In thirty minutes the huge conical pile had practically disappeared. Short speeches commending the team and the student body for the support they had given them, were made by Dean E. L. Smith, Professor C. A. McCue, and Coach McAvoy. Members of the team were hoisted on the shoulders of the crowd and cheered.

Democratic Commit- teemen Organize

The first meeting of the newly elected Democratic Executive Committee of New Castle county was held Saturday afternoon at the headquarters of the committee, at 5 East Seventh street, Wilmington. With Harry T. Graham, vice-chairman of the old committee, the members elected the following officers: Harry T. Graham, chairman; Joseph H. Hossinger of Newark, secretary, and James J. Cahill of Wilmington, treasurer.

Beware Of The Horse Thief

A tip has been received at this office that there is a band of well-organized horse thieves at work. A community is visited, horses stolen and rushed to the war market. Whether there is any truth in the story or not, it may be well for farmers to take a little precaution. The information comes from what seems to be a reliable source.

WEDDING

Mote-Stengel

Mrs. Lydia Alberta Mote and John Jacob Stengel, both of Newark, were quietly married last Thursday afternoon at the Newark M. E. parsonage by the Rev. E. P. Roberts. Mr. and Mrs. Stengel will reside in their new home north of town.

Firemen Give Money For School Prizes

At the regular meeting of the Aetna Hose Hook and Ladder Company held at the Horse House last Friday evening, ten dollars was do nated to be used as prizes for spelling, to be offered in the Newark schools.

CONTINENTAL EXTENDS PLANT

REMARKABLE GROWTH DEMANDS NEW BUILDINGS

Plans under consideration for some time providing for increased capacity of the plant of the Continental Fibre Company are about completed. Work on the new building will probably be started in a short time. The addition necessary to take care of the increasing business of the local company has been under consideration for some months but only today was the decision made known. J. P. Wright, vice-president of the company, commenting on the extension said that, while all the details had not been worked out, the addition will be made and that the work would probably start in a few days. To just what extent the operations would be, Mr. Wright did not care to discuss at this time. The building just now being projected will be 40 by 280, two stories, probably of standard mill construction. The location will be just south of the concrete mills erected two years ago. It is understood that a substantial increase in the number of employees will be necessary to carry on the operations.

Children's Christmas Treat Planned

The happy day given the children of the community last Christmas is a part of the Christmas plan for this year. Already a group of young women are at work on the project. The treat will be held in the Opera House as last year, and every effort be made to include every child in the community. The committee which has undertaken this work met on Tuesday afternoon to plan for the occasion. It was decided to give a moving picture benefit on November 26 as a means of raising funds for the purpose. H. B. Warner will star in The Lost Paradise. Contributions from interested townspeople will be appreciated by the committee. All such should be forwarded to Miss Elizabeth H. Grime, chairman, or Miss M. Elsie Wright, treasurer.

Women Students Visit Textile Mills

On December 2 and 5 the Home Economics students in the department of clothing at the Women's College visited the Bancroft Mills near Wilmington. This trip, which is a required part of the work in clothing, gives the students a definite idea of the processes through which the raw cotton must pass before and after it is woven into cloth. The trip included a visit to the spinning, weaving, dyeing, and bleaching, and mercerizing mills.

POINTS OUT PARTY MISTAKES—SCORES CIVIL SERVICE BLUNDERS

The one hope of the Democracy today is the popularity, in some quarters, of President Wilson. They are trying to capitalize that popularity into a party asset as an offset against the liabilities of their sins of omission and commission. No one questions that President Wilson is greater than his party. His complete control over, and his facile manipulation of the last Congress, proved that. No one questions that he is more popular than his party. He has an almost uncanny faculty for obtaining credit for everything of good that may happen, and shedding onto the shoulders of some other individual, or of the party as a whole, responsibility for the bad. He is the luckiest man that ever sat in the White House.

Just as the country was becoming fully awake to the disastrous consequences, both to the nation's industries and to its revenues, of the tariff law, for which he was mainly responsible, the war came and distracted public attention from affairs at home. Overshadowing as it did all else, it offered the opportunity, immediately seized upon, to transfer the blame for approaching national bankruptcy upon circumstances which have nothing whatever to do with it. It artificially revitalized our dying industries by making them the main contributors to Europe's needs. It forced up our foreign trade from a loss in the year previous of more than twenty per cent to hitherto unheard of proportions. It greatly relieved the international aspects of the Mexican situation, he well assured that had it not been for this war, a situation was developing, due to our faltering and pusillanimous policy in regard to Mexico, that would surely have brought us into serious altercation, if not war, with one or more European powers.

A striking piece of luck came to him when, as a result of the war, diplomatic questions of the gravest import were suddenly thrust upon us; his luckiest star again shone brightly when he received the resignation of a Secretary of State notoriously unfit for the position.

Unexampled luck has been so far the portion of the Wilson Administration, but it is luck predicted upon the greatest disaster in the world's history, and cannot and ought not to forever endure. It has seemed to me that we Republicans on the firing line have been altogether too mealy-mouthed (continued on page 2)

Saturday Classes At Women's College

On Saturday morning a class in the study of foods and cookery is held at the Women's College, from 9.40 until 12.40 o'clock. At present there are seven members attending. Any woman interested in Domestic Science study is eligible for admission to this course. The series includes ten lessons, of which the fourth will be held on

Local Representative Attends Banquet

James C. Hastings, Delaware College Junior, attended the banquet given by the Equitable Life Insurance Company to the Philadelphia Division Agents on Thursday evening last at the Philadelphia Art Club. Mr. Hastings is the company's representative at Newark.

Rural Mail Service Still Snarled

Rural Delivery Service from Newark remains still in the Burlington State of Efficiency. A representative of the Department at Washington, has been here looking over the wreck. His reported remarks cannot be printed. The disgust expressed was in keeping with the opinion of everyone who is at all acquainted with conditions here. Ewing, the last driver to attempt the impossible, has resigned. Two of the old drivers have been put back.

The pile of unsorted mail in the office will probably be delivered sometime during the Wilson administration. The surprising thing of the whole episode is the patience displayed by the patrons of the office, suffering by the Burlington escapade.

American Ethical Union Offers Lecture Course

A course of lectures under the auspices of the American Ethical Culture Union in the Majestic Theatre, Wilmington, opened last Sunday with a large audience in attendance. Alfred W. Martin, A. M. S. T. B., assistant leader of the Ethical Culture Society of New York, will lecture throughout the series. "False Beliefs About War, as Exposed by the Present World Crisis," was the subject of the address last Sunday. Later subjects are: November 14th—"What Human Life Is For"; November 21st—"The Ethical Message of Robert Browning"; November 28th—"The Distinctive Characteristics of the Ethical Movement." The public is cordially invited to attend these lectures.

Literary Society Organized

On Saturday, October 30, a number of the members of Jackson Sunday School met at Jackson Hall. The purpose of the meeting was the formation of an association which would draw the members of the Sunday School together and benefit the community.

The meeting was called to order by the chairman, Miss Isabel Scott. After some discussion, those present decided to form a "Literary Society" to meet on two Saturday evenings of each month in Jackson Hall.

Officers were elected as follows: president, Miss Mary E. Kemble; vice-president, Miss Isabel Steele; secretary, Mr. Harvey Mitchell; assistant secretary, Miss Isabel Scott; treasurer, Miss Lydia Ford; assistant treasurer, Mrs. J. Cecil Creswell; press reporter, Miss Edith A. Robinson.

It was decided that the entertainment should consist of readings, recitations, debates and music. An entertainment committee for the first meeting was appointed as follows: Miss Emily Scott, Mrs. J. Cecil Creswell, Miss Isabel Steele. The company adjourned, to hold the first regular meeting on the evening of November 13th.

Farmers' Institute Elects Officers

At the Farmers' Institute held on Monday evening in Stanton Hall, the following officers were elected to serve the ensuing year: president, Eugene H. Shallcross; vice-president, Mrs. Edward T. Weer; secretary, Miss Eva T. Weldin; treasurer, Richard T. Buckingham. Those appointed to serve on the executive committee were: J. O. Lamson, Prof. A. E. Grantham, Newton L. Grubb, and J. A. Weldin. These officers were reported by the nominating committee, which included Mrs. Charles P. Dickey, Mrs. Martha Cranston, and Frederick Snyder.

The election was followed by a talk on "The Art of Home Making" by Professor M. V. Caudell, of the Home Economics Department of the Women's College, and a talk by H. Hayward, dean of the Agricultural Department, Delaware College on "The Art of Home Making" Animals." Both lectures were extremely interesting and instructive and held the close attention of everyone. The meeting was an open one, and many not members of the Institute were present.

Teachers' In- stitute Opens

Interesting Features Planned

The New Castle County Teachers' Institute to be held Wednesday, Thursday, and Friday of this week at the Hotel duPont, Wilmington, promises to be one of the most interesting and helpful ever held in the county. Prominent educational workers, school commissioners, and members of boards of education in the county will be present.

One of the features of the session, for which plans have been made for many months past, will be the spelling contest to be held between pupils from the various schools of the county. A committee of three teachers has been appointed to take care of the contestants. This committee comprises Miss Carrie Downie, Miss Mary Steele and Miss Mary B. Goodley. The contestants will register at the Y. M. C. A. building, Tenth and Orange streets, where the contest will be held and all needed stationery will be furnished there. The papers will be judged by impartial judges. A number of valuable prizes for both the schools and individual contestants have been offered. Those taking part in the spelling contest will be entertained at luncheon at the Hotel du Pont, and after the contest they will be taken on a tour through the new county and city buildings and will be entertained at the Majestic theatre.

The Misses Myrtle Wakeland and Ella Saunders, with Martha Short, as alternate, have been chosen to represent Newark High School; Alma Dunlevy, John Green, Beatrice Vansant, with Estella Thornton, as alternate, to represent the Grammar School of Newark.

Among prominent speakers who will address the institute are Dr. Samuel Chiles Mitchell, president of Delaware College; Dean Winifred J. Robinson, of the Women's College of Delaware; Dr. Charles A. Wagner, State Commissioner of Education; Professor Clifford J. Scott, superintendent of public schools, Wilmington; Governor Charles R. Miller, James F. Price, Mayor of Wilmington; J. M. Coughlin, superintendent of schools, Wilkes Barre, Pa.; Professor M. E. Rich, Women's College of Delaware; Dr. H. W. Foght, Dr. A. W. Dunn, of the Bureau of Education, Washington; Miss Shrepp, Philadelphia. There will also be readings by Miss Emilie Kreider Norris of Philadelphia and Mrs. Virginia Jones Lattomus, Wilmington.

Frat Men Attend Church

Members of the Sigma Nu Fraternity in a body attended the Presbyterian church, Newark, last Sunday.

Prizes At State Corn Show

The Corn Growers' Association wishes to encourage a larger number of farmers to make exhibits of wheat, cowpeas, and soy beans. Liberal premiums are offered for these exhibits. Delaware is becoming well known for her production of cowpeas and soy beans. Tens of thousands of bushels of cowpeas are grown annually. The soy bean has within the past six years become identified with our system of farm practice. Many inquiries come from other states each year for crimson clover seed and soy beans. Delaware is recognized as the pioneer in the introduction of the Wilson variety of soy bean which has become so popular that it is listed by the leading seedsmen.

An instructive and interesting program will be given on the 9th and 10th of December. Write to the Secretary of the Delaware Corn Growers' Association, A. E. Grantham, Newark, for full particulars.

Damaging Effects of Poor School Attendance

State Commissioner of Education Charges Citizens to Remedy Conditions

Some damaging effects of poor school attendance on Delaware children, are pointed out in a bulletin just issued by Dr. Charles A. Wagner, State Commissioner of Education. The pamphlet follows "A Study and An Appeal," in which the Commissioner set forth the results of a careful study of the teachers of Delaware for the school term of 1912-1913. The study shows that in the town or incorporated schools the children attend about 70 per cent of the term, or seven days out of ten that school is in session. The pupils in the rural schools are present less than 60 per cent of the time, or are in school less than six days out of each ten days of school.

The child involved in such a condition, Dr. Wagner goes on to say, "is not getting an education at all, but is learning a few scattered and unrelated facts, and even these he soon forgets, since they are not properly related or associated with facts which bind the whole together. The lessons missed are missing links, so there can be no recollection, almost no understanding or comprehension of meaning in the facts, therefore no development of insight, of reasoning for the child through his lessons. Class exercises become mere memory drills, mere efforts to recall ideas, without regard to their relations, which have as much value to train the child to think, to remember, to compare, as Polly gets out of saying, "Polly wants a cracker."

Dr. Wagner adopts the question and answer method of setting forth the facts, which he employed in the recent Parent-Teacher pamphlet. The statement is prepared, he declares, for the consideration of the public press, granges, New Century Clubs, parent-teacher associations, pastors of churches, and all who are interested in the educational development of Delaware.

By a quotation of statistics the writer shows the varying harmful effects of poor attendance, chief among which is the failure to make promotions, which results in the lack of an age standard for the various grades. The effect of this condition is most noticeable in the rural school. Figures compiled by Dr. Wagner show that in grades three and four in the rural schools, pupils of eleven and twelve different ages are reported by teachers in the schools. "The rural school makes the best classification it can," the writer declares, "and rests satisfied. The best of an inexperienced teacher who is probably new in that school, may be very poor for the child. Rural teachers should not be satisfied by saying, 'I have done the best I can.' Doubtless they nearly all do that. But, having done their best, they should show rural communities how poor that best is for the child. Only by such missionary work can rural people be aroused to the necessity of securing better school conditions. Probably no one knows quite as well as his teacher just what loss the child is suffering. Therefore, as a protection to childhood, the teacher should speak out and demand better conditions for childhood." The statement closes with a special charge to parents, citizens, teachers, and tax-payers:

Present satisfaction and easy complacency about the school, because, as many think and a few say, "The schools are at least as good as we had," should give way to a serious concern whether the schools of today are doing as well for the children who attend them as did the schools of the parents. It may be true that the schools today are as good as the parents attended, or they may even be better than were the schools attended by the parents, and yet not be what the present demands. In their schools the parents of our day received a fairly good book education. They learned to work, to earn money, to shoulder responsibility in the home, on the farm or in the shop. Then work and education seemed two separate and distinct processes. The school imparted knowledge. Home, farm or shop taught to work, and to work involved muscular power.

For the child who is to be fitted in the world of tomorrow, mere brawn or muscular power makes only about one-tenth of his living. Brain or brain power, skill, dexterity, makes the other nine-tenths of it. The parent was to live in a world that used muscular energy and mental power just about in the proportion that the education of the period combined them. The child who is today getting ready for his life's responsibilities needs brain-development, intelligence, readiness to make quick, sudden and widely varied changes of living, of action, of occupation, or he will find himself in the discard or on the scrap-heap before he has actually entered what now seems "his future." These tremendous truths and facts as to what is demanded of the citizen in a democracy are what make an education that was good enough for father and mother so pitifully insufficient for the child. The speeding up, the mechanical inventions and contrivances, the minutely differentiating occupations and the high degree of nervous co-ordination which they exact, all these call for an education entirely different, greater in time devoted to it, than was the schooling given to earlier generations. Not only the tradesman and the professional man, but the farmer too has need of a higher degree of education and of a different kind of education. Farmers themselves know this and realize it fully; they train the boys to use the latest and best implements. This is right and wise. Why not teach the use of the old-time implements to the on-coming generation if you are going to give them only the old-time school education? One would be as sensible as the other.

Because the foundation of the entire educational superstructure is laid in the years of attendance of the public schools, the children should from the very start get continuous, regular and systematic development and training for the activities they must assume later. School attendance in the very first grades fashions and forms the first links in the chain. Therefore, we are negligent as educators if we do not keep this fact before parents.

about discussing the Wilson policies, foreign as well as domestic. It is as though an odor of sanctity pervaded the maintenance of our neutrality. No doubt a very large portion of the American people would approve any policy, the result of which has been to keep us out of the war. The American people don't want war. We would be foolish if we did, for we have not been, and are not now, in the least degree prepared for war, either offensive or defensive. Practically we have not been at war during this Administration, unless you count the little one that we had with Mexico at Vera Cruz. At that time Uncle Sam showed his teeth. Through Woodrow Wilson and William J. Bryan, his attorneys in fact, he demanded an apology for an insult to our flag. We sent the armed force of the United States to Vera Cruz to enforce our demand. It is true that that apology was never made. We sailed away with the taint of insult to our flag unremoved. The blood of some American sailors, not many, perhaps, judged by modern standards, but more than our entire Navy lost during our war with Spain, was left to mingle with the blood of peaceful American men and their women outraged on Mexican soil, but still we were at peace—at peace, at least, so far as the nations of Europe were concerned.

We have continued to preserve our neutrality. Good, but why not? The situation is not without precedent. This is not the first European war within the memory of men here present. A Democratic president preserved our neutrality during the Crimean War. A Republican President preserved it during the Franco-Prussian War. Another Republican president preserved our neutrality during the war between Russia and Japan.

Granted that the present situation has been handled admirably, but what American President, Republican or Democratic, would not have done likewise? There is nothing sacred about it; there is no reason why it should blind us to the lamentable results of other Democratic policies and performances, either foreign or domestic.

It is not in accordance with the American system of government that any man, the leader of a great political party, should monopolize all the credit and shirk all the blame for the results, good or bad, of the administration by his party of the affairs of the American people. If another plank of the Democratic platform is to be shattered, another solemn pledge to be violated, if the President is to be a candidate to succeed himself—and what man doubts it—he must stand or fall upon the whole record of the party of which he has been the most puissant and undisputed leader in modern times.

It is now, and always has been, a characteristic of the Democratic party to promise all things to all men and then proceed, if successful in deluding a sufficient number of voters, to carry out or to repudiate just so many of their promises as may seem to fit the demands of the occasion as they may arise. You remember the solemn protestations of good faith that accompanied the platform enunciated by the Democratic Convention of 1912. Each plank was a sacred pledge intended to be redeemed to the letter. That was what they said before election. What did they do after election?

Let me enumerate a few of those pledges and leave it to you to be the judges of the fact of their redemption. Rigid economy in contrast to Republican extravagance; ample revenues for the support of the Government; industrial prosperity under a tariff law which provided for "effective competition"; reduction in the cost of living; free tolls for American ships in the Panama Canal; the rehabilitation of the American merchant marine strict enforcement and extension of the Civil Service; a single Presidential term, and many other things. Merely to state them is to effectively bring before your minds the evidence of their complete repudiation.

What of their promised rigid economy? The fact is that the last Democratic Congress appropriated of the people's money $177,000,000 more than any Republican Congress in history, and it would have been far worse, worse by millions upon millions, had it not been for certain Republican Senators, who not only waited watchfully, but acted effectively, to check the rapacity of the pork barrel advocates. All this, mind you, in the face of falling revenues, falling revenues in time of world-peace; falling revenues before war was ever heard of or even dreamed of; falling revenues in spite of increased importations, not only before, but after the war. Then came what they called the income tax, a tax burdensome and oppressive in the extreme; a tax imposed on objects and business transactions never before taxed in history except when this country itself was actually at war. The name "War Tax" is a gross misnomer. Some such tax was inevitable, war or no war, to remedy the deficiency caused by the Underwood Tariff Law. It was a deficiency tax, pure and simple, but even with the hundred million dollars additional revenue that this tax raised, the deficit grew and the Treasury balance continued to fall.

On the first of July a year ago the balance in the Treasury was more than $140,000,000. On the day Congress convened, when the Democracy started their Treasury paid, it had shrunk to $66,000,000. By the end of June it had shrunk to practically nothing at all. It was difficult to find out just what it was because the policy of pitiless publicity went on a vacation for a time, and the Treasury balance was not given to the newspapers. A windfall came, though, during the last two or three days of June. The screws had been put on as they never had been before to collect the last possible cent of the income tax, and on the first of July it was heralded to the country that the Treasury balance was something like seventy million dollars. Again the process of erosion set in and the balance began to dwindle until on the last of September it was about cut in half. The Treasury was running behind more than $100,000,000 (continued on page 7)

They found him lying dead in a shanty near his home on the Seaford-Bridgeville road with a bullet hole in his temple. A revolver with one cartridge fired was found near his body. Court Decides Odd Land Suit
The Kent County Superior Court last week decided a novel point arising in a suit of George P. Knight against his brother, William K. Knight, for a share in a 20 acre tract belonging to the estate of their mother. Under her will each brother was given a farm, the tracts separated by the Dover-Quaker Lane road. Mrs. Knight, however, it was found, had bought the 20 acres from Thomas W. Wilson and as they adjoined the farm devised to W. K. Knight, had been considered a part thereof. The will did not specifically include the tract and provided that the rest and residue of the estate should be shared alike by the brothers. George Knight brought suit but the Court held that as the disputed tract had always been assumed to be part of William's farm it belonged to him rightfully under the will.

Basketball Schedule Announced

At a meeting of the Delaware College Athletic Council last night a tentative schedule for the basketball season was presented by Manager Bounds and approved by the Council. Much trouble is experienced in making up a schedule in basketball and keep within the amount allowed by the Council for this sport.

The tentative schedule arranged by Manager Bounds calls for the first game to be played on January 14 and the final game March 4. The schedule when completed will contain fourteen games of which number eight will be played at home and six away. Nine games are now scheduled for sure and five others are pending. The tentative schedule follows:

- January 14—Baltimore Polytechnic Institute at Newark.
- January 18—Baltimore City College at Newark.
- January 20—Albright at Newark.
- January 29—Pennsylvania Military College at Chester.
- February 5—Swarthmore at Newark.
- February 9—George Washington University at Washington (pending).
- February 11—St. John's of Annapolis at Newark, and Scrubs vs. Wilmington Conference Academy.
- February 17—Rutgers at New Brunswick (pending).
- February 18—New York University Law School at New York City (pending).
- February 19—Crescent A. C. at Brooklyn.
- February 23—Drexel Institute at Newark.
- February 25—New York University Law School at Newark (pending).
- March 3—Susquehanna at Newark.
- March 4—St. Johns at Annapolis.

Coach McAvoy was given the authority to arrange for the interclass basketball games. They will be played some time during December. Coach McAvoy also suggested Wednesday, December 1, as the date for the Freshmen-Sophomore football game. All students who expect to take part in this game will be required to train for at least two weeks. The Council established a rule last year to the effect that any student who has taken part in three or more of the scheduled game on the varsity eleven will not be eligible to play in the class game.

The annual Freshmen-Sophomore indoor meet will be held Friday night, December 17 in the gymnasium. The freshmen have some good material for indoor sports and the contests should be unusually interesting.

Members of the Council are much pleased with the showing of the football team to date. The reports show that the attendance at the home games has been larger than ever before and the season will be a success financially if a large crowd turns out to the Thanksgiving game with William and Mary team, which is the only remaining home game.

The matter of trying to get Johns Hopkins on the football schedule for the next year was discussed. It was the general opinion that Hopkins would make the best attraction that Delaware could possibly get and Coach McAvoy will likely be sent to Baltimore at an early date to discuss the matter with the Hopkins officials.

Help Swell The Collection

On the evening of Monday, November 1, Miss Rich, Professor of Education in the Women's College, addressed the Washington Heights New Century Club of Wilmington on the definite subject of the needs of the rural schools. On Monday, November 1, Miss Rich gave to the New Century Club of Newark a report of the meeting of the Education and Arts and Crafts Committees which had been held at the Women's College on October 30. The special problem on which these committees are working this year is the accumulation of collections of pictures available for use in the rural schools. For an adequate collection they need 10,000 pictures, classified and catalogued, so that they may be distributed through the schools in somewhat the manner of a circulating library. The committees have now on hand 3,000 pictures, only 300 of which have been mounted. The Director's Board of the Federation of Women's Clubs has given $25 toward covering the expenses of cataloguing these. There is now a need for more pictures and for volunteers who will mount those already acquired. The New Century Clubs throughout the state are asked to help in this work by furnishing mounts and mounting pictures according to samples which will be sent on request. These pictures are on a variety of subjects appropriate for school use.—geography, industries, art, travel, history, both local and general, agriculture, nature study,—in short, anything that will be of educational value to the school children. As a result of Miss Rich's reports, the Social Service Committee of the Newark New Century Club, with Mrs. C. A. McCue as chairman, has organized "Mounting Parties" to give practical help in carrying on this work.

Home Makers' School At Frankford

A new Home Makers' School is to be opened at Frankford on Wednesday, November 10. This school at Frankford has been demanded organized by the women of the community. Miss Jefferson, who will direct the work will at the same time form various girls' clubs in the vicinity. As an outgrowth of the Home Makers' School conducted by Miss Jefferson at Ocean View, there has been organized a community club, which has taken as its name "The Jefferson Community Club."

Extension Worker Speaks

Miss Jefferson, Extension Worker in Home Economics at the Women's College, has already made the following engagements for the next two weeks, outside of her class at Frankford: Nov. 8—address at the New Century Club of Newark; Nov. 16—address before the Parent-Teachers' Association at Yorklyn; Nov. 18, address before the Community Club at Rising Sun.

Two Versions

A lady of the New Century Club remarked, "Really the town of Newark does not need any Free Library. We are sufficed with culture and intellectual treats throughout the winter season."

A young man remarked, "I wish we had a real Free Library. I have no place to spend my evenings. Movies, prayer meetings and pool rooms finally become tiresome. I do not feel comfortable in the Library. It is so much like a quilting party. Treated cordially, sure I would be, but you know how a boy feels."

Sidelights Of The Game

Here's loss always to the man who wagers against Delaware!

"The best game of Football I ever saw."

Judges, Chancellors, ex-Governors, State officials, lawyers, wealth, beauty, and autos,—besides all ordinary rooters.

That kick from the goal was a regular Italian trick.

"Isn't Handy a dear," said a Coed. So say we all.

When the Dickinson man swore at his men, it wasn't cussin',—it was religious fervor of a lost cause.

SQUIBS

If you were not at the Smoker, you missed it. The speaker who started to make a speech appropriate to the occasion, apparently lost his notes, and launched on a review of the Newark Post, exposing its foibles to an eager public. Said he was speaking undisguised. He usually travels incognito but had his tortoise shells in his pocket this evening. Such an exposure of an editor we have seldom witnessed. "This Post is the self-appointed censor of Newark. One has to be careful what he does here." The applause reinforced him and he launched into our article on tortoise shell specs of some weeks ago. Dragged in the dust before our friends, we wandered home. Shall the Post be continued or not? We were undecided. Undisguised he was. After that Perkasis story, may he travel hereafter under an assumption.

SOCIAL NOTES

Miss Gertrude Willis entertained a number of friends last Monday evening in honor of her birthday. A number of games were played. Dancing was the chief feature of the evening. Among those present were Edna Cunningham, Gertrude Hill, Anna Ritz, Helen O'Rourke, Martha Wollaston, Gladys McCallister, Sara Lovett, and Anna Frazer; Raymond Fader, Walter Ritz, Merril Robinson, Granville Robinson, Eugene Kennedy, Walter Holton, Joseph Rhodes, Conrad Lewis, Johnson Rowan, William Miller, Tom Armstrong, and Paul Steele.

On Saturday evening after the Dickinson game the Sigma Nu Fraternity held an informal dance at their house. The sixty guests danced until eleven o'clock when refreshments were served. Beside dancing, two interesting stunts were acted by the Freshmen. One was a talking contest and the other a curtain trick.

Among those present were Professor and Mrs. C. A. Short, Professor and Mrs. A. C. Whittier, and Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Evans.

Members of the Omega Alpha Fraternity entertained their friends at a Hallowe'en party last Friday evening. age conditions, which the extension work hoped to remedy. She mentioned the different activities which the home economic extension department of Delaware College is pursuing with gratifying results; movable schools conducted from a period of three to five weeks have been held in Rising Sun, Viola, Ocean View, where household management, cooking and dietetics had been taught in a practical way. These schools proved so pleasant and useful to its members that they themselves now continue them under the form of home study clubs. Very successful results have also been obtained from the organization of girls' clubs where girls are taught not only the household arts, but to acquire pride in the performance of their household duties.

Previous to Miss Jefferson's paper the club spent an interesting hour discussing business matters and listening to enthusiastic reports of federation meetings. Mrs. W. H. Evans gave a report of the State Executive Board meeting, and Mrs. C. B. Evans of the State Federation meeting in our own home town.

Among other business matters it was voted to give the Hospitality Committee the sum of ten dollars from the club funds. It was also moved and seconded that every member of the club give a thanksgiving offering of ten cents to the club to buy china. Miss Harter has charge of this collection.

The meeting opened with a Flower song, played by Mary Frances Hayward, followed by the song of Old Delaware, which the club sang in a body.

DELAWARE TRIUMPHS OVER DICKINSON

Good Sportsmanship Displayed On Frazer Field

One of the largest crowds ever seen on Joe Frazer Field witnessed Delaware triumph over Dickinson last Saturday, to the score of 24-7. The prevalence of genuine Delaware "pep" was apparent in every feature of the day. Promptly at two fifteen the entire student body in uniform, headed by the band, and carrying the Delaware State flag, marched upon the field. The regulation blue overcoats with the bright blue hoods, added a spectacular feature to the parade. After circling the gridiron the cadets "charged" the grandstand by companies, pulling of the stunt with a cleverness that called forth enthusiastic applause from the spectators on the stands. Seated upon the stands the students formed a solid blue phalanx, cheering their team to victory. Delaware gold bunting, tied over the caps of students, formed a great "D", which showed on the blue background, pleasingly, from the opposite of the field.

Seldom, if ever, has there been a cleaner, classier brand of football played on Frazer Field. Not once during the game did either team protest a decision of any kind. A more sportsmanlike spirit could not be shown by two teams than that which was exhibited last Saturday. The condition of the Delaware men was illustrated by the fact that during the entire game time was not required by a single Delaware man.

Play In Detail

The visitors opened the game by kicking off to Delaware. Delaware made a first down. Taylor punted to Dickinson's 25-yard line. Dickinson failed on two plays through the line and kicked to Taylor, who fumbled, Dickinson falling on the ball. Again Delaware held and Hamby kicked to Taylor on the 20 yard line. Captain Handy fumbled on the first play and Hertzler fell on the ball for Dickinson on Delaware's 10 yard line. On their third down, Palm carried the ball over for the first score of the game. Palm kicked the goal.

Dickinson again kicked off. Delaware made a first down and then Taylor punted. Crothers threw Palm for a loss of several yards. On the next play, Smart blocked a kick and recovered the ball on the 5 yard line. Taylor tied the score by kicking the goal.

Delaware received the kick. Line plunges failed to gain and Taylor was forced to punt. Shelley received the ball on Dickinson's 40 yard line. Smart dropping him in his tracks. The quarter ended with the ball in Dickinson's possession on their own 49-yard line. Delaware, 7; Dickinson, 7.

Second Quarter

An end run, followed by a pass from Hamby to Brown, placed the ball on the 30 yard line. Here Delaware was penalized 15 yards for holding. On the first play Dickinson was penalized for piling on. Crothers pulled the Blue and Gold out of a hole at this stage of the game by intercepting a forward pass. Rushes by Handy, Taylor and Bratton made a first down. Two end runs failed to gain and Taylor punted out of bounds on Dickinson's 40 yard line. Hamby made 15 yards on an end run. Two passes failed to work and Palm punted over the goal line. The ball was put in play on the 20 yard line, from where Taylor kicked. An exchange of punts gave Delaware the ball on her 35 yard line. Two first downs were made, placing the ball on Dickinson's 35 yard mark. Two forward passes failed but a third one, Handy to Smart, placed the ball on the 25 yard line. Two plunges netted five yards. With 30 seconds to play and on the fourth down, Fidance dropped back and kicked a goal from field. Before the teams lined up the whistle blew.

Delaware, 10; Dickinson, 7.

Third Quarter

Delaware kicked off. Dickinson seemed to take a brace in this period and started off with a rush. A forward pass, Masland to Shelley, netted thirty yards. Another first down placed the oval on Delaware's 25 yard line. The Blue and Gold team held and received the ball on her 15 yard line. Rushes by Handy and Taylor gave Delaware a first down. Dickinson held and Taylor punted to the 25 yard mark. Dickinson returned the punt to Delaware's 30 yard line. After a 25 yard run by Bratton Delaware could not gain and were again forced to kick. Crothers intercepted a pass and once more Delaware took the offensive. Dickinson's line held. Taylor kicked to the Pennsylvanians' 25 yard line. Here the period ended.

Delaware, 10; Dickinson, 7.

Fourth Quarter

As in the previous quarter, Dickinson started off with a rush. A first down and a forward brought the ball to Delaware's 30-yard line. Weldin came to the rescue by pulling a pass out of the air and making a run of forty yards. By straight football, Delaware rushed the ball to the 6 yard line where Bratton carried it over, scoring Delaware's second touchdown. Taylor added one more point.

Delaware kicked off. Crothers intercepted a forward on Dickinson's 30 yard line. Repeated plunges again resulted in a score. Bratton making the score. Taylor kept up his good work by kicking his third straight goal.

Shortly after the kickoff, the whistle blew, thus ending one of the greatest fought battles ever staged on Frazer Field.

For Delaware, the defensive playing of Crothers featured, while the line plunging of Capt. Handy and Bratton was especially noteworthy.

Hamby and Palm were the best ground gainers for the Carlisle warriors. The score:

Dickinson	Delaware
Brown.....l. e. Fitzpatrick (Capt.)	McCabe.....l. t. Weldin
P. Masland....l. g. Newton	Meyers.....c. Crothers
Taylor.....r. g. T. Wilson	Fridebaugh....r. t. E. Wilson
Hertzler.....r. e. Smart	Shelley.....q. b. Fidance
Hamby.....l. h. b. Taylor	Palm.....r. h. b. Bratton
F. Masland....f. b. Handy (Capt.)

Substitutions: Dickinson—Evans for Hamby. Touchdowns—Handy, Bratton, 2; Palm. Goal from field, Fidance. Goal from touchdown, Taylor, 3; Palm. Referee, Belland, Michigan State. Umpire, Sigman, Lafayette. Head linesman, Wetter Swarthmore. Time of quarters, 12 minutes.

Freshmen Beat "Sophs"

In the annual relay race Saturday the "Sophs" proved no match for the first year men. Taking the lead at the start, the "Freshies" were never headed. Craig, their last man finishing about fifty yards ahead of Taylor. The time made was 3:43 1-2. Considering the practice which the new men have had, this is remarkable time, and indicates that there will be some very good material to report for the "Varsity relay" in the spring.

Two More Games

Next Saturday Delaware plays Mt. St. Marys College at Baltimore. This should not be a hard test for the team but Coach McAvoy intends to give the team a good work-out this week in order to keep the men in good shape for the final game on Thanksgiving.

The Thanksgiving game this year will be played with the fast William and Mary College. This should be another treat for the fans and great preparations are being made in order to make things lively for the holiday crowd.

Everyone should turn out for this final game of the season.

Stolen Automobile Recovered

The touring car of Wills Johnson, of 825 Franklin street, Wilmington, connected with the du Pont Powder Company, was driven off from that city on the night of October 16. Killed Cleaning A Revolver

While rubbing rust from a revolver on Thursday morning Thomas L. Fleming, aged 31 years, formerly of Lancaster, Pa., was instantly killed at the projectile plant of the Bethlehem Steel Company near

New Castle, where he was chief clerk. The revolver of 38 caliber had been carried by a night watchman who left it on Fleming's desk. He was rubbing the rust with emery paper with the weapon pointed toward him. A cartridge exploded the bullet entering his breast. Watchman George McKnitt and two other workmen heard the report of the weapon and entering the office found Fleming lying dead with his shirt ablaze.

Miss Julia Marvel while carrying a number of bundles missed her footing on a stairway at her home in Seaford on Saturday and fell. One of her arms was badly fractured and she was hurt internally. She was sent to the Cambridge Hospital for treatment.

My Young Men's Style Show

If you want to see real young men's styles for Fall in both fabric and fashions visit THIS store.

In these days "Mr. Young Man" is a very popular fellow. Nearly everybody in the Clothes business is bidding for his trade and claiming to have just what he wants.

But your common-sense young fellow knows that you cannot make a rose out of a dandelion by sprinkling it with rose perfume.

A merchant may paper his store with young men's labels, but he isn't going to be recognized as a young man's furnisher until he gets a service that is for young men in actuality as well as in name.

Calling a shoe a "Young Man's Boot" isn't going to make it sell any more readily to the young man unless the sale has a style and a vamp that piques and please the young man's fancy.

"Young Man's Style" is not a mere advertising bromide with Sol Wilson Tailoring. It means Clothes created, cut, stitched and finished precisely to the young man's fancy.

I am making a tremendous hit with the Young Men of this town because I have made a special effort in designing and tailoring those ultra-styling young men's clothes; those toppy, form-fitting Clothes so much desired but so seldom found by the young man.

It is the same with Sol Wilson fabrics.

The Sol Wilson woolen equipment contains hundreds of patterns woven solely for the young man's taste.

The call among young men is for wide Check Glen Urquhart in unusual and uncommon shades. Likewise the young man leans towards Homespuns, Tartan Plaids, Basket Weaves, Club Checks and Silk Nub Mixtures. You'll find these Novelty Fabrics here by the hundreds from all the best woolen mills of America and abroad.

Others may echo in parrot fashion my young man's claim, but they cannot duplicate my Young Man's Service. For the line I offer is a pre-eminent Young Man's Line not in mere name but in the merchandise it is delivering.

Longworth Reviews Wilson Administration

(continued from page 2) 000 a month. The policy of pitiless publicity would soon have had to take another vacation. The situation would not look well to the public. They would begin to compare the balance with Republican balances, and so a new method was hit upon, designed simply and solely to fool the people.

On the first of October the Treasury balance was announced to be some $128,000,000, and accompanying it was a brief statement to the effect that the Treasury officials had changed their methods of bookkeeping. For the first time in a hundred years the Treasury accounts were juggled to make a good showing. Methods of high finance had found their way into the management of the people's money. This method was ingenious, if you please, but even it could not stop the process of erosion. Within twenty days the balance had fallen to $116,000,000, a loss of $12,000,000 even under this new and enlightened method. Under the old time-honored method of keeping the public accounts this shows that there is today a balance in the Treasury of not more than about $20,000,000, and with the continued loss of something like $800,000 a day it is not difficult to estimate when the United States Treasury runs dry.

The American people, gentlemen, under this administration, are riding hell-bent to bankruptcy and paying for the privilege with a war tax. Their boasted prosperity has not come. Want and misery have prevailed in the land. Some industries, it is true, are prosperous, but they are industries which are not supplying the American market, but the markets of the warring countries of Europe.

The cost of living has not been cut down. On the contrary, from the day that the Democratic tariff law was enacted it has continuously risen. The law granting free tolls to American coastwise ships in the Panama Canal was repealed. It matters not whether the law was good or bad policy at the time of its enactment. The Democratic party indorsed it; Democratic leaders, from the President down, praised it. Its repeal was a flat repudiation of a Democratic pledge. So as regards our rehabilitated merchant marine, they have swept the last vessel of it from the Pacific Ocean and have turned it over to Japan. If this law had been drafted by the shrewdest Japanese statesman it could not have served more effectively to transfer the control of the carrying trade of the Pacific Ocean to the Japanese.

Of all infractions, though, of their various planks, that relating to the Civil Service has been the most barefaced and brutal. I say, and I measure my words, that under this Administration Civil Service has been debauched and outraged. I am not speaking at random. I know of one revenue district where in the last year seventeen men, all Democrats, have been appointed, and thirty men, all Republicans, have been removed. Where the only Republicans remaining on the roll are men who cannot be discharged without cause because they are old soldiers, but the process of dealing with them is about as effective as discharge, because they are not assigned to work and can draw no pay. Can there be a more flagrant debauchery of the Civil Service than to drop men of, in some cases, thirty years of experience, for no reason except that they are of the Republican faith, and to fill their places with men of no experience at all solely because they are Democrats?

Boy Receives Riley Poem

Paul McFarland, a pupil of the public school, Salisbury, Md., has been honored with a contribution from the pen of James Whitcomb Riley. This distinction came in response to a letter sent to Mr. Riley by Paul, his teacher, Miss Rebecca Satterfield having had the children as a language lesson on "Riley Day," compose letters to the beloved Hoosier poet whose birthday they commemorated, the best one of which was to be sent to the poet. Paul's was sent and in reply came the following lines and the poet's autograph:

Season haldest of the year! How the zesty atmosphere Nettles blood and brain and smites Into life the old delights We have wasted in our youth, And our graver years, forsooth! How again the boyish heart Leaps to see the chipmunk start From the brush and sleek the sun's Very beauty as he runs! How again a subtle hint Of crushed pennyroyal or mint Sends us on our knees, as when We were truant boys of ten—

Brown marauders of the wood, Merrier than Robin Hood!

Wireless Messages Received At Delaware

Professor Koerber gave an interesting talk before the students of Delaware College last Thursday, November fourth, on the subject of Wireless Telegraphy.

After tracing the history of wireless, from Farady, Maxwell, and Hertz down to Marconi, Prof. Koerber gave a detailed description of the apparatus used and explained the theory of its operation.

Prof. Koerber has a complete outfit in working order and he extended an invitation to all who might be interested, to visit his office, where the receiving instruments are installed, and he will demonstrate their operation.

Time Signals are received from Arlington daily, at noon and at 10 p. m. Messages are picked up from ships at sea, and from the various sending stations such as Sayville, Tuckerton, and Guantanamo Bay, Cuba.

Prof. Koerber and Prof. M. Van G. Smith are carrying on some investigations with the intention of perfecting some new apparatus.

The talk on Wireless was of particular interest at this time because the Signal Corps of the Battalion is now working on the code and expect, between now and the time of inspection, to become licensed operators and to be able to send and receive their messages by wireless.

The Eternal City In Films

An elaborate picture adaption of Hall Caine's powerful story "The Eternal City," will be presented at the Newark Opera House this evening, November tenth. The photo dramatization of the novel is of a very high order and will mark a step forward in photo production. The pictorial version of the celebrated story presents all the thrilling incidents and climaxes, the romance and tragedy, the elements of love and betrayal, and the beautiful ideals and humanities of the original plot with a wider range, in true colors, and with bolder strokes than were possible in the novel or play.

The picture was taken in Italy and England in the exact locale in which the action occurs. All the scenes in the Vatican Gardens, in the Castle of St. Angelo, the Coliseum, the famous Roman Forum and other historical spots in the Imperial City, were reproduced with the consent of the highest ecclesiastical and civic authorities. The costumes of the Noble Guard of the Roman Pontiff, of the Swiss and Municipal Guards were made after specimen costumes of these organizations loaned by the highest sanction.

Our Friend the Plumber

O. R. Washburn

I sing the man, by writers jeered,
Who for mankind a way has cleared
Through many a trial hard and bitter;
The hero, than war heroes fitter!
Him will I sing till comes next summer!
God bless the plumber!

When devils in the stove pipe lurk
And make you swear like any Turk;
When victories your efforts crown
Just as the joints come tumbling down,
When you are glum and wife is glummer;
Who saves your lives? The faithful plumber!

When pipes freeze up and flood the floors,
When gas jets leak while winter roars,
When sink-spouts clog with too much grease
And streams from faucets will not cease;
Who comes, mid blessings without number?
Who but that best of men: the plumber!

What though he takes your cash away,
What though his bills you seldom pay,
What though you note his growing wealth
While paying him you spoil your health,
May you grow dumb, and then grow dumber
If once you blame the worthy plumber!

His helper sits around to smoke;
He takes the time to laugh and joke,
Or keeps an absent minded air
While he jaws here, his helper there.
I bless him still. Like rain in summer
Is that good man, my friend the plumber.

The Sunday Evening meeting of the Y. W. C. A. at the Women's College on October 31 was devoted to a report of the work which the students had accomplished through the summer in conducting Eight Weeks' Clubs in their home communities. These clubs are organized under the auspices of the Social Service Committee of the Y. W. C. S. for the purpose of creating among the children of the community a spirit of co-operation. The work began last spring, when the girls devoted two hours a week to playground work in the Newark school. During the summer, three such clubs were conducted by the college girls in the State—one at Delaware City under the direction of Miss Catherine Schuender and Miss Edna Coale, one at Smyrna under the guidance of Miss Margaret Postles, and one at Richardson Park and Elsmere under the joint control of Miss Helen Barkley and Miss Edith McDougle. At all of these clubs there were approximately 40 children in attendance, ranging from 4 to 12 years in age. The children met once or twice a week for a period of eight weeks, the season usually closing with a final grand event in the form of a picnic.

The students this year are planning to spend one hour a week at the Newark Grammar School, conducting such activities as will tend to develop in the children community spirit and co-operation.

True Blue Reunion

On Saturday, Oct. 16, the "True Blue" Class from Jackson Union Sabbath School held its annual reunion at the home of the teacher, Miss Kimble at Appleton. Thirteen "True Blues" and two visitors were in attendance. With the exception of the assistant secretary, who has moved to Wilmington, all the officers elected last year were present. The class president, Miss Emily A. Scott, called the meeting to order. Miss May Brown, class secretary, then read the minutes of last year's reunion. After singing the class hymn, "How firm a foundation," the Scripture lesson (Philippians IV: 4-8) was read. This was followed by a prayer. The class aim is: "Personal honor, loyalty to each other and to God." The class then sang, "Sweeter as the years go by." The secretary's report showed that Miss Clara Loudon and Miss May Brown have the highest records for attendance since last year's reunion, Oct. 31, 1914. During November, January, Feb. March, May, and June the class made aprons, dust-caps, and other fancy articles. Many of these were sold at the "True Blue" bazaar held in July, 1915. In December birthday pennies were contributed and in April a "Show-er" of pennies for missions. On July 25, the following Volunteer Committees were formed: social, membership, missionary, Bible reading, devotional. Miss Rebecca Steele, class treasurer, then read her report showing a balance of $66 in the treasury. Miss Isabel Scott, class vice-president, who has charge of the Shorter Catechism work of the class, read her report, followed by a report from the president of the class prayer-meetings, which she leads. It was decided to set apart $5 for a special donation, to send $5 to home mission work, $5 to foreign missions, and to contribute to Union Hospital at Elkton. The amount in class treasury Oct. 31, 1915, was $24.37. For two fancy articles sold 40 cents was received. Gross proceeds of lawn fete, held in July, were $50.09; free-will missionary offerings (including Oct. 16, 1915) amount to $13.35. Expenses of lawn fete, $15.20. Fifteen dollars was sent to home missions work in Kentucky. Upwards of $6.25 was contributed in basket collection at Jackson Hall. The election of officers resulted as follows: president, Miss Emily A. Scott; vice-president, Miss Isabel Scott; secretary, Miss Elsie Wingate; assistant, Miss Edith Robinson; treasurer, Mrs. J. C. Craswell; assistant, Miss Rebecca Steele; press reporter, Miss Mary Brown. After singing "God will take care of you," the class adjourned.

After enjoying refreshments a pleasant time was spent in singing, until the time drew nigh when each "True Blue" must say good-bye.

Quarantine Against Powdery Scab Removed

The quarantine against seed potatoes from Maine and New York affected with powdery scab has been removed. As a result of work done by the experiment stations, both in the Northern and Southern states, it has been shown that the powdery scab on white potatoes does not live under Southern conditions. During the past season the department of plant pathology of the Delaware College Experiment Station sent soil from this state to Maine, and in this soil were grown potatoes infected with powdery scab. The products from these plantings grown in Delaware soil did not produce powdery scab. Likewise, Maine seed potatoes, thoroughly sick with powdery scab when planted in soil in the vicinity of Newark, did not develop the disease under our conditions. These results, together with the results of work carried on at this Station and other stations, in co-operation with the Bureau of Plant Industry, have led to the removal of the quarantine on Maine and New York potatoes which has been in existence during the past year.

Miss Caudell talked to the Stanton Grange in November on "The Art of Home Making."

Called Into Consultation

Professor R. C. Reed, head of the department of bacteriology of Delaware College, has recently been called into consultation by the owners of several large dairy farms outside the state. Of those recently visited are Pinehurst Farm, at Moorestown, N. J., and Essex Farm, at Lutherville, Md.

Investigating Storage Diseases In New Jersey

Dr. J. J. Taubenhaus of the Department of Plant Pathology has recently investigated storage conditions of sweet potatoes in the larger commercial houses at Swedesboro, N. J., with a view to obtaining data on the losses from "rots." Storage men in New Jersey, as in Delaware, have to meet the problem of drying and ventilating the potato house during moist, muggy weather. The investigations now carried on by the Department of Plant Pathology at Delaware College on artificial means of drying, aim to meet and overcome these difficulties.

Persimmon Likened To The Date

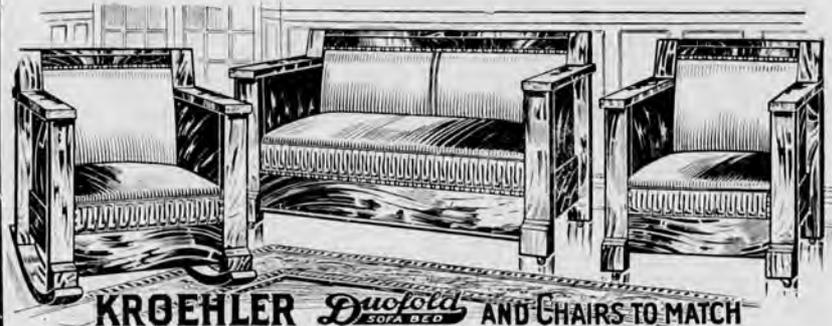

A recent news letter from the Department of Agriculture, Washington, declares, "The only fruit which equals the persimmon in its value as a food is the date." The saying that persimmons are good only for dogs, hogs, and 'possums, is declared a gross injustice to a very valuable product.

One reason for the neglect of this fruit is the mistaken idea that persimmons are unfit to eat until they have been touched by frost. As a matter of fact much of the best fruit is lost each year because it ripens and falls to the ground, where, not being touched by frost it is left to rot. Such persimmons are not edible before frost comes are a late variety of fruit, and the reason that they pucker the mouth is because they have not yet ripened. In general the best fruit ripens just before the leaves fall. Preserved whole persimmons are especially palatable. A thin layer of sugar should be placed in the bottom of a jar; then a layer of whole ripe persimmons, then a layer of sugar, and so on until the jar is full. The sugar will soon dissolve and form a syrup. The upper fruits should be pressed down under the syrup or more syrup added to the jars. Seal and store until used. The syrup may be drained off and the fruits served like dates, which they will resemble very much in both appearance and flavor.
