DEATH'S DOINGS

MISS LOU GILMOUR.

The sudden death of Miss Lou Gilmour occurred in Lincoln, Nebraska, Friday morning, May 19th, at 11 a. m., without a moment's warning to her friends.

She had been in her usual health and had shown a marked degree of cheerfulness. On this account the blow fell with very great force upon her sister-in-law, Mrs. Jennie Gilmour and her five nephews, with whom she had made her home. Miss Lou was a bright light in the home. She was a consistent member of the Methodist Church. It is sad to think that one whose whole life had been devoted to acts of charity and kindness should so suddenly be called off of this stage of action. But the will of Him who doeth all things well is not to be questioned.

Miss Gilmour was born in Cherry Hill, Md., August 4, 1854. Death took her father when she was two years of age, the mother going when Miss Lou was twenty-four.

In 1879 she went to Elkton to keep house for her brother, W. O. Gilmour, and assisted in raising his three children, their mother having gone to her reward.

There she made her home for about five years, when on account of ill health she was compelled to change her home. She then went to live with another brother, E. S. Gilmour, Newark, Del., and in 1888 moved with this family to Omaha. The same year they moved to Ewing, where they resided until 1905, then going to O'Neil, Neb. It was here on April 18, 1907, that occurred the death of her brother E. S. Gilmour. This caused them to return to Ewing, remaining there until July, 1909, when they decided to make their home in Lincoln, the place of Miss Lou's death.

Funeral services were held in the home on Saturday afternoon, May 20. On Sunday morning the remains were taken to Ewing, accompanied by five nephews of the deceased—Harry, Will, Ned, Jay and Eugene Gilmour. The funeral services were held at the M. E. Church by the pastor, Rev. O. Eggleston. Interment was made in the Ewing Cemetery, Nebraska.

MRS. HOWARD MORRIS.

Mrs. Howard Morris, of Parksburg, Pa., the niece of Amos Ostend, of this town, died on last Sunday. The deceased was forty years of age. A brother and a daughter survive. Interment in Octoraro cemetery.

ADALON BUCKINGHAM.

Adalon, daughter of Alban and Kate Buckingham, Pleasant Hill, died very suddenly at the home of her parents, last Monday. Miss Buckingham has suffered from ill health for a long time, but her death was unexpected and a shock to everyone.

Funeral services at the home on Thursday, June 8th, at 11 o'clock. Interment Hill Creek Cemetery.

ANNIVERSARY AT OLD DRAWERS JUNE 4

Each year a larger number of people assemble at the Old Drawers Presbyterian Church, near Odesa, to attest their appreciation of the inspiration of Lewis C. Vandegrift, founder of the little band of "friends" who, since 1895 have restored the church and its grounds to their old-time beauty and dignity.

It is comforting to think that in a country as young as ours, civilization is yet old enough to cherish the old ideals and institutions.

This year marks the 26th anniversary of the founding of this church. The building without and within is beautiful along simple lines, and has no excuse to offer to the designers of modern places of worship.

There is an entire absence of fresco and stained glass, the walls are unadorned and the windows wide and clear. The cemetery, which contains many old tombs, among them those of several Revolutionary heroes, slopes at the rear to the Apocyniminy creek, which winds and turns as if loath to leave the spot.

Religious services were held in the morning, with an earnest and forceful sermon by the Rev. William Roberts, of Philadelphia, stated clerk of the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church. He spoke of the stability and liberality of the doctrines of the Presbyterian Church, of its work along educational lines, its belief in the intelligent pew and the scholarly pulpit.

Dr. Roberts deprecates the talk of the failure of Protestantism and declares there are no grounds for such fears. Finally, he admonished each one to do his best in that church in which by choice or preparation of mind he found himself placed, to be as good a Presbyterian or Methodist or Baptist as lay in his power. By putting into practice the principles professed in the separate churches, each and every one may do a wonderful part in solving the world's problems.

In the afternoon a popular meeting was held, in charge of "The Friends of Old Drawers."

Chief Justice Pennewill was the orator. His subject was "The Development of Good Citizenship," and his words were earnest, illuminating and above all, cheering, for he has a strong belief that the world is growing better and a firm faith in mankind. He spoke of the criticism of men in public life, the idea among some that a good man could not occupy a high public office and expressed fears that if such a tendency were not checked it would be more and more difficult to secure good men for public office. His arguments against the "recall" were clear and strong.

The recall, in plain words, means simply that the office may be taken from the man at any time by a popular vote. As it would often be impossible for an office-holder to know the mind of his constituents on all subjects, self-respecting men would be less willing to give their reputation into the keeping of such a system.

He pictured the dark scene at Valley Forge, and suggested that a popular vote at that time might have removed the commander-in-chief, with a possible change in the history of our country. As the system would of necessity apply to those in highest office, Abraham Lincoln probably would not have served as President through all the years of the Civil War, and all our great men who have shown their greatness in hours of test, might not have been permitted to use the power that lay within them of the peace movement our Chief Justice is a warm and hopeful supporter.

With such consideration as becomes his office he spoke of the dealings of the law with young offenders, in full appreciation of their probable ignorance and environment.

Altogether the day at the old church was one of pleasure and profit, and many will look forward to another first Sunday in June.

A Jolly Time

A crowd of young folks took in the sights at the Springs last Friday night. The straw ride started about six o'clock for the home of Mrs. Charles Dawson, who chaperoned the party.

After a merry ride all the amusements occupied the attention and were thoroughly enjoyed.

Every member of the party agreed that "lots of fun" had been the prevailing spirit of the evening. Among the party were—Mrs. Charles Dawson, Miss Alberta Heiser, Helen McNeal, Olive Heiser, Marion Miller, Emily Worrall, Audrey Miller, Leila Herbenor, Hettie Slack, Eleanor Pader, Dora Law, Ralph Dawson, Arthur Houchto, Knowles Brown, Harvey Ferguson, Harry Green, Simpson Hoffecker, George Holton, Rodney Miller.

Interesting Services

The services at the M. E. Church next Sunday have much interest for the public. In the morning the pastor will preach an illustrated sermon on the "Broken Pan." A beautiful souvenir will be distributed to the children at the close of the service. The primary school will repeat the children's day music.

In the evening Prof. A. K. Spald will deliver an address on the "Evolution of Our Flag." This address is illustrated by a series of flags showing where and how we got our present flag. The music will be in charge of a male quartette from Delaware College. The church extends a cordial invitation to the public.

ANNUAL REPORT OF THE STATE FARM

Prof. Harry Hayward, director of the Delaware College Agricultural Experiment Station, recently submitted to Governor Pennewill his annual report for the year ending June 30th, 1910. The report shows the receipts and expenditures of the farm to have been as follows:

The income of the Experiment Station during the fiscal year included in this report, was as follows:

Hatch fund	$15,000.00
Adams fund	13,900.00
Farm sales	608.42
Total	$29,508.42

In this connection it should be mentioned that most of the farm sales of the year have been applied to the deficit of the previous year. This deficit was incurred largely through a misunderstanding with the Office of Experiment Stations in regard to the use of the Adams fund in the construction of concrete pits for the orchard fertilizer experiment.

The disbursements for the year, classified according to the Office of Experiment Stations, and approved by the College Prudential committee, were as follows:

Salaries	$14,311.78
Labor	4,599.16
Publications	307.82
Postage and stationery	252.92
Freight and express	205.01
Heat, light, water and power	376.55
Chemical supplies	1,446.35
Seeds, plants and sundry supplies	1,279.23
Fertilizers	651.46
Feeding stuffs	653.68
Library	313.61
Tools, implements and machinery	797.45
Furniture and fixtures	89.05
Scientific apparatus	915.07
Live stock	969.46
Travelling expenses	265.74
Contingent expenses	179.35
Buildings and land	932.78
Total	$28,698.42

In his report Professor Hayward says: "The condition of the Experiment Station seems on the whole, to be satisfactory. It is true that, as yet, results have not been turned out so rapidly as they are in stations that have been adequately equipped and have had a permanent staff for a score or more years. It takes time to lay proper foundations and to build up a research department whose results will be reliable."

A large part of the work now underway is being done under the provisions of the Adams act, and must be of sufficiently high grade to meet the approval of the Office of Experiment Stations of the National Department of Agriculture. It will require several years to bring to a satisfactory conclusion many of the problems in hand, but when completed, there is no doubt that the results obtained will add materially to our fund of agricultural knowledge.

It has been the policy of the Experiment Station, up to the present time, to limit its lines of activity rather than attempt to cover as wide a field as some of the larger states whose resources are much greater than ours.

The departments of the Experiment Station, as at present organized, are those of administration, veterinary science, horticulture, plant pathology, astronomy, chemistry and animal husbandry. It is unlikely that other departments will be added in the near future. Instead, if the funds of the station permit, the departments already organized will be enlarged and their efficiency increased.

Relative to the college farm the report says: "The development of the college farm goes on apace, and in a satisfactory manner. Through the generosity of the State, the building equipment is nearing completion. It is expected that the farm will have its full complement of live stock before the next annual report is due. Permanent improvements are constantly being made, and from present indications, the farm will have abundantly justified its purchase within a short time, if it has not already done so."

The young peach and apple orchards are a particular source of inspiration to those who have seen them. The yields of the staple crops under good farm conditions have been satisfactory even to the most critical of visiting farmers.

I am confident that I am but voicing the feeling of my colleagues of the station staff in the statement that we heartily appreciate the generosity of our constituents, who, through their representatives of the General Assembly, provided the farm and its equipment for investigation in scientific agriculture. We also appreciate the confidence which the trustees of Delaware College have expressed in allowing the use of Federal appropriations to supplement State funds in order to make the college farm what it is.

An Old Telegram

An interesting relic is in the possession of A. W. Springer, district manager of the Western Union Telegraph Co. This is a telegram dated September 8th, 1856, which was taken from a barrel of refuse in the loft of an old law office in Dover. It marks the early days of the electric telegraph and demonstrates what an important part Wilmington has taken in the development of Morse's discovery. In those days messages were received with the telegraphic characters imprinted on a tape; now they are received by sound.

THE POST

Progressive Action Marks Pomona Grange

The annual meeting of Pomona Grange was held at Grange Hotel, Talleyville, last Thursday, the visitors being the guests of West Brandywine Grange.

The members held quite a lengthy discussion relative to the benefits to be derived by the state from the big highway all the grangers being very enthusiastic over the matter, and expressing their intention to do all in their power to bring about the quick consummation of the project.

The resolution unanimously adopted follows:

"We, the members of Pomona Castle county, Delaware, this first grange in session at Talleyville, New day of June, 1911, wish to express our appreciation for the proposed boulevard for the State of Delaware. Therefore be it

"Resolved, that we, the Grangers of New Castle county, here assembled, most heartily thank T. Coleman duPont for his generous offer.

"Delaware has long been known as one of the first states. She stands today as the first state that has within her borders a private citizen to make such a grand highway possible.

"We sincerely hope that you may be permitted to enjoy to the fullest the pleasure to be derived from this, your chosen work.

"We fully appreciate the great good that the building of this boulevard will bring to our state and to our people, and wish to say that its completion will be a monument to keep fresh in the minds of the generations yet to come the name of T. Coleman duPont."

The meeting was opened with a stirring address of welcome by L. Scott Townsend, of West Brandywine Grange, which was responded to in an equally eloquent manner by Worthy Master H. L. Dilworth Pomona Grange, who presided during the day.

A considerable part of the business session was taken up with the discussion of the reciprocity treaty between the United States and Canada, most of the farmers setting themselves down as being decidedly opposed to the treaty. Resolutions to this effect, after some little argument, were finally adopted by the grange.

The Webb bill in reference to the sale of liquor in dry territory was taken up by the grange, which approved the bill by a large majority.

Resolutions were adopted at the meeting to the effect that Pomona Grange appoint a committee of five to work up a sentiment favoring an endowment of at least $500,000 to be raised by popular subscription for the benefit of Delaware College.

At the close of the business session the invitation of Harmony Grange to meet at the residence of Arnold Maudain, Jr., near Brandywine Springs, at the next quarterly session in September, was accepted.

In the afternoon a pleasing literary program was presented.

A Day Of Nature Study

"All out for Wooddale!" called the conductor of an early morning train on the Landenberg branch of the B. & O. Saturday, May 20. County Superintendent of public schools, A. R. Spaid, and about twenty-six teachers alighted to find themselves in a picturesque spot "Near to Nature's heart", indeed.

The hills were covered with all the verdant glory of May and below coursed the historic Red Clay Creek.

A tree bearing masses of purple bloom added beauty to the landscape. It is a native of Japan, and its presence in this locality can be explained only on the supposition that sea-faring son of one of the old families, hereabouts, brought a seedling from far Japan many years ago.

The first wild flower found was Robin plantain. In rapid succession were spied sweet cicely, three varieties of Solomon's seal, golden Alexandria, sarsaparilla and hawkweed. Those who were ambitious enough to climb the highest hill were amply repaid by finding columbine, showy orchis, ginger plant and trillium. Not only were many varieties of plants and flowers studied, but also the birds were spied upon—a hundred twenty-six varieties being recognized by their markings and calls.

After a moonday rest and lunch under a noble chestnut tree the walk was resumed toward Brandywine Springs. His snakeship, taking a sunbath on the edge of the wood, was disturbed—he evidently being as much in fear of the teachers as some of them were of him. Mr. Spaid explained that it was a house or milk snake and harmless. No snakes in this section are to be feared except the copperhead, found occasionally along the Brandywine. The story we all have heard of cows being suckled by snakes is bosh and children should be taught not to kill or fear the snakes.

A return trip to Wilmington by trolley, ended this most delightful and instructive outing, the last for the present school year.

No teacher should miss one of these outings. Prof. Spaid is an ideal instructor and an enthusiastic naturalist, and arouses such an interest in the wonders of nature that the teachers cannot fail to inspire their pupils with a love for the wonderful beauty of the "out of doors" life, and thus make our work a day world a happier place in which to live. Teacher.

Employers' Liability The Company View

The International Harvester Company was the first corporation in the United States voluntarily to adopt an employers' liability system. In arriving at a basis the company figured out what it paid to the bonding company which insured it against liability. It appeared that fifty per cent. went to lawyers, twenty-five per cent. to the bonding company, and twenty-five per cent. to the injured person. Under the present system, the full amount goes to the injured employee. There are no costs, no expenses, no intermediaries.

The employee knows in advance what he will receive for any kind of an accident. When a factory accident occurs, the question of fault is disregarded. If a man is hurt in the shops or while on duty, he is paid. If, for example, an employee receives a bad burn and is laid up for two months he receives half pay for the two months regardless of negligence. To the man who is disabled and unable to work the company pays one-fourth of his wages for the first thirty days, and then half wages for not exceeding two years. If the disability is permanent, he is paid a life pension equal to eight per cent. of the amount of the death benefit. By contribution these proportions can be increased. An assistant foreman was killed in 1910 in the works of the Harvester Company by the falling of a bundle of steel which was being carried on an electric crane. Had the company been called upon to defend itself in court, it would probably have defeated the claim under the doctrine of contributory negligence and the fellow-servant rule. The suit might have occupied the courts for five or six years. The time of most pressing need would have passed. The family would have readjusted itself. The children would have been grown up. The company tendered the widow three years' pay—$2,700. She gladly accepted it. Two weeks after the accident she received the full amount. The company has about fifty different nationalities in its various works. It has published a book of rules in ten different languages telling the workmen what to do to prevent accidents. The company is interested in preventing accidents, of course; the relations between capital and labor are indescribably fairer all round than they were before capital began its new enlightened policy.—Colliers.

Children's Day exercises will be held in Kemblesville Church on June 18. Interesting programs are being prepared for both afternoon and evening. Everybody welcome.

The Kemblesville Literary Society will hold its next meeting with Miss Mame Wickersham, at the home of J. G. West, on Tuesday evening, June 13.

Work Of Children's Home Society

At the annual meeting of the Delaware branch of the New Jersey Children's Home held last week, Rev. Joseph Brown Turner, of Dover, was elected president, Rev. H. L. Bunstein, Milford, and Rev. R. K. Stephenson, Smyrna, vice-presidents, John B. Hutton, Dover, secretary and treasurer, Rev. W. Kay Lord, of Chester, district superintendent for Delaware.

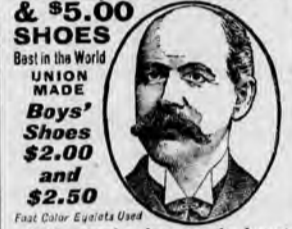

From the report of the Delaware superintendent, it was shown that 178 children have been placed in Christian homes in Delaware and on the Eastern Shore of Maryland. A resolution was passed in which the Delaware Society made the offer to take any normal children from any of the county almshouses and place them in homes, when requested.

Absent Ones
Absence makes the heart grow fonder, but the memory of the absent one becomes vague and dim. You long to picture in your mind just how "HE" or "SHE" would look, but there's a mysterious something which makes this mental picture impossible. But if you had a photograph before you, then you could recall the forgotten face, yes, even the kind acts, the gentle words. Wouldn't that "ONE" so far away appreciate your photograph too. Among The Horsemen

We are glad to see that we have some sporting blood left in our town—at least we feel that way when we see that the black trotting horse Sir Thomas Lyton is entered in the $2,000 handicap steeple chase to take place in New York State in August.

He looks as though he would be in some of their ways before they get through the mile and a half heat.

Tyson horses are all looking fine and are getting good in training. Three or four will be started in August this week in order to get a little education before going on the southern circuit.

The horses named for the fair are Zanibar, Hoochie, M., Torino Wilkes, Ashland Eldo, Allison and Good Friday.

The match race is on between Ellen Brown and Firecracker. Mr. Tyson gave Ellen Brown a record last year of 2:07.4. She is to be gotten ready and driven by Herman K. Tyson in the race to take place at Beltsport track in July.

We hope to see him win as she has a lot of friends among the horsemen all over the country.

Torino Wilkes was worked with Ham-mill M. on Saturday afternoon. It was worth seeing as both had lots of speed. It looks as though it would take a good horse to beat either of them.

Another fast horse is due at the Tyson stables the middle of the month. He will be shipped from Kentucky. His name is "The Dago."

There were not many horses to take part in the Kembleville matinee on Saturday.

The horses that are in training at the Huber Driving Park can all show you quarters in 35 seconds, proving that they have some speed. Quite a number of the horses are staked all through the Southern circuit. Tyson seems to be very well satisfied with his stable of horses.

He knows what his record horses can do and his green ones are showing so well and seem to have lots of speed.

We had hoped to see some matinees here this summer. The present prospect is poor, as the field the track is on is put in corn which bars the people.

Mr. Armstrong met with bad luck the other day when his nice colt by Githie Manito broke his leg and died.

Black Prince, owned by Mr. Lynch, of Wilmington, was trained at the Tyson stables three weeks previous to the matinee held in Wilmington on Decoration Day. He won his race against Free Mason, the fastest time 2:23.4.

A number of Newark people attended the races in Wilmington last week, also the Kembleville races on Saturday, showing the popularity of the sport.

Mr. Freck and wife, of Kennett Square were visitors at the Tyson stables on Sunday afternoon.

The nice bay colt of G. Fader met with an accident while out in pasture recently. He got in a wire fence and cut his front foot, but is doing nicely. He is by Hokes, Jr.

George H. Blaker has sold his sorrel racing horse W. to a party in the lower part of the state.

Walter Powell has purchased a new horse from Al Stiltz.

William Renshaw had a nice black horse to die about a week ago.

Thomas Harlan has sent Bessie Lambert to H. K. Tyson to be trained. Her home is in Elkton.

COLLEGE NOTES

Last Wednesday, the Junior class won the base ball championship of the college for the third time by defeating the Sophomores 3 to 1, and incidentally the silver cup which was donated by the property of the first class.

Short ten years ago to become the champion pitcher of the three years in succession. Knopf pitched for the Juniors and was opposed by Houchin of the class of 1902.

Both did fairly well, but the superior stickwork of the third year men landed them the victory. Knopf was particularly fortunate in pulling himself out of several bad holes, as on three different occasions, he retired the side with a man on the third cushion.

Umpires, Mr. Lovett and Hoch, '14. Time of game, 1 hr., 50 min.

In an intensely interesting game the Cadets lost to Franklin and Marshall, last Saturday, 3 to 2. Paughley was elected to curve 'em and did pretty well, except for streaks of wildness, during which he walked three men.

Delaware put up a better game than F and M, but didn't seem to get her share of the luck. Each team had eight hits, but our boys had more assists and less errors than the visitors. It was an awful hard game to lose. Umpire, Mr. Lovett. Time of game, 1:55.

Delaware easily carried off the honors in a dual tennis match with Drexel last Saturday. The Cadets team was composed of Davis '11, Harvey '12 and Easley '13. Three sets of singles and one of doubles were played. The scores: Singles—Harvey won 6-2, 6-3; Davis won 6-4, 1-6, 6-4; Easley lost 2-6, 6-3, 4-6.

Davis and Easley won 6-7, 6-4. The "Blue Hen," published by the class of 1912 will make its initial appearance on Friday—maybe.

The Faculty Committee on social functions have decided after great deliberation that the Farewell Hop to be given to the graduating class by the class of 1912, on June 21st, will NOT be a shirt-tail dance, as was previously announced. Now, what do you know about that?

Great curiosity exists among the student body as to who have obtained promotions for next year. We know, but we won't tell—yet.

Hello, Plunker! This is the salutation that is being vatted about the campus from the lips of members of the senior class; but we are happy to state, it is used more as a term of endearment than with strict regard for the truth. Well, anyhow, the vattins are over and it looks as if everybody passed, too, so we hasten to congratulate the fellows who have worked so hard in order to graduate with the Class of Nineteen Eleven.

AGRICULTURAL NOTES

Mr. H. S. Garrison has accepted a position to organize a department of agriculture in an academy near Annapolis, Maryland.

Prof. Grantham has distributed enough seed of the Wilson and Peking varieties on a hundred different farms in the State, to grow 200 bushels of soy beans under favorable conditions. This seed is exceedingly hard to get, and Professor Grantham's work was made possible only by the co-operation of the United States Department of Agriculture.

The work of painting the manor house of the College farm is now under way. A goodly number of the trees in the college peach orchard have set a fair quantity of fruit.

Professor Hayward will serve as Judge at the McCormick State Horse and Cattle Show, near Harrisburg, Pa., Thursday and Friday of this week.

E. L. Richards' lumber yard will be closed at noon on Saturdays during the months of June, July and August.

The Real Good

What is the real good?
I asked in musing mood.

Order,
Said the law court;

Knowledge,
Said the school;

Truth,
Said the wise man.

Pleasure,
Said the fool;

Love,
Said the maiden;

Beauty,
Said the page;

Freedom,
Said the dreamer;

Home,
Said the sage;

Fame,
Said the soldier;

Equity,
The seer—

Spoke my heart full sadly:
The answer is not here.

Then within my bosom
Softly this I heard:

Each heart holds the secret—
Kindness is the word.

Lieutenant Eastman is connected with the Tenth United States Infantry. He is the son of Mrs. Laura B. Eastman, of No. 21 South Clayton street, and a brother of Charles F. Eastman, teller of the Wilmington Trust Company. He is an instance of a promotion from the volunteer ranks to a first lieutenant through sheer ability and application to military duties. Lieutenant Eastman enlisted in the First Delaware Regiment as a volunteer private soldier during the outbreak of the Spanish-American trouble, and then went into the regular army. He saw five years' service in the Philippines, and while there was commissioned a second lieutenant. Later he had two years' service in Alaska. He has been at Fort Thomas, Kentucky, as commanding officer on detached duty recently, and has just been transferred to Fort Benjamin Harrison, Indiana, on important duty. His regiment is at San Antonio.

New Court In Delaware

Those loyal Delawareans, who have felt the criticism, whose power to hurt has been in the fact of its truthfulness—that "Delaware is years behind the times" have been afforded pleasure repeatedly this year. The conservative old state is about to inaugurate a number of changes.

Among these hopeful signs of the time is the establishment of a Juvenile Court, in our one city of Wilmington.

One writer has mentioned the points at which government is most rapidly developing at the present moment, "first in relation to the young criminal, second, in relation to the poor and dependent." From these have sprung one of the latest developments, the Juvenile Courts, which the large cities are inaugurating.

Less than twenty years ago, if a boy was arrested on some trifling charge in any of our American cities, the only possible way to secure another chance for him to grow into a law-abiding citizen, was through the alderman of the ward, who sometimes would "speak to the judge" and secure the release of the boy. This gave the impression that the government was harsh and that political friends alone stood for kindness.

For years only those orphans who had at least a small amount of money were considered possible candidates for kindness, but of later years the Juvenile Courts have assumed parental duties.

The workers along this line in Wilmington were addressed in the High School last Wednesday evening by Mrs. Frederick Schoff, president of the Philadelphia Juvenile Court Association, editor of "Child Welfare" and president of the National Mothers' Congress. She explained the work in Philadelphia, and gave suggestions for carrying on the new work in Delaware.

She has come in contact with 10,000 children in the last eight years, and has talked to adult men and women prisoners as to how they came to be there, all over the country.

She said the majority of men and women in prison were just like the other people outside of prison, and came there because they were not rightly taught as children. The children who broke laws were perfectly normal children, but they had never been taught by their parents what people's rights were, for many parents, said Mrs. Schoff, made the mistake of supposing their children would know instinctively.

Mrs. Schoff hoped that the Juvenile Court Judge to be appointed in Delaware would be a man who would realize the importance of his position, and would know how to handle children. She hoped that a woman probation officer would be appointed, because for the salary they could get a better type of woman than man. Women had been found most successful in Philadelphia, she said, and in all matters concerning children. Mrs. Schoff had found that the combined thought of a man and a woman was better than either sex working alone. She urged that the woman be not a girl just out of college, but a woman of experience who was old enough to command the respect of parents and to have common sense.

Mrs. Schoff said boys were not worse than girls, but there was less given as an outlet for their activity, so they got into mischief. Manual training, she thought, put into the schools, would be their salvation. Another point she emphasized was the getting the churches to work with the Association, sending representatives to it, entertaining the boys in the church basement, and so on.

Delaware should not expect great changes all at once, she said. It required years to build up character.

Laugh It Away

Don't put on your far-off glasses hunting lions in the way.
 Don't go probing round for troubles—just ignore them day by day.
 Don't go sighing: "Yes, 'tis pleasant just at present, but,—ah me!"
 There's the sorrow of tomorrow—where will all our sunshine be?
 If the worst is in the future and has been there all the while, We can keep it there by laughing till we make the others smile.
 If the worst is in the future, let it stay there; for we know That tomorrow's always threatening to bring us so-and-so; But tomorrow with its sorrow, never comes within our gaze, For all time is just a pageant of these busy old todays. Let the world stay in the future where it has been, all the while!

 We can keep it there by laughing till the others start to smile.

When we look toward the sunset in the gorgeous afterglow Let us thank the blessed Father for the things we do not know;

Let us thank him with all fervency that he has never sent Any burden quite unbearable; that while our backs have bent Underneath the load, we've had his arms about us all the while— Let us laugh away our troubles till the whole world wears a smile!

Let us laugh away the trouble though our eyes are dimmed with tears;

Let us laugh away the heartaches and the worries and the fears; Just "be good and you'll be happy"—if you're happy you'll be good;

For the rule's so double-acting that it's seldom understood, Oh, there is no future coming with a lot of trouble in— We can fight it off by laughing till the others start to grin!
