FUNDS NEEDED FOR NEWARK SCHOOLS

Facts Made Plain At Open Meeting

Board Requested to Seek Repeal of Tax Limitation Act

Facts showing conclusively the necessity of raising more funds for the maintenance and operation of the Newark Public Schools, were presented last Thursday evening, at an open meeting of the Parent-Teacher Association held in the High School building. An increased enrollment, making necessary three additional rooms, with new equipment and teachers, an increase in the cost of supplies ranging from 50 to 100 percent, and the necessity of providing laboratories for the teaching of two sciences, in order to conform to the standard set by the State Board of Education, for a four-year high school; repairs that demand attention, and an expensive book item, are facts that must be faced during the next school year. To acquaint every tax payer with these conditions, and bring the responsibility to the individual, was the task laid upon the hearers, by Mrs. Grantham, the chairman of the meeting.

Mr. Koehler, principal of the schools, in a plain and informal talk, gave a thorough explanation of present conditions. Facts collected after careful investigation, were presented under four main heads, (1) School Plant, (2) Teachers, (3) Equipment, (4) Fixed Charges. Under the heading "School Plant," Mr. Koehler, showed by means of figures taken from the present records, the necessity for three additional teachers next year. A copy of the chart, which the speaker displayed, representing in only two instances an estimated figure, follows:

MAINTENANCE OF BUILDINGS

Discussing "Maintenance of Buildings," Mr. Koehler enumerated the expenditures which are necessary to put the schools in a condition approaching present day standards. "According to standards everywhere accepted," Mr. Koehler said, "one-fifth of the floor space should be equal by glass area. In our primary building, the glass area is only one-tenth. The rooms in this building although nearly twice as large as those of the grammar school, have about half as much radiation. There are but two radiators in these large rooms, a fact which explains why the little tots were sent home many days this winter, when with five pounds of steam on in the cellar, the thermometers in the rooms, registered fifty. More radiation, and two additional rooms, mean more coal, an item of expense which amounted to $750 this year, and which promises to amount to $1000 next year."

ACCOUNT BOOKS FOR FARMERS

County Agent Urges Their Use

To meet the requirements of the income tax and to put the farmers of the county in a better position to know their business, the extension department of Delaware College has had printed farm account books, suitable for the use of busy farmers. These books are very simple and can be kept in order with about three minutes work each day after the book has been started. "If this book is used," R. O. Bausman, County Agent of New Castle, says in a letter addressed to the farmers, "at the end of the year the farmer is not only in a position to make his returns for the income tax, but he has a better understanding of his farm operations for the year, and is in a position to show the consumer that he is working only for a very reasonable profit, instead of an exorbitant profit as many city people now believe."

W. C. T. U. Meeting

The local W. C. T. U. will meet at the home of Mrs. E. K. Butler on Friday afternoon of this week.

LEAVE TO PUR- CHASE CATTLE

The Farmer's Trust Company of Newark and the National Bank of Odessa have instructed Mr. James Moore of Middletown, Mr. Palmer Dickey of Stanton, and County Agent R. O. Bausman, to purchase a car load of Holstein stock.

These men will leave this week end for Livingston County, Michigan, where they expect to purchase the cows. The banks expect to pay about $250 each and the cows will not only be pedigreed, but will have official milk and butter fat records. This type of cattle will be suitable for starting a pure bred herd. The cattle will arrive in Newark and in Middletown about the middle of March, and will be placed in one of the town stables for three days for inspection. The arrival of these cattle will be announced and it is hoped that every farmer of the County will drop in and see them. If the farmers are pleased with them there is no doubt but that the banks will consider bringing in other car loads. The banks are financing this project purely from the standpoint of developing the dairy business of New Castle County. The cows in these first car loads have been spoken for by some of our county farmers.

MISSIONARY SOCIETY TO SEW FOR RED CROSS

At Clubhouse Next Wednesday

Members of the M. E. Missionary Society, co-operating with the movement of the New Century Club, in opening the building every Wednesday for general Red Cross work, will meet in a body at the club rooms next Wednesday, March 20th, to do Red Cross sewing. Mrs. H. W. McNeal, president of the society, requests all the members to come, bringing their thimbles, scissors, needles, and fifty or sixty cotton.

Art Lecture On Tuesday

Owing to the Philadelphia Orchestra Concert at the Playhouse on Monday, March 12th, Miss Winslow's class in the History of Italian Art will be postponed until Tuesday evening, at the regular hour, seven o'clock. The subject for the evening is "Botticelli."

S. S. Elects New Officers

At a meeting of the officers and teachers of the Newark Presbyterian Sunday School, held last week, Warren A. Singles was elected superintendent, to succeed G. N. Brown, resigned, and Irving Crow, secretary, to succeed Edgar McMullen.

Students Do Practice Work

An interesting feature of the work in the Education Course is the practice teaching of Seniors. The girls devote an hour three days a week to teaching in the Newark Grammar School. At present five are teaching. Miss Mary Moss teaches geography; Miss Catharine Schunder, arithmetic; Misses Elizabeth Dawson and Hilda Stevens, English; and Miss Olive Heiser, history. When the girls finish the work there, they will do practice teaching in the

CLUBS TO BE FORMED

Mr. Martin Outlines Plan Of Work

The Extension Department of Delaware College will cooperate with local communities throughout the state in conducting boys' and girls' club contests for the purpose of raising pigs, corn, calves, garden produce, poultry and other agricultural products that will meet local needs.

The boys and girls will have the opportunity to select the projects in which they are particularly interested. They will be given helpful written suggestions and personal supervision from time to time. Regular club meetings will be held by local leaders for social and instructional purposes.

Briefly stated, the boys and girls will learn how to raise pigs by raising a pig; how to produce corn by growing an acre of corn; how to manage calves by caring for a calf; how to grow vegetables by making and growing a garden; how to care for poultry by hatching, feeding and managing a brood of real chickens.

Boys and girls between the ages of 10 and 18 years of age will contest on a county basis. The State Board of Agriculture has offered a pure-bred pig to the champion corn grower of each county of the state. Several banks have indicated that they will cooperate with the Extension Department by financing approved boys in the pure-bred contest, and in offering prizes for local winners in other contests. Delaware College has promised a pure-bred pig to the champion pig grower of each county. Prizes and awards for the other contests will be announced at a later date. Local and state exhibits will be made of the work of boys' and girls' clubs.

This program should give boys and girls the rural viewpoint; it should become their emergency war work; it should aid the home in the discharge of regular duties; and it should vitalize the regular work of the school.

COMMUNICATION FROM DR. ROBERTS

Retiring Minister Addresses Word To Community

Despairing of being able to attend the church services during the remainder of my stay in Newark, I take this means of expressing to the congregation and friends of the Newark Methodist Episcopal Church my heart-felt gratitude for the numerous benefactions received during the past weeks.

The poor services that I have been able to render recently have met with a response compounded of patience and gentleness. For this I am deeply appreciative.

I desire to thank individually all who contributed to the generous gift that, coming as it did during my illness, and representing as it did the good-will of a united congregation, made a rainbow of comfort dispel the clouds of worry that had gathered.

I am entirely sincere when I state that I shall always have for the Newark people a more tender regard than I experience toward any other congregation that it has been my privilege to serve. Their treatment of me has been a daily and practical appreciation of the Golden Rule. Borrowing the words from Melancthon I leave with them my benediction "may the Blessed One bless."

To Dr. Rowan and the members of the Newark Presbyterian Church I am especially grateful for disinterested support. Truly, inasmuch as they did it unto one of the least of these, they did it unto the Master in whose name I thank them.

Mrs. Roberts and I shall look back to our stay in Newark with mingled gratitude and satisfaction. May the blessings of our Lord Jesus Christ abide with you all.

E. P. Roberts,
Pastor Newark Methodist Episcopal Church,
Newark, Delaware, March 11, 1918.

Services In Main Church

Church services will be resumed in the church proper, by the congregation of the Presbyterian Church, after a lapse of ten weeks, as a conservation measure. A special musical program will be rendered next Sunday.

RED CROSS DAY ON MONDAY

Program For Remainder Of Year Announced

At the meeting of the New Century Club held last Monday, a communication from Dr. W. O. Sypherd was read, requesting reading material for men in the camps. The request was not for the classics, nor for trashy books, but for good entertaining stories. All books should be forwarded to the college library, addressed to Dr. Sypherd. The feature of the afternoon was the talk on the reading of books, by Dr. Foster, of the English department, of Delaware College. Dr. Foster's talk was informal, and afforded a delightful half hour for everyone.

Next Monday afternoon will be Red Cross day. A cordial invitation is extended to the ladies of Newark to bring their work and spend the afternoon at the clubhouse.

The program committee announces the following program for the remainder of the club year:

March 18th—Patriotic Song, Red Cross Knitting Party, Social Hour, Public invited. March 25th—"Community Sing." April 1st—Patriotic Song, Music in Our Schools, Afternoon in charge of Mrs. Houghton and Miss Shephardson. April 8th—Reciprocity. April 15th—Patriotic Song—Red Cross Knitting Party, Social Hour, Public invited. April 22nd—Patriotic Song, Mrs. Clarke, Library Work for Children; Music. April 29th—"Community Sing." May 6th—Music, Nomination of Officers, Business. May 13th—To be announced. May 20th—Election of Officers, Reports of Committees, Music. May 27th—Installation, Musical Programme, Social Hour.

Legislature Con- venes at Dover

Indications of Short Session

Governor Defines Issues in War Message

In response to the call of Governor Townsend both sessions of the Delaware Legislature were organized at noon, Monday. Senate and House elected the same officers that served at the biennial session last year. At 1.30 Governor Townsend appeared before a joint session and read his war message, which appears elsewhere in this paper.

On Tuesday Speaker Harvey P. Hall, of the House, introduced a bill recommended by Governor Townsend, for the creation of a State Council of Defense. The bill authorizes the Governor to appoint a Council of Defense of eight members, in addition to the Governor, to mobilize men for military duty within the State and also for agriculture and the industries.

The council is empowered to require all men between 16 and 60 years of age to work at some "useful occupation," and also to perform such military duties within the State as the State Council shall order.

Failure to obey orders of the State Council may be punished by a fine up to $300, or three months' imprisonment, or both, in the discretion of the court. The members of the council will serve during the duration of the war and six months thereafter. All vacancies shall be filled by the Governor. The members will serve without pay. The council under the bill is given wide powers, and no limit is fixed as to expenditures.

The resolution to ratify the Federal prohibition amendment was introduced by Representative Burris.

There was a general impression on Tuesday that the national prohibition amendment will be ratified in both branches. The "drys" claim at least ten to eleven votes out of seventeen for the amendment in the Senate.

The House on Tuesday adopted a concurrent resolution providing that no other business shall be considered at the special session other than that mentioned in Governor Townsend's message. The adoption of this resolution indicates that the present session of the Delaware Legislature will establish a record for its brevity.

Governor Townsend's Mes- sage To The Legislature

"Steadfast, still in the belief that the God of our fathers rules in the courts of men and destiny of nations, I, by authority granted by the Constitution, have called this session of the General Assembly.

"Occasions such as this are of tense and serious moment.

"The responsibility involved and the duty imposed, however, tend only to make firm our determination to live fully to the obligation to the oath taken to faithfully discharge the duties according to the best of my ability. Hearing the call of the nation, Delaware, by her very nature and history, gladly responds. In my best judgment, convinced of the necessity of your Counsel, I have dared ask this sacrifice, that you may, by legislative enactment, make true the sentiment of our citizenship.

"Since the close of your deliberations at the last session, our nation has entered into war to defend those ideals of government so wisely founded by our fathers.

"We entered this war not by choice, but by conviction, not by impulse, but by response to the call of history and outraged humanity. We are at war, not for conquest, not for gain, not for display of force. We are at war that this idea of national life of ours shall live. And to decide, that, as in a nation, the world cannot exist half slave and half free."

"In such a war, for such a cause, Delaware rightfully belongs at the front. The thoughts and deeds for the preservation of the ideals of our national life are records of history. Proud as we are of her (Continued on Page 4)

Local Drive For Books

Newark Asked to Furnish Five Hundred

For Use of Our Soldiers and Sailors

Two million gift books are needed at once for our men at the front and in the training camps. The people of Newark and vicinity are asked to do their part toward supplying this need. During the week beginning on Thursday, March 14, a special effort will be made to obtain at least 500 good books from this neighborhood.

GIVE A BOOK

The War Service administration hopes that for every book purchased at least five will be presented to the libraries. It has been done in England; it can be done here.

"Mobilize your idle books.

Give the book you prize the most; not the one you care for least.

Give your favorite author; the novel that interested you last summer; the volume of poems with a meaning and message for you.

Give the book that causes a pang at parting, like saying good-bye to an old friend. Ten chances to one it will mean more to some soldier boy.

Give the book that is still alive but which you and your family have outgrown. It is the one which should be passed on to the Camp Libraries.

Give your latest war book; you will probably not read it again. The boy in khaki is waiting for it. Reading it will prepare him for conditions "over there."

Give books on technical subjects; there is an insistent call for works on aeroplanes, automobiles, gas engines and engineering topics generally. Don't think that the boys are interested only in fiction.

Write your name and a message on the fly leaf; it will make the bond seem closer.

Remember that he gives twice who gives quickly. But don't give thoughtlessly. We are judged by what we give.

KINDS OF BOOKS

Experience in the camps indicates that our soldiers and sailors want books of great variety, but there are certain limitations. The following list of subjects is based on reports and recommendations from the camp librarians:

Fiction—Adventure, Western Stories, Detective Stories, Love Stories of the best sort, Stories of Business, Historical Novels.

Non-Fiction—Military Science, Aeroplanes, Engineering, Agriculture, Business, Automobiles, Electricity, Mechanics, Horses, Drawing. Books on the war, especially the "tales from the trenches"; Wireless Telegraphy and Telephone; Arithmetic, Algebra, Geometry, etc.; Letter-writing (personal and business), filing; Poetry, old and new; Biography, especially autobiography; Travel and History, especially of Western Europe; French conversation books; Popular books in foreign languages.

They do not want out-of-date books on science and technology, nor out-of-date text-books.

They do not want worn-out books of any kind.

They do not want the kinds of books that appeal especially to women.

WHERE TO SEND THE BOOKS

Send your books to the Delaware College Library. From here, they will be forwarded to the State Library Commission at Dover; and from there to the proper government authorities for distribution. If you can't bring or send your books, call Delaware College by telephone or write and your books will be called for. If you wish further information about this movement to supply books to our boys in the service, telephone or write to the Acting Librarian of the college, Dr. W. O. Sypherd.

The main thing is to give at once and give as freely as possible the books which you should like to put in the hands of the men who are fighting for you.

FUNDS NEEDED FOR NEWARK SCHOOLS

Janitor Service and Supplies

The speaker referred to janitor service. With two additional rooms it will be necessary to have an additional janitor. "Two men to take care of a school plant the size of ours, to keep the buildings clean, and look after three or four furnaces, seems a modest request." Mr. Koehler ran hastily through the items making up a bill of $252.50 for janitor's supplies this year, asking those present to criticize and comment as to whether or not the list included any exorbitant or extravagant items. No criticisms were offered. "Only one item it seems to me," Mr. Koehler said, "could be questioned by anyone. I refer to the expenditure of $50.00 for paper towels and liquid soap. I am so thoroughly convinced of the importance of this item, however, that I am ready to take issue upon the subject. Are not habits of cleanliness, illustrated and practiced, better than hours of instruction on hygiene, as set forth in books?"

"Relative to this subject," Mr. Koehler said, "I should like to repeat a bit of actual experience which I had at a school where I previously worked. I had asked the Board to supply sanitary towels and soap, but feeling that the expenditure was unwarranted they had compromised by installing them as an experiment in one building. A short time afterward an immigrant family moved to the neighborhood and a child entered the school. A few days later the children began to scratch, and an investigation revealed the fact that the little newcomer had introduced plain English itch into the school. In the room equipped with sanitary washing appliances the trouble was under control in two or three days; it was perhaps two months before it was out of the other rooms."

Teachers' Salaries

Relative to teachers' salaries Mr. Koehler referred to the fact that changed economic conditions have made it imperative that salaries be substantially increased next year, if the present standard in the teaching force is to be maintained. "Teachers are leaving the profession daily for far more remunerative positions in the commercial world," Mr. Koehler said. "The mails are shot full of literature pulling the teacher away from her profession. Business is going to claim our teachers unless their salaries are increased. One hundred sixty Iowa schools are without teachers; there were fifteen in Delaware a few weeks ago; three training schools of which I know report an enrollment of 50 percent less than last year. Questionnaires, circulated among seniors in leading women's colleges, show an 'anything but teaching' sentiment on the part of the young women. In the course of a brief visit to a Philadelphia business college recently, I witnessed more than six, probably eight, teachers enroll for night work, with the assurance that at the end of three months they would be supplied with positions paying from $1000 to $1200 per year. Certainly we cannot blame the teachers. I have been searching the town this week to find board for a new teacher. To date I have been unable to find anything better than a room at one place, and board at another, at an expenditure of $10.00 per week. After a teacher pays such board and buys a pair of shoes, at the present prices, what is left out of a fifty dollar salary? Our total salary item was $10,000 this year. With four additional teachers and the increased cost of living, there will be an increase here."

The Book Item

About books, Mr. Koehler accepted five books as the average number per pupil, and eighty cents as a fair estimate of the cost per book. The average life of a text book, it has been shown by statistics, is three years. This means that there are in use in the Newark school, about 2700 books. One-third of these or 900 should be purchased, in order to keep the supply up to normal, every year, meaning an estimated expenditure for books of $720 per year. As a matter of fact the records show this item has been running at from $125 to $190 per year. Such a method of retrenchment, however, has been merely putting off the evil day. Trouble, piled up, comes out sooner or later. The present school year about $500 has been expended for books, and this item will be larger next year.

Then the school should have some reference books. This year a number have been put at the disposal of the school by the Women's College, and a new International encyclopedia will be placed in the grammar school by the same college. "And just here, I should like to ask," Mr. Koehler said, "Why do we teach reading in eight grades? The mechanics of reading is usually mastered in three or four years. Is it not to develop a love for reading and an appreciation of good literature? And the method we have pursued for many years has meant certain defeat of our announced purpose. We give our children readers, which they read not once, but again and again, until they grow to hate the sight of the book. Why not have several sets of readers in the school, and let them read the stories once and look forward to each day's reading with interest and delight? The books would last many times as long. There would be no financial waste in the proposition, and we would accomplish the thing we set out to do. The school should have in its budget some stated amount for the purchase of reference books. Let the sum be small if need be, but let it be a fixed sum. We cannot expect to get the things desirable, however, but the things we must have at once."

New Equipment

The necessity of supplying new seats is another problem. Throughout the school this year, there are many broken seats. Counting only those that must be replaced and the equipment necessary for the three new rooms, we shall need approximately 125 new seats. Forty eight chairs, loaned by Delaware College, have been in use this year. These must be replaced. Stools for the purpose will cost $50.00.

School Supplies

Mr. Koehler read from the budget for School Supplies, compiled for next year, asking for comment. A conspicuous item here was "Writing Paper, $110.00." "Do you think this is too high?" he asked. "This means five sheets a week for pupils in the elementary grades (a substitute for the old copy book). Certainly this is not an extravagant item when one considers that the children are taught not to write slowly, as in the past, but rapidly, as they will need to do in later life."

Laboratories Needed

Newark, in order to profit by the Smith-Hughes act, which provides for the salaries of teachers in Home Economics and Agriculture, must provide standard laboratories. The law provides for the expenditure of $500 the first year, and $250 in equipment, the second and third years. The Women's College, in return for practice teaching privileges, has provided the $500 worth for the first year. It is for Newark to decide. Shall this work be continued?

Facts Brought Out in Discussion
At the close of Mr. Koehler's talk, a general discussion followed, in the course of which were brought out these facts:

The budget for next year totals approximately $25,000. In addition to teachers' salaries, the larger items are: Rent for two rooms, (approximate) $250.00; Maintenance, $1,000.00; Operation of School Plant, $2,500.00; Text and Reference Books, $1,200.00 to $1,500.00; Supplies of all sorts, $850.00; Physics or Chemistry, Home Economics and Biology Laboratories, $1,000.00.

Running expenses this year will amount to $15,000, or an expenditure of $25.00 per child. Three years ago our average expenditure was $36 per child. The State estimates $40 per child.

Of the three new rooms needed, one is available in the Grammar School. Two must be supplied.

The total attendance this year has been 563. Next year it will very probably be 645. Rooms are at present over-crowded. One teacher during the first term had 65 pupils.

The total amount of revenue, possible this year from taxation, was $11,700. Taxes amounting to $2,200 are still uncollected. Unless these are collected the board will have to borrow $2,000 before the end of the school year for current expenses.

According to an Act of the Legislature the amount which can be raised by the Newark district by taxation in any one year is limited to $12,000.

As an outcome of the general discussion which followed the disclosure of these facts, a resolution, requesting the Board to have the law limiting the amount to be raised by taxation, repealed at the present special session, was unanimously adopted. C. A. McCue, president of the Board of Education, emphasized the fact that the school problem can never be satis-

RU-BER-OID is the original ready-to-lay roofing, and was for several years the only roofing of this character. Different from and superior to all other prepared roofing, in that RU-BER-OID compounded of gum, an exclusive combination of high-grade, water-proof, acid and fire-resisting ingredients is used in its manufacture. This gum is used in no other roofing. That the first roofs of RU-BER-OID applied in 1892 are still giving satisfactory service is indisputable evidence of unequalled durability. RU-BER-OID contains no rubber. It contains no tar. It contains no paper. It contains no asbestos. It is not an asphalt roofing. RU-BER-OID is tasteless. It is odorless. It can be used on roofs from which drinking water is conserved. RU-BER-OID is fire-resisting. Hot coals thrown on a roof covered with it do not set fire to the fabric, nor to the boarding underneath. RU-BER-OID is a non-conductor of heat. It keeps the heat in in winter, and the heat out in summer. RU-BER-OID will outlast tin, iron or shingles. It has outlasted its upwards of 300 imitations, variously known as "rubber" roofings, "asphalt" roofings, "asbestos" roofings, etc. Put up in rolls 36 inches wide, containing 108 square feet.

COLORED RU-BER-OID possesses all the enduring qualities of the Gray Ru-ber-oid. The attractive colors are permanent—built into the roofing.

COLORED RU-BER-OID is furnished in rolls either 24 inches wide, containing 110 square feet, or 36 inches wide, containing 108 square feet, sufficient to cover one hundred square feet—the extra material being allowed for the two-inch laps.

ANOTHER PROTEST

Congressman Fuller of Massachusetts recently resigned as a member on expenditures of the Interior Department. In his letter to Speaker Clark he said "this committee has had no meeting during the present Congress, excepting one short talk (in this respect I believe it is similar to about half the committees of the House) and so far as I can judge from inquiry and investigation, will have no public business to justify its existence."

"The President is asking our business men to economize and become more efficient, while we continue to be the most inefficient and expensive barnacle that ever attached itself to a ship of state. Could there be a more appropriate time to initiate economy and efficiency in our governmental affairs? I am making this protest against conditions as they are, not merely to make my own position clear, but also with the hope that Congress may soon rid itself of these practices which do not conform to the principles of economy and efficiency in the interests of those we serve."

And thus it goes.

Governor Townsend's Message To The Legislature

past, nations and humanity call us to make those ideals living facts in the present. In a crisis, Delaware has never failed. Now to us, who hold in trust that authority given us, comes the duty to prove ancestry and true fathers of our children.

"To you, I present the responsibility of granting such authority that will meet the reasonable demands and expectations of those in national authority in the administration and conduct of this war.

"The resolution, passed in the closing hours of the session, granting power to the Governor—the full exercise of his judgment in any emergency, shows definitely the temper of our people. With the ring of true patriotism, you offered all that the demands of the hour prophesied. But contrary to all experiences the National Government has found that this war is one of food, supplies, and transportation, rather than one of emergency—defense of our territory. For this work, as wisely outlined, and in present execution, you made no provisions. Not, I am sure, by any lack of interest or co-operation, but merely lack of experience, which this conflict has brought to us. For the actual emergency you did wisely and well. But for the campaign of preparation, nationwide in State co-operation, Delaware is by absence of authority of its legislative body unable to do its rightful part. This is representative, only of a personal interpretation, but of repeated statements of those in national authority. Careful investigation of requests made, inquiries of other States' activities, recognition of the assistance Delaware is able to give, I refrain, no longer from calling you in legislative session. To this end, I urge strictly your careful consideration and favorable action for a State Council of Defense upon a statutory basis, to work in co-operation with the national council which has to do with the mobilization of thoughts and energies of the country, for the successful prosecution of this war. Concisely, this State Council for Delaware will be a war organization, having to do with the development of the State's resources.

"To do this, and to more nearly fill needs of the government, will require the full strength of our man power. Acquaintance with conditions in the State, as well as confirming reports, prompt the unfortunate statement that there are those of our citizens who have thus far failed to do their best or bit. Every able-bodied man is necessary. Thus, included in the authorities granted the Council of Defense, should be that power to enforce a full-time working day on those who now fail to share the burden. Disinclination to work, whether from lack of interest or actual necessity, should not be guarantee of ease in this nation's stress and strain.

"At no time is there a moral excuse for idleness; at this time there should be no legal excuse. Food and materials for our boys and allies in war are so needed that you should make strict and definite provision for making good all the labor available. I bespeak your serious attention to this important phase of the work of the proposed Council.

"The other question which I present for your consideration is that of the proposed amendment to the Constitution of the United States giving Congress certain powers in the manufacture, sale or transportation of intoxicating liquors. With this question the State and nation are familiar. The subject has been a prominent topic of public discussion in this State for the past decade.

You, representing your constituents, are thoroughly familiar with all the various phases of arguments. A dominant issue in every eluding all other questions of oftentimes you will all agree, in campaign for the several years, State interest, it now in the stress of the times can be well considered a war measure. Your recent consideration and events following, show you represent the spirit of the times. I present this all important question of national and world moment for your consideration.

"A moment more. Upon you, gentlemen, rest a grave responsibility. Seldom it is, certainly never in our day, have Delawareans faced such tasks and responsibilities as now before us. That the citizens of our State are meeting them nobly is well attested by the deeds of the past year. Following that, boasted and well-earned pride, our people have held true the States position that of first in the nation's services.

"In the registration for the selective draft, Delaware reported first. That service was given by our citizens without expense to the Government. Our business men, professional men, and farmers have given liberally of their time and wealth. In the Liberty Loans, the War Savings, they have done their allotted share and more.

"In Red Cross work and contributions, Delaware has a nation's admiration. The spirit shown is an inspiration. America still lives in very fact. Our days of business complexity and prosperity have not

PEOPLES' COLUMN

Citizen Remonstrates

Editor of Newark Post:

In the Morning News, of March 5, appears the record of a meeting of the trustees of Delaware College. When their valuable time was spent in the selection of an instructor to make a tour of the State and teach the housewives the art of making cottage cheese, one of the most primitive and easy of dishes to prepare. Doubtless some of the housewives could be of use to their expert; certainly they are capable of taking care of that special part of home production. The vision of that August body must be dimmed if they cannot see vastly more important use for their one hundred dollars a month in the urgent need for greater production of the necessities of life. These are strenuous times when we are appealed to to deny ourselves to buy Thrift Stamps and Liberty Bonds, to help our Government in her noble cause. The response has been most generous but the people will be happiest when wisdom governs the use of government funds, not creating offices that are needless and foolish for the spending of its funds. I confess Cottage Cheese, when carefully made and mixed with cream, is a most tempting dish, but by no means an economical one, when complaints of the shortage of milk and cream are being published almost daily.

About Red Cross Work

The Editor of the Post,
Newark, Del.
My dear Sir:

It is currently reported about Town, when the last 41 drafted men left here, Monday March 4th, that each man was presented with a full Red Cross Kit, including his luncheon. But to the great astonishment of our residents these Kits and luncheons came through and were donated to the men by the Red Cross Chapter of Middletown, Delaware. Up to this time, we were of the opinion that we had a Red Cross Chapter in Newark. I think you will agree with me that our neighboring hamlet, Middletown, which makes no aspirations to culture or higher grades of education and all that goes to make our Town the educational centre of the State, certainly has given our Red Cross Chapter a pointer as to how this work should be done. Just why we can't have a Red Cross Chapter as progressive and wide-awake as there is in our State, can only be considered as the fault of the ladies interested in this work. For the sake of the cause you represent, as well as for the credit of our Town, see to it when the next consignment of drafted men leave Town, that they get all the attention they are entitled to, or we citizens will feel that we should have the Middletown Red Cross Chapter transferred here.

A Lover of Old Newark.

Why Is It?

The Editor of the Post,
Newark, Del.
Dear Sir:

Your remarks in last week's issue, in regard to education matters, together with what is needed in the way of better water supply, better fire protection and a much better lighting system, should meet with the approval of every good citizen of the Town. Surely there should be something done to correct these matters, but do you not think the Board of Education, as well as the Council of our Town who have these matters in charge, are somewhat to blame, for allowing things to get in their present condition. Am I not right?

Progressive.

Nine Tests Of Physical Fitness

The director of athletics at one Army camp has arranged a program as a means of determining the relative athletic caliber of the companies in the division. Each man is required to pass in eight of the following tests to obtain a positive mark for his unit:

Jump 8 feet from a standing position; chin 10 times; clear a bar at 4 feet 2 inches; throw a 12-pound shot 33 feet; climb a 20-foot rope in 15 seconds; dash 50 yards in 7 seconds; run a mile in 6 minutes; lift a 60-pound weight over the head with one hand; sit up from a supine position with a 50-pound weight suspended from the back of the head.

United States 4 per cent bonds in 1888 sold as high as 130 and in 1901 brought 139 1/2 on the stock market.

The United States has never defaulted on any of its bonds. Not one of its bondholders has ever lost a cent of principal or interest except those who voluntarily have taken losses by selling their bonds in a period of temporary price depression. One hundred cents on the dollars, principal and interest, has the United States always paid.

Secretary Houston Appeals To Farmers

In an appeal to the farmers to put their savings into Government War Savings Certificates, Secretary of Agriculture Houston says:

"It is the patriotic duty of every citizen who is in a position to do so to invest in War Savings and Thrift Stamps and thereby help the Nation to win this war. The purchase of even a twenty-five cent Thrift Stamp is a definite contribution to this end.

"War Savings and Thrift Stamps foster the habit of thrift in small expenditures, make it possible for nearly every one to purchase what are in reality small Government bonds, and offer a unique opportunity to the people at once to help their Government and to economize conveniently for the purchase of the best investment securities in the world.

"To win this war we must have both men and money. I know that every farmer wants to do everything in his power for the Nation in this day of trial. He will not only labor to produce the necessary foodstuffs but will also generously contribute of his means to make it possible for the men at the front to achieve victory. I am confident that the farmers of the land will not permit any other class to take the leadership in supporting the Government in this crisis, financially or otherwise."

The purpose of the War Savings Committee is to create an army of savers who will, by saving, release labor and materials for the use of the Government in the war, and who will lend their savings to the Government to prosecute the war.

MR. SIMPKINS PAYS HIS INCOME TAX

By ROBERT McBLAIR.

Mr. Simpkins gazed at the portrait on the wall till his eyes filled with tears. It was a portrait of his father, Colonel Simpkins, who had four times been promoted for valor during the Civil War and had died bravely on the field of action. Mr. Simpkins' throat ached now for two reasons: First, he revered and adored the memory of his father; secondly, his age and his eyes and his game leg wouldn't let him go to war himself. And as he observed the martial bearing and uncompromising gaze of Colonel Simpkins he saw, in imagination, the khaki clad lads of the new generation marching forth and crossing three thousand miles of sea to fight, maybe die, for liberty.

Mr. Simpkins peered around to make sure that neither Bess nor John (who were at the teasing ages of sixteen and seventeen) were where they could see him, then he straightened and threw his right arm up for a salute. But his gaity shoulder twinged, and he groaned. He couldn't even salute.

"Damn!" said Mr. Simpkins, and with his other hand fiercely twisted his white mustaches.

He turned and amped into the library and sat down—reality before the mahogany desk on which were lying the blanks for his income tax statement, blanks which he had rather grumpily got from the Internal Revenue officer only that day after luncheon on his way home from the club.

Mr. Simpkins' income for 1917 had amounted to just about $15,000, and he had been rather snappy on the subject of taxes ever since he had discovered that the more income a man has the greater the percentage of it he pays in taxes. He could think of several men who, like himself, were married and had two children, and yet, although their incomes were nearly half of his, they would pay only a small fraction of the amount he paid. He gloomily drew the blank nearer and began filling in the information that it asked for.

As Mr. Simpkins' income was $15,000 he had to figure out the amounts payable on each of the successive smaller classes of incomes in order to arrive at the total due from himself. He passed over the first class which must pay taxes, that is, single men making over 1,000. His calculation for married men then showed up as follows:

First, they pay 2 per cent. (under the 1916 law) on all income over $4,000, deducting $200 for each of their children under eighteen years. In Mr. Simpkins' case this was $212, which he put down in the "payable" column.

He saw next that, under the 1917 law, married men pay an additional 2 per cent. on all over $2,000—with the same allowance for children. This added $252 to his "payable" column.

He then observed that for every $2,500 jump in his income over $5,000 he had to pay a Surtax, the percentage growing larger with each jump. This was $250 more added to his burden. And on top of all this came an "Excess Profits" tax of 8 per cent. on all "occupation" income over $6,000, making $720 more.

The total, then, he must pay was fourteen hundred and thirty-four dollars.

"Whew!" exclaimed Mr. Simpkins angrily. "There's young Henry Wilkins, who married Jake Johnson's girl, he makes $2,000 and he doesn't pay a cent of taxes. I guess this is his war as well as mine!"

Thinking of young Henry Wilkins, he remembered that Mrs. Wilkins went every afternoon to make bandages for the Red Cross and that Henry, who was a lawyer, was adding the Local Draft Board with its questionnaires. "Well," he admitted to himself, "that makes a difference."

He thought next of Judge Willoughby, whose income was about $3,000.

"He only pays $20," commented Mr. Simpkins, not quite so angrily this time; and then a thought struck him and he sat up rigidly in his chair.

Judge Willoughby's son had been drowned on the Tuscania when it was submerged with the loss of two hundred soldiers.

"Judge Willoughby gave his son to America," muttered Mr. Simpkins. He leaned forward suddenly and put his face in his hands.

For a long time Mr. Simpkins sat very still in that position. There was no sound in the library except the ticking of the tall clock and an occasional trill of laughter from the children skylarking upstairs. The square of light on the carpet gradually withdrew itself through the window, and first twilight and then darkness settled in about the quiet, white haired, sometimes irascible old man.

Mr. Simpkins was thinking things which he would never utter a word of, he was thinking things that were too sacred ever to be put into words. But some inkling of his thoughts may be found in his rejoinder to Mrs. Simpkins when that placid lady came in and turned on the lights, and asked him whether he was ready for dinner. "Judge Willoughby's only son was worth as much as fourteen hundred and thirty-four dollars, wasn't he?" Mr. Simpkins demanded of her.

As his wife, who was not unused to his superficial irritations, watched him in mild astonishment, Mr. Simpkins limped out to the hall and took his old felt hat and silver-headed cane from the hat rack. Letting himself out into the foggy evening, he tapped his way down to the corner and mailed his income tax statement and check with his own hands.

"Now, God be thanked," said Mr. Simpkins as the lid clanked shut over his missive, "I can do this much for my country, anyhow."

News Items From The Women's College Open Night

Last Saturday night was a gay time at the college. It being open night, Mrs. Virginia J. Lattomus, of Wilmington, the guest of Miss Hilda Stevens, gave a series of readings and impersonations, which were enthusiastically received by the audience. First she read a little story called "The Second Trial," and for an encore gave an impersonation of a small boy complaining of having to go to school. Then Miss Kathryn Stevens played, after which Mrs. Lattomus sang "The Necklace of Love" and "Mighty Lak a Rose" by Nevin, and following the songs, and impersonation of a matinee girl. For an encore she gave a pianologue, "The Tin Gee-Gee." She next contrasted two types of small boys, by impersonating a cheerful little cripple and an imish youngster of seven. Finally she sang "Good-night, Little Girl, Good-night." When Mrs. Lattomus refused to answer the continued applause except to bow, Miss Winslow announced that dancing would be in order the rest of the evening.

Sophomore Class Party

Saturday night the Sophomores at the Women's College had a "spread." The infirmary was chosen as the largest room for the affair, and as it is now used as a dormitory the residents gladly offered it. "The eats were heavenly," so the girls declared, and the menu, for war-time, seemed to justify the extravagant adjective. It consisted of fruit salad, olive maze, sandwiches, cake, and ice cream.

Chapel Exercises

The Red Cross held a meeting in chapel Monday when various members gave pithy sentences and live-wire reasons for joining the Red Cross. Perhaps these arguments, added to the efficient work of the twelve captains and the cheery encouragement of Miss Beckett, had their effect, for at the end of the drive forty-five new members had been added to the original sixty.

Tuesday Dr. Manns of Delaware

College, gave a talk on the "Humble Forms of Natural Life," showing how each has its place in the making of our universe.

Wednesday Miss Anna Beebe of Lewes, brought to the students some interesting notes on the life "Over There" by reading some selections from the letters from her brother who is with the medical corps in France.

On Thursday morning Professor T. Leslie Carpenter lead the students in singing. The time was given to patriotic songs, and the girls sang with enthusiasm. This all-college singing will occur once a week throughout the spring.

Mrs. W. E. Holton, whose music is always a source of delight to the students, gave a short program on Friday morning.

Play at the Women's College

"The Fairies of Kilmarnock," a comedy of Irish peasant life interspersed with scenes of fairy fantasy, will be presented at the Women's College of Delaware on two successive evenings, March 15 and 16, by the college Dramatic Club. Admission will be by special invitation only, the College acting as host on Friday and the Dramatic Club on Saturday.

The play is by Dr. John Robert Moore, and it is being staged with the cooperation of at least half of the entire student body and faculty. The lighting devices, costumes, stage appointments, and even the tickets and programs are being designed and made by students and instructors.

The scenes are laid as follows: Act I, Scene I, a hedge before the Wood of Kilmarnock; Act I, Scene II, Kilmarnock Green during a May day festival; Act II, Scenes I and II, a hedge before the Wood of Kilmarnock.

The story of the play is centered about Kitty Corcoran, the little goose girl whose kindness the fairies reward by straightening her crooked back. Maureen MacCarthy, the hunchback shepherd boy, tries to secure a similar reward, but irritates the fairies so by his insolence that they add Kitty's hump to the one he already wears. When Kitty learns that Maureen is carrying her burden upon his twisted back, she agrees to sacrifice her future to take care of him, "for that has been the way of all of us women folk, since the beginning of all the world."

The play is being directed by Dr. John Robert Moore, and the dancing by Miss Mary D. Bigelow.

The cast is as follows: Peasants—Misses Margaret Wilson, Elizabeth Houston, Lura Shorb, Ruth Clendaniel, Elizabeth Dawson, Helen Bancroft, Anna Scott, Ann VanSant, Katherine Stevens, Margaret Layton, Catherine Fletcher, May-pole dancers—Misses Mary Moss, Marion Graffin, Margaret Groves, Mary Davis, Hilda Stevens, Dora McElwain, Elizabeth Houston, Emily Frazer, Elizabeth F. ## SHOP TALK

BE SURE---THEN GO AHEAD

"A MAN once ordered his tailor to make him a suit of clothes," says the Paragapher in the February number of his publication. "When the cloth was cut and basted the tailor called his customer on the 'phone and asked him to come in and try on the suit."

"Oh, I've changed my mind about that suit," replied the other. "I've decided to make this one I have on last me for another season. Anyhow, I don't much care about the pattern you showed me the other day—it isn't snappy enough. Much obliged, but you may just cancel that order and call it off."

"Now, do you suppose that the tailor meekly abided by this instruction, pocketed his loss and said cheerfully: 'That's all right, Mr. Dresser, no trouble at all. You must be the judge, of course. If you don't like it, we're sorry. But when you are again in the market we hope that you will give us another chance.'"

"Assuredly not. Yet this is exactly what many a buyer of printing expects of his printer under like circumstances, and unfortunately there have been printers weak enough and foolish enough to accept such treatment not only with meekness and humility, but with an abject surrender that would seem to concede that such a course of conduct was altogether proper.

"Somehow the printing business has never succeeded in gaining from the public the same recognition that is accorded to other lines of manufacturing and merchandising. Many a business man looks with frank amazement at the printer who would dispute his right to cancel an order, provided the impressions of the type are not actually inked upon the paper. That a big part of the cost of an ordinary printing job comes before the presses begin their work, is often ignored."

Mr. Business-man, learn this fact. It will save money for yourself.
