New Post Office May Follow Deal

Optimism Seen as Government Agrees to Double Exchange of Lots Friday Night

The federal lot tangle with which Newark has been struggling for a year or more, brought a United States Senator, a Congressman, officials of the Post Office Department in Washington, and sundry local officials to Newark Friday night for a general housecleaning.

Senator Bayard and Congressman Houston were present at the meeting when the question of an exchange of property to enable the University to reclaim a much-needed tract at Delaware and South College avenues was settled.

The result of the conference was the acceptance of a proposal by Samuel J. Wright involving a double exchange of property, and additional financial adjustments.

With everything straightened out, opinions were freely expressed following the conference, that Newark is strictly in line for a new Post Office, to be situated on Main street, opposite the old Academy building.

Intricate Deal

The settlement was made by means of a double transfer of property whereby S. J. Wright, who owns a lot known as the Curtis property on Main street, will give this lot in exchange for the one owned by the government on the University campus at South College and Delaware avenues, and the University in turn will exchange a lot situated on Delaware avenue next to Wolf Hall for ownership in the campus lot. These transfers will give both the desired site on Main street for the Post Office and will enable the college to gain possession of the government property on the University campus which college authorities have been desirous of obtaining for some time.

Representing the college at the meeting were Dean G. E. Dutton, Charles B. Evans, secretary of the Board of Trustees, and A. G. Wilkinson, business administrator. Mayor Frazer presided. A government architect from the Post Office Department in Washington, also was present. Both Senator Bayard and Congressman Houston pointed out the necessity for the immediate settlement of the question as the public building adjustment for all parties concerned

Veteran Railroader Dies Following Stroke

J. J. Colbert Led Active Life in This Community Since Youth; Succumbed Yesterday Morning

Following two strokes suffered within the month, Robert J. Colbert, aged 74, a well known resident of Newark, died early yesterday morning at his home on West Delaware avenue. He had been unconscious for several days prior to his death, and was unable to recognize his wife and children at his bedside.

Mr. Colbert had lived in Newark or vicinity practically all his life and had a host of friends. He was a mechanic by trade and worked for the Pennsylvania Railroad for nearly half a century. He was placed on the retired list just a few years ago. For years he lived on Depot road, a short distance from the Pennsylvania Railroad but shortly after retiring bought the property on Delaware avenue, formerly owned by the late Dean E. Laurence Smith and had made his home there since that time.

For many years he was a member of the Newark Presbyterian Church and was an elder of that church at his death. He had also been a director of the Newark Building and Loan Association for a great many years. He was a member of Hiram Lodge, F. and A. M. and the local lodge of Odd Fellows. Surviving him are his wife, two daughters, Mrs. George Woods and Mrs. Raymond Fader, and four grandchildren.

Funeral services will be held Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock from his late residence, with interment at Head of Christiana Cemetery.

Winner

"VIC" WILLIS, JR.

Winner of the marbles championship of Newark and the town's hope for the County title.

"Vic" Willis, Jr., Beats Rival Marble Sharks

Son of Famous Pitcher Proclaimed Champion of All Newark Following Struggle in Finals

Young "Vic" Willis, a veritable chip off the old block, is the marble "champeen" of Newark.

The engaging son of Victor Willis, local hotel man and pitching star in the big leagues many seasons back, has started out to keep the family name in high places wherever sport is the topic. His first championship, won last week, at marbles, gives him the right to enter the all-county meet, and pit his talents against the best "darbs" in this section.

As his father pitched his team to victory when ties persisted until the final inning so young "Vic" emerged the victor in the Newark commie battle. He won the title by one marble, defeating William Dean, 7-6 in the final round of match play.

In the final and deciding game of the set both Dean and Willis had scored six marbles. The last lone commie planted in the middle of the ten foot ring would decide the title. Dean shot and missed. Willis, with all the steadiness that his father had shown in the big league ball, aimed his "taw" carefully and that lone commie went out and he had won.

George Dawson, pupil in the 8A grade at Newark, although a consistent scorer, was defeated in the semi-final round by Willis and Dean. Willis is a pupil in the 6B grade and Dean in the 7B grade.

CLEAN UP DAYS

Wednesday and Thursday, May 12th and 13th, have been designated by Mayor and Council as Clean Up Days for Newark. Arrangements are being made to haul away rubbish that is placed on the curbs in front of properties. Householders are urged to place such material in boxes or cans. Collection, of course, will be free.

Delaware's Sons In Newark May 15

Over 200 Expected to Take Part in Outing of Philadelphia Club; Large Banquet a Feature of Visit

Over two hundred members and guests of the Sons of Delaware Society of Philadelphia are expected in Newark on Saturday, May 15th, the occasion of their annual spring outing to their native state.

Arrangements between club officials and college authorities here have been perfected and include golf, sports and a ball game on Frazer Field, and a dinner in Old College in the evening.

Another feature which will draw a large number of the visitors is the annual May Day party of the Women's College to be held on the lawn at Red Men's Home, across from the campus.

President George B. Hynson, of the Sons of Delaware, announces that the membership will arrive in Newark by automobile instead of the customary special train. They will be guests enroute of Pierre S. du Pont at his mammoth estate, "Longwood." Mr. du Pont will be on hand to greet his guests, and conduct them through the big conservatory.

The delegation will arrive in Newark in time for the events of the afternoon. An invitation has been extended by Mr. Hynson to Delawareans to join the party either at Newark or Longwood, and make it the largest outing in the history of the society.

A. G. Wilkinson is active in arranging local details of the visit.

HIGH SCHOOL LOSES

Beacom's Fast Nine Defeats Locals 11-4 in Seven Innings

Beacom College threw a jolt into Newark High School on the Wilmington diamond yesterday afternoon, winning easily 11-4 in a seven-inning game.

Errors by the locals figured in six of the leven runs gained by the city team. Harkness pitched creditably, but hits came at critical times. Chalmers contributed his usual heavy hitting, walloping the ball for a homer early in the game.

"MAC" SIGNS UP

Former Delaware Coach Takes 3-Year Contract With Vermont

William J. McAvoy, for many years coach of all sports at the University of Delaware and the past year coach at the Univesrity of Vermont has signed a three-year contract to coach football and basketball at the latter institution.

The many Delaware friends of "Bill" McAvoy will be pleased to learn that he has more than made good in his new job. McAvoy resigned at Delaware last spring and accepted an offer from the athletic authorities of the University of Vermont to coach football and basketball there.

STRONG FOR DAYLIGHT

Vote of Parents Show 3 to 1 Majority For New Time

In response to a questionnaire sent out by the Board of Education to parents of pupils in the community, a vote of almost 3 to 1 proportion was recorded in favor of daylight saving time in schools, to begin on May 20th. The order will likely be given for the change following the vote result.

County Field Meet Comes To Newark; University Gives Frazer Field For Events

One of the features of an already full schedule of Spring activities here will be the annual New Castle County track and field meet to be held on Frazer Field here on Friday, May 21st.

That the offer of the University authorities for the use of the spacious and well equipped athletic field is appreciated has become evident with the renewed interest in the meet reported from grade and high schools. School officials were faced with a stubborn problem in finding a suitable place. The old fair grounds at Elsmere were avaible, but a fee in excess of the appropriation for expenses would make the affair a risky financial venture, it was said. Some talk of holding the meeting on one of the two unused race tracks on the outskirts of Newark was also considered.

Over 1000 school pupils, accompanied by their teachers, parents and friends will invade Newark on the 21st for an all-day frolic. All manner of group games for the younger element, and a full program of races and jumping contests for older boys and girls will consume practically the entire day.

The University's proffer of the field, without cost, has been lauded by those connected with the big meet. In more ways than one, the older pupils will be given a close up glimpse of their state college, its equipment, and the surroundings of college life.

Entries are piling up, and one of the biggest meets in the county's history is expected.

Councilmen Trail Elusive Ordinance

A humble taxpayer, venturing into Town Council's sanctum Monday evening, would have been confronted by the amazing spectacle of staid gentlemen in various statuesque poses, earnestly looking under desks, behind chairs, and in table drawers.

Council was ready to pass the gas ordinance, only to find that the valuable paper had gone to lunch. It was emphatically not among those present. Mayor, Councilmen, Secretary, electrician Shew, and one obliging spectator, organized a posse, deployed to right and left and the hunt was on in full cry. Minutes passed, the air was tense. This, indeed, was a critical moment in Newark history. The Mayor rallied his cohorts for one final effort.

The ordinance, tiring of the game, finally was taken into custody without further resistance. Time of the hunt, 15 min. 10 sec. (new record).

Teachers Of State Meet Here Friday

Two-Day Program of Annual Session Announced by Officials; Tower Hill Principal to Address Group Saturday Morning

Following its institution as a popular feature of school work in Delaware several years ago, the annual conference of High School teachers will be held in Newark on Friday and Saturday of this week. Between 150 and 200 teachers and principals will be in attendance, under the joint leadership of State department officials and University authorities.

On Friday evening, a big dinner in honor of the visiting teachers will be given in Old College, following which a short speaking program will be in order. Accommodations in private homes will be tendered those coming from a distance, and every effort is being made to make their stay in Newark a happy one.

Discussion of methods, suggestions, and advice will form the principal features of the business sessions. The following program has been arranged:

Friday Evening, May 7
"Good-Fellowship Dinner"

Fraternal Greetings: — From the State Department, Assistant Superintendent John Shilling; from Wilmington, Principal M. Channing Wagner; from the Faculty Club, President Arthur G. Wilkinson.

Responses to Greetings:—For the State, Superintendent A. J. Peters, Dover; for Wilmington, Miss Madeleine Dixon.

"For the Good of the Order"—Several five-minute talks. Any one who has something to propose will have an opportunity to make his proposal.

Dr. Walter Hullihen, President of the University, will preside and Dr. T. R. Brown, President of the State Board of Education, will be toastmaster.

Saturday Morning, May 8
(West Wing, Old College)

Announcements:—Dean George E. Dutton, Dean Winifred J. Robinson.

Address:—"Trends in Secondary Education," Burton P. Fowler, Headmaster Tower Hill School, Wilmington.

Report of Special Committee on "Revision of the General Curriculum," Superintendent W. H. Jump, chairman.

Saturday Afternoon

Annual Interscholastic Athletic and Field Meet, Frazer Field.

USING SPOIL AREA

Trying Out Value of Waste Soil Near Here

George L. Schuster, Agronomist at the Experiment Station has been cooperating with the United States Department of Agriculture in reclaiming the spoil area at the Delaware and Chesapeake Canal. Twenty-five different forage and horticultural plants have been planted in trial beds in various sections of the area. The list includes Birds foot trefoil, Korean clover, Japanese honeysuckle, and coral berry, besides the more common grasses and clovers.

QUARTER-MILLION PROGRAM OF IMPROVEMENTS LOOM AHEAD

Outside Interests Joining in Development of Town and Community; Federal Lot Tangle Adjusted Satisfactorily Last Week; Gas Ordinance Passes Council Unanimously

COLLEGE APPROVES NEW DEPOT ROAD SEWER

With developments of the past week now a matter of record, Newark is about to enter into perhaps the greatest single period of development and improvement in her history.

Close to $2,000,000 will be spent in the next few years by local and out of town interests in a series of enterprises, according to a survey made of the situation this week. This sum embraces the following items:

(1) A new sewer system for the entire Depot Road residential section, and adjacent streets, $100,000; (2) strong possibility of a new post office, 60,000; (3) completion of a network of gas mains throughout the town by the Wilmington Gas Company, $75,000, and (4) immediate expenditure of $11,000 by Council on new street work and rebuilding of others.

Brings Town to Front Rank

Providing this program goes through as contemplated, Newark will take its place in the forefront of Delaware towns, reaching a stage of attractiveness never before approached. Estimates, based on interviews with town authorities are tentative, of course, but are believed to represent in round numbers, the scope of the improvement program. Developments of the past week which assure a start on the expansion were:

Developments in Brief

Agreement by the University Trustees to share in the cost of the new Depot Road sewer system, which borders their property.

Assurance by Congressman Houston that, with the recent adjustment on the Felderal-owned lot here, prospects are bright for a new $60,000 post office here.

Adoption of an ordinance by Council, authorizing the Wilmington Gas Company to build and maintain gas mains in Newark, to be completed within two years at most.

Awarding of $11,000 in street contracts.

Gas Now Assured

The final official action sanctioning gas for Newark was taken Monday night by Town Council, when the franchise ordinance was given its third and final reading by Mayor Frazer. Formal reading was necessary, although the councilmen were reported unanimously in favor of the proposal. Mr. Wilson moved that the ordinance be adopted by the Council. The motion was seconded by Mr. Widdoes, and passed unanimously. Those who were present to see the franchise pass its final stage were Mayor Frazer, Councilmen Widdoes, Wilson, Handloff and Grier.

Preliminary work has already been started on gas mains, it is reported. Workmen are laying mains in the West Cleveland avenue street building operation, while the surface is torn up, thus saving trouble of tearing up the street again this summer. It is believed this procedure will be used wherever a street is broken for repairs or resurfacing.

Sewer Project Ready

Prospects for the completion of the new 100,000 sewer system in the southern section of town was given renewed impetus last week when it was officially announced that the University, through its Board of Trustees, has agreed to come into the fold and pay their footage rate along with other property owners in the district. The college property is served at present, and some skepticism prevailed over the possibility of their approval of the new system. The agreement entails an expense to the University of $12,000 sewer charges.

Earl Dawson, authorized representative of Council, has begun the work of circulating agreement forms among the property holders affected by the proposed extension. Information, rates, and answers to queries are being given by him to the owners. Results of the canvass will practically determine the future of the new sewer.

Streets Being Built

Council has let contracts for the rebuilding of two west side streets, and work has already commenced. Cleveland avenue, from North College avenue to New London avenue, will be entirely rebuilt from foundation to crown. Following this job, work will commence on Corbit street, a short thoroughfare running from West Main street down to New London avenue on the outskirts of town. Council and the Levy Court will likely co-operate in the improvement of this street, as it lies partly outside town limits. The firm of D. E. O'Connell and Sons are contractors in charge.

Council has also planned for the early widening of South College avenue from Main to the town line, and

Girl Reserves Plan Banquet To Mothers

Party in High School Friday Evening Is First to Be Held Here

The two Girl Reserve Corps of Newark, one composed of high school girls and the other of girls from the seventh and eighth grades, will give their first annual Mothers and Daughters Banquet in the Newark High School this Friday evening. The two corps include about fifty girls. Miss Martha Good, field secretary for the District of Delaware Y. W. C. A. work, has charge of the affair.

Mrs. A. D. Cobb and Mrs. E. C. Van Keuren are acting as advisors to the younger girls, and Miss Moore, of the High School Faculty, is advising the high school corps. The subject of the program will be "The Friendly Road." The toastmistress will be Mrs. George L. Townsend.

The following six toasts will be given: "Our Companions on the Road," by Mrs. W. A. Wilkinson; "Our Guiding Friend," by Louise Hutchinson; "Milestones," by Miss Kathryn Woods; "Signposts," by Margaret Vinsinger; "Strangers on the Road," by Mrs. George Paine; "The Fork of the Road," by Miss Moore; "Ideal Womanhood," by Mrs. F. A. Wheeless.

Features of the entertainment will be singing, an initiation, including a candle service, of six new members into the younger corps, and a play by the older girls.

FIREMEN IN WACK-UP

Local Volunteers Get $363.02 From Insurance Companies

County Treasurer Burris is this week forwarding checks to the several volunteer fire companies of the county representing a fund of 3,993.19, received of insurance companies doing business within county borders. The amount, under a law enacted by the last Legislature, is divided by the court among the rural companies.

Resolutions authorizing payments were adopted by the Levy Court yesterday. The Aetna Hose, Hook and Ladder Co. of Newark will receive as its share $363.02.

RECOVERING NICELY

Miss Hester Morris, a young High School pupil, living on Depot road, is reported to be recovering nicely from a recent operation for appendicitis. She is confined in a Wilmington hospital.

A Jerseyman Visits Delaware

Impressions Gained By Neighboring Editor During Recent Trip Through This Section

(W. T. D. in Vineland, N. J., "Republican")

"First point of inspection was the new Pennsville-New Castle ferry now beginning its second season although open all winter. Rather than the 40 minutes lost in old Pennsgrove-Wilmington transfer, the Pennsville makes it in twelve minutes, the ferry-boat spacious, comfortable and safe, the approaches easy for the rawest amateur driver. Here the fierce clutch of competition rears its head for, attracted by the new business that proved popular from the very beginning, the old rival line is now erecting ferry slips in preparation to install a rival side by side line.

The new ferry not only catches the entire lower Delaware peninsula via the magnificent du Pont highway that bisects the State from end to end, but the heavy Baltimore-Washington and District of Columbia auto traffic to the New Jersey cities by the sea, this thrown in by the Capitol trail.

"Shad On"

"The visit was happily timed in witnessing the landing of a power fishing boat bringing to the wharf possibly 300 pounds of the genuine Delaware shad, famed the nation over for their size, flavor and succulence. As this, once vast industry is almost extinct, due to oil pollution and other ills, it made the incident all the more striking and impressive. The fish, dripping from the icy river, were the genuine noble Delawares, of large size, thick through the middle and weighing probably from five to seven pounds each. The roes sold readily on the wharf at 40c per pound, the bucks less. They were caught on the tide with the ordinary drift nets, the usual Delaware River practice.

Blue Hen Highbrows

"Threading the traffic of busy Wilmington made internationally famous by the du Ponts, we swing around the palatial Hotel du Pont, where in stately grandeur the millionaires and near millionaires were discussing politics, the favorite and in many instances the chief open air sport of the commonwealth. The first halt was made at Newark, the intellectual hub of the prideful little State and where is located both the men's and women's colleges, both filled to capacity and and with naturally the flower of their youth. The original institution, the Delaware College, throws back into the mists of colonial days and out of this has developed the University of Delaware, with the Women's College auxiliary, modern and ideal in every respect. There is no more prideful boast in any old Delaware family than to say—"My people have had a matriculate in that institution since Caesar Rodney made the horseback dash to Philadelphia and by his single vote, saved the Declaration of Independence from defeat." They have a beautiful marble statue of the famed rider and his horse on the public plaza at Wilmington, and any horseman gazing at this work of real art and beauty, cannot but be transfixed with admiration. The saddle was not much to look at and the horse looks like one of these hard trotting goats that shake a man's teeth loose and any one who has nerve and skin enough left after a near hundred miles of such riding and has gumption enough to care a whoop who or what is liberated, outranks any Pershing, or Joffre, or Foch, or world exploited hero that ever headed an Elks' parade."

Dr. Crooks Heads Consumers' League

Mrs. Edwin R. Clemence Named To Council Of League At Thursday's Meeting

Dr. E. B. Crooks, professor of sociology and philosophy at the Universityhere, was on last Thursday elected president of the Consumers' League of Delaware, at the annual meeting of that organization in Wilmington. For some years, Dr. Crooks has evinced great interest in the league and has been one of its moving spirits.

The other officers elected were: Miss Margaret E. McKay, first vice-president; Rev. William Temple, second vice-president; Mrs. Ethel Ball Staniar, third vice-president; Mrs. Lloyd R. Lewis, recording secretary; Mrs. Elmer E. Mitchell, treasurer. Council members for a term of three years: Mrs. J. Edgar Rhoads, Mrs. Robert L. Holliday, of Dover, and Mrs. Robert H. Maris; to fill an unexpired term of two years, in the council, Mr. J. Rankin Davis; other council members: Mrs. Edwin Romaine Clemence of Newark; Mrs. Donald S. Ashbrook, Mrs. A. D. Warner, Miss Helen Cranston, of Newport, and Miss Adelaide Simpers.

Annual Report Made

The annual report was submitted by Mrs. Petricia B. Manchester, the executive secretary. The many meetings held for the discussion of questions dealing with state and local problems were enumerated. They have been part of the educational policy of the Consumer's League in preparation for the legislative year when necessary laws to correct faulty labor conditions will be passed this year.

Work done by the Consumers' League that is not generally known was the aid of several college girls in need of funds. Miss Adelaide Simpers, head of the scholarship committee, assisted by Mrs. J. Edgar Rhoads, Mrs. Lawrence J. Jones, Miss B. Ethelda Mullen and Mrs. James H. Hughes, Jr., arranged the scholarships.

Mrs. Manchester told of the help given to a student at the Women's College in the freshman class, who was assisted in paying her dormitory fees. She had shown by enduring many hardships that she deserved the help. A weekly grant of $5 is given to a commercial school girl who could not continue her schooling without this aid on account of her father's insufficient wage.

HIGH STUDENTS REVEL AT "PROM"

Delightful Dance Held in New Auditorium Friday Night With Many Present

About seventy couples enjoyed the annual Junior Prom given in honor of the Senior Class at the High School last Friday evening. The dance was held in the auditorium of the new building on Academy street.

Under the direction of Miss Catherine Pié, and supervised by Miss Moore, an instructor, the auditorium was transformed into a gay scene. Elaborate decorations built upon the class colors, yellow and purple, made it one of the most attractive dances the school has held in years. A hand drawn seal of the class adorned the east wall. Overhead alternate streamers of crepe paper terminating in pom-poms hanging downward formed a blaze of color. At each end of the ball room, small doorways were used for dispensing punch. Guests were present from Newark, Elkton, Wilmington and other nearby points. Dancing commenced shortly after eight and continued until eleven-thirty, when the assemblage journeyed to the basement cafeteria for light refreshments. Daffodils in profusion formed the decorative scheme downstairs.

Shorter's Orchestra furnished music for the dance. A grand march opened the festivities, when the guests were received by patronesses, who were as follows:

Mrs. J. S. Shaw, Mrs. R. S. Gallaher, Mrs. W. A. Wilkinson, Mrs. E. A. Armstrong, Mrs. C. R. Churchman, Mrs. D. L. Medill, Mrs. R. W. Thoroughgood, Mrs. B. T. Eubanks, Mrs. F. M. Butler, Mrs. W. D. Collins, Mrs. M. Doordan, Mrs. J. H. Hossinger, Mrs. J. B. Miller, Mrs. H. Morris, Mrs. P. F. Pié.

SESQUICENTENNIAL HISTORY SKETCHES

The one hundred and fiftieth anniversary of the adoption of the Declaration of Independence will be observed by the Sesquicentennial International Exposition, which opens at Philadelphia, June 1, 1926.

James Wilson, Signer

As a constructive statesman whose political philosophy was based upon confidence in the public, James Wilson, Pennsylvania signer of the Declaration of Independence, had no equal in the Federal convention of 1787. The one hundred and fiftieth anniversary of the signing of the famous document will be celebrated by the Sesqui-Centennial International Exposition in Philadelphia from June 1 to December 1.

In striving for such provisions as would best guarantee a government by the people he favored the following measures: Independence of the executive, legislative and judicial departments; the supremacy of the Federal Government over the state governments, and the election of senators as well as representatives by the people. He was opposed to the election of the President or judges by Congress.

James Wilson was a Scotchman and received most of his training for his subsequent services as statesman and jurist in his native country. He was born in St. Andrews, Scotland, in 1742, and studied successively at Glasgow, St. Andrews and Edinburgh. Then he emigrated to America and became employed as a tutor in a college and academy. A little later he began the study of law in the office of John Dickinson. He practised with great success in Reading, Carlisle and Annapolis, after which he returned to Philadelphia where he remained for the rest of his life.

In May, 1775, Wilson became a member of the Continental Congress. During the same month he received a commission as colonel, raised a battalion of troops in his county and for a short time in 1776 he took part in the New Jersey campaign. His principal labors during 1776 and 1777, however, were within Congress. He wrote and published his sentiments concerning the Colonial independence with great freedom and boldness.

In September, 1777, the political faction which had opposed independence again came into power, and Wilson was kept out of Congress until the close of the war. He was back again, however, in 1783 and 1785-1786, and, advocating a sound currency, labored in co-operation with Robert Morris to direct the financial policy of the Confederation.

James Wilson aided in drafting the Constitution of the United States and was a member of the convention which changed the constitution of Pennsylvania. In 1789 he was appointed a Judge of the United States Supreme Court in which capacity he served until his death at Edenton, S. C., in 1798.

Downham On Trial For Brutal Murder

Case Goes Before Court In Centreville Next Week; Many Witnesses To Attend Sessions; Prisoner Refuses To Talk

Alvin, "Sam," Downham, Elk Mills youth is scheduled to go on trial Monday for the murder of Edward Yeamans, 22-year-old taxi driver of North East, according to dispatches from Centreville, Md., where the trial will take place.

Downham's case was given a change of venue several months ago, when counsel for the defendant argued that a fair trial could not be secured in Cecil county, owing to the feeling aroused against his client by the murder. A large number of spectators are planning to attend the trial.

State's Attorney Joshua Clayton of Elkton, will direct the prosecution. Downham will be defended by former State's Attorney Henry A. Warburton of Elkton. A supplementary array of legal talent will be ranged on each side. The trial will be conducted by a judge and jury in Queen Anne's county courtroom at Centreville.

Local Interest

Local interest centers about the trial since first clues which led to Downham's arrest were obtained in Newark. Police of two states began their search for the murderer from this town, after having found Yeaman's bloodstained sedan parked along North College avenue. Downham is well known in Elkton and by several Newark people.

The prisoner has been in Baltimore city jail since late in January. With feeling running high against him, the move to Baltimore was considered advisable. It was also stated that illness in the family of Sheriff Pierson of Elkton, made it inconvenient to have Downham lodged in the jail there.

Delaware state police, headed by Lieutenant Ray, will be among the chief prosecution witnesses, it is believed. Ray arrested Downham, and wrung from him what little information has been gained concerning his movements prior to the murder.

Find Body Five Days Later

The body of Yeamans was not found until January 23, after numerous searching parties had been combing the woods and streams between Elk Mills and Elkton, and after a reward of $250 had been offered for the recovery of the body. Downham had been arrested on January 19, following the discovery of the blood-stained car on a side street in Newark. He was held, and his movements traced, and when the body was found, a charge of murder was placed against him.

The evidence shows that Downham and Frank Stewart had been drinking on January 18, and while in North East hired Yeamans to take them to Elkton and Elk Mills. Stewart was left at the Union Hospital, in Elkton, to have an injured finger treated, and then Yeamans drove Downham to his home in Elk Mills. A little later Downham was seen driving through Elkton in the taxicab without Yeamans. He was then traced to Cecilton, Warwick, Wilmington, Chester, back to Wilmington, to Stanton, to Glasgow, to Newark, all the while in Yeamans' car. Later, he was seen walking home to Elk Mills. The car was discovered on a Newark street with a blood-stained automobile jack inside, and the cushions blood-stained.

The coroner's jury of Cecil county on January 26 placed a murder charge against Downham, and a true bill was brought against Downham by the grand jury in March. The case was transferred to Queen Anne's county on Downham's request.

Hatred, Robbery—Motives

It is alleged that the motive for the crime would be set at robbery or settled hatred, Yeamans having accidentally struck Downham's father three years before, the latter dying from his injuries eleven months later. It is alleged that "Sam" Downham had made threats against Yeamans.

Downham has been held at Baltimore since his arrest, having been removed there from Elkton jail after a group of North East people had demonstrated outside the jail. It is said, however, that the serious illness of a member of the sheriff's family had caused the removal.

Downham, who is 26, is said to be one of the most uncommunicative of prisoners ever held in Maryland for murder. No amount of grilling has been able to extract any word from him in respect to the crime, and officials say that in this respect, at least, "Sam" Downham has been more than a match for them.

WHAT GRANGES ARE DOING

This Is Their Busy Season And Variety of Activities Is Remarkable

A new record in initiation of candidates by a subordinate Grange has just been made in Oregon, where Maplewood Grange in Clackamas county conferred the degrees on a group of 228 initiates on a single occasion. This makes Maplewood Grange the largest subordinate grange in the state of Oregon, notwithstanding the fact that it had been in existence but 11 months when this remarkable record was made.

Two new Grange halls dedicated within a month in Rhode Island indicates the prosperity of the organization in that state. The combined value of the two halls with contents was in excess of $20,000 and both are centrally located and very complete in equipment.

In Pennsylvania plans are making for the annual Grange leadership conference, to be held at Centre Hall, August 17-20. This event will attract Grange workers from all parts of the state and many national leaders of the organization as well, and will discuss all phases of Grange activities, particularly the relation of the organization to rural progress. As a result of last year's conference of similar kind a great impetus to efficient rural leadership by the Grange in Pennsylvania has been created.

To the fact that there are more than 10,000 co-operative organizations of various sorts in the United States, further interest attaches because a large number of these commodity organizations owe their existence to Grange initiative. A good share of them were organized in Grange halls and Grange trained leaders have been responsible for their success. The principles of the Grange have always heartily endorsed the co-operative idea, but its activities have been more often directed to initiating and encouraging outside associations to do such work rather than attempting to carry it on within the Grange itself.

In New Hampshire subordinate Granges are featuring a timely branch of community welfare work by offering prizes in gold to high school students for high scholarship rank, for essays and for other similar work, and otherwise stimulating interest and effort among high school students.

In Pennsylvania Pomona Granges are featuring county-wide spelling contests and large crowds are brought together wherever these events are pulled off. The schedule starts in the subordinate Grange hall, then extends to the Pomona meeting, where local winners get together and fight it out. A standard list of words is prepared and strict contest rules are uniformly enforced.

A gelatine dessert flavored with orange, put into a mould and then cooked, turned out and served with a circle of canned peaches around it makes a pretty dessert.

For evening wear brilliance cannot be too strongly stressed.

GLASGOW

Misses Elizabeth Smith and Mary Truitt, of Sudlersville, Md., Messrs. Harry Layman and Carroll Truitt of Wilmington, spent Friday of last week at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Leasure.

Miss Dorothy Brown has been confined to her home with measles.

Mr. and Mrs. Hurst and son, Howard, of Bellfonte, visited Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Brown on Monday of last week.

Miss Beulah Leasure, of this place, with Mr. and Mrs. M. B. Thomas, of Newark, spent the week-end with Mr. and Mrs. Poole, of Preston, Md.

Mrs. L. McElwee and Miss Lydia Thompson, visited Mr. and Mrs. Gallaher, of Cherry Hill, Md., for a few days.

Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Leasure and children visited Mr. and Mrs. Sydney Brown of Smyrna, on Sunday. Mrs. Brown will be remembered as Miss Helen Barret, of Wilmington.

Mr. and Mrs. O. J. Cleaver and George and Benjamin of Christiana visited her parents on Friday evening.

ELKTON

The saw mill of Ira A. Moore, of Elkton, located at Pleasant Hill, was destroyed by fire on Tuesday evening, with most of its contents. At this writing the amount of Mr. Moore's loss is undetermined, and the origin of the fire unknown.

At the monthly meeting of the official Board of Elkton Methodist Episcopal Church held in the Church House on Tuesday evening, the pastor's salary was increased $200. It was also decided to invite Rev. Mr. Milbury, of Wesley Collegiate Institute, Dover, to serve as assistant to the pastor as soon as the schools close for the summer vacation.

Twenty-two officials of the M. E. Church at Elkton attended the Methodist banquet in the Hotel du Pont last Monday evening.

Mrs. Mary Harris Armour impressed a large audience in the M. E. Church last Monday evening with her stirring address on refoms in America.

GRANGERS TALK OF FEED POOLS

Harmony Meeting Monday Night Takes No Action, However; News of The Mermaid

A representative of the American Milling Co., who resides in Smyrna, spoke to the members of Harmony Grange at their weekly meeting Monday night on the buying of feed in car load lots through the "pool" system. Considerable interest was shown in the proposal to save on feed purchases among the nearby farmers, but, due to the small attendance of dairymen, no action was taken. The matter was held over until next week.

An old time spelling bee took up most of the lecturer's hour at Grange this week. Two teams were chosen, captained respectively by Miss Blanche Derrickson and Eugene Woodward. All the members present took part in the competition.

Next Monday night, Miss Kathryn Woods, of Newark, will give a talk on Home Economics before the Harmony group.

News Notes

The basket club met at the home of Mrs. Irvin Klair, Monday, with twenty-five ladies present. The next meeting wil be held with Mrs. George Ball.

A highly successful festival was held Saturday night on the lawn of Harmony School. Most of the tables were sold out early in the evening. Proceeds will be used to repair the exterior of the school building.

The young people's social club of White Clay Creek Church were entertained last night by Elizabeth, Norris, and Gaylord Brown at their home in this vicinity. Great interest among the young people of the church attaches itself to this club, and large attendance is the rule.

Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Eastburn and Mr. and Mrs. Linford Webster were dinner guests of the former's sister, Mrs. Nellie Eastburn Wollaston.

Miss Mildred Brackin has returned to her position with the telephone company in Wilmington, following a spell of illness.

Miss Clara Armstrong spent the week-end with her aunt, Mrs. Clara Eastburn.

Mrs. Sarah Mitchell, who has been ill in the West Chester Hospital, is reported better, and will likely leave the institution late this week. She will visit with relatives in West Chester.

Among Sunday callers at the Pennington home were Robert Foulk, his aunt and cousins, all of Wilmington.

Mr. and Mrs. William P. Peach and family were Sunday callers at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Edwards, Brookhaven, Chester, Pa.

Paul Peach arrived home Friday night from Florida, where he spent the winter months.

ADVERTISING

In the May issue of the Atlantic Monthly appears an essay on "The Truth About Advertising." The author, Ernest Elmo Calkins, has recently been awarded the 1925 Gold Medal for "distinguished personal service in advertising" in the Annual Harvard Advertising Awards founded by Edward W. Bok. Mr. Calkins is admitted to be a leader in this field. In his article in the Atlantic, he presents "the facts" and gives an interesting exhibition of "straight thinking."

Starting out with the query, "Is advertising a benefit to the public as a whole" the writer arrives at the conclusion that "The actual public benefit of advertising is that it creates a rapid inter-change of commodities and money, producing what we know as 'good times,' and, by effective distribution, brings within easy access and at easy prices the vast number of articles with which we live and which make life less difficult, smoother, more restful, more efficient, and more worthwhile."

Extracts from Mr. Calkins' article will give one a rough idea of the whole. Here are what appear to be a few of the noteworthy items, shorn of detail:

"Advertising depends on the confidence of the public, and any betrayal of that confidence weakens the effect of honest advertising. . . . All selling is advertising, and all advertising is but an extension of selling. . . . Advertising must be educational, must teach the use of something better that costs less. . . . Advertising is a means to an end, the end a worthy and desirable one.

"A familiar paradox is the man who tells you with much earnestness that he never reads advertising and does not believe in it. And as he sits there he is dressed from head to foot in advertised goods. His office is equipped and his home is furnished with advertised goods.

"The necessity of living up to his advertising lifts the manufacturer" (or local merchant) "to new levels, and so we arrive at another by-product—the effect that advertising is having in raising the standards of business."

"The Truth About Advertising" is an interesting and enlightening discussion of a vital aspect of our modern life. Advertising is becoming more and more of an art. And, consequently, more and more of a force in civilization. The advertising of the plumber has taught the nation sanitation. The advertising of the bank is teaching the nation thrift.

In an essay, Aldous Huxley says, "The art of advertisement writing has flowered with democracy. The lords of industry and commerce came gradually to understand that the right way to appeal to the Free People of the World was familiarly, in an honest man-to-man style. They perceived that exaggeration and hyperbole do not really pay. . . . They confided in the public, they appealed to its intelligence. . . . Already the most interesting, in some cases, part of most American periodicals is the advertising section."

From these ideas, we may draw the conclusion that advertising is something more than a device to make a newspaper or magazine a "paying proposition," that advertising is essential to our world and our age—our world and our age being what they are. We may even conclude that "it pays" in more than one way, not only to advertise, but to read what others advertise.—C. T.

Boom Buzzards

(From the Nation)

DID you ever see one of those Potash and Perlmutter gentlemen in high black shoes and a pair of white knickers draped to show not over four inches of leg? You ought to see them in Miami. Did you ever observe the face of a Lawrence (Mass.) funeral director, who had sunk all he had in the world, including his car fare home, to make the first payment on a $30,000 lot, with a second payment almost due, and nobody to sell it to at any price?

Did you ever see a shiny new street and a shiny new sidewalk and a shiny new lamp post "go native," and sink into the jungle? Did you ever hear the whirring of wings in the night as the boom-buzzards—those realtors who pick the carcass of every land boom from San Diego to Long Island—set forth on a new migration? One could hardly sleep these winter nights in Florida for the noise they made. Now one can rest quietly, for they all have gone.

32 Schools Enter Interscholastics

Record Breaking Entry List Expected Here Saturday; Eight Entered In Class 1 Events

With thirty-two Preparatory and High Schools already entered, and two hundred or more athletes on hand, the annual Interscholastic track and field meet will get under way on Frazer Field next Saturday at one o'clock. It will be one of the largest in the history of the meet.

Coach Frank Forstburg, Coach Myers, and track manager Cannon are hard at work preparing the program, and supervising arrangements for the guests. Manager Cannon stated early this week that eight preparatory schools had entered the Class I division, breaking all entry records for that class. Of especial interest, too, will be the events in Class III, which comprises schools from rural Delaware and nearby states. Newark High will likely have a team entered in this class.

Events will begin promptly at one o'clock, and will be run off with speed and dispatch in order to get through the program before twilight. Several of the track events will be so cluttered with entries that several heats will be necessary.

Among the entries listed are:

Class I—Baltimore Polytechnic Institute, Gilman Country School, Md., West Chester Normal, Northeast Philadelphia High, West Philadelphia Catholic High, Forest Park High, Baltimore, Tome Institute, Haverford Prep, and Penn Charter, Philadelphia.

Class II—Temple University High, Philadelphia; Wilmington High, Wildwood, N. J., High; Vineland, N. J., High; Wesley Collegiate Institute, Dover; Wilmington Friends, Ridley Park, Pa., High; Camden, N. J., High, and Frankford, Pa., High.

Class III—Glassboro, N. J., High; Royersford, Pa., High; du Pont High, George Biddle, Md., High; Caroline High, Denton, Md.; Caesar Rodney High, Greenwood, Dover, Tower Hill, Laurel, Georgetown and Ferris School, Middletownship High, Cape May, N. J., and Unionville, Pa., High.

The events wil include 100, 220 and 880-yard dashes, 220-yard low hurdles, javelin, discus, pole vault, broad jump, high jump, 12-pound shot put, mile relay and sprint medley relay. A special feature will be a University of Delaware Interfraternity relay.

The officials will be Raby, Gettsburg, referee; starter, C. E. Keys, and clerk of the course, Frank Ballentyne.

Of local interest, too, will be the running of the annual inter-fraternity relay race, with seven teams entered. Last year this race was won by Sigma Phi Epsilon in a hair-raising victory over Sigma Nu by the narrowest of margins. Sigma Nu had been the winners for several years previous.

the resurfacing of the roadbed. Twelve feet will be added to the width as far as Delaware avenue, straightening out the line, and giving the street a straight line to the P. R. R. station. This project is made possible through the satisfactory adjustment of the government lot tangle by town, university and federal officials last Friday night. With the college in possession of the corner at Delaware avenue, the necessary footage needed for widening is assured.

Building Enhanced

Throughout the community, a renewed activity has been apparent all spring in the building situation. With gas available in every section of town within the next year or two, with a net work of sewers tapping the southern residential section, thereby enhancing land values, with new streets, and many minor improvements contemplated, Newark has leaped into prominence among the towns of this section. Perhaps no single period in its history has seen so many projects of far reaching significance launched as the year 1926.

The Truth About "The Truth About Blayds"

(Reviewed for The Post)

A. A. Milne's "The Truth About Blayds," which was given in Wolf Hall, under the auspices of the Dramatic Club of the Women's College, last Friday evening, is generally credited with being one of the best acted plays ever presented by students of the University. Although the play itself is not particularly outstanding as a work of dramatic art, the work of the student-actors and actresses deserves considerable commendation.

Playing before a small and critical audience, the youthful Thespians gave a truly remarkable performance. There was no evidence of anyone having to be prompted! The little actions and gestures which make for convincingness in a play had been carefully worked out! The intermissions between the acts were just right, neither too long nor too brief!

There was only one point which might be criticised adversely, and that was the astonishing lack of likeness between "Oliver Blayds" and his portrait. To Alvin Wakeland we present the laurel wreath for his almost perfect performance of "Oliver Blayds." However, it is hardly fair to place anyone of the splendidly balanced cast above any other one. They were all good.

Those who took part in the play were Alvin Wakeland, Dorothy Bayliss, Grace Ellison, William Lank, Myrtle Simpler, James Challenger, Justin Steele, and Ann Thompson. Beulah Thompson was Stage Manager; Thelma Shellender had charge of the properties; and Jean Lobach was responsible for the publicity.

The sale of tickets was in charge of Virginia Chipman, Jean Lobach, Francis Eckbert, Jean Middleton, Mildred Phillips, and Elizabeth Milliken. Professor Ernest C. Van Keuren directed "the entire production," of which he has the right to be proud.

Newark Invited To Join Drive

(Contributed to The Post)

About five years ago the nation was called upon to help the distressed condition of the Jews in Eastern Europe. At this time the people of Newark as in all former campaigns responded nobly.

This was the first time the Jewish people had called upon others to help.

Five years has passed and conditions today are even worse, the large sums of money subscribed have been exhausted. It is necessary to once again meet this great emergency.

Poland particularly has been caught in the meshes of a tragic fate. During the past few months the economic situation there has become indescribably wretched. Industries that were employing tens of thousands of workmen have been forced to shut their doors. These with their families bring a total of more than three million who are in despair and misery. Women and children are in an emaciated condition and help must be sent to save these from a horrible death.

This situation calls for human handling. Philadelphia voluntarily increased its quota from $1,500,000 to $2,000,000; New York from $4,000,000 to $6,000,000.

Delaware has refused to stand aside in this movement. Under the chairmanship of David Snellenburg, assisted by Nathan Miller, Louis Topkis, Judge Finger, Max Keil and Louis Rosenblatt over $29,000 has been raised since last Saturday evening.

This is a work for all—both Jews and non-Jews—already subscriptions are pouring in from a large number of non-Jews.

Newark is asked to do its share and it will not refuse. A. G. Wilkinson has accepted the Honorary Chairmanship, Louis Handloff, chairman, and Mayor Frazer has consented to be treasurer for Newark. Every citizen of Newark is asked to give. Pledges can be paid over a three-year period in quarterly payments.

Subscriptions can be sent to any of the Newark Committee. An endeavor will be made to see every person in Newark, but it will be appreciated if donations are sent in so as to save time.

Let's put Newark over the top.

SPRAY LOCAL ORCHARDS

Dr. Manns Interested in Boosting Home Plots

The urgent need of spraying home orchards has been met through the efforts of Dr. Thomas F. Manns, who, on Saturday, formed a spray ring of the home orchards owned by the following residents of Orchard Ridge and Park Place: F. A. Wheeless, Major Arthur R. Underwood, William H. Evans, Professor Lester W. Tarr, Walter C. Anderson, Dr. R. E. Price, W. Frank Wilson, John Powell, Professor Myers, John L. Frick, John Frazer, and George L. Townsend, Jr.

Over 120 apple trees were sprayed in the pink stage, for which more than 400 gallons of spray was used. The owners of the orchards have agreed to have the three important sprays applied: the pink spray, the petal fall, and the colyx spray.

Dr. Manns states that the apple trees of the average home orchard needs about one-third of the smaller branches pruned out for the best results. Also to make fruit and to retain the set, the trees should receive applications of manure or fertilizer. When manure cannot be obtained, from two to three pounds of nitrate of soda or four to six pounds of a good grade fertilizer of about a 4-8-6 formula should be applied.

Day Light Saving Time

(From a hitherto gentle reader)

The D. L. S. Time
Is with us again
To fuddle our brains
And drive us insane.

It's nine twenty-six
By the Post Office clock,
And ten twenty-six
By the butcher's tick tock.

The School bell rang out
At eight fifty-five,
And the kids still in bed,
Great sakes alive.

It's one o'clock here
And noon over there,
He who figures it right
Is a dodo quite rare.

It's today tomorrow
And tomorrow today,
Tho the sun's universal
The clocks aren't that way.

To live on the line!
Confusion supreme!
Four kinds of time?
Oh horrible dream!

Eastern time slow,
Eastern time fast,
I look at the clock
And give up at last.

Western time new,
Western time old,
My poor head is dying,
My brain is quite cold.

Labor Income On 92 County Farms Is $745, Says County Agent In Monthly Report

Demonstrations In Clover, Soy Beans, Potatoes And Tomato Plant Beds Consume Attention Of Bausman During Month

County Agent R. O. Bausman has submitted his monthly report of conditions through the county during April. The report in part follows:

The tabulation of the data of the farm business survey taken in northern New Castle county is now complete. The survey included records of 92 farms.

The term labor income is total receipts less total expenses. Interest on capital invested is included as an expense. The average labor income of the 92 farms was $745, however, the average labor income of the 18 best paying farms was $2396. As the soil and climatic conditions on each of these farms was similar, it is reasonable to conclude that this differential in labor income was due to differences in systems of farm organization and management of the individual farms. The crops grown and the livestock products produced and the average receipts from the same, as well as the yield per acre of crops on the 92 farms as compared with the average of the 18 best paying farms, gives some indication of why some farms paid better than others.

A more complete report will be made at an early date. Each farmer whose record was taken will be provided with a report which will show his system of farming in comparison with the average of the 92 farms.

Sweet Clover Demonstrations

Six new sweet clover demonstrations have been begun this spring. The purpose of these demonstrations is to show the value of sweet clover as a pasture crop for farm livestock. At this date the sweet clover demonstrations begun a year ago indicate that sweet clover will eventually become a permanent crop in the crop rotation in New Castle county. The majority of the seedings of red and alsike clover last spring were a failure, whereas the seeding of sweet clover gave about ⅓ of a stand. Due to the growing habits of the crop ⅓ of a stand means much more than ⅓ of a crop. Low dips in the field are carrying a full stand of sweet clover. This indicates the conditions that could have been exepcted if the growing season last year had been even fairly favorable. These demonstrations indicate that sweet clover gives more certainty of a stand than does alsike and red clover.

Soy Bean Demonstrations

Four soy bean demonstrations have been arranged for. Although the weather conditions last year were adverse to the growing and harvesting of soy beans, yet those farmers who grew soy beans last year are again incorporating them as a crop in their rotation.

Potato Demonstrations

Five certified seed potato demonstrations are under way. Demonstrations conducted during the past five years have shown that the certified seed have produced an average of 40 bushels per acre more than the second generation seed. The purpose of the demonstrations this year is to further emphasize the value of certified seed over the second generation seed. Many farms in northern New Castle county this spring were selling table stock for more than they paid for certified seed.

Tomato Plant Bed Demonstration

One tomato plant bed demonstration is under way. The purpose of this demonstration is to show the value of the use of the proper strains of tomato seed and the proper care of the plant bed. This demonstration will be carried through the entire season, showing the influence of proper cultural methods in the field upon yields.

Poultry Management Demonstration

Two poultry management demonstrations have been arranged by Mr. H. S. Palmer, Extension Poultryman. These demonstrations will show the influence of proper methods of poultry management upon returns from the poultry flock.

Orchard Spray Service

An orchard spray service has been inaugurated in New Castle county. Timely information will be mailed out regularly showing when to spray, what to spray for, and what to spray with.

NEW REVIEW STAFF IS IN

James Grant, Jr., Succeeds as Editor-in-Chief of College Weekly; King Retires

At a meeting of the "Review" staff of the Univesrity of Delaware, held in the office of the publication, in the University Memorial Library last week, James W. Grant, '27, of Wilmington, was elected editor-in-chief for the coming year.

MOTORIST HELD IN AUTO CRASH

Pleasant Hill, Md., Youth Charged as "Hit and Run" Driver

Four Philadelphians are in Union Hospital, Elkton, suffering injuries, with the one charged with having caused their injuries lodged in Elkton jail.

The injured are August Vigna, who was injured internally, Alva Vigna, broken leg, Angelo Vigna, dislocated shoulder bone and badly cut and bruised while their fathier, Joseph Vigna, of 1527 South Twenty-seventh street, Philadelphia, cut and bruised.

Joseph Vigna's automobile containing his three sons was returning from a trip to Baltimore, Sunday, and when near Charlestown, was struck with such force at a cross roads that it was knocked down an embankment and the occupants pinioned under the machine, until rescued by passersby, and brought to Union Hospital, where they are under treatment.

Stanley Moore, aged 22 years, of Pleasant Hill, Md., the hit and run motorist, is in the Elkton jail awaiting on friends to raise the sum of $225 imposed on him by Justice Scotten. Moore, who was intoxicated, struck the Vigna car a side blow knocking it off the road, then kept on going until near Elkton, when he was apprehended. He was fined $100 for driving a car while intoxicated, $100 for failure to stop after the accident, and $25 for driving a car without a driver's license.

University News Notes

Over fifty alumni returned for the annual reunion of the Sigma Phi Epsilon Fraternity, which was held at the local chapter house last Saturday. A baseball game between a team composed of members ofthe alumni and a nine made up of active members of the Fraternity was the feature of the afternoon. When the score was tied at 20-20, the game was called off by mutual agreement between the two contesting groups. After a dinner in the evening, William Francis gave a motion picture show, following which the regular reunion activities took place.

A. G. Wilkinson, Business Administrator of the University, has been selected as Honorary Chairman for the Jewish Relief Drive in Newark. Mayor Eben Frazer is Honorary Secretary. The object of the drive is to raise funds for the starving Jews in Poland. The present conditions in Poland beggar description — naked children barely existing on potato peelings, men and women looking like skeletons and with about as much life left within them.

This is the second time that the Jews have ever appealed to outsiders for aid. The last time such an appeal for help was made, the town of Newark "went over the top" with a larger contribution than any other town, except Wilmington.

The Military Department will give a dinner to Company B, in honor of this Company's winning the competitive drill recently held at the University, on Monday evening, May 10. The guests will include Major K. B. Lemmon, Major Baldwin, and Colonel Tanner, who acted as judges at the drill. The dinner will be in Old College.

President Coolidge met A. G. Wilkinson last week. It is rumored that Mr. Wilkinson remarked that he "didn't want to meet him but everybody insisted." However, "A. G." has not yet admitted the truth of this And moreover, he did not give the above information to the reporter; it was "picked up on the street."

The members of the Junior Class at Delaware College are making feverish headway in their development of a caravan of second- and third-hand automobiles for transportation purposes to Plattsburg. Captain Whittemore and Captain Morse will probably accompany the Delaware R. O. T. C. unit to the shores of Lake Champlain. Almost the entire Junior class and a fair number of Sophomores have undergone the vaccinations and "shots" which entitle them to enter Plattsburg.

Captain LeRoy Sparks, who was formerly connected with the Military Department of the University has been ordered to Bozeman, Mt., for duty in a National Guard detail. According to report, he has offered to exchange posts with a member of the Military Department here.

Captain Morse has been conducting a class in military tractics in Wilmington for the past two months. The class, which consists of Reserve Officers, was organized by Major Lemmon, C. A. C., officer on duty in the organized reserves, with headquarters in Wilmington. A great deal of interest is being taken in the lectures of Captain Morse, which are given in the Wilmington Chamber of Commerce rooms on every Thursday night.

The student elections at Delaware College will be held next week.

Professor H. R. Baker will take the bacteriology class at the Women's College and a few of the men students, who are doing advanced work in bacteriology, to Milford on May 10 to inspect the H. K. Mulford laboratories. The group will also visit the laboratory at Glenolden and the main offices of the Mulford Company in Philadelphia. About twelve will make the trip.

There will be a Student Council dance in the Commons on Saturday evening.

The Sigma Nu Fraternity will give an informal dance in the Armory on the evening of May 15. Madden's orchestra will play.

Professor and Mrs. George Schuster, who have been living at McClellandsville for three years, have returned to Newark to live in a new house on Kells avenue.

At the Sigma Nu House Party on Saturday evening the music was furnished by the Ebony Band of Wilmington. The patronesses were: Miss Harding of Women's College, Mrs. Hancock, and Mrs. Hubert.

The second Informal of the Phi Kappa Tau Fraternity was held in Old College last Saturday evening. The patronesses were: Mrs. Manns, Mrs. Tarr, Mrs. Rankin, and Miss Marian McKinney. Ash's Orchestra furnished the music.

President Walter Hullihen will represent the Univesrity of Delaware at the inauguration of Charles E. Beury as the new president of Temple University, in Philadelphia, on next Friday.

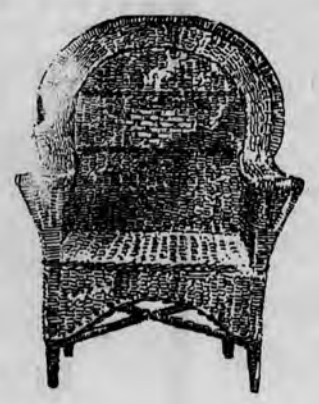
MEGARY
From the Bottom of a River



with a mile-long name—far, far away in dreamy, lazy China, comes this furniture for summer.

It is of Chinese Sea Grass—and quite properly the favored of porch and sun room furnishings.

But though it may have been "born and bred" in old China, it has quickly adapted itself to the ways and customs of its western home.

There's real comfort in every piece of it—the fine soft woven, durable grass, needing no cushions—but the designs are of course the kind one associates with soft sandaled feet and strange smelling incense and the dim, mysterious quiet of a Chinese verandah in the moonlight.

And how this furniture, whose home was the bottom of a deep river, laughs at the summer showers!

Which is another reason for its popularity. It thrives on rain and storm and sun and is really better after an occasional drenching.

We can obtain this furniture but once a season and our stock for this summer has just arrived. And you can now select your porch furniture—the chair, rocker, settee, table and the long reclining chairs to match. And, being imported, it is most advisable to get it now when all the pieces CAN be matched.

The chairs and rockers range from nineteen to thirty dollars, the tables from twelve to nineteen, the settees from thirty-five to forty-eight dollars and the long reclining chairs from twenty-six to fifty-two dollars.

You'll never know how comfortable and worry free your porch can be made until you've had it all fitted out with this restful, weather-proof and almost wearproof furniture.

MISS CLENDANIEL STARS AT POLO

Kindergarten Director Here Jumps Into Chestertown Fray At Last Minute

Substituting at the last minute on Eastern Shore Women's Polo team, Miss Cynthia Clendaniel, who has charge of the local kindergarten being conducted this year in the St. Thomas' parish house, played a brilliant game and scored one of the two goals made by her team in the fifirst polo game to 6e played on the Eastern Shore, last Saturday at Chestertown.

Miss Clendaniel, who is a sister of Mrs. R. O. Bausman, was spending the week-end at the home of her parents in Chestertown. On Saturday morning she was asked to substitute for Miss Elizabeth Wickes at number one position. Miss Clendaniel had played a bit with the Chestertown girls, but had never played in a regular game. Before the game that afternoon she was given an hour's coaching by her team-mates, which constituted all of her preparation for the game.

The Eastern Shore Women's Polo Association had previously this spring gone to Baltimore and played the Maryland Women's Polo three, where they were defeated by a 7 to 2 score. In last Saturday's game the Chestertown girls lost by a 5 to 2 score, which indicates a decided improvement on their part. Miss Clendaniel's goal was made in the first half, when the Chestertown team played the Baltimore horsewomen stroke for stroke. During the last three chukkers the Baltimoreans managed to score three more goals and to hold their opponents scoreless.

The winning team was awarded a silver loving cup, which was donated by the Business Men's Association of Kent county, Maryland. President Paul Emerson Titsworth, of Washington College, presented the trophy to the winners immediately after the game.

Delaware Drops Second Track Meet Within Three Days; Swarthmore Wins 82-44

Blue And Gold Show Up Better Against Little Quakers, Gaining Several Seconds And Thirds Friday

Following their disastrous defeat at the hands of Haverford on Tuesday, Delaware trackmen went back to the fray against another bitter rival, Swarthmore, Friday afternoon and took another one-sided beating, but raised their point score considerably. The maroon team won out easily, 82-44, by taking every first place save one.

Doc Mercer's talented runners and jumpers presented a well balanced outfit. A noticeable slim entry list in several events gave rise to the opinion on the fifield that the wiley coach was saving several of his men for future efforts. In some cases, notably the low hurdles, two mile and high jump, only one Swarthmore man was entered.

Lewis, crack miler, and Dutton, a compact little sprinter with plenty of speed, were outstanding stars for the visitors.

Captain "Huck" Kramer captured Delaware's only first place by taking down the javelin in which he heaved the spear 163 feet, nine inches. He was hard pressed by Garrett, likely looking but slightly built Freshman, of Newport, who improved his previous mark considerably with a heave of 163 feet. Wilcox, Swarthmore's noted football star, finished a bad third.

Dutton was the individual star of the meet with two first places and a second, capturing the two short dashes, the 100 and 220. He had plenty of room to spare at the finish in both events. Other Swarthmore men captured a pair of events but did not display the class Dutton showed in winning his specialities. Rumble, who won the 440 cleverly, took second in the 220 and third in the 100. He passed three Delaware men in the last ten yards to win the quarter mile.

NEWARK CLUB PLAYS TIE GAME

Plummer All Stars Hold Local Club to 4-4 Score Friday Evening

Newark and the Plummer All-Stars battled to a 4 to 4 tie in six innings at the New Castle County Workhouse Friday night. After the Greenbank boys got away to a two-run lead. Newark knotted the numerals in the third and went into the lead in the sixth, but the Plummer's deadlocked the count again in their last time at bat. Sheppard with three hits was the star. Score:

STATE SHOOT AT YORKLYN SOON

Delaware's Biggest Trap Event May Surpass Other Years, Say Reports

The annual Delaware State Shoot will be held at Yorklyn Gun Club, Yorklyn, Delaware, on May 12, 13 and 14. The shoot will be held under the auspices of the Delaware State Sportsmen's Association and the Yorklyn Gun Club, and every effort is being made to make this year's shoot the biggest and best ever held in Delaware, and to surpass last year's tournament, which was one of the most successful shoots held in recent years. Many handsome trophies have been secured.

The program which has just been completed, includes a number of interesting events which should prove most attractive to trapshooters throughout the state. The outstanding events will be the Delaware state championship at single targets, the Delaware state championship at double targets, the Delaware state distance handicap, and the Delaware state class championship. An interesting feature will be a night shoot on the evening of the second day.

After removing the dasher from frozen vanilla ice cream add finely chopped dates, figs and maraschino cherries.

Three Delaware Girls Already Entered In American Youth Award At Sesqui

Two Wilmington Misses And One From The Cedars, This County, Are Enrolled; Several More Expected To Enter

Three girl heroines of Delaware have already been entered as candidates from this state for the American Youth Award established by the directors of the Sesqui-Centennial International Exposition which will be held in Philadelphia from June 1 to December 1 in celebration of the 150th anniversary of American Independence.

The girls are Delma Alice Jones, 17, of 2804 Market street, Wilmington; Elizabeth Clark, 13, of Cedars, and Elizabeth H. Wilson, 15, of 1008 Madison street, Wilmington. Delma Jones and Elizabeth Wilson risked their lives last summer to save others from drowning. Elizabeth Clark braved death to carry her two baby sisters to safety when the Clark home burned to the ground January last.

The citation presenting the name of Miss Jones says of her bravery: "The drowning girl seized her with a double wrist grip, which she succeeded in breaking only after both had gone down, but she broke the grip and towed the unconscious girl 100 feet to shallow water, where others helped bring her ashore."

Miss Wilson rescued a woman after she had gone down the second time. The citation says: "The struggling woman sank, reappeared then sank again. Miss Wilson dived and brought her to the surface. It required all her strength to swim 100 feet to a raft, where a boy and girl helped pull her from the water."

Miss Clark narrowly missed death in rescuing her two baby sisters. Her sponsor says: "She had barely escaped from the house when the second floor, where the children had been sleeping, fell in."

The Delaware boy and girl who are chosen to represent the state will be guests of the directors of the exposition for the week of June 28 to July 5. The award provides for the selection of a boy and a girl and a woman school teacher to represent each state during that week at the shrine of American independence. Heroism, courage, leadership, patriotism and sacrifice are the qualities which the directors seek to honor in youth.

All expenses of the Award recipients will be paid from the time they leave home until they return. During their visit they will be taken on a tour of Washington, the capital of the nation, and while guests at the White House, President Coolidge will confer upon them the medals and certificates which will be their lasting memmentos of the notable pilgrimage.

Application forms for boys and girls and teachers are now being distributed from Sesqui-Centennial headquarters in Philadelphia to all who request them. Under the plan of the Award, the selection of the boy and girl who will represent Delaware will be in the hands of the youth of the state, under the supervision of a state committee. Governor Robinson is honorary chairman of the Delaware Committee.

LAUD HONOR SYSTEM

Many Attend Sixth Anniversary at County Workhouse

The sixth anniversary of the inauguration of the Honor System at the New Castle County Workhouse by the late Warden M. S. Plummer, was observed Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock, standard time. Owing to the limited seating capacity, admittance was by card only.

Former Judge J. Frank Ball, president of the Workhouse board of trustees, presided, and special music was a feature of the program. Among those listed to speak were Bishop Cook, Father Temple, Mayor Forrest, Dr. Charles H. Bohner, B. Ogden Chisolm, of New York City; Miss Mary Archer, of Reading, Pa.; Dr. Frank Herson, of Newark, and Councilman John Hopkins of Wilmington.

Golfers Celebrate May Day From Depths Of Bunkers; Scores Mount High In First Test

Classes Of Eight Qualifiers At Country Club Saturday Blame It On The Too-Perfect Weather; Seascholtz Wins Low Medal

May Day festivties were in order at the Country Club here Saturday, when the 1926 golf season got away to a roaring start.

Some forty odd golfers, basking under the first warm sun of the year, essayed the 18 hole route in order to qualify for the classes of eight tournament, the first round of which will be played off next Saturday.

Trouble by the peck lay in wait for the ordinarily good golfers in the club. For some unaccountable reason, the favored talent was severely jolted. Qualifying scores closely resembling a cricket match were turned in, jotted down in the little black book, and sadly explained. Polished exponents of the royal and ancient game were discovered by our agents half buried in sand traps, on several occasions. Here and there, an earnest man was heard to speak in low, even tones to a little white pellet nestled behind a clump of weeds. What he said is of no moment. Observations merely convinced the onlooker that it was no day for favorites.

Seasholtz Tops Field

Bob Seasholtz, one of the club's best golfers, was on top of his game Saturday, and breezed around the course in 81 to take down the low gross medal. He was several strokes under his nearest rival for the honors. The balance of the field was scattered out through the five flights.

It was a perfect day for golf—some say too perfect. The course was dotted with players all afternoon. Sunday saw another heavy bombardment. Veterans who clustered about the clubhouse as the weary qualifiers struggled up the slope to No. 18 were of the opinion that one mustn't judge too harshly early in the season. Many of the aspirants for the first eight were on the course for the first time this year.

Course In Good Shape

Keepers of the greens and fairways, fortunately, were relieved of responsibility for the poor showing of the favorites. There is, hoewever, a concerted hunt on for the man who ordered and put into action the newfangled rake, with which the sand traps were combed. As one veteran remarked Saturday:

"The traps were never in better shape."

Qualifiers

Paul Pié, chairman of the match committee, has announced the pairings for the five flights in the classes of eight tournament. Matches in the first round may be played any day this week at the option of the contestants, but must be finished Saturday evening.

First Eight

R. C. Seasholtz vs. F. W. Diver; C. O. Houghton vs. Clarence H. Hopkins; R. Brenton vs. H. A. Turner, Jr.; J. P. Armstrong vs. Paul F. Pié.

Second Eight

Ernest B. Wright vs. T. R. Dantz; Dr. Price vs. E. W. Steedle; J. F. Dunn vs. E. J. Menerey (Dunn 1 up); S. J. Turner vs. Robert C. Levis.

Third Eight

E. B. Crooks vs. J. Mercer Terrell; F. Courtland Houghton vs. C. W. Hawke; W. C. Wilson vs. William Bradford; Arthur S. Eastman vs. I. W. Eby.

Fourth Eight

Charles A. McCue vs. George H. Ryden; H. E. Vinsinger drew a bye; B. F. Proud drew a bye; Harry G. Lawson vs. Mrs. John Shaw.

Fifth Eight

Mrs. A. S. Eastman vs. A. P. Clark; George E. Dutton drew a bye; George W. Rhodes drew a bye; Walter R. Powell vs. William E. Holton.

Low gross score—Robert Seasholtz.
Low net score—Frank W. Diver.

Grass Not Sufficient Tonic For Heavy Milk Production, Says Expert

Grass is a good tonic for the cow but she can't make milk on tonic, according to the Larrowe Institute of Animal Economics. If she is expected to continue to do a day's work every day, she will have to get enough to eat of a good nourishing feed.

"Few dairymen realize that in some respects a dairy cow is a great deal like a human being," states the Institute. "No human being would stop eating meat and potatoes, simply because he was eating lettuce and spinach to tone up his system, yet many dairymen believe that their cows do not need grain simply because they have grass to graze on.

"Fresh spring grass is a good tonic for the cow. It is green, juicy and palatable. Cows like it. It tones them up and for a time will actually stimulate milk production. But grass at its best is half water, and a cow has to eat an enormous amount of pasture daily to get the feed she needs. Grass, therefore, should be used more as a tonic than as a feed. All dairymen should use pasture but they should use it intelligently and should use it with grain. The practice of turning out herds on pasture as soon as the grass comes up thick and green is always a costly move, both in damage to pasture, and, to an even greater extent, in the falling off in the production of cows relying on grass alone for their nourishment."

Actual tests by E. A. Hanson, in charge of cow test association work in Minnesota, of the effects of pasture feeding as compared to the use of grain, especially throughout the spring and early summer, showed that 1231 cows receiving no grain on pasture averaged 228 pounds of butterfat per year at a feed cost of $41.87. In contrast to this, 572 cows receiving grain while on pasture averaged 296 pounds of butterfat per year, at a total feed cost of $49.35. That extra $7.48 spent for feed during the pasture season resulted in an additional 68 pounds of butterfat from each cow, which, on the basis of 40 cents a pound, was worth $27.20, or a net profit of $19.72 above the added cost of feed.

DELAWARE SPORTS

The Delaware baseball team plays two games away from home this week, one with Swarthmore today and the other with Navy on Friday. The track team meets Drexel in a dual meet in Philadelphia on Friday and the tennis team plays St. Joseph's College at home Saturday.

A very good way to work raisins is to put them into a fruit jar and stand the jar in water, then let them cook until nice and plump.

FERTILIZER NOTE

By George L. Schuster, Agronomist

The season is backward and the planting of corn delayed and the best insurance for a good corn crop is a good fertilizer application. Ten days to two weeks may be saved in the growing and ripening of the corn crop. Fertilizers help the crop make a quick start, gives rapid growth, early maturity and larger yields of higher quality. Fifteen years results at the Delaware Experiment Station show that where no fertilizer was used there was 60 per cent sound corn, where a complete fertilizer was used there was 89 per cent sound corn. Where applications of barnyard manure were made there was 87 per cent sound corn. One can reasonably expect 25 to 30 per cent increase in sound corn by the use of fertilizers and manure.

These figures cover a sufficient length of time to include both normal and late seasons for corn. The season of 1924 was generally known as a soft corn year. That year the unfertilized plots gave 50 per cent sound corn while the completely fertilized plots gave 95 per cent sound corn and the manure plots 90 per cent sound corn. A good fertilizer for corn on soils of fair fertility is one containing 2 per cent nitrate, 12 per cent phosphoric acid and 4 per cent potash.

TELEPHONE CO. MAILS OUT DIVIDEND CHECKS

Holders of Diamond State Preferred Stock Receive Quarterly Payment

Checks for the quarterly dividend on the 6½% cumulative Preferred Stock of the Diamond State Telephone Company have been mailed out to the 1,107 stockholders. The dividend for the quarter, amounting to $6,452.79, was paid on April 15th to stockholders of record on the company's books March 19.

Although most of the stockholders live in Delaware, a very small percentage of the checks go to stockholders living in four other states and in Canada.

The checks were accompanied by a short message from L. H. Kinnard, President. He called attention to the fact that the telephone is now fifty years old and pointed out the remarkable development of the industry.

"The two telephones," he said, "which were exhibited in 1876 (at the Centennial in Philadelphia) have grown to seventeen million. The few hundred feet of wire have increased to forty million miles."

"The Diamond State Company now serves," said Mr. Kinnard, "more than 25,000 telephones and handles more than 150,000 calls a day."

He also pointed out that while general business is increasing at the rate of 3 to 4 per cent a year and population at the rate of 1 to 2 per cent, the number of telephones in the Bell System last year increased more than seven per cent.

NEW CHIEF OPERATOR

MRS. SARAH N. LEARY

Mrs. Sarah N. Leary has recently been appointed Suburban Chief Operator for the Diamond State Telephone Company, with headquarters in Wilmington.

In her new office Mrs. Leary will have general supervision over the central offices at Newark, New Castle, Hollyoak, Delaware City, Hockessin, Kennett Square, West Grove, Oxford and Avondale.

Office Manager Appointed

F. ROI SCHILLING

F. Roi Schilling, a Wilmingtonian, has just been appointed office manager of the Wilmington office of the Diamond State Telephone Company, 6th and Shipley Streets, and assistant to E. P. Bardo, the Wilmington Manager.

Mr. Schilling has served as office manager of the so-called main line office of The Bell Telephone Company of Pennsylvania in Philadelphia for the past year. His many friends will be glad to hear of his return to his native city.

Mr. Schilling has succeeded to the vacancy created by the resignation of E. F. Coffin, who has gone into the real estate business in Florida.

ADDITIONAL LINES FOR SELBYVILLE

$15,000 Spent by Diamond State Telephone Company in Growing Section

R. L. DODGE

The Diamond State Telephone Company has just completed construction work costing approximately $15,000 for expanding the telephone plant in the vicinity of Selbyville, according to R. L. Dodge, District Superintendent of Plant.

The work consisted of the placing of a new pole line between Selbyville and Roxanna and the reconstruction of the line connecting Selbyville, Frankfort and Bethany Beach.

G. Marcus, construction foreman, was in charge of the work. About 500 poles in all were involved in both operations. Some were moved back from the highway at the time of the construction of the new Frankfort-Bethany Beach Road and some were completely removed and replaced.

Additional telephone lines were strung in both operations to furnish facilities for the new telephones that are being required in the vicinity of Roxanna and the popular Bethany Beach.

RECENT GRADUATION HELD IN WILMINGTON

Sixteen Young Women of Diamond State Telephone Company Receive Certificates

MISS MARY WHARRY

Sixteen young women operators have just received certificates of graduation from the health-a-habit course that was conducted under the auspices of the Diamond State Telephone Company, with Miss Mary A. Wharry as Instructress.

The graduation exercises were held in the Century Club. Graduation certificates were presented by Dr. H. W. Beringer, a medical officer of the Telephone Company.

These courses, which aim to teach the fundamental laws of health and the elementary care of the sick, are conducted continuously by the Telephone Company. This is the second graduation that has been held in Wilmington this year. The courses are open to the young women employees of the Company and are given after office hours.

It is not the purpose to turn out experienced nurses in these health courses, say Telephone officials. Rather is the need for registered nurses emphasized in case of sickness. The advantage of consulting a physician to nip in the bud incipient cases of illness is also pointed out. Instruction in methods of avoiding colds, healthful ways of dressing, elementary knowledge of the care of the sick, are some of the features of the course.

This health movement was begun in Wilmington and has now spread to practically every Bell Telephone Company in the country, say Bell officials.

A telephone call is much cheaper and more convenient than a trip. Call your out-of-town buyer by telephone.

Operators Married

Two of the Wilmington telephone operators for the Diamond State Telephone Company were recently married to young men of Wilmington.

Miss M. G. Blackburn and Miss Anna M. Lowe are the recent brides. The former is now Mrs. Williams and the latter Mrs. Ardis.

THE LIGHTHOUSE BEFORE IT FELL

MANY CALLS AFTER HENLOPEN CRASH

Inquiries Come from Newspaper Reporters, Artists and General Public

Newspaper reporters, artists, architects and people interested in the antique and the beautiful helped to swell the enormous volume of telephone calls that were put through the Lewes switchboard of the Diamond State Telephone Company at the time of the recent collapse of the Cape Henlopen lighthouse.

This was the report made by Miss Julia Steele, Chief Operator for the Telephone Company at Lewes.

"One of the Coast Guards notified me that the building had fallen into the sea," she said. "He then put in calls to the newspapers."

Many of the artists who had painted the old building that was built in 1765 wanted to know the extent of the damage. Those who remembered it as one of the most beautiful landmarks of the Delaware coast made inquiries. The entire force of young women operators in Lewes were required for several hours to handle the telephone connections caused by the emergency.

1926 CIRCUS IS NATION'S BIGGEST

Ringling Bros. Enlarge Greatest Show on Eearth to Dedicate Mammoth N. Y. Edifice

A circus so big that it requires two added rings, eight stages, a wider hippodrome track and a 700-foot-long big top to display its marvels is now headed this way. It is the Ringling Brothers and Barnum & Bailey Combined Shows, to give performances at Wilmington, May 14.

The five rings now used have been made necessary to present the added attractions got together in the spring to celebrate the combined shows first appearance in New York's New Madison Square Garden. This edifice is the biggest ever built for circus purposes. To fittingly dedicate it the Ringling Brothers themselves spent months in Europe moblizing the biggest circus in history. This same show that for weeks entertained New York's millions is now on tour under canvas.

The tournament is as brilliant as in the past but has been enlarged by the addition of such novelties as zebras and llamas broken to harness and hitched to gem-studded floats. Wee baby elephants ride at the tops of allegorical cars. The menagerie is more than a thousand animals embraces such features as thirteen elephant youngsters with the smallest stationed side by side with the biggest pachyderms in captivity. Another importation is the largest and handsomest tiger of which there is record.

Performing horse acts are now presented in quintet—a troupe in each of the five rings. Those elephants who are performers appear in similar formation—five herds at one time. The number of men and women aerialists, bareback riders, gymnasts and high-wire performers has been increased to eight hundred. There are three hundred and fifty trained horses, two hundred of which appear in a single display. One hundred double length cars are required to handle this gigantic amusement enterprise.

WOMEN'S COLLEGE NOTES

(Written For The Post)

Georgia Wiggin, Eloise Rodney, Merrel Pyle, and Virginia Chipman entertained at tea in Room 33, Residence Hall, on Friday afternoon, in honor of Lillian Loose, whose engagement to Charles Bayard Paschall of Hollyoak was announced. Seventy girls were invited. The room was beautifully decorated with spring flowers.

An informal dinner will be served by the girls at the Practice House. Thelma Buell will be hostess and Elizabeth Wiley will be host. The invited guests are: Mrs. A. D. Warner, Dean Robinson, and Mrs. Everett C. Johnson.

Nellie Lawton conducted the Vesper service last Sunday evening. The speaker was Miss Harlan of Wilmington, secretary of the Conference of Northfield League. She talked of conditions in China, where she has recently worked.

Mrs. Durstan and Miss Sincox of Wilmington sang and Eleanor Edge played.

The competitive vesper services are over for the year and the services now in charge of the Y. W. C. A. Cabinet. A vote will be taken to show which of the recent services was considered most successful.

Miss Gillespie chaperoned a group of girls to hear "Aida" at the Playhouse last evening.

Two other Student Council elections were made on Friday. The first vice-president, who must be a member of the incoming Senior class, will be Louise Brooks; the new secretary, from the incoming Junior class, will be Marjorie Johnson.

The girls are "signing up" now for the "Farewell Hop."

The Sophomore Class will entertain their big sisters, the Seniors, at a luncheon at the Blue Hen Tea Room on Saturday. Every Senior has accepted the invitation.

Miss Joussen of Tower Hill School was the speaker at the French Club meeting last Wednesday. Her talk was on the scenery, people, and customs of Switzerland. Miss Jousseu was accompanied by Miss Judge, also of Tower Hill.

Alice Webb, formerly of Women's College, now taking a special course in English at the University of Pennsylvania, was a week-end visitor at W. C. D.

Greta Chandler, of Wilmington, and Helen Cathcart, of Richardson Park, were week-end guests of Thelma Shellender.

Mrs. A. D. Warner was a dinner guest at College last Thursday evening.

Betty Fletcher, of Wilmington, a former student at W. C. D., has been chosen one of the eight attendants to the May Queen at Goucher College.

Mr. and Mrs. Norman Collison and children, of Bridgeville, visited Mae Collison on Sunday.

Kitty Ady spent Sunday at her home at Sharon, Maryland.

Helen Pearce spent the week-end at her home in Baltimore.

A number of girls attended the Newark High School Junior Prom on Friday night.

Elizabeth Brady and Margaret Brady spent the week-end at their home in Middletown.

Marian Pugh spent the week-end at her home in Oxford, Pennsylvania.

Section A, Freshman English, under Professor Code, have had tow interesting debates in class recently. On Friday, April 30, the subject of "Sororities at Delaware," was discussed with Edith Nunn and Edith Passmore on the negative, and Martha Baer and Julia Blaine on the affirmative. The negative side won. On Monday, May 3, the question of a Federal Board of Education was discussed. Freda Kurtz and Rosalind Cohen were on the negative side, and Elizabeth Waters and Caroline Lewis took the affirmative. The latter won.

Mrs. E. Y. Underwood, Miss Underwood and Major Underwood were the guests of Miss Long and Miss Richardson at dinner at Women's College last Wednesday evening.

Dean Robinson attended the League of Nations Institute which was held under the auspices of the League of Nations Non-Partisan Association at the Ritz-Carlton Hotel in Philadelphia last Saturday.

Henrietta Marvel, Margaret Satterfield, and Anna Passmore were members of a jolly house-party at the Marvel home at Avondale last week-end.

Professor Mathews will address the members of the Forum this afternoon at four o'clock, on the subject, "Morals in Literature."

Dean Robinson will go to Delaware City on Wednesday, where she will visit the schools in the morning and later attend the luncheon of the Delaware City Century Club.

Inter-class baseball games will be played next Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. O. J. Wheatley, of Seaford, visited their daughter, Julia Wheatley, last week-end.

The Outing Club, Florence Wilson president, has had a very interesting and active year. Just now the members are finishing a course in First Aid under the direction of Miss Hartshorn, and in learning the signs for blazing trails, and the names of birds.

ON ATHLETIC COUNCIL

Dr. George P. Paine has been elected to succeed Professor Howard K. Preston on the Athletic Council of Delaware College. Professor Preston has served on the Council for a number of years. Dr. A. S. Eastman was re-elected the second member of the faculty on the Council. The alumni and the student members will be elected for the coming year soon.

New Post Office

been passed by Congress, and which is epected to pass the Senate, includes an item of $60,000 for a new post office at Newark.

Mr. Wright's proposition to exchange his Main street property was accepted as satisfactory by the representatives of the government and town officials, but as the college authorities did not want the present government lot on the campus to pass into the possession of a private owner, the offer of the lot next to Wolf Hall was made to Mr. Wright in exchange for his prospective ownership in the present government lot. Mr. Wright accepted this offer and satisfactory bill for $160,000,000, which has just was thus made. It was understood that financial adustments between the interested parties will also be effected in the adoption of this plan.

DAIRYMEN

A meeting of the Inter-State Milk Producers Association will be held in Wolf Hall Wednesday evening, May 12th. H. D. Alleback, of Philadelphia, will be one of the speakers.

All milk producers are urged to be present.

MISS AMERY RESIGNS

State Home Economics Supervisor Gives Up Work Here

Miss Elisabeth Amery, who for the past four years has been State Supervisor for Home Economics in Delaware, has turned in her resignation to take effect July 1, 1926. Miss Amery came to Delaware from the University of Washington, Seattle, Washington, where she was on the faculty in the School of Education for four years. Her work in Delaware has been most gratifying and it is with a great deal of reluctance that the resignation is accepted by Director Heim, of the Vocational Bureau.
