$450.00 CLEARED AT BENEFIT MOVIE FOR WELFARE SOCIETY

Lions Club Entertains Eighty Boys; Chairman of Committee Enthusiastic in His Praise for the Support and Cooperation Shown by the Public

With not quite all the money returned yet from the sale of tickets for the benefit movie held under the auspices of the Welfare Association of Newark, with the Lions Club co-operating, the committee reports that the receipts will be at least $450.00 net, which is considerably more than they had really anticipated. Both the Welfare Association and the Lions Club are loud in their praise of the cooperation shown by the general public to help the worthy cause. The State Theatre was packed practically both nights and the program furnished by Mr. Louis Handloff was voted an ideal one for both young and old, and from the time the program started till it ended there were peals of laughter from the audience.

If there ever was a time that the public got its money's worth it was at these two performances, and Mr. Handloff seemed to outdo himself in furnishing a program and deserves the thanks of the public for his part in making the benefit such a huge success.

Donations at the door during the benefit resulted in 2 1/2 barrels of potatoes and one barrel of oranges, which were distributed to the needy. It is believed that there was not a needy family in Newark that was not taken care of during the holidays.

Entertain 80 Boys

The Lions Club entertained about 80 boys last Tuesday evening with a big turkey supper and each boy received a box of candy. They also furnished the colored children of the Newark School with candy the same evening. The boys had a wonderful time at the supper and also enjoyed the benefit movie afterwards.

Note: If any reader of The Post knows of any family in distress in Newark or immediate vicinity, please get in touch with Mrs. Helen Wilson.

Special Program Planned at State Poultry and Farm Crop Show

In an effort to stimulate a greater interest in the combined annual poultry, rabbit and farm crop show, which will be held in Milford during the week of January 5 to 8, under the auspices of the Delaware State Poultry Association, Delaware Rabbit Breeders' Association, and the Delaware Crop Improvement Association, these organizations have planned for a special entertainment for Thursday afternoon for the benefit of all those people who are in attendance at the show.

Through the courtesy of E. C. Evans, manager of the Plaza Theatre, Milford, these three agricultural associations have rented this theatre for the afternoon of January 7, at which time a special program will be presented in cooperation with the business men of Milford who are providing local talent in connection with the feature picture.

This program will open at 2 o'clock with an address of Welcome by Dr. Francis Borgette Short, which will be followed by several selections by the Boy's Band of Milford. Instrumental and vocal selections will be given by Mrs. Clyde Nelson and Mrs. George Stipp, who are among Milford's talented musicians, and the entertainment will also include other instrumental and vocal selections by William Rouch, Charles Aiken and Company who will present several numbers on the banjo, mouth organ and guitar.

The feature picture in connection with this entertainment will be Ann Harding in "Devotion," which will be shown through the courtesy of the theatre management for this special occasion.

This entertainment will be free to all poultrymen, rabbit breeders and other farmers who attend the poultry, rabbit and farm crop show on any day previous to Thursday afternoon. Invitations are being issued to the farmers of the state to visit these exhibits, and these cards may be exchanged at either of the show buildings for complimentary tickets to the Plaza Theatre. Persons will not be admitted to the theatre unless they have first visited the show buildings and secured their free ticket which will entitle them to this special entertainment.

As this is the first time in the history of the Delaware State Poultry Association, the Delaware Rabbit Breeders' Association and the Delaware Crop Improvement Association that an attraction of this nature has ever been planned in connection with their annual exhibits, it is expected that a large crowd of farmers and their families will attend the show and take advantage of this opportunity to see this entertainment at the theatre.

THANK YOU—ONE AND ALL!

The Lions Club and the Welfare Association of Newark would like to take this opportunity to thank the general public for its hearty support in buying tickets for the benefit movie given in the State Theatre, and also to publicly thank Mr. Louis Handloff and his employees for the State Theatre, and the Continental Band who furnished the music.

JUDGE NIELDS GIVES WALLS JOB FOR FOUR MONTHS

Judge Nields in the U. S. District Court Tuesday sentenced John Walls, of Newark, charged with sale of liquor, to four months in the Workhouse. He pleaded guilty.

"One must do something to earn a living," Walls told Judge Nields.

Pleading guilty to charges of transporting liquor, Charles Thomas and Edward Gee, both colored, of Newark, were each sentenced to four months in the workhouse. They had been arrested September 10 by Newark police.

Those pleading not guilty were: Norman Tweed, Newark, sale of liquor and aiding Harry Malin, of Newark, in sale of liquor, and Malin for sale of liquor, and Ruby Townsend of Newark, for sale of liquor. Walls, Malin and Tweed were arrested in a raid by operators from the office of "Three Gun" Harold Wilson, several weeks ago.

BARS RETURN OF CECIL COUNTY FATHER AS ABDUCTOR

Girl Vanishes After Hearing

Rebecca Walworth, age 17, of near Chesapeake City, Md., was sought yesterday by the police at Boston, Mass. She walked out of a hearing room at the State House while State officials were listening to the appeal of Cecil county and Maryland authorities for the return of her father, Reginald Walworth, to Elkton, on a charge of kidnapping Rebecca.

Later when the excitement over the girl's disappearance subsided the Attorney-General recommended to Governor Ely that he refuse the request of Maryland. The Governor accepted the recommendation and the Maryland officials immediately left for home.

Walworth and Marshall were arraigned in the District Court charged with abduction. They supplied bonds of $1000 each and were released. They, with Miss Walworth, went to Marshall's father's home in Danvers.

Rebecca attended the extradition hearing yesterday with her mother, Mrs. Maimie Walworth, with whom she was reunited after several years. During the hearing she left the room, explaining she was going to a rest room.

When she failed to return Sheriff Albert G. Buckworth, of Cecil county, with the aid of Massachusetts State police, searched the State House, hotels, and railroad stations, but found no trace of the girl.

Sheriff Albert G. Buckworth and Attorney Harold E. Couberne of Cecil county, told an assistant attorney general that on December 18 Walworth and Marshall pulled Rebecca from an automobile and took her away with them. They explained that Rebecca and Ralph Craig, of Bethel, Md., had eloped and married last summer and the girl's father had charged Craig with bigamy on the grounds that he was not divorced from a previous wife. The marriage was annulled and Miss Walworth permitted to live with Craig's parents. Her parents had been separated for 13 years, during which she was in the custody of her father.

Walworth told his wife, whom he has seldom seen since their separation, that his only concern in the matter was for the welfare of their daughter and he would not object to her assuming charge of Rebecca after the case was over.

Early last summer Rebecca Walworth, oldest daughter of the accused Chesapeake City farmer, eloped to Elkton and was married to Ralph Craig, of Bethel, Md. She was 18. The marriage aroused Walworth's anger as he claimed that Craig was already married, although separated from his wife. As a result, Walworth had Craig arrested on a charge of bigamy. He was indicted at the September term of court in Elkton and found guilty. The court suspended sentence, however, when divorce proceedings were instituted.

In November the girl left her father's home and is said to have gone to live with relatives of Craig. A week ago Walworth asked for a court order at Elkton in which he sought to restrain his daughter from going with Craig. As Craig's wife did not contest the divorce, the court order was not granted. Later, Craig and the former Miss Walworth were seated in a parked automobile when Walworth, accompanied by two men, drove up and forced the young bride to enter Walworth's car.

Lawyer Finds Girl Waiting for Hop Home

Rebecca Walworth Craig, who walked out of the court room in Boston, Tuesday, while the court was hearing an application for requisition papers to take her father, Reginald Walworth, of Chesapeake City, and John Marshall, of Elkton, back to Maryland on a charge of abducting her, is back with the relatives of her husband, Ralph Craig, near Bethel, Cecil county.

Incidentally Harold D. Colbourn, of Perryville, lawyer for the husband of the girl, is telling how he got a surprise. The girl flew back from Camden with him in his airplane but the lawyer did not make the arrangements.

Colbourn appeared in court in Boston to represent Craig and also Rebecca Walworth, or Craig, whom he married. Before he had an opportunity to say anything the girl walked out of the court room and the Boston police were unable to find her.

When Colbourn arrived at the airport in Camden Wednesday afternoon for his plane, he found Rebecca patiently waiting there. She said that she had walked out of the court room, had taken a train for Philadelphia and then went to the airport to await her lawyer. Colbourn took the girl in the plane and brought her back with him. He landed her in Perryville and then notified her husband's relatives and they took her home. She expressed an intention to join her husband.

Attorney Explains Case

The lawyer explained to the authorities that he had no intention of bringing the girl back with him and told them where she is now located. No one appears to know what the next move will be.

$800,000 To Be Spent in Delaware By Diamond State Telephone Co.

The Diamond State Telephone Company's 1932 budget calls for the expenditure of $800,000 for new construction and service betterments throughout Delaware during the year, it was announced this week by George K. Erb, district manager.

"This potential investment of $800,000 in new telephone facilities exceeds by $200,000 the sum spent for the purpose in Delaware during 1931," Mr. Erb said. "There could be no more impressive indication of our faith in the future."

"In addition to the $800,000 to be devoted to expansion of the Diamond State Company's plant, the expenses incident to operation of the telephone system throughout the State will total $1,000,000. Of this latter sum, a very large portion will go into the salaries and wages of the company's personnel."

"The sum earmarked for new construction and service betterments will be invested in new underground and storm-resisting aerial cable, and in other forms of telephone plant, including central office equipment," he continued. "It will be disbursed rather evenly throughout Delaware and, as a consequence, no particularly outstanding construction projects justify specific mention at this time."

State of Delaware Program To Be Broadcast Over Nation-Wide Hook-up

For the first time in the history of radio, the State of Delaware will be the subject of a broadcast over a nation-wide hook-up, when the General Motors Corporation will salute the State in its series of broadcasts "The Parade of the States." The broadcast will take place Monday evening, January 4, at 9:30 p. m., over the N. B. C. network, stations WEAH and WFI.

Spencer Barton, famous editorial writer, editor of several best sellers, has written the story of Delaware as it will be told to the entire country next Monday. The Wilmington Chamber of Commerce has supplied Mr. Barton with material relative to the history of the State, its most prominent citizens, past and present, its writers, artists, composers; the part the State has played in the events of the past three hundred years and much other information.

The broadcast should be of exceptional interest to every citizen and friend of the State of Delaware, and all are urged to tune in on the program Monday evening.

P.T. A. News

Six members of the Blackbird Parent-Teacher Association discussed suitable toys for children of different ages at the meeting during Christmas week. Because of the small room an exhibit was not feasible, but lists of toys, compiled by the American Association of University Women, were available after the meeting.

The school's program, "Santa's Toys Come to Life," included records used in school, Christmas carols and dramatizations by the children.

In an appropriate setting Santa himself appeared with gifts for the school children and for their smaller brothers and sisters.

There was an exhibit of candle holders, calendars, Christmas wrapping papers, and pictures made by the children as Christmas gifts for their mothers.

Mrs. William Watson was elected treasurer to take the place of Mrs. George Bradley, resigned.

At the Christmas meeting of Hillside Parent-Teacher Association children and grown ups presented a program. The subject, "Suitable Toys for Children," was also considered.

After the formal program talks were given by Russell Bendler, Albert Kumpel, Sr., and James Carpenter, representing the Lodge, Francis R. Gallant, Parent-Teacher Association president, Frank Torbert, former president, and Henry Hickman and Gilbert Moore, of the local School Board. All urged that the Port Penn School be retained and expressed appreciation of the work being done in the school. The importance of active participation of parents and teachers in all movements to maintain high educational standards was stressed.

Santa Claus appeared later in the evening with gifts for the children. Miss Dorothy Hobbs explained the educational value of toys collected in the community by her committee at the Christmas meeting of the Yorklyn Parent-Teacher Association. A general discussion followed. Parents were invited to examine the toys after the meeting.

Every child in the school took part in a cantata, "Christmas Eve," which correlates the work of the art and music departments. Colorful costumes and scenery were special features.

Santa Claus, representing the School Board, brought a treat to the children. Older members of the community raised money for this purpose by giving a play.

Mrs. Thomas H. Harrison, president, announced that adult classes in pottery and public affairs would start the week of January 11th. Mrs. Harrison also explained the diphtheria immunization work which will be done at the school, January 8th. Miss Hobbs reported that the full set of Mohler records and a manual had been received. The association voted to repair the Dodge ball.

Mrs. Anna C. Russum led the discussion on Toys at the December meeting of the Delaware City-C Parent-Teacher Association. The program chairman and Clinton D. Collins also participated. Mr. Collins reported that he had secured four subscriptions to "Signposts." Five dollars dues was ordered paid to the State Treasurer.

A junior association will be started as soon as Marcellus Blackburn, of Dover, can assist in the organization.

At a meeting of the Lee's Chapel No. 124-C Parent-Teacher Association during Christmas week, inexpensive and appropriate toys which parents could make for their children, were suggested by Mrs. Anna C. Russum, County Chairman.

Applications for an adult night school were received.

Christiana

There was a large audience in the Christiana M. E. Church last Sunday evening, when the cantata, "Precious Gems," was given by the Adult Education group, which has just completed an eight weeks' course in community singing. The cantata was written especially for the occasion by Mrs. Wm. H. McCoy, formerly Miss Lillie Donaldson, one of the old-time residents of Christiana. The theme was cleverly woven around ten favorite Christmas carols, and was beautifully carried out. The cast of characters follows:

Judith, Sylvia Phelps; Mother, Mrs. H. A. Phelps; Spirit of Christmas, Mrs. R. Earle Dickey; Peace, Mrs. Henry Eastburn; Happiness, Lois Phelps; Contentment, Margaret Healy; Patience, Rose Healy; Love, Rose Ford; Christmas Living, Mrs. Frank W. Morrison, Jr.; Kindness, Ella Moore.

Trenton—A Brilliant Achievement

When George Washington marched his 22,000 cold, hungry and tired "ragged Continentals" through the ice and snow of Christmas night, 1776, across the Delaware River with them in a collection of small boats and barges, then in whirlwind attack that would not be denied killed or captured the entire British garrison at Trenton, he headed an exploit which alone would have been sufficient to establish him as a military leader of the first rank.

The 155th anniversary, we are informed by the United States George Washington Bicentennial Commission, of the battle of Trenton, coming on the eve of the nation-wide celebration of the Two Hundredth Anniversary of Washington's birth, turns the thoughts of all Americans toward that event, which some have called the turning point of the Revolution.

The hopes and spirits of Washington's soldiers had been considerably crushed during the autumn and early winter of 1776. The continental troops had enlisted for only a short time, and the period of service for most of them would expire with the end of the year. Under the unpromising conditions then prevailing Washington knew that few of the men would be willing to reenlist. That meant the loss of his experienced and most valuable troops.

What made the situation even worse was the fact that the enthusiasm of the entire country was waning, and with the ebb the possibility of obtaining new recruits was correspondingly lessened.

Even General Howe in his comfortable winterquarters in New York

City believed that the Americans were incapable of further opposition and settled down to enjoy himself as much as possible while the Revolution was frozen and starved out by the winter.

General Washington saw the need of a decisive stroke which would restore the confidence of the troops and the entire country. He knew that England could never beat patriots who were determined to be free, so he went about the task of winning a victory which would renew the determination with which the war was first undertaken.

The best chance lay at Trenton which was garrisoned by Hessian mercenaries under the command of Colonel Rahl. Having no idea that the foe across the Delaware River would want to fight during the festive Christmas season, the Germans forgot the war and celebrated. Rahl so completely underestimated the mettle of his adversary that he refused even to erect fortifications of any sort. On the other hand, Washington took the correct measure of Rahl when he decided to attack Trenton. He caught the Hessians unawares in the midst of their revelries. The American victory was a certainty and it took only a few minutes of actual fighting to convince the enemy of this fact.

The heroism of Washington's men has been memorialized in countless tributes, and every American is familiar with the details of that march in the December blizzard and the dangerous crossing of the ice-filled Delaware. Any eulogy must fall short of its intent for nothing can be added to the record made that Christmas night by Washington and his ragged army.

Salesianum Defeats Newark

Although a much weakened and very green team took the floor Friday night in behalf of Newark, it succeeded, the first half, in holding a strong Salesianum team 7 to 6 tallies.

In the second half, however, the Salesianum squad with Jimmy Smith much in predominance, succeeded in making the score 31 to 11.

In a hard fought "Prelim" the Seniors held the heavyweight Juniors to a 14-10 score, with the Seniors on the long side.

There are several activities listed in the January calendar, among them being two judging contests and the Poultry and Corn Shows at Milford.

Many of the boys are contemplating making entries this year both in the Poultry Show and in the Corn Show.

We expect to have a more extensive program this year than we had last year.

What We Have Been Doing

In English Class
Miss Singles, my English teacher, planned for us to study English grammar. After finishing short stories we are now studying grammar.

Miss Singles gave us class notes in which we have all rules for punctuation. In studying for a test we take out class notes, where we have all rules and study them. Miss Singles gives us all a "Sentence Book." We punctuate sentences assigned. Many times we make our own sentences, punctuate and give rules for our punctuating.

A test on Monday ended our time for punctuation. Now we will take up something new.

Wednesday's Assembly

The assembly for Wednesday, December 16, was as follows: Mr. Black read the morning lesson. We sang "O Little Town of Bethlehem." There was no program.

Miss McKenney, chairman of the assembly, made the following announcements: the home room presidents, which compose the Senate, are to meet the sixth period. When going to assembly march through the halls quietly, because of the other classes. When marching out of assembly make two lines. The teachers and the assembly committee are to arrange to have a Christmas program for the next week.

Junior High School Assembly

Monday, December 21

Mr. Boone had charge of the assembly this morning. Mr. Boone read the morning lesson from the Bible. Ida Davis recited a poem and Gladys Beck told a story about Christmas, with Barbara Bramble asking questions about the story. Mr. Black then led the assembly in the song, "The First Nowell." The orchestra played a march and the assembly was dismissed.

David Cronhardt.

The Christmas Decorations

The school is decorated in many ways. In front of the school between the pillars there are living Christmas trees in pots. In the corners of the halls and in front of the office there are Christmas trees decorated with with colored lights. Each room is decorated with trees or pictures of Christmas.

Small Change

Joan Adams lived alone with her father and servants for two years in a large mansion in the small town of Greenville. She had all of the comforts of life until her father's death, because he was very wealthy. Now when going over his accounts with a lawyer, Joan found herself a fourteen year old girl, orphan, depending entirely upon charity.

It was decided at the Ladies' Aid that Joan would live with Mr. Stein, the preacher, and his wife. Mrs. Stein did not think much of this arrangement at first, but she was quite pleased when she found what a willing worker Joan was.

When Joan was left an orphan, depending upon charity, her number of friends slowly dwindled away. At school she was called "Small Change," because she was once a rich man's daughter and now a charity orphan. Often a high school boy would bump into her and say, "Run along, small change, before I spend you." This made Joan very sad.

On her sixteenth birthday Joan received a notice from her father's former lawyer requesting her presence at his office. Joan answered as soon as possible. The lawyer in a roundabout way informed Joan of her good fortune. Her father's brother, who had died, had left Joan a lot of money.

Good news travels fast in a small town. When Joan arrived home she found all of her old friends waiting to congratulate her.

Dorothy Barrow, Grade 9A.

Christmas

Christmas time will soon be here. The gloriest time of the year. Candy, nuts, fruits and toys. All for little ones' Christmas joys. When all are in bed fast asleep And Santa down the chimney creeps. Christmas morning is lots of joy. To see each girl and boy Opening their surprises and playing with toys.

Mildred Clemens, Grade 7A.

My Mother

My mother is the sweetest thing, She's sweeter than the bells that ring. For on a Christmas day, you know, She fixes me from head to toe.

She fixes up the tree so bright, And hangs and fills the stockings just right.

And when at night I go to bed, Old Santa comes with deer and sled.

Alice Beeson, Grade 7.

Farewell to 1931

Good-bye to the old year, Now you will have to leave us. You are dying so fast, Which truly, now, does grieve us. A few more hours and thirty-one will hasten

Into the vast beyond, Where all the years go racin'. You've been a good year to us, And most of us could tell.

With all your joys and blessings And other gifts as well. So now we sadly know Your work is almost done.

Farewell to old year thirty-one, All hail! New thirty-two.

Wednesday's Assembly

The assembly for Wednesday, the twenty-third, was as follows: Mr. Bechler read the morning lesson. It was part of the first story of Christ. Miss Singles, chairman of the assembly committee, gave a play entitled, "Christmas Speakin'" at Skagg's Skule," by Marie Irish. Setting: An old country schoolhouse about thirty years ago. Cast of characters: Teacher, Dorothy Handloff; Mr. Josiah Judd, clerk of the Skule Board; Clarence Smith; Mrs. Skaggs, Blanch Porter; Mrs. Hill, Camilla Heiser; Billy Skaggs, Guy Hancock, Jr.; O. C. Swanson, Alex Cobb; Sam Shaw, Edgar Cleaver; Matildy, Fredia Smith; Floudly, Elizabeth Rose, twins; Rastus (negro), Robert Hancock; Tiny Tilly, Mary L. Brown; Carnell (Tilly's little sister), June Fowler; Sarah Jane (who isn't afraid) Moma Jarmon; Virgil Vane (the bright boy) Orville Richardson. The pupils are very much excited because this is the last day of school before Christmas, and they are having Christmas recitations. The teacher has some trouble getting them quiet. Before the recitations begin three visitors come—Mrs. Skaggs, Mrs. Hill and Mr. Josiah Judd. The recitations Virgil Vane, Ole Swanson, Billy Skaggs, Sam Shaw, Matildy and Floudly sing a song, Rastus says a poem about the watermelon he wants for Christmas. Tilly, Carabell, and Sarah Jane recite some poems. Mrs. Skaggs also speaks a piece which she learned when she was a little girl. Santa Clause (Virgil Vane) then enters to distribute candy and popcorn, but Billy is so frightened that Santa has to take his mask off. Curtain.

The whole school sang Jingle Bells. Miss McKinsey said there would be no meeting of the Senate today.

CLAYTON M. BUNTING SAID TO HAVE BOUGHT ORCHARD FOR $32,000

U. S. Senator John G. Townsend, Jr., Directing Head of Firm that Bears His Name

It was reported in Georgetown that the Townsend Orchards, located at Coverdale Cross Roads, on the Georgetown-Bridgeville highway, and operated by the Townsend Orchard Company, have been sold to Clayton M. Bunting, of Selbyville, for $32,000.

These orchards are among the largest in the United States. The tract of land contains about 1,000 acres and about 860 are set in apple trees. It is stated that there are 36,000 trees of late varieties and 24,000 of early varieties.

Annually these orchards have been yielding many thousands of bushels of fruit. Two or three seasons ago, it was reported, that more than 200 cars were shipped.

Some years ago the orchards were under the management of the Delaware Apple Orchard Company, but when sold at receivers' sale the name was changed to the Townsend Orchard Company. United States Senator John G. Townsend, Jr., of Selbyville, has been for the past few years the directing head of the company.

Mr. Bunting, who is reported to be the purchaser, is one of the firm of Bunting Nurseries of Selbyville, whose Nurseries are considered among the largest in the eastern section of the country.

Francis A. Cooch Writes Instructive Article for Magazine

"Advantages to Non-Residents in Creating Trusts in Delaware," by Francis A. Cooch, vice-president and trust officer of the Equitable Trust Company, is one of the interesting and informative articles in the January issue of the Equitable Monthly, published by the public relations department of the Equitable Trust Company.

Mr. Cooch points out that taxes in many States are burdensome and explains the advantages that may accrue to individuals in minimizing taxation to themselves while living and to their estates after death through the creation of trusts with a Delaware bank or trust company.

The writer stresses that a trust estate in Delaware created by a non-resident is not liable for State taxes, that income taxes are not collectable if the trust income is created by a non-resident for the benefit of ascertained non-resident beneficiaries.

"In like manner," writes Mr. Cooch, "inheritance taxes and estate taxes do not apply to the estates of non-residents of the State of Delaware disposing of intangible personal property, but only to real estate located within the State and to tangible personal property. Furthermore, a trust established by a non-resident may be made revocable, so that if the laws of this State should ever become unfavorable to non-residents, the trusts may be revoked, without affecting the taxability of the trusts."

The article also points out the advantages to non-residents in carrying bank accounts in Delaware. Bank deposits, unless part of the working capital of a corporation doing business in Delaware, are untaxed in this State.

"History of Equitable Trust Company" is another interesting article by Otho Nowland, chairman of the board of directors. Having been associated with the Equitable since its beginning in 1889 he knows its history as no one else does and his story of its progress is a romance of Wilmington banking.

The third article in the January issue is, "Why Title Insurance?" by Benjamin N. Brown, title attorney. The value of real estate dependent upon its title and title insurance and certificate of title are authoritatively discussed.

An outline of the 50 principal services rendered by the Equitable Trust Company to its patrons is contained in the magazine, as is an interesting editorial on "Are You Making Full Use of Your Bank."

Yeggs Blow Safe In Keys & Miller Lumber Co. Office, in Elkton

Police are investigating a robbery which took place some time between Saturday night and early Monday in the office of the Keys and Miller Lumber Company, Elkton, when a safe was blown open, doing considerable damage to the building. A small amount of money and goods were stolen.

No clues have been found to date, but authorities believe that the robbery was the work of a gang of yeggs-men who are reported to be in this locality.

The robbery was discovered Monday morning when employees of the company reported to work at the usual hour. Desks, chairs and other office furniture were broken and scattered about the office, and $25 in change had been taken from the safe. Much damage resulted to a hardware room in the same building.

The explosion was not heard by residents of the community. The yeggs evidently had the robbery well timed, as the plant is near a railroad track, and it is believed that the safe was blown while a train was passing.

VERNON B. BECKETT IN SERIOUS CONDITION AFTER ACCIDENT

Vernon B. Beckett is in a serious condition in the Government Hospital at the Proving Grounds near Aberdeen, as a result of an automobile accident. William T. McGoff and Beckett, both privates of the U. S. Army, stationed at Fort Monroe, Va., were en route from New York to Fort Monroe in an automobile, when McGoff, who had been at the wheel since they left, dozed for a moment near Kilby's Corner, between Port Deposit and Rising Sun, crashed into a note by the roadside when his car swerved. Beckett suffered an injury to the spine and a fractured skull. Dr. R. C. Dodson, of Rising Sun, who was summoned, called the American Legion ambulance in Elkton, and the injured man was brought to Union Hospital in Elkton, and later removed to the Government Hospital near Aberdeen.

IMPROVED UNIFORM INTERNATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL Lesson

Lesson for January 3

THE SON OF GOD BECOMES MAN

LESSON TEXT—John 1:1-18.
GOLDEN TEXT—Jesus came into the world to save sinners. (1 Tim. 1:15.)
PRIMER—Jesus came to save sinners. (1 Tim. 1:15.)
INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—The Son of God became man to save sinners. (1 Tim. 1:15.)
YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—The Son of God became man to save sinners. (1 Tim. 1:15.)

The lessons for this quarter are taken from the Gospel of John, giving to opportunity for the presentation of the great message from God. In order intelligently to present the message of the quarter, the teacher must get hold of John's central purpose and read every lesson thereon. The writer has plainly declared his purpose—John 20:30, 31. It is twofold:

1. To prove that Jesus is the Christ, the Son of God.
2. To show that eternal life is to be obtained through faith in him.

With this twofold objective, John proceeds lawyer-like to lay down his propositions and to introduce his witnesses one by one in their establishment. The section for today's lesson is commonly called "The Prologue."

1. The pre-existent Word (vv. 1-4). The eternal Son is called the Word of God because he is the expression of God to man. He is the one who utters to men the Father's will. God has in these days spoken to us by his Son (Heb. 1:1, 2). Observe:

1. The Son is a person separate and distinct from the Father (v. 1). There is at the same time an inseparable unity existing between them.

2. The Son is eternal (v. 2). He was with God in the beginning. He did not begin to exist when the heavens and the earth were created, neither did he become the Son at his baptism, for he was before all things (Col. 1:17).

3. The Son is divine (v. 3). "The Word was God." He is a being equal with God and one in essence with him.

4. The Word of God is the omnipotent Creator (v. 3). By him were all things made, the world and all things therein. This refutes the gross error which postulates the eternity of matter.

5. The Word is the source of all life (v. 4).

6. The Word of God is the light of men (v. 9). Man's power to reason is from Jesus Christ. The very faculties which the skeptic uses in his attempt to destroy Christ's work in the world have been derived from Christ. The conscience has its source in him.

7. The World's Attitude Toward the Word of God (vv. 5-13). 1. Men are insensitive to the presence of the true light (vv. 5-10). So Jesus is the ignorance of mankind that the presence of the very Lord of glory is unrecognized. Being thus unrecognized, God, in his grace, sent John the Baptist as a witness that all men might believe (vv. 6, 7). Man's ignorance can only be accounted for by the malicious blinding of his mind by the Devil (II Cor. 4:4).

2. The desperate wickedness of men's heart (v. 11). The Word was rejected by the chosen nation. They would not receive the one whom God had anointed to be their King. With the self-revealing light, the earnest testimony of John the Baptist, and the glorious privilege of becoming the sons of God, the rejection of Christ must certainly reveal the awful perversity of the human heart in its natural state. "To be carnally minded is death" (Rom. 8:6).

3. Some received Christ and thus became sons of God (vv. 12, 13). In this section we are shown how men become children of God. It is not by blood relation with the covenant people, "of blood" (grace is not inherited); not by the efforts of our natural powers, "the will of the flesh"; nor by the acts and deeds of others—"the will of man; but of God."

4. The Eternal Word Became incarnate, "Made Flesh" (vv. 14-18). In these words we are taught that the eternal Word became the incarnate Son. The eternal Son of God became man, born of a woman. The eternal Son did not become a Jew, but he became a man. He designated himself "the Son of Man." He became really human, and entered upon human relation. The human and divine natures were united in one person. This incarnate Son of God tabernacled among us.

WORDS OF WISDOM

Ignorance is "darkness," education is "light."

God's "incomprehensible" will overwhelms the feeble "abilities."

God is "International," "interdenominational," and "nonsectarian."

"When every other way of escape from temptation seems closed, try the way of prayer."

A Letter to Santa

As I was walking calmly down the street, about a week ago, I was startled by a little boy who came up to me and said, "Hey, girl, read this and see if I made any mistakes and then mail it, will you?"

I answered in the affirmative and this is what the letter said:

Newark, Delaware.

Dear Santa Claus

I am a little boy and I live in Newark. I want you to bring me a hole lot of presents this year if you will please, I will be much obliged if you do. I want a trane and a book and a crocking horse if you will please, thank you very much. I have bin very good.

Frum yur friend,

Tommie Joanes.

Mary L. Roberts, '35.

The First Buds

We saw the first buds on our bulbs on Monday, December 14. There were four buds, but one was withered, so Miss McLess threw it away. We think they will burst open by Monday or Tuesday.

Stella Korwek, Grade 3.

Blooming Time

We saw that the buds were open on Monday morning, December 21.

There were so many that we could not count them, but I guess there were about seven out and eight more buds.

Each one had six little white petals and orange centers.

They looked very, very pretty.

They made us feel very happy to have them blooming for Christmas.

Santa Takes a Trip to the Southland

Act I—In Santa's Workshop.

Santa and the Elves.

(Elves are busily working. They pause and dance the Elf Dance.)

Santa—Good morning, jolly elves.

Elves—Good morning, Santa.

Santa—Are the toys almost finished?

First Elf—See my train?

Santa (laughs heartily)—What a beauty.

Second Elf—Look! Here is an airplane.

Third Elf—Do you think Mrs. Santa will make a dress for this doll?

Santa (looks approvingly at doll)—She loves to do such things.

Fourth Elf—My bear will make some child happy.

Fifth Elf—My dog is ready too, Santa.

Santa—Thank you, jolly elves. Now I'll see Mrs. Santa.

(Elves dance. Same as the opening scene.)

Act II—Santa's Living Room.

(Santa enters while Mrs. Santa is busily sewing.)

Santa—It's almost time for me to leave for the Southland.

(Mrs. Santa looks at Santa's bag.)

Mrs. Santa—Santa, does your bag need patching?

Santa—Yes, here it is. (Hands bag to Mrs. Santa.)

Mrs. Santa—Are all the toys ready?

I should think all the little boys and girls in the world would be very happy on Christmas morning. Here is your bag, Santa.

Santa—Thanks for mending the bag. I'm off.

Act III—Singers in Street Singing Carols.

(Little girls look out of window.)

Betty—They are singing carols. Will Santa come tonight?

Mary—Let's ask mother.

Both—Mother, is Santa coming tonight?

Mother—Hang up your stockings, Santa never forgets. Run along to bed. (Girls hang up stockings. Mother blows out the candle.)

Both—Good night, Mother.

Act IV—Noise outside. Santa Enters.

Santa—How poor these little girls must be. I'll leave lots of things. (Places some toys and leaves.)

This play was written by the fourth grade children and was given in the assembly.

Chrysanthemum

This flower is a native of China and was introduced into Japan a couple of thousand years ago. After the "War of the Chrysanthemums," which lasted for fifty-six years, it became the national flower of Japan. To the Japanese the Chrysanthemum symbolizes the sun, and the orderly unfolding of its petals the mark of perfection. This artistic and poetic conception has led to many quaint legends in connection with the flower's history. Coming into bloom late in the year gives it a meaning of longevity. In certain provinces of Japan where streams are bordered with these flowers and as the petals fall into the water, the natives drink of it, believing that it will prolong their lives. In this country it is the last of our garden flowers, often being in bloom after the first snow fall.

Helen Register.

Senior Assembly

A most interesting program was prepared by Miss Stauter for assembly on Wednesday, December 23.

With the help of the Seniors she produced an operetta, "Why the Chimes Rang," which was enjoyed by all. The participants were: Pedro, Agnes Wilson; Little Brother, Margaret Waples; Old Woman, Virginia Thomas; Children, Rachel Phelps, Harriet Nevin, Elizabeth Phillips and Eleanor Murray; Old Man, Edward Biddle; Priest, John Sinclair; Author, Chauncey Wheeler; Knight, Eugene Furry; Rich Lady, Alice Sullivan; Queen, Virginia Shumar; King, William Bratton; Soldier, Cedric Justis. The congregation at the church was made up of the remaining Seniors.

The Chimes rang because a little boy gave the one thing dearest to him. The thing he had worked over to make worthy for a gift to the Christ Jesus—A bunch of lilies.

Lepers

Leprosy is definitely on the decrease in this country and Canada. However, it is a fallacy that this disease is absent under the American government, except for a few lepers on the island of Molokai, in the Hawaiian Islands.

For example, there are several hundred patients in the government leper hospital in Canville, Louisiana. In the Philippines there are at least 200,000 lepers, many of them not under treatment. In the Hawaiian Islands, the number of cases in isolation has decreased since 1920 from 1,200 to 700.

Leprosy was brought to Louisiana by the early Spanish and French settlers, and to Minnesota by people from the Scandinavian peninsula. Cases occurring in other sections are rare.

In the Hawaiian Islands leprosy was introduced by the Chinese during the middle of the last century. In the Philippines, leprosy is quite common. Most of these cases are sent to the colony at Cullion, where there are now between 5,000 and 6,000 cases.

Leprosy has now passed into the list of ailments which can be helped by modern surgery and medicine and this disease, to a great extent, can be prevented from spreading.

My Kitten

I have a little kitten,

He would not jump at all,

He just sat upon his hind legs.

'Till I thought he would fall.

Marjorie Rittenhouse.

My Kitten

I have a little kitten,

He likes to play,

But he is mean to me

When I play rough you see.

Sotora Pappas.

Little Mouse

Little mouse, pretty mouse,

In your coat of brown,

Is your house underneath the ground,

And do you have your little babies

In their nest of brown?

Oliver Kendall.

My Doggie

I have a little doggie,

He never does a thing,

He always was a bad doggie.

He always wants something to keep

And something to eat.

Katherine Weimer.

My Book

I have a little book,

I never can go away from it.

I wish you would look

At my pretty story book.

Katherine Weimer.

The Bird

The bird I heard one day

Was about to lay,

But I scared her away.

She went back to lay,

So that was the end of the day.

Katherine Weimer.

My Dog

Once I had a dog,

He met a hog,

Then he went and hid

And never met it again.

Lydia Williams.

The Snow

When I awoke in the morning,

I looked upon the ground,

And something white there, I found.

It came from the sky,

But I never found out why.

Raymond Ewing.

The Little Girl

There was a little girl,

She was very sick in bed;

When I'd go to see her,

She would stand upon her head.

Mary Alice Hancock.

Santa Is Coming

Santa is coming,

Coming tonight,

Through the snow, white,

To make our stockings bright.

Marjorie Rittenhouse.

Santa Claus

I think I hear the tinkling bells

Of dear old Santa's sleigh;

By peeping down the steps

I see him right away.

Carolyn Plummer.

Dear Santa

Santa is coming,

To bring the toys

To the girls and boys.

Eleanor Mumford.

Christmas Night

On the night before Christmas,

When the stockings were hung

And all were in bed;

Away in the distance

I heard a little jingle.

In a moment I thought

It was old Chris Kringle.

I sprang to the window

To see his reindeer.

In a moment, I saw in the snow

A right jolly old fellow.

He was dressed all in red,

From his foot to his head.

I was right, for it was old Chris

Kringle,

With his reindeer and bells that jingle.

Eleanor Dean.

Two Former Members of U. of D. Faculty Invited to National Education Conference

The National Progressive Education Association has extended an invitation to Miss Mary E. Rich, director of the Normal Training School, to attend the second annual conference of the association, which will be held at the Hotel Emerson in Baltimore, Maryland, on February 17. President C. H. Fisher has expressed great satisfaction at this recognition of the excellence of the Training school in the preparation of teachers.

President Pleased

Commenting on the invitation, President Fisher says "The fact that Miss Rich has been chosen to participate in the National Progressive Education Association conference is not only a personal compliment to her, but also to the Training school and Normal school itself. Some time ago, we were chosen as one out of twenty-five similar schools for a detailed study by the National Survey of the preparation of teachers. These two honors coming at the same time are a tribute to the type of work being done in this institution."

Thirty-three Leaders

The thirty-three men and women who have been selected to attend were chosen from among the more progressive schools in the United States which train teachers. These participants will be able to exchange ideas on the latest methods of teacher-training. The presiding officer of the convention is to be Mr. Willard Beatty, of the Bronxville Public Schools.

Noted Educators

Among the educators to attend will be: Drs. Thomas Alexander and William K. Kilpatrick, of Teachers' College, Columbia; Dr. George Counts, of the International Institute, Columbia; Dr. Florence Bamberger, of Johns Hopkins University, formerly of the Normal faculty; Dr. Ruth Streitz, of the University of Cincinnati; and Miss Anna Halberg, of Wilson Normal School. Miss Halberg was an instructor in the summer school here several years ago.—From a Bellingham (Wash.) newspaper.

Miss Rich and Dr. Counts will both be remembered here as members of the faculty of the University of Delaware in the Department of Education.

Are You A Road Hog? Don't Be. Keep to the Right

Keep in the middle of the road is a tip that has been construed literally by the road-hog. His lack of consideration and disobedience of traffic regulations often cause serious accidents to himself as well as to others.

The expert driver must tone down his skill by not weaving in and out of a stream of traffic moving moderately. A common offense against road etiquette is committed when a motor car operator places his car at a crossing so as to obstruct pedestrian traffic, thus compelling pedestrians to walk around his machine.

When stopping or parking a car see that the right side is within 6 or 8 inches of the curb. The wheels should be cranked to the right so the car cannot move. Make sure that the emergency brake is on and that the gears are in neutral before leaving the car.

Always signal when preparing to stop, start or turn. If possible signal by extending the arm. If the car body or load prevents persons ahead or behind from seeing arm signals a good type of mechanical signalling device should be installed on the car.

All traffic signs, including those used for the control of traffic at intersections should be obeyed promptly and to the letter. "Slow down" signs near schools should be observed as well as "Stop, look and listen" signs at railroad grade crossings.

Many lives will be saved during the New Year if automobilists will heed

the warning of the Delaware Safety Council's "Safety Sally."

SAFETY SALLY
says...
WHEN YOU DRIVE IN THE CENTER OF THE ROAD, YOU'RE FORCING THE DRIVER BEHIND YOU TO PASS. DON'T BE A ROAD HOG. KEEP TO THE RIGHT.

DAMP LITTER IN POULTRY HOUSES

By Prof. H. D. Munroe

Damp litter in poultry houses is a common complaint this winter. In crowded hen houses, this condition is often due to the lack of fresh air and proper ventilation. Enough fresh air must be admitted to the hen house so that moisture will not collect on the walls and ceiling.

It does not take much water to cause damp litter. Leaky roofs are a common cause of this condition. Just a few small leaks in the roof will cause a lot of trouble with damp litter.

The most common cause of damp litter in poultry houses is the water that falls from the beak and wattles of a hen when she drinks. When hens are laying the most eggs we have the most trouble with damp litter. When hens are laying well, they drink the most water and at that time spill the most.

Many cases of damp litter in hen houses will be stopped by putting a tub, half-barrel, or pan under the drinking fountain to catch the water that falls from the beak and wattles when hens drink. Many times open drinking dishes which allow the birds to walk in them are the cause of damp litter.

GOOD HATCHABILITY OF EGGS

With the increased demand for chicks this year it is desirable to produce eggs that will hatch well. It has been proven by some investigators that hatchability is inherited. On the other hand there are certain conditions under which the birds may be kept which affects the hatchability of eggs and livability of the chicks produced.

AMERICAN LEGION POST MAKES HUNDREDS OF KIDS HAPPY

The greeting of Old Kris and the candy and oranges given out at the community tree in Elkton on Christmas Eve seemed more popular than even, upward of eight hundred children being remembered. The instrumental and vocal music was greatly enjoyed by the older folks. The Cecil Post and its committee, John K. Burkley, chairman; Calvin Fox, Charles A. Weldin, John J. Maloney and David J. Randolph, deserve great credit for the way the affair was put over.

The breeding flock should have rest from egg production prior to the hatching season. While the flock molting it has time to store up materials that have been used up during the long period of production. The breeding flock should never be forced for egg production during the breeding season although normal high rate of production (50%) does not seem to affect fertility or hatchability.

The breeding flock should have access to the direct rays of the sun and be fed cod liver oil. Recent experimental work showed that hatchability was increased 30 per cent by the use of cod liver oil for confined hens.

The breeding flock should have plenty of green, succulent feed. Green feeds develop yellow color. Breeds with an abundance of yellow pigment produce hatchable eggs.
