Dear Mr. Bates

You know what the Round Table is. Would you not feel disposed to read us a paper this winter on Realism & Idealism in Fiction? I asked Howells to do it, but he declines on account of prospective avocations, though I think he would come to the meeting & help talk the matter over. I trust to you next. I don't know (or care) how far you would take sides, with him or against him in what he insists on viewing as a crusade; but I know you would treat the matter thoughtfully & impartially, & we should take special pains to bring together some of our young liberators & marshals in particular

A talk it over. Our dates are not yet filled & we could almost fill you carte blanche as it were.
Do undertake it.

Very truly yours
V. W. Higginson
Chairman Board of Trustees.
