Parent-Teacher Starts Opening Day Drive In Its 327 Districts

Call on Boys and Girls of State to Start the School Year Right on Sept. 2nd

LETTERS SENT TO PUPILS

An effort to enlist the influence of the 327 Parent-Teacher Associations throughout the State, in getting the boys and girls of Delaware in school on opening day, September 2nd, was started last week. All of the associations which have reported Attendance Committees at the State Office have received a plan for a children's party, adapted primarily to the smaller school districts. Chairmen of local Attendance Committees in these districts are being asked to invite every child who should be enrolled in their school to meet on some lawn in the neighborhood for a good time some afternoon in August. After a program of outdoor games and an afternoon of general fun, the hostess is requested to read the following letter, or a simpler version of the same facts to the children:

"Dear Junior Citizens:

"What if Uncle Sam sounded a call for soldiers and from one-half to one-third of them failed to report on time? Would you have much faith in his army?

"The Delaware school children form an army to drive out ignorance, the greatest foe in any nation, and think of it—only one boy out of every two, and one girl out of every three reported for duty on the first day of school last year! How can we get anywhere at that rate? There was some boy and some girl in practically every district in the State who didn't get there on time. Add all of these scattered boys and girls together and will find that they made several regiments—missing when the bugle sounded calling everyone to work.

NEWARK AMONG THE CLEAN-MILK TOWNS

Odessa Has Highest Rating According to Score Published

According to the scoring done by State officials of the Health and Welfare department, which close their recent milk testing campaign, the town of Odessa stands highest, rating with 82 per cent. Then came Newark, with 78 per cent. Newark was one of the towns in which the score for Odessa was the highest. Had there been three towns in the town and one of them was Odessa, Newark might be near the middle instead of the top of the list. Rose Hill is at the bottom of the list of the 34 towns where milk was tested. But the standing in the county of New Castle is higher than the others, because Newark, Delaware City and Middletown were among the first nine towns to stand and there are eight others in these three towns.

According to Dr. Davis, head of the department, the standard under the new regulations is 100 per cent, but considering the fact that the standards were pure, clean milk has been enforced, the rating done on some of the dairies is commendable.

How Goes the Wheat In the Lower East

Reports of wheat yields in the lower end of New Castle County included the following farms:

Thomas Lattin had 20 bushels average on all of his farms, getting 20 bushels per acre. One of the Lattin farms had a high mark of 32 bushels per acre was obtained.

J. A. Lyman got an average of 25 bushels on all acres. The L. Maloney farm turned out 30 on one field and 32 on another field.

W. T. Foraker had an average of 20 bushels per acre. Haroldson an average of 20 bushels per acre. George W. Krapf, 25 bushels and Wm. K. Kott, 23 bushels per acre.

SON OF EARL TWEED SERIOUSLY INJURED

Earl, Jr., Aged 4, Run Down By Auto Near Home in Kennett Square Monday

Word was received in Newark yesterday morning of the serious injury of Earl, Jr., 4 year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Tweed, formerly of Newark, but now living in Kennett Square. Details of the accident are lacking, but it is said that the youngster is badly hurt.

According to reports he was playing near his home, when struck down by a passing car. Four doctors were summoned to the Tweed home and gave every medical attention to the little fellow. The father is a son of Robert Tweed, local plastering contractor.

DETECTIVE CHANDLER NEAR INJURY IN CRASH

Accident On Elkton Road Saturday Night Caused by Headlight Glare

State Detective Thomas Chandler, well known in Newark, narrowly escaped serious injury shortly after midnight Saturday, when his car collided with a machine driven by Enoch Wilson, Negro, of Elkton. The accident happened on the highway just this side of Elkton.

According to reports the two drivers were blinded by each other's headlights and failed to give enough clearance for the cars. The Chandler sedan was slightly damaged, as was the car driven by Wilson. Both cars held several occupants, but none were injured.

It is said that Wilson, after ascertaining the slight extent of the damages, disappeared from the scene, and could not be located later.

Firemen To Goatesville

Between twenty and twenty-five members of the Aetna Hose, Hook and Ladder Co. of Newark, resplendent in their flaming red shirts, are expected to pay an official visit to the fire companies at Goatesville, Pa., on Saturday evening next. The Goatesville Carnival will be in session that evening, and the Aetna boys are responding to a cordial invitation sent them. No apparatus will be taken on the trip.

No Band Concert

Owing to the fact that the Continental Band has another engagement, and that several members of the Minnehaha Band are off on vacations, there will be no band concert on the Academy lawn tomorrow evening. The official announcement came yesterday from R. W. Heim, of the Newark Music Society.

"Nationals" Lead In Methodist Men's League

Novel "Ball Game" for Church Building Fund Goes Into Second "Inning"—Great Interest Revealed

A distinct novelty has been injected into the drive for the Building Fund of the M. E. Church here. President George M. Phipps, of the Men's League of the church, together with some of the members have devised a regular "ball game," with two teams, an umpire and rules and regulations for the scoring of "runs," "hits," and other necessary actions on the part of players.

One month of work constitutes an "inning." The game started at the June meeting of the League, and the score board shows a score of 1-0 in favor of the Nationals. Their opponents, the Americans, do not appear to have hit their stride yet, but they promise action and plenty of it before the game is half over.

The "National" lineup is as follows: A. S. Barnett, Captain; E. B. Crooks, J. W. Moore, Chester Moore, D. Roberts, H. F. Mote, E. F. Dawson, Chas. Moore, W. H. Bland, W. B. Sweeney, C. A. Short, R. Buckingham.

Those on the "Americans" roster are: L. A. Rhodes, Captain; W. F. Lindell, L. N. Sheaffer, Fred Henning, R. S. Gallaher, G. M. Phipps, George Krapf, F. A. Cooch, E. M. Thompson, Frank Herson, C. A. Robinson.

Dr. Thomas F. Manns has assumed the job of Umpire during the course of the game. In assuming this great

CANDIDATES RUSH TO FILE NAMES AS STATE DELEGATES

Republicans in White Clay Hundred Speculate as to Entrants in Race—Filing Closes at 9 P. M.

LATEST REPORT OF LOCAL FILING

White Clay—1st dist.: James McKelvey, John F. Richards.

2nd. Dist.: Chas. Colmery, James Hastings, Arthur Beals.

3rd Dist.: Wm. Singer, Clarence McVey.

Pencader Hundred—1st Dist.: Mrs. R. A. Whittingham, Pusey McCormick.

2nd. Dist.: Charles Laws.

Candidates for delegates from near-by Hundreds filed their names in Wilmington today. Filing was steady but light during the day. The usual rush as the closing hour of nine o'clock approaches, is confidently predicted by leaders in Republican ranks.

Speculation as to who the candidates from White Clay Hundred will be has dominated local interest for some weeks. That interest was still manifest this morning. Inquiries were still coming thick and fast as The Post goes to press.

Less than fifty per cent of the qualified voting list of the Hundred have registered to date, pointing to the fact that a full vote will not be cast at the Republican primaries this month. A total of 1183 have registered out of a possible 2400.

In the 1st district of the Hundred, 436 have enrolled; in the middle district, 473, and in the third district, 283. Saturday's registration was heavier than previous days, but both parties were disappointed, particularly the Republicans. The continued absence of large numbers of women at the registration places is still unexplained. Political leaders in the Hundred were of the opinion a month ago, that the registration of women would be heavier than ever this year. Two more days are left in which voters may enroll. As usual, the last Registration Day will no doubt boost the voting lists of both parties tremendously.

Will Soon Be Completed

The Austin Co., engineers in charge of the erection of two large buildings at the Continental Fibre Co.'s plant here, are reported to have promised the completion of the Warehouse by the first of September, and the Power House addition early in the same month.

The work is being rushed on the two buildings so that they may be ready before the heavy fall business strikes the plant.

Negro In Jail After Brutal Attack Friday

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Crossan Beaten in Attempt to Protect 15-year-old Granddaughter

A 35 year old Negro has been arrested for one of the most brutal attacks in the history of the County, perpetrated on a farm near Korner Ketch, a few miles northeast of Newark, Friday morning last, in which an aged couple were beaten into unconsciousness and their 15 year old granddaughter dragged from the house towards a nearby woods.

The attack took place about day-break Friday morning in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Crossan, widely known in the community. Both are over 60 years of age. Their granddaughter, Mary Hannum, was asleep in another room, and escaped serious injury.

Savage, who was arrested about noon, Friday, while at work at the farm of Eugene Robinson, adjoining the Crossan farm, confessed in the presence of County Highway Police Officer Jones, who arrested him; Assistant County Engineer Shaw, John J. Healy, an engineer in the county engineer's office, and others, and after signing the confession was detained at the police station until given a hearing before Magistrate Stradley, after which he was removed to the workhouse.

Admits Seizing Girl

The Negro, according to his confession, the police say, admits breaking into the Crossan home, seizing the

NEW DOCTOR ARRIVES IN TOWN TOMORROW

Dr. Merritt Burke, of Newport, To Occupy Lily Property On E. Main St.

Dr. Merritt Burke, of Newport, Del., will open offices for the practice of medicine on East Main street this week.

The announcement came this morning following the completion of a property transfer through which the doctor will have the Lily residence next door to Strahorn's garage.

Dr. Burke has practiced in Newport for several years and comes highly recommended. He is a son of Rev. Asbury Burke, for many years a prominent Methodist minister of this section of the county, and well known in Newark.

Dr. and Mrs. Burke have two daughters, graduates of Wilmington High School, who, it is understood, are contemplating entering the Women's College of the University this fall.

The Burkes will move into their new home tomorrow.

BE CAREFUL WHERE YOU PARK IN ELKTON

New Regulations Went Into Effect On Monday of this Week

Visitors to Elkton will be much relieved to hear that the Mayor and Council of that town have finally ordered a change in the parking regulations, becoming effective this week.

From now on no cars will be allowed to halt on the south side of Main street from Bow street to Groomer's Lane; or on the east side of North street from Main to High streets.

The traffic situation in the business and central district of the town has lately become acute and the danger of passing cars sideswiping those parked along the curb has always been felt. With the new regulations in effect, the traffic will move much smoother. Council, in explaining its action, said that despite probable protests on the part of merchants, the move is for the best interests of all concerned.

DELAWARE TO SHINE IN HISTORIC PAGEANT

Blue Hen State Has Big Part In Forthcoming Continental Congress Anniversary

Delaware, as one of the original 13 states, will take an active part in the celebration of the 150th anniversary of the first session of the Continental Congress, which is to be held in Philadelphia on Thursday and Friday, September 25 and 26.

One of the features of the celebration will be a drama in which the ride of Casary Rodney from Dover to Philadelphia to sign the Declaration of Independence will be depicted. Other characters who will be portrayed in the drama will be Samuel and John Adams, from Massachusetts; Roger Sherman, from Connecticut; John Jay, from New York; Thomas Mifflin and John Morton, from Philadelphia; Payton Randolph, Richard Henry Lee and George Washington, from Virginia.

There will be a reception in Carpenters' Hall of the Carpenters' Company of Philadelphia, which organization will at that time celebrate its 200th anniversary. It was in this building in which the first Continental Congress was held.

Various historic military organizations have been invited to take part in the affair, among which are included the "American Rifles," of Wilmington. This organization, however, has gone out of existence.

The governors of the original thirteen states, President Coolidge, members of the cabinet, the Justices of the Supreme Court and other distinguished men will attend.

Freak Storm Hits Town

What looked to be a regular old August thunderstorm with all the fixin's broke over Newark late Sunday evening, accompanied by several flashes of blinding lightning. Within five minutes after the first drop fell, however, the storm was over, and the town was hardly wet. Sages were of the opinion that the storm turned sharply and went down the Chesapeake Bay with the tide.

Impassable Roads Anger "Mill Creek;" May Hold Up 1924 Tax Payments

Loan of $4400 from State Funds Announced at This Week's Levy Court—Question the Availability of the Money at an Early Date

COMMISSIONER WRIGHT COMES IN FOR BLAME

BY T. R. DANTZ

Developments in the Mill Creek Hundred road situation during the past week are not exactly satisfying to the farmers of that district, although a move has been made to place the sum of $4400 at the disposal of the Levy Court for use in the Hundred.

Inquiries made of leaders in the better roads fight in Mill Creek, together with several letters received by The Post this week, indicate that the farmers are thoroughly aroused over the situation, and that efforts to appease them made by the Levy Courtmen, and Wilmington political leaders have fallen short of their mark.

The only thing which will smooth their tempers is an energetic drive on the part of Road Supervisor Claringbold and his superiors, the Levy Court, to get their roads in some sort of shape. This drive must also be carried on with scrapers, rock, and efficiency—not cinders and sand.

The sentiment, freely expressed, appears to be reaching a stage of defiance. The 1924 tax payments will be due in a few days. We can think of no more inauspicious time to collect taxes in Mill Creek Hundred than now.

Taxpayers Aroused

The taxpayers to a man are thoroughly disgusted over the way they say their money has been expended during the past year. They haven't had a decent dirt road in that time, yet they must pay their assessment nevertheless. In some quarters they openly threaten to withhold payment of the levy until some constructive action is taken with regards to road improvements.

Be it further understood, that Mill Creek farmers are willing to help the road gangs with their work. This is not a backbiting war, a personal feud. If they can help in any way the farmers will be on the job.

Just this week one prominent landowner stated that if the road authorities would lend him a scraper, he would take a few days off and go over the roads near his place at his own expense. Offers to haul materials, and do other helpful work have been made time and again. "What more can we do," say the farmers. "We offer our services, our time and our money. It's up to the road men."

No Apparent Interest

One of the real issues in this campaign for better roads is the growing resentfulness expressed against Commissioner Wright, the Mill Creek representative in the Levy Court. The farmers argue in this way: Mr. Wright has complete authority to O. K. bills for road repairing in his hundred, said bills then being passed by the Court as a whole. He is the official representative of the stricken district, yet he has done practically nothing to relieve the strain on his neighbors. To their knowledge he has not fought a single fight for road improvement in Mill Creek, but has gone along with the tide. Since the upheaval started a week ago in Mill Creek, the farmers say Mr. Wright has kept himself studiously out of the conflict.

Another fagot for the fire, this time a rather amusing one, was let out last week, when farmers in Mill Creek saw an article in a Wilmington paper stating that the Levy Court adjourned early last Tuesday, and, at the invitation of the present, F. R. Jones, went on a fishing trip to Charlestown, Md. The effect of this movement on the Mill Creek residents can be readily seen. The Court has been invited time and again to come out and see for themselves the condition of the roads; but they have only made half-hearted, one by one, attempts. Never have they come out as a body, say the farmers.

$4400 Loaned By State

The effect of the announcement made yesterday afternoon in Levy Court that $4400 has been set aside from a State fund loan for Mill Creek roads, cannot at this writing be accurately made, as the news is just beginning to get around the hundred.

"I Have Nothing To Say"—Claringbold

An effort was made by The Post this week to procure a statement from Thomas Claringbold, road supervisor in Mill Creek hundred, around whose head a veritable storm of criticism is raging.

When reached on the phone, and asked if he had read accounts of the Mill Creek road situation, he replied that he had not.

Asked if he had anything to say in regard to the matter, he said: "I have nothing to say."

Alleged Negro Slayer Eludes Police Here

Man Wanted in Wilmington Takes Train in Newark as Detectives Arrive

James Byrd, a Negro, recently come up from Virginia, and alleged slayer of Raymond Turner, also a Negro, during a crap game in Wilmington, Friday night, escaped the net laid for him by Wilmington and Newark police Saturday afternoon, when he jumped a northbound B. and O. train, just as the police were on their way to his hiding place on New London avenue.

According to Chief Lewis, who had been working on the case, Byrd, accompanied by a mulatto woman, Deborah Morris, arrived in Newark presumably early Saturday morning last, and went to the home of Cato Pennington on New London avenue.

The couple stayed there all day, and about five o'clock in the afternoon, Byrd and the woman walked down town. The former took a northbound passenger train at the B. and O. station here and the woman is said to have returned to the Pennington house.

In the meantime, according to the Chief, detectives from Wilmington, including Sutton and Kempinski, arrived in Newark in the afternoon, saying they had a tip that Byrd was in hiding in this town. The Chief said he then took the detectives to New London avenue, and found the woman, early Saturday evening, but informed them that their quarry had escaped about an hour before their arrival.

According to the police, Byrd lost heavily in the crap game the evening before, and becoming enraged, pulled out a revolver and shot Turner through the abdomen and leg. The latter was taken to the Delaware Hospital where his injuries were said to be fatal. He died later.

A description of Byrd has been broadcast to all nearby police centers.

Sedan Badly Smashed

A small sedan was badly smashed up in an accident on the Elkton road early Monday evening. The battered car was towed in toward Newark, according to farmers living near the Maryland line, but inquiry at local garages today failed to locate the car or the owner. It could not be ascertained whether anyone was injured in the crash.

Harvest Home Tomorrow

The annual Harvest Home at Whiteman's Grove, north of Newark, will be held all day tomorrow. Plans are in readiness for the reception of several hundred people. There will be speaking both morning and afternoon. The Minnehaha Band of Newark is scheduled to play at the affair.

"Cliff" Get In Wrong

Reports from the bar of justice in Magistrate Gove Scotten's court in Elkton reveal the fact that J. C. Willis, Newark contractor and builder ran afoul of the Maryland speed laws the other day.

A fine of $25 and costs was levied upon "Cliff," it is understood. The arrest was made by State Highway policeman Boyd.

New Suits And Imported Pitcher Fail To Impress Appleton Bat Wielders

Ancient Rivals, Christiana, Go Down To Disastrous Defeat At Hands Of Marylanders—Score is 22-15

Christine charged to Appleton like red-capped Turks to war; When safely home from Appleton, Quoth Christine—"Nevermore."

A tragedy was enacted in Appleton last Saturday afternoon.

It was all the fault of those brand new suits the Christiana baseball team wore; or it might have been the fault of Mr. Miller, a New Castle man wearing a Dover uniform, who pitched for Christiana. It might have been those or any one of a dozen other causes. But somehow, the scorebook doesn't record causes. Instead it records, hits and the like.

There is where the real tragedy lies. Just to think of Christiana, new suits, new pitcher, new everything, coming up to old Appleton, and getting licked by the terrible score of 22-15. Is it not heartrending. It is.

But that isn't all. Christiana completely dazzled the Appleton farmer boys. In fact they so dazzled them, that they had a comfortable ten run lead in the third inning.

But strange to say, in four innings, Appleton turned around and amassed 22 runs, over 5 per inning. It was indeed an awe inspiring sight. At the close of the seventh, Christiana was counted out and left the ring to avoid further punishment. Their uniforms were all soiled; their game was all wet and there tempers were—well there tempers were in great shape, thank you.

Two Homers In Innings
The disgusting details are too long to be inserted and it would certainly not be a kind thing to do for Christiana's red-capped Turks.

Suffice to say that Wilson of Appleton had two homers in one inning, the sixth, when the entire side batted around. Beers started things in the fourth with his homer; and most peculiar of all, Moore, who never pitched before, went in the box in place of Wilson in the third, and held the Christine boys safe.

And last but not least, Manager Bush of Christiana, according to reports, appeared on the field in a clean collar, to be in style with his snappily dressed team; at the end, the collar could not be found. No doubt Mr. Bush found breathing rather difficult during the late innings.

The Appleton boys claim that Mr. Miller, the visiting mound artist, had most polished manners on the hill; he just couldn't be bothered with the early batters. But later, it is said, Mr. Miller wanted his "mama" very bad indeed.

Now of course, off days will come to every team, good or bad. Appleton, however, gets the verdict in the second brawl of the series and the next game to be played later in Christiana, should be worth walking to see.

CLARENCE A. SHORT ADDRESSES BOY SCOUTS

Joins Group of Wilmington Legion Men on Trip to Camp Caesar Rodney

Between twenty-five and thirty members of Laurence Roberts Post, American Legion, of Wilmington, motored to Camp Caesar Rodney along the North East River, Friday afternoon last, for a visit to the Boy Scouts there encamped.

The feature of the trip was a baseball game staged between members of the Post and the Scouts in which the Legion men were handed a 6 to 2 wallop.

The Post was headed by Commander Alex. Crothers, who was recently elected State Commander of the Legion. Short talks on "Good Sportsmanship" were addressed to the scouts by Major Clarence A. Short, of the Post, and William J. McAvoy, director of athletics at the University of Delaware. Both speakers, as well as the returning members of the Post, upon arriving back in the city, lauded the fine spirit displayed by the scouts, and the management, laying particular stress upon the excellent location of Camp Caesar Rodney.

BOYS AND GIRLS HAVE GREAT LONGWOOD TRIP

Mr. and Mrs. Pierre S. duPont Personally Welcome the Young Visitors

Under the leadership of A. D. Cobb, State Boys' and Girls' Club leader, and members of his staff here, about 170 boys and girls accompanied by their instructors, enjoyed an outing at Longwood, the country home near Kennett, of Mr. and Mrs. Pierre S. duPont.

The youngsters were taking a six days' special course in Agriculture and Home Economics at the University, and this trip was a part of their recreation program.

An unexpected feature of the visit, was the personal welcome the party received from Mr. and Mrs. duPont. The former, beside welcoming the youngsters, took off his coat and showed them around every part of the Conservatory and over his own personal flower and vegetable gardens across the road.

A bountiful luncheon was also served to the visiting boys and girls on the lawn of the estate. Many of them had never seen the Conservatory and gardens. The expressions of delight were continual.

Several private cars were loaded for the trip, in addition to three big Stiltz busses. The cars and busses were hung with signs telling the nature of the outing.

NEW TELEPHONE BOOK HAS BEEN ISSUED HERE

New Classified Section Is Boon To Local Users of System

The new summer issue of the Diamond State Telephone directory has just been delivered to the patrons of the company in this city and vicinity.

It is the most complete and comprehensive yet published in this district. It contains a new form of classified business section similar to the classified directories published in cities like Philadelphia and New York. The classified section is in the rear of the directory immediately after the alphabetical section and is published on yellow paper.

TRUCK CRASHES WINDOW

Elkton Jeweler Attaches Machine for Damages Done Friday

One of the big plate glass windows in the store of Anthony Williams on Main street, Elkton, was broken by a delivery truck, Friday morning. The brakes failed to hold and the machine started down the hill, crossing the street, climbed over the curb and almost went through the window into the Williams store. The truck carried a New York license. Mr. Williams has attached the machine to secure damages.

Letter to Post Says Elkton Has "The Misery"

The following letter has been received for publication in The Post. Coming as it does on the heels of the more or less confusion resulting from Elkton Council's latest parking order, it offers a new angle to the situation. The letter follows:

To The Newark Post,
Newark, Delaware.
Gentlemen:

Poor old Elkton, which town we have always been proud to claim as our native city, is once more suffering from internal injuries.

Sometime back in 1918, so we are informed, a law was passed regulating the parking of vehicles along two of Elkton's main streets. It was, and is, an excellent law, but as is sometimes the habit of those responsible for town ordinances, the law was but laxly enforced, if at all, and it gradually faded from the public mind.

The traffic situation, however, has become so serious in the downtown section that it was decided (we presume) to resurrect the old law and proceed to enforce the same at once—beginning Monday, August eleventh last. Some small notices were printed and tacked on the trees, etc., along the restricted area and the event was advertised in the local papers so that everybody would all know about it. It was noted, however, that the usual "NO PARKING BETWEEN" signs had not been removed from this area.)

Then the order was issued (we suppose) to arrest everybody who, unintentionally or otherwise, parked any vehicle, including Fords, in the section under restriction.

And so it happened. . . .

We may be in error, it being a failing none of us escape all the time, but it does not seem to be justice that one should be arrested for having committed an unintentional offense unless one has been duly warned that the act, such as it may be, will constitute an offense. One could hardly consider the small paper signs tacked on the trees and shaded from vision at night to be proper warning. Advertising in the town's local papers could hardly be considered sufficient warning either of itself or together with the aforementioned method except possibly for local people. But neither of these methods would necessarily come to the attention of the casual visitor to town—more particularly after dark.

It was about 8:30 p. m. standard time on Monday, the eleventh last that we were arrested. We were utterly unaware that we were violating the law, not having had occasion to read the local papers of the town. We did not see any of the "NO PARKING" signs until the officer who "pinched" us pointed one out some paces away and even then we were unable to read its message from where our Ford was located though our dimmed headlights were casting in that direction. The officer told us that the law had "just gone into effect that day" and that "it would only cost us a dollar," but he said he'd "have to take us down to see the Squire." We went.

Speaking of Wheat—

That the good old soil of Cecil County is still able to nurture good crops, if said soil is in turn well nourished, has been ably demonstrated on the farm of Thomas B. Miller, at Cherry Hill, Md.

According to reports, Mr. Miller harvested a crop of wheat recently which averaged 46 bushels to the acre. As far as can be ascertained, this is the best wheat yield in this section of the country. Mr. Miller is president of the Elkton National Bank, and also head of the United Packing Co., of Newark, formerly the United Canneries, Inc.

Of course a dollar doesn't amount to much these days but it does mean something, however, it was the unfairness of the whole incident and the disregard of justice which caused us to pay our fine under protest.

We believe in law and order, law enforcement, and all that, but we also believe in fair play. It is our humble opinion that a warning to the unintentional offender on the occasion of the first offense would have been the square thing to do instead of "pulling in" a visitor who had not the slightest intent or desire to break, or even bend, the town regulations.

RUDOLPH FARM BOUGHT BY OMAR D. CROTHERS

One of the most interesting public sales held in Elkton in years, came off Monday of this week, when the Rudolph Farm between Glasgow and Elkton was placed under the hammer at the Court House door.

Considerable speculation as to the disposition of the farm was rife, as it included a well appointed race track and stables which were placed there for the purpose of inaugurating a Cecil County Fair. Between $25,000 and $30,000 has been spent by the promoters to get the track in shape, it is reported.

Three bids were offered for the property, the place being finally sold to Omar D. Crothers, Elkton attorney, for $18,500. He is said to have bought for a client, the name of whom has not been made public.

Law and Officials

The spirit of the common law is opposed to those insidious encroachments upon liberty which take the form of an uncontrolled administrative authority—the modern guise of an ancient tyranny, not the more welcome to intelligent free men because it may bear the label of democracy. It is doubtless impossible to cope with the evils incident to the complexities of our modern life, and to check the multiform assaults of organized cupidity, by the means which were adapted to the simpler practices of an earlier day, but we have an instinctive feeling that there is no panacea for modern ills in bureaucracy. There is still the need to recognize the ancient right—and it is the most precious right of democracy—the right to be governed by law and not by officials—the right to reasonable, definite and proclaimed standards which the citizen can invoke against both malevolence and caprice. We of the common law respect authority, but it is authority of the legal order. We respect those who in station high or humble execute the law—because it is our law. We esteem them, but only as they esteem and keep within the law.—Secretary Hughes in London Address.

A Delegate's Responsibility

Today is the last day for filing names for candidates as delegates to the Republican Convention on August 26. On August 23, the Republican Primary election will be held to select 160 delegates who in turn on the following Tuesday will meet in Dover and select the State Ticket of the Republican Party.

This is no ordinary convention, nor is it a time for political strategy, personal ambitions or battleground for the settlement of past differences. It is an opportunity that is unusual and a responsibility of serious civic import. A state ticket is to be named that will direct and administer State affairs for the next four years. That in itself should be sufficient to challenge the honesty and best judgment of the delegates charged with that duty. But serious and important as this is, this year brings another problem that affects not only Delaware conditions but National policies in the proper selection of a man for United States Senator that will so appeal to the people that there will be no doubt of his election. Unusual as it may seem but it is a vital fact that the vote of this one Senator in the next Congress may decide an issue of National or even International import. This is the cold stern fact, fraught with attending responsibility—and admitted by every honest observer.

To be charged with the honor and duty of naming the candidate for United States Senator, Governor, Congressman, Attorney General and other officers of a party is no ordinary and picnic job. So Tuesday, August 26, is no day's lark but one for honesty, judgment and foresight. It's a day for the State, not Self, for Public Service, not personal gain. It is a day for Citizenship and its individual and not directed expression. To be a delegate is more than a recognition and honor—it is the gravest responsibility that comes to any citizen. The future of Delaware, and we speak thoughtfully, depends on the civic interpretation of conditions, civic intelligence and civic honesty of the delegates at the State Convention.

The People's Column

It Can't Be All Told

Claringbold says "It's all been told." But it hasn't. It can't be. Even Sir Philip Gibbs the great War Correspondent who wrote "Now It Can Be Told" and "More To Be Told" could not describe the conditions of the Roads in Mill Creek Hundred. We have travelled in every Hundred in Delaware and have never seen such conditions.

Who is responsible is a serious question. But more serious and vital is that we do know that they can be rectified by the Levy Court. It's their job. For them to get at it is good sense, good politics, good business and ordinary decency.

Assails Mill Creek

Road Situation

Newark, Aug. 9, 1924.

Editor Newark Post:

Dear Sir:

I take this opportunity to write a few lines in regard to the public roads in our immediate neighborhood, surrounding Whiteman's Grove and want to say in regard to partisan politics it is cast aside all together, this is a community stand. I wish to state the Ebenezer Harvest Home is to be held in our grove the 14th of the present month, and has been held therein for the past thirty-five years, and never in that period, or forty years, have the roads been in such deplorable condition. I have lived here all my life and I know what I am speaking about and will give you my candid opinion that it is a disgrace to our little Delaware, a disgrace to our New Castle County, a disgrace to our Hundred, and more than that, a shameful disgrace to our present body of Levy Court as a whole. It is, I say, a crime and more so when some one running into some of the wash-outs and being seriously injured, I say those to blame should be personally responsible.

I tell you it is an astonishing question to ask one of these farmers when he is going to pay his tax. How in the name of the Lord are the farmers to pay their taxes or anything else when they have no roads to move their produce and grain to market? I say it is a shameful disgrace to have no good of our tax money than to have such roads, and to look to a noble body of men as Levy Courtmen to govern our public in Mill Creek Hundred. I say we would stand man for man for the removal of Thomas Claringbold as our supervisor as he is not a competent man for the position. We had a good man before Mr. Claringbold, one who learned the dirt road problem under his forefathers as did some of the rest of us. And I will say that I think it is high time for a little legislation in regard to some of the higher officials. I say again it is a heart-aching disgrace to see our property here in Mill Creek Hundred and to think of it depreciating in value as it is. I can take any one who wants to see for themselves to a number of farms if offered for sale at the present time would not bring within two thousand dollars of what they would three years ago. Why so? Just on account of the terrible condition of the roads. I think the County Board of Assessment will have some adjustment to make in their next general assessment, and they should be compelled to call on every farmer to a man to do it, and they will realize where the depreciation lies.

I tell you we will not get away and back to our homes next winter if there is not something done this summer. We in years past have had roads, good roads, through one of the most productive tracts of land there is in the State, and there is no reason why we should not have at present and in the future. Well, Mr. Editor, I could say much more but must close. Trusting you will print these few lines in the Newark Post, I remain,

Yours truly,
Arthur S. Whiteman.

"Cow Path Farmer" Speaks

Editor of the Newark Post:

As a subscriber to your paper for several years, I always admired your motto in red letters, so that all readers would take notice, Good Roads. And ask Tom Claringbold what a good road is. "Ham" Stewart calls them "Cow Paths," up here in Mill Creek Hundred. Out of these "cow trails" come first class farmers on their way to Wilmington market, with fresh fruit and vegetables to be disposed of on the curbstone market. Many of them dispose of their produce to customers from house to house. I was much pleased with what you had to say in your paper last week, also the Every Evening, in regard to the condition of the roads. Not half has been told. Keep up our cause and we will certainly get some results.

Cow Path Farmer.

"Hockessin, Del., August 8, 1924.

Editor Newark Post,

"Dear Sir:

"As a citizen am glad to pay my portion of taxes for the upkeep of the public highway and cannot but desire some reimbursement for the outlay, such as we see a number of our neighbors and farmers of Mill Creek Hundred are rightfully requiring and demanding.

"Their pleas are perfectly just, and mismanagement from whatever source should be eliminated. As citizens aside from any and all political aspirations we can see too plainly the peoples requests are verified by the conditions of the public roads.

"Yours respectfully,

"Alfred W. Walker."

August 11, 1924.

Editor of Newark Post,

Dear Sir:

I read in your last issue some very accurate descriptions of the roads we are forced to travel over in going any distance from our homes, and a very humiliating feature about it is the perfect indifference of the Levy Courtmen to the situation. I talked to the County Engineer late in the fall about the water ways being filled on the road leading from Thompson Station to the stone road at Pleasant Hill. He said Mr. Claringbold would instruct Mr. Ellison to open them. It was not done and the result is an almost impassable piece of road. I called Mr. Wright about three weeks ago asking him to come over and look over the road, which he promised to do the following evening. I told him I would put the road in order free of charge to the hundred if I could have the use of the scraper. I have not seen Mr. Wright nor did he give me permission to fix the road, so you see the lack of funds is not the reason this piece of road was not repaired. Perhaps Mr. Wright has resigned, I don't see his name appearing in print. I don't think any of them are very dependable,—the way they voted last spring.

Yours for improvement in the road law of Delaware.

Mrs. C. D. Lamborn.

Newark, Del., August 11, 1924

Editor Newark Post:

I am very glad that your paper is public spirited enough to publish some account of the condition of the dirt roads in Mill Creek Hundred.

At this writing we see no way to get threshing machines to our farms, nor is there any way to haul our grain or other produce to market. It now looks as if our crops of peaches and other fruit will have to rot where grown. Now the Levy Court Commissioners have told us that they used $10,000 of the money belonging to the dirt roads of Mill Creek Hundred to resurface three-fourths of a mile of old stone road near Brandywine Springs, and last week they used $283 more of the slim balance of $700 to retar this $10,000 road.

As yet we have not been told what they did with the $8000 balance that was left from the year preceding. I mean the year when Maskie Johnston was Supervisor of dirt roads of Mill Creek Hundred.

While a little work is now being done on the roads in this vicinity, as costly as it is, it does not amount to a handful to a gully, and there are now many gullies and gulches, where there used to be good roads. One dollar rightly used in the summer of 1923 would have gone as far as $25 spent now, and as weeks go on, there is no knowing how much it will take to put our dirt roads in the condition that they were in, in the spring of 1923.

There seems to be no effort made to clear out the side ditches, nor to remove obstructions stopping up bridges and culverts.

Hoping for better roads and full returns for our Road Tax money, I remain one of the many who feel that they are being imposed upon.

John A. Hopkins.

Another Complaint

To the Newark Post:

While they are looking over the dirt roads in Mill Creek Hundred, would some one interested in road work drive over the road leading from Mr. Woodward's farm to Corner Ketch, and then past Union School and Church. This road is a short by-road, used by several farmers, the mail carrier, and other business people; but, like many other dirt roads, it is impossible to travel over, full of deep holes and washes and big stones. The mail carrier had to turn back, and go another road. It is a bad road for any one to try to use. Will some of the Levy Court people please try to drive over it? I am a farmer and have to travel this road when I travel at all. It is almost impassable.

(Signed)

—A Farmer near Corner Ketch.

Mill Creek Roads

Newark, Del., Aug. 11, 1924.

To the Editor, Newark Post,

Dear Sir:

Having read your article in last week's issue of The Post regarding condition of the dirt roads in Mill Creek Hundred, wish to vouch for the truth of every statement made.

Being a taxpayer and having been very patient before making any protests with politics cast aside, and the common good of all concerned in mind wish the proper authorities to inspect these roads, and at least make them passable.

Yours very truly,

C. Edwin Guthrie,

R. P. D. No. 3, Newark, Del.

Newark Post,

Newark, Delaware.

Gentlemen:

It was very gratifying to learn through your columns that the "Newark Post" would help us with our "better roads" problem. I am quite sure we could entice "Joe Spivak" up Omer Ketch way he would return the shadows of Cooch's Bridge with sufficient material to write a long letter, telling "Mary Ann" and "Tom Claringbold" about the deplorable condition of Mill Creek dirt roads. Appreciating the interest showing and thanking you,

Very truly yours,

J. Leslie Eastburn.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Warner McNeal and family motored to the beach for a weekend outing.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Finkenagel and son were also visitors at Rehoboth.

CRIPPLED DOVER MAN
PRESENTS TOWNNew Fountain Accepted
Council from John Maag

Dover, Del.—John Maag, of Dover's philanthropic citizens, who spent the greater part of his life in the city, appeared before Council and secured the privilege of Council to place a drinking fountain with trough for animals and a lower place for the use of the human family at the corner of Division street and Governor's avenue, he already having presented a fountain to the town some years ago, now located near the corner of Lockerman street and Governor's avenue, which has been convenient for both man and beast.

Maag, who has been a cripple for many years, is one of the brightest and most happy men known in the city, his affliction in no way impairing his mind or body and with a keen intellect, is fully awake to the needs of the human family and hopes by the small gift to further the convenience and welfare of humankind.

PAUL REVERE HAD
MANY OTHER TALENTSNew England Hero Was Also Bell-Maker

While publicity agents were much in evidence in Paul Revere's time, Longfellow fulfilled the requirements by bringing the memorabilia of the patriot to the public eye, so that now scarcely a person is without a fair idea of Revere's achievements, says the New York Evening Mail.

Of his other activities, those connected with his home and business life, the general reading public is so well informed, but as the influence of the various patriotic and historical societies is being more and more felt many more people are learning much of his active life and its usefulness.

In New England at least, any one interested may easily obtain information on these matters, for there are three or four volumes dealing with Revere and his time in various interesting phases, and it is possible to procure some of these accounts in the libraries of the cities and even in those of the small towns.

Until middle age Revere had been principally engaged in printing, engraving and as a worker in silver. Many fine examples of his skill in the latter crafts are treasured in museum collections and by private families. He was a student in business affairs and active in civic matters, and as a result he acquired the secret of annealing copper, which process was known to few in England, and was the first American to refine and roll the metal in sheets.

In 1793, in company with his son, he established a foundry on what is now Causeway street, not far from what is the present site of the New Station, for the casting of cannon bells as well as various other branches of the trade. Here he recast a bell for the New Brick Church, this being the first bell made in Boston. The bell of King's Chapel, made some years later in 1816, is still in service.

Very little is known in regard to the sixty church bells which Revere himself declared in a letter written in 1893 had been made by him up to that time, but undoubtedly several are still in existence, while it is also true there are many the authenticity of whose claims to being Revere bells is more doubtful.

The great grandsons of Revere, who operate the foundry established by him in Canton, Mass., have a list made in a ledger by Revere, containing the dates and number of bells cast by him. The seventh large bell is numbered eleven, and now hangs in the tall white steeple of the Congregational Church in Groveland, Mass., a beautiful village on the right bank of the Merrimack River, opposite the city of Haverhill. Facing a small park with its ancient elms, towering to the height of the church spire, stands the meeting house, which was erected in 1790. It is not known positively what bell called the worshippers for five years thereafter, but mention is made in the records of arranging a place for the bell.

The present bell weighs 605 pounds, and originally was made for a church in Newburyport, but soon was sold to the society in Groveland, which in those days formed a part of the town of Bradford.

According to a centennial anniversary delivered by the Rev. Lewis F. Berry, pastor of the church, the bell was hung in 1795, and after a close examination it has been found that this date is engraved beside Revere's name and directly under the inscription, "The living to the church I call, And to the grave I summon all." In December, 1796, an entry was made in the treasurer's book in regard to the payment of $6.75 to Lutus Elias for ringing the bell.

After a thorough canvass of what I terms my home district in regards to a Good Man for President this year, I have the honor to state that Pencader Hundred don't know any more who to vote for than you do.

Every time I goes up and hangs over a man's barn yard gate and starts askin him my questions, he up and says "Well, Joe, I sees by the papers that John Davis is said to be a Good Man," or "The Missus was readin last night about how Calvin Coolidge mourned over his pet cat what was lost; he must be a Good Man to vote for."

I suppose as if the paper would come out tomorrow saying that Jim Smith was elected President yesterday, them folks down here would be right away writin in to Washington for a Post Office.

You just can't tell 'em nothin, unless they has seen it before in a newspaper. They won't believe you.

This kind of a situation makes all us professional politicians madder than hops. Just to see this bloomin' country having no more interest than believing what they has got to read every mornin.

Now back in my time, when anybody wanted to run for President what did he do? First he paid for some advertisements in newspapers, answered any questions you wanted to ask; then about four months before Ballot Day, he got on his store cloths and went out an' talked to the people. They'd come for miles to see him. That's what Lincoln and Roosevelt and Cleveland did. They didn't get up on some Obery House stage and talk to boiled shirts out in front. They followed the Village Band up to the corner and spoke off the Hotel Porch, shook hands with the storekeepers, and went in and ate ham and cabbage with the Hotel-keepers family. That was what I calls Campaignin.

Now here's Mr. Coolidge and Mr. Davis and Mr. LaFollet. No reflection is meant, but could you imagine Mr. Davis eating ham and cabbage with the hotelkeeper at Podunk, Kansas? Or Mr. Coolidge playin horseshoes at a Basket Picnic? or Mr. LaFollet kissin the babies? I asks you that.

No, they got a better way. Mr. Davis, he will go up to New York or Chicago or Kansas City, and talk to as many as what wants to put on their spangles and pay $5 a plate for a testimonial dinner; Mr. Coolidge, he will broadcast what he has to say on the Radio, so that he won't have to leave home. And Mr. LaFollet, well, it's hard to tell how he's agoin to campaign. So far, he's been burnin up pencils and papers. Maybe he'd rather talk through newspaper columns.

But you get what I mean, of course.

Now, each one of these fellers is afraid the other one's going to pull off somethin. That's why they hire Campaign Managers for the year. They just don't want to play second fiddle on anything.

But being surrounded with all kinds of "Advisers" as they is, it don't make them Campaigners; nor it don't make them vote-getters. Of course, folks will vote—just the same as they always takes the coupon when they buys washing soap. And somebody'll be elected sure as shootin'. But we sometimes wonder, if them Candidates came down into the little Towns and Villages and played around the Crossroads and if they had time to take in some church Picnics, whether they would get as many votes as they do in the Great Newspaper Elections.

Folks, I tells you that when you gives money to buy a Hoss, you looks him over thoroughly, you drives him and walks him, you slap your hands to see if he'll jump—you do all these things before you will buy any old Hoss.

But you give votes to a man for President, when you never seen him act at all; you don't know how he's going to stand up under the load. But you heard somebody say he's a Good Man; and leaseways, your Dad would have voted for him if he had a-lived this long and that's good enough proof for you. Mebbe you're right, folks; mebbe this old country's gettin too big for Presidential Candidates to come down across the fields to your Village; and mebbe they is a heap more fun speakin to boiled shirts at a $5 dinner than talkin from the Town Hall porch and eatin Ham and Cabbage; an' mebbe I orten to say these things about men who is way up above me in learnin' and brains bu—well, Oh, I guess I'm an Old Fool, anyways.

But I can't help saying it. I got pictures of Lincoln and Cleveland and Roosevelt up over the mantle in the parlor, and in the cool of the evening, sometimes I go in and look at 'em, and I says sort of to myself, "You men knew Us Folks, better'n that, didn't you? O' course they ain't answerin me, but sometimes I thinks I can see 'em kinda lookin sad-like down at me, as if they had somethin to tell, but couldn't."

And I was just a'wonderin whether they couldn't tell us all a lot of things, if they was livin. I betcha they could.

Well, they ain't no use bein sad about it; guess I'll quit writin and go up the creek fishin. Maybe I can get this stuff off my mind thataway.

Y'rs With Respeckt,

JOE SPIVUS.

Caravan Passes

Over fifty cars in a body passed through Newark last Thursday filled with happy picnickers, headed toward the Maryland line.

Later inquiry revealed that the cars contained employees of the Associated Wilmington Laundries, off to Charlestown, Md., for their annual outing. Officials of the firm accompanied the crowd, including "Will" White, song leader, and harmonica expert.

Behold, There Are Two!

An unusual bit of engineering has been demonstrated recently at the Dr. Casperson home, formerly the residence of the late Hazo Barton, on West Main street.

Dr. Casperson evolved the idea of increasing the valuations of his property and having more accommodations, so he called in George Moore, rigger, engineer, and general handy man in anything.

The result is the spectacle of two houses growing and prospering where one grew before.

The Casperson house was cut right in two, and one half moved in a half circle, to a point alongside the other half, and along the same building line. New porches and many other improvements to the houses will be made before the job is finished. It is the reported intention of Dr. Casperson to rent or sell one of the houses.

CASE IS DISMISSED

Hearing On Auto Smashup
Held Here Thursday Night

On a warrant sworn out by Traffic Officer Wardle, on a charge of reckless driving, George Brunner, an employee of the Rittenhouse Motor Co., of this place, was haled in Magistrate Thompson's court last Thursday evening.

The hearing came about over an accident on the Cooch's Bridge road on July 28th, in which three Rose Hill, Del., people, in a Ford coupe, were injured and the car wrecked when it collided with Brunner's car coming out the old Jedell lane.

Testimony from several witnesses was heard in the case. It is reported that witnesses testified that a Mr.

Davis, driver of the wrecked Ford, was under the influence of liquor at the time. After hearing both sides of the case, Magistrate Thompson dismissed the charges.

The Davis car is practically wrecked, and for several days after the crash way lying at the rear of the Stiltz stables on Main street. Two women who were in the car with Davis were painfully cut and bruised in the mishap, but are now recovered.

Bolt Kills Horse

During the severe electrical storm last Wednesday, it was reported that a valuable horse on the Dennison farm this side of Hockessin, was struck by lightning and instantly killed. Two horses were standing together in the field, according to reports. The other animal escaped injury by the bolt.

Manager Boulden's Elkton club is still hanging grimly on to second place as the Susquehanna League enters the home stretch.

By means of bunching their hits in the latter stages of Saturday's game in Elkton, the home team sent Aberdeen down to defeat by a 9-6 score. Most of the damage was done by both teams in the latter half of the game, as the pitchers were stingy with hits in the early innings.

Elkton's big seventh inning rally of four runs did the trick. Aberdeen came right back in their half and equalled the rally, but they never caught up to the Elk River boys.

The Elktonites found their batting eyes at the expense of Farring. Reynolds and "Old Man" Finn led the field with three each, with Potts, Robinson and Peterson right behind them. Hamler and the Brown boys hit best for Aberdeen. The score:

PERRYVILLE GOES MERRILY ONWARD

By soundly trouncing Bel Air to the tune of 11-3 last Saturday, Perryville kept its slate unblemished by defeat in the second half race of the River League. The Railroaders are playing clever ball, working together nicely, and look to be the favorites for the pennant. Their eleven runs

TALBOT CO. WHEAT BRINGS GOOD PRICES

Easton, Md.—Sales of Talbot county wheat this week brought good prices, though the price of last week has declined somewhat. 2,500 bushels of No. 2 red garlicky brought $1.38 3-5 cents; another lot of No. 3 brought $1.25 1-2. The price on smutty, garlicky wheat sold has been from two to three cents a bushel under the above prices. Corn prices have been quoted as high as $1.32. Prices in the various sales reported have varied considerably according to the grade, but the average price has been quite satisfactory to Talbot farmers.

ELK MILLS AGAIN

The Elk Mills team, by means of a three run upheaval in the sixth inning of their game Saturday with Havre de Grace, managed to squeeze through to a one-run victory. Both teams got eight hits. A ninth inning rally by Havre de Grace had the Elk Mills rooters on pins and needles, but the spurge fell short by one marker. Score by innings:

RAIN HALTS CARNIVAL

Wind Blows Down Stands at Elk Mills Saturday Night

Just when everything was in readiness for a gala opening of the Elk Mills Athletic Association Carnival in that town Saturday evening, a heavy rain and windstorm struck the grounds. Carnival workers hurriedly placed their stock of goods under cover, but the wind blew down several stands and the rain wet the grounds thoroughly. A phone message to Elkton notified the Elkton Band to call off its trip to the Carnival. Monday night saw a big crowd on hand to give the Carnival a belated send off. Two Ford cars to be given away are on exhibition at the Fader Motor Co. here. One goes off tonight and the other one Saturday night.

Report 4000 At Beach

Owners of White Crystal Beach, better known throughout Cecil county as Reybold's Wharf, state that on Sunday last, at least 4000 people enjoyed the beach and bathing. Cars were parked solid within the grove and along the hillside overlooking the beach.

Big crowds also gathered at Charlestown, Town Point, and other beaches along the Elk River.

Rising Sun vs. Providence (Will be played at Elk Mills.) Perryville at North East. Charlestown at Bay View.

The manager and players of the Providence baseball club extend their thanks to the ladies of Providence for their contribution of $95.50 which was the net receipts from the festival recently held by the ladies for the purpose of purchasing new uniforms for the baseball team next season.

This speaks well for the baseball team in Providence who proved by their contribution that they are good players and are willing to stand back of a baseball team despite the fact they have made a very poor showing this season. This interest by the boys has put new life in the team and the boys are already making plans for next season.

Many Friends Gather At Thompson Anniversary

Local Couple, Married 49 Years, Center of Interest on Choate Street Last Night

Over 150 relatives and friends from points in southern Delaware, New Jersey and Pennsylvania, as well as from Newark and vicinity, gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Thompson on Choate street last night to congratulate the happy couple on the occasion of their 49th wedding anniversary.

In the side yard of the Thompson home, the Continental Band held forth and played many selections during the evening. The band thus tendered a courtesy to one of the veteran employees of the Company, a friend of the organization and to every member in it.

Mr. and Mrs. Thompson, both lively and happy as youngsters, welcomed the guests in the sitting room of their home about eight o'clock.

Short Speeches Made
Although Dr. Alderson, Mr. Thompson's life long friend and minister, was unable to come to make his scheduled address, three of the latter's friends from Newark gave short talks between selections by the band. They were William W. Roberts, Dr. E. B. Crooks and I. Newton Shaeffer. Mr. Thompson also spoke a few words to the friends, relatives and neighbors gathered around.

Mr. Roberts, better known by the Continental boys as "Pap," spoke fervently of the five years spent working side by side with Mr. Thompson. The two men handle a crane which lifts big drums from the floor to their positions overhead.

"When his handle's up," said Mr. Roberts, "mine is down, and when mine's up, his is down. This spirit permeates our life. It should be a thought for everyone. We have grown to love each other, and many, many times, we talk over things together."

Mr. Roberts further stated that Godliness and religious character is everywhere evident in the daily life of the Thompsons, and called upon the gathering to take heed of their lives and make them examples.

In a brief talk, Dr. Crooks congratulated both Mr. and Mrs. Thompson on their happy life together, and said that he "hoped he would get another invitation when their sixtieth anniversary arrived."

Dr. Crooks was followed by Mr. Thompson, who spoke a few words of appreciation to the band boys and to the rest of the friends gathered about him. He thanked God for his wife and his little home, for health and for happiness.

I. Newton Shaeffer, a warm friend of the family and a fellow worker in the M. E. Church here, also spoke briefly.

Delicious refreshments were served.

OBITUARY

Edmund G. Lynch

Edmund G. Lynch, a well-known resident of Elkton, died at his home on Howard street, Thursday afternoon, after several weeks illness of kidney trouble, aged about 78 years. The deceased was a native of the First district, son of the late John and Mary Lynch. For some years he was engaged in farming. About 35 years ago he was appointed superintendent at the County Home near Cherry Hill, which he served for some years most efficiently. He married Miss Mary Wilson, of Warwick, who survives him with one son and two daughters—J. Wirt Lynch, Mrs. Ralph Pearce, of Elkton, and Mrs. Ella Boyd, of Nottingham, Pa., R. D. The funeral was held from his late home Sunday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock, services at the house, and interment at Warwick cemetery.

Many Relatives and Friends

Numbered among the relatives and friends seen about the house and on the lawn during the evening were:

William D. Thompson, a brother of Clayton, Del.; Joshua Thompson and wife, also brother of Mr. Thompson, of Camden, N. J.; Mrs. Thomas Jaquette, a sister of Mrs. Thompson, and her two daughters; David Sheppard and family, a brother of Mrs. Thompson; Harvey Davis and family; Mrs. Sallie Worrall; Mr. Harry Thompson; Sol Wilson, a warm friend of the family; Dr. and Mrs. E. B. Crooks, Mr. and Mrs. I. N. Shaeffer, Albert Everson, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Hill, William Marrs, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Leak, Mr. and Mrs. Sweeney, Mrs. Fannie Mesmer and daughters (daughter of the Thompsons); Charles Thompson and family of Wilmington, a son of Mr. Thompson, and many others.

Married In 1875

Mr. Thompson was born in Smyrna, Del., on the old Stokely property, December 17, 1875. He was given the name of John Clark. He met his wife in 1872 and they were married August 12, 1875. Farmed until 1892, at which time he became a railroad man. Worked as a railroad employee until 1899. For the next twenty years he occupied various positions in the horticultural line. In 1919 he became an employee of the Continental Fibre Co., with whom he is still connected. At one time he owned a farm on the top of Polly Drummond Hill, from which it was considered one of the finest views in all Delaware could be obtained. The farm at present is owned by Rev. R. W. Cooper. He joined Red Lion M. E. Church in 1874, and has been a member of some Methodist church ever since. He is at present a member of Newark M. E. Church.

Mrs. J. C. Thompson was born on a farm in Cumberland County, N. J. She moved to Delaware in 1871. She has been a member of the Methodist Episcopal Church since childhood. Her maiden name was Lovina Sheppard.

PARENT-TEACHER OPENING DRIVE

"Up at Valley Forge, where Washington's army suffered so much and held out so long, patriotic people from all parts of the country are putting their money together to build a beautiful memorial temple. It has been called the 'Westminster Abbey of America.' Every window, practically every stone that is placed in the interior of the building, stands for something that every American is proud to remember in our Nation's history. The ceiling is dotted with reproductions of the seals of the states (almost the same as the state flag, you know) in original colors. These seals have been placed in the ceiling in the order in which the states came into the Union, and Delaware, in this great memorial temple, has the place of honor. Her seal is in the first place. That first place was won by our great, great grandfathers a long time ago. Are we holding it?"

"One of the most important ratings among the states is in the matter of school attendance. Six years ago Delaware ranked 35th in this particular. Now, thanks to what you boys and girls have already done, it is seventh. You are one of the army to bring it up to first place. Will you make it this year?"

"Everybody out on Opening Day—September 2nd—to make a good start for it. We will be standing on the sidelines and cheering you on!"

girl and felling her grandfather. After the aged man had been knocked unconscious, it is alleged, the negro dragged the girl from the house, but she broke from his grasp and dashed across the fields to the home of Samuel Eastburn, a son-in-law of the Crossan's. The child is a daughter of Mrs. Elizabeth Buck, of Hockessin. On the girl's charge, Savage was held without bail, and under $1000 bail on each of the other charges. No evidence was taken by Magistrate

Stradley, who merely read the negro's signed confession, which Savage admitted making.

MANY VISIT REHOBOTH OVER THE WEEK-END

About nine or ten carloads of Newark people in addition to many more passengers on "Miss Delaware" of the Stiltz Bus Line, journeyed to Rehoboth Beach, Del., during Saturday and Sunday last.

Beside the natural attraction of the beach and ocean, many of the Newarkers visited members of Battery E, who were encamped with the National Guard regiment near the town. The soldier boys seemed in high good spirits, and several got there in time Saturday to see Sergeant Bill Crow cooking ham and beans for a most delicious supper. Over fifty Newarkers were in attendance during the week-end, according to reports.

Cones for serving ice cream can be made at home, of flaky sweetened pastry.

Every housewife should own a cooking thermometer and a sugar-meter.

In Memoriam

Charles Davis

What sad remembrance August brings Just a year, but well remembered, The footsteps I am listening for in vain;

My eyes are dim with tears, my heart sore from pain.

But no words will ever be so sweet

As the words he used to say;

No days will ever be so sad

As one year ago.

I believe he is gone forever, but I miss him so much

I hope my loss will be his gain

And I hope to meet him soon again.

—His Mother.

Valued at $2500;
Insured for $1500

A midnight fire recently destroyed the home of a Middle West family. The concluding sentence of the newspaper account says: "It was a one story house valued at about $2500 and there was $1500 insurance."

This man lost about $1000, or 40 per cent of the value of his house, simply because he neglected to have it well insured. A few dollars a year extra for premiums would have brought him $1000. Is your home fully insured? You can buy dependable fire insurance through this bank.

CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENT

"An Act proposing an amendment to Article V of the Constitution of the State of Delaware, relating to Registration of Voters."

BE IT ENACTED by the Senate and House of Representatives of the State of Delaware in General Assembly met, (two-thirds of all the members elected to each House agreeing thereto):

SECTION 1. That Article V of the Constitution of the State of Delaware be amended by striking out all of Section 4 of said Article, and by inserting in lieu thereof a new Section 4, in the following language, viz:

"SECTION 4. The General Assembly shall enact uniform laws to regulate the registration of voters in this State entitled to vote under this Article, which registration shall be conclusive evidence to the election officers of the right of every person so registered to vote at any General Election while his or her name shall remain on the list of registered voters, and who is not at the time disqualified under the provisions of Section 3 of this Article; and no person shall vote at such General Election whose name does not at that time appear in said list of registered voters."

"There shall be at least two registration days in a period commencing not more than one hundred and twenty days, nor less than sixty days before, and ending not more than twenty days, nor less than ten days before, each General Election, on which registration days persons whose names are not on the list of registered voters established by law for such election, may apply for registration, and on which registration days applications may be made to strike from the said registration list names of persons on said list who are not eligible to vote at such election; provided, however, that such registration may be corrected as hereinafter provided at any time prior to the day of holding the election."

"From the decision of the registration officers granting or refusing registration, or striking or refusing to strike a name or names from the registration list, any person interested, or any registration officer, may appeal to the resident Associate Judge of the County, or in case of his disability or absence from the County, to any Judge entitled to sit in the Supreme Court, whose determination shall be final; and he shall have power to order any name improperly omitted from the said registry to be placed on the said registry, to be stricken therefrom, and any name appearing on the said registry, in any manner incorrect, to be corrected, and to make and enforce all necessary orders in the premises for the correction of the said registry. Registration shall be a prerequisite for voting only at general elections, at which Representatives to the General Assembly shall be chosen, unless the General Assembly shall otherwise provide by law."

"The existing laws in reference to the registration of voters so far as consistent with the provisions of this Article shall continue in force until the General Assembly shall otherwise provide."

JOSHUA DANFORTH RUSH,
President of the Senate.
SAMUEL N. CULVER,
Speaker of the House.

Approved February 13, 1923.
WM. D. DENNEY,
Governor.

L. A. R. Benson, Secretary of State of the State of Delaware, do hereby certify that the above and foregoing is a true and correct copy of Senate Bill No. 5 entitled "An Act proposing an amendment to Article V of the Constitution of the State of Delaware, relating to registration of voters," as the same appears on the enrolled bill filed in the office of the Secretary of State and approved by the Governor, February 13, 1923, which said Bill proposing such Amendment to the Constitution of this State is published in accordance with the requirements of the Constitution of the State.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand and official seal at Dover, this twenty-eighth day of July, in the year of our Lord one thousand nine hundred and twenty-four.

SALISBURY MAN HAS A FUELLESS MOTORDemonstrates Rebuilt Ford
Engine; Runs Without Spark or Gasoline

Salisbury, Md.—Invention of a fuelless motor, which may be used for all purposes to which the gasoline motor is adapted, is claimed by Ralph D. McAllister, of Salisbury, Md. The motor is now being shipped to Salisbury from Washington, where on Thursday it pumped water at the Government Patent Office for an hour and five minutes, undergoing a successful test before the chief engineer before application for patent was made. The motor eliminates the use of motive fuel, spark plugs, wiring and valves. Motive power is obtained by the employment of weights and springs. A Ford motor was remodeled for the test, although the inventor claims the device may be used on any auto motor and the whole enclosed within the standard sized hood of that particular car. The cost of remodeling such motors will be less than $200, according to the inventor. In principle the device contains weights of 24 pounds each, which equally balance the crank shaft. On the end of the shaft is a timing gear that automatically works 2 cam shafts. These cam shafts contain 2 springs, each and running from the cam to the crank shaft. The weights automatically operate the crank shaft and the cam operates the springs. With the piston at dead center, a slight movement of the weights will start the plunge to the end of the cylinder, the springs then immediately creating a reverse motion. The standard auto accelerator may be adjusted so that in regulating speed the cam may be moved farther from the crank shaft giving more force for revolution. McAllister has recently placed two other inventions upon the market—the first, a windshield wiper operated from the exhaust of the motor car, and an electrical signal for grade crossings at railroad tracks.

NEW STREETS ORDERED FOR EASTON, MD.

Easton, Md.—Bids for building nearly seven thousand feet of curb and gutter have been awarded by the Mayor and Council to Charles W. Sigman for a total price of about $8,401.60. He bid eighty cents a foot on curb and forty cents on gutter, a total of $1.20 per foot for both.

Easton is at present one of the most modern and up-to-date towns of its size to be found anywhere. This is due to the progressiveness of its officials, who endeavor to keep the civic improvements abreast of the times.

Houses and stores are scarce in Easton. It is difficult to find a vacant dwelling or apartment. For this reason people are building in the extreme limit of the town, where there are vacant lots in abundance.

As the people are building in this section the town is encouraging expansion by improving the streets with curbs and gutters. With such co-operation the town will eventually expand and grow.

LEGISLATURE SOLONS
HOLD BIG REUNIONMet Monday at Rehoboth Beach; Many Guests Invited; Dinner in Evening

The second annual reunion of the General Assembly of Delaware was held on Monday of this week at the Belhaven Hotel, in Rehoboth Beach. The big hostelry was turned over to the solons and a large crowd took part in the festivities.

Between fifty and sixty members of the Legislature attended a banquet in the hotel at 7.30 in the evening. The after-dinner program was made up of short speeches by members and guests present.

Representatives Harry G. Little and Ellwood Nelson acted as toastmasters at the banquet.

Among the invited guests at the reunion were: Governor Denney, Senator L. Heister Ball, Senator Thomas F. Bayard, Congressman W. H. Boyce, Adjutant General J. Austin Ellison, Coy. John P. LeFevre, Mrs. W. K. du Pont, Mrs. Donald S. Ashbrook, the Rev. Zack W. Wells, former Governor Charles R. Miller, former Governor John G. Townsend, Jr., William G. Highfield, Donald B. Make Trip

Two Newark girls, of the Rosebud Sewing Club, will again make the trip to the Eastern States Exposition at Springfield, Mass., this fall. They are Martha Jaquette and Harriet Ferguson. They were named on a list of entries by A. D. Cobb, State Boys' and Girls' Club leader, during the course of the Junior Short Course, which ended here on Saturday last. This is about the highest honor that a club member can secure. Others who won the trip, with the club they represent, follow:

Laws Chapel canning team, Felton, Margaret Hopkins and Susanna Warrington. Houston canning team, Harold Johnson and W. B. Simpson. This will make the second year these two have been on the team to go to Springfield. Greenwood poultry team, Ralph Snowberger and Robert Annette.

CECIL FARMERS' DAY
WILL BE AUGUST 16th

Elkton, Md.—The Eleventh Annual meeting of the Allied Farming Interests of Cecil county will be held at the Tome School, Port Deposit, Saturday, August 16th. This will be a big day and the attendance will be large, as on former occasions.

Among the prominent speakers will be Miss Lavina Engle, Manager Maryland League for Women Voters; Mr. B. F. Younk, New York, a friend of the farmers; Mr. Charles W. Holman, Secretary National Milk Producers' Association.

Special music will be rendered and dinner served by the Ladies' Aid of Hopewell church. Exercises will commence at 10.30 a. m. Plan now to attend and make this meeting the largest and best ever held in the county.

MAKING IT EASY
FOR THE VOTERPlatform of All Four Parties
Being Published by Women's League

Indicative of women's growing interest in politics and especially the careful consideration given to issues to be decided at the polls, is the announcement by the National League of Women Voters of the publication of the platforms of four political parties. In a small pamphlet, the League has arranged the platforms of the Republican, Democratic and Prohibition parties and the Conference for Progressive Political Action, the four political bodies to which the League recently presented suggested planks based on measures in its national program.

It is believed that this is the first time that so many party platforms have been published together for the purpose of study. Publication of the platforms carries out the specifications in the league program adopted at the recent convention in Buffalo, when the study of 1924 party platforms was recommended under the heading, "Education in Government and Politics." In addition to the platforms and pamphlet contains a short explanatory foreword and the league planks as presented to the parties.

The publication, the foreword states, is undertaken as a matter of service to "those more thoughtful voters who may wish to have the official platforms for convenient reference or comparative study." It also points out that passages in the platforms bearing directly on the subject matter of the league's planks are printed in bold type.

"The platforms deserve careful reading," Miss Bell Sherwin, president of the National League, and head of the department of efficiency in government, says. "No woman voter interested in politics and good government can afford to go to the polls without a thorough knowledge of the platforms on which parties and candidates stand."

"The publication is useful. Voters will find it worthwhile as a starting point for summer conversation, both spicy and profitable." Members of the league will be interested to note that many items in the adopted program of the league which were not presented as planks, were embodied in several platforms.

Advance orders already received indicate that in the platforms we have an educational pamphlet that can hold its own with the most frivolous summer novel among 1924 "best sellers." Copies of the pamphlet are now on sale at the office of the Delaware League of Women Voters, 211 West 11th street, Wilmington.

INFECTION DANGERS
IN SUMMER SCRATCHVacationists Urged To Take Precautions To Avoid
Septic Poisoning

Hurt Yourself?

1. If skin is broken, then:
2. Apply iodine—do not wash wound.
3. Apply sterile piece of gauze.
4. Wrap with sterile gauze bandage.
5. Fasten with adhesive plaster.

Summer vacationists are being warned to be more careful of bruises and slight wounds, because of the seriousness of infection, by Dr. Harry W. Gentles, chairman of the first aid committee, Chicago chapter of the American Red Cross.

"The tragic death of young Calvin Coolidge, Jr., has served dramatically to show that no wound is slight," Doctor Gentles declared. "There is always the danger of infection. When the skin is abraded or cut, do not go on with your tennis or golf—avoid further irritation. If the swelling, pain or redness continues, consult a doctor."

"It is a great mistake to wrap a handkerchief around a bruise. Thousands of infections prove to doctors that so-called 'clean cloths' are never free of germ life."

"Especially in summer should bruises be watched. Vacation activities, outdoor sports, mountain and seashore pastimes bring frequent minor scratches and bruises. Vacationists should be as careful as their doctors."

"If you get a slight wound or bruise, do not neglect it. Serious sickness may result, and occasionally septic poisoning may cause death. There are four simple things that one should do:

"First, apply half-strength tincture of iodine to the wound, or better, use glass ampoules. Never apply near the eyes, between the thighs or for wounds of the intestines. It is a mistake to wash the injury. Iodine is a destroyer of germs, and is very effective, as war surgeons proved."

"Second, apply a sterile piece of gauze, folded into a convenient pad. Third, wrap this dressing with a sterile gauze bandage. Fourth, fasten the bandage with adhesive plaster."

"It is simple to do, but it may save much suffering later. There is no need to fear septic poisoning from summer injuries, if you do this. The American Red Cross is teaching thousands of men, women and children these simple rudiments of first aid. It means the saving of many lives this summer."

STATE FAIR TO AGAIN
HOLD HORSE SHOWTroopers From Fort Myer To Give Exhibition of Riding

From inquiries that have come from many of the estates in Delaware, Pennsylvania, New York, Maryland and Virginia, about the horse show at the Delaware State Fair, September 9-13, the exhibit of blooded horses this year will be the best the Fair has ever witnessed. The jumping classes and the hunters and also the pony classes promise to be better represented this year than ever before and these are the spectacular features that make the horse show full of thrills and excitement.

The paddock is being prepared for the coming exhibit which will run practically every day of the Fair if the entries are as large as are anticipated. Special arrangements are being made so that the horses which represent thousands of dollars and are really the most valuable exhibits on the ground may receive the best of care during their stay at the Fair grounds.

One of the events round which the greatest interest is centered is the Delaware State Fair challenge cup given by Mr. William du Pont. This cup is for horse or hack 15 hands 2 inches high or over and must be won three times by the same owner before it can be claimed. The cup has been offered since 1917 and as the contest stands to date, John P. Crozer, of

Judge Rice Says Whipping Post
Punishment Is Not Consistent
With Murder Conviction

Commenting last week on the suggestion of James Montgomery Flagg, noted artist, that 40 lashes at the whipping post would be the proper punishment for Richard Loeb and Nathan Leopold, confessed Chicago slayers, Resident Judge Herbert L. Rice of New Castle county, who has been on the bench for 14 years and has sentenced scores of convicted prisoners to be lashed at the whipping post, under the existing laws of Delaware, stated that the crime of murder is one for which the penalty is way beyond the whipping post.

"If a man has confessed to murder, hanging is the proper remedy. That is the law of this State, although in Delaware we do not accept a plea of guilty of murder as they do in Illinois. In this state the prosecution must present their evidence and prove their case."

"While it is a debatable question as to whether the chastisement at the whipping post is an effective remedy for crime, the whipping post is not the proper or adequate punishment for a crime of the grade of capital offense. Murder is a far more serious crime than the class of offenses for which men are whipped in this State."

Judge Rice did not care to express his opinion as to what the proper punishment would be for the Chicago slayers, as he was not familiar enough with the facts, his comments being in regard to a hypothetical case where murder had been confessed.

When interviewed concerning the suggestion of Artist Flagg to flog the youthful Chicago slayers, Warden Elmer Leach, of the New Castle County Workhouse, who is often called upon to carry out the whipping sentence imposed by the court, declared that he is not in favor of the whipping post and believes that it is a relic of the past ages, entirely out of place in our modern systems for the administration of justice to the people. Warden Leach stated that he had never seen a man who was made better by reason of having been whipped at the post and declared it embitters a man against society to chain him to a post and administer a public official lashing on his back—Morning News.

Upland, Pa., has won it twice. In 1922 he won first with Bohemian Actress, one of the finest specimens of horseflesh ever produced in this country. Last year Mr. Crozer's entry, Sir John, also took first place, so that he has two wins of the necessary three to his credit. It is expected that he will send the best entry possible this year and compete with the hop of winning the third and final honor to obtain the cup. Other winners of first place in this competition are Joseph Weisenfeld, Miss Mary B. du Pont and Miss Amy du Pont.

All of the country estates round about in New Castle county and lower Pennsylvania are expected to enter some of their valuable stock in the various classes for which valuable prizes are offered and which always afford a rare treat for the lovers of horses. Automobiles have so replaced ordinary work horses that one is seldom seen anymore on a city street but these show horses continue to be bred and trained just as carefully as twenty years ago.

One of the most thrilling and spectacular demonstrations of riding will be given by two troops of United States cavalry from Fort Myer, Va., as a part of the program of the Fair every afternoon. These soldiers in the regular service of Uncle Sam, trained to the limit in horsemanship, give a display of bareback riding and daredevil features that outclass the famous rodeos of the cowboys of the west. Their riding is always one of the big features of any exhibit in which they appear.

DOGS AND HORSES
NEED MUCH CARES. P. C. A. Man Advises On Hot Weather Treatment

"Give the horses plenty of water and keep their heads wet," is the advice of George Kopp, special agent for the S. P. C. A. By watering them frequently during the day, and wetting down their heads, especially when they are at work, the horses will be saved much pain that they would otherwise suffer during this torrid weather.

Mr. Kopp also had a word of advice for the owners of dogs, especially those who place any value on their pets. He suggested that all dogs be kept tied up during this excessively hot weather, because if they are allowed to run at large there is great danger of their being shot and killed. The heat is inductive to fits and when a canine is so attacked they are likely to be killed in the belief that they are suffering from rabies. To guard against this Mr. Kopp says owners should keep their pets off the streets.

Basket Picnic
The Head of Christiana Church and Sunday School will hold an all-day basket picnic on the church lawn, Wednesday, August 27. All members and friends are invited to attend.

DEL. FOOTBALLERS TO TRAIN SEPT. 11-17

Coach McAvoy Decides To Take His Charges to Del- aware Beach This Fall

It was announced last week that the Delaware football squad will go into camp at Delaware Beach on September 11th next for a six-day intensive training period, prior to the opening of the University here.

Arrangements are being made at the Beach for the rebuilding of a football gridiron with goal posts, and splendid quarters are being prepared for the athletes. About eight men of last year's team will be lost, according to reports, and Coach McAvoy wants to get his men out early in order to get a line on his material.

MERMAID NEWS TELLS OF GRANGE VISITOR

National Master Taber of the Grange was a visitor to Delaware last Thursday and addressed the Grangers at their annual Pomona Field Day on the Delaware State Fair Grounds. On Friday Mr. Taber was a Kent county visitor and on Saturday went to Oak Orchard, in Sussex. He and his family spent the week-end at Rehoboth.

Mr. and Mrs. William P. Peach joined the Tabers and State Master Robinson and wife at Kitts Hammock on Friday last for an outing.

Charles Woodward, Egbert Klair and Carl Woodward started a motor trip to Niagara Falls last Monday. They will be gone several days.

The L. H. Pennington family had visitors from Philadelphia over Sunday last.

Another party of Mermaid boys start a motor jaunt this Saturday. They are Ralph Klair, Edward Naudain, Horace Woodward and Eugene Klair. Their destination is Atlantic City.

IMPASSABLE ROADS ANGER FARMERS

It is understood that a prominent Wilmington lawyer has been working for the interest of this hundred, and that this fund has been the outcome. According to a newspaper account of the meeting of the court:

Mill Creek hundred shall be allotted $4,400 out of the $10,000 which is expected from the State for the improvement of dirt roads in New Castle county, when received.

"When received," is a rather indistinct term to use, and indicates that the money is not available at the present time. Every day brings winter closer to Mill Creek. As one farmer puts it, "Five dollars spent in 1923 is equivalent to $25 spent right now." It will take all of the $4,400 and more to put the roads of Mill Creek in any kind of shape, according to estimates of men who live there, but if the money is ready now, lots of good work can be gotten in before Fall. The question is—when will the $4,400 be available?

Meantime, the mail man continues to detour miles and miles along his route; farmers cannot get their wheat threshed, because the threshing crews refuse to take a chance with their valuable machinery on such roads, and the tomato crop threatens to rot in the fields, because the ripe vegetables cannot be hauled to the cannery over some of the roads. A few short weeks remain until frost comes. What is going to be done? That's the question being asked in Mill Creek hundred. What's going to be done?

"NATIONALS" LEAD IN M. E. LEAGUE

risk, Dr. Manns declared he was prompted only by his inherent ability to "call 'em right," and trusted that the players on either side would respect his age and dignity, if not his decisions. Following these brief words, the players uttered a rousing cheer and "Doc" was unanimously elected on his merits.

Each sum dropped in the "baseballs" carried around by the players helps get the baserunner around to home plate. A home run, sacrifice hit, base on balls and a plain hit each count towards the total. At each meeting of the league, the totals will be compiled and the results of the "inning" just closed will be posted.

At the conclusion of the "game" the winning team will accept with pleasure a treat from the losers.

All funds raised in this novel manner will go toward the building fund of the M. E. Church.

With heavy hitters galore on both sides, and some really expert field generals and strategists in the game, a red hot contest is expected, and already the "fans" are rooting for their favorites. When the "lucky seventh" gets around, there's no telling how much excitement may be forthcoming. There have been no "ground rules" made to date, but it is expected that Umpire Manns will be forced to harangue the crowd at intervals during the heat of battle.

Rev. Frank Herson, a dangerous hitter and a fast man on the bases, is discovered way down on the batting order of the "Americans." When this was brought to the attention of the Captain, he is said to have remarked that he thought it would be a lot easier for E. M. Thompson to get around the bases if Home Run Herson was batting after him. The statement smacks with logic, we might add.

E. B. Crooks, Henry F. Mote, Clarence Short, and others on the Nationals are gleefully planning vicious assaults into the ego of their opponents, and plenty of action is foreshadowed.

May Have Printing Plant

L. K. Bowen, for eight years postmaster at Newark, Del., and former editor of the Delaware Ledger, is in Rehoboth Beach for the summer. He is considering a proposition to establish an up-to-date printing plant here. He usually can be found loitering about the soda fountain at Horn's.—From Rehoboth Beach "News"—issue of August 9th.
