Business leaders go back to school

By STEVE WESTRICK

NEWARK POST STAFF WRITER

OVER 90 SCHOOLS throughout the state participated in the fifth annual Principal for a Day Program which allows business leaders and legislators to see first hand what happens in schools.

One businessman who participated was James F. Bettie, president of Dale Carnegie Training Leadership Institute, Inc. Bettie spent the day as principal at Wilson Elementary School in Newark.

Bettie feels it's important to expose students, even young ones, to the business world. "If you expose them to some kind of business climate it will get into the top of their minds," he said. "And I believe this will help them in many areas including school."

Wilson principal Charles Hughes said he believes it is important to create a link between the business world and schools.

"(Schools) are a product of what politicians and businessmen want us to be," Hughes said. "It is important for them to come out here and see what is going on."

Others having an opportunity to observe the challenges principals face everyday include: state representative Timothy U. Boulden, Newark High School; Michael J. Barrett of Chase Manhattan Bank,

Bayard Elementary School; Samuel E. Latham of Chrysler, UAW-Glasgow; Wilmington Fire Chief James T. Wilmore Jr., Elbert-Palmer Elementary School; Wilmington City Council President James S. Council considers new fees

By MARY E. PETZAK

NEWARK POST STAFF WRITER

COUNCILMEMBER Nancy Turner would like to have rental inspection permits for apartment units in the city's business district.

According to city manager Carl Luft, Turner came to him claiming that ensuring the safety and welfare of residents in the business district was just as important as those in the neighborhoods.

Turner also cited part of the recent Hyett/Palma report in which the consultants said the city should pay attention to possibly deteriorating buildings in the downtown.

City staff came up with draft amendments to the city code for council consideration which would impose an annual rental fee of $265 on each unit in mixed use buildings. An annual inspection of the units would also be required.

Presently single-family-type dwellings and duplexes pay a rental permit fee of $300. The amount was

THE CHRISTIANA DISTRICT School Board has received 30 applications for the school superintendent position, according to board president Michael J. Guilfoyle. Nov. 14 was the deadline for applicants to apply for the position which has been vacant since April.

The school board has hired Dr. Bob Walters, emeritus professor of education at Temple University in Philadelphia to review and rank the applications. "Because this is a superintendent, we wanted to go out of house," Guilfoyle said, referring to the out-of-state consultant. "He is basically a national expert in the field of selecting superintendents."

Walters will use a four-page criteria, provided by the board, to rank the applicants. Guilfoyle said the criteria includes everything from appropriate degrees to relevant job experiences.

After Walters has ranked the applicants, the selection committee, made up of the board, two teachers, two administrators, five parents and one student, will look at the top six to eight

Driver arrested in death of pedestrian

Newark Police have arrested 18-year-old Jonathan Mejia of Rye Brook, N.Y., for inattentive driving related to the pedestrian-vehicle collision in which University of Delaware student Holly A. Hrupsa was fatally injured.

Hrupsa, 17, of Harrington, was critically injured on Oct. 2 when she was struck by a Jeep driven by Mejia as she crossed Elkton Road around 11:40 a.m. Hrupsa died from her injuries two days later in Christiana Hospital.

The arrest is the result of an indictment which was filed in the Court of Common Pleas by the State Attorney General's office.

According to police, Mejia turned himself in on Nov. 18 at the Newark Police Department where he was arrested. He was then transported to the Court of Common Pleas where he was arraigned and released pending trial.

Video store robbed for second time

Newark Police are investigating an armed holdup at California Video in the Fairfield Shopping Center on Nov. 16 around 9:45 p.m.

According to police, two men displaying handguns and described as black males wearing black ski masks and black clothing, entered the store and forced the two store employees and two customers to lay on the floor. They took money from the four before fleeing in an unknown direction.

The video store was previously held up on July 20 around 11 p.m. by a lone suspect with a similar description. Media officer Thomas Buglio said the police are investigating the possibility that the same people were involved but nothing has been determined. No one was injured in either incident.

Anyone with information is asked to call Newark Police at 366-7111.

Stop Sticks end police pursuit

Newark Police used Stop Sticks for the first time on Nov. 11 around 10:15 p.m. to stop a pursuit at Barksdale and Casho Mill roads that began in Cecil County, Md. According to Sgt. Thomas Lemin, all marked cars in Newark are equipped with the device used to flatten tires of fleeing vehicles. Officers from the Cecil County Sheriff's Department reported the chase began after they were called out to investigate a car soliciting drugs in a housing development. William T. Cox III of Newark was arrested by Newark Police for driving under the influence and driving with a suspended license. Additional charges were pending in Cecil County.

Cigarette City robbed

Newark Police report that Cigarette City in College Square was robbed on Tuesday Nov. 11 at approximately 3:15 p.m.

According to police, the suspect entered the store and picked up items to buy. When the cash register opened, the suspect grabbed money from the drawer.

Described as a black male in his late teens or early twenties, approximately 6 feet tall, and heavy set, the suspect ran to a get-a-way car filled with three other persons. Anyone with information is asked to call police at 366-7111.

Student attacks vending machine

On Nov. 7 around 7:25 a.m. a 19-year-old student at Newark High School became upset at a vending machine and threw a chair at it, breaking the glass window. Police said the chair was also damaged.

Fight on Benny Street

On Nov. 8 around 11:50 p.m., police responded to a report of a fight on Benny Street after several people were kept out of a party. A 22-year-old man received lacerations to his nose and mouth and a 21-year-old man suffered a swollen eye. Police arrested one suspect but were still looking for a second man. A third victim reported that the window of his Acura was broken during the altercation.

■ Police Blotter is compiled each week from the files of the Newark Police Department, the New Castle County Police Department and the Delaware State Police by staff writer Mary Petzak.

CRIMESTOPPERS

County police seek suspect

New Castle County Police are seeking information about an incident in which a female was the victim of terroristic threats and sexual harassment. While leaving the Pike Creek Shopping Center on Sept. 17, 1997, one suspect attempted to abduct the woman and then chased her. As the woman was getting into her car, the suspect yelled that he was going to have sex with her.

Police describe the first suspect as a white male, 45 to 50 years in age, 6 feet 2 inches tall, 170 pounds, with a thin build and a beard. The man was with a second suspect described as a white male, 45 to 50 years of age, with a large build and fat cheeks, wearing blue pants and shirt, and a blue baseball cap. Anyone with information is asked to call 1-800-TIP-3333.

UD trustees probably won't be added to Town and Gown Committee

By MARY E. PETZAK

NEWARK POST STAFF WRITER

THE TOWN AND GOWN Committee could be adding new members in the future but probably not University of Delaware trustees.

According to Harold Godwin, who formerly chaired the committee, he would like to see the trustees on the committee.

"I think the Trustees should hear first hand what we have to deal with," said Godwin. "They need to get more involved in day to day affairs affecting students and the city."

Committee member Timothy Brooks, University dean of students, said he simply does not agree with the idea. "The major function of the board of trustees is to hire and evaluate President (David) Roselle," said Brooks. "Day to day operations are not within their job description and to have them on a city committee would be inappropriate."

Godwin noted that Rick Armitage, University director of government affairs, attends city meetings and reports back to the University administration. "The city tells Rick and he tells (University president) David Roselle," said Godwin. "But the Trustees tell Roselle what he can and can't do, so they should be the ones we talk to."

Godwin cited the recent request for officers to direct traffic at city intersections with high volumes of student pedestrians. "Roselle put University officers out there immediately, but he has since told the city that he can't afford to keep doing it," said Godwin.

Presently the Town and Gown Committee is the only forum where the city and University meet together. "I'd really like to see the city council and the Trustees meet intentionally on some continuing basis to discuss matters of mutual interest," said Godwin. "They should get to know each other and have some communication."

Godwin said those two bodies head what amounts to two small cities adjacent to each other. "When you count the graduate and undergraduate students, the two communities have about the same populations," said Godwin.

Town and Gown chair Julie Demgen, director of the University's student activities office, said she could not comment on the issue because it would be a conflict of interest.

Demgen was elected in September to chair the committee after Godwin chose not to run again. "The chair position really should rotate," said

Godwin. "Actually, I believe a townspeople would be the ideal chair."

On Wednesday, Godwin said the Town and Gown meeting held Monday night could be his last as a committee member. "If council votes at the next regular meeting to remove themselves from city committees, I will no longer go to Town and Gown as a council/committee member," said Godwin.

According to Godwin, he has attended every Town and Gown meeting since 1987. "I attended for two years before I was named to the committee," Godwin said. "I will continue to go because this is an important committee but I don't feel I have to be on it to have a say."

Superintendent search begins

candidates and decide which ones they want to interview.

Guilfoyle said he hoped to have Walters rankings within the next week.

Following the interviews, the committee will choose two to three finalists. "The board and who ever else wants to go will then visit the finalists in their respective districts," Guilfoyle said. "Depending on how it goes we will invite them back to our district and hold a community meeting so they can answer any questions people have."

Guilfoyle said this meeting will give the general public an opportunity to meet the candidate or candidates and give the board feedback.

The search for a new superintendent began when Dr. Iris Metts resigned the position to become Delaware's first Education Secretary. Deputy superintendent Frank Rishel, named interim school superintendent during the search, has been mentioned as a possible applicant and successor.

The board's first search for a replacement fell short when one finalist dropped out of consideration and the other, Dr. William Moloney, refused Guilfoyle's request to make a second visit to the district. Moloney shortly after accepted a position in another district.

When You Expect Holiday Tears Instead of Holiday Cheer.

The Holidays are here—a time for giving, a time for sharing, a time for joy. But, amidst all the seasonal cheer, not everyone feels like rejoicing. For families who have experienced the death of a loved one, the Holidays offer little promise of happiness. For those who are grieving, Spicer-Mullikin Funeral Homes is pleased to sponsor a very special support program, "Hope for the Holidays."

The Holidays can be especially difficult after a death in the family. In fact, the season can heighten feelings of pain and loss. In "Hope for the Holidays", we'll offer practical tips about how you can cope at a time when everyone expects you be joyous, but you just don't feel like celebrating. We'll also share in refreshments and music and even create a memorial tree ornament for you and your family in honor of your loved one.

Please do join us for "Hope for the Holidays" on Sunday, November 23, from 2 to 4 PM at the Christiana Hilton on Route 7 and I-95. "Hope for the Holidays" is free and open to everyone. To register, call Spicer-Mullikin Funeral Homes at 302-368-9500.

No forgetting the dead students at Hodgson

Memorial at school

By STEVE WESTRICK

NEWARK POST STAFF WRITER

A MEMORIAL SERVICE was held at Hodgson Vocational-Technical High School yesterday for the three students killed in a two-car collision on Thursday Nov. 13.

Katy Aukamp 16, Candace Socorso 15, and Christopher Wallace 16, were passengers in the car which crashed around 7:20 a.m. on Old Porter Road in Bear.

Teachers, administrators and classmates remembered the students at the memorial service. Outside, the school message board, which usually announces upcoming events, displayed the three students' names and a memorial message.

The Honda Civic containing four Hodgson students, all residents of New Castle, was driven by senior Joseph DellAversano, 17. DellAversano was heading west-bound when he lost control going around a sharp curve and crashed into a Dodge Caravan driven by Harry P. Rash, 60, of Wilmington. The Civic then bounced off the Caravan and hit a tree.

Corporal Walter Newton of the Delaware State Police said on Tuesday that DellAversano was traveling at excessive speed. "It's fair to say he was traveling at a high rate - say an unsafe - speed."

On Tuesday, Newton said the investigation was ongoing and refused to comment on whether any charges would be filed.

DellAversano, who was thrown from the car, was taken to Christiana Hospital with a broken pelvis and ruptured spleen. He was in stable but critical condition the day after the crash, but has since been upgraded to fair condition.

Wallace, Socorso and Aukamp were transported to Christiana Hospital, after being trapped inside the car for 20 minutes. All three died at the hospital, Wallace and Socorso shortly after arrival and Aukamp in the operating room. All three were from New Castle.

Rash, admitted to Christiana Hospital with a fractured ankle and head injuries, has since been released.

Four students from St. Elizabeth Elementary and High School in Wilmington were passengers in the Caravan. Three were admitted to Christiana Hospital with injuries but also were discharged this week.

Ironically, the night before the crash Hodgson hosted a presentation by New Castle County Paramedics and Delaware State Police, to help students and parents avoid dangerous driving habits.

Wallace was a junior in Hodgson's heating, ventilation and air conditioning program. Aukamp, a cheerleader, was a sophomore in the nursing assistant program. Socorso, also a sophomore in the nursing assistant program, had planned on competing in Miss Delaware Teen USA pageant on the Sunday after the accident.

City considers a new fee for downtown apartments increased in June partly in an effort to recoup losses to the city when enforcing the many building code violations found in the single-family rentals.

But Luft and some councilmembers said complaints from neighbors about noise, overcrowding, trash and "falling rain gutters" in single family rentals had not occurred with the downtown rentals.

Presently the city inspects the common areas of these buildings once a year for fire code violations. "If we see a major structural problem in common areas, now, we do something," noted city planning director Roy Lopata.

Although building director Junie Mayle said he "guesses" there are between 100 and 200 units which would be affected, there isn't an inventory showing the exact number or code violations cited there.

Mayle also said that if a tenant complains to his department about an unsafe condition they will inspect the unit and, if necessary, order the landlord to correct it. He added that his office does not get many such calls from Main Street residents.

One property owner suggested that city council send letters to all tenants in mixed use buildings advising them of this option. "If retaliation is a concern, pass an ordinance to prevent that at the same time you send out the letters."

Other concerns expressed by councilmembers included the fact that apartments in other areas of the city would not be similarly affected and recent downtown construction incorporating apartments was done at the request of the city.

Gibbons Young, who presently owns and manages rentals downtown, said he and property owner Gus Tsionas had not invested $6 million on Main Street in the last few years just to share it with the city. "This fee would cost something in excess of three percent of our rental income, which we were not planning on when we made this investment," said Young. "I don't want the city as a partner when I was the one who took the risk."

Lopata suggested that fees and inspections, if any, only apply to buildings before a certain date so that newer structures would not be affected.

Mayor Ronald Gardner concluded that before any changes could be considered the council needed to know the scope of possible concern. "We need an inventory," said Gardner. "We need to isolate the ones with real problems and deal just with them."

Councilmember Harold Godwin said Turner, a landlord in a single-family rental, is motivated by more than just a concern for people's safety. "My opinion is that she feels it is unfair to charge her and other landlords for permits and not do it to the apartments as well," said Godwin. "If it's just an issue of safety, why doesn't the city inspect every residence including mine?"

During the discussion, Turner noted that she had heard complaints about the two rental systems. "People were startled to hear that the (downtown) rentals were not under the same permit system," said Turner. "It's inequable."

Fee not necessary

WE APPLAUD the Newark City Council for its cautious approach to imposing a new $265 fee on downtown apartment rentals.

Councilmember Nancy Turner, who raised the idea after receiving constituent complaints, is concerned about safety. Her callers are particularly fearful of housing code violations in older apartment units. Tuesday night at the council's work session on this fee proposal, Turner cited a similar concern in the much-ballyhooed Hyett/Palma "economic enhancement strategy."

We, too, are concerned about this problem. But the City of Newark already has an elaborate and effective structure that deals regularly with public safety issues. It is in place and it works. Ask anyone who has had a visit from a city inspector.

The recent spell of development in Newark's bustling downtown area has not come about without some guidance from the City of Newark. Planning officials have pushed permit applicants to include living units in new buildings, thus bringing the desirable mix of rental and residential along Main Street. Developers responded with receptivity. It would be an insult to, after the fact, tack on a $265 per apartment fee when they did what city fathers asked.

No question, older deteriorating buildings pose potential problems, but this new fee simply is not the answer.

However, we do like the idea of one city landlord. He suggested Tuesday night that council enact a measure that would make it specifically unlawful for a landlord to retaliate against a tenant who files a complaint.

An undying ember

By MARVIN HUMMEL

NEWARK POST CONTRIBUTING WRITER

PROFESSOR HARMON is an undying ember in my conscience, still painfully there after all these years. My academic career was blessed by several brilliant, wonderful faculty members who gave me more than I could ask or pay for—and I feel fine about them. But not about Professor Harmon.

I was one of 10 second-semester senior men who took Dr. Harmon's highest-level philosophy course. I was never comfortable in his class. Everybody but me was a carefully nurtured super-student; already loaded down with academic honors, they anxiously sniffed each other's scholarly pedigrees. From that one little class would come the valedictorian, salutatorian, and all the magna and summa cum laudes given that year.

Some were not happy about my being in the same classroom with them; some were amused that I had somehow stumbled into their erudite midst. To them all, I was just a party animal jock, playing out my days on campus until I could get a job selling used cars to people who were even more intellectually challenged than I. All of them were already accepted in graduate schools, and they talked about the Ivy League so much I was developing a rash.

Dr. Harmon was suspect in their eyes—he had been in the service and worked in the real world before he went back to school and got his doctorate. He wasn't a hothouse elitist like them—he even included the Dumbbell (me) in the philosophical discussions.

One time I cut class, and he accosted me in the hall: "Don't you dare leave me alone again in that room with them!" They made him nervous, too! Wow!

Near the end of the semester, Dr. Harmon asked me to take out a sheet of paper, sign my name, put my cumulative index next to it, and pass it up to the other students. (I sat in the back to prevent student-induced hypothermia—those guys could be cold!!!)

As I reluctantly handed the first "brain" the paper with my grade average on it, Dr. Harmon asked everybody else to do the same. After the big laughs about my 3.2 were over, he announced to the class that our cumulative class index was 3.8 something.

We had two 4.0s, a 3.97 (a B in Phys Ed!), and several 3.9s. He didn't say why he wanted our averages or why he was so urgent about them. I found out a year later, after all of us had gone to our separate med schools and law schools and seminaries.

Embedded in the college catalogue was an archaic rule that required ALL classes to be graded on an absolute curve!!! In this Brain Factory course, Dr. Harmon had to give 1 F, 2 D's, 4 C's, 2 B's, and only 1 A!!! He appealed to the faculty committee that our class could NOT be graded on that curve—it would prevent several of us from graduating and would keep us out of the top grad schools.

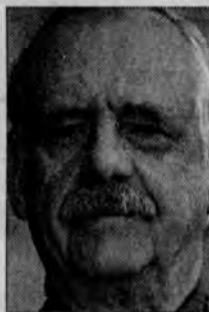

They cited the passage in the catalogue and told him he had to grade that way or get out. Apparently he said he could not be party to damaging young lives by such stupidity—he had graded our finals, had given our exams to a professor at another college who concurred—we all had turned in "A" work!!!! Dr. Harmon was quoted as saying, "And, gentlemen, 'A's' they will get!"

He wasn't at graduation, but it was almost a year before I found out that he had been fired for "insubordination and unworthy conduct." As soon as I heard, I called the school—they knew no one with that name. When I insisted that I had been taught by a Dr. Harmon, I experienced difficulties with my phone service. I tried a couple of people who might have known, but nobody did. The trail of a man nobody wants to remember gets cold quickly.

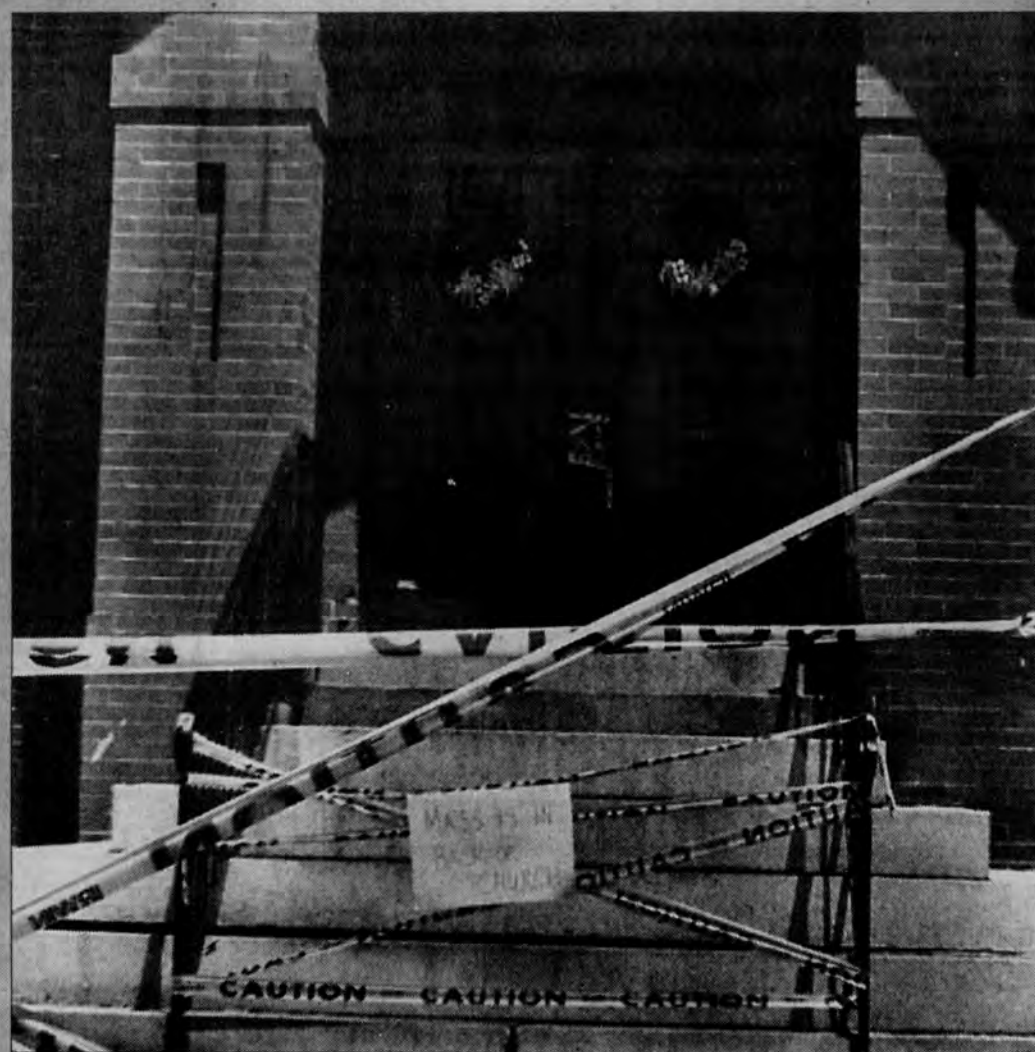

The next year, the school quietly omitted the sentence about absolute curves from the catalogue and went on as if Dr. Harmon had never been. But—every so often, he shows up like an undying ember in my conscience. Was I worth his sacrifice? Were any of those brainy guys? Did he ever teach again? Did anybody ever thank him, my undying, painful ember?

OUT OF THE ATTIC

St. John the Baptist Roman Catholic Church on Main Street, originally built in 1883, suffered extensive interior damage by fire in 1991. Services were suspended until November 1992 while restoration, refurbishing and improvements (including the addition of a Eucharist chapel) were made.

With the Red Cross roll call half over, the Newark committee through its chairman, C. B. Evans, reports that the sum of $384 has been raised and turned into the state headquarters.

In addition, many more subscriptions are coming in to swell the total each day. 'The Microbe of Love' set to open

When the curtain rolls up at the Newark Opera House shortly after eight next Friday night, a large audience of Newark people will settle back in their seats and see a home talent show produced on a modern scale, when the "Microbe of Love" is presented under the auspices of the Newark New Century Club.

All proceeds will be turned into the fund for new equipment of the Newark High School.

"In addition to meeting a very real need in our industry, this pioneer program (Mo-Tech) offers a clear, positive objective and a virtually assured career," he said.

Students in the initial program will be schooled in the principles and practice of some 14 specific systems of automotive maintenance, including recreational vehicles, and will finish with a course in the basics of service management.

Christiana girls' v-ball winning

One thing that's hard to do in scholastic sports is to beat the Vikings of Christiana High in what has become their thing—Volleyball.

The 1972 contingent, once again led by Coach Jo Sydnor, has recently completed a season which put them back on top in the Girls Suburban Conference. After a second place finish last year, the female Vikings posted an 11-1 record with the lone loss dealt by Claymont 2-0. With a season ending victory over non-conference foe Newark, Christiana was able to reflect a six year mark of 52-6, much of it amassed while capturing the crown in '67, '68, '69 and 1970.

Ironically, the junior varsity squad owns an identical record. They finished 9-3.

■ Nov. 20, 1992 Newark fire under investigation

Friday the 13th lived up to its legend last week when a fire gutted part of a nearly century-old building in Newark in the early morning hours. Known most recently as Del-Chapel Place, the two alarm blaze drew trucks from every municipal fire company in New Castle County to the corner of Delaware Avenue and Chapel Street shortly before 3 a.m.

The Budd Company, which occupied the 27 acre, 350,000 square foot building, was in the process of leaving Newark.

Newark City Fire Marshal Ken Farrall said the building has been vacant since 1988. The fire, which initially was investigated by the State Fire Marshal, destroyed only a small percentage of the building.

Know the facts about agriculture and land use

■ This weekly feature on the Lifestyle page is authored by the staff of the Newark-based Cooperative Extension Service.

LAND USE policy continues to be a hot topic locally. It can't hurt to have the facts before you make up your own mind, so I offer you some agricultural statistics for New Castle and Cecil counties taken from the National Resources Conservation Service and 1992 Bureau of Census. If you don't know the facts, it's easy to lose sight of the challenges our area's agricultural industry faces—challenges that impact you, too.

Land surface areas for these two counties is 279,680 and 225,280 acres, respectively. New Castle County, Del., has 336 farms on 87,134 acres. Compare this to Maryland's Cecil County, which has 455 farms on 80,241 acres. Approximately one-third of each county's land area is involved in agriculture. That's a lot of land!

New Castle County farmers produce more soybeans, corn for grain, wheat, barley, potatoes and barley, while Cecil County has larger dairy and hay industry their agricultural industries. In terms of acres and dollar values, the two counties differ greatly in population density. New Castle is home to between five and six times the number of people living in Cecil County—approximately 450,000 and 79,000, respectively. Comparing the two when the 1997 Census figures are available could prove interesting.

While agriculture in New Castle County is important, both for the dollars it contributes to our economy and the aesthetic value and open space it provides, nearly 1,400 acres per year have been lost to other land uses between 1987 and 1992.

As residents and responsible citizens, you must continue to give serious consideration to the agricultural industry as we develop land use policy in New Castle County. It doesn't matter whether you're involved directly in agriculture or not—your future depends on it.

Beauty is in the eye of the beholder

'Ugly Quilts' are works of beauty to people trying to stay warm

By LAURA SANKOWICH

NEWARK POST CONTRIBUTING WRITER

UGLY QUILTS, while not aesthetically pleasing to most, are works of beauty on a higher level for the women who gather to make them each week.

Winter can be a difficult time of the year for the homeless and underprivileged, especially when lack of heat and warm blankets make it difficult to sleep and put those without shelter in danger of freezing.

Members of the congregation of the Our Redeemer Lutheran Church on East Chestnut Hill Road in Newark came up with a warm alternative to the cold winter months.

The 7 by 14, ugly quilts as they are called, are made entirely through the charity and kindness of others. The material used to make them consists of donated fabric samples from a local fabric merchant, members of the congregation and the Avon company, according to quilter Carol Zeiser.

"The (quilt) bags are each unique in their own way," said Zeiser, "because there are no two alike."

Time and attention go into every quilt, as each one is made and donated to the Salvation Army to help a person in need.

Now in its third year, the group has made over 75 quilts. Usually the quilters make about one or two quilts a week. "We average about 10 people and it's usually the same people each week," Zeiser said.

The group meets for two hours every Wednesday, but anyone is welcome to help or donate. "We start meeting in September and stop the 1st of April," said Zeiser. The group also stops quilting in December to make Christmas gifts for the homeless and members of the congregation who are shut-ins.

Zeiser said the quilting project began at the church when a member of the congregation read a story about another church that made the quilts and decided to become involved.

The group is also a good chance to socialize. "We begin our first hour with food for thought," Zeiser said, "and then we begin to quilt. It is a good opportunity for us to chat and visit with each other."

The production of the quilts begins with quilted pieces that are put together before the ladies gather to sew the quilts. Next, old mattress covers, towels and other materials are used to line the inside of the bags in order to insulate them. The lining is secured into the bags by knot tying, a method of quilting which consists of simply using a piece of yarn to secure the lining in a section of the quilt.

When a quilt is completed, several items such as gloves and scarves hand knitted by group members Liv Glover and Arlene Trabel are placed in the quilts. Also included in the quilts, which end up resembling sleeping bags, are a prayerbook and toiletries including soap, a toothbrush and shampoo.

Nancy Grant said that most of the items are donated by the congregation. "We get what we can," she said. "We saw toothpaste on sale yesterday, so we bought it."

The bag is finally rolled up and tied with men's neckties, which are also donated by the congregation. The ties are secured to form a handle so the bed rolls are easy to carry. As the ladies roll up the quilts a "roll-up prayer" is said to bless each one. Bowing their heads they ask the Lord to bless their work and to let the recipient of it know that they're loved.

The idea of making ugly quilts originated in 1989 with Flo Wheatly of Hop Bottom, Pa.

Wheatly said she was inspired by the homeless she saw on the streets of New York City. Since then church groups such as the Our Redeemer Lutheran Church have adopted the project to help people in their own communities.

'Tis the season for the 'Santa Special'

'TIS THE SEASON when little heads keep turning around to see if Santa really is watching because December 25 really isn't that far away. Have your children suddenly turned on their best behavior? Are the chores being done with fewer complaints? Perhaps there is even some volunteering? Well, maybe not that.

I grew up in Wilmington and have many fond memories of things like Rosenbaum's display window protuberating with toys of every description, being taken to the annual parade in Philadelphia on Thanksgiving to see Santa climb that long fire truck ladder to get into the toy department of the Gimble store, etc. My parents must have been very careful about taking me to meet Santa because I have pleasant memories of that too.

That last sentence may be surprising to some, but I have heard — even seen a few — horror stories about taking children to stores to see Santa in this decade. Children scream, they pull away. They seemingly want nothing to do with "The jolly old elf." I talked to a friend in child psychology about this and there are many valid reasons why this change from child of the 30s and 40s to the child of the 90s.

"Everything is volume today." "Get more kids in and out." "Push a gift the store is overstocked on." "Charge just to get up on Santa's lap for a photo and don't let the parents use their own camera." "Keep the line moving." These were just some of his thoughts but you get the idea.

When you stop to think about it, how many other times do you shove your child onto an adult stranger's lap, tell him to hug the stranger and keep smiling for an overpriced photo? I would wager that you don't do that too often. Selling has rather replaced this old fashioned joy at Christmas.

Fortunately there is at least one organization in our area open to the public where the old fashioned idea,

THE ARTS

By PHIL TOMAN

the old fashioned way is still carried on. The organization is Historic Red Clay Valley. It is a non-profit historical society which, among other things, operates Santa Claus Specials aboard the Wilmington and Western Railroad. Santa doesn't sell anything.

I have ridden these Santa Specials and feel that they offer something no visit to a mall can match. The children are not taken from their parents and forced onto the lap of a stranger. Santa comes down the aisle and the children may remain in their own seats or on their parent's laps. Only if the child wishes to sit in Santa's lap will Santa sit down and oblige. It is a no pressure situation and provides for many fewer, on no, tearful situations.

The members of the train crew, all volunteers by the way, are very helpful and add to the fun. They are also knowledgeable and can add to the enjoyment of the trip by answering questions.

These rides are just over an hour long and travel through the Red Clay Valley from Greenbank to Ashland. On each train, Santa and his helpers go thorough the 1912 Pullman coaches to visit with the families, offer each child a gift, receive any letters the children care to offer and pose with the children and families for as many photos as you like free of charge. Parents who want to bring a larger group, or celbrate a birthday, may charter a big, red caboose attached to the rear of the Santa Specials.

On these trains the families ride behind a steam engine, old No. 98. It was built by the American Locomotive Company in 1909 and is the only one of its kind still in active passenger service today. Kids love to be photographed by that engine!

I have been aboard (after all I am still a kid at Christmas) these trains and they are really a step back in time, a step back in many ways, many good ways.

Historic Red Clay Valley will operate The Santa Specials this year on Saturdays and Sundays, November 29 and 30, December 6, 7, 13 and 14. The trains leave from the new Greenbank Station on Newport-Gap Pike, Delaware Route 41, just a quarter mile north of its intersection with the Kirkwood Highway, Delaware Route 2.

Tickets for children 6 months to 2 years old are $4; children 2 to 12 years old, $7 and adults, $10. Infants under 6 months old ride free. There is also free parking at Greenbank Station.

For more information and reservations you may call 302-998-1930. Reservations are a good idea but if there are any remaining seats they go on sale at the Greenbank Station ticket office on train days at 11:30 a.m.

Santa and the children enjoy visits aboard Historic Red Clay Valley's Santa Claus Specials on the Wilmington and Western Railroad.

The First State Symphonic Band directed by conductor and music director, Ed Hockersmith, performed in concert at Newark High School on Nov. 6. Hockersmith, also Bandmaster of the 287th Army Band, conducts for other community groups and performs as an instrumentalist with several brass ensembles.

Abbotsford land could become city's Newark councilmember Harold Godwin believes that deeding an open space in Abbotsford to the city could be a win-win deal for everyone.

"There's no maintenance cost for the land and the city only loses $150 in tax revenue per year if they take it over," said Godwin. "I don't see the downside for $150 a year."

The 4-acre parcel of land was reserved for future extension of the Christina Parkway or a roadway buffer when city council gave subdivision approval for Abbotsford. "The community only paid $10 to the developer for it," said Godwin. "It was never intended to be valuable."

Godwin noted that the city usually required the developer to deed such parcels directly to the city as a condition of approval. "We didn't in this case for some reason," he said.

The community of Abbotsford took possession of the land from the developer this year and discovered they had to pay $800 a year in county and city taxes. The city would not pay taxes to the county in the event they take over ownership.

Resident Scott Bowling has said the community didn't want to pay taxes for land they could not use. The community unsuccessfully appealed the tax assessment placed on the land by New Castle County because the residents thought it was too high for unusable land. "From a logical point of view, why should we have it?" said Bowling.

Although the property is wooded and children play there, Godwin said he did not think it would be a good idea to make it parkland. "If we declare it a park, it would be difficult to build a road through it in the future," said Godwin.

The council agreed to make an offer to take ownership of the property from Abbotsford and continue the reservation for a future road on the land. Godwin will convey the offer to the community which will have until March 1, 1998, to respond.

More residents want city to takeover stormwater management

They don't want the responsibility

By MARY E. PETZAK

NEWARK POST STAFF WRITER

AN ATTORNEY representing the residents of Jenny's Run has asked city council to consider taking over stormwater management in that community.

According to Mark Sisk, the development off Paper Mill Road is completely built out and the residents are now responsible for open space maintenance. "These people are not professional managers," said Sisk. "There are liability issues involved as well as equity issues in the cost of stormwater management being put only on new developments."

Sisk pointed out that the city took over maintenance of a community retention basin in nearby Middle Run Meadow in June. "They're on the same hill — why not (Jenny's Run) as well?"

Jenny's Run resident Bob Alpaugh pointed out that neighboring communities get the same city services but don't have this expense. "The stream runs through Middle Run to Jenny's Run and places an added burden on us," said Alpaugh.

Residents of Middle Run near Milford Crossroads told city council in April that developers Corrozi Homes, Inc., checked "No" in the closing papers asking about any community maintenance agreements at homeowners' settlements.

City solicitor Roger Akin said at least one homeowner's deed had no reference to a Maintenance Corporation in Middle Run although the Declaration was publicly filed in the Recorder of Deeds office in June 1994, prior to the time any settlements took place.

Residents claimed that the ongoing upkeep of the retention pond, estimated to be about $250 per homeowner per year, would be an "extraordinary burden" for the small number of homeowners.

Councilmember Gerald Grant noted on Nov. 10 that council carefully limited their decision on Middle Run. "This doesn't really fall under those terms," said Grant,

"but there is an issue of fairness. Jenny's Run is the only development paying for stormwater management in the whole valley."

District 2 councilmember Jerry Clifton said council only voted for the Middle Run matter because it would have been a hardship for the small community with only 15 homeowners to bear the costs themselves.

City manager Carl Luft noted that he and public works director Richard Lapointe were concerned about a precedent when council voted in June. "If you recall," said Luft, "we recommended against it — it's a little ironic to come back and ask us what we think about it now."

Luft told council previously that virtually all detention ponds in the city were privately maintained. In addition to Middle Run, developments with city maintenance include the Hunt at Louviers, Ridgewood Glen, Stafford, Valley Stream, Yorkshire Woods, White Chapel, and Country Hills.

Council did not take any action in response to Sisk's request.

A lifetime in a book

George Prettyman Sr., professor emeritus at Cecil Community College and columnist for the Cecil Whig, recently released a book entitled "Red Top Boots and Other Personal Essays: A Lifetime on the Eastern Shore."

Prettyman has been writing and contributing to local newspapers for almost 50 years.

The Cecil Whig is published in Elkton, Md., by the Chesapeake Publishing Company which also owns the Newark Post, The Route 40 Flier and New Castle Business Ledger all in Delaware.

In addition to his early childhood in Chance, Md., and growing up in Zion, Md., Prettyman writes about his family and his career.

Prettyman began working as an educator at Rising Sun High School in 1934. He eventually taught in both Cecil and Hartford county schools before his retirement in 1970.

After retirement he taught English at Cecil Community College and was active in the growth of the college, including the founding of the Milburn Stone Memorial Theatre.

The cover illustration for the book was created especially for the collection by Cecil County artist Geraldine McKeown.

The book is on sale now through the Christmas holidays. For information call Polly Binns, at 410-287-1028.

What does the #1 HMO in Delaware have that your HMO may not?

That's right. Principal Health Caresm was rated Delaware's number one HMO by *U.S. News & World Report with a rating of three stars.

The health plans are ranked in 17 categories that are related to quality care. For instance, Principal Health Care had the lowest physician and member turnover of any plan in Delaware. We received accreditation from the National Committee for Quality Assurance. But most importantly, we had the highest level of member satisfaction in the state.

What all this adds up to is highly accessible, quality health care from physicians who are number one with us. And with physicians, members and employers working together, everyone benefits. So if you're looking around for a managed care plan, check the report and see why Principal Health Care of Delaware is the best.

To team up with the top-ranked HMO in Delaware, call us at (800) 833-PHCD (7423) or your broker today. And look for us at <http://www.principal.com> on the Internet.

St. Mark's captures another soccer title

Spartans top CR 3-1 in final

By CHRIS DONAHUE
NEWARK POST STAFF WRITER

CAESAR RODNEY, one of Delaware's three signers of the Declaration of Independence, would probably appreciate that the high school soccer "capital" of Delaware was determined in Dover - The First State's capital.

But calling St. Mark's High's decisive 3-1 victory over Caesar Rodney High a "coronation" - still a touchy subject for anti-monarchy Americans, more than 200 years later - might ruffle the feathers of old Caesar's ghost.

So, in the spirit of the original 13 Colonies, the victory by St. Mark's (18-1-1) should be simply called an affirmation that they were the best team in the state all along.

What also stamps St. Mark's - already a team with royal lineage - as the high school soccer capital of Delaware is that it was the Spartans' seventh soccer title, eclipsing the mark of six held by Brandywine.

(By the way, the Americans were thrashed by the British at The Battle of Brandywine in 1777. The British, however, weren't as fortunate two years earlier at Concord, Mass. Concord High has won four state titles, but we digress...)

"I was a little worried with all the delays, how we would be," said St.

Mark's coach Tom DeMatteis of the final, which was rescheduled twice because of unplayable conditions at Glasgow High.

"There were eight changes (of the Spartans' four tournament games), but the kids came through. They came through."

"We came out strong and they held us off," said CR coach Darrell Gravatt. "About halfway through (the first half), that's when it started to change, and they definitely took advantage of their opportunities. They played well."

St. Mark's victory should be bottled by coaches for lessons on how to win soccer games. The modern soccer age is rife with superfluous verbs and adjectives used to describe systems of attack and defense. Coaches are "knighted" by the United States Soccer Federation with various degrees of competency, mostly because they can memorize terms and situations they read in manuals.

But St. Mark's showed - once

Hens to host first round game

By MARTY VALANIA
NEWARK POST STAFF WRITER

It wasn't a pretty win to end the regular season, but it was a win that ended a more-than-pretty good regular season.

Delaware held off a poor Lehigh team 24-19 Saturday afternoon to complete a 10-1 regular season.

"This week challenged my age old axiom of 'if you're not happy after you win a game, then there's something wrong,'" said Delaware coach Tubby Raymond. "But once I looked at the films I found that it wasn't really that bad. For a couple plays, the score could've been anything."

"Once you get in a football game and the outcome has been more or less decided, it's difficult to keep everyone up."

The close game, however, did nothing to cloud the fine season the Hens put together. Their lone loss came to top-ranked and undefeated Villanova in a game in which Delaware led comfortably late in the third quarter.

The Hens were rewarded for their season-long effort Monday with a first-round home game on Nov. 29 against an opponent yet-to-be determined.

The NCAA I-AA tournament pairings will be announced Sunday

Glasgow's Scott coaches final football game

By STEVE WESTRICK
NEWARK POST STAFF WRITER

"That's a really good football team," Glasgow coach Dave Scott said after he watched his team lose to Newark High 44-6. It was Scott's final game after 10 seasons of coaching the Dragons.

Newark used a 28-point third quarter to blow the game wide open. The quarter began with Rich Parson returning the second half kickoff 80-yards for a touchdown. After safety Don Johnson intercepted the ball to stop a mounting Glasgow drive, quarterback Bobby Johnson hit Ty Broome, who raced 65-yards down to the Dragons' 2-yard line. A play later he scored giving Newark a 30-0 lead with 9:02 left in the quarter.

Two more big plays, Chris Adams' 75-yard fumble recovery and Corey Wallace's 79-yard touchdown run, made the score 44-0 after three quarters. Wallace led all rushers with 134-yards on 11-carries.

Newark coach Butch Simpson said he was impressed with the way his team played, especially considering the circumstances. Those circumstances included: the fact Newark had already clinched the Flight A title, high emotions for Glasgow players trying to give their coach a win in his final game, and a wet, muddy field.

"We understood that we were dealing with a lot of emotion [from the Glasgow team]," said Simpson. "Coach Scott has been part of this elite fraternity for ten years... it's always tough for every one involved in this situation."

Scott said he was proud of his team for staying with Newark early, despite losing three starters to injury

Fall season nears end

POST GAME

By MARTY VALANIA

IT HAS BEEN a wild two weeks as the fall sports season winds down and the winter season begins.

The craziest thing of all (to me anyway) is still that forfeit that DSSAA hung on the Newark High football team.

As of this writing, we didn't know whether the state's ruling body overturned that decision or not.

If it didn't, then not only did it adversely affect Newark's 75 or so players and families, but also Christiana's. It's the Vikings who stand to lose the most from this debacle. Newark, at least, still has a chance to win a coveted state championship. Christiana, however, will be (if the decision stands) left out of the tournament in favor of Sallies.

Both Christiana and Newark coaches, players and parents have every right to be upset

Holy Angels wins football crown

THE HOLY ANGELS seventh and eighth grade CYO football team defeated St. Mary Magdalene 12-0 last Tuesday night at Baynard Stadium to capture the CYO football championship.

The win also completed a perfect 8-0 season for the Angels.

Steve Samluk got the Angels on the scoreboard first by catching a 35-yard touchdown pass from quarterback Brian Grey. The score gave Holy Angels a 6-0 lead in the second quarter.

Andrew Swarter completed the scoring with a 15-yard touchdown run in the third quarter.

"The kids really had a great year," said Holy Angels coach Charlie Muzzi. "St. Mary Magdalene played very well. We beat them 34-0 earlier in the year but they turned around and changed their entire defense. They got a lot better."

After building the 12-0 lead, Holy Angels turned the game over to its defense, which shut out SMM for the second time of the year.

"The defense really played well," Muzzi said. "Mark Rash and John Parkinson, our two tackles, really had super years. Also Eric Spiece had a very good year for us."

In advancing to the championship game, Holy Angels defeated St. John the Beloved 28-6 in the semifinal.

In addition to the championship, Muzzi also was happy with the season in another way.

"We have 46 kids on this team," the coach said. "And in seven of our eight games, all 46 of those kids got to play. That's really what this league is all about and that, along with the wins, made this season a very good one."

Newark tips off hoop practice

Jackets begin with Midnight Madness

By MARTY VALANIA

NEWARK POST STAFF WRITER

The Newark High boys basketball team finished last season in a college arena and began this season in college fashion.

The Yellowjackets, who were beaten by Seaford in last year's state championship game at the Carpenter Center, began practice for this season with a Midnight Madness session at 12:01 Saturday morning.

Over 100 Jacket hopefuls reported to practice around 10 p.m. Friday night. They were treated to an officials seminar on sportsmanship and rules changes. Practice began just after midnight and lasted until about 2:30 a.m.

"We did it to treat the kids to a big-time atmosphere," said Newark coach Greg Benjamin, who begins his third year at Newark. "It went over very, very well."

After practice the players stayed overnight in the gym before an early breakfast wake-up call followed by another morning practice.

"Everyone had a great time," Benjamin said. "It was something that really went over well."

"We had parents come in and help out and that was really nice. We had support from our administration. Mr. Hagen [Frank Hagen, principal] and Mr. Holland [athletic director, John Holland] both came and we really appreciate that."

Benjamin also noted that the Newark football team, after a resounding regular season finale victory over Glasgow, came by the gym to offer its support to the basketball team.

That really shouldn't be a surprise since some of the players Benjamin will be counting on this winter are still with the football team as it prepares for its state tournament.

"I believe we will start the season a little slow," Benjamin said. "We have six or seven players that are on the football team that we won't get until after they win a state championship."

The most noticeable of those is all-state performer Corey Wallace.

"But after we get going," Benjamin continued, "I expect we'll be able to make the state tournament and, hopefully, get back to that championship game."

In addition to Wallace, Benjamin will be counting on returning seniors Donald Johnson, Lee Hackett and Richie McDonough. Returning juniors include Phil Rooney, Steve Watson, Richie Parson, Mike Reiss and Chris Quarshie.

"These guys that are returning are taking ownership and responsibility for this team," Benjamin said. "They're really pushing the other kids to be better. That's the best thing for a coach to have."

"Plus, we did lose nine seniors and I think they realize they're going to have to rely on the coaches to help them out."

Newark opens its season Dec. 11 against Christiana in the Kappa Tournament at Wilmington High.

Benjamin expects Brandywine, Alexis I. DuPont, Howard, St. Mark's and Seaford to all have good teams this season — and, of course, his Yellowjackets.

"I'm really excited," the coach said. "And I think that has rubbed off some on the kids. They know we're dedicated to them and we expect them to be dedicated to their school work and the team."

Kirkwood Avalanche advance to title game

The Kirkwood Avalanche advanced to the championship game of the Tri-County League with a 2-1 victory over the SCCA Mana Panthers.

With the game scoreless in the second half, Rachel Chadderdon, on an assist from Kristen Ross, scored the first goal.

The Mana Panthers answered with a goal of their own to tie the score.

Erin Ringstrom, however, scored the winning goal on a breakaway with less than a minute to play in the match. The winning score started with a pass from Mindy Kittle passing up field to Tara Soper.

St. Mark's tops Caesar Rodney for seventh title in 12 years again under the guidance of DeMatteis - that it knew the most fundamental lesson of soccer (which really is a simple game) - the other team can't score if it doesn't have the ball. And, your chances of scoring are better if you have it more often.

► CHAMPS, from 19

That ability helped the Spartans score an astounding total of 104 goals, which bettered the old school record of 81 set in 1992, and they allowed only 15. Eleven of their victories were by shutout.

CR (18-3), the Henlopen Conference champion which ultimately showed its unworthiness as both the tournament's No. 2 seed and a similar ranking, started out on the calm, frosty night at Dover High as expected - playing aggressively in its own backyard.

That helped produce a wide-open shot by CR's leading scorer - Jason Fennemore - about 12 minutes in, and another by Jeremy Toliver at the 20-minute mark. But as he had done many times early in games, St. Mark's goalie Pete Ferrante sparked his teammates by making superb saves on both chances.

By the time of Toliver's chance, however, St. Mark's, by virtue of its superior skill and speed, had asserted itself as the dominant side, and its efforts were rewarded in the 23rd minute when the player of the match, Spartans' midfielder Dan Keane, headed home a corner kick by Tyler Hogan to make it 1-0.

“It's another group and another great memory.”

TOM DeMATTEIS
ST. MARK'S SOCCER COACH

In the 34th minute, Hogan curled in another corner kick, again from the left side, and junior Jason Dzielak duplicated Keane's effort to make it 2-0. It was the 27th goal of the season for Dzielak, which set a school record.

“I just tried to get it on net,”

Dzielak said. “A lot of good things can happen when you do that.” Because of two other basic lessons of soccer that the Spartans showed they had mastered for most of the game - attacking and defending in numbers and using the width of the field - they retained control of the game to open the second half.

Attacking in numbers helped give them a 3-0 lead 14 minutes in when Brian Lenz capped a furious counterattack by rocketing a shot home from 10 yards out with CR goalie Craig Ross down and out after making two saves.

Despite the deficit, CR fought on gamely, and Toliver scored out of a scramble five minutes later to make the score 3-1.

However, the goal couldn't cause the Spartans to become unglued, and although Ferrante had to make another difficult save in the dying minutes of the game, it only punctuated the fact that the victory was a team effort from front to back.

“It's nice for each group of kids,” DeMatteis said of the Spartans' latest title. “It's another group and another great memory that they'll have. One that they'll never forget.”

ATHLETE OF THE WEEK

DAN KEANE - ST. MARK'S

It was a virtuoso performance by St. Mark's High senior midfielder Dan Keane that not only helped the defending state champion Spartans to a 3-1 victory over Caesar Rodney in Tuesday's championship game of the Delaware High School Boys Soccer Tournament, but it was also worthy of Athlete of the Week honors.

In a team effort that showed no weak links, Keane stood out by scoring the first goal of the game, dribbled the ball like it was on a string, and distributed with great vision all night. He also helped defensively by using his aerial skills, especially in the Spartans' penalty area.

The goal for Keane, a North Star resident who's been playing since he was five years old, was his fourth of the tournament and 11th of the season. He also reared 13 assists this season.

Keane, who was selected on the First Team All-State squad for the second consecutive season, also finished second by one vote to Glasgow's Ivan Vidanovic for Delaware Player of the Year honors.

“I thought I played well,” said

Keane reluctantly when asked to assess his play in the final. “In some games, I'm more involved in the play than others, but as long as the team wins, that's all that matters.”

“I felt strongly all year that Keane was the best player in the state,” said St. Mark's coach Tom DeMatteis, who called the Player of the Year voting a “crime.”

“He controlled the midfield tonight. It revolved around him, and we had a strong group around him and this is the result.”

“We call him the Boy Wonder because he can do anything,” DeMatteis added. “One of the ways that name came about is we were clearing weeds from around a goal (last year in pre-season), and he got stung (by bees) six times. The next day he comes out and and you can't even tell he got stung.”

“Eleven goals and 13 assists as a center mid in a 4-3-3 (alignment), which means he also has a huge defensive responsibility.”

“He's a great all-around player,” summed up teammate Jason Dzielak, a 27-goal scorer this season who benefitted often from Keane's ability.

Delaware Ducks hockey

The Delaware Ducks (Atoms) defeated the Pottstown Penguins 7-0.

Sean Eubanks led the Ducks - a 5-7 year-old team - with five goals while Mark Zeszut added two. Goalie Brian Capobianco recorded his first shutout.

Ducks top Holy name

Ben MacPherson had a goal and an assist, while Stephen Hughes made 20 saves on 24 shots, but this was not enough as the Holy Name Jets defeated the Delaware Peewee Ducks 4-3 on Sunday, November 16, 1997 at The Pond.

Duck's defensemen, Peter Tarabicos, and forward Eric Moore had the other two goals in this physical contest.

The loss interrupted a three game winning streak, and left the Ducks with an overall record this season of 4-3. Holy Name remains undefeated at 7-0 in DVHL play.

The Peewee Ducks Ice Hockey team take on Warwick Township, PA at the Pond off Marrows Road on Sunday, November 23, 1997 at 11:15 a.m.

LOCAL FOOTBALL RESULTS

Talk about heartbreak. The Caravel Academy football team fell 14-13 to Archmere Academy in a wild game Saturday that knocked the Bucs out of state tournament contention. Caravel appeared to have completed what looked like an amazing comeback victory when Roger Richardson raced 96 yards for a touchdown to give the Bucs a 13-7 lead with just 49 seconds left in the game.

A blocked extra-point, however, gave Archmere life and the Auks took advantage.

A big kickoff return and two penalties gave Archmere outstanding field position with too much time left on the clock.

Archmere quarterback Matt Lagoy then threw a 11-yard touchdown pass to Nick Sanna with just 14 seconds left to tie the game. The Auks converted the point-after-touchdown kick to earn the 14-13 victory.

The loss dropped Caravel's record to 7-2 while Archmere completed its regular season with a 10-0 record and qualified for the state tournament.

Caravel had taken a 7-0 lead early in the fourth quarter on a six-yard touchdown run by Alex Faircloth.

Christiana 49, Mount Pleasant 10 – The Vikings kept their state tournament hopes alive by rolling over the Green Knights Saturday. The win improved Christiana's record to 7-2-1 and left their fate in the hands of the Delaware Secondary Schools Association and/or Willingboro (N.J.) High.

If DSSAA, which awarded Salesianum a forfeit victory over Newark (despite being beaten 31-0 by the Yellowjackets) overturned that ruling Thursday, then Christiana will qualify for the playoffs. If DSSAA lets the forfeit stand, the Vikings will need a Sallies' loss to Willingboro Friday night. Calvin Carr scored four touchdowns to lead Christiana to its win over Mount Pleasant.

St. Mark's 28, Sussex Central 6 – St. Mark's salvaged a winning season (5-4-1) with a strong performance over a Sussex Central team, which was still in the hunt for the state tournament. Steve Rogers and Justin Jackson each scored two touchdowns, to lead the Spartans.

Hens open basketball season

Will host Virginia Tuesday

By MARTY VALANIA

NEWARK POST STAFF WRITER

WITH FOOTBALL season hitting its peak, it would be easy to for the beginning of the University of Delaware basketball season to go unnoticed.

That, however, won't be the case for long as the Blue Hens host Atlantic Coast Conference power Virginia Tuesday night at the Carpenter Center.

The Hens tipped off their season last weekend in the Red Auerbach Classic at George Washington University. The Hens split their two games, winning the first 79-73 over Siena and falling 84-79 to the host Colonials in the championship game.

The way the team played, though, was very encouraging to Delaware coach Mike Brey, who is beginning his third season at the helm of the Blue Hen basketball program.

"Overall, I feel very good about our play in the tournament," Brey said. "With just one senior playing, I thought we – especially in the first game against Siena – played really tough down the stretch. We did the things we have to do to win close ball games."

"Against GW, and let's face it, they're a top 40 program, we battled real well. From the 9:00 mark of the second half to the 5:00 mark it was a two point ball game and we were right there. Then I think they just wore us down at the end."

Delaware placed five players in double figures, led by Mike Pegues' 16 points and 11 rebounds, against Siena. The Hens also converted 12-of-13 free throws down the stretch.

"Overall I'm extremely happy with the way we played down the stretch against Siena," Brey said. "Pegues was our go-to guy and we got him the ball. We also did the things, like defend the three-point shot and make our foul shots, that you need to do to win close games."

Against George Washington, Delaware had four players in double figures.

"I think we can spread the scoring around this year," Brey said. "We're not just going to be pumping it in to Greg Smith. We have some people who can shoot the ball."

In fact, the Hens converted on over 40 percent of their three-point shots in the first two games.

After a week off the Hens will travel to Rider Saturday for a tough game.

"That's a real good test for us," Brey said. "They have five starters back from last year and that's a very tough place to play. That's like going to Drexel in our league. We'll see how we can do. It's a great measuring stick."

"Are we good enough to win our conference tournament right now – no. Will we get better? I really think so. We have new people and people in new roles. I think as the season goes along they'll get better."

After Rider, Delaware will have its home opener Tuesday night against the University of Virginia.

"To get an ACC team to come here is great," Brey said. "It's exciting for our fans and exciting for our team. It's hard to schedule games like that let alone get a team like Virginia to come here."

"What a great way to start the home season."

Indeed.

UD earns playoff home game

► HENS, from 19

afternoon.

"It's fascinating to try and guess who we're going to play," said Raymond, who will be taking a team to the tournament for the sixth time in the last seven years. "But I won't even try to do that. I'm sure they'll find someone for us to play."

The tournament and, more importantly, the home game were something that Raymond thought his team richly deserved.

"I'm very pleased with this football team," he said. "They've come a long way. The number of over-achievers on this team far outnumbered the players who played to their maximum expectations. Last year we didn't have anybody that overachieved."

"Virtually every part of this team exceeded expectations."

With I-AA nemesis Marshall moving up to Division I-A, Raymond thinks the tournament is a wide open affair.

"There's no Stephen F. Austin or McNeese or Marshall or Youngstown that is just clearly better than everyone else," the coach said. "No one team just jumps out at you like they have in the past."

"If you want to get silly about it, we had the number one team right here [in Delaware Stadium] on the ropes and then we go on and lose by 10 points in the fourth quarter."

"It's a very exciting time. This team really brings me on."

Delaware remained ranked third in the country this week. That, though, may improve without playing Saturday.

Second-ranked Western Illinois plays fourth-ranked Youngstown for the Gateway Conference championship. A Youngstown win could move the Hens up a notch. And Villanova (10-0) plays a very good Northeastern team.

No matter what happens this week, the Blue Hens are just one of five teams in the country assured of a home game next week. In fact, if they win they most likely will get a second home game as well.

Nasty fans spoil soccer semis

► POST GAME, from 19

about the situation.

The good, the bad and the ugly

State tournaments always seem to bring out the best in support among high schools. This year was no exception – especially in the volleyball tournament.

A large crowd turned out for the Newark-Glasgow quarterfinal match at St. Mark's. There was a huge crowd for the semifinal doubleheader at Glasgow and a record crowd at the Carpenter Center for the championship match.

As was the case last year, the St. Mark's students showed a great deal of spirit and enthusiasm in the championship match. In fact, there's probably never been that many students from one school (including the University of Delaware) cheering for their team in that building.

On the opposite end of the spectrum were the Alexis I DuPont soccer followers.

During the Tigers' semifinal game against St. Mark's, the A.I. students continuously yelled and chanted nasty and obscene things at the St. Mark's players, cheerleaders and fans. Plus, they were all over the officials as well.

I'm all for cheering wildly and going crazy for your team or school. However, continuously chanting swear words and being nasty to cheerleaders is way over the line.

Just ask the DSSAA officials and Glasgow administrators who worked the game what they thought of the performance.

I've been at many local games where administrators have gone into the stands to tone down students, who didn't approach the vulgarity of this group. That didn't happen in this game.

It was embarrassing for everyone who enjoys high school athletics.

And this followed the AI-Newark game in which an AI player was allowed, not once but twice, to rip off his shirt (like Dennis Rodman). The first time came after a goal. While I don't condone that, it's understandable. The second time, however, came after a vicious foul that earned a yellow card. He then took off his shirt and taunted the Newark bench and fans as he walked to his own.

It wasn't a great week for the Tigers and their fans.

Blue Hen hysteria

All right, hysteria may be too strong. But what a great week coming up for Delaware sports fans.

The UD basketball team hosts the University of Virginia Tuesday night at the Carpenter Center and the third-ranked Blue Hen football team hosts a first round NCAA playoff game Saturday afternoon.

The community is excited about the games. It would be nice to see some students excited too.

DFC Blast wins

The DFC Blast defeated the Queen Anne's Blaze 4-1 in the final game of the season in the under-14 division of the Mid-Atlantic Soccer League.

The victory clinched the division championship for the DFC Blast. The Blast's first goal was scored by Joel Rossi. The Queen Anne's only goal came on a penalty kick.

The Blaze score was quickly answered with a game-winning goal being scored by Tom Boettner off a deflected shot from Todd Brandt.

The Blast's final two goals were scored by Scott Lyons. Mark Lloyd, Andy Camac, Jon Sepp, Chris Carlton, Drew Walstrum and Jason Long all kept up a strong offensive attack.

The defense was led by Eric Altamus, Brandon McClintock, Allen Sylvester, Donald Lynch and John Braman. Goalkeeper Roy Hoskins limited Queen Anne's to just one goal.

Dr. Rublee C. Soule, family practitioner

Newark resident Dr. Rublee C. Soule died Monday, Nov. 10, 1997, in Christiana Hospital after a 12-year disability with rheumatoid arthritis.

Dr. Soule, 75, was a family practitioner for nearly 30 years in Newark. He enlisted in the army during World War II. He received his medical degree from Harvard Medical School in 1949 and served an internship as a Reserve first lieutenant in the Army Medical Corps at the Hospital of the University of Iowa. He was stationed in South Korea from 1950 to 1952. After his discharge, he became the company doctor at the DuPont Co.'s Chambers Works in Deepwater, N.J.

He moved from Weedstown, N.J., to Newark in 1955 and opened a family practice on East Main Street. In 1960, he moved to Marrows road. He retired in 1984 after the onset of rheumatoid arthritis. Dr. Soule completed the advance piloting course of the Wilmington Power Squadron. He was a trailer enthusiast and had taken many trips with his wife and with caravan groups.

He was a longtime member of Newark Country Club, a life member of the Delaware Medical Society and a member of the Delaware Academy of Family Physicians, Harvard Club of Delaware and the Newark Touchdown Club. He was board-certified in the American Academy of Family Practice.

He is survived by his wife, Marilyn Warner Soule; daughter, Catherine Soule Hayman of Hockessin; brother, George of Media, Pa.; and three granddaughters.

A service was held Nov. 15 at Doherty Funeral Home, Pike Creek. Burial was private.

Stone Mill selling in Bear

FIRST TIME homebuyers are largely responsible for the popularity of the new townhouses now open at Stone Mill. With Section I sold out, the Handler Corporation is now taking reservations on the remaining 24 homes available in Section II.

The five models at Stone Mill range in price from $98,900 to $105,200 and each one includes a garage and offers several floor plan options. "If there are eight homes in a townhome building, each one will be different," said Penny Chew, sales director. "Options such as sunrooms and skylights add to that individuality."

Chew said that Stone Mill is affordable for first-time buyers. "The Handlers are willing to work with individual buyers to make owning a home achievable," said Chew. "Mortgage payments can actually be less than rent when you consider the tax savings, particularly in this area." Chew added that some homes are available with closing-cost assistance from the builder to qualified buyers.

Located off Route 7 at the Route 40 intersection near the Governor's Square shopping center, Stone Mill is only "four stop-lights and one intersection away from access to Wilmington, Philadelphia, Baltimore — or even New York" on Interstate 95, according to Chew.

Bernardon & Associates wins excellence award

Bernardon & Associates Architects, P.C., has won the Award of Excellence from the Delaware chapter of the American Institute of Architects for its adaptive reuse of the Worth Estate in Centreville.

Bernardon & Associates converted the estate, home of the late steel magnate William A. Worth, into corporate headquarters for Intercollegiate Studies Institute, a non-profit educational institution.

"This was a multi-facet project that provided great challenges and benefits," says Art Bernardon, a principal in the firm. "We are setting precedents for other preservation efforts around the county and country."

Bernardon met with New Castle County officials to explore how ISI could use the building within existing codes. The next challenge was the zoning. Bernardon & Associates worked with ISI's attorneys and enlisted the support of local officials and neighbors.

The property was zoned residential and neither spot zoning nor a variance made sense. An adaptive reuse ordinance was enacted that allows limited non-residential uses of historic properties meeting specific requirements.

With the new ordinance in place, Bernardon began $1.5 million in renovations to the estate. "A key thing about Bernardon & Associates is they respected the historic nature of the building and yet created a contemporary office facility at the same time," says John Lulves, executive vice president of ISI.

"What they achieved is a minor miracle."

Outside, porches on either end of the house have been enclosed, although 90 percent of the exterior remains the same. Even the roof of the main house and nearby carriage house have been replaced with replicas of the original tiles which Bernardon & Associates found at a firm in Michigan. Inside, much of the original fine details remain and, in some cases, are enhanced.

A servant's stairway was relocated and turned into code approved "fire tower." A new arch in the entryway complements an existing one over a main door. The original staircase spiraling up from the foyer remains, as does the original millwork.

Intricate carved molding was restored to its former splendor. The end result is an architectural project which ISI has called "the ultimate home office."

Bernardon & Associates provides land planning, architectural and interior design services to private, corporate and institutional clients. The company has offices in Kennett Square, Pa., and New Castle, Del. For more information call 610-444-2900.

Realty Alliance elects Richard Christopher

Richard T. Christopher, president of Patterson-Schwartz Real Estate, has been elected director of the Realty Alliance. Christopher will serve as a director for three years.

The Realty Alliance is comprised of 46 of the largest regional, full service, residential real estate companies in the United States, with 46,000 agents in 1,251 offices and a sales volume exceeding $80 billion.

Patterson-Schwartz is the area's largest residential real estate company with over 300 agents in sales centers throughout New Castle and Kent counties. In addition to residential real estate, the company's services also include commercial and industrial sales and leasing, residential property management, land and farm sales, appraisal, relocation, new homes, a real estate school and prelicensing certification, and home financing through its partnership with Gilpin Mortgage, the area's oldest independent mortgage broker.
