POULTRY JUDGING SCHOOL ON JUNE 29-30

Sessions Open In Wolf Hall At 9:30 Both Mornings

The department of animal and poultry industry of the University of Delaware will hold its second annual flock selection and poultry judging school on June 29 and 30, according to A. E. Tomhave, head of the department.

As a part of the National Poultry Improvement Plan in Delaware, flock selection agents must have taken a course of training in judging. So last year the poultry department at the University of Delaware set up a school to provide training in standard-bred and production judging for inspectors and flock-selecting agents of the Delaware State Board of Agriculture and any poultrymen in the State who were interested in attending. The school is being carried on again this year for the same purpose.

Morning sessions, to begin in Wolf Hall at 9:30 both days, will be devoted to lectures by poultry specialists on the various phases of judging and selecting poultry, and special discussion periods have been planned for the group.

During the afternoon sessions, to be held at the University Poultry Farm, demonstrations on selection and judging will be given by Edmund Hoffman, assistant research poultryman; Garry Miles, extension poultry; and Mr. Tomhave. Persons attending will be given an opportunity to practice the demonstrations.

At the end of the second day, agents of the State Board attending the school will be given a test on the information presented.

The school is part of a state-wide effort to improve poultry produced in Delaware. Any poultrymen who are interested in learning how to select and judge flocks may attend.

DR. DOWNES ROTARY SPEAKER

The Newark Rotary Club held their regular weekly dinner meeting on Monday evening at the College Inn with T. Russell Silk, president of the club in charge of the business session.

Dr. Downes' talk was followed by considerable discussion as to the ways and means of carrying on this activity during the summer months.

F. P. Dick of the Group Hospital Insurance Plan spoke on the new features of Surgical Insurance now being offered to members of the Group Hospital Insurance Plan.

Dr. Downes stated that the baseball leagues for boys of playground age had done much in the past toward building interest in baseball and had produced some really good players as the boys grew older.

The Newark Rotary Club will hold their annual Cub circus in the back of the Old Academy building on Friday evening at seven o'clock.

Among the many attractions and concessions will be a slide show, moving picture show, soft drink booth, refreshment stand, etc.

AIRPLANE IDENTITY STARTED YESTERDAY

Possum Park First Post To Try Out New System

Airplane observers at the Possum Park Observation Post are believed to be the first post in this section of Delaware to inaugurate the new system of airplane reporting.

It was stated by Chief Observer Dr. Carl J. Rees of the Possum Park Post that he had received instructions to have observers at the post add the identity of the plane to the flash message form that they used in reporting planes to the filter center, starting at 12:01 on Wednesday morning.

This new system of airplane identification will be tried out for several weeks it is reported by the regional director.

For the past several months the members of the aircraft warning service have been attending classes in plane identification. One spotter from each post was given instruction by the Army and this spotter in turn trained a group within each post, who taught classes held for the other members.

In cases where spotters are unable to identify the plane they specify "unknown" in making their report, just as they do when they are unable to detect the number or direction of the planes they are reporting.

Mrs. R. O. Bausman was the spotter from Newark who attended the school held by the Army and returned to conduct classes held at the Legion Rooms in the Old Academy building.

Airplane spotters from both the Chestnut Hill and the Possum Park posts attended the classes conducted by Mrs. Bausman.

7,672 AUTOS LACK TAGS

Reregistrations Show Decrease

A decrease of 7,672 operators renewal licenses in Delaware for the first six months of this year over the corresponding period of 1942 is reported by the Motor Vehicle Division. From January 1 to June 16 this year there were 88,638 renewals in contrast to 96,130 for a similar period a year ago, officials announce.

The decrease, it was explained, is due to many of the operators now being in the armed services.

Frank L. Reed, manager of the Wilmington office of the division, reports that only 247 owners of cars whose registration expires June 30 have appeared so far to reregister their cars. There are approximately 2,418 cars in rural New Castle County due to be reregistered by the last of this month which means that over 2,100 automobiles must obtain new tag inserts within the next eight days.

Those cars due for reregistration this month will be the first to appear with only one tag. Motor Vehicle Commissioner George S. Williams urges that the front tag be removed from the car as soon as the new insert is obtained. The latter is to be placed on the rear tag. By March, 1944, all cars will be bearing only one plate.

SURGICAL UNIT CLOSED
The Newark Surgical Dressings Unit is closed, until further notice due to the fact that gauze for Delaware's new quota has not arrived. When activity is resumed all workers will be notified. The new quota for Delaware is more than 800,000 dressings to be made by September 1, so all workers are urged to be ready for enthusiastic work when the gauze arrives.

9,000 Tank Cars To Be Shifted

William Gottlieb, president of the Automobile Club of New York, said Tuesday that he had authoritative information from Washington that 9,000 tank cars would be shifted to the East Coast from other sections of the country to ease the acute gasoline shortage.

Gottlieb, who declined to disclose the source of his information, said a program for relieving the critical situation in the Eastern area was being formulated by the Office of Defense Transportation, the Petroleum Administration for War and the Joint Tank Car Committee.

Gottlieb said his informant had told him the 9,000 tank cars would be added to the 72,000 already operating in the East Coast service.

In addition, he said, the proposed relief program calls for large scale substitution of as many as possible of the country's 12,000 tank trucks for tank cars on all short hauls, or switching operations, in order to release tank cars for long-distance transportation.

FUEL OIL RATION FORMS ARE ISSUED

Immediate Return To OPA Office Is Urged

War Price and Rationing boards will soon complete mailing out applications to occupants of oil heated homes for next year's fuel oil rations, it was announced yesterday by the OPA. Immediate return of the applications, properly filled out, was requested.

The five simple questions on the application form can be answered in a few minutes, OPA said, asking that the form be sent back by return mail if possible.

It was pointed out that users of fuel oil can get deliveries of part of next year's supply months in advance of cold weather.

While last year's heating period system will be continued on a modified form, OPA has arranged to make a large part of the coupons valid on July 1 even though the new heating year officially begins October 1.

The coupons totalling about one-third of the year's ration which will be valid on July 1 are:

1. Period 1 coupons.
2. "Consumer's reserve" coupons, constituting approximately one-sixth of the year's ration. These will remain valid throughout the year.

3. "Change making" coupons, which will make up a substantially larger portion of the year's ration.

About 6,500 Delaware employers are being mailed detailed instructions on the collection of federal income tax at the source, under the "pay-as-you-go" plan, effective July 1, by the Delaware District Office, Bureau of Internal Revenue.

Starting July 1, employers are required to deduct and withhold a tax upon wages of their employees. The tax is 20 percent of the excess of each wage payment over the withholding exemption.

The 5 per cent Victory Tax withholding does not apply with respect to wages paid after June 30.

The instruction pamphlets mailed out yesterday have tables attached showing amounts to be deducted from employees with different exemptions at various wage scales.

TEN BEFORE GAS PANEL

Pleasure Driving Charges Dismissed

Ten cases were brought before the gasoline panel of the Newark War Price and Rationing Board last week to answer unfounded charges of pleasure driving.

Seven persons who appeared were dismissed and an eighth was dismissed after a letter from the motorist who could not get to the meeting due to employment was read. Two persons who failed to appear were ordered to appear this week to show cause why they were driving.

The majority of the cases heard were from residents of Wilmington or vicinity who had formerly lived under the jurisdiction of the local board and besides the time lost coming to the hearings it was estimated that more than one hundred useless miles were driven.

Another hearing is scheduled for this evening.

SPOTTED FEVER WARNING ISSUED

Well Known Wood Tick, Abundant Here, Is Carrier

The American dog tick or common wood tick, abundant in Delaware, is the carrier of Rocky Mountain spotted fever; while there are few cases of this fever in the East, since few of the ticks are infected, mortality runs from 20 to 25 per cent. "Take no chance on it," warns Harvey L. Chada, assistant entomologist for the Delaware Agricultural Extension Service.

Ticks are abundant in damp areas covered with underbrush, tall grass, and weeds. Right now they will be encountered in almost any woods, woody area, or old meadow. Avoid these places if possible. While various wild animals and dogs are preferred hosts, man is attacked when he invades their haunts.

In infested areas, wear high shoes or socks over trouser legs, if possible, and don't let ticks get on your neck; fumigate clothing worn in infested areas with carbon tetrachloride or carbon bisulphide. Check carefully to see that ticks do not cling to your body—you cannot feel them when they bite. Even infected ticks cannot produce the disease unless attached 6 to 8 hours, so get them off as soon as you can. Remove them at once, with fingers or tweezers, and after removal, cauterize with a solution of carbolic acid, silver nitrate, or iodine on a round toothpick, drilled lightly into the skin at the exact point of attachment. Do not get blood of crushed ticks into eyes, cuts, or abrasions. Wash hands thoroughly after handling ticks.

If there is any illness after tick attachment, it may be the beginning of the fever. Call a physician at once and avoid any exertion. There is a vaccine available now for immunization against Rocky Mountain spotted fever.

In infested areas, examine dogs regularly for ticks and hand pick them daily.

For further information on ticks and treatment of premises to reduce their abundance check with your county extension agent's office at Newark, Dover, or Georgetown.

Two U. of D. Cows On 1942 Honor List

Two registered Holstein-Friesian cows in the herd owned by the University of Delaware are among the nation's highest producing cows in 1942 in their respective age groups and milking classifications of the advanced registry test, announces The Holstein-Friesian Association of America.

These records will be listed in the 1942 Honor List, which is based on production exceeding advanced registry requirements by 66 2-3 percent and announced annually to show the rank of cows meeting the high standards.

BLIGHT MUST BE CONTROLLED

Late Blight Threat To 1943 Crop

Late blight on potatoes is a serious threat to the 1943 crop, warns S. L. Hopperstead, assistant plant pathologist for the Delaware Agricultural Experiment Station. Control measures must be applied to prevent severe damage and waste of one of the Nation's most essential food crops.

In 1942, the disease spread all over the eastern part of the country and as far west as the Great Plains, killing vines and rotting tubers. Heaviest losses—some as high as 50 per cent—occurred where growers had lost little previously and had not felt that control measures were necessary.

Because the situation last year was so serious, carryover will be unusually high unless the disease is controlled. Mr. Hopperstead says best control methods for late blight are planting resistant varieties (Sebago or No Blight) or planting disease-free seed and spraying or dusting with copper fungicide mixture. If the latter method is used, spray or dust—spray is usually more effective than dust, according to Mr. Hopperstead—should be applied when the plants are six to eight inches high and repeated every ten days thereafter until harvest.

A new folder, "Protecting Potatoes from Late Blight", giving complete information on the causes and effects of late blight and methods of control, is available through county extension offices at Newark, Dover, and Georgetown.

We cannot afford to take a chance on this year's potato crop.

BEETLE CONTROL FOLDER OFFERED

Entomologist Sees Heavy Infestation This Year

Japanese beetles are beginning to appear in Delaware, and from the numbers of grubs discovered earlier, there is likely to be a heavy infestation this year, according to Harvey L. Chada, assistant entomologist for the Delaware Agricultural Extension Service. Although promising results from distribution of milky white spore dust to kill beetle grubs have been observed, it is still necessary that control measures against adult beetles be practiced, since not enough time has elapsed for the disease to become established sufficiently to kill all grubs.

Rotene bearing materials commonly used are not available for control of Japanese beetles during the emergency, and shortages in other spray materials make it necessary to conserve them as much as possible.

Mr. Chada has prepared a mimeographed publication, available through county extension offices at Newark, Dover, and Georgetown, giving formulas for recommending sprays and telling how to use them to protect the various types of plants which the Japanese beetles attack.

This protection is given chiefly through making the foliage unattractive to the beetles. A spray deposit should be maintained at all times on all portions of the plants subject to beetle attack. The first application should be made when the beetles first appear and before they become established, a second seven to ten days later, and a third at the height of the beetle infestation.

In small home gardens good protection can be given by dusting vegetables and sweet corn with a fine (300 mesh) hydrated lime when the beetles first appear. Applications on vegetables should be made often enough to maintain a deposit of lime on the plants. On sweet corn the silks should be dusted at three-day intervals for the first three applications and a lime deposit kept on the silks at all times thereafter.

EXTENSION SERVICE HEADS FARM LABOR PLAN

Agencies Will Recruit Help For Placement With Farmers

All Delaware farmers will be asked within the next few weeks to fill out requests for farm labor, indicating how much extra help they must have to produce and harvest this year's essential war crops, according to George M. Worrilow, associate director of the Delaware Agricultural Extension Service.

Recent national legislation has placed responsibility for the 1943 Farm Labor Program with the Extension Service. Local responsibility for the placement of farm labor rests with the county agricultural agent who will be assisted by a group of farmers serving as an advisory farm labor committee. Agencies cooperating with the Extension Service in the recruitment of workers are the Board of Public Education in Wilmington, the Boy Scouts of the Delaware Council, the Vocational Agricultural Division of the State Department of Public Instruction, the Farm Security Administration, and the U. S. Employment Service. All labor sources will be developed, and the Extension Service will contact any local labor not recruited by the other agencies.

Placement of available labor to the best advantage is the primary aim of the Extension Service in the labor program, however, to make satisfactory placements on time and in sufficient quantity. It is necessary to know just what will be required. Farmers are urged to make their requests as early as possible, and to notify their county agent if changes in their needs develop.

In the past, about 10,000 seasonal workers have been used in Delaware. Unusual supplies are not available this year, however, and much inexperienced labor will have to be used. Already, high school and scout groups working in Sussex and New Castle counties have helped in the harvesting of asparagus and setting tomatoes, and have shown that local youth is an excellent source of farm labor.

CONSIDER CHILDREN BEFORE TAKING JOB

Mothers would do well to consider the health of their little ones BEFORE they decide to get a job in industry, according to Dr. Marion Hotopp, acting director of the Division of Maternal and Child Health, State Board of Health, and a member of the State Committee on Children in Wartime.

Just now, with industry needing more and more workers, many mothers feel that they should be doing something active in war work. Dr. Hotopp cautions them not to leave their young children for war jobs unless they are sure that the youngsters will have adequate care while they are gone.

Finding a suitable person to care for babies or children too young to go to school is a serious problem and she stresses the following points to be considered:

1. Is the person with whom you are leaving your child in good health?
2. Is she accustomed to children so that she will understand their needs?
3. Is she young and active enough to look after a run-about child? Many older persons do not have the physical strength to care for an active pre-school age child all day, every day.
4. Does she know how, or can she learn how to prepare the baby's formula or the young child's meals?
5. Will she give the child the attention and affection that every child needs? A child needs to have a sense of SECURITY, being able to depend upon the person with whom he is staying when his parents are away.

Dr. Hotopp reminds a mother about to work outside her home that if she is gone from 7 or 8 o'clock in the morning until 5 or 6 in the evening, that the person who cares for her baby or small child is, practically, a foster mother, for her care will be almost all that a child will know.

If the child is taken to another person's home for day care:

1. Is the house clean?
2. Is there a place for the toddler or pre-school age child to play in the sunshine?
3. Are there other children with whom the youngster can play? (Children develop better when they have playmates, rather than having to play alone all the time.)
4. Will the little ones be safe from traffic on a street or highway? (The newspapers frequently tell of accidents to young children who dart out behind parked cars, or chase balls into the street.)

Providing good substitute mothers for children whose own mothers work away from home every day is one of the great problems of the home front, stresses Dr. Hotopp, who states that unless mothers have to work to support the family, it is much better that they should remain in their own homes and give real mother-care to their little ones. The money that they earn for luxuries is not as important to their children as the adequate secure home life they can provide by being there.

Other members of the State Committee on Children in Wartime, recently appointed by Governor Walter W. Bacon, to function under the State Council of Delaware include W. W. Laird, Jr., Dr. H. V. Holloway, Dr. Zenus Clark, Miss Grace Murray, Merton J. Trask and Miss Alice Caskie.

Miss Caskie, executive secretary of the committee, is a trained social worker who makes frequent trips about the state to help working mothers with the problems concerned with care of their youngsters. Those who would like advice in planning how to care for their children while they are employed should write Miss Alice Caskie, 911 Delaware Avenue, Wilmington, Delaware.

"THE EVER-NORMAL POCKETBOOK"

When the United States went to war the volume of consumers short-term debts had reached a high record of 9.7 billion dollars, a jump of a billion over the previous year. Shortly after the beginning of the war restrictions were placed on installment buying, all the way from furniture and store goods to automobiles and buying a home. Drastic restrictions have put crimps in installment credits. Restrictions and limitations on bank credits have been put into effect. New debts have been spaced out so they can be paid in small sums.

Mortgages have been paid off to an unusual degree since the beginning of the war. Debts have been reduced. The Office of War Information says it "helps to maintain the ever normal pocketbook." More than that these limitations of credit may serve to impress the people of our country to bridge the gap between war and peace.

People who can—and do—save money should be quite "hunky-dunky" in post-war times. But the rest of the population will look for the return of the "installment plan" and terms of credit that were good enough when they wanted radios, tires, and the comforts of home, or a way to meet their insurance premiums. There's a practical post-war program that deserves early attention.

THE RIGHT APPROACH

Price Administrator Prentiss M. Brown deserves the whole-hearted cooperation of all citizens. He speaks a language which our people understand and appreciate, instead of the "$10,000 fine and 10 years in jail" lingo.

When enlarging the rationing program, Mr. Brown said: "The necessities of war have once again compelled the government to ask the American people to bear the burden of another rationing program. I should like to ask the forbearance of the public... while the trade is adjusting itself to new demand and supply conditions."

That's the American way. Freedom-loving Americans should cooperate 100 per cent.

WORDS ABOUT W.O.W.'S.

(Women Ordnance Workers)
By Ruth Safran

"Giddy Gambels"

With a Navy couple at the helm—Ensign Ray and Johnnie Tritten—a crew of W.O.W.s and guest soldiers picknicked at the "crick"—with all the embellishments: bathing, phonograph music, food, and mosquitoes.

Stelle Eatmon thought up the fun-fest, "Everybody ought to like a picnic," said she. And everybody who went, did.

This Sunday, the old mill stream will attract more frankfurter fanciers. Posters and postcards will direct the traffic to the Newark Center at 7:00—the point of embarkation. Don't hold back fellows!

"Topsy Tot"

One 18-month Newark youngster went to the Production Planning department picnic with his fond papa and mama.

One fellow guest played merrily with child, cooed and gooped admirably. Said mother to father: "Let us leave Junior with him for awhile. He seems to like babies." One hour later, said baby astounded parents by reeling on the grass, giggling inanely, and taking pokes at all and sundry. Yes, new "nurse" had fed baby from bottle-a-beer bottle.

"Famous Firsts"

An otherwise anonymous fowl yielded to the energetic mercies of Evelyn Torrisi—and gained fame as her first dinner party piece de resistance on Sunday.

Husband John was proud—the chicken was noncommittal—and the guests were properly inflated.

"Francis Antics"

Inside—the Council for the Community Center held forth—with guests Miss Ruth Troy, Miss Louise Taylor of Triumph and Mrs. Rhoda Sutton of the U.S.O. Subject: fun and houses.

Outside—pleasure-seeking couples perched the center's record player on the grass and danced on the red brick walk. The meeting folks came out to marvel—it was the nearest to a block dance the town had seen in some time.

"Solong, Jack"

There was a sizeable crowd on hand to well-wish Jack Stout of the Naval Ordnance office of Trixi (who left the plant this week. The Newark crew included Mr. and Mrs. Sam Diehl, Sp (6) 2c Frank and Yetta Chaiken, Ensign, and Mrs. Tritten and me too.

"Fan Mail"

The heading on Stelle Eatmon's mail read "Are you troubled with convulsions and warbled earnestly:

"Does your permanent get stringy When you're caught in the rain Does your family doctor whisper About water on the brain?"

There was more to this pastoral—but no clue to the ad-bitten author. C'mon now, who dunnit.

"Wife Size"

Says one honest Newark Victory gardener: "I planned my garden so it wouldn't be any larger than my wife can handle." Didn't he, Clare?

Talking of gardens, Dave Douglas' new "lawn-mower" haircut (each blade of hair an eighth of an inch long) can be blamed on not-wanting-to-lose-a-bet.

Weekly Sermon

"Peace Unto You"
By the Rev. Wendell P. Loveless,
Director of WMBL Chicago

In John 14:27 the Lord Jesus promised peace to His disciples. "Peace I leave with you, my peace I give unto you." In John 20:19-29 we find Him giving His peace after His resurrection.

First, His peace will dispel fear (John 20:19,20). Fear is common today. Luke 21:26 states that one of the characteristics of the last days will be "men's hearts failing them for fear, and for looking after those things which are coming on the earth."

On the evening of the resurrection day the disciples were assembled behind closed doors because of fear. But the Lord came into their midst, saying, "Peace be unto you." Then was their fear turned to gladness when they saw the Lord. That is the secret. When the eye of faith catches a vision of the risen, living Savior, fear must go. For "there is no fear in love; but perfect love casteth out fear" (1 John 4:18).

Peace is necessary for service to God (John 20:21,22). These are days of great activity. One wonders, however, how much is in the power of the Holy Spirit. We are apt to think of doing things for God. But if it is to be pleasing to Him, it must be done with the conviction that we can do nothing; as we yield to Him He will do His own work through us in the energy of the Holy Spirit. How this sanctifies service, and how it victimizes the servant of Christ from a victim of hustle and carnal activity into a calm, consecrated channel. Christian service is either overwork or overflow. The peace which Christ gives produces overflow.

The Lord's peace is necessary to dispel unbelief (John 20:26-29). Eight days had elapsed since the last meeting with the resurrected Christ. This time Thomas was present. Again the Lord came into their midst and said

WEA Aids Vegetable Movement To Market

Delaware's vital fresh vegetable crop will be helped in its movement to market by the War Food Administration, C. E. Ocheltree, Chairman of the Delaware Agricultural Adjustment Agency, reported today.

These efforts will seek to eliminate food wastage during the 1943 vegetable harvest. Delaware leads all the States in the production of some vegetable crops.

Should any crop be dumped on the fresh market faster than it can be consumed, the War Food Administration will purchase the surplus for diversion to processing plants for out-of-season consumption.

During the fresh vegetable season the administration will focus consumer attention on particular products of which the supply appears to exceed the demand. In this marketing program the cooperation of the retail trade and consumer groups will be solicited.

WORKERS WANTED FOR NAVY YARD JOBS

Skilled Job
Pay Rates
Run To $1.71
Per Hour

Men! Both skilled and unskilled workers to fill jobs in the navy yards on the West coast and in Hawaii are needed at once.

This was announced by Mr. Singles at Newark Post Office. The openings are at Mare Island in California, Puget Sound in Washington State and Pearl Harbor, Hawaii. Singles in announcing these openings states that the men will work on ships necessary for victory in the Pacific Battle zone and the vacancies have received number one priority by both the United States Civil Service and the War Manpower Commission. Transportation to all these navy yards is paid by the Government and Mr. Singles stated family or dormitory type living quarters are reserved in advance at the West coast yards.

Women are being taken at Mare Island Navy Yard as Classified Laborers at 76c an hour and this should be a special inducement for the man who wants to accept one of these positions and whose wife also desires to do her part. Skilled job pay rates run up to $1.71 an hour, with overtime for work in excess of 40 hours a week.

Positions now open at the three navy yards include: aircraft fabric worker, mechanic, anglesmith, boatbuilder, boilermaker, coppersmith, electrician (gyro compass, radio and sound, ship and shop, fire control, ordnance), engine man, firman, gas cutter and burner, hammer runner, instrument maker, joiner, machinist, metalsmith, painter, molder, oiler, ordnanceman, parachute mechanic, pipefitter, puncher and shearer, radio mechanic, ribstitcher, rivet heater, welder, sandblaster, sheetmetal worker, shipwright, shipfitter, toolmaker, trackman, loftman, plumber, wharf builder, wireworker, aviation, die sinker, driller, instrument mechanic. Helpers are needed in the following categories: boilermaker, electrician, general, machinist, molder, pipefitter, rigger, sheetmetal worker, shipfitter, woodworker, holder-on, laborer positions are also open. Age limits for men helper and laborer positions have been reduced to 16 years. Women who feel they qualify for the above jobs should apply at Newark Post Office or to the nearest United States Employment Service Office.

"Peace be unto you." Thomas had expressed unwillingness to accept the fact of the resurrection by faith. Now it may be that when he heard "Peace unto you" from the lips of the risen Lord, he believed without demanding evidence of physical contact. The peace which Christ gives is the only thing that can dispel unbelief. "He hath made peace by the blood of his cross" (Col. 1:20) and everyone who will receive Him as personal Savior (John 1:11-13) shall know for himself that peace has been made.

Ephesians 2:14 reminds us that our peace is a Person—"He is our peace." Being occupied with Him, coming to know Him, dispels fear and unbelief, and gives the enablement for service acceptable to God.

FOOD FOR THOUGHT

"Potato Pete"
by Eleanor M. Wilkinson

Have you heard of Potato Pete, that chubby yet sprightly little old man on British posters who tells you all about how good he is to eat? Recently Fortune carried an article on "Britain Eats to Fight" and described "Potato Pete's Fair" held in London last Christmas time. The fair ran for 13 days and clocked in some 100,000 visitors. While mothers were taught 198 ways of preparing potatoes for their children the youngsters themselves had a wonderful time. "Potato Pete," "Clara Carrot" and other members of the vegetable kingdom beamed down from the walls; there was a slippery slide through which all children entered the fair; nursery rhymes composed for the occasion were handed out in leaflets. Since Britain's imports of grain are necessarily high and shipping space is so limited, wartime makes the use of homegrown grain alternates desirable. To meet this need Potato Pete's Fair followed the theme "Use Potatoes Instead of Bread."

In America we now face a situation exactly opposite to that of Britain in these respects. We have an abundance of grain but until the next crop, our white potato supply is extremely limited. Even the armed forces have had difficulty in keeping potatoes on the menu. With no potatoes on the table civilians must eat with a more vigilant eye cast on the food value of their meals. In themselves, potatoes are not particularly outstanding in protective values. However, using them as often as most American families do, white potatoes are a good source of many nutrients. They furnish iron, some calcium, phosphorus, vitamins A, C, members of the B complex, protein and are an excellent source of calories.

Suitable potato alternates as far as calories are concerned are brown rice, white rice, hominy grits, macaroni, spaghetti, noodles. While brown rice is much superior to these others, these foods do not supply the minerals and vitamins that potatoes do; be sure that your day includes 1 serving green or yellow vegetable, 1 serving orange, tomato, grapefruit or raw cabbage and at least 2 other servings of vegetable or fruit. High calorie vegetables as corn, peas, lima beans, carrots, and onions may be served in cream sauce in place of potatoes.

For a change, why not serve this recipe for Spring Onions on Brown Toast when you start pulling onions from your victory garden. Spring onions on Brown Toast: If you have an abundance of spring onions, allow 6 or 7 finger-sized ones to each serving. Cook, green tops and all, until tender in lightly salted boiling water, uncovered. This takes only about 20 minutes if onions are young and fresh.

MORE THE IRR

Letters and cars were received this week by the writer of this column from Lieut. Bill Richardson, S2c John R. Couden and Eugene Herbener. Boys, we are all glad to hear that you are doing fine and Newark salutes you along with the rest of the boys from this community who are serving in the various branches of the Armed Service.

In the Wilmington paper this week Private Paul O. Miller who is serving with the army in North Africa offers to change places with the miners. Now there is no chance of that ever taking place. On a soldier's pay there would not be enough left to pay tribute to the union treasury.

Did you ever stop to think how many people there are in this world who would sacrifice every one of our sons and daughters to satisfy their own greed for power, (politically and financially).

Folks, things are in a bad way in this country, with match boxes only striking on one side and the matches only lighting on one end, that is a mess.

I attended the meeting of the gasoline panel at the ration offices last Thursday evening when persons whose cars had been passing certain locations while OPA spotters were checking or whose cars were parked where it would have been possible to go to a place of amusement were called to explain why their cars were observed being used.

The members of that local panel were most courteous to each and every one called in and all the cases were dismissed. The folks in the local office are not to blame and when anyone is called to appear they should not go with a chip on their shoulder. They should wait until the next presidential election.

It was estimated that the people called before the board traveled more than one hundred miles to get there and they had to use their small amount of gas at that. Why could not those investigators find out what it is all about before they turn in the numbers. Possibly they have secured a political job and feel that they must make a showing to retain that job.

The other night I had to go to the Drug Store to make a purchase. I parked in front of the movies while making that purchase. Had one of those OPA spotters drifted along, my number would have been up as the saying goes and I would have been put to the trouble and inconvenience of having to go and explain what it is all about. If the OPA wants to do the job right they should sell stickers for a fellow to put on his car. When he was pleasure driving he could put a pleasure driving sticker on and if he was on business he could use that sticker.

Well that is all in fun. The OPA is having troubles and don't think they are not. For my part I would rather be a newspaper reporter? In this game we get blessed enough but not near as much as those folks (many of whom do not get paid) that are working in the OPA offices.

The airplane spotting business is getting in bad shape also. We need more volunteers to enter that NON-PAYING profession. You folks who want a vacation and can't get the gas are cordially invited to enlist as an airplane observer. The fresh air is free and the view is very beautiful. At the Chestnut Hill post, why, folks you can stand there and imagine you are along the Sky Line Drive, if you have a good imagination. And then in the day time you can take off your shirt and get a good SUN TAN and there is no expense attached to it. Try it you folks who are patriotic. Just call Rumer if you want a shift on Saturday, 3 to 6 in the morning or 3 to 6 in the afternoon.

The Postum Park post is the first post in this part of Delaware to try out the new system of plane identification. Now that should tickle Dr. C. J. Rees. Doc feels that he does not get enough publicity for his post. Well Doc, there is no cost for this.

Well if something is not said about those baseball players we have around town some of those boys will be after my hair. Just because I put their names in the paper once and a while some of them think they are good.

The Will-Be's defeated the faculty this week. After looking over the lineup I feel that had Doc Day and Doc Gould been on hand there might have been a different story to write. We all have heard about the absent-minded professor, but when those boys play baseball, there is nothing absent-minded about that.

Ed Prince (the home run king) did not do so well in that last game. He popped out three times and never got a hit. Coach Bill Murray waited until the sixth frame before he made a hit and did he hit it, well it was good for a complete circuit of the bags.

Ralph Kee's dog "Skipper" won't be lonesome this week.

SERVICE DANCE AT NEWPORT

Officials Visit Air Base On Wednesday

The weekly dance for service men from the New Castle County Air Base was held Friday evening in the Newport Service Center in the Masonic Hall, Newport. The affair was attended by a large number of men from the New Castle Base and young women guests.

Buddy Benson and his orchestra furnished music for dancing. Hostesses for the evening were members of the Ladies Auxiliary of Diamond State Post, Veterans of Foreign Wars.

Irwin Jeffers was Master of Ceremonies. Miss Bessie Lynam, Mrs. Frank R. White and Mrs. Harry Poole were in charge of the young women guests.

Pfc. Ernest Teolis and Pfc. Edward Jormell from the Air Base entertained with vocal solos, as well as numbers.

On Wednesday evening, officials of the Service Center, accompanied by about 65 young women, visited the Air Base at their invitation, and presented a program of entertainment and participated in a Service Men's dance.

Lieut. Park was Master of Ceremonies. Pupils from Joyce Potter's School of Dancing entertained with dance specialties.

"Duke of York," owned by J. M. Davis of Clayton, and driven by Albert Saunders, won the free-for-all pace, feature event at the meet. In both heats Duke of York remained in the field until the three-quarter pole was reached when the horse moved to the front and crossed under the wire several lengths to the good.

Winning the battle in the stretch in both heats enabled "Harvest Jim", owned by J. Wirt Willis of Glasgow and also driven by Saunders, to take the free-for-all trot, "Anna Hal", owned and driven by H. M. Case of Dover likewise came from behind in both heats to win the three-year old pace.

While the field was closely bunched in the Class "A" pace for the entire distance in both heats, "Cinco Wellen", owned by John Garrett of Kennedyville, Md., and driven by George Sutton, pushed under the wire by inches to win both heats.

Split heat winners were recorded in the Class "B" mixed event with "Scarab", owned by J. W. Willis and driven by Richard Tarburton, winning first heat while "Delena May", owned and driven by Dr. Earl Gillen of Galena, Md., won the second heat.

"Dick Majesty", owned by H. H. Quillen of Dagsboro, and driven by John Lewis, was an easy winner in the Class "C" pace.

The Commission also issued a new announcement of the need for Medical Guard-Attendants in institutions caring for Federal prisoners.

There is no maximum age limit. Registered graduate nurses may qualify for positions paying $1,970 a year (including overtime pay). Former soldiers and sailors with 3 years' active service in the Army or Navy Hospital Corps may also qualify as may persons with 18 months' experience as hospital attendant guards in a Federal penal or correctional institution or hospital.

For positions of Medical Technical Assistant at $2,433 a year (including overtime pay), supplementary specialized training or experience in clinical or X-ray laboratory techniques or in pharmacy is required. Applications must be filed with the Commission's Washington, D. C., office and will be accepted until the needs of the service have been met.

LONG ISLAND CITY, N. Y.—Selected by the Central Chapter of Queens Red Cross in a city-wide poll as a "typical American family," Armenian-born Casper and Victoria Tatolian, who have two sons in the armed forces, experienced the "aerial bombing" of their home, suffered "shock and wounds," witnessed the all-out team work of New York City Air Wardens, Auxiliary firemen, police, firemen, stretcher bearer teams, Red Cross ambulance and mobile canteen units, perfectly coordinated even to the final detail of serving paper cupfuls of steaming hot coffee.

Mr. Tatolian, a war production plant employee, L. wife and daughter, Eva, were rushed to the nearby Sunnyside Jewish Center for first-aid treatment and emergency feeding. To offset the damp, cold weather, Red Cross, police and volunteer workers were intermittently served with hot coffee and doughnuts.

BETTER BUS SCHEDULE SOUGHT AT STANTON

Civic Group Committee Named At Meeting

Stanton, June 24th — The Stanton Civic Association held its monthly business meeting last evening in the Stanton School, with Merritt Newcomb, president, presiding. Further details of the Town Lighting Project were discussed and Clifford W. Mitchell was named Maintenance Man for lights of the town. The Association voted to install a new switch at the U. G. Narvel house to be used in case of a black-out. Members of the Association discussed the matter of transportation facilities from Stanton to Wilmington, and a committee comprising Samuel Johnson, Samuel Utz and Clifton Abrams was appointed to negotiate with the Delaware Coach Company in an endeavor to arrange a better schedule for the bus than now exists. Since the automobile travel ban, residents of the Stanton area are experiencing considerable difficulty because of the infrequent bus trips to this point. Clifton Abrams, Treasurer of the Association, reported the sum of $68.00 had been received from property owners under the new plan of $4 per year per rental unit for street lighting project.

The next meeting of the Association will be held on Thursday evening, June 25th in the school. Private George P. McCrone, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. George P. McCrone, of Stanton, Del., has returned to Camp Atterbury, Indiana after spending three days here with his parents. Private McCrone was a student at the Central High School, but was inducted in the Army in January. He was given leave to return here for the Graduation Exercises on Thursday evening at the Central School, where he participated in the program, and was awarded his diploma.

Det. William Hale of Ft. Benning, Ga. is spending a ten day furlough here with his mother, Mrs. Grace Hale of Stanton, Del.

Clarence E. Oehlert, chairman of the Delaware Agricultural Adjustment Agency, predicts very little shipment of Delaware wheat out of the state this year because of the transportation situation and the high war goals for meat and dairy production in Delaware.

Loans will be made through the county offices of the Agricultural Adjustment Agency.

SKILLED WORKERS NEEDED AT NAVY YARD

Help Sought For Pacific Battle Zones

To meet urgent ship repair needs for the Pacific battle zones, the United States Civil Service Commission and the United States Employment Service today issued a call for skilled or unskilled workers in many categories to accept jobs in the navy yards at Mare Island, California, Puget Sound, Washington State and Pearl Harbor, Hawaii.

"A special recruiting campaign is being conducted by the U. S. Civil Service Commission," states Mr. W. W. Singles, Local Secretary.

Recruitment for the navy yard jobs has been given highest priority by both Government agencies. Transportation is paid by the Government and housing facilities are available. Formerly units or dormitory type living quarters are reserved in advance for persons hired for work at the Mare Island or Puget Sound Navy Yards.

"For the man whose wife wants to do her share the Mare Island Navy Yard offers an additional advantage," Mr. W. W. Singles said. "Qualified men can obtain positions at their highest skill while their wives (if they are robust and under 45 years of age) may qualify for the position of Classified Laborer at 76c an hour. Skilled job pay rates run up to $1.71 an hour, with overtime for work in excess of 40 hours a week. These jobs afford men and women the opportunity to render service of the highest value to the nation," officials of both Government agencies asserted.

Positions now open at the three navy yards include: aircraft fabric worker, mechanic, angemith, foundry chipper, boatbuilder, boilermaker, coppersmith, electrician (gyro compass, radio and sound, ship and shop, fire control, ordnance), engineman, fireman, gas cutter and burner, hammer runner, instrument maker, joiner, machinist, metalsmith, painter, molder, oiler, ordneceman, parachute mechanic, pipefitter, puncher and shearer, radio mechanic, rib-stitcher, rivet heater, welder, sandblaster, sheetmetal worker, shipwright, shipfitter, toolmaker, trackman, loftsmen, plumber, wharf builder, wireworker, aviation, die sinker, driller, instrument mechanic. Helpers are needed in the following categories: boilermaker, electrician, general, machinist, molder, pipefitter, rigger, sheetmetal worker, shipfitter, woodworker, holder-on, laborer positions are also open. Age limits for men helper and laborer positions have been reduced to 16 years.

Workers who feel they qualify for the above jobs may discuss the positions with Mr. W. W. Singles at the Post Office or apply to the nearest United States Employment Service Office.

Anthracite Coal Sales Limited

A temporary order to distribute anthracite coal proportionate to the amount ordered through the summer months last year was announced Monday by Solid Fuels Administrator Harold L. Ickes.

Bituminous coal is not affected by the measure, he said which was taken to insure every community its fair share of anthracite.

A permanent anthracite program is now being worked out, he added.

Under the temporary program, each community will be limited to the amount of hard coal, in four sizes, as was delivered during the base period April-August, 1942, or five-twelfths of the coal shipped from April, 1942 to larger. Delaware is in region No. 6 in the proposed set-up.

ORIGINAL PLAY AT SCHOOL

Exercises At Milford Cross Road

The students of the Milford Cross Roads School produced an original play which was presented at the graduation exercises held the last day of school.

The children wrote their own parts and each one had a few lines to say describing his or her part as a "Defender of America", which was the title of the playlet.

The characters in the play were: Wayne Wilson, representing the Army; Nancy Stanley, a WAAC; Mark Ayers, Navy; Catherine Crockett, a WAVE; Leonard Nelson, a Marine; Patsy Wilson, a WASP; Billy Wilson, the Doctor; Anne Beyerlein, a Red Cross Nurse; Josephine Rongo, an Airplane Builder; Helen Starkey, an Airplane Spotter; Billy Correll, a 4-H Club Boy; Anna Crockett, a Girl Scout; Martin Johnston, a farmer and Barbara Whitman, the Farmer's Wife.

The entire group sang "The Star Spangled Banner"; "Anchors Aweigh"; "The Marine's Hymn"; "God Bless America" and "Keep The Home Fires Burning". Nancy Stanley, sang a vocal solo "Follow The Gleam". Josephine Rongo sang "Rosie, The Riveter".

The entire production was directed by Mrs. Laura Nichols, teacher at the school.

CODLING MOTH SPRAY ADVISED

Control of Apple Pest Recommended

Delaware apple growers are advised to take immediate steps to control the codling moth — between 85 and 90 per cent of them have emerged, and while cool weather delayed egg laying a little earlier, recent warm weather has brought a heavy increase.

According to a spray letter distributed to all fruit growers in the State by the plant pathology and entomology departments of the University of Delaware, there are two supplementary materials which may be included with lead arsenate to aid in controlling the worms.

Summer spray oil at the rate of 4 quarts per 100 gallons will kill eggs present on the leaves when the spray is applied. Now is an ideal time to spray with oil.

Growers are reminded, however, that sulfur and oil are incompatible, and oil should not be applied to foliage while the sulfur deposit is heavy. If sulfur was used in the first cover spray, oil can not be applied with absolute safety until the third cover spray.

A second material which will give added control for codling moth is nicotine sulfate. One pint per 100 gallons kills by contact adult moths in the orchard at time of spraying, but has no residual effect on those which appear later. Moths are at their peak of activity now, so a nicotine spray will have its maximum effectiveness at this time.

Anyone interested in receiving future orchard spray letters should request that his name be put on the mailing list through county extension offices at Newark, Dover, or Georgetown, or the entomology or plant pathology departments at the U. of D.

PASTURE PLANTING IS URGED

Drought Should Be Anticipated

Within six weeks, Delaware farmers can easily have a serious pasture problem unless something is done now to avoid it, warns Claude E. Phillips, forage crop specialist for the Delaware Agricultural Extension Service. To maintain dairy production during this period, steps should be taken now to provide pasture.

Right now, as in other years, there is plenty of pasture—possibly even more than usual, since rains and warm weather have caused grasses and clover to grow with unusual abundance. And during this period when there is plenty of pasture and when farmers are busy with other jobs, it is hard to realize that something should be done about the pasture problem.

Normally, however, points out Phillips, we have a period of drought and regular pastures are insufficient, and it is more than likely that we will have that problem again this year. Since commercial feed supplies are limited, it is more important than ever that this difficulty be avoided.

Phillips recommends seeding Sudan grass which will be ready to graze in five or six weeks. This semi-tropical grass grows readily in Delaware. Sudan grasses should be seeded at the rate of about 25 pounds per acre and covered not more than one inch deep. Plant at least one acre for each 3 or 4 cows. This grass responds well to good land and fertilization—at least 300 pounds of a 3-12-6 fertilizer per acre is recommended.

If Sudan grass is planted now, it will be ready for use at just about the time other pasture facilities are gone. This will avoid depending upon uncertain commercial feed supplies to keep the dairy cows producing.

Red Cross workers of the Newport and surrounding area are now meeting on Wednesday from 10 a. m. to 4 p. m. in the community building to sew for the Red Cross. As soon as the surgical dressing materials are again available, the regular schedule of work will be resumed. Mrs. Leslie Mahan is in charge of Red Cross Work in this community.

EMERGENCY FARM LABOR PROGRAM

Stanley Gibbs Is Named Supervisor

The County Agricultural Extension office at Newark, in cooperation with the New Castle County Farm Labor Committee announced today plans to meet the Farm Labor needs in the County. Stanley Gibbs, a teacher in the Newark Schools, has been appointed as Farm Labor Supervisor. Mr. Gibbs will work under the supervision of Ralph L. Watson Acting County Agricultural Agent.

Contact centers for farm labor are being set up in each town. Farmers needing help are advised to call their local center and if there is no local help available the call will be relayed to Newark.

Much of the usual source of manpower has been drained away from the farms due to men being called into the army and taking jobs in defense industries. While skilled and experienced farm labor is desired, in most cases, other sources will have to be used this year.

Two projects using inexperienced labor have already proved successful in the County. One group of boys and girls from the Middletown Schools helped set 157 acres of early tomato plants in the Middletown area. Another group of farmers in the Mt. Pleasant area have been using Bahaman workers from the Woodside Labor Camp to haul hay and shock wheat and barley. A little later in the season, it is hoped that a labor camp of boys can be set up to pull sugar corn and pick tomatoes.

The contact centers in addition to taking calls from the farmers who need help and relaying it on to the available sources of labor will also receive names of those who are willing to volunteer their help in this emergency. The centers which have been established are: Newark — County Agent's Office — Phone Newark, 511. New Castle, New Castle Schools (No answer call New Castle-2509) Mt. Pleasant-Crothers-Phone Middletown-219.

Other centers will be established next week and their location and phone numbers will be published. We realize the labor problem is serious, and that there isn't a perfect solution to the problem. However, by all working together and everyone being patient and hard, we will be able to get a lot of work understanding with the individual accomplished.

Sunday School Services At Head of Christiana Church

The regular Sunday School at the Head of Christiana Church will convene at 10:00 o'clock on Sunday morning, June 27. The topic to be discussed by the teachers and pupils will be "What Kind of a Church Member Am I?"

There will be no regular morning worship service as the pastor, Rev. Evan W. Rennis is attending the Senior Conference at West Nottingham Academy.

At the close of the afternoon service on Sunday, June 20, the pastor commissioned three of the young people of the church, Billy Miller, Howard Peterson and Lillie Scott as delegates to attend the West Nottingham Senior Conference where he is a leader again this year.

The conference starts today and will last for a week.

Everyone is cordially invited to attend the Sunday School session at the Head of Christiana Church on Sunday morning.

Owners Can Drive Cars To Garages For Repairs

Clearing up a misunderstanding on the use of cars, the Wilmington OPA district office today explained that owners of cars can drive them to garages for necessary repairs.

But, it is explained, it is not permissible to drive a car to a summer home to repair the home.

Considerable confusion has arisen over a notice sent out by the OPA on Saturday in which the general discussion pertained to summer homes and vacationing.

Ration Forms

proportion of the year's ration than last year. They will remain valid throughout the year.

OPA pointed out that ration holders in filling their tanks this summer should use Period 1 coupons together with any Period 5 coupons remaining from the present ration. Householders with large storage facilities may draw upon their "reserve" coupons on the new sheets. Otherwise these "reserve" coupons, which will be valid through the year, should be held as a cushion for use later in the winter. "Change making coupons likewise should be used only after the Period 1 coupons are exhausted, so that the ration holder will at all times have some of these small-denomination coupons on hand which to "make change" when deliveries are made.

Retention of the periods will permit prompt and equitable upward and downward adjustment of rations in line with supply and weather conditions. OPA pointed out. The periods have been found to assist consumers in budgeting their ration. By identifying a portion of their ration with a fixed period of time, consumers have been better able to get maximum comfort under a rationing program to conserve fuel. The heating period plan was retained also because it limits coupon accumulation and prevents a run on supplies.

In addition, several modifications have been adopted to help dealers and suppliers solve delivery problems which they encountered last winter.

Among the improvements will be a more generous "overlap" of the validity periods of coupons, with each period's coupons remaining valid through the following period. This will help dealers solve their manpower and transportation problems by reducing the number of small deliveries.
