NHS TESTING PLAN HELPS STUDENTS TO PICK CAREER

Results Used In Individual Counseling By Guidance Head

As a phase of the guidance program at the Newark schools, a broad-scale testing program, aimed at measuring students' mental ability, reading skill, vocational interests and aptitudes, was completed recently in grades nine through twelve.

The results will be used by Dorothy Markert, guidance director, in individual interviews with the pupils. The data placed from the tests, plus other factors such as pupil interest and motivation will help Miss Markert in advising students on the careers in which they are most likely to find success. She will also be able to guide them in selecting careers best suited to their ability while in school.

Pupils show vocational interests and abilities which, for instance, want to be engineers when all the data points to their achieving most success as teachers or accountants, are greatly helped by this method. Also, students who are at a loss as to what educational path to follow in high school and college can be set on the right track towards achievement and well-being.

The overall purpose of the testing program, Miss Markert states is twofold: "First, to give the student a better knowledge of his abilities and interests thus enabling him to make educational and vocational choices more wisely and secondly, to give the teacher an indication of what the student is capable of doing scholastically in order to insure that each child works up to his capacity. Some of the test results are used directly with the pupil in conferences; others are used by teachers in planning work and checking accomplishment."

Ninth grade pupils were given the Otis Mental Ability Tests, which are designed to measure thinking power or the degree of mental maturity.

The tenth graders received reading tests, aimed at determining the pupils' reading skill in relation to his grade in school. The tests help bring out such factors as whether or not the pupil has sufficient reading ability to master the courses he is taking or planning to take, also whether he has sufficient familiarity with the printed word to enjoy reading as a leisure time activity as well as to inform himself adequately on world events. In the event a pupil is below par, the tests point up his particular weakness and corrective measures may be taken.

A combination of mental ability and vocational interest tests was given eleventh grade students. Miss Markert says the results are "graphed on a profile sheet and give the student a clear-cut picture of his present ability to deal with intellectual problems in a number of areas. Attention is focused on strengths and weaknesses in an effort to help the individual to understand himself better.

The vocational interest record" she continues, "is used to check on whether a student's occupational choice is consistent with the type of activity he finds most interesting and to point out voca-

A joint installation of officers with Friendship Temple of the Pythian Sisters will be held next month.

UNIVERSITY TO OBSERVE FARM WEEK

4-Day Event To Open On February 8

The 1949 version of Farmers' Week at the University of Delaware will be held Feb. 8, 9, 10 and 11. Announcement of the dates of this popular event for Delaware farmers and homemakers has been made by George M. Worriow, director of the Extension Service and Experiment Station; and George L. Schuster, dean of the School of Agriculture.

Farmers' Week, which is attended annually by hundreds of farm people from Delaware and the adjoining states, provides a special opportunity for presenting the latest farming and rural living information and for discussions of subjects of general interest to farm people.

The program for the four-day event is being completed at the present time and will be announced in detail early in January. Features of the program this year include morning sessions on subject matter of specific interest to farmers and homemakers. The afternoon programs will feature prominent agricultural leaders who will speak before the entire farmers day audiences on topics such as international relations, national agricultural policies and programs, marketing and the relationships of agriculture to the other segments of industry and living.

THREE FIRES PAST WEEK

Three fire alarms were sound here the past week, one for a blaze in town, when dust over a pipeless heater caught fire at the home of Leonard Tweed, Margaret Street, on Tuesday night. The flames were extinguished before damage occurred.

Last Saturday night, fire gutted the kitchen of the home of Mrs. Alice Hall, on Little Egypt Road, near the Maryland-Pennsylvania line. The fire was discovered after the family had retired by Mrs. Hall's daughter-in-law, Mrs. Norman Hall, of Newark, who was visiting there. Firemen are still investigating the cause, and the damage has not been estimated.

The third call was for a fire at the apartment home of Raymond Bird, Kemblesville, Pa. Slight damage to the living room was reported.

TOWN ZONE LAW DRAFT STILL OPEN TO CHANGES

First, Second Readings Are Scheduled For Monday Night

Town officials issued a reminder this week that changes may still be written into the proposed zoning law during its first and second reading, scheduled for the January Meeting of Council on Monday night.

If no more delays develop, the measure will be ready for its third reading and formal adoption at the group's February meeting.

The zoning law is handled as a regular ordinance and its passage by Council will make it law. This is in contrast to the procedure for adopting the new town charter which must be passed on by the state legislature in order to become legally binding for Newark.

Most of the major changes written into the proposed zoning law since the public hearing have been published, and a complete copy of the draft as it now stands is available at the Council office to anyone interested.

Individuals or groups interested in working further changes into the measure before adoption should make their wishes known at Monday night's meeting.

LECTURE ON DEL. HISTORY JAN. 7 HERE

Noted Authority To Give Public Talk At U. Of D.

Dr. Thomas D. Cope, of Philadelphia, the foremost authority on the careers of Charles Mason and Jeremiah Dixon, surveyors of the boundary line which bears their names, will be presented by the University of Delaware's History Department in a public lecture at Newark on Friday, Jan. 7.

Dr. H. Clay Reed, chairman of the department, in announcing the lecture pointed out that while Mason and Dixon are generally known only as surveyors, they were in fact accomplished astronomical observers who spent their lives furthering that science.

Dr. Cope, professor of physics at the University of Pennsylvania, is making a fresh study of the lives and scientific achievements of Mason and Dixon, and has gathered much new scientific information about them, particularly from British archives. The subject of Dr. Cope's talk will be: "Mason and Dixon—English Men of Science."

Preceding the lecture, at 8:30 p. m., in Mitchell Hall, Newark, there will be an informal reception and dinner for Dr. Cope, held in Old College on the University campus. The reception at 6 o'clock, and the dinner at 6:45 p. m., will be open to anyone planning to attend the lecture who makes dinner reservations with the Department of History.

Dr. Cope, a graduate of the University of Pennsylvania with the degrees of bachelor of arts and doctor of philosophy, also has studied at Berlin University. He has been on the Pennsylvania faculty since 1906, and been prominent since that time in the work of scientific and educational societies. He is a former president of the Pennsylvania Academy of Science and a former member of the American Institute of Physics. Dr. Cope is the author of many papers on educational, scientific and scientific-historical problems.

Auto Registration Reported Lagging

Of the 18,000 motor vehicles in Delaware with tags expiring tomorrow nearly 7,000 remained to be inspected for registration renewals, the fork part of this week, according to Frank L. Reed, state motor vehicle commissioner. Many of these are undergoing repairs, he said.

Inspection lanes are open at Georgetown, Dover and Wilmington from 8:30 a. m. to 4:30 p. m. They will be closed on New Year's Day.

TEACHER RESIGNS

Mrs. Mamie Bayton, first and second grade teacher at the New London Avenue School, has tendered her resignation, according to school officials.

Review Of Events In 1948 Here Shows Town Growth

Despite Troubled Times Steady Expansion Seen In Life Of Community

For Newark, as for the rest of the country, 1948 was a year of unusual prosperity, material growth and general expansion, yet, curiously, the underlying mood was one of suspense and dread over the future, engendered mainly by the inflationary trends at home and the "cold" war between East and West abroad.

Most Newarkians, though, were aware that these were troubled times chiefly through their radios and the headlines. The only direct effects of the world's disquiet on the local scene were the drafting of youths under the first peacetime military training law, the lingering housing shortage and the high prices.

The town itself made great strides in 1948. Major advance on the industrial front was the opening of the vast Chrysler parts plant and the Wilson Company's mayonnaise factory.

Main Street also was altered to reflect the material growth of the town. The American store opened an ultra-modern super-market, and the National Five and Ten underwent complete remodeling. More recently, Trivits Auto Supply opened a new store, and Frank Tomoleo's drug store is expected to be ready for business shortly. Eric Mayor is also completing two modern stores, and the Sidco cut rate will soon move into remodeled quarters in the former Powell's Restaurant. Both the Farmers and the Newark Trust underwent enlargements during the year.

Other evidences of town expansion were the completed plans for the 26-room elementary school, contracts on which have been awarded. Perhaps the greatest change in the Main Street scene was the Methodist Church's new facade topped by a slender colonial steeple, now nearing completion.

While the housing shortage is still critical, steps towards easing it were taken when Council approved the erection of a 70-family apartment house on Elkton Road, the plans for which are now being processed by the P.H.A. A 62-home project was also approved for the southwestern outskirts, two homes of which are completed.

On the civic front, a number of long felt needs were met. The long shelved plans for the new town charter and the zoning ordinance were dusted off, and both now appear near enactment. Preliminary work on developing a town building code and modernizing the methods of assessment were also begun by Council. Completion of the $75,000 north side sewer project brought a large residential area into the town sanitary system for the first time.

Progress was also in evidence on the educational front. In addition to plans for the new school, the curriculum here was expanded, and a guidance director was appointed for the first time to supervise individual counseling of students. An elementary supervisor was also named. Perhaps the greatest single honor for the local schools was their selection by the NEA as outstanding in Delaware for visual aid work.

Following is a week by week account of the principal developments here during 1948 as reported in the Post:

January
8—F. A. Wheelless appointed head of a 13-man civic committee to revise draft of new charter. Open house at Newark Trust on reopening of enlarged and remodeled quarters.

15—Boy Scouts to conduct house to house drive on 17th for March of Dimes. Charter committee members named by Mr. Wheelless.

22—George Worriow named director of the university Agricultural Experiment Station and Extension Service. Would-be purchasers of Read Village homes run into red-tape difficulty in obtaining loans. School children contribute $175.26 for polio drive. Well-known school teacher, Mrs. Marion C. Keyes, dies here at the age of 52.

29—Newark High pupils plan radio show over Wilmington station on Feb. 29, describing school activity program. Remodeled National Five & Ten set to open February 6.

February
5—Council bombarded with protests on its plan to charge real estate developers for installation of utilities such as improved streets, lights and waters. Daniel Thompson reelected Farmers Trust president. Fire destroyed stock room at Neighbors Pharmacy.

12—Robbers take $135 from safe at Richards' Dairy. March of Dimes nets $1,825. Lions pass resolution favoring universal military training.

19—Theo. S. Jones reelected president of the Chamber of Commerce. (Please Turn to Page 9)

HEARING ON CHARTER IS SLATED FOR JANUARY 18

Important Civic Issues To Be Placed Before Public

Issues of major civic importance will be placed before the public at an open hearing on the new Town Charter scheduled for January 18, town officials announced this week. The session will be held at 8 p. m. in the high school auditorium.

Copies of the charter draft as revised the past year by a town committee will be available at the Council offices after January 12. Authorities do not plan to mail printed pamphlets as they did with the zoning law.

The scheduled hearing is not required by law, but is being held on the initiative of Council in order to obtain public reaction on a number of controversial points in the current draft before submitting it to the General Assembly early in 1949. As the questions to be discussed may determine the political future of the town for many decades, it is expected a large turnout of residents will be on hand to voice their opinions on debatable issues.

It is important that the draft has full public support before it goes to the state legislature. Last minute protests by civic groups two years ago were responsible for withdrawing the original draft before it could be acted upon by the assembly. The much needed governmental reform has been delayed ever since.

For the past month, Council has been going over the draft at a number of special meetings and selecting questionable points to bring up at the hearing.

Chief among the issues on which public opinion will be sought will be the qualifications for a voter to hold office and also the qualifications for voting in town elections.

Another will be the problem of filling Council vacancies. Should they be filled for a full term or only to the next regular town election? There is also the question of pay for Councilmen, who, under the present charter, serve without compensation. Should they be paid? If so, how much?

On the matter of tax revenue, the new charter draft calls for a limit of $100,000 to be collected in any one year. This limit under the present charter is $20,000. Is the new limit sufficient or excessive?

Another important point is the voting power of the Mayor. Under the present charter he has no vote. Should this be changed?

The method of assessing real estate should also be discussed, authorities believe.

Banks Closed Tomorrow Night

Both local banks will be open for business tonight, but will close tomorrow evening, New Year's Eve, according to a joint announcement by officials of the Farmers and Newark Trust Companies.

After the holiday the two institutions will resume regular evening hours every Friday from 6:30 to 8 o'clock.

BASKETS OF FOOD GIVEN 38 FAMILIES

Twice Number First Planned In Scout Drive

Thirty-eight families, twice the number expected, received gift baskets of food here on Christmas Eve through the scout Good Turn Drive.

Additional canned goods and other food for the baskets were provided through contributions of the American Legion and Auxiliary, Mrs. J. Harvey Dickey directed the packing and the purchase of extra food. The brimming baskets were delivered by scouts of Troop 55 under Elmer Ellison, fire warden.

Needy children of the community were not overlooked. Gifts of toys for about 60 tots were given along with the baskets. The toys were secured through the cooperation of local merchants who offered them to the Auxiliaries at reduced prices or at cost. George E. Martin, proprietor of the Sinclair Service Station, donated a large quantity of elaborate toys he had as surplus stock.

Organizations which cooperated with the Legion and Auxiliary in the project were the Veterans of Foreign Wars, Town Council, White Clay Creek Church, the Eastern Star, and others.

Among those groups which conducted Christmas projects of their own were the Methodist Church and the Newark Soroptimists. The former distributed food, and the latter gift stockings on Christmas Eve.

Services Tuesday For Mrs. Annie Jane Sartin

Mrs. Annie Jane Sartin, a resident here for over 20 years, died on Saturday at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Bertha Lindell, near Newark. Mrs. Sartin, who was 79, was the widow of James Sartin.

Services were held Tuesday at the Pippin Funeral Home, Elkton, Md. Interment was in Bethel Cemetery, near Chesapeake City.

Police Squelch Small "Crime" Wave By Playing Santa Claus On Xmas Eve

That "crime doesn't pay" is a tried and true adage, but, sometimes, especially just around Christmas, well, even the police make allowances.

As a result, 12-year old James Melvin Heisler, who is in the seventh grade at the local schools, is sporting a brand new bicycle.

"Jimmy," who lives with his foster mother, Mrs. Maude Thornton, at 396 South College Avenue, was presented with the shiny new wheel on Christmas Eve in the Council offices, with Police Chief William Cunningham and Sgt. Leroy C. Hill and other dignitaries in attendance.

The little ceremony was not only a tribute to Jimmy's winning personality and good nature but to the local police for their intelligent handling of children.

In other towns where policemen are only law enforcement officers, Jimmy might be classified as a potential delinquent. Here, he is just regarded as a boy who wanted a bicycle so badly he got in the habit of taking rides on other children's bikes and forgetting to return them. He didn't actually steal them, you understand, just picked them up sometimes when their owners left them idle.

It got so that whenever a bike was reported "missing" in town, the police went around to see Jimmy. They eventually grew to know him quite well as a bright, polite boy, who was crazy about bicycles and saw nothing wrong in using them when their owner wasn't. They also found that Jimmy was a capable member of the school safety patrol, who every morning, when Sgt. Hill came around to inspect, was ready with a snappy salute. At school, they learned he was a rising journalist, staff member of the "Tollers Toot" and a satisfactory student.

The police concluded that the best way to handle this small-scale "crime" wave was by giving the boy a bicycle. Chief Cunningham suggested the idea to Sgt. Hill, and together they secured contributions from the rest of the force and town employees. Oscar Trivits, of the Diamond Ice and Coal, joined in the spirit of the thing and sold them a bicycle at cost.

Meanwhile, Jimmy was told that if he was a good boy and got better marks at school, he might get a bicycle of his own. Both Jimmy and the police came through.

Jimmy now has his heart's desire, and the police report all quiet among the bicycle set.

Brazilian Student To Lead Rumba Dance In NHS Talent Show, Jan., 4-5

Rumba and Tango dancing in true South American style will highlight an all-pupil talent show at the Newark High School in assemblies next Tuesday and Wednesday.

That the dancers will display a touch of real Latin flavor is promised by Jair dos Santos, a native of Brazil now a student here, who has been directing the student teams in intricate routines since September.

Jair, who says his main difficulty has been getting the boys to loosen up, claims the students have caught the rumba style of the dances, and he promises the audience no flat American imitations but genuine "room-ba" dancing.

Clearly enough, Jair did not include the samba, native dance of Brazil, in the program. This, he said, when done as it should be done, is a little too "disturbing to the blood." You can't tell what might happen, he added with a roll of the eyes.

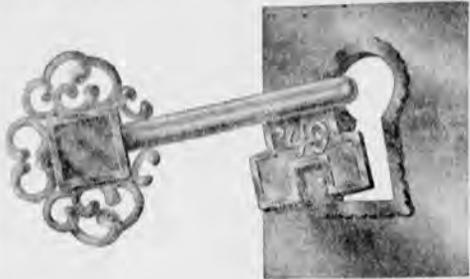

The girls will perform in evening dress, while the boys will wear black trousers and silk shirts with puffed sleeves. The dance teams for the rumba will be: Theresa Duffy and Jimmy Towers; Virginia Thornton and Ricky Ghish; Kay Knighton and Jim Wollas-

Command Of Delaware Military Units Changed

According to an announcement by Brig.-Gen. Paul R. Rinard, administration of all military affairs in Delaware will be switched on January 1 from the First to the Second Army area with headquarters in Fort George Meade, Md., rather than Governors Island, N. Y. Fort Meade is near Baltimore.

Extensive use of the Bethany Beach National Guard camp as an anti-aircraft artillery summer field training center is expected to result from the transfer.

The move will be an advantage for Delaware Guard units and reserves, since the headquarters at Fort Meade are much nearer. Army inspection teams to check on Delaware Guard and units will come now from Fort Meade rather than Governors Island.

Gymnastic Club Plans For Assembly

The Gymnastic Club of Newark High School, is well underway, in planning to demonstrate their skill in school assembly later in the year. The club has been working hard on their routines and stunts which will make up their tricky and fast moving performance. Two outstanding performers in this outfit are Robert Evans and Thomas Murphy. These two boys, no doubt, will be the main attraction of the assembly. Both are well experienced in this field. Other boys who will participate in the assembly are: Tom Martin, Thomas Schultz, Don Rumer, Charles Foster, Ralph Foster, Norris Smith, Merritt Buchanan, Jerry Leahy, Donnie Rittenhouse and Cliff Gray.

"Buck" Buchanan.

Boys Leaders' Club Meets

The Boys Leaders' Club held a meeting to discuss the problems concerning Play Day and the All Sports Banquet. Play Day has been introduced in order that everybody can participate in an athletic event in Junior and Senior High on a special day.

Sporting events to be included on the Play Day program are: short dashes in track, softball, ping pong, high goal, and others. The boys voted to hold the banquet in the cafeteria, to have one good speaker, and to have a dance after the presentation of letters.

The Boys Leaders' Club picked committees to meet with the Girls Leaders' Club committees to combine their plans. The Play Day committee includes B. Records, B. Redding, J. Wolleston, D. Rash, W. Knotts, B. Schaeen, J. Knotts, R. Knox, and A. Mayer. Members of all sports banquet committee are T. Murphy, J. Ford, J. Wolleston, B. Records, R. Barrow, J. Knotts, E. Gregson, and A. Mayer.

What We See in N. H. S.

When first the doors opened wide
And all the children run inside
We find their minds are somewhat faint
For they don't know their school with its brand new paint
But soon they swing into the same old gate
And in halls and rooms they decorate
Crayons are flashing and paint brushes
splashing
And the poor old floors takes quite a crude lashing
But the children are happy and that's the main thing
For their work makes the sleepy halls
wake up and sing
Now we see scenes which were done
with much pride
And to look at them makes one feel happy inside
Some are of animals and some are of toys
And many contain little girls and boys
But the ones that rates highest it seems to be
Are the ones of the good old Christmas tree
For around the school now that's the main thought
And perhaps the first lesson the kiddies are taught
But its good to know that the small ones are gay
And to know that they are safe from day to day
Well, the clock on the wall is ticking away
So I'll say goodbye till another fine day.
Clark and Clancy.

Delaware Crop Value Drops Four Million

The value of crops in Delaware dropped more than four million dollars in 1948, according to the U. S. Department of Agriculture's Delaware Crop Reporting Service.

The 1948 harvest was valued at $20,561,000, the service claimed. The figure for the previous year was $24,910,000. Decline in the value of field crops is the cause, the report stated.

The value of the corn crop dropped about a third, going from $9,964,400 in 1947, to $6,249,000 this year. The wheat crop dropped similarly, from $3,363,000 last year to $2,169,000 this year. Truck crops, however, showed a 12 per cent gain. The 1947 value was $5,105,000, while this year's is $5,708,000. Apples, hay and peaches were also above last year's levels.

Acreage under cultivation was slightly greater this year—402,700 compared to 401,000 in 1947.

Added Compensation Given A & P Employees

Additional compensation totaling more than $2,100,000 has been distributed to employees of the Great Atlantic and Pacific Tea Company before Christmas. It was announced this week by John A. Hartford, president.

All A & P employees throughout the country, with six months' or more service with the company, participate in the cash distribution.

Wilson And Stoll Opposed For Chief In Fire Company Election; Other Nominees Listed

From Issue of January 2, 1923

Fire Company Nominees

E. Clifford Wilson, chief here for many years, and Daniel Stoll, local plumbing contractor, are opposed for chief of the Actna Hose, Hook and Ladder Company in the annual election to be held tomorrow night.

Town's Most Powerful Radio

An eight tube radio set, capable of receiving stations at great distances, is being installed by C. M. Badenkopf in his home just north of Newark. Professor George A. Koerber, head of the Electrical Engineering Department at the U. of D., is assisting with the work. The set may be able to pick up broadcasts from as far away as England.

Sherwood Wins Prize

P. M. Sherwood, for many years proprietor of the general store and news stand on Main Street now owned by Ernest Frazer, won a Nash six touring car valued at $1375 in a Wilmington contest Saturday.

35th Wedding Anniversary

Prof. and Mrs. Elisha Conover entertained a few friends last Thursday afternoon, in a quiet observance of their 35th wedding anniversary.

Personals

About fifty youngsters from Wilmington and Newark attended a big party given by Misses Phoebe, Dean and Louise Steel, at the Steel home on Amstel Avenue, last Thursday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Moody and children and Miss Kate Darlington, near Christiana, were Sunday guests at the Singles home on Depot Road.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Cleaves, Kells Avenue, entertained a large group of guests on Saturday evening.

J. A. McKelvey, of Newark, joined a party of gunners and bagged several nice birds in Virginia the latter part of last week.

The Rev. J. J. Rankin and Mrs. Rankin, of Scranton, Pa., spent several days last week with their son, Prof. Carl Rankin and his family on Park Place.

Mrs. H. L. Bonham and family are visiting relatives in Farmington, Del., this week.

Kitchen Accidents Common, Aide Says

The kitchen is the location of many accidents, but with a little extra care and caution most of these accidents can be avoided, says Miss M. Katharine Jones, home demonstration agent. The good housekeeping rule, "a place for everything and everything in its place," is especially important in the kitchen.

According to the National Safety Council, most kitchen accidents are falls. Many of these occur through the use of such makeshift devices as chairs, stools, and boxes for climbing. A safe step stool is an essential piece of equipment in any modern kitchen. Grease and water should always be mopped up to eliminate the danger of slipping and falling.

Scalds and burns also rank high among kitchen accidents. Miss Jones suggests that pan handles be turned away from the front of the stove to prevent accidental tipping, and that a cover be used when carrying scalding liquids. Before opening a steaming kettle or roaster, cover the pan with a cloth and lift the far side of the cover first. Follow directions when using a pressure cooker, making sure that the safety valve is in working condition.

Knives and other sharp tools are involved in 14 per cent of all home accidents, Miss Jones points out. Sharp knives should be kept in a safe rack or special drawer.

Miss Jones suggests these other kitchen precautions: Keep matches out of children's reach. Don't use gasoline or kerosene to start fires.

Keep all drycleaning operations out of the kitchen.

Check stove pipes and flues regularly. Store all medicine, insecticides and drugs away from the kitchen, and where children cannot reach them.

Leaflet On Chicken

Freezing Now Available

"Chicken in the Freezer," a new leaflet of the United States Department of Agriculture, is now available to New Castle County homemakers, according to Home Demonstration Agent, Miss M. Katharine Jones.

The homemaker who has a supply of chicken in the freezer will find a reserve to draw on for unexpected company meals and busy days, say Miss Jones.

This leaflet advises the culling of low producing and nonlaying hens and putting them in the freezer for later use. Step-by-step directions are pictured for freezing stewing hens. Also pictured are directions and recipe for preparing creamed chicken for the freezer.

Broilers, roasters, and fryers are included in the freezing directions.

MISS MELISSA BAKER BRIDE OF R. M. GOEHRING

The wedding of Miss Melissa Baker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas A. Baker, 1000 Orchard Road, and Mr. Robert M. Goehring, son of the Rev. and Mrs. Herman D. Goehring, of Milton, Mass., took place Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock in the First Presbyterian Church of Newark. The Rev. H. E. Hall, minister of the church, officiated, and the bride was attended by the father of the bride.

Miss Nell Wilson, organist at the church, played the wedding music. The bride, given in marriage by her father, was attended by her sister, Miss Phyllis Baker, as maid of honor. Mr. Edward Stone, of Boston, served as best man for Mr. Goehring.

The bride wore a gown of white lace, the bodice made with an illusion yoke, and the sleeves with long sleeves extending into points over the hands. The skirt fell into a short train. Her fingering length veil of illusion was caught at the sides of her head with clusters of orange blossoms. She carried a bouquet of white snapdragons, white lilacs, and variegated ivy.

Miss Baker wore a frock of light green tulle with a matching head-dress and carried a bouquet of red roses.

Mrs. Baker, mother of the bride, wore a gown of American Beauty crepe with matching leather hat and a corsage of brown orchids. Mrs. Goehring, mother of the bridegroom, wore moss green with matching hat and accessories and a corsage of brown orchids.

A reception followed at the Newark Country Club where music was furnished by George Madden's Orchestra. Following a swimming trip, Mr. Goehring and his bride will reside in Dorchester, Mass.

The bride, a graduate of the University of Delaware and the Boston School of Occupational Therapy, is now associated with the Boston Psychopathic Hospital.

Mr. Goehring was graduated from Suffolk University and is attending the Simmons College Graduate School of Social Work.

MISS PHYLLIS J. STONE TO WED H. G. ARMSTRONG

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Graydon Stone, Cleveland, Ohio, announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Phyllis Jean Stone, to Mr. Howard Gene Armstrong, son of Dr. and Mrs. W. Earle Armstrong, of South College Avenue, Newark.

FARM WEEK CROP SHOW

At U. of D. In February

The annual field crops show of the Delaware Crop Improvement Association will be held at the University of Delaware the same week as the university's annual Farmers' Week. The dates for Farmers' Week are Feb. 8, 9, 10, and 11.

C. E. Phillips head of the department of agronomy at the university and secretary of the Crop Improvement Association, reveals that the crop show exhibits will be in the laboratory and classrooms of the agronomy department.

The farm crop exhibit is staged each year by the association to encourage the production of better crops, and classes of all Delaware's grain and hay crops will be exhibited. Special premiums and awards are made available for his show from funds provided by the State Legislature.

The Crop Improvement Association will hold its annual meeting in conjunction with the four-day exhibit. This will be the 42nd anniversary meeting of the association.

2 Major Accident Causes In Winter

Skidding and Poor Visibility Chief Hazards

The two major factors producing winter accidents are: 1. Inadequate traction. 2. Reduced visibility.

Strip that down to plain terms and it simply means: 1. Slipping into trouble you can't see.

What to do to prevent the first: See that brakes are kept equalized and in good condition... Keep that speed down low enough to stop safely... Get the "feel" of the road surface before going far... Slow down well in advance of intersections and icy roads... When you stop use a pumping action on the brake pedal.

What to do to prevent the second: See that the windshield wipers are kept in good operating condition... Keep headlights in proper focus and not aimed too high... If you don't have a defrosting device, drive with a little ventilation in your vehicle (frost shields on non-breaking transparent materials are effective where their use is practical)... Carry a putty knife or similar scraper to clear ice off the outside of windshield and windows... Keep outside rear-view mirrors as clear as possible. And for the protection of others as well as yourself be sure taillights are in operation, and carry flares and fuses.

The British Admiralty reports that Thompson and Lindsay Islands have vanished from the South Atlantic. These islands have been on the charts since 1825.

Nation's '48 Accident Toll Is Set At 99,000

The toll of lives taken in accidents in this country in 1948 will total 99,000—600 less than last year, the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company estimated recently.

The reduction may mark a halt in an upward trend in accidental deaths which began in 1945 and continued through 1947, the report said. It added: "An encouraging feature of the year's record was a decline in the number of deaths from occupational accidents, despite a very high level of employment."

DRAFT LAW EFFECT ON U. OF D. MEN

Students Must Keep In Touch With Own Boards

The University of Delaware's several hundred men students eligible for Selective Service induction must maintain liaison with their local draft boards through the office of Registrar William H. Bohning if allowable deferment is to be claimed.

Selective Service regulations permit all students, who might be drafted this winter or spring, to remain civilians until the present academic year closes. In the case of the University of Delaware students, that date is June 5, 1949. But certification of their status as students in good standing is required by the local boards, and the official notices can be obtained only through the registrar's office, Mr. Bohning explained. The only exception is in the case of ROTC deferments.

There are 691 non-veteran men at the university, of whom it is believed, more than half should fall between the ages of 19 and 25.

A committee, which also includes Dean Francis H. Squire, Col. R. T. Pendleton, and Col. L. A. Zimmer, designated the registrar's office for centralizing of the notices to the local boards. This was done because "continuous confirmation of the student's status is required, and this information can best be cleared through the registrar's office," Mr. Bohning explained. The committee, which was appointed by President Carlson, will notify the local boards of the students who are eligible for postponement of their induction until June 5, or until their work ceases to be satisfactory. Such notices go to the boards, however, only when the students notify the registrar that their Selective Service status requires it.

Local boards, Mr. Bohning pointed out, differ in their methods of handling students registered with them. Technically, the student must be ordered to report for induction before he presents official evidence of his being a student. Many draft boards, he added, do accept this evidence earlier, and postpone the physical examination until the close of the academic year.

JACKET FIVE PLAYS AT A. I. DUPONT ON TUESDAY NIGHT; MEETS P. S. HERE ON FRIDAY

The Newark High basketball team will open its regular season on Tuesday in a game with A. I. duPont on the latter's court and follow up with a home appearance next Friday with P. S. duPont providing the opposition.

The Jackets have been idle since their pre-season clash with the Newark Alumni when they were beaten out in a tight overtime match, 53-49.

Despite the defeat, the Jackets showed promising form against the Alumni. They led most of the way, the old grads finally wresting the advantage in the fourth quarter when the Jackets wilted. If the latter can develop staying-power, they should round into a high-scoring, fast-stepping aggregation.

Against A. I. on Tuesday, Newark will be seeking revenge for defeat last year. It will be the same story with P. S. here on Friday. The latter administered two resounding setbacks to the Jackets in early 1948.

While he knows little of his opponents' strength, Coach William Morrison claims his Jackets will give a creditable account of themselves in next week's contests.

Last year's record was a gloomy one, and the Jackets, bolstered by a number of veterans, aim to surpass it.

Morrison has been working with a 12-man varsity squad, ironing out the kinks which developed in the game with the Alumni. His varsity group includes Jack Ferro, Jim Ford, Ed Harrison, Jim Knotts, Tom Martin, T. Murphy, Dick Nade, Frank Porter, Bill Records, Bill Reynolds, Don Runyan and Jack Lehman.

Blue Hen Courtmen Meet Toledo Tonight

End Western Tour Tomorrow At Lawrence Tech

The University of Delaware courtmen are traveling far afield this weekend in search of their first victory.

Tonight they meet Toledo in the opener of a 2-game western tour, and tomorrow they take on Lawrence Tech at Detroit.

After their travels, they return to the campus for a holiday breather, which will come to an abrupt close on January 5 when they meet the sleight of hand artists from Temple University in what promises to be one of the Hens' toughest encounters of the year. The contest will be played in the field house.

In their first appearance before the home fans two weeks ago against Gettysburg, the Hens were in poor form. It is expected that this weekend's foreign campaign will round them into shape for the Temple clash.

Coach Joe Brunansky has been alternating a group of about 10 players in varsity action, many of them veterans of previous seasons. Among them are: Cole, Sullivan, Grossman, Hoff-stein, all forwards; Nash, Kawatowski, centers; and McFadden, Heim, Turner and Middleton, guards.

The meeting with Toledo tonight will be the first between the schools. In last year's western swing, the Hens met Buffalo and Lawrence Tech.

Fate Check Passer Thanks Takers With Tip

Jimmie Louis, of St. Louis, likes to see courtesy rewarded.

Employees of the Lynn Food Market cashed $555 worth of bogus checks for Jimmie in a three-day period. On the fourth day, police were on hand when the 25-year-old Negro tried to pass another check for $125.

Before he was led away, Jimmie tossed $2 into the cashier's cage, saying he wanted to buy the employee a box of candy as a token of his appreciation.

DELAWARE FARM FRONT

Farm Market Seen Holding Up In '49

The movement of checks in Delaware during the week ending December 24, 1948, almost reached the million mark—probably for the first time since the second week of December, 1944. Inquiries increased to $10,000—the highest amount so far this year. This plus a 3 per cent increase in local banks combined with very small outflows resulted in a net gain of $100,000. Several banks reported their earnings to provide opportunity to move fully into the Christmas holidays, which resulted in a record of 15 per cent in total settings from the previous week.

The most important question mark in the year's farm outlook is the demand picture. Will business hold up? Or will we have a general weakening of demand for farm products? After looking at the situation, the Bureau of Agricultural Economics says "Domestic demand is to be strong during 1949." The BAE points to the large personal incomes people are enjoying, and it expects these incomes to stay high through 1949, though it is felt that there may be a slight down-turn in the latter part of the year.

During the past three years, American farmers have produced 23 per cent more products with 5 per cent less manure than during the three years preceding the outbreak of World War II. The output per man on farms has increased 30 per cent.

This was accomplished with no increase in crop acreage. Use of lime was doubled. There was an increase of 10 per cent in crop production in terms of bushels, pounds, and tons. There was an increase of 17 per cent in the number of livestock and an increase of 8 per cent in production of milk, meat, and eggs per unit of livestock. The number of tractors on farms doubled.

Safety Stressed As Best '49 Resolution

Farmer Advised To Put Safety Rules At Top of List

"Safety for me and mine throughout 1949" is a New Year's Resolution suggested today by William Calvert, extension agricultural engineer, who pointed out that such a resolution is not only thoroughly practical but also of great importance. It can be carried out by the whole family to the benefit of all.

Making and keeping of New Year's Safety Resolutions on the part of each member of the farm family is a practice recommended by the National Safety Council. It is much more than a rite; it is a plan for assuring the happiness and well-being of farm people everywhere.

Farm family suggestions for New Year's Resolutions to be "kept" throughout 1949 are:

"We will check the farm and farm-lands periodically to locate hazards and remove them to make safer working conditions."

"We will keep shields in place on power machinery at all times and observe rules for safe operation."

"We will encourage members of our family and neighbors to work, play, and drive safely."

"We will consider safety features in farm buildings and structures when we plan to build or remodel."

"We will handle poisons and explosives carefully, keeping them well labeled and out of reach of children."

"Regardless of the emergency, we will not permit young children to operate or ride upon farm machinery."

"We will speak to animals when approaching them and be especially cautious around bulls."

"We will keep guns unloaded and out of reach of children."

"We will encourage and participate in farm safety activities in all the organizations to which we belong."

"We will practice rules of safety fifty-two weeks a year."

Testing Program

Local tests which he may not be familiar with but which involve activities of a type he prefers. It is stressed that this record is one of interest and not of ability.

Within a few months each student will be scheduled for a conference when the test results will be used to give him a graphic picture of his interests and abilities and attempt made to place him on the right vocational path. The senior class was given a psychological examination, which will be used to guide the graduates in future educational plans and will be regarded as one factor in the school's recommendations of the pupil to a college or other institution of advanced training.

LIONS CLUB HEARS TALK

U. Of D. Official Speaks Tuesday

Paul M. Hodgson, director of Academic Extension and head of the Agriculture Educational Department at the University of Delaware, was the speaker at Tuesday night's dinner meeting of the Newark Lions Club.

Although the undergraduate enrollment at Delaware is 2,200 students, the university actually offers educational facilities to some 3,500 students. The additional 1,500 are handled through the graduate schools or the extension courses, he said. This is accomplished with a faculty of 400.

T. D. Smith was elected new Lion Tail Twister to succeed Nelson M. Clark, who passed away recently.

Program chairman at the session was A. E. Tomhave, and president Ford H. McBerty presided. A business meeting is scheduled for next week.

DU PONT CO. AWARDS 77 FELLOWSHIPS

Will Go To 47 Universities In U. S. Next Year

The DuPont Company announced this week that it is awarding seventy-seven post-graduate and post-doctoral fellowships to forty-seven universities throughout the country for the 1949-50 academic year.

This is a continuation of the company's thirty-year-old plan to encourage graduate research in the fields of chemistry, physics, metallurgy and engineering.

The company said it has authorized the expenditure of $225,000 for the 1949-50 awards.

Adopted in 1918, the fellowship plan has been maintained with but one interruption ever since. Its purpose is to provide support for the advanced training of students in chemistry and other branches of science. It is hoped that the plan will continue to help maintain the flow of technically trained men and women who will go into teaching and research work at the universities and into technical positions in industry.

This year's fellowship plan is little changed from that of 1948-49. Each post-graduate fellowship provides $1,200 for a single person or $1,800 for a married person, together with an award of $1,000 to the university. Each post-doctoral fellowship provides $3,000 for the recipient and is accompanied by a grant of $1,500 to the university.

The selection of candidates for the fellowships and the choice of problems on which they are to work are, as in the past, left to the universities.

Kase Attends Theatre Parley In Washington

Dr. C. Robert Kase, director of dramatics at the University of Delaware, and a past president of the American Education Theatre Association attended session of the organization which ended today in Washington, D. C.

He was chairman of one of two general sessions, on "The American Theatre Scene," and as a former president attended meetings of the association's council. He was AETA president in 1947.

Two other members of the university's Department of Dramatic Arts Speech attended concurrent sessions in Washington. Milton A. Valentine represented the university at the American Speech and Hearing Association Convention, and attended meetings of the committee on debate materials and interstate cooperation, of the National University Extension Association.

New Tomato Variety Shows Promise In Delaware

Southern Lands, a new variety of tomato shows promise as a commercial and home garden tomato. According to Robert F. Stevens, extension horticulturist for the University of Delaware, this variety recently introduced by the U. S. Department of Agriculture, has been tested for the first time in Delaware this year.

The advantages of this new tomato are that it is resistant to Collar Rot, immune to Fusarium Wilt and shows a moderate resistance to early blight. Tests this year by the Delaware Agricultural Experiment Station in cooperation with the Libby, McNeill and Libby plant at Wyoming, indicated that Southern Lands yields as well as present varieties and has the advantage of some disease resistance. Tests were also continued at the Georgetown Agricultural Substation with similar results.

In appearance the Southern Land resembles the Marglobe but it contains some of the characteristics of Rutgers. Although this variety cannot be recommended for planting until it has been tested further, Stevens says that farmers might want to use it on a trial basis next year.
