STATE OF DELAWARE
EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT

April 19, 1937.

To the Honorable, the Members of
The House of Representatives,
106th General Assembly.

Gentlemen:

In the State House in Dover on Friday, December 7th, 1787, there assembled another group of Delaware citizens. In one day they approved, assented to, ratified and confirmed the Constitution of the United States. We, of today, give great credit to that First Assembly of the First State to ratify and sign the Constitution. I do not wish to withhold any praise for the work that was consummated by that organization long ago.

You, gentlemen of the present Assembly, have considered many bills, most of which were very important to our well-being and to the successful operation of our form of Government.

The electorate of Delaware in the various districts made no mistake in their selection of the men to represent them in the halls of our Legislative Building. You have spent many hours, considering the measures that have been presented by your constituents that we may go forward in the immediate years, our property, our lives, and our fortunes properly safeguarded.

Your earnest endeavors, your non-partisan attitude can be looked upon by future Legislators with respect and a desire on their part to emulate you during their term of office, and I wish to express my official and personal thanks for your cooperation.
