Mid-Winter Carnival Held by Y. M. C. A. Has Auspicious Opening

Playing of Continental Mandolin Club a Pleasing Feature

Much Interest Manifested in Popularity Contest; Handsome Prizes on Display Gives Decided Impetus to Voting

The Board of Directors of the Y. M. C. A. and all "Y" boosters have every reason to feel gratified at the impetus given to the Carnival by the enthusiastic support evident at the opening last night. The financial returns were likewise gratifying and far in excess of expectations.

Even before the formal opening announced for 7:30 a considerable number of young people had assembled and several sharp blasts of Secretary Bebout's whistle were necessary to produce order sufficient for George Carter, who officiated for Mayor Frazer, to make himself heard.

The Mayor was unable on account of an important engagement to open the carnival. Mr. Carter in his usual felicitous manner opened the affair formally paying eloquent tribute to Chairman A. G. Wilkinson and his aides by whom the Carnival was planned and the work consummated.

The musical program for the evening was furnished by the Continental Mandolin Club and the Y. W. C. A. club of Wilmington, under the leadership of Prof. C. B. Edwards. Their rendition of popular and classical selections elicited enthusiastic applause and repeated encores.

The booths erected under the supervision of D. Lee Rose, E. C. Wilson and other experienced Carnival workers, display much originality on the part of the committee workers who produced beautiful effects in decoration.

The candy booth carries out the St. Valentine idea; the front of the booth is arranged with heart shaped opening, and hearts predominate in the other decorations. The young ladies wear heart crowns.

The fancy work booth features the poinsetta in its decorations and has produced a beautiful effect. The Y. W. C. A. booth has lavender as the predominating color and the attendants are dressed in Japanese costumes.

The restaurant in the gallery with W. D. Dean and Daniel Thompson in charge proved popular, as did the "hot dog" booth on the main floor.

D. Lee Rose made an excellent "barker" for the ten-pin game. Pierce Crompton, Paul Moore and their aides did a thriving business with the "ring the cane" game. The parcel post sale went exceptionally well in charge of Mrs. Pearce Cann and Mrs. W. E. Holton as did the cake table with Mrs. F. A. Cooch and Mrs. R. J. Triant in charge. The center booth where confetti, fancy paper hats and other novelties were sold was in charge of Miss Winnie Fader and Miss Nellie Wilson with C. C. Wilson as aide. Mrs. D. Lee Rose had charge of the fish pond.

Two Prizes Awarded

Three prizes were offered by the Board of Directors and E. L. Richards one for the best decorated booth—one for the most original and one for the most popular—the one which at the close of the carnival shows the biggest financial return.

This accounted for the worried and harassed expression worn at intervals last night by H. L. Bonham, Frederick Ritz and Dr. T. F. Manns upon whom devolved the responsibility of making the first two of these awards.

According to Dr. Manns who announced the awards, the decision was unanimous in giving the prize for the most original to the candy booth of which Misses Alberta Heiser and Dora Law were joint chairmen. They accordingly received a handsome cut glass compote.

To decide which was the most beautifully decorated booth presented more of a task but the judges finally decided upon the fancy-work booth and the chairman Mrs. George L. Townsend was presented with a dainty bud vase.

The contest for the most popular young woman in town was enjoyed considerably by the sight of the beautiful wicker chair offered as a prize to the lucky winner by Miller Bros. of Wilmington.

At the close of the contest last night Miss Alice Davy was leading with 28 votes, Miss Edith Spencer stood second with 27, Miss Dora Law, third with 26, Miss Cornelia Pilling, 16.

Two young men were backed by last night's crowd: Coach H. B. Shipley to the extent of 35 votes and Pierce Crompton, 26.

The winner in this contest will receive a handsome leather cushioned Morris chair donated jointly by The Evening Journal and Miller Bros.

The Post Office, where one might buy and send to the object of one's affection a gaily colored valentine, was an exceedingly popular place, the supply being nearly exhausted in less than an hour. The names of those receiving mail was read by George L. Medill, before the crowd began to thin out.

When confetti throwing, knocking down ten-pins and ringing canes had begun to lose their charm, the young folks clustered round the piano and asked for dance music. A few danced but not until Tom Armstrong and Clyde Poole mounted the platform and gave the "real thing in jazz" with vocal accompaniment did the young folks enter wholeheartedly into it. Dancing in a space roped off for that purpose will be a feature tonight, and doubtless for the remainder of the time.

Future Attractions

Tonight the Continental Band of more than two dozen pieces will furnish music for the evening.

On Friday night, Prof. Harold Cummings Mandolin Club will play.

Mid-Winter Reunion Of Alumnae To Be Held February 21

Mrs. Elizabeth Jones Crothers, president of the Alumnae Association of the Women's College visited Newark last week to make arrangements for the mid-winter reunion and banquet of the Association which will be held on Saturday evening, February 21 at the College.

Grain Grading Demonstration At Wolf Hall Last Wednesday

The Bureau of Markets will conduct a grain grading demonstration at Wolf Hall on Friday, February 18. All interested farmers and grain dealers will be shown what constitutes standard grade in grain and how grading is done.

Missionary Societies At Presbyterian Church Active

The Woman's Home Missionary Society of the Presbyterian church will hold its regular meeting tomorrow evening at 7:30 at the home of Mrs. Margaret D. Cann at South College Avenue.

The Young Ladies Mission circle met at the home of Miss Lydia Fader on Monday evening and were addressed by Miss Chin-Yui the Chinese student at the women's College who told interestingly of the life and activities the mission schools in China.

American Legion To Hold Meeting

The J. Allison O'Daniel Post, American Legion will hold a meeting in the Armory on Friday evening.

HOME ECONOMICS DAY PROVES ENJOYABLE EVENT

Club Members Exchange Recipes, See Fireless Cooker Made

Home Economics Day was observed at the New Century Club yesterday and was thoroughly enjoyed by the homemakers present who exchanged house-keeping secrets and favorite recipes in an entirely informal and wholly enjoyable manner. Labor saving devices and recipes which may later appear in book form were recounted with many a merry jest. Miss Laura V. Clark who has charge of the Practive House at Women's College demonstrated the making of a fireless cooker and from one already made served fruit and stew which had been cooked therein.

Miss Clara Grube, a 12 year old girl visiting the family of Roger Lovett, played with pleasing effect, "Aronaise" by Massenet, and Chopin's "Prelude."

Mrs. T. T. Martin sang "Just You" and "Mavis," to accompany Mrs. W. E. Holton.

MEETS WITH PAINFUL ACCIDENT AT B & O CROSSING

Elwood Haas Fails to Note Approach of North Bound Train

Elwood Haas, a young man employed at the plant of the American Vulcanized Fibre Co., met with a serious accident on Monday evening at the B. & O. crossing on North College Avenue.

Haas was on his way to work about 6:30 and found the safety gates down for a south bound freight. When this had passed, he went under the gate, attempted to cross the tracks and was struck by a northbound train whose approach was hid by the curve. He was evidently dragged as far as the power plant and thrown up on the bank where he was found in a delirious state by John Slack and David Major who happened along shortly afterward.

They took him to the office of Dr. H. B. Pearson who dressed his wounds temporarily, gave restoratives and sent him to Delaware hospital on the train due here at 7:11. Dr. Pearson made every arrangement for his care and the doctors there found that he had sustained serious injuries to his head and face. Fracture or concussion of the brain was feared, but an X ray taken yesterday failed to show this. Reports from the hospital indicate that his condition is very good. Mr. Haas is married and lives on Maple Avenue.

OBITUARY

Rachel A. Rothwell

Mrs. Rachel A. Rothwell widow of the late William T. Rothwell, died suddenly at her home in Barksdale on Sunday night. She had suffered frequently with attacks of indigestion but on Sunday was apparently in good health and ate a hearty supper. About 9 o'clock, however, she was found dead in her chair. Coroner Magraw was summoned and on advice of the physician gave a certificate of death from heart failure. Mrs. Rothwell was 66 years old. She is survived by two sons and two daughters.

Hannah H. Hopkins

Hannah H. Hopkins age 52 years died at Farnhurst on Wednesday, February 4. The body was brought to the home of her brother Stewart Hopkins where funeral services were held on Saturday, February 7 at 1 o'clock with Dr. W. J. Rowan officiating. Interment was made in the Methodist cemetery at Principio Furnace, Md.

She leaves one brother, Stewart Hopkins who lives on Academy St.

Oliver H. Appleby

Oliver H. Appleby of Harmony died at Homeopathic Hospital, Wilmington on Wednesday, February 4. He had been taken there for an operation but became too weak to have it performed. An autopsy showed peritonitis to be the cause of his death. Funeral services were held on Sunday at Christiana Presbyterian church with Rev. David A. Reed officiating. Interment was made in the adjoining cemetery.

The young man was a member of the Knights of Pythias at Newark and the Knights of the Golden Eagle at Christiana. Delegations from both lodges attended the funeral.

With his mother, he lived on the Smalley farm near Harmony. She, with three brothers, George, William and Harry, all of whom live in the neighborhood of Christiana, survive.

Mary Agnes League

Mrs. Mary Agnes League widow of the late James League, for many years section foreman on the B. & O. died in Baltimore yesterday after a week's illness with pneumonia. The body will be brought to Newark Friday morning on the B. & O. Burial service conducted by Father Brennan will be held at Newark M. E. cemetery where interment will be made. The deceased leaves two daughters, Mary and Anna.

MILK TO BE FURNISHED FOR UNDERNOURISHED CHILDREN

Relief Committee Puts On Table For Present Community Nurse Project

A meeting of the Relief committee recently formed in connection with the Child Welfare campaign here, was held on Saturday afternoon at the home of Mrs. C. H. Blake, chairman of the Committee on Civics and Health of the Century Club with which the Relief Committee is cooperating. The matter of a community nurse was laid on the table for the present on account of the difficulties to be encountered just now in raising the necessary funds. The project will be taken up again next fall and a plan evolved for financing it.

The committee decided to begin immediately furnishing milk for the undernourished children in the primary school. This project will be begun immediately upon report from Miss Alva Lockhart of the primary department as to the amount needed.

Mrs. C. O. Houghton, chairman reported that a number of garments for the 7 year old child whose needs were reported through the paper last week, had been received and delivered to the little ones. Several other children of different ages were reported as being in need of warm clothing and garments of any sort or shoes will be gratefully received by Mrs. Houghton.

The members of the Relief committee comprise in addition to Mrs. Houghton, Mrs. William Dean, Mrs. H. E. Tiffany, Mrs. George L. Townsend, Miss Agnes Snyder. They are working in cooperation with the Red Cross and with the committee on Civics and Health of the New Century Club.

Odd Fellows To Celebrate

73rd Anniversary

Oriental Lodge No. 12, I. O. O. F. will celebrate the 73rd anniversary of its institution at the regular meeting to be held tomorrow evening.

A fine entertainment will be provided. Thomas A. Mullin will read an interesting bit of history, and two candidates will be initiated. The lodge was instituted on February 11, 1847. All members are requested to be present.

Local Carpenter Completes

Fine Piece of Work

Rodman Lovett has just completed and installed in the Faculty Club rooms at Old College Hall, a shuffle-board which in the opinion of competent critics is an exceptionally fine piece of work. Mr. Lovett recently made for the club room a buffet and a book-case which likewise show an excellent quality of workmanship.

The club on Monday night invited the resident alumni of the college to hear the first of Professor McCue's series of lectures on "The Status of Evolution."

Head of Christiana Notice

"A Great King Forsaken by God" will be the theme of the sermon to be preached next Sunday at Head of Christiana Presbyterian Church by Rev. Walter Clyde. Services will be held at the usual time: Sunday School at 10 a. m. and public worship at 10:45.

Owing to the condition of the roads Appleton Grange has postponed attendance at divine worship in a body until some future date. Sermonette:—"He that buildeth his nest upon divine promises shall find it abide and remain until he shall fly away to the land where promises are lost in fulfillment."

King's Business.

Jurors Drawn For

Next Term of Court

Jury Commissioners John Nivin and Robert D. Kemp have chosen the following jurors from this election district to serve at the next court of General Sessions: William G. Singer, John Powell, George T. Johnston.

For the Court of Oyer and Terminer, Edward McCool and J. Rankin Colmery.

LINCOLN DAY PROCLAMATION

ISSUED BY GOVERNOR JOHN G. TOWNSEND, JR.

"The words, Lincoln and America, are synonymous. The life and work of that Master man, interpret better than any other character, the ideals and spirit of our National life. He represents truly, our better selves. If we would know America, we should study the character of the man, and the principles of government he so jealously loved and for the defence of which he gave the last full measure of devotion.

Today, after Liberty of Thought and Independence of Action, as interpreted in our Institutions have been so nobly defended abroad, we regret to see here at home within our borders, a growing disrespect for government authority and thoughtless if not shameful, disregard for law and order.

So sadly is this true, that serious and thoughtful citizens all throughout the Nation, without regard to party affiliations, are calling out to the Spirit of Americanism, so nobly portrayed in the life of Abraham Lincoln. Not alone is the danger from aliens, suddenly released from bonds of old world autocracy, but in some cases by our own citizens, who in their greed for power and hatred for revenge have forgotten, for the moment, that the principles as proclaimed in the Declaration of Independence can be enjoyed fully only when in compliance to Law and Order as provided in the Constitution.

In thus calling special attention to the event this year, I speak, I am sure, for that part of our citizenship who work unselfishly for the State civic advance and answer always, readily the Nation's call considering personal sacrifice as the highest honor.

So, Delaware joins gladly in the approaching celebration of the birth of this "First American."

That we, at this time, may more truly catch the inspiration found in his life and work, I, John G. Townsend, Jr., Governor of the State of Delaware, do call special attention to THURSDAY, FEBRUARY THE TWELFTH—LINCOLN'S BIRTHDAY and urge that we on whatever occasion that seems fitting rededicate ourselves to the principles of Americanism, and highly resolve to meet the problems of our day with the humbleness of spirit, the deliberation of thought, and the determination of action that was his. Thus can we fulfill the words, "these dead shall not have lived in vain."

LINCOLN AMERICANISM

Let Reverence For The Laws be breathed by every American mother to the lisping babe that prattles on her lap; let it be taught in schools, in seminaries and in colleges; let it be written in primers, spelling books and in almanacs; let it be preached from the pulpit, proclaimed in legislative halls and enforced in courts of justice. And, in short, let it become the political religion of the nation; and let the old and the young, the rich and poor, the grave and the gay of all sexes and tongues and colors and conditions sacrifice unceasingly upon its altars.

—ABRAHAM LINCOLN

Riley was read by Mrs. W. A. Wilkinson.

Following the program a social hour was enjoyed during which refreshments of tea and cakes were served by the committee in charge.

Mrs. A. D. Warner, president of the State Federation who was expected for this meeting was detained because of the demoralized train service due to the wreck at Chester.

Is Recovering After Operation

Mrs. Mary L. Schellender who recently underwent an operation at Delaware Hospital arrived home on Wednesday and is making very satisfactory progress toward complete recovery.

was ordered paid, and the Chapter voted to add five dollars to its recent gift for Armenian Relief, making a total of $22.50 for the Near East Campaign. The chapter regent, being State chairman of the Committee to Prevent Desecration of the Flag, appointed a Chapter committee for that purpose, its members being Mrs. Ernest Frazer, Mrs. J. P. Cann, and Mrs. Samuel Zinberg.

The Chapter received a very cordial invitation to hold its next meeting with Mrs. Samuel Zinberg, at her mother's residence, before she returns to her home in New York.

LITTLE STORIES
BIG HEART

Tomorrow, February 12 Recalls Many Anecdotes of the Martyr President

Abraham Lincoln had a tender heart. In the rude conflicts with men in his early life he was compelled to discipline some rough characters by giving them severe physical chastisement. In a number of cases after the flogging he dealt so kindly with the victim that he made him a friend. He was also known for his kindness to animals.

Soon after the war began and sick and wounded soldiers were brought to the Washington hospitals it became almost a daily custom for Mr. Lincoln to visit them. He made a special study of methods for the improvement of medical service. In the building of a new hospital he was anxious that it should serve as a model. He consulted the doctor in charge of the building as to new and improved devices for the comfort and healing of the wounded and paid for some of the improvements out of his own pocket. He made provision for the planting of flowers and changing the desolation of clay and weeds around the building into a place of brightness and beauty.

There can be no doubt in his visits to the hospitals he gave out of his vitality and sympathy that which was real self-sacrifice. One of the surgeons testified, "There was no medicine equal to the cheerfulness his visit inspired, but its effect upon him was saddening."

At City Point, about a week before the assassination, a young surgeon was detailed to guide Mr. Lincoln through the hospitals. When they came to a ward filled with sick and wounded prisoners the young man said, "Mr. President, you won't want to go in there; they are only rebels." The President stopped and gently replied "You mean Confederates."

His Attitude toward Wounded Soldiers

Rev. T. D. Wallace, for many years a Presbyterian pastor in Chicago and now in California, as a very young soldier was severely wounded at the battle of Fredericksburg and some months after was taken to the Armory Square hospital in Washington. Mr. Lincoln made frequent visits to this hospital, not at all in the way of inspection, but to manifest his sympathy. In a letter Dr. Wallace tells of seeing Mr. Lincoln "walking silently and sadly through, looking first to one side and then to the other at the soldiers as they lay on their cots wounded and suffering." Young Wallace was well except that his wound caused him much pain when it was dressed. No doubt his bright and youthful face attracted the President's attention. Dr. Wallace says:

"I recognized him as he came near the foot of my cot and he could see I was wide awake and looking straight at him. He stopped a moment, then turned in to the little space between my cot and the next one and held out his hand, which I took with considerable vigor. Then after looking about for a moment he sat down upon a chair that stood near the head of my cot and began to talk most kindly and familiarly, as if he might have known me. I remember he asked me first about my regiment, then about my wounds and the battle. Then he asked about my mother and the family. He talked much as a dear friend might who had come on purpose to see me.

"I remember how solemn and sad his face seemed when he halted at the foot of my cot. Then as he made the various inquiries his face seemed to light up with an intimate, tender and loving sympathy and he seemed to be bearing on his heart the soldier's pains and anxieties and the nation's sorrows.

"To me his presence and interest were a benediction. Nothing in my war experience was more vivid and it gave me a new inspiration and nerved me for further strife.

"This was in April, 1863, one of the dark periods of the war, before Vicksburg and Gettysburg had been won to give the friends of the union new hope."

Many incidents have been given that show Mr. Lincoln's tender relations with the common soldiers and with their families. The President's disposition to save men condemned to death brought complaint from Secretary Stanton and some of the generals. Mr. Stanton once said, "It seems to me the President would rather have a fuss with anybody than miss a chance to do a kindness to a private soldier."

Mr. Lincoln gave many expressions of his sympathy with families, when husbands or sons or brothers had suffered and died in the army. A letter he wrote to Mrs. Bixby of Boston, under the pressure and cares of the last year of the war, is a classic and ranks near the Gettysburg address. She was the mother of five sons who "died gloriously on the field of battle." Mr. Lincoln expressed the wish that he might be able to comfort her in her grief, saying: "I pray that our Heavenly Father may assuage the anguish of your bereavement and leave you only the cherished memory of the loved and lost and the solemn pride that must be yours to have laid so costly a sacrifice upon the altar of freedom."—Duncan C. Miller.

From A Teacher Who Knew Him

The only time I saw Lincoln (and shook hands with him) was in Illinois in 1858, when I was teaching school. I dismissed my school that we all might hear the debate of the giants—Stephen A. Douglas, called "the little giant," and Abraham Lincoln, "the mighty giant," as his friends called him after the battle, when the smoke had cleared away. Both were smooth-shaven; Douglas short, thick, neat and prim, a perfect orator, who poured forth his eloquence in hard labor for two hours—for Douglas.

Lincoln rose six feet four inches, gaunt, homely, plain "Honest Abe"—a rail splitter from the backwoods—to speak for his country. What can you say to answer the polished orator of the United States Senate? So we thought.

But the disciplined logician of the bar, slowly and distinctly heard by thousands, completely answered the rhetorician of the Senate at every point. His wonderful truth, "A nation cannot endure half slave and half free," became, like his Gettysburg speech, immortal. Douglas won re-election to the Senate, but Lincoln's friends said there was a greater prize awaiting him—that he would win the White House. True prophecy.

In April, 1865, I was living in Zanesville, Ohio, and on the 15th the sun rose mid the clanging of bells all over the city. Inquiry brought answer that Lincoln had been shot! Oh the walls of sorrow and the tears that were shed all over the city—all over the land! After dinner I went into the country to fill an engagement with a tall, white-haired old gentleman, but before mentioning our business I remarked that we had very sad news from Washington—that Lincoln had been assassinated last night. The wail that the old man uttered I will never forget. He called to his grown sons, "Oh, God, boys, they have killed Lincoln!" and like a child he wept and sobbed. So wept and sobbed the nation and immortal martyrdom and eternal infamy go down the coming ages together.—H. G. Pollock.

Virginia had been out the night before, and looked tired, so mother suggested she stay in. When John came down from her room mother said: "Well, is sister making up her mind to stay in?" He replied: "Nope, she's makin' up her face to go out."

No stranger is ever anxious to let you go on a "good thing" if he has any friends to let in, and if he hasn't any friends don't let him handle you money.

Towns People Encourage Project By Loans of Equipment

The girls in the Home Economics department at the Frankford high-school served refreshments to those who attended the local institute last Saturday. Miss Lena Cole, Home Economics instructor at Frankford guided the young ladies in the selection of a menu which was both economical and nourishing. The food was carefully prepared and served. Everyone present expressed their appreciation of the hospitality given.

The Home Economics department at Frankford is housed in the town hall. This hall was partitioned part way to the ceiling, affording limited space for tables, stoves and sewing machines, etc., for accommodating eighteen pupils. The expenditures for equipment this beginning year have been necessarily curtailed and oil stoves are used entirely. Running water cannot be provided until next year. A keg filled daily and a sink for drainage have to answer the purpose for the present. To prepare refreshments under these conditions shows commendable planning and work on the part of the girls and the instructor. Linen and sufficient china and silver-ware were borrowed from the homes of the pupils. There are many additions needed for the equipment of the Home Economics departments throughout Sussex County which will be provided for in next year's budget. The large proportion of the total number of girls in these high schools taking the Home Economics course, shows clearly the desire and need for this kind of training throughout the schools. In several of the schools every girl in the high school chose the work. A pupil pursuing the vocational home economics course carries courses in English, Science, Mathematics or History also. A two year course in home economics has been planned for the present. These two courses are open primarily for first and second year high school girls. Many third and four year girls have elected the work this beginning year which accounts for the large registration throughout the State.

The Power of Money

When William Payne, the banker at Bisonville, decreed that no farmer who did not raise cows as well as wheat could borrow money from him, the angry grain growers almost lynched him. But they had to do as he demanded—and today his county is an oasis in a blowaway desert, his depositors and borrowers are prosperous farmers, his bank is looked upon as the agricultural father of the whole countryside. Such is The Power of Money for Good. Herbert Quick, formerly a member of the Farm Loan Board, tells the story in the February 7th issue of

NORTHERN TEAM WINS IN FARM BUREAU MEMBERSHIP DRIVE

R. G. Buckingham's Committee Will Be Given Banquet By Losers

The records made in the Farm Bureau membership drive were considered at a meeting of the Executive committee held at the rooms of the Security Trust Co., Wilmington, last Saturday. It was found that the bureau now has 600 members paying annual dues of $1 each, instead of about 200 paying only 50 cents, as was the case before the campaign began.

Two teams of sixty workers each competed in the campaign. One worked south of the Chesapeake and Delaware Canal, led by Lee Pennington; the other north of the canal, led by R. G. Buckingham. The north, or latter team, has won, and the losing side will tender the winners a banquet at a date yet to be set.

J. I. Dayett, who has had charge of the dairy work of the executive committee, reported on the pure bred bull calf sale to be held at Middletown on March 5 in conjunction with the State Holstein Association, thirty bull calves have been assigned for the sale by breeders of the State, and the sale is expected to go far toward ultimately achieving the slogan of the bureau of "a pure bred bull on every farm." As a recent survey showed that 92 per cent. of the bulls on New Castle county farms are either plain grade or scrub bulls, there is ample room for expansion of the pure bred cattle.

It is purposed by the bureau to continue its efforts to increase the planting and yield of soy beans. As the beans are selling at $5 a bushel the bureau has every reason to expect success.

J. D. Reynolds of Townsend was made chairman of a committee to take measures toward the extermination of rates in the county. Eleven members of the executive committee were present at the meeting which was presided over by Frank Yearsley.

PEOPLES' COLUMN

To the Editor of The Newark Post:—Sir, Have the Trustees of Delaware College dispensed with the services of their supervising architect? It is incredible that the architect who created Wolf Hall, Harter Hall and the rejuvenated Old College would advise or consent to the placing of a group of second-hand timber shacks adjacent to and between two of the most beautiful college buildings in America.

We are told that these new structures for the engineering school are temporary yet they are being erected at a cost of approximately $30,000—With the building sites available to the Trustees it would seem that a group of buildings of this nature could be placed conveniently to Recitation Hall and Mechanical Hall and when their usefulness to the engineering school is at an end other use might be found for them. In the mean time they would not be obstacles in the path of the logical line of development of the College.

At the present rate of progress it is doubtful if the buildings will be erected in time to be of any service to the students this year. Consequently it might be in order for the Trustees at their coming meeting to consider the advisability of re-locating this group of structures which, if allowed to remain as at present located will be an eye-sore and a blinder "it may be for years and it may be for ever."

Observer.

Newark, Delaware,
February 10, 1920.

NOTE:

Information from official sources reveals the following facts:—(1) The College still has the services of their supervising architect. (2) The building is temporary to care for an emergency situation. (3) In view of the emergency which the Trustees were unable to meet the buildings and all costs, estimated approximately at $30,000 is the gift of Mr. Pierre S. duPont. (4) It did not cost the State anything. (5) Its location was decided in order that access might be had to the heat trunk line at the least expense. (6) Its very unsightliness will arouse interest in the needs of the College.

The POST.

Will Begin Recruiting For Navy Soon

A new campaign for recruits for the United States Navy in Wilmington and throughout the state has just been opened. Up to this time the number of boys entering the Navy from this state has not come up to expectations, and special efforts are now being made to bring the advantages of Navy enlistment home to every young man in the city and the lower counties. This special work has been entrusted to E. J. Seiler, Chief Gunner's Mate, and C. H. Martin, Chief Turret Captain, both of whom are in Navy service, and have come up from apprentice seamen through almost all the grades. These men have been selected for the work because they themselves have made good in the ratings through which they have passed. Captain F. R. Naile, in charge of the Philadelphia Station, to which Wilmington and the state of Delaware is attached, feels that they are amply qualified to show just what Navy training means. One of the first things undertaken in the drive will be a poster campaign, and this will extend not only to billboards, but also to trucks and other vehicles. Merchants will be asked to aid and business men will also be asked to allow Navy stickers to be used on their correspondence.

C. H. Martin announced today that they were in touch with Navy headquarters in New York, and expect soon to have in hand a number of very attractive films showing different aspects of life in the Navy which they will be glad to offer to associations, organizations and societies. These films, besides showing different phases of life among the enlisted men, are also fine specimens of the moving picture art, and are entertaining as well as educational.

E. J. Seiler, attached to the station here in the Law Building, states that the Navy Recruiting Truck will be brought back here again and will be sent not only through this city, but also down the state, stopping at all of the principal towns and carrying the message of the Navy to the young men in those counties.

Both Seiler and Martin, in talking of the advantage of the Navy to young men, laid special stress on the opportunities now being offered in the various mechanical branches. Firemen, men of electrical knowledge, radio operators and mechanics in all branches are wanted. Seiler and Martin are enthusiastic boosters for the Navy and believe that the number of Delaware men who will enlist will be much greater as soon as the full advantages of the service are known to them.

THE FARMER AND THE INCOME TAX

Bureau of Internal Revenue Advises as to Disputed Points

The "idle" winter days supposed to be spent by the farmer in attending meetings of the "Store Box Club" at the grocery or attending the numerous sales that are scheduled to occur in the so-called "idle" winter months, are as exacting now as the dodo bird or the ichthyosaurus or the things that naturalists talk about in their idle hours.

This winter's activities have left little opportunity to join the ranks of the knockers at the grocery store or the blacksmith shop even if the modern farmer should be inclined to spend his time that way, which he isn't. To begin with there was a lot of close figuring to be done for the census taker and now there's a lot more for the Income Tax Collector. This must be done before March 15 and many are already at work on the job, which isn't so bad after it's started.

The conditions are the same for farmers as for others: an unmarried person must file a return if he or she has an income of $1,000 or over, a married person living with wife or husband if the net income was $2,000 or over. The return must be made even though no tax is due.

Form 1040F is to be used by farmers, in addition to 1040 or 1040A.

Branches Of Farming

The term "farm" as used in income tax includes stock farms, dairy farms, poultry farms, fruit farms and truck farms, also plantations, ranches, and all land used for farming operations. Whether the owner of the farm or a tenant the person or firm operating the farm is required to consider income-tax liability on the annual gains.

Gross Income

In gross income a farmer is required to include "all gains, profits, and income derived from the sale or exchange of farm products whether produced on the farm or purchased and resold." When he exchanges his products for groceries, clothing or other articles he must include in his gross income the value of the articles received in exchange. A farmer who lets out a farm on a crop-share basis must report the cash received when the crops are sold. A farmer who lets out a farm on a cash rental basis and is paid in crops must report the exact cash rental agreed upon whether or not the crops are disposed of. Care must be taken in figuring gain from the sale of live stock. If the stock was previously purchased, its cost should be deducted from the sales price to ascertain the gain unless the inventory method is in use by the farmer.

The entire amount received for animals raised on the farm should be included in gross income.

In case a farmer sold any work animals or farm machinery previously purchased there should be included in the gross income any gain realized. The cost thereof, reduced by the amount of wear and tear sustained on such animals and machinery, is subtracted from selling price to arrive at the profit.

Losses through crop failure, death of farm animals, fire, lightning will be computed on the cost, less any deductions for depreciation. If insurance has been received that must also be considered.

Defining Farm Expenses

From his gross income a farmer is allowed to charge off all of his necessary expenses in the conduct of the farm during the year. These include costs of putting in his crop, of caring for his crop, and of harvesting and marketing. In addition to these costs he may deduct money spent for ordinary farm tools of short life bought during the year, such as shovels, rakes, etc. Also, the cost of feed purchased for his live stock may be treated as an expense, in so far as this cost represents actual outlay; but the value of his own products fed to animals is not a deductible item.

If during the year the farmer purchased trees for the planting of an orchard, or if he built or improved the farm drainage, pulled stumps on the farm, dug a well, erected a barn or new fences, or expended money for any other purpose that improved his farm, such expenditures are not chargeable against the income for the year. There is a reason for this which the farmer will readily understand, and that is that a person who makes such improvements is not spending his money but investing it in improvements that he and his family may enjoy or will contribute to the benefits of his operations as well as being a larger price if he should sell out.

The difference between the farmer's gross income and expenses is known as his net income, which is the amount the farmer must consider, together with other income, in determining whether or not an income-tax return is required.

It should not be a difficult matter for the farmer who has kept no books to figure up his net income. He generally has record of what he marketed for goods or cash and knows what he expended in the way of cash.

Among farm expenses allowable are the cost of minor repairs on buildings (but not the dwelling house), on fences, wagons, and farm machinery; also bills paid for horseshoeing, stock powders, rock salt, services of veterinary insurance (except on dwelling house) gasoline for operating power, and sundry other expenses which were paid for in cash.

As to hired help, all of the productive labor is a necessary expense, but the wages of household servants or help employed to improve the farm, such as tree planting, building fence, ditching, etc., are outlays for improvements and cannot be claimed against the earnings. These expenditures should be capitalized or added to the value of the farm or ranch.

The purpose of farm machinery, wagons, animals, etc., and the construction or extension of buildings, silo, fencing, etc., should be likewise capitalized, as they are investments. In so far as they are useful in earning farm income, a reasonable deduction may be made annually in the form of wear and tear or depreciation, so that this cost will be spread over the useful life of such addition to the farm plant.

The auto and motor truck has taken its place on the farm as part of the farm equipment. Its cost is not an expense, though its upkeep is, if used exclusively for farm purposes and not for pleasure. In such cases, a reasonable deduction for wear and tear is allowed.

Form 1040F gives full instructions on the method of making returns on either the cash or accrual basis so that simple but correct and intelligent computations of the year's income may be made.

"Knock Your Town And You Knock Yourself"

An ideal citizen is one who sees something good in his town and spreads the good news abroad that others may benefit therefrom. Of course, there are other sidelights to the ideal citizen, but the quality of loyalty is one which produces tangible results. There are three distinct attitudes which a person may assume toward the community which houses and feeds him—to boost, to remain quiescent or knock. The booster pushes his town along, the quiescent citizen lulls it to sleep, and the knocker puts it out of business. Which are you? Perhaps you have never given it a thought. You may not realize yourself which you are—but your neighbors all know. They have accurately catalogued according to your deserts. If you are a booster they admire you; if you are quiescent, they wonder when you will emerge from your slumber; and if you are a knocker they yearn for the day when you will fold up your tent and silently fade away. Boost the home town and its citizens will boost you. Knock it and you knock yourself infinitely more.

When William Russell Declined Double For Big Stunt

It became necessary, in filming Paul Dickey's "The Lincoln Highwayman," the new William Fox production in which William Russell will be starred on Tuesday 17, the Opera House Theatre, for Russell to make a leap of twenty feet in his automobile. Emmett J. Flynn, the director, was anxious to have this in the picture, which deals in hair-raising stunts with autos.

"I think, Bill, you had better have a double for this," said the director—remembering that some hair-breadth escapes of stars are done for them by doubles.

"Double nothing!" replied Russell. "If it ought to be done I'll do it. I am not going to fake."

They went off on the plains some distance from Hollywood, and built a copy of a section of the Lincoln Highway. Through this, almost at the same height as the roadway, they made a ditch twenty feet wide and had it filled with water. Then there was built on one side an incline three feet high with a twelve-foot runway.

Russell got into his roadster, went back about an eighth of a mile and let it go. He was moving at the rate of seventy-five miles an hour when his wheels struck the incline. He hit it squarely; had he not done so the wheels of one side or the other would have struck the ground beyond the ditch first and he might have been overturned. His car flew into the air, going some six feet higher than the level of the road. It leaped the distance over the water in a fraction of a second, and went on for a hundred yards before the driver stopped it.

"This is not a difficult stunt," said the actor. "I would like to try something hard some day."

Just plain loafing is no fun for the average busy man, but some of the fancy kinds are.

J. IRVIN DAYETT HEADS LIST OF MILK PRODUCERS

Two Cow Testing Associations Show Excellent Record For Month Past

Both associations seem to have reached their high mark during the first month of the new year. In the Middletown Association January completes the tenth month. During this period the cow Maple Grove De Kol Beauty Korndyke, owned by Janvier and Schrader, produced a record of 11,180 pounds of milk and 418 pounds of fat, the highest record of any cow in the Association.

In the Diamond State Association out of 289 cows tested 28 made better than 40 pounds of butterfat, which is an increase of eight cows in this class over that of last month. This month completes the first six months period for this Association. During this period 22 cows have produced more than 4500 pounds of milk and 200 pounds of butterfat.

For the first time since this Association has been in operation Mr. J. T. Edmanson does not appear at the head of the list of the first ten. He is succeeded this month by Mr. J. I. Dayett whose cow produced 2350 pounds of milk and 79.9 pounds of fat, which is the record cow for the Association thus far.

The following are the quality lists:

Table with columns: Owner, lbs. m., lbs. bf. for Diamond State Cow Testing Association. Lists top cows like J. I. Dayett, Bredablik Farm, etc.

Table with columns: Owner, lbs. m., lbs. bf. for Middletown Cow Testing Association. Lists top cows like H. D. Connor, Janvier & Schrader, etc.

Table with columns: Owner, lbs. m., lbs. bf. for Five herds having highest average milk production record. Lists owners like H. Insole, D. Cochran, etc.

Samuel Knopf Speaks At Road Convention

In a recent issue of the American Contractor, prominence is given to an address delivered at the Louisville convention of the American Association of State Highway Officials by Mr. Samuel Knopf, principal assistant engineer of the Delaware State Highway Commission and a graduate of Delaware College in the class of 1912.

It's a peculiar thing that when a man loudly demands more liberty, whether of law or conscience or creed, generally it is because he wishes to do something he ought not to do.

Newark High Puts Up Good Game Against Alumni

When the Caesar Rodney basketball team failed to put in an appearance Saturday afternoon for a game with the Newark High cagers, the latter, in order not to disappoint sport lovers assembled to see the much heralded down-state team, arranged a game with a strong aggregation of high school alumni.

The Newark high five although crippled by the loss of their captain Armstrong who is ill, put up an exceptionally strong game against some of the best Newark cagers available and lost out by only one point.

The high school guards Mayer and Steel starred for their team and for the Alumni, Robinson and Armstrong put up an exceptionally fine game, the former landing 6 field goals and the latter 4.

The line-up: Newark High: Moore, Fader, Steel, Mayer, Robinson. Alumni: Smith, Hoffecker, Steel, Mayer, Robinson. Field goals, Robinson 6, Armstrong 4, Moore 2, Smith 2, Steel 2.

A game scheduled for this week with Delaware College Freshman has been cancelled because of the disbandment of the Freshman team.

"Y" Cagers Win Easily From Old Swedes. The "Y" team recently organized won easily over the cagers from Old Swedes on Wednesday last on the "Y" floor, by a score of 34 to 13.

Table with columns: Y. M. C. A., Field Goal, Pts. for "Y" team and Old Swedes.

Table with columns: Owner, lbs. m., lbs. bf. for Federal Loan Privilege Suspended. Lists owners like H. D. Connor, etc.

Captain J. W. O'Daniel to Wed Western Girl

Mrs. W. G. Bowman of Nogales, Arizona, at a card party on January 31, announced the engagement of her daughter, Helen Ruth Bowman to Captain John Wilson O'Daniel.

Announcement was made early in the week of the marriage in Baltimore on Saturday of Mrs. Elsie Coudon Dempsey, to Oliver Goalin.

The happy couple are now enjoying a honeymoon trip after which they will reside here. The groom is employed at Newark Centre.

Federal Loan Privilege Suspended

Further loans from Federal loan banks have been suspended until the constitutionality of the farm loan act has been determined by the United States Supreme Court. Instructions to this effect have been sent out to the farm loan representatives by Commissioner Norris, who explained that the order did not affect loans for which applications already have applications. The commissioner insisted that prospective borrowers be informed that the step was taken as a measure of protection to them.

William Gela, a Delaware College student was painfully injured on Friday night at the close of the Delaware-F. & M. basketball game. He, with a number of other students attempted to drop from the running track of the "gym" to the floor below. Gela lost his balance and fell, landing face downward. His chin was badly cut and his head injured to such an extent that he was in a dazed condition for several hours. He was given first aid by students and taken to the office of Dr. H. B. Pearson where treatment was given. The young man spent a restless night but is now well on the road to recovery.

February Prices Make These Dining-Room Suits Very Interesting

They are of course of our high-grade of construction, our regular stock. And under existing conditions when many stores are showing depleted stocks of dining-room suits, such an assortment as here is unusual and hard to find.

Here is a mahogany suite, all mahogany of ten pieces. It is of plain, straightline design with a recess swell front drawer. The table has 48-inch top. The chairs are covered in genuine blue leather. This suite is indeed an especial value, and its size lends it admirably to the small diningroom. With wood back buffet the suit of ten pieces is marked this month $283.50.

A William and Mary suite in American walnut with 60-inch buffet, a 50-inch, eight-foot table, and the chairs covered in a small figured tapestry, is $450.00 the ten pieces.

An American walnut suite of Louis XVI period has 60-inch buffet with wood backs, 54-inch, eight-foot table, and the chairs covered in blue hair cloth. The ten pieces are $504.00. The buffet may also be had with glass back at a slight extra cost. One rather unusual suite is a modification of the colonial type. It can be had in mahogany, walnut or brown oak. The chairs are covered in tapestry. The buffet is 60 inches long. The suite of ten pieces, $450.00. An oak suite, Jacobean finish, William and Mary style, is marked $180.00 for four pieces.

In the Queen Anne period there are a number of suits to select from. One has a 54-inch wood back buffet, 48-inch table and eight-foot extension. The ten pieces are marked $390.00.

Another Queen Anne suite can be had with a 66-inch buffet, wood back, and in mahogany or walnut. Chairs are covered in tapestry. The suite of ten pieces is priced $450.00.

And if it be an odd piece, a buffet, china closet or table, our assortment is complete, and February prices mean a saving.
