Study of University Needs Advised

At a meeting last Saturday of the Trustees of the University of Delaware, the trustees received the recommendation of President Carlson that studies be undertaken immediately to determine the future physical needs in all the University's departments and areas of activity. "We should begin to plan soon not only for 1948-49, but for the long-range program, especially concerning instruction and housing as to new buildings, building alterations, boiler plant capacity, and electric and steam distribution lines," he told the board.

Dr. Carlson commented that the University had been hard-pressed to provide adequate physical facilities for an enrollment more than double the pre-war peak, and said an increase "appears on the horizon" for 1948-49. Enrollment in universities will not, according to all predictions, drop back to anywhere near the pre-war level after next year, the president said. On the contrary, the trustees were informed, further increases are anticipated beginning in 1956.

Dr. Carlson reported that the present all-time peak undergraduate enrollment of 2,149 is 26 per cent higher than at the start of the 1946-47 academic year. In addition, he pointed out, there are 365 graduate students, 1,013 persons enrolled in Academic Extension courses, and 1,500 in the Summer Session. Altogether, the president said, the U. of D. now is providing instruction for more than 5,000 students, and allowing for some duplications, the total certainly is over 4,000 individuals.

"We apparently have passed the peak of the influx of veterans," Dr. Carlson said. "We have 1,163 veterans now, and their percentage in the student body is 64, or some 6

L. Laskaris to Talk On Sunday, Jan. 11

An exhibition of drawings and paintings by students of Amedee Ozenfant, one of the leading teachers of modern painting in America, now is being shown at the Art Gallery of the University of Delaware's Memorial Library, where Leo Laskaris, a Delaware alumnus who is a student of Ozenfant, will lecture on Sunday evening, at 8 o'clock.

Mr. Laskaris, talking on "Expressive Form," will use the exhibition to emphasize and explain his points, and, according to Miss Harriet Bailly, chairman of the Art Department, his lecture will stimulate an understanding of the exhibition.

Mr. Laskaris, a native of Newark who was graduated from the University of Delaware in 1939, when he was elected to membership in Phi Kappa Phi, honorary scholarship fraternity, has selected the exhibited work from various students of Mr. Ozenfant. One complete wall in the Art Gallery is devoted to drawings and paintings by Mr. Laskaris. Some of the work represented, however, has been done under a different influence from that of Mr. Ozenfant, and the exhibition presents certain contrasts.

In announcing that the exhibition, which opened Jan. 5, would continue until Jan. 16, Miss Bailly stressed that Mr. Ozenfant's teaching is based on an intellectual approach and a philosophy and aesthetic experience, basic to all great art. His philosophy of teaching, and its affect on different students, will be discussed by Mr. Laskaris, who has been studying at the Ozenfant School of Fine Arts in New York City since leaving the Army. Prior to that, Mr. Laskaris studied at the Chicago Art Institute after being graduated from Delaware.

The lecture, as well as the exhibition, will be open to the public.

New Fellowships To Be Awarded

A number of new fellowships in the various fields of chemistry related to biological problems have been announced by Dr. Ellice McDonald, Director Biochemical Research Foundation, and Dr. William A. Mosher, chairman of the Department of Chemistry, University of Delaware. Holders of the new fellowships will conduct independent research on the regular problems of the Foundation under the direction of senior staff members of the two institutions and will carry courses at the University, which will award the Ph.D. degree on satisfactory completion of requirements.

The Biochemical Research Foundation, located adjacent to the University campus, is continuing its program of many years directed at the basic problems of normal and abnormal cellular growth. The Foundation, which recently completed an extensive investigation on the biological effects of irradiation for the Manhattan project, is one of the best-equipped laboratories in the nation for the application of the physical sciences to biological problems. Its heavy equipment includes a cyclotron, Tiselius electrophoresis apparatus, ultra-centrifuge, quartz microscope, X-ray irradiation equipment and the usual items and services standard to well supplied organizations.

Present fields of research activity include biochemistry of nucleic acids and sulfur compounds, synthesis of biologically active compounds containing tracer elements, enzymology, metabolic studies, effect of irradiation on cellular and systemic chemistry, molecular size and shape studies of tissue proteins under various conditions, and chemical and physical problems related to cancer.

Stipends for 12 months under the fellowships are $1,800 with vacation privileges. Applicants should hold

Athletic Council Releases Varsity Schedule for '48

Members of Staff Attend Meetings

Five members of the History department of the University of Delaware attended meetings of the American Historical Association in Cleveland, Ohio, from December 27 through December 30, 1947. The delegates, led by Dr. Henry Clay Reed, were: Dr. Walther Kirchner, Dr. John Munroe, Mr. E. E. Kraeche, and the Rev. Dr. John W. Christie, an instructor in church history at the University's extension division.

Dr. Christie, pastor of Westminster Presbyterian Church, Wilmington, lectured on church history and also presented a paper on "The Life and Work of George Bourne," at a session of the American Society of Church History which met concurrently with the historical association.

Dr. Munroe also attended meetings of the Association of State and Local History Societies in Cleveland.

Dr. Felix Oppenheim, assistant professor of political science, and Mr. Paul Dolan, instructor, attended the annual meeting of the American Political Science Association in Washington, D. C.

A meeting of the Athletic Council of the University of Delaware shortly before the Christmas holidays culminated in the release of varsity and freshman athletic schedules for the spring sports and for varsity football in 1948.

The only marked deviation from the 1947 grid card finds the Blue Hens travelling to Rollins College, in Florida, for the longest regular season jaunt ever to be made by a Delaware gridiron club. The Hens will meet the Tars, whom they defeated in the 1947 Cigar Bowl game in Tampa, on November 13. The Franklin and Marshall Diplomats have been removed from the card to make way for the insertion of the Rollins aggregation.

Pennsylvania Military College, a traditional Hen rival, will again provide the opposition in the curtain-raiser, which will be staged in Wilmington Park. Other home games will find Maryland, Bucknell, Muhlenberg, and Washington and Lee furnishing the competition. Besides Rollins, Western Maryland and Gettysburg will be met on opponents' ground.

The council also approved a baseball schedule which includes 15 games already, and with several open dates remaining to be filled with southern colleges to be met during the annual southern trip of the diamonders.

Schedules have also been announced for Delaware track, tennis, and golf teams for 1948.

Simultaneous with the release of the athletic schedules, the Athletic Council announced the names of varsity letter winners for the fall sports. Twenty-six Blue Hen grid-

I wish to thank all the students who cooperated with us by voting in our referendum last month. You gave us good support in spite of the short time we had in which to complete it. However, after having passed our school finance committee, we learned that the VA could not make any amendments to their contract with the school. Their contract is on a yearly basis and we had hoped for the raise to go into effect in February. Consequently, there will be no raise, and we will not be able to carry out some of the plans we had made.

We have contacted many other colleges in this area to find out about their student government activities fee, yearbook, etc. With this information, plus the help of some of our faculty, we hope to organize our entire financial set-up. Then in future years it will be possible to have the kind of activities on our campus that any university of our size should have.

The following is our proposed budget for the current school year:

Blue Hen Clubs	$4,000.00
----------------	------------

Agriculture; A.I.Ch.E., A.I.E.E., A.S.M.E., Augustan Society, Cheer Leaders, D.S.C.A., International Relations, Inter-Varsity Christian Fellowship, Home Ec, Math, R.S.S.O., and Yacht Clubs	675.00
Cauldron	1,200.00
E 52 Players	1,800.00
Freshman Handbooks and Buttons	975.00
Music Department (Band)	200.00
Men's and Women's Affairs
Social activities including the informal dances, Thanksgiving Dance, Christmas Formal, Junior Prom, Freshman Formal, Sophomore Hop, Senior Dance, May Day Dance, Women's College May Day Committee, and the various student activities.	2,500.00

University Hour	750.00
Student Government Association	650.00
Total	$18,250.00

By WILLIAM M. BERGMAN, 3RD

January 8 to 17th, 1948

January 8th to 10th will be fair and cold but increasing cloudiness will occur on the evening of the 10th. The 11th will have snow which will change to rain. Clearing and colder weather will occur on the 12th. The 13th will be clear and cold. The 14th to 16th will be a mild period with temperatures above average.

TO EACH HIS OWN

By JACK BEACH

THE MERITS OF A PIPE An interesting thing to behold is the meeting of two pipe smokers. Each eyes the other's pipe to appraise it for construction, style, and value. This is usually followed by a conversation pertaining to pipe tobacco.

"What kind do you smoke? How much is it? Why do you smoke it? It stinks. Here, have some of mine."

Being in a friendly mood—a friendly mood seems to go with a pipe—each knocks out his pipe and refills with the other's blend. Smoke fills the air. A subdued cough or two can be heard and each wears a critical expression on his face. Finally, the more forward of the two will express contempt for the other's taste in tobacco. He will knock out his pipe and refill it with his own blend and walk away disdainfully.

Now this is not true with cigarette smokers. A typical meeting of two cigarette smokers is a much simpler procedure.

"Hey, got a cigarette? Thanks." No mention of brands. No mention of aroma. No mention of flavor. Sometimes, no mention of thanks.

Obviously, to avoid controversy, the thing to do is to avoid smoking a pipe. But this is not an easy matter. At some time or other, someone will present you with a pipe. This leaves no other recourse than to smoke it, especially in the presence of the person who gave it to you.

Once you are saddled with a pipe, the expenses begin to mount.

First you buy a pound of tobacco, then a pouch, then a pipe lighter, then pipe cleaners, then another pipe, then a pipe rack, then a humidor, and so on until you have to find a means of supplementing your income in order to be able to afford to smoke.

Years ago, pipes were considered objectionable because the men who smoked them often exasperated. The modern generation, however, has learned to eliminate this. We are not quite sure whether this means that they have learned to swallow more often, or whether the latest model pipes are not as leaky, or soupy, or whatever you call wet in pipe smoker's language. At any rate smoking seems to be quite the thing on campuses from coast to coast. It wouldn't be too surprising to see some Co-ed sporting a chartreuse Kaywoodie with matching tobacco pouch and bobby socks.

After much deliberation, I decided that there must be something to this pipe smoking, so I bought a pipe and a pound of tobacco. At present, I am becoming more and more adept at rolling cigarettes made with pipe tobacco, but I'm not sorry I made the investment. The pipe serves many purposes around the Frat house. I use it as a door jamb, a hammer, a chisel, a wedge for a wobbly table, and a bludgeon. What else would be so multi-purposed a gadget and only cost $2.98?

LETTERS WE NEVER FINISHED READING

Dear Jack,

I sort of thought that you might be interested in knowing what happens to the REVIEW after you publish it. Well, somehow a copy found its way down to our chicken farm and since Ma and Pa don't do much reading it just laid around the house quite a spell.

Then one day I heard Ma calling from out back that we was out of Sears and Roebuck Catalogs. Well sir, I happened to notice the REVIEW lying there so. . .

Dear Sir:

Did you ever hear the joke about the dirty windowpane? Well, you couldn't see through it anyway! Ha, Ha! I bet you're still laughing.

Well, there's plenty more where that came from, and for ten dollars I'm going to send you. . .

Dear Sir:

In your last article I couldn't help but notice several inaccuracies. I therefore feel that it is my duty to call these errors to your attention. Naturally if you are not going to except these criticisms in the proper spirit, you have to read no further. . .

Shakespeare Contest—There was a young man from Delaware Who asked another young fellow where He could find a cute gal Said the guy, "Listen pal Finish this limerick and see your name in print. The winner will receive a complete Easter vacation with no expenses paid.

Bob Brodie wearing that high hairdo. "Dave" Davison's weekold beard. "Chaplain" Downes' innocent expression. The new waitress at the State—her name is Gladys if you're interested. Open Letter to Student Body

TO THE STUDENT BODY:

In recent years, throughout the country a marked tendency among spectators at Athletic events is to display unsportsmanlike conduct toward officials and visiting teams. Though conditions at the University of Delaware in this respect are not considered to be worse than at other institutions, we think they might be improved.

When officials and visiting teams appear on our campus, they come at the invitation of the University. It is our duty as good hosts to make their visit as pleasant as possible. If we are willing to make a special effort, we can establish Delaware as a "grand place to visit." Such a reputation will help considerably in all our athletic relationships. Anything that we can do to improve the feeling that others have for our University reflects in the pride that you will have as a student and later as an alumnus of this school.

Above everything, we want our students behind our team. We want their vigorous and vociferous support. Our boys will play a better game if they know you are there. Yell, cheer, whoop and holler to urge them to win. Booing officials or visitors, aside from being discourteous, is wasteful effort. Use that energy to cheer for your team.

W. D. MURRAY, Athletic Director.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

We, the officers of the Junior Class, wish to take this way to publicly thank all those whose services made the Fashion-Variety show a huge success.

We especially want to thank and congratulate Jean Potts, Scotty Murdock, Bill Conrad and Ray McCarthy, who gave so much of their time and energy and did such a wonderful job.

To the girls who took part in the fashion show, also, we wish to extend thanks. A good deal of the applause must go, too, to the grand bunch that graciously contributed their talents to making the variety part of the program a grand success.

To Milt Isaacs and Janey Gordon for handling the ticket sales despite several snarled up messes. And to Virginia Smith for handling the advertising, also go our thanks.

The entire evening, we believe, did more than just entertain and help to raise funds for the Junior Weekend. It showed clearly what can be accomplished on the University of Delaware campus when the various factions work together for a single purpose.

We feel certain that all who saw the show join with us in saying to all the participants, "Well done."

The Poet's Corner

TO 1948

Dedicated to

Nancy "Ski Nose" McQuaid

Stop and hear, the bells are ringing,
Drowning sighs from out the past;
Hear them clang as Time comes bringing Joyful New Year in at last.

Yet forever are we seeking
For the things we cannot find,
And forever softly speaking
Of the past that's left behind.

So, should the presence of tomorrow
Find a portion of despair,
Smile, and from the future borrow
Strength, that comes from this our prayer:

Give us Hope to meet tomorrow
Better than we met today,
And with firmness cast out sorrow
In the brilliance of each day.

Give us courage in disaster
As we seek the Guiding Light,
And with wisdom let us master
Myst'ries lurking in the night.

By DON REYNOLDS

The Blue Hens got a royal reception in the schnowy northland over the holidays. Lack of any pre-game practice sessions between their departure from local scenes and their arrival on Detroit's Michigan State Fair Grounds court, was the biggest reason the high-stepping Brunanskymen dropped their tilt with big-time Lawrence Tech in the Motor City. It was a different story when the Hens surprised the Buffalo U. courtmen three nights later. The Delaware nomads had an afternoon workout before they took the floor in the first half of the Buffalo Coliseum's double-bill, and the difference showed in the outcome.

The highlight of the trek came when big Gus Seaburg, trainer extraordinaire and chauffeur of one of the three vehicles which bore the fifteen Hen standard-bearers, hit a bad curve and blew out a tire. Julie Hoffstein, number one back-seat driver, just curled around the rear left wheel and the ensemble went on to Detroit.

Big George Hitchens flashed form which had been expected of him against Buffalo Saturday night, and turned in the game's top defensive role. Barney Runcie found his eye, especially from the foul stripe, and broke over the double-figure barrier for the first time in the young campaign in the same struggle.

Tom Walsh, paunch entrepreneur of Delaware cage troops, found that the western grub agreed with his waistline. Wheezy added no less than eleven pounds to his portly stature during the jaunt.

Maryland's Lu "Bambino" Gambino carried the Maryland Terp banner almost by himself, and accounted for all three touchdowns in Jim Tatum's boys' Gator Bowl deadlock with Georgia's Bulldogs. Earl Roth, a Wilmington boy in Terp moleskins this year, averaged a cool 44 yards per try on his punts in the same bowl, but also provided a costly fumble in the game's waning minutes. Hen grid tutor Bill Murray scouted the contest, and was a guest star during the half with the broadcaster. The Hens will face Maryland next fall in Wilmington Park. The grid schedule has been approved and released, and it appears that the four best contests on the card will be staged in the Wilmington coliseum. Muhlenberg, Bucknell, and Washington and Lee are slated to perform before the local fans as well as the Marylanders.

Saturday's court fest with the Swarthmore Garnet in the Field House should determine the locals' fate in the Southern Division of the Middle Atlantic States' Conference race. The Red and Black passers took the honors last year, but we're calling the Hens the best in the pack this winter. Ursinus, Drexel, P.M.C. and Haverford are other Divisional foes of the Blue and Gold. Speaking of the Drexel Techsters, Bob "Knobby" Knox, one-time A.I. duPont, in Wilmington, star who has been one of the best semi-pro courtmen in Wilmington for quite a few years, is now in Dragon garb.

We see where Harry Mackin, a sharp thorn in the Blue and Gold gridders' sides last fall while halfbacking for Benny Schwartzwalder's Muhlenberg College gridders, is still running, but this time in short pants. Mackin is one of the leading point men on the Mules' big-time collegiate basketball five this winter. He's helping Harry Donovan—Mule All-American—in keeping the Red and Gray passers, who copped the Middle Atlantic crown last winter in the playoffs held in the Field House, in the running for New York's big NCAA and Invitation tournaments to be staged in March.

Cheers to Max Kurman for his terrific job in the staging of the intra-mural boxing tournament before the holidays. The show, we hope, will set a precedent which will be followed in years to come, and was heartily enjoyed by the some 800 odd fans who viewed it in the Field House. While all the bouts were fast and furious, the "fight-of-the-month" ribbon goes to the Jimmy Collins-Tony Salerno fracas. The two talented heavies really went at it, and only a last round knock-down swung the decision in the favor of the more experienced Collins. Louis and Walcott had nothing on the two Training House belters!

We see where three Ohio State gridders were grabbed by the Cleveland Browns of the pro-grid All-America Conference with another year of eligibility left. The junior big league is still at it. Last year Paul Hart and Buck Thompson penned AAC contracts with the Los Angeles Dons while they still had collegiate eligibility.

Speaking of Thompson, big Buck dropped in on Newark last weekend. The former stellar end with the Blue Hens has already won the heart of rabid Brooklynesse fandom. Buck played this year with the Brooklyn Dodgers, after shifting from Los Angeles to Chicago to Flatbush. Thompson is touted as one of the outstanding prospects in the loop, and called a real comer by some of the top New York writers. He'll be back in school in February to work toward his Phys. Ed. degree.

A private interview with Delaware's giant guards Julie Hoffstein and Reds "Spew" Dini. McFadden reveals that these two defensive stalwarts had the situation well in hand during the trip. Now we don't like to let the cat out of the bag, but "Side Order" Hoffstein claims that his old pal and roommate "Spew" Dini (not to be confused with the amateur Houdini) kept him awake by talking in his sleep continually. His frantic cries of "Hey Ace, pass the ball, I'll shoot!" disturbed him no end.

Henhouse

Down at the south end gym, a large turnout of girls have been warming up on the basketball court during W.A.A. hours. Warming the nets with great accuracy are Jean Cameron, a protege of Jules Hoffstein, Bobbie Mitchell, and Sally Woolleyhan. All seem to have knocked the lid off the hoop and are living up to their past performances.

The Freshmen have many fine prospects representing their class, and should have a squad capable of giving the upper classmen a good run for their money.

There's still room for more at the Tuesday and Thursday sessions, which are held in the Women's gym at 4:00 p.m.

A fast intra-mural loop will be set up, and a wide open race looms for title honors.

Court League Will Open Mon., Jan. 12

The Intra-Mural basketball league will begin on Monday, January 12, in the Field House. Coach Kurman announced that all entries, including rosters, must be in his hands on Friday, January 9, and the schedules will be available the day the season starts.

Coach Kurman and Intra-Mural prexy "Monk" Runcie are hoping for a large number of teams in order to have two, and possibly three leagues, with a final playoff to determine the intra-mural championship. The defending champions are Sigma Phi Epsilon fraternity, who will floor another strong team in an effort to retain the title. However, you can expect plenty of competition from other campus quintets. The inter-fraternity cup, now held by Theta Chi, will also be put on the line next Monday.

Del. Quintet Bows To Lawrence Tech

A sharp-shooting Lawrence Tech quintet led by their captain, Norm Hankins, dealt the University of Delaware their third defeat of the season as they came from behind to win by a 66 to 49 score at the Michigan State Fair Grounds in Detroit on Wednesday, Dec. 31.

The Delaware five gained an early advantage, and were leading at the end of the first quarter by a score of 17 to 16. At halftime they had increased their lead to 25-22 due to some deadly shooting by Gerry Bowlus and Reds McFadden, two ex-Sallies stars. In the second half, however, All-American Norm Hankins and his teammates took over the lead from the tired Delaware squad. Hankins rolled up 35 points with his deadly shooting. The speedy six-foot forward worked out of the pivot most of the time and proved to be a little too much for the Delaware defense.

The Brunansky-coached quintet showed the effects of a long road trip and the lack of practice, but gave a creditable performance, and probably would have won had it not been for Mr. Hankins. Bowlus and McFadden led the team in scoring with 11 and 13 points respectively.

Buffalo Upset by Fighting Hen Five

The Delaware Blue Hens caught fire in the final period after trailing most of the way, to drive to a 46 to 43 victory over a favored Buffalo University team at the Municipal Auditorium in Buffalo on Saturday, January 3.

The Hens were paced by the fine play of William "Monk" Runcie, who dumped in 12 points while also playing a fine floor game. The Delaware boys showing a definite improvement over their game in Detroit, three days previous, took over the lead late in the game, and then held on to the ball to gain their second victory of the season and an even split in their Christmas road games.

A crowd of over 9,000 fans were on hand to witness the contest, and the Delaware players got a big hand for their hustling brand of play.

Hen Quintet Drops First League Game

In their first league game of the year, the Delaware Blue Hens dropped a heartbreaker to Drexel Tech in Philadelphia, on Wednesday night, by a 57-55 score.

The Hens were handed their fourth loss in six games when Jules Schwab tossed in a last second field goal for the Dragons. Vic Wood and Gerry Bowlus were the high scorers for Delaware with 17 and 11 points respectively.

In the preliminary contest the Delaware freshmen team downed the Drexel J.V.'s by a score of 66-48. Jim Middleton racked up 14 points for the winning team.

Delaware to Meet Swarthmore Five

This Saturday night the up-and-coming University of Delaware Blue Hens will meet a powerful threat in the Garnet of Swarthmore College, at the Field House.

This Swarthmore squad is practically the same group of ball-players who stomped all over the Hens on two different occasions last year. They did suffer a big loss when last year's captain, Fuzzy Fausnaugh, graduated; however, Jim Reilly, Dick Unger and several other starters from last year's squad have returned to give the Pennsylvania lads a talented and experienced quintet. Reilly, a graduate of Central High School of Philadelphia, is the high-scoring punch for the Garnet and Black, and is especially deadly with his pivot shot. This 6'3" sophomore is one of the youngest players on the team, and is consistently on top in the scoring column.

Swarthmore also has a fine defensive guard in Unger, who is a fine playmaker, and usually gets the job of guarding the opponent's top-scoring threat. The Swarthmore team with the exception of Unger is quite tall, and Delaware will again be at a disadvantage in that department.

Coach Joe Brunansky will probably start Captain Gerry Bowlus and Barney Runcie at the forwards, Vic Wood or Bill Nash at center, and Reds McFadden and either Billy Cole or Julie Hoffstein at the guards. Nash, McFadden and Hoffstein have recovered from the injuries which had been bothering them, and will definitely strengthen the Blue Hens' attack.

This Delaware squad could very easily go on to win the conference title—providing they can knock over the Garnet quintet. The Hens will also be seeking revenge for the two defeats handed them by this team last year. If the Hens can defeat Swarthmore, they will have gotten past the biggest obstacle in winning the conference championship.

Coach Bob Seiman's freshman squad will play their second game of the season in the preliminary game, when they meet the Swarthmore Frosh. The Hen yearlings have done a lot of work since their first game in the hope that they might iron out some of the wrinkles in their defense which was definitely weak in their game with Brown Prep nearly a month ago.

Swimming Team to Resume Activities

The University swimming team will resume activities after a holiday layoff with their first home meet of the year this Saturday in Taylor Pool at 4 p.m. The bulk of Harry Rawstrom's mermen spent a good part of the holidays in the Wilmington "Y" pool keeping the sharp edge for the Diplomat clash, and Rawstrom expects his fish to break into the win column for the first time this season.

A bit of cheer was added this week with the return of Captain Bob Cofer. Cofer sustained a back injury in the inter-mural football league and missed the West Chester meet. John Bishop, the top dash man on the squad, is out for the season, and Hugh Dougherty, distance man, probably won't be ready for another month. Rawstrom, however, has a knack of moulding talent, and even with a rather injury-ridden squad, is hopeful for a win Saturday.

Jack Smith, Guy Tracy and John Macadam will handle the distance chores, with Jim Baird, Hank Lewis, Bob Kelleher and Cofer holding up the dash events. Buddy Grier and Don Harting will be the first Hens to compete on the new diving board, while Lew Ward in the backstroke, and Jim Crumlish and Sam Frankel in the breast stroke round out the probable starters.

Rawstrom's promising frosh team, victors over West Chester in their only meet, will also see action, with the varsity and frosh meets run on a combined basis.

Gwendolyn Crawford, Dean of Women, University of Delaware.

Dean Tells Her Wedding Plans

Although everyone knows by now that after this term, Dean Crawford will be known as Mrs. A. Randle Elliott, you probably haven't heard all the details about how "she" met "him" and about the Dean's wedding plans.

The Dean met Mr. Elliott at President Carlson's Inauguration Dinner, October 26, 1946. (N.B. The Dean remembers the date.) Mr. Bush gets at least part of the credit for this romance since it was he who made the seating arrangements for the banquet. Mr. Elliott represented the Institute of International Education and was at that time Administrator of the D. C. Bureau. Mr. Elliott comes from St. Louis, Missouri, and graduated from Westminster College at Fulton, Missouri. He took two degrees in Political Science at Harvard and then taught International Law at Harvard and Radcliffe. He was connected with the Foreign Policy Association as a Research Associate and then with the Institute of International Education. During the war, he was an economic analyst for the strategic bomb survey of Germany. He was also in the Military Government, a Port Officer under General Clay. In September of this year he joined the McGraw-Hill Publishing Company and was sent to London to be in charge of the World News Office there. He will also be reporting for Business Week Magazine. Mr. Elliott says that he likes Delaware very much. He had visited here before in connection with the University's Foreign Study Program.

Dean Crawford will be married at the end of this term in the auditorium of Wilson College. Mrs. Lanier, wife of Dr. Lanier of the foreign department, will be one of the bridesmaids. Of course no interview with a bride-to-be would be complete, at least from the feminine viewpoint, without a description of the wedding gown. Dean Crawford's gown is of white shimmer satin with long sleeves and a yoke of Chantilly lace. The skirt has unpressed pleats and there is a bustle and a long train. She will also wear an heirloom veil of Chantilly lace. She will carry a white Bible with orchids on it and some Duchess lace from her mother's wedding gown will be around the Bible. The Maid and Matron of Honor will wear peacock blue and the four bridesmaids will wear fuchsia.

The Dean and her husband will sail for England early in February

The Student Poll

The following column is being revived from previous REVIEW'S to get all types of opinions from the students. When a roving reporter approaches you, please cooperate. Nothing you say will be used against you.

QUESTION—What, in your opinion, would arouse student interest in University Hour.

ANSWERS—Laura Jane Lang—Physical Education, Sophomore, Wilmington: "In my opinion, the lectures are fine; the speakers are also excellent; and the topics are of every-day interest; but the students want variety. The subjects are too academic and after going to classes all week, we want to relax and enjoy going to this hour."

Patricia Thompson—Arts and Science, Junior, Laurel, Del.: "I feel that no matter what one does to improve the University Hour, there will always be those interested, and those not interested. The ones that are, will go to the program, and those that aren't, just won't go."

Marie DiSabatino and Dolores McCall—Arts and Science and Education, Juniors, Wilmington: "We would like to see the number of speakers limited, and in their place, entertainment programs with magician shows, movies, a Capella choir and chorus, and a hypnotist. This should liven things up."

Harold Peto—M.E., Sophomore, New York: "In my opinion, University Hour could be improved by professional lectures on exploring, natural science, scientific experiments involving equipment not available at the University, and musical programs by noted choral groups."

Verdell Short—Bus. Ad., Senior, Wilmington: "I would like to see programs of more direct interest to the students. Included would be a series of lectures which would discuss the vocational opportunities of the student who does not specialize in any definite field."

on the Queen Elizabeth. The Dean says that she is looking forward to living in England very much. She is very interested in the economic conditions there at present and may do some work at the London School of Economics. The Elliotts plan to be in England about a year.

Although the Dean cannot issue an invitation to every student she would be delighted to have students attend her wedding. All students at the U. of D. will be sorry to see her go but will join us in wishing her all the happiness in the world.

Reading Exams To Be Held Jan. 16

The Modern Language Department announces that the next reading-knowledge tests in French, German, and Spanish will be given on Friday, January 16, at 4:10 p.m. in University Hall, 220. These tests are open only to students who have completed the intermediate course (104), or who are judged otherwise qualified.

By Faculty action, all students who have matriculated in the School of Arts and Sciences since September 1945 must have a reading knowledge of one modern foreign language before being considered eligible for a degree in that School. This proficiency is demonstrated by the passing of special tests given three times a year. The next opportunity to take these tests will be offered in June.

RSSO Final Dance Of the Semester

The RSSO plans to have the fifth and final dance of the semester Saturday, January 17. The festivities will take place in the usual place, Brown Hall. Cards, ping-pong, checkers, will be provided for those interested, and refreshments will be served.

Everyone is invited to come down and have fun after the game Saturday night.

The committee will soon meet to discuss plans for even bigger and better dances for the next semester.

REFLECTIONS

A million sparkling lights
Flickered in the breeze,
Projecting a shimmering sight
That adds to a poet's ease.
They danced upon the river's crown,
Then darted towards the moon,
Attracting only the whispering sound
Of the lonely night wind's tune.

The filmy mist had lifted
To the height of the churches'
spires,
On through the night it shifted,
To rest o'er the north bank mires.
The rippling of the channel tide
Pattering against the buoys,
Combined with the swallow's haunting
chide,
For the waterfront's muffled noise.
RICHARD TYLER.

Dr. Rinehart Gives ACS Personnel Tal

At the Delaware Student Affiliates of the American Chemical Society meeting last Thursday, Dr. H. W. Rinehart, of the duPont Company gave a talk on personnel requirements. Dr. Rinehart is the Director of Personnel in the Rayon Division in Wilmington.

He divided the technical part of the work with the duPont Company into the four main categories of research, development, production, and sales. He then explained what each of these terms meant at the duPont Company, emphasizing the fact that these terms will be given various interpretations at different companies.

After the meeting, questions were asked by several of those attending concerning advanced degrees and their relative worth, salaries, advancement, and opportunities in various fields. Dr. Rinehart was introduced by the President of the local chapter, Stan Reed.

A.M.S. Names Rees Group Chairman

Standards High, Asserts Dean Arm

Despite greatly increased enrollment, standards of instruction at the University of Delaware are at least as high as at any time in the University's history, Dean David L. Arm of the School of Engineering told the Kent County Alumni Club of the University December 11 at Legislative Hall, Dover.

Dean Arm pointed out that the size of classes has not been increased, and "assembly-line methods" of instruction are not employed. Caliber of faculty members is being maintained, he stated, and "the University is picking the very best people we can get for our teachers." "We don't want to get big, but we do expect to be at the top of our class," he said.

Dean Arm was introduced by M. Allan Wilson, of Dover, program chairman. Delaware football films were shown at the meeting, at which Ernest F. Smith, Jr., of Kenton, club president, presided. William B. Simpson of Camden is program chairman for the next meeting, to be held in the late winter.

Military Notes

The Military Department is forming a rifle team, and is currently considering candidates. If sufficient students are interested who can afford the extra time it will require, a University, as well as an ROTC team, will be formed. Application blanks are available at the Military Department Office. The Newark National Guard Armory Rifle Range has been tentatively secured and it is hoped actual practice may be started in January.

The Army Department has just issued a directive, effective immediately, that the first two years of its Senior Division ROTC training at colleges be officially known as "Basic Course, Senior Division ROTC" instead of "Elementary," as was the policy in the post-war period.

The Military Department is getting "movie conscious" and is sending all of the junior instructors to a special projection equipment school being conducted at Fort Wadsworth, New York. The course covers a week's instruction in all phases of Army projection equipment, including maintenance as well as equipment.

Year Abroad Plan To Be Discontinued

At a meeting of the Board of Trustees on Saturday, December 13, 1947, Dr. Carlson recommended the suspension of the University's Year Abroad Plan due to lack of sound financial backing. Dr. Carlson's recommendation was made after his visit last summer to the present Foreign Study Bureau in Geneva and the Sorbonne in Paris.

The Foreign Study project always has been self-supporting, and University funds have at no time been used to operate the plan; but for several years there have been increasing difficulties in keeping the project solvent, Dr. Carlson said in his report. It was because of these contingencies that Dr. Carlson earlier had recommended to the trustees a thorough study of the program.

From its origin in 1923 to its suspension in 1939, the plan operated in France, with sponsorship also of study projects in Germany, 1932-34 and in Geneva, 1938-39. Since its revival in 1946, two groups of students have been sent to Geneva, none of these students being from Delaware.

Business, too, must have expert navigation

IN the telephone business, much of the knowledge of "where we are" and guidance as to "where we are headed" comes from the analysis of statistics.

Telephone statisticians and engineers are constantly studying trends and figures. They assemble the facts, analyze them, correlate them, discover their significance, draw guidance from them.

The work of these men is vital to our never-ending task of improving telephone service. In such work many college-trained men have found satisfying and rewarding careers.

And this is but one of the many interesting phases of the telephone business.

There's opportunity and adventure in telephony.

The Phi Taus have as yet not obtained a fraternity house, but are making progress toward the procurement of one. The order also announced that fourteen pledges had been added to the roster as a result of the recent Rush Week season.

The president also reported on recent increases in the size of the full-time faculty to its present 234 members, and commented that "we are determined that there must be no slackening of either academic requirements or achievements."
