R. L. SPENCER RESIGNATION CAUSED BY ILL HEALTH

University's Engineering Head Served For 17 Years

Dean Robert L. Spencer has resigned as head of the University of Delaware's School of Engineering which he developed to the point where it is now recognized throughout the nation for its high standards, equipment, and broad curriculum.

In announcing Dean Spencer's resignation because of ill health, Dr. W. Owen Sypher, acting president, expressed regret that the university is losing his services.

The dean has been on leave of absence because of illness since December. No one has been selected to succeed him and the duties of dean have been handled by Prof. Howard K. Preston.

The post of dean of the School of Engineering was accepted by Dean Spencer on July 1, 1933. He served as acting dean of Delaware College from Feb. 29, 1944, until April 14, when he was made acting president of the university until the temporary appointment of Dr. Sypher on May 1, 1944.

He also served as dean and as head of the department of mechanical engineering.

University of Delaware officials credit Dean Spencer with an outstanding achievement in developing the school of engineering.

When he arrived in 1933, the engineering curriculum was narrow. No chemical engineering was offered at all. He broadened and expanded the school curriculum in every way and undertook also a determined effort to make the school known throughout the country.

High praise has been received from the Society for Promotion of Engineering Education.

Dean Spencer once faced such shortage of supplies and equipment that with the help of his students he used to build laboratory benches and make tools after class.

In his 17 years, he saw the department move from the old Mechanical Hall to Evans Hall, with a new large building for chemical engineering. Another building is planned for the near future.

Equipment has increased many times in extent and value. The dean recognized the importance of quality of teaching and strengthened his faculty with men of national repute developed under his supervision.

Dean Spencer was graduated from Iowa State College with a degree in mechanical engineering. He taught at Iowa State and also at Lehigh University's engineering schools. He also held responsible engineering posts with the Bethlehem Steel Company, the Midwest Refining Company, and the Standard Oil Company, before going to the University of Delaware.

BIG 1945 POTATO CROP MOVES TO MARKET

Expert High Per Acre Yield To Result In Bumper Crop

Favorable weather and high per acre yields are expected to result in a 1945 potato crop of 432,895,000 bushels—next to the largest potato crop in history. Although the size of military cutbacks is not known at this time, there has been a recent reduction in requirements.

Because it is desirable to move the surplus early crop off the market, to create demand and storage space, for the late crop, a postwar Price Support program is well underway. Already, more than 5,395 carloads of potatoes have been purchased by the still-functioning Office of Supply.

Secretary of Agriculture Anderson, states, concerning this bumper crop of potatoes: "The very high yield this year, coupled with reduced military requirements, has brought about a real potato marketing problem. We have developed this expanded program after consultation with industry representatives, and we intend to follow through vigorously on the purchase and loan provisions in support of the potato market."

"We are exploring every possible diversion channel, including the possibility of shipments to Europe, and we hope that the great bulk of potatoes which come under the government program can be disposed of usefully. In the meantime, we must take up intermediate potatoes now, to prevent their hanging over the late potato market. The purchase and loan activities will be continued as long as necessary to do the job. The size of the job will be lessened if the food distributive trades and the housewives of the country will do all they can to see that full use is made of potatoes in every practicable way. There is a real challenge here to conserve this valuable food crop."

GIRL SCOUT COMMITTEE IN MEETING

Course For Leaders To Be Held

The Girl Scout executive committee met recently at the home of the chairman, Mrs. A. W. Perry, to make plans for the coming year. Present were Mrs. Clarence Wells, Mrs. Barton Mackey, Mrs. Wm. D. Murray, Mrs. George Worrlow and Mrs. Earl Wyatt.

Mrs. Perry announced that progress had been made in securing meeting places for the Scouts and Brownies for the coming year and final arrangements should be completed within two weeks.

The need for three new leaders was stressed and several names submitted. Mrs. Charles Cooper, who recently attended a Leader's Training Course at Camp Edith Macy, will conduct a Scout Leaders Training Course in Newark early this fall, the exact time and place to be announced.

Responsibility for various phases of responsibility was divided among the members as follows: Mrs. George Hyde, Leaders; Mrs. Barton Mackey, Finance; Mrs. Frank Simons, meeting places; Mrs. G. Cuthbert Webber, special instructions; Mrs. Robert Kase, publicity; Mr. Earl Wyatt, secretary.

The next meeting will be October 10, at 2 P. M., in the Presbyterian Church.

ODT To Lift All Bans On Conventions Oct. 1

Conventions, group meetings and trade shows go off the restricted list Oct. 1.

The Office of Defense Transportation banned such gatherings last Feb. 1 to reduce travel and ease hotel crowding. Since then it has loosened the rules to permit state meetings of any size and out-of-state attendance up to 150. The new order announced yesterday lifts all restrictions.

ODT Director J. Monroe Johnson noted, however, that the public still should urge to travel until after peak troop movements have been accomplished early next year.

NO REST AT RED CROSS

Total Of 175 Afghans Made

While soldiers are being welcomed home all over the country, many others are still in hospitals, and it is for these that the women of this community have been knitting and crocheting afghans of bright colored squares.

Many organizations as well as individuals have made the squares, others have assembled and put them together. Mrs. J. E. Rothrock put 45 together as well as making a number of the squares.

There will be no further solicitation of funds, but many are continuing the work and enough squares have come in during the summer months to complete 8 more afghans. The total from this area is now 175 afghans.

Mrs. George Dutton is in charge of this work and Miss Carolyn Chalmers is chairman of knitting.

BUILDING LIMITS REMOVED

Construction Price Ceiling Ended By OPA

The government today ordered all limits off new construction, including house building, on Oct. 15.

Despite the fears of OPA and other agencies of skyrocketing home prices, Reconstruction Director John W. Snyder threw out the price ceiling on new dwellings along with the other wartime curbs on civilian construction.

Snyder said swift expansion of building activity offered "the greatest single additional source of jobs in our entire economy." He announced a six-point program to spur the expansion.

These prompt follow-up actions also were taken:

1. The War Production Board revoked its hotly disputed order "L-41," effective Oct. 15, including its $8,000 price limit on permitted houses.

That action will permit unhampered construction of stores, theatres, dwellings, office and hotel buildings. It also will unhook a big public works program which has been bottled up for three years. Curbs on factory and road building are already off.

2. The OPA prepared to issue strict dollars-and-cents price ceilings on nearly all building supplies.

These will cover plumbing, hardware and materials as well as roof-laying and other contractors' services—in fact, almost everything but the price of the lot and finished house.

But OPA Administrator Chester Bowles urged Congress to authorize price limits on completed homes, too. Otherwise the country faces the "biggest price boom ever," he told a Senate small business subcommittee.

Snyder put his main reliance on a rapid increase in the supply of housing to offset soaring prices on the 10,000,000 to 15,000,000 new homes which is the country's estimated need.

A frank statement about the gasoline situation

WHEN the history of World War II is written, the contributions of the American oil industry will make a big chapter. Since Pearl Harbor, for instance, it refined 90 billion gallons of gas—82% of all the gas produced by the United Nations. This year, U. S. production of that super fuel, aviation gas, reached the incredible total of 22 million gallons per day! We, the American Oil Company and the Pan American Refining Corporation, are proud of our part in this great achievement.

Now the oil industry is rapidly being converted to peacetime use. Tankers are being released. Restrictions of all sorts are being lifted. Of course, all this can't be done in a day. Benefits for motorists are coming. First came the end of rationing. Better grade gasoline is rapidly going back to the pumps.

AMOCO-GAS and AMERICAN GAS have always been honest products—honestly described. You will buy with confidence knowing that no finer motor fuels can be made. It's not what's in the ads—it's what's in the pumps.

Petroleum science has learned a lot in war. Great progress has been made. There will be better gasolines—yes! But they won't be atomic. No fuels will take you zooming to Mars. They won't make your car into a B-29.

Our fuels will embody all of the latest scientific advances of the oil industry. Behind them are the great facilities of the American Oil Company and its affiliate, Pan American Refining Corporation.

We don't want to engage in a battle of adjectives about them. We just want to remind you of the pre-war reputation of Amoco-Gas and American Gas—and promise you that every advancement petroleum science has made will be embodied in these two fine motor fuels in full measure.

1910 . . .

THE AMERICAN POLICY

Our policy was—and still is—to offer honest values, honestly described, to market distinctive and better products, to work constantly towards their improvement, to sell them at fair prices, and to render efficient service.

DELAWARE ARM FRONT THIS WEEK

W. P. A. Control Removed On Slaughtering

President Praises Farmers
One of the most magnificent jobs in the war has been done by the farmers of the United States. No other group in America has done longer or harder to meet the needs of the Nation. The Government now must be prepared to meet the Nation's responsibility to the farmers in making their readjustments from a wartime to a peacetime basis.

President Truman in Message to Congress, September 6, 1945.

President disclosed that Secretary of Agriculture Clinton P. Anderson is studying existing farm programs and any changes are needed to meet the conditions. He asked Congress, through its appropriate committees, to consider the problem of any adjustment which will make farm programs more effective.

Removes Slaughter Controls
The War Relocation Authority has removed controls on how a packer can slaughter meat. The meat is to be shipped to the civilian supply.

Quotas were placed under quotas limiting restrictions last April to ease severe local shortages in parts of the country, especially in the farm areas. Cattle are moving in record numbers.

Market and lamb supplies, however, continue to be limited. The War's Crop Insurance has passed on with flying colors. Already applications have gone beyond the 50 farms per county. Dead-end signing up is Saturday, September 29, before county offices close.

Local agents may still be contacted for the remainder of the day, but injuries such as those suffered by Williams who was with a bruise on his head, has been out of school for several days. The uniform situation is still a problem. The school is still a problem. The school is still a problem.

Officials point out that the needs of farmers are more than met as large as in 1941. By the use of this money in War Relocation Authority will build up cash reserves against lean years. Secretary of Agriculture Clinton P. Anderson also commends the buying and holding of bonds until the danger of inflation.

Needed To Harvest Crops
The end, with troop demobilization and industries cut-backs, has meant a scattered increase in the farm supply. Off-setting these gains, however, is the departure of workers from farms following the lifting of war controls. Three million men will be needed during the months to harvest the Nation's bumper crop. The Department of Agriculture reports. The shortage of labor is now at its tightest point for years.

Allotments Unchanged
Retail users will get no more than the fourth quarter than in the fourth quarter of the 1945 calendar according to OPA. Rationing for industrial users — 50 per cent for bakers, and 110 percent for industrial manufacturers — unchanged. Less sugar will be used by industry because rationing will be curtailed.

Chapter Officers Elected
The annual meeting of the University of Delaware Chapter of the Delaware Education Association, held at the University Hall on Monday evening, September 24, the following officers were elected for the ensuing year: Dean W. Earl Armstrong; Secretary, John Munroe; Secretary, Professor R. W. Heim; Standing Committee on Membership, Professor Emeritus W. A. representing School of Education; Prof. Rena Allen, representing all women; Prof. R. W. representing School of Agriculture; Dr. A. P. representing Chemistry department; Prof. representing Engineering department; Charles N. Lanier and Prof. representing School of Arts and Dean J. Fenton Daugherty, representing Department.

Newly elected officers, and several members of the Chapter who were appointed by Dean Armstrong, President of the Chapter, will meet in the Representative Assembly of the D. S. E. A., which will be held Thursday evening, October 4, in connection with the two-day state convention.

ARMY POINT SYSTEM TO BE REVISED OCTOBER 1

Release Of All Two-Year Men Planned By Winter

By October 1 seventy points will get a soldier out of the Army.

By Nov. 1 sixty points will do it.

Late in the winter the point discharge system will be dropped entirely and two year's service is all G. I. Joe will need to be eligible for civilian clothes.

General of the Army George C. Marshall, chief of staff, presented that speed-up demobilization program to Congress, restive under insistent prodding from constituents who want their men back.

The lawmakers listened warily to an hour's explanation of the difficulties of boiling down an 8,000,000-man Army. Marshall didn't seem to be getting anything better than polite attention.

Then he announced the speed-up. That was something different. It got rousing applause.

Major Gen. S. G. Henry, chief of Army personnel, got in on the hand clapping when he announced that by Oct. 1 officers will need only 75 points, enlisted WAC's 36 and WAC officers 29. The score for enlisted WACs drops to 34 on Nov. 1.

The presently required scores are 80 for enlisted soldiers, 80 to 100 for male officers according to grade, 41 for enlisted WACs and 44 for WAC officers.

Medical Department officers, as at present, will be released under a separate schedule.

The conference was held in the auditorium of the Library of Congress. Marshall asked for it to still growing criticism of the speed — lack of speed — in discharges.

Local agents may still be contacted for the remainder of the day, but injuries such as those suffered by Williams who was with a bruise on his head, has been out of school for several days. The uniform situation is still a problem. The school is still a problem.

Needed To Harvest Crops
The end, with troop demobilization and industries cut-backs, has meant a scattered increase in the farm supply. Off-setting these gains, however, is the departure of workers from farms following the lifting of war controls. Three million men will be needed during the months to harvest the Nation's bumper crop. The Department of Agriculture reports. The shortage of labor is now at its tightest point for years.

Allotments Unchanged
Retail users will get no more than the fourth quarter than in the fourth quarter of the 1945 calendar according to OPA. Rationing for industrial users — 50 per cent for bakers, and 110 percent for industrial manufacturers — unchanged. Less sugar will be used by industry because rationing will be curtailed.

Worry about rain ruining the living room rug or curtains can be eliminated by an electrical device for early production, which opens and closes windows thermostatically. Thus, if the night is hot and there are threatening clouds, it will be safe to leave the house. If the storm strikes, the accompanying drop in temperature will cause the windows to close.

COL. BATES HONORED AT U. OF D. EXERCISES

15 Bachelor Degrees Are Conferred At Convocation

Honoring of a former Army officer who served as military instructor on its staff for two and one-half years marked the opening of the first post-war semester for 646 students at the University of Delaware last Thursday afternoon.

In addition to one master and 15 bachelor degrees, a certificate of honor was presented to Col. Daniel M. Bates by Dr. Owen W. Sypherd, acting president of the university, in recognition of the former's services, without remuneration, as mathematics instructor of the Army Specialized Training Reserve Program.

Colonel Bates, a veteran of World War I, was barred from active service in the past war because of age restrictions. His work at the University of Delaware was his first experience in teaching and in accepting the award he expressed his appreciation for the opportunity to serve the war effort in some capacity. His certificate was signed by Dr. Sypherd and former Judge Hugh H. Morris, president of the board.

The degree of master of arts went to Kathryn Crook Levis of Baltimore, Md., now Mrs. Richard P. McCormack. Miss Levis was married in August to Mr. McCormack, formerly of the University of Delaware faculty, now an instructor at Rutgers University in New Brunswick, N. J., where they are making their home.

Baccalaureate degrees were conferred on fifteen students. Governor Walter W. Bacon was a luncheon visitor but was unable to stay for convocation.

Convocation began at 4 o'clock with invocation by Dr. Oliver J. Collins, a member of the class of 1927, with Paul H. Terry at the organ. The program was followed with a reception for graduates, faculty members and guests at Warner Hall with Dr. Sypherd as host.

HELMBRECK OFF JAPAN

Seaman On Bon Homme Richard

Earl J. Helmbreck, seaman second class, USNR, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Helmbreck, 47 West Delaware Ave., is serving aboard the USS Bon Homme Richard which has been assigned to duty off Japan as a part of the U. S. Occupation Fleet.

For 45 days preceding the end of the war, the vessel steamed up and down the Japanese coast as the 3rd Fleet staged 13 air raids and five bombardments on the Japanese islands — and fired her guns only once. That was when the almost-perfect air cover permitted a Jap suicide plane to sneak through, only to be shot down just short of another carrier.

"Gosh!" yelled one of the men as he seized his helmet and dashed for his gun mount. "The war's over — it would kill me to get killed now!"

Explosives Group Head Is Named By Hercules

Dr. A. M. Ball has been named explosives group leader of the Experiment Station of the Hercules Powder Company. A former resident here, Dr. Ball has been technical director of the Hercules-operated Radford Ordnance Works since December, 1941.

While at Radford, he organized ballistic testing and quality control of smokeless powder and was responsible for installing similar procedures at Hercules-operated Badger Ordnance Works and Sunflower Ordnance Works.
