No School Tax Rate Increase
Involved In Bond ReferendumNewark Board Of Education Plans Public Referendum
With Voting At 10 Elementary Schools On Oct. 13th,
To Decide Bonded Indebtedness For Local Facilities

At the September meeting, the Newark Board of Education announced a bonded indebtedness referendum for Thursday, Oct. 13, and President Albert H. Jones pointed out that there is no tax rate increase involved.

The referendum is for four items — a 24-room elementary school in Chapel Hill; acquisition of two sites for future schools; stadium seating for Christiana High School; and equipment for the Christiana-Salem, Eden and Wilmer E. Shue schools.

A two-part ballot is necessary for this referendum, despite the fact that there is no tax rate increase involved in either.

The first part of the referendum is for the new school building; acquisition of two sites; and Christiana High School stadium seating. This is to raise $834,800 as local matching share of monies in which the state will contribute 50 per cent and the district 40 per cent.

For School Equipment
The second part of the referendum is for equipment for three schools. This money — $100,000 — all will be from local funds.

The bonded indebtedness tax rate in the fiscal year 1966 was 59.2 cents, and the rate in Newark during the current fiscal 1967, is the same.

If both parts of this referendum are successful on Oct. 13, the bonded indebtedness tax rate for Newark during fiscal 1968 still will be 59.2 cents.

There are three major factors in the board of education's ability to obtain things needed for the children of the Newark school district without having to ask taxpayers to increase the rate.

The factors are strict economy in planning school buildings; purchasing school sites so that they may be obtained at a lower price before developments are built and long-range planning to insure that sufficient bonds are being retired this year to permit the entire program to be carried without tax rate increase.

10 Polling Places
All 10 elementary schools throughout the Newark district will be open as polling places on Thursday, Oct. 13, from 2 to 9 p.m.

The elementary schools were selected for this referendum, because in a bonded indebtedness decision, it is necessary for voters to cast their ballots in clearly defined areas. The attendance boundaries for the 10 elementary schools provide a perfect area boundary system, school officials state.

Voters will vote in the elementary school which serves their particular area.

A public meeting will be scheduled in October to permit residents of the district to hear the school board for further information on this referendum.

On Sunday, Oct. 9, at 12:30 p.m., Radio Station WNRR will carry a half-hour program presenting information on the referendum.

When a district spokesman was asked to give one major reason why this referendum was necessary, he cited "the tidal wave of student population which is currently battering the Newark Special School district."

Current enrollment is 11,265 — an increase of 104 students since the first day of school. Last year's enrollment was 10,536 students.

The Newark special school district has doubled its enrollment every seven years since 1945.

Student Council
At NHS Displays
Energetic Effort

This year's Newark High School Student Council is one of the most energetic, judged by plans already set in action.

During the summer, by special invitation, officers attended the Pennsylvania Summer Workshop on four days in West Chester. Those attending were Ed Hawthorne, Gail Hamilton, and Jimmy Cox. In addition to studying ways to strengthen a student council, the members enjoyed a visit to the Valley Forge Music Tent.

On the opening day of school, Student Council-sponsored handbooks were distributed to all students. This new handbook was produced by a committee headed by Vice-President Ed Hawthorne.

Another major activity of Student Council will be directing class elections. According to all reports, there already is considerable interest in the senior class elections which will be held the third week of school.

All school election procedures involve each candidate having a petition signed by 75 students. Each candidate has an opportunity to wage a campaign and to speak before the class.

In addition to supervising class elections, Student Council also will be responsible for the elections of home-room representatives and of Boys and Girls' State representatives.

Advisors to Student Council are Mrs. Mary Baird and Robert O'Brien.

Reference In New Book
By Professors At Temple

The Newark special school district Teacher Recruitment Brochure, a joint effort of the personnel and information services offices, has been cited as one of the finest produced by a school district.

The professors' comment that "The Newark Board of Education has been quite successful in attracting superior teachers. Their recruitment brochure, Newark, Delaware, The All Around Community" has received considerable attention in the field of personnel services.

The brochure is "Profusely illustrated with photographs of the community and the schools in action, and written in an inviting style, the Newark brochure contains information concerning the following areas of interest to the new teacher:

The personnel services office of the Newark district this year used this brochure in its recruitment effort to obtain the 107 new teachers needed to open school in Newark this fall.

'Take Her, She's Mine' At Newark High

Mrs. Isabelle Jordan, director of the senior class play for Newark High School, has announced tryouts for this year's production, "Take Her, She's Mine," which is scheduled for Nov. 18-19.

A two-act comedy "Take Her, She's Mine" runs the gamut of family emotions which emerge when Mollie, the wide-eyed pride and joy of the Michaelson family, goes off to college.

The play which delighted Broadway audiences several years ago, starred A. Carney in the role of the harried father, and Elizabeth Ashley as the effervescent young Mollie.

It is bound to strike a responsive chord with the many parents who eagerly, yet apprehensively, will be spending over with young to college deans with A. Carney's heartfelt cry of "Take Her, She's Mine."

Assisting Mrs. Jordan at the tryouts will be Charles Cornelius and Mrs. Joseph A. Shields.

Yearbook At NHS
Offers Full Year
Of School Activity

According to comments about the recently distributed 1966 Newark High School "Krauen," the completely redesigned yearbook has scored a resounding success.

Instead of being released in early June, the 1966 issue was officially unveiled at a "Dance and Signature Party" for all seniors on Saturday, Sept. 3, at the high school. This date made it possible for the first time to include complete coverage of graduation and Senior Week festivities.

The yearbook which has grown to 160 pages, sports a newly designed jacket emblazoned with the school seal which now will be the uniform cover. For the first time the Krauen appeared in the full 6x12 collegiate size.

The theme of the book is "What Is A Yellowjacket?" Marking a departure from the traditional literary approach, the periodical emphasized the new, more popular emphasis on photographic journalism. Color pictures were a major attraction.

The photographic features moved from an "Introduction to the School" through "Activities," to "Student life," to "Sports," and to "Undergraduates to Seniors."

Editor-in-Chief of the 1966 Krauen was Stephanie Ott.

Thomas Berglund was art and design editor and Sheila Deeds, copy editor.

Eugene Kelechava, advisor, was assisted by Diane Francis.

Educational TV
Workshop Planned
For Next MondayProgram To Be Conducted
At Christiana Jr. High
With State, Local Experts

An educational TV Workshop for secondary English, social studies, and French and Spanish teachers of the Newark school district has been planned by the state ETV utilization staff in Christiana Junior High School next Monday at conclusion of the school day.

Assisting with the program are three of Newark's coordinators — Mrs. Mildred B. Shields, English; James Owen, social studies; and William Bohning, foreign languages.

Several state department ETV specialists will indicate ways in which this instructional tool can meet the curriculum.

At the general session, Superintendent — Elect George V. Kirk will introduce Patricia S. Dumas, utilization coordinator, who will offer general comments.

Sectional meetings will follow where teachers can view several ETV programs and learn how to use them in the classroom.

For the English session, Mrs. Ann Bull, first grade teacher at Central Elementary School, will discuss a program from the Language Corner Series to give secondary teachers an idea of how ETV operates at the primary level.

Gary Houpt, state supervisor of English, will introduce a new series, Wordsmith. This workshop, the first of its kind in Newark, is one example of instructional training in which many teachers frequently involve themselves.

Mrs. Mary Hynson, English department chairman of Newark High School, will discuss the Franklin to Frost Series.

Mrs. Shields will offer a brief overview of the English curriculum, emphasizing the level of articulation between elementary and secondary levels, and the role that ETV can play in enrichment.

In charge of the program at the state level will be the ETV curriculum department, with Robert W. Fox, curriculum director; Rita Gentile, utilization supervisor; and Meredith A. Church and Patricia S. Dumas, utilization coordinators.

Kells Ave. Play Lot Purchase
Planned To Prevent BuildingsWakefield Cites Need To Purchase Field To Preserve
Play Area For Youngsters; Reapportionment Ordinance
Slated; Casho Mill Road Sidewalk Grading Authorized

Champion for the senior citizens with their new Senior Center at 300 West Main Street, Councilman Fred Wakefield sponsored a cause for the juniors at last Monday night's meeting of Newark City Council, by advocating immediate city purchase of a three-plus acre tract owned by the Pennsylvania Railroad on the south side of the Kells Avenue-Manuel Street intersection, for continued use as a play area and athletic field by the younger set.

Wakefield said that children had used the lot for some 20 years; that neighbors had cooperated in providing a baseball diamond and playing field on the tract; and concluded "I would like to see the city buy it right away" to forestall plans for a residential building on the land.

Councilman David H. Doehrlert added that the Kells Avenue tract was "part of a comprehensive plan of the recreation and parks committee, and said "I hope that very soon we can buy the whole plan."

Purchase Plans
Wakefield's proposal for immediate purchase of the Kells Avenue playing area was approved unanimously by council, and City Manager J. Francis Neide and City Solicitor Clyde M. England, Jr., were instructed to proceed with steps necessary for such purchase.

After further debate on the need for sidewalks on both sides of Casho Mill Road, Councilman Olan R. Thomas cited "lengthy discussion last week" on the subject, and moved "that the State Highway Department proceed with the grading" for walks on both sides of the road with the state's widening and reconstruction project, and Thomas' motion was approved unanimously.

Neide pointed out that "it was possible to put sidewalks on a public curb line with less need for regrading on private property" and recommended that sidewalks be installed.

Preliminary Note
Julius Slavin in the audience cautioned council on the proposed 44-ft. reconstructed Casho Mill Road.

"Grown up people must decide on the width of the road," Slavin said. "Little kids must cross it. You must decide what is a safe road for them."

"Mr. Neide is going to ask the appropriate questions in Dover," Mayor Norma Handloff advised Slavin concerning decision on road width.

Harlan C. Williams, president of the Greater Newark Chamber of Commerce, urged the city to create a parking authority. Speaking for Main Street merchants, Williams said they "would like to see a parking authority established." He said that it would "help private enterprise" by the fact that there is an authority.

Voting Changes
John G. S. Billingsley, a member of the reapportionment committee, explained the committee's recommended plan for more equitable municipal voting districts, and the solicitor was instructed to draft an ordinance governing such reapportionment for a first reading at the Sept. 26 meeting of council.

Councilman Henry R. Folsom, Jr., requested advice from the election board "as to whether this can be implemented in time for the 1967 vote."

Julian Rittenhouse, Eugene Stiltz, and Harold S. Walls were reappointed to the Newark Planning Commission, and Arnold Clark was reappointed to the parks and recreation advisory committee for a three-year term.

New Laws
Eight proposed ordinances were approved at first readings — for a traffic signal at the West Main Street-Hillside Road intersection; for stop signs on New London Road at the Cleveland Avenue crossing; amending Section 1707 of the city code; increasing the pay of bailiff to $3 per hour; and increasing the salary of the alderman to a range of $8,500-$10,000 annually.

Other proposed ordinances approved at readings are to prohibit parking on the west side of Orchard Road 220-ft south of Delaware Avenue to Sunset Road between 7:30 a.m. and 5 p.m.; to install stop signs at five intersections; and to extend parking prohibitions on East Main Street and five other roadways.

Solicitor England is to prepare an ordinance providing penalty for drag racing in accordance with Maryland law that prohibits race or wager in operating a motor vehicle — a law that has resulted in 100 per cent conviction according to Elkton police.

"That probably explains why some of the Maryland drag racers have been coming up here," Mayor Handloff said.

Councilman Arthur P. Mayer pointed out that races are staged on Main Street from Academy Street to the State Theatre, with insufficient time for local police to clock offenders.

"The only place police can get them is if they go through a light" under the law.

Extended from the 10:30 p.m. closing deadline, the meeting was adjourned at 10:39 to permit reading proposed ordinances.

CIGARS HONOR COLUMBUS ON HIS DAY!

Light up a cigar in honor of Columbus, for he not only gave the world a new continent, he also discovered cigars! Few people know the story of how he did it.

On October 12, 1492, Columbus first set foot in the New World by landing on an island he called San Salvador, one of the present Bahamas. Columbus called the natives Indians, because he thought he had reached the coast of India.

On November 5, 1492, Columbus awaited the return of two crewmen he had sent out, armed with a passport and a royal letter of introduction, to look for the head of the country.

That night, the ambassadors returned with delecting news. The city, they reported, was a collection of 50 palm-thatched huts housing a few hundred primitive Taino Indians.

But the emissaries had stumbled on a discovery that was to rival the admiral's feats of exploration. As Columbus reports in his journal:

"The two Christians met on the way many people who were going to their village, women and men, with a firebrand in hand and herbs to drink the smoke thereof, as they were accustomed."

It was history's first recorded mention of tobacco. What the ambassadors had seen were cigar-smoking Tainos, prototype of the cigar-store Indian.

Pampered as he is by factory-tailored, smooth-drawing cigars delicately wrapped in golden leaves, today's smoker would have struggled on the crude prototype—for the Indians wrapped their cigars in corn husk!

While public tribute to the New World's discoverer will never reach the proportions of cigar-smoking, Columbus Day celebrations are widespread and growing. Spain, Italy, Mexico and Canada are just a few of the countries that have national, local or neighborhood observations.

So go out and buy yourself a cigar or two—and light up in honor of Columbus!

American Field Service Plan Explained For Students Interested As Applicants

The American Field Service is a private non-profit organization founded in 1914 as a volunteer ambulance corps and serving with the Allies in both World Wars. Mrs. Wendell Olson of the Newark chapter, explains.

In 1947, AFS ambulance drivers initiated the AFS International Scholarships winter program in which students from abroad came to live for a year in homes of U.S. families and study in secondary schools. The idea for the scholarship program was based on the experience of AFS volunteers that close, personal associations between individuals foster understanding between peoples of different nations.

The Americans Abroad programs were started in 1950 by winter program students, who returning home, wanted to offer young Americans the same opportunity.

Applications and information for the 1967-68 Americans Abroad programs are available in counselor's offices of Christiana and Newark high schools.

A candidate must be at least 16 years old by next June 30, to apply for the summer program and the school program, Northern Hemisphere. In order to apply for the school program, the candidate must be at least 16 years old next Dec. 31.

An applicant for the summer program must be a junior at the time of application, and an applicant for the school programs may be either a junior or senior at time of application.

The candidate must have a strong academic background and have studied one foreign language.

"As I grow older, I understand life less and less, and love it more and more,"—Jacques Renard.

OUR HEALTH

by J. M. Amberson, M.D.

Winter Health Hazards

Although we enjoy the invigorating cold snap in the air, and the exhilarating sports of the season, winter is rife with health hazards.

Skis, skates, and sleds can spell fun, but they also can be potential dangers. Falls and spills are common after a year of inactivity. Don't spoil your winter with recklessness.

Shoveling sidewalks to make them safe for others can mean a health hazard for you. Slipping, naturally, is the prime danger. But muscle and, more important, heart strain are unfortunately too often the result of this "do-it-yourself" attempt. You may find it cheaper in the long run to pay a local teenager to do the chore for you.

Upper respiratory infections (URI) are the most common health hazard in winter. In a recent year, nearly 200,000,000 acute respiratory illnesses required medical attention, not to mention the hundreds of thousands of cases never attended to by physicians.

Now that winter is in full blast, you may be interested in learning about a new oral anesthetic solution which is available in pharmacies without a prescription. Called Chloraseptic, clinicians have found it quite effective for relieving the pain of a sore throat due to cold—often pain relief achieved in within seconds after spraying or gargling.

Let me caution you, however, that Chloraseptic or medications like aspirin should be used when there are no complications such as high fever, malaise, or if the sore throat only lasts for a brief time. If you have a high fever or other complications, or if the cold or sore throat seems to linger on for more than 3 days you should see your physician.

A minor sore throat is usually of no great consequence, but a physician's advice is needed to make certain that it is a minor sore throat and not a more dangerous illness.

Children At Parties

There's nothing quite so awkward as having a small child at an adult party. Everyone's uncomfortable. Little Michael is squirming and anxious; the guests are wary because the flow of adult conversation is stifled by the presence of the "little pitcher with big ears."

And a child at the dinner table is even worse. The parents are distracted. "Oh, look Michael isn't eating his vegetables" and the guests are just plain bored. The answer is: serve children earlier.

Let children have a little dinner party of their own but don't make it a miniature of the adult's repast since most youngsters are unfriendly to exotic dishes. I always serve several types of wine to my guests, and I find that serving children Pepsi-Cola in a glass with a striped swizzle stick and a wedge of lemon on the rim gives youngsters the feeling their beverage is "grown-up."

Teenagers are another problem entirely. Never relegate a teen to the children's table. Heavens No! You can either seat them at one end section of your table, or have a separate set-up but serve them simultaneously with your adult guests.

Naturally at holidays, you always place children at your table since that's part of the traditional fun of a family meal. I have fond memories and recollections of the bustle of youngsters at holiday dinners—the only time when children should be both seen and heard.

Indian Maidens, Guides Programs Offered By YMCA

"YMCA Indian Guides and Maidens are two programs for first through third graders and their Dads, which have grown out of our hurried suburban living," says Glenn Mease, program director of the Western Branch YMCA.

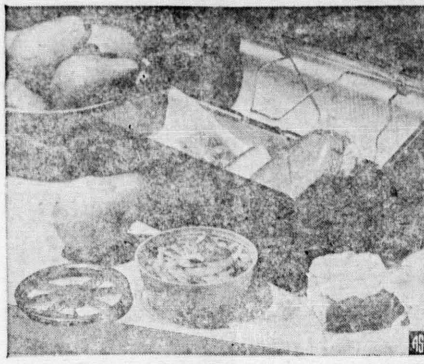

"If we all lived on farms or operated small-centered businesses, there would be no need for Indian Guides. However, job and community responsibilities make it hard for Dad to spend the time he would like with his young son or daughter," Mease added.

Fresh Pears—Lunch Box Treasures

It's time to give a lift to the lunch box set, those 33,000,000 "square meal" eaters of America who carry lunches with them every weekday.

Surely, they deserve the best, something in addition to sandwiches and snacks to "tide them over" till the next good meal. Of course, the sandwich is the standard starting point, but still there ought to be excitement in the luncheon break, especially for children, who delight in small surprises; so consider something special in each day's lunch box.

We don't suggest a swing to some perennial Pandora's Box of treasures. Instead, let's just be realistic and remember that the worker and the student need nutrition more than adventure, yet with just a little planning, you can put a bit of both inside the box.

Bartletts Easy to Pack

Fresh Bartlett pears, for instance, give one refreshing way to round off your lunch box square meals. Their juicy-sweet, fresh-eating satisfaction make the meal complete and leaves you with a cool, clean fresh-fruit aftertaste, with energy as well.

As Bartlett pears, their green skin turns to a golden yellow and the pears develop into a sweet juicy fruit. If not ripe when purchased, simply store Bartletts a few days at room temperature and they will ripen and turn to a golden yellow. Easy to pack and convenient to eat, smooth-textured, succulent Pacific Coast fresh Bartlett pears are low in calories and need no peeling. Just like discovering gold in the lunch box.

Dip a Drumstick in Canned Gravy to Start This Teen Party

Teen-aged gals are the entertainingest people! Ask one what she enjoys second to going to a party and she will answer with "giving a party." And, when her friends have the unique ability of turning any gathering into a party, it's no wonder she finds entertaining fun!

This winter, the "in" time to play hostess is after a fun-filled afternoon of skiing, skating, or sledding. It is a smart miss who greets her tingly-cold friends with a big basket of piping hot, easy-to-prepare Chicken Crunchsticks. Drumsticks (long favored with the junior jet-set) are dipped in smooth canned chicken gravy for extra flavor and rolled in crushed herb-seasoned stuffing mix. In one hour, they bake golden-crisp outside, juicy-tender inside.

CHICKEN CRUNCHSTICKS

1 can (10 1/2 ounces) chicken gravy
2 tablespoons finely chopped onion
1/2 teaspoon oregano, crushed
3 pounds chicken drumsticks
1 1/2 cups finely crushed packaged herb-seasoned stuffing mix
1/2 cup melted butter or margarine

Combine gravy, onion, and oregano. Dip chicken in mixture; then roll in stuffing. Place in two shallow baking dishes (12 x 8 x 2"). Drizzle butter over chicken. Bake at 375° F. for 1 hour or until tender. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

THE JUNIOR CITIZENS, TOO

With open house to be offered this Saturday by senior citizens at their new center on East Main Street — a grand project championed by Fred Wakefield at the council table — Mr. Wakefield is alert to the needs for junior citizens, too.

At his instigation, the city is taking steps for immediate purchase of a lot long used by youngsters as a baseball diamond, football field, and just as a general play area in the fast shrinking number of vacant lots — to preserve this tract at the southeast end of Kells Avenue as a place where children may play.

Thank you, Fred Wakefield!

Letters To The Editor

We have heard just about everything about College Park — except about some of our drivers. These very nice people are using our playground for a road. (I have been begging for an end to the College Park bottleneck.)

The city has been kind enough to help us out with our back driveway. We have a very nice hardtop driveway, but with bumps. Since some of our people do not like these bumps, they decided to go across the unfinished playground — at a rather high speed — sending clouds of dust over yards, clean wash drying on clotheslines, and over newly washed cars.

College Park is a very nice place to live — I don't know where it's likely to be better. We have the most lovable and respectable children and teenagers, and to me, they are just great.

Thank you,
John Sadot.

When Dogs Howl

Howling is one of the most annoying dog bad habits and usually occurs with pets which have been spoiled or with inherently shy dogs. Make up your mind to change Rover's bad—and annoying—habit. Here's how, from the experts at the Purina Pet Care Center.

Put the dog's bedding in an indoor kennel or room with a lock-shut door and lock Rover in. Scold the dog when he howls to get out. Say "No" in a very stern voice. Make him stay half an hour, then when he's quiet praise him and let him out for an hour. Repeat the plan all through the day. Make him sleep in the box at night. Scold and if necessary punish him if he howls. Whatever you do, don't give in and let him out while he's howling or all your efforts will be wasted.

The next step is locking the dog in his kennel or room and then leaving the house. But stay close enough to listen. If he howls, rush back in, and scold or punish him. Dogs are smart, so don't tip off your presence when you stay close to listen. If he can sense your nervousness he won't howl; so you'll think you have cured when you really haven't. If he can be permanently cured of his bad howling habit you'll be happier—and so will your neighbors.

Indian Maidens, Guides Programs Offered By YMCA

"YMCA Indian Guides and Maidens are two programs for first through third graders and their Dads, which have grown out of our hurried suburban living," says Glenn Mease, branch director of the Western Branch YMCA.

"If we all lived on farms or operated small-centered businesses, there would be no need for Indian Guides. However, job and community responsibilities make it hard for Dad to spend the time he would like with his young son or daughter," Mease added.

YMCA Indian Guides and Indian Maidens are dedicated to furthering companionship between fathers and their young sons and daughters when the youngsters are of primary school age.

The programs are based on Indian lore, ritual, games and crafts, which are of interest to five through nine-year-old boys or girls.

A tribe of six to 10 Dads and their first through third graders usually meet twice a month in different members' homes.

In addition to regular meetings, special events include trips to YMCA Camp Tockwogh and regular swims in the YMCA's new building.

Indian Guides is a national YMCA program which began in 1926 in St. Louis.

For further information contact Glenn Mease at the Newark YMCA.

Hesseltine Hails Haylage As Low-Moisture Silage

The use of legumes and grasses for low-moisture silage or haylage is increasing, according to Dr. W. R. Hesseltine, extension dairyman at the University of Delaware. This increase is due to mechanization of feed handling systems; reduction of forage quality by bad weather during harvest; and reduced feeding value of direct-chop, ensiled material.

Low-moisture legume and grass silage may be useful in a dairy feeding program, Hesseltine believes. However, it is no more nutritious than comparable quality hay or wilted silage of the same chop.

To avoid excessive spotting of this type of haylage, material must be ensiled with as little air as possible. Good quality haylage has been recovered from concrete tower silos as well as airtight silos, but trench silos should not be used, Hesseltine advises.

German Rice Croquettes

German Rice Croquettes take a bit of doing but they are well worth the effort. Favorite foods of Germany—sauerkraut and frankfurters—are the basis of the croquettes. Cooked rice, rapidly becoming a staple in the cupboards of modern German homemakers, is one of the basic ingredients, too.

When these three ingredients are blended with eggs, cheese, and seasonings, they are easily shaped into balls or cones for deep fat frying. The crispy croquettes make pleasant eating, accompanied by a zesty mustard sauce, for luncheon or dinner and snack time, too.

Once served, German Rice Croquettes with Mustard Sauce will be requested time and time again not only during 1966, International Rice Year, but in years to come, whenever a typically German dish is in order.

German Rice Croquettes with Mustard Sauce

1 can (16 oz.) sauerkraut
1/2 cup minced onions
1/2 pound frankfurters
4 eggs
2 cups cooked rice
1 cup grated Cheddar cheese
1 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon pepper

2 tablespoons water
1 cup fine dry crumbs
1/2 cup salad dressing
1/2 cup cream
1 tablespoon lemon juice
3 tablespoons prepared mustard

Drain sauerkraut thoroughly, pressing out as much of the juice as possible. Put sauerkraut, onions, and frankfurters through the food grinder using a medium blade. Beat 2 eggs slightly. Add sauerkraut mixture, rice, cheese, salt and pepper; mix thoroughly. Shape into 12 croquettes using about 1/4 cup for each. Combine remaining egg and water; beat slightly. Roll each croquette in crumbs, then dip in egg mixture and roll again in crumbs. Fry in deep hot fat (375 degrees F.) until golden brown, about three minutes. To make sauce, combine salad dressing, cream, lemon juice, and mustard. Heat over boiling water. Serve over the hot croquettes.

Makes 6 servings.

$7-Million Plus By DST Company Aids In Delaware

The Diamond State Telephone Co. and its major supplier, Western Electric, together with the Bell Telephone Co. of Pennsylvania, purchased over $7,212,000 in materials, goods and services during 1965 from approximately 900 Delaware firms and individuals.

Myrdyn H. Evans, Diamond State's general manager, reports that suppliers include 523 suppliers in New Castle County, and 343 in Kent and Sussex.

Payments included such items as auto repairs, tree surgeon fees, gasoline, and plumbing.

Evans pointed out that in 1965, the company had a payroll of $10,897,000; operating expenses of $21,355,000, and paid out a $6,311,000 tax bill.

"This is a substantial contribution to the economy of Delaware and our nation," Evans concluded.

Cat Lovers Galore

Cats have been objects of affection for centuries. History is rife with "ailurophiles" which is a synonym for "cat lovers." Cleopatra and the ancient Egyptians worshipped cats as goddesses. Mohammed, Martin Luther, Victor Hugo and Cardinal Wolsey were devoted cat fans.

Ernest Hemingway loved cats. Winston Churchill's fireside companion was a big black cat called Nelson. The independent nature of the cat has endeared it to such men as Thomas Jefferson, George Washington and Abraham Lincoln.

Victorian poet, Algernon Swinburne paid tribute to his tabby with the lines: "Stately, kindly, lordly friend. Condescend here to sit by me." Cardinal Richelieu sought solace in the company of his cat when harassed by political enemies.

Today in America there are millions of cat lovers who care for the 26 million cats in the country. Cat authorities at the Purina Pet Care Center in St. Louis explain that the soaring cat popularity has good reason, since cats are equally at home in a city apartment or a country home, are fastidious and well-mannered, and have the beauty, grace and intelligence to make excellent pets.

Cats are prized all over the world and the word "cat" is phonetically similar in many languages: in French, it's chat; in Spanish, gato; in German, katz; and in Arabic, kit. It's obvious that "ailurophiles" are everywhere.

OUR HEALTH

by J. M. Amberson, M.D.

Respiratory Illness

In the United States, respiratory illnesses cause more time lost from work and recreation than any other disease. An estimated one-billion cases occur each year, with an accompanying economic loss of $5 billion. The common cold, pneumonia, croup and influenza, are among the ranks of respiratory illnesses, and are most frequent during blustery winter months like these.

The common cold is the most "common" of all respiratory illnesses. Rare indeed is the person who doesn't catch cold at least once a year—and many of us have two or three in one year. Colds are spread in the acute stage directly from person to person, but in most instances the virus is carried through the air for some distance. And it's startling to realize that one person in five with an ordinary cold or sore throat comes down with some further infection before he gets well. For example, at least 75 percent of all cases of lobar pneumonia give a history of an initial cold. Many babies with a cold develop a middle-ear infection.

Medical advances, such as the "flu" vaccine and penicillin, are helping to prevent or cure respiratory illnesses. It is generally agreed that the antibiotics should not be used to treat an acute cold but should be reserved for complications. Certain simple principles should be emphasized: avoid close contact with cold-sufferers, coughers and sneezers; never share a drinking glass; keep general health good—these are a few vital common sense tips.

The most infectious stage of a cold is within the first 48 hours. That's when you should be in bed, if possible. You'll be more comfortable, less likely to develop serious complications and will not spread the malady to friends and fellow workers. If a minor sore throat accompanies the cold, Chloraseptic, a non-prescription oral solution, has been found very effective in relieving throat pain and discomfort. Chloraseptic usually relieves minor sore throats within seconds after spraying or gargling. Clinical researchers have found.

It is always sound advice to consult your physician if you run a high fever, if your cold and sore throat seem to linger on, or if accompanied by aches and pains and malaise.

Housecleaning Job Can Be Simplified Expert Encourages

You can't avoid housecleaning—but you can make it easier. Naturally, the more dust and dirt you can keep out of the house in the first place, the less there will be to clean, points out Coral K. Morris, extension home management specialist at the University of Delaware.

She suggests putting mats or rugs at the front and back doors; add shoe scrapers if members of the family are apt to get mud on their shoes. Fix a place to leave boots, rubbers, umbrellas and wet raincoats just inside the door.

Sweep the porches or entry-ways every day so that dirt doesn't have a chance to get picked up and brought inside.

A vacuum cleaner removes the dust of merely redistributing it; keep the cleaner in good condition for the best results.

Unscraped floors, furniture and even some walls can be treated with wax, polish or other protective coatings that resist soil and therefore require less cleaning. Many of the newer fabrics for drapes, curtains, slipcovers or bedspreads also are treated to resist soil and for easy cleaning.

Children can be a tremendous help with housecleaning if you take the time to show them how to help.

Being responsible for keeping their own room clean may be a good way to begin, Miss Morris advises.

Saucy Butterscotch Tops All

Butterscotch, as typical of Scotland as plaids and bagpipes, takes a quick trip around the world to join forces with crushed pineapple in an exotic dessert sauce. This meeting of West and East produces a sauce of mellow color and flavor that glamorizes ice cream or cake. Thanks to butterscotch flavored morsels, the sauce can be made in a few minutes and, once made, it keeps well in the refrigerator.

Butterscotch Pineapple Skillet Sauce

- 1 can (9 ounces) crushed pineapple
- 2 tablespoons butter
- 1 6-ounce package (1 cup) butterscotch morsels

Put crushed pineapple with syrup into saucepan. Add butter and bring to a boil, stirring occasionally. Reduce heat; simmer 5 minutes. Remove from heat. Add butterscotch morsels and stir until melted.

YIELD: Approximately 1½ cups.

NOTE: If sauce is chilled in refrigerator, reheat over low heat before serving.

Some Punkins

When the frost is on the pumpkin, it's just the right time to put delectable Pumpkin Chiffon Pudding on the menu. The dessert is an airy pumpkin chiffon mixture, fragrant with spices, that is turned into a shell of graham cracker crumbs. Thanks to its content of unflavored gelatin, the pudding requires little cooking—only the few minutes needed to dissolve the gelatin. This fluffy dessert will top off a hearty cold-weather meal in rousing fashion.

Pumpkin Chiffon Pudding

- 1 envelope unflavored gelatin
- ¾ cup firmly packed brown sugar, divided
- ½ teaspoon salt
- 1 teaspoon cinnamon
- ½ teaspoon nutmeg
- ½ cup milk
- ¾ cup water
- 3 eggs, separated
- 1½ cups canned pumpkin
- 1½ cups graham cracker crumbs
- ½ cup melted butter or margarine

Mix gelatin, ½ cup brown sugar, salt and spices in saucepan. Stir in milk, water and egg yolks. Cook over low heat, stirring constantly, until gelatin dissolves and mixture thickens slightly, about 5 minutes. Remove from heat and stir in pumpkin. Chill, stirring occasionally, until mixture mounds slightly when dropped from spoon. Beat egg whites until stiff; gradually beat in remaining ¾ cup sugar. Fold into gelatin mixture. Combine crumbs and melted butter; line 8-inch square dish. Turn in pumpkin mixture. Chill until firm. Serve with whipped cream. YIELD: 9 servings.

Bob Hoffman's Yellowjacket Champions Face Conrad Saturday In Home Opener

Champions of the Blue Hen Conference, the Yellowjackets of Coach Bob Hoffman play their first game of the 1966 season this Saturday against Conrad at the Newark High School Stadium with a 10:30 a.m. kickoff.

Dick Kelley, starting half back with the Yellowjacket champions of last year, is not included in Hoffman's tentative starting lineup for Saturday's opener with the Redskins.

Kelley, who scored 13 touchdowns as runner-up to teammate Dick Fulton — conference scoring champion — is being treated for an injured ligament in his knee.

Saturday's starters as announced by Hoffman via Bill McLain in some telephone liaison with the high school office yesterday, include five lettermen, with Quarterback Lou Strengari; Left Halfback David Word; Fullback Jim McDonough; Left Tackle Conway Rayman; and Right End Larry Tucker.

Bill Russell is elected to start at right guard; Gerry McCormick at the neighboring tackle; and Pedro Swann has been named for the right halfback spot.

Newark walloped Conrad 36-0 in last season's clash between the traditional rivals.

FOOTBALL OPENER

Coach Bob Hoffman's Blue Hen Conference Yellowjacket champions open the football season in defense of their title this Saturday at 10:30 a.m. in the Newark High School Stadium, with 1-0 Conrad as the visitors.

Conrad, fresh from a 39-7 win over Coach Bill Horneys Christiana High School Vikings last Saturday in the season debut for both schools, will face an all-veteran backfield with the Newark champions. And Halfbacks Dick Kelley and David Word; Fullback Jim McDonough; and Quarterback Lou Strengari should cause the Redskins plenty of trouble behind a big line with lettermen Conway Rayman and Larry Tucker.

Clauss Provides Vikings 7-0 Lead Before 39-7 Loss

Quarterback Dave Clauss drove for one-yard and the first touchdown as a climax to the 71-yard march of Coach Bill Horneys Vikings early in the second period last Saturday, and Clauss kicked the extra point to give Christiana a 7-0 lead against Conrad at the Newark High School Stadium.

But Christiana lost the season opener 39-7, as Conrad scored two touchdowns in the second quarter, and two more in each of the succeeding periods, led by Halfback Dave Smith, who ran for a total of four touchdowns.

On the first play from scrimmage after Christiana's kickoff, Smith romped around right end and sprinted 82 yards to score.

Just before the half, Smith struck again, this time from nine yards out, and the Redskins led 12-7.

Smith added two more TDs after intermission on runs of 58 and 12 yards.

Fullback Bob Scott and Halfback Clarence Heim added TDs as the Redskins rolled on to win the season opener.

Ground-conscious Conrad piled up 468 yards — 421 rushing — and posted 11 first downs while the Vikings offense accumulated 229 yards and eight first downs.

Christiana's Saturday game with P.S. du Pont, has been rescheduled because of the Jewish holidays, for Oct. 29, at 10 a.m. at Newark High School Stadium.

Coach Horneys Vikings face an open date this Saturday.

OFF AND RUNNING by John L. Day Wanted: Sportswriters

When the late Grantland Rice was not covering the top sporting events of the country he was most often found at the nearest race track, knee-deep in daily double tickets. Granny loved the daily double and its occasional munificent payoff, and he would no doubt be thrilled by the 200,000 to 1 payoff made in his name by the Thoroughbred Racing Association each year.

Last year in Dallas, Texas a young man named Bill Livingston bet a 50 stamp on himself and sent in an application for the TRA-Grantland Rice Memorial Scholarship at Vanderbilt University, Nashville, Tennessee. The winner is announced each year in May. Deadline for the '67 scholarship is January 1.

on a $10,000 four-year grant from TRA. He is the eleventh winner.

The Scholarship is open to any High School senior pointing for a career in sports writing. In addition to his academic record the candidate is judged on samples of his sports writing for the school or local papers. Sports editors throughout the country are invited to nominate candidates for the scholarship or the would-be sports writer can apply on his own. All applications should be addressed to the Dean of Admissions, Vanderbilt University, Nashville, Tennessee. The winner is announced each year in May. Deadline for the '67 scholarship is January 1.

Will Eppes Wins Delaware Title In Spear Fishing

Dr. Will Eppes of Newark won the Delaware state spear fishing championship last Sunday on the outer breakwater off Lewes.

Roger B. Houston of Bear swam a close second; Fran Slattery of Wilmington placed third, and Luther Abbott of Newark was fourth.

The Delaware divers defeated the Maryland team for the interstate trophy.

Turnbull Qualifies For Amateur Golf Senior Title Play

William B. Turnbull of the Newark Country Club, was one of six golfers to qualify for the U.S. Senior Amateur golf championship in Philadelphia's Philmore Club north course last week.

Turnbull, the last qualifier, had to defeat J. Wolcott Brown, American senior champion from Manassas, N.J., in a sudden-death playoff.

He won it on the first green of the playoff with a par four.

Leo G. Seattle, Brookside C.C. of Pottstown, won this sectional tourney with a 81-36-74.

Fullback Spangler 'Greatly Improved' Raymond Reports

Delaware Fullback John Spangler has been called "a greatly improved player" by head coach Tubby Raymond.

That's saying a mouthful because Spangler was the Blue Hens' regular fullback most of last season as a sophomore and wound up the year as the team's third best rusher with 298 yards in 75 carries.

A 192-pound former standout for Baltimore Poly, Spangler has been running as the team's first unit fullback during fall drills, and will be in the starting lineup when the Hens host Hofstra in the season opener this Saturday at Delaware Stadium.

"One of John's greatest assets is his ability to read the play and find the hole," Backfield Coach Jimmy Flynn says. "He adjusts if the opening is not where it is supposed to be and has fine secondary reactions."

Spangler was hampered by injuries early last season, but broke into the starting lineup by the third game. He was a starter for the rest of the season.

Mickey Heinecken To Speak Monday For TD Clubbers

Mickey Heinecken, line coach and former star end for the University of Delaware, will be the guest speaker for the Newark Touchdown Club at its first luncheon meeting of the new season next Monday at noon in the Horseless Carriage Restaurant on Oglethorpe Road.

Heinecken will discuss the Delaware football team, with special emphasis on the line, at the luncheon meeting to which the public is invited at a nominal charge.

Earl Lynch is president of the Newark Touchdown Club; Bob Pinnick is vice-president and program chairman; Marty Van Hook is secretary; and Roy Walton, treasurer.

All interested persons are invited to join the Newark Touchdown Club which meets at noon each Monday during the football season, and presents annual awards to outstanding members of the Christians and Newark High School football teams, and a trophy to the outstanding lineman in the All-Star High School Game played for the benefit of the Delaware Foundation for Retarded Children.

Turnbull had a 42-39-81. Willard B. McConnell of Kennett Square carded a 42-42-84.

Coach Harold Raymond To Rely On Sophs In Delaware Opener Here With Hofstra

Delaware's football team will rely heavily on sophomores when it hosts Hofstra in the season opener at Delaware Stadium this Saturday at 2 p.m.

Harold Raymond, starting his first season as Delaware head coach after 12 years as Dave Nelson's backfield assistant, said that sophomores would fill 17 of the 44 positions on his top offensive and defensive units.

"We are playing sophomores and untied people on either the first or second unit at nearly every position," Raymond said. "Whatever success we have will depend largely on their development."

The new faces have a tough assignment in the first game. Hofstra, second in the Middle Atlantic Conference university division last year, has been established as the consensus favorite to win the title this year.

Tackle Scott Campbell is the only sophomore scheduled to start on both offense and defense. The 6-6 and 255-pound Wynnewood, Pa., native has been one of the standouts in the fall drills.

Guard Henry Vollendorf of Maple Glenn, and either Jim Crabb of North Charleroi, Pa., or Steve Schambach of South Orange, N.J., will join Campbell as rookies in the offensive lineup. Crabb and Schambach have been battling for the tight end job vacated by the graduation of 1965 Capt. Paul Mueller.

Defensive End Jim Seelba, a 6-2 and 200-pounder from Manalapan, N.J., and Linebacker Bill Laughlin of Pittsburgh, Pa., have earned starting assignments as sophomores on the first defensive unit.

Eight sophomores are scheduled for duty with the second unit defensively.

"In addition to sophomores, we have a good many upperclassmen who will be playing extensively for the first time," Raymond noted.

"Frank has done everything we have asked of him in the practice sessions," Raymond said, "but he lacks experience and that is a definite handicap."

Bonadonna, senior from Lyndhurst, N.J., has nailed down the center job with a fine showing this fall.

Miller, an offensive fullback, will see most of his duty this year as a defensive end.

Smith, a junior, replaces graduated All-MAC safety Bruce Carley in the Hens' defensive backfield.

"Downswing" — Second Step in Four-Step Delivery
3rd of Seven Articles

The second step of the four-step delivery is an automatic one. To insure that you are "in time" during this step make sure that as you begin your second step you disengage your left hand from the ball. This will allow the ball to swing straight back in the pendulum swing. The left arm is now free to act as a balance for you as the ball starts its downswing. Remember that if you take your left hand away from the ball too late or too quickly, it will throw your timing off. You are cautioned to release the left hand from the ball as soon as you begin the second step, doing
