Money To Be Used To Retire High Interest Bonds And To Improve Streets

$20,000 FOR STREETS

A bill was presented to the State legislature, Monday, by Representative Wayne C. Brewer, providing that the Town of Newark be allowed to issue bonds amounting to $65,000, the money to be used, partially, to retire 6 1/2 per cent bonds now active, and the rest for a street improvement program this year.

In 1920 the Town of Newark issued $25,000 worth of 5 1/2 per cent bonds. In 1928, $30,000 worth of these bonds were retired, leaving $45,000 worth still active and drawing 5 1/2 per cent.

An economy measure it is planned to issue new bonds at a lower interest rate, probably 4 1/2 per cent, and retire the old bonds, thus saving the difference in interest. It is also expected that a premium will be allowed in selling the bonds. The 1920 bonds may be called at any date the Council determines.

The additional $20,000 will be used to improve streets in the order that they appear on the program mapped out.

The elementary department will have two programs, one directed by Miss Bessie Wingate, and the other by Miss Sarah Glass. The voices of living poets will be heard over an imaginary radio. Miss Glass's classes will give a dramatization of the characteristics of George Washington. The primary department, under the direction of Miss Wilson, will give a large Washington program which will include a minut in costume and pageant dramatizing the making of the first American flag by Betsy Ross. Helen Murray will portray Betsy and Ben Dean will be George Washington. Robert Ewing will recite Walt Whitman's "Hat's Off! The Flag Is Singing By."

Start New Postoffice

Ground was actually broken for work on construction of the new Federal post office building, at Main and Center streets, Monday, when B. L. Myrtetus, a partner in the Richard Gove Company, arrived in Newark and erected a temporary office on the lot. A government engineer was expected, yesterday, but has not as yet arrived.

The Richard Gove Company, of Philadelphia, was awarded the contract, on February 6, on their total bid of $53,324. $60,000 had been appropriated for the building. It is expected that within three weeks Mr. Gove will be in Newark to take direct supervision of the job. 400 working days have been allotted to complete the contract.

CURTIS CONCERT CROWDS HALL

Enthusiastic Audience Hears Artist Students' Program

Only on rare occasions has Wolf Hall been filled to overflowing. Last Monday evening saw an audience of nearly five hundred gathered to hear a recital by two artist-students of The Curtis Institute of Music.

Miss Helen Jepson, soprano, for her first group, sang an aria from Puccini's opera, "Manon Lescaut" and five delightful songs—"Le Papillon" by Felix Fourdrain; "Röselin Dreie" by Brahms; "Wie Einst" by Joseph Marx; "Donzelle Fuggite" by Francesco Cavalli; and "Portami Via" by Pietro Tiritelli. It would be difficult to say which were the best of these, the preference varying with the mood of the listener.

For her second group Miss Jepson selected five songs by Russian composers, two by Rachmaninov, "Soldier's Bride" and "Floods of Spring," that were very beautiful. Two others, "Nightingale" and "Parasha's Reverie and Dance" by Moussorgsky suggested so strongly sorrow, remorse, bitterness and yearning, that in a moment of compassion Miss Jepson substituted "Coming Home" by Charles Wilbey, a change of program that met with the cordial approval of the audience.

Miss Jepson's singing was altogether delightful. She is at her best in the middle range and in the lighter passages of the upper range, having a slight tendency in forte passages to approach the tone from below, thereby losing some of the clear resonance that is so satisfactory in the rest of her work. So much did the audience enjoy her singing that two encores were demanded, one of them an arrangement of "Oh Dear, What Can the Matter Be?" by Arnold Bax, and the other "Daddy and Babsy" by Sivi Levi.

To express the belief that Mr. de Machula has a great future would imply that there was little in the present and this would be quite in error. Already, though still apparently very young, he displays a masterful control of the 'cello. His technique and intonation were admirable. There is still room for more feeling in his playing but time, aided by his Hungarian ancestry, will correct that. After his solo has been heard a few times by life's vicissitudes, he will pour out more of it through the medium of his beloved 'cello.

Mr. deMachula's first number was a Concerto by Edouard Lalo. His second number was a group of three, "Ave Maria" by Schubert; "Minuet" by Debussy and "Tarantelle" by David Popper,—all of them delightful and beautifully played. For an encore was given "Vito" by Popper.

Any account of the recital would be incomplete that failed to note the more than satisfactory work of Messrs. Levin and Fox assisting at the piano. Each one, Mr. Levin for Miss Jepson and Mr. Fox for Mr. de Machula, was more than an accompanist,—he was a real part of the performance, contributing greatly to the evening's enjoyment. Miss Eleanor Edge, of the Women's College, assisted Mr. Fox.

Newark is under great obligation to the Curtis Institute of Music for sending us these artists and to Dr. Ryden for his efforts in arranging for the performance.

TREES REMOVED

The town has about completed removing trees standing dangerously outside the curb lines of the streets. The work has been done by the street force with Jacob Shew supervising. Many of the large trees removed were at difficult angles, and considerable credit is due Mr. Shew and his men that no property damage has resulted in completing the work.

WIFE BEATER GETS 40 DAYS

Joseph Stevens Goes To Workhouse On Assault Charge; Is Held In Bond For Having Liquor

Beating his wife was the cause of considerable trouble for Joseph Stevens, of near Ogletown, who was arraigned before Magistrate Thompson, Tuesday night, and sentenced to forty days in the Workhouse for aggravated assault. After Joseph has served this sentence he will be presented to the Court of General Sessions on a charge of illegal possession of intoxicating liquor.

Stevens was arrested Monday night when his wife appealed for help. He was lodged in the local jail until his hearing. His wife, Mary Stevens, testified that while he was drunk, Monday, he had punched and kicked her and had abused a year old child. She said that they had six children, and that he was continually drunk and would contribute no support. Stevens pled guilty to striking his wife, and received the 40 day sentence.

When local officers went to get Mrs. Stevens to testify against her husband she showed them his liquor cache, and they found a half gallon of liquor and 40 gallons of corn mash. When questioned, Joseph said that he had intended buying a still to make liquor from the mash. He claimed no knowledge of the liquor, but admitted having been arrested before on a liquor charge. He was held in $500 bond for hearing on the liquor charge.

JOHN FULTON TO OPEN HUDSON-ESSEX AGENCY

A new automobile agency and service station will appear on Main street, Saturday, when the Fulton Motors will hold a formal opening in the Newark Inn building. The head of the concern is John R. Fulton, who leased the building from William Collins, and has remodeled it to include a large showroom and service department. The new agency will show a complete line of Hudson and Essex models.

Mr. Fulton is a well-known resident and business man of Newark. Up to last year he conducted a food store in the Opera House building. William Stultz will be the first member of Mr. Fulton's sales staff. There will be a department for the complete servicing of automobiles with a man experienced with Hudson and Essex cars to operate it.

In addition to the Hudson and Essex cars, Fulton Motors will have several different makes of radios and will carry a full size assortment of U. S. Royal and Goodyear tires. There will also be a complete auto accessory department.

Mr. Fulton expects to have a varied selection of Hudson and Essex models on the floor for the opening, Saturday, and he extends a cordial welcome to the public to come and inspect the cars and the new plant.

HENRY F. MOTE HEADS STATE JR. O. U. A. M.

At the thirty-sixth annual session of the State Council of Delaware Jr. O. U. A. M., held at Lewes, Tuesday, Henry F. Mote, of the American Flag Council, Newark, was elected State Councilor, and presided at the sessions in the absence of the retiring State Councilor, James F. Stewart, who is ill.

Addresses were made by National Commander A. E. Llewellyn, of Pittsburgh, Pa., Deputy National Councilor Charles H. Simpkins, of Brooklyn, and National Secretary James L. Witham.

All three of the speakers from the national body dealt with the work the organization is accomplishing in other parts of the country. They reviewed the history of the national body, explaining its ideals and the skeleton of its program for the future.

A motion was adopted by the organization to send a telegram to Congressman Robert G. Houston, urging him on behalf of the 6000 members of the body, to do everything in his power to advance the proposed Delaware-New Jersey bridge bill.

TO COMPETE FOR KITCHEN PRIZES

Prizes Offered For Improved Kitchens By Delaware Extension Service

The Extension Service of the University of Delaware will conduct a county wide Kitchen Improvement Contest for New Castle County. Enrollment in the contest begins at once and closes March 15.

"The aims of the contest," says Mrs. Kate Henley Daugherty, County Home Demonstration Agent, are: To encourage New Castle County homemakers to:

1. Obtain, if possible, running water in the kitchen with sanitary waste disposal.
2. Correct the heights of working surfaces to save energy.
3. Group and arrange the kitchen furnishings that work may be done with the greatest saving of time and energy.
4. Arrange adequate and convenient storage space for food supplies and equipment.
5. Finish or refinish the floors and walls in such a way the surfaces can be easily kept clean.
6. Procure at the smallest outlay of money possible the needed furnishings and labor-saving equipment of the best type for the kitchen.

Any rural home maker living in New Castle County desiring to enter the contest and receive free help and suggestions in making her kitchen a better workshop, may do so by registering her name with Mrs. Kate Henley Daugherty, University of Delaware, Newark, Del.

The contestant may enter either one of two classes; namely, Class I. The kitchen making the greatest improvement in proportion to the expenditure (cost not to exceed $25.00). Class II. The expenditures exceeding that of Class I.

The kitchens entered in the contest will be scored by a competent judge before and after the kitchen is improved to determine the percentage of improvement made.

In both Class I and Class II the scoring will be done on the basis of the greatest accomplishment in proportion to the cash expenditure.

Mrs. Daugherty says that the rules of the contest require that a woman must register either in Class I or Class II at the beginning of the contest. As her plan develops and she finds that the expenditure will be greater or less than that prescribed in the class which she has registered, she may be transferred to the other class.

KNIFES WIFE

In an argument, said to be over another man, L. Andrew Burk, colored, living on New London avenue, slashed his wife, Rosie Burk, in the abdomen. The cutting was done between 5 and 6 Monday morning. Burk immediately decamped and has not been found by the authorities yet.

The wounded woman ran from the house after she was cut and asked help of a neighbor, Charles D. Wilson, who took her to a doctor. After having her wound dressed, she was taken to the Delaware Hospital in the Newark ambulance, to be observed, and was released from the hospital last night.

Chief Keeley, who is investigating the case, discovered that Burk had threatened a friend of his wife's, Mabel Hall, when she saw Burk in Wilmington, Monday. That is the only time he has been seen since the affair, but apparently he was at his house yesterday, as fresh tracks were found in the snow.

SUPPER

The Methodist Sunday School class of Mrs. Lewis will give a supper on March 21.

Will Organize Woman's Auxiliary to Legion

On Monday night at 8 o'clock, a Woman's Auxiliary unit of Lt. J. Allison O'Daniel Post, American Legion, will be organized. Mrs. H. C. McSherry, of Dover, state president of the Delaware Auxiliary, will direct the organization. The meeting will be held in the Legion Post rooms in the Old Academy Building. All women who are wives, mothers, sisters or daughters of Legionnaires are eligible to join the Auxiliary, and all eligible women in this community are urged to attend this meeting.

TO ISSUE 1929 DEL. AG. OUTLOOK

A. D. Cobb Editing Report Which Will Cover General Agricultural In State

Of great interest to the agricultural industry of the state is an announcement just made by A. D. Cobb, State Leader of County Agents, that the Agricultural Extension Department of the University of Delaware plans to issue the Annual State Agricultural Outlook Report for 1929 within the next two weeks.

This outlook report will contain all the latest available data on the general agricultural situation in the state, and will outline the trend of production and prices of all important farm products during recent years. The information contained in the report is designed to give Delaware farmers before spring planting time, all available information as to what the probable conditions will be when their products are ready for market.

Proper interpretation of the report will be of assistance to producers in so planning their productive programs and balancing their different lines of production, that they will be in a position to realize the greatest returns and avoid overproduction or underproduction of any commodity.

Producers and others are warned, however, that in no sense is this outlook report to be taken as an attempt to forecast prices at market time.

Mr. Cobb took part in the National Outlook Conference held in Washington, D. C., several weeks ago and since that time has been compiling data for the Delaware report. On Wednesday, February 13, Mr. Cobb held the first Delaware Outlook Conference in the Hotel Richardson at Dover, which was attended by members of the Extension Department of the University of Delaware, representatives of the State Board of Agriculture, and several prominent farmers of the state.

At this conference all preliminary material was gone over by the conference members and referred to members of the Extension Staff for final approval. As soon as all data is completed, Mr. Cobb will edit and publish the complete outlook report which will be available to all farmers of the state.

Those attending the conference at Dover, were: John D. Reynolds, Middletown; Paul Mitchell, Hockessin; E. H. Donovan, Brenford; H. C. Richardson, Camden; Ed Willim, Sr., Dover; R. Harry Wilson, Dover; Norval Pepper, Seaford; Warren C. Newton, Bridgeville; M. E. Culver, Laurel; W. J. Warren, Lewes; R. S. Brown, Lewes; W. T. Derrickson, Director State Bureau of Markets, Dover; Ralph C. Wilson, Secretary State Board of Agriculture, Dover; Director C. A. McCue, Extension Department, University of Delaware; A. D. Cobb, State Leader of County Agents, University of Delaware; Harry S. Gabriel, Assistant Economist, University of Delaware Experiment Station; Russell E. Wilson, County Agent Kent County, Dover; C. Russell Snyder, County Agent Sussex County, Georgetown; Ed Willim, Jr., County Agent, Newark, Delaware; S. R. Newell, Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C.

HURT IN ACCIDENT

Yesterday, about noon, Clayton Ditch, who lives at the Cedars, was injured when his car skidded on the Lincoln Highway, and going into a ditch, turned over in a field along the road. The accident occurred near White Clay Creek Church. Persons who went to his aid say that his escape from death was miraculous. It was necessary to cut a hole in the top of the car to extricate Mr. Ditch from the wreckage. He was taken to the Delaware Hospital in the Newark Ambulance by T. J. Sprugel and Bert Crow, where, besides cuts and bruises, it was found that he had a fracture of the left femur and a dislocated hip.

PROF KIRKBRIDE MADE KNIGHT OF LEGION OF HONOR

ALL LAUD RECIPIENT

Distinguished honor was shown Professor Raymond W. Kirkbride, of the University of Delaware, Monday night, when Rene Weiller, Consul of France, pinned on his breast the jeweled emblem of the French Legion of Honor, and made him a Knight in that order, which is the highest civil distinction which the French Republic can confer.

The award took place at a dinner given Professor Kirkbride in the Hotel Belvedere, Baltimore, and was bestowed for his conception of and work on the Delaware Foreign Study Plan for undergraduate students. This plan, which originated in the mind of Professor Kirkbride and of which he has been the director since its inception, has been characterized as one of the most forward steps in higher education, as well as a most remarkable builder of international amity and good-will.

In presenting the cross, Consul General Weiller said that never had the decoration been given where it was more worthily deserved than in this instance.

"This foreign study plan which Professor Kirkbride originated not only enables the students to learn the French language and literature but also to learn the French soul," he said. "I think all of you will agree with me when I say that if a proper estimate is to be placed upon any nation we must, above all other things, know its soul."

Dr. Walter Hullahen, president of the University of Delaware, was the toastmaster. In his opening remarks he stated that Professor Kirkbride presented his project to the Board of Trustees in 1922 and it was later adopted. The first group comprising eight boys, left for France in 1923. Since then the plan has grown until today there are sixty-seven students from thirty universities and colleges throughout America in the group. Dr. Hullahen stated that the plan has become eminently successful and is a true contribution to American education. He also praised Professor Kirkbride without stint as being the sole originator of the foreign study plan. He added that when the plan first was announced there was skepticism throughout the educational world with respect to its practicability. Since then, however, most of those skeptics, have been won over and some of them have adopted the plan for their own uses.

Professor Kirkbride was obliged to leave France last year and return to this country because of ill health. Since then he has spent most of his time in Baltimore, undergoing treatment at Johns Hopkins Hospital. The dinner was originally planned for Wilmington or Newark, but the plans were changed because Professor Kirkbride's physicians thought that a trip to Delaware would be harmful to his condition.

Professor Kirkbride, when he rose to accept the decoration appeared racked by pain, but as he spoke his body straightened and his voice strengthened and his remarks and bearing reflected the undaunted courage which has characterized Professor Kirkbride's struggle to bring the Foreign Study Plan into existence, and his fight against the ravages of disease.

Honor the Man

Washington is not an Ideal but a Fact; not a Myth but a Reality. He is not a God but a Man. Time, Place and Circumstances favored him. He lived at a time when Ideas of Human Liberty clamored for action and generalship. Thinkers went into action and the Guns of Concord sounded round the world. "Taxation without Representation" was no longer a mere slogan but a cry of freedom. Then it was that this Virginia Planter was called to lead the colonists, untrained and unequipped, against the World's strongest power. That by his energy and courage, his persistency and integrity, he was able to so dominate and lead, is same reason for interpretation for his superman greatness. Then after Yorktown to return to Mount Vernon, only to be hailed as King and his staunch refusal added only to the mystery of admiring historians. He accepted the Presidency with a modesty and responsibility becoming the true conception of Democracy. His retirement from public life and his continued interest in his country's affairs as a private citizen—all make up what can well be called, "The Father of His Country."

But he was a man. As such we like to read of him. As such, can we still learn from his words and deeds. He has suffered from his eulogists. Pointing to his life as an example to youth, they took the human out of him and made him a God. So today, he seems best portrayed in the coldness and severity of marble rather than in the sympathy and warmth of color. Neither chisel nor bursh truly portrays him as does his own writings and the records of his contemporaries. He was a man, forceful and on occasion with temper. Ask General Lee. He had a passion for justice but gave no quarter to an enemy. Ask Andre. He was a genial host but not always a genial disposition. Ask Hamilton. He loved horses and women. Read his diary. He could endure hardship as well as luxury. See him crossing the Delaware and at Mount Vernon. He could swear like a soldier. See him at Monmouth. And could pray. Look at him at Valley Forge. He was ambitious. Read his confidences. He was a Patriot. Record the years he gave ungrudgingly, without compensation, to his country. He loved Freedom as expressed in our institutions. Look at his sword. He is Father of his Country. Ask America. He is "First in War, First in Peace, First in the Hearts of his Countrymen." Ask the World.

Would that it were not old fashioned for our youth to read more of him whose anniversary we herald tomorrow.
(Written by Everett C. Johnson, February, 1922.)

An Eminently Deserved Honor

France has seldom conferred its highest civil honor, the order of the French Legion of Honor, on a recipient more deserving than Raymond W. Kirkbride, professor of French in the University of Delaware, and originator and director of the Delaware Foreign Study Plan. Professor Kirkbride was decorated with the cross of the order, last Monday night, in Baltimore.

Professor Kirkbride, practical idealist, in conceiving this idea of undergraduate study abroad, and fighting to have the plan recognized and put into effect, has not only contributed a new and significant movement to international higher education, but has established a strong power for engendering good-will and amity between nations. Incidentally, he has brought world recognition and position to the University of Delaware, as the leader of this movement.

In forwarding this work, Professor Kirkbride has had to expend his wealth of courage, not only to overcome disappointment, obstacles and reverses to bring the Foreign Study Plan into smooth working order, here and in France, but to wage a cruel personal battle against the ravages of disease. It is characteristic of the man, that when he responded to the honor conferred on him, his courage and enthusiasm were as high and bright as even, and his one ambition was to regain his strength that he might return to active duty abroad.

Enduring Investment

The General Assembly of the State last week visited Newark to examine its investment in the State University. The Law-makers should have been impressed with what they saw and were told. They inspected property, buildings and equipment, whose estimated value is $2,600,000. They were told that one of the world's largest engineering institutions ranked Delaware as one of the six highest standing engineering schools in the country. They learned of the unique and foremost position which Delaware holds in the world of international higher education, as the originator of the undergraduate Foreign Study Plan.

The Legislators also learned that of this $2,600,000 investment, which is paying the State such rich dividends, only $700,000 of it came from the State Treasury. They were told that it was only through the charity of private individuals that the University of Delaware had been able to meet crises which had seriously threatened the high standard and position it had won.

The University is asking the State to increase its investment in its University by nearly $500,000. In making his appeal that this money be appropriated, Dr. Walter Hüllihen, President of the University, stated that no state can rise higher than its system of education. The University of Delaware has brought the higher educational level of the State to a point where it more than justifies the Delaware slogan of "The First State." The State can certainly find no more enduring or profitable investment for its money than in this same University.

The Curtis Concert

In this column last week, we expressed the hope that Newark would demonstrate its appreciation of music at the recital on Monday evening. Our hope was more than realized. The audience that taxed the capacity of Wolf Hall was attentive and enthusiastic. The Newark Music Club, acting through its President, Dr. George B. Ryden, may well feel encouraged. We shall hope that the cordial reception accorded the artist-students from the Curtis Institute of Music may cause this recital to be merely a forerunner of other evenings of similar enjoyment.

Washington's Inaugural Address the Shortest

President Washington made the shortest inaugural address of any chief executive. It was made at Philadelphia, March 4, 1793, when, for the second time, he took the oath of office. It contained 134 words and was as follows:

"Fellow Citizens: I am again called upon by the voice of my country to execute the functions of its chief magistrate. When the occasion proper for it shall arrive, I shall endeavor to express the high sense I entertain of this distinguished honor, and of the confidence which has been reposed in me by the people of United America."

"Previous to the execution of any official act of the President the Constitution requires an oath of office. This oath I am now about to take, and in your presence: That if it shall be found during my administration of the government I have in any instance violated willingly or knowingly the injunctions thereof, I may (besides incurring constitutional punishment) be subject to the upbraiding of all who are now witnesses of the present solemn ceremony."

DIES IN PECULIAR ACCIDENT IN MILL

H. E. Mackie Found After Being Caught and Mangled by Pulley

When Ort Spratt, of Providence, strolled towards the ancient grist mill, which for a hundred or more years has added a picturesque touch to the scenic glade of that village, for a sack of corn meal, late last Thursday afternoon, the old water wheel was responding to the gentle flow of the lazy water from the race, and the machinery of the mill was whirling in full action, but there was no miller or anyone else about and no grist pouring into the bins. Pratt had stumbled over a mystery which soon was solved when he found the lifeless and mangled form of H. Eugene Mackie, aged 55, the owner, lying on the floor under one of the pulleys.

It was the old grist mill's first human toll, and it took one of the leaders of the county, a man whose word meant orders in Democratic politics in that section, and a man who had the respect of business men and leaders of both parties. Incidentally he was a scion of a Cecil county family much older than the mill itself.

The strips of Mr. Mackie's clothing, scattered about the place, some of them stuck to the chain pulley which had just been repaired that afternoon, told the story of the accident. Mr. Mackie's helper had left the mill some time before Spratt came for his meal. It is supposed that Mr. Mackie was trying to adjust the chain belt when his sleeve was caught. From indications, his body was carried to the ceiling and dropped to the floor. One leg was cut off and his right arm was horribly mangled.

A life-long Democrat, Mr. Mackie was one of the most powerful party leaders in Cecil county, and always had much to say about county tickets. He was once a candidate for the Legislature but was defeated.

Mr. Mackie was a member of the firm of George W. Biles & Co., feed, coal and lumber dealers, and had been proprietor of the mill, a county landmark, for many years. It was formerly known as Levi's grist mill.

The deceased is survived by a son, F. Reynolds Mackie, of Providence; a brother, Osborne Mackie, and two sisters, Misses Lillian and Nellie Mackie, of this town. His wife died several years ago.

The funeral was held Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock, from Rock Presbyterian Church. Burial was made in Rosebank cemetery, at Calvert, Md.

MISSIONARY MEETING

The regular monthly meeting of the Women's Home Missionary Society of the Methodist Episcopal Church was held on Thursday, February 14, at 2:30 o'clock.

After the meeting was called to order by Mrs. T. F. Manns, the president, the members of the society sang the hymn, "Work for the Night is Coming." Mrs. Leonard Lewis had charge of the devotions. Mrs. George Phipps had charge of the program and gave a very interesting talk on the subject, "The Outstanding Events in the Life of Francis Asbury." Mrs. James Colona, the main speaker on the program gave an inspiring talk on the pageants which were given at the General Conference in Kansas last summer, after which the meeting adjourned.

Refreshments were served and a social time enjoyed.

Mrs. Midland, District Superintendent of the Women's Home Missionary Society, of Wilmington, was a guest of the local society.

PARTY FOR LIBRARY

The Town Library Committee are sponsoring a benefit progressive bridge party to be given on Tuesday, February 26, at 2 o'clock, at Mrs. Walter Hüllihen's. All who are interested in the welfare of the Town Library are urged to attend whether they have been asked personally or not. Each year one benefit party is given to help defray the expenses incurred in the upkeep and for the purchase of new books. Prizes will be awarded and refreshments served.

METHODIST MEN'S LEAGUE

The regular monthly meeting of the Methodist Men's League was held Tuesday night, which was well attended, and much interest and enthusiasm was displayed in the election of officers for the ensuing term. There was a large field of candidates for several of the offices, and it appeared odd considering the large number of votes cast, that there should be so many tie results, which necessitated rebalancing amid much amusement and excitement.

The following were elected: Mr. Chester Moore, president; Mr. E. B. Wilson, vice-president; Mr. D. A. Cronhardt, secretary; Mr. George M. Phipps, treasurer. Executive committee: Mr. W. F. Lindell, Mr. H. Wollaston, Mr. William J. Lovett. Program committee: Dr. T. F. Manns, chairman; Rev. D. W. Jacobs, E. B. Wilson. Refreshment committee: Mr. John Moore, S. W. Day. Mr. I. N. Sheaffer and Benj. Wirt acted as tellers.

After a few remarks by the retiring president, Mr. F. A. Lindell, refreshments were served. At the next monthly meeting, March 19th, the members will bring their wives and sweethearts and a good program is promised.

FOOTLIGHTERS TO GIVE FOUR ONE-ACT PLAYS

"Minnie Field," written by Professor E. P. Conkle, of the English department of the University of Delaware, will be presented by this cast: Frank Sasse, Gus Caras, John McVaugh, Richard Manns and William Kirk.

"Two Crooks and a Lady," by Eugene Pilliot, will be the third play and will be presented by this cast: Nellie Moore, Virginia Swain, Theresa Tehan, Philip Blank, James Hill and John Walker.

The final play will be "Moonshine," by Arthur Hopkins and the cast consists of but two students, Frank Gladden and Charles Jackson.

CAPTAIN JACOBS AS AIDE TO GOVERNOR

Captain Lynwood B. Jacobs, of the Air Corps, United States Army, has been assigned by General Summerall, chief marshal, as aide to Governor C. Douglass Buck, of Delaware, in the inaugural parade at Washington on March 4. General Summerall endeavored to assign as aide to each Governor in the parade an army officer who was a native of the Governor's state.

Captain Jacobs is a former resident of Newark. He is a graduate of the University of Delaware, a former officer of the National Guard of Delaware, and of the 59th Pioneers in the World War, and was transferred to the regular army during the war.

ATTENDS CONVOCATION

Last Saturday, Mrs. Pierce Whitecraft attended the mid-year convocation of the University Council, of the University of Pennsylvania. She was the guest of her niece, Miss Madeline Hollingsworth, who received a Bachelor of Science degree. Miss Hollingsworth is the daughter of Ralph Hollingsworth, of Fairville, Pa., and besides the academic work at Pennsylvania, she has been graduated from the Kennett Square High School, the West Chester Normal School and the Women's College, University of Delaware.

"THE FIRST KISS" TAKEN IN EASTON, MARYLAND

"The First Kiss" featuring Fay Wray and Gary Cooper, which will be shown at the Newark Opera House, Wednesday, February 27, was taken in Easton, Md. This picture had been scheduled for the Opera House, and advertised for a past date, but the picture did not arrive, and could not be run at the time announced.

Lodge Notes

K. OF P.

Oseola Lodge No. 5, Knights of Pythias, had a big meeting on Monday evening, when several cards were presented for membership, the degree team, under the direction of Edward Sticklely and Earl Ramsey, were out in full force and expect to put on the degree of Page in a few weeks. On next Monday evening the social committee will have a little entertainment for the members, so be on hand. Refreshments will be served.

ODD FELLOWS

Last Thursday evening, District Grand Master, William A. Marrs, accompanied by several members of Oriental Lodge, paid a social visit to Good Samaritan Lodge, of Middletown. The Grand Master of Delaware was on his official visit.

Tonight, Centerville Lodge, of Centerville, Del., will pay a social visit to Oriental Lodge.

Jr. O. U. A. M.

The weekly session of the American Flag Council, No. 28, Jr. O. U. A. M., convened last Monday evening. Councilor Norton called the session to order. Relief committee reported that the various sick brothers were rapidly recovering. Business Agent Colmery has several tentative dates pending for the minstrel troupe. Brothers Earle Mote, Hall, McMullen and Dempsey were appointed delegates to the State Junior Mechanic Convention in Lewes last Tuesday. All Councils in the State presented reports which noted a great gain the past year. The local Council was honored by the Convention electing Brother Henry F. Mote as Councilor for the State.

Brother Mote has worked faithfully for the cause of Juniorism not only in Newark, but the entire State. He has a prepared schedule which will carry him and the members of the local Council over the entire State during his term. The delegates will have a full report of the convention for the next session of the Council.

Brother Goldey gave an interesting outline on the lives of Washington and Lincoln. Brother, Scarborough reports "kitty" is getting pretty plump. A back slider session is being arranged for a near date.—A Neal Smythe, Jr., Past Councilor.

Friendship Lodge, Hockessin

We are glad to note that P. G. R. Alex. Guthrie has so far recovered that he has been taken off the sick list. We notice quite an improvement and hope to have him present to help greet our visitors next Saturday night.

His sickness interfered with the plans of himself and wife, who had hoped to spend several weeks with their son and daughter-in-law in Cuba. Pleased to note that Bro. J. P. Cloud has recovered from his illness. He is one of the oldest members of the Lodge. Bros. Newton P. Taylor, J. R. Giffin, T. L. Woodward and Edwin Gregg are still sick.

Bros. Deal and Appleby from Industry Lodge at Bear, were visitors with us last Saturday evening. While in town they were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Roser.

P. G. James H. Polk, of Unity

Lodge, Stanton, was also a visitor Saturday evening, and favored us with one of his interesting talks. Years ago P. G. Polk was a member of our lodge, but withdrew to become a charter member of Unity Lodge in its infancy. A loss to us but a decided gain to the benefit of his experience.

Quoits seem to be quiet at present time, most of the interest being centered in the new ball alleys. Quite a few visit the lanes and enjoy the games during the week. The games are open each evening except Sunday, but will be closed on evenings when Liberty Bell Rural Encampment and Friendship Lodge are in session. Games should not be allowed to prevent attendance of members at the meetings of the lodges. The alleys were bought with this understanding and it is hoped members will conform to this regulation.

Next Saturday evening, the 23rd, we will have with us Grand Master Craig and staff, together with visitors from other lodges. Friendship Lodge has a fair attendance and the hope of the active members that every member possible will be out to greet the Grand Master and make his visitation well worth while.

HOW SOME GREAT MEN MET THEIR DEATHS

When Napoleon felt that his hour was approaching he did not put on the imperial robe and crown, but asked to be dressed in his Field Marshal's uniform, even to the boots.

Augustus Caesar arose from a couch, carefully adjusted his eyes and met death standing. Julius Caesar when slain, drew the folds of his cape over his face that his enemies might not see his death agony. Seward, Secretary of Northumberland, saying, "I should not die like a beast," lay Nelson, while being carried below with the fatal bullet in his back, took out a silk handkerchief and covered his face to conceal it from the crew.

Friday night Delaware was without the services of Captain Jaquette and Johnny Roman and gave about the worst exhibition of basketball seen locally this season.

Friday night the Delaware Jay Vees won from the Wilmington Trade School, 42 to 17, while Tuesday, they lost to Beacom's 25 to 10.

PROF. KIRKDRIDE MADE KNIGHT OF LEGION OF HONOR

(Continued from Page 1.) Professor Kirkbride reviewed the Foreign Study work, and paid tribute to those who had made it possible. He said:

"I hope to live long enough to write a book with leaves of gold on which I may inscribe my heartfelt appreciation of the goodness of those who have assisted me."

He expressed the thought that his fight against illness was a winning one and that he would have many more years to give to the Foreign Study idea.

George Carter, editor of the Wilmington Evening Journal, who had been associated intimately with Professor Kirkbride in the promotion of the foreign study plan, spoke. He referred to the tireless zeal of the educator who nursed a great educational ideal and said that no man with an ideal ever had received more hearty support from the press of Wilmington and the Del-Mar-Va Peninsula.

Professor Kirkbride is an alumnus of Westminster College. Dr. W. C. Wallace, president of that college, was a guest at the dinner. He spoke in a pleasing vein of the honor that had come to Westminster through the French award just made.

Archie Palmer, assistant director of the Institute of International Education of New York, also paid glowing tribute to the guest of honor, as being an outstanding and lovable figure in the field of education.

Delaware College and the Women's College of Delaware sent beautiful floral tributes with accompanying congratulatory and loving messages. There also was a gift of beautiful roses from the romance languages department of Vassar College.

Congratulatory telegrams were received by Professor Kirkbride from Governor C. Douglass Buck, Mr. and Mrs. Pierre S. du Pont, Dr. Joseph H. Odell, of the Service Citizens of Delaware, and many others.

Those who attended the dinner and took part in or witnessed the conferring of the decoration were: Raymond W. Kirkbride, guest of honor; Honorable Rene Weiller, Consul General of France; Dr. and Mrs. Walter Hulihen, President University of Delaware; Arthur G. Wilkinson, Business Administrator University of Delaware; Miss Winifred J. Robinson, Dean Women's College, University of Delaware; Rev. S. A. Kirkbride, father of guest of honor; Archie Palmer, Institute of International Education, New York; Dr. W. C. Wallace, President of Westminster College; Dr. H. C. Lancaster, Johns Hopkins University; Professor E. C. Byam, University of Delaware; Professor C. J. Rees, University of Delaware; Mr. and Mrs. Charles B. Evans, Wilmington; Mr. J. Pilling Wright, Newark; Miss May Sharp, Wilmington; Mrs. Robert H. Richards, Wilmington; George E. Dutton, Dean University of Delaware; Dr. David O. Evans, University of Delaware; Miss Edwina Long, University of Delaware; Miss Lula Richardson, Wells College, New York; George Carter, editor of the Evening Journal, Wilmington; and Drs. W. O. Frontz, John King, and Charles A. Waters, three of Professor Kirkbride's Baltimore physicians and surgeons.

The decorations of the dining-room were a massed background of roses, carnations and other flowers and ferns, with the flags of the United States and France in the foreground. Credit for the arrangements for the banquet and the transportation of guests is mainly due A. G. Wilkinson, business administrator of the University of Delaware.

Mr. and Mrs. Pierre S. du Pont and Mr. and Mrs. Henry P. Scott were invited to the function. Mr. and Mrs. du Pont were unable to attend because of a trip to Florida.

P.-T. A. News

Taylor's Bridge A well attended meeting was held by Taylor's Bridge Community Association on Friday evening, February 8. The monthly topic was presented and discussion led by Mrs. David, president, who stressed the vast change in spelling now from the former methods.

A discussion followed by a demonstration in spelling by Miss Aker, teacher, using spelling graphs to explain scores. The State program was followed by a "Good Citizenship" program. The Senior Association members gave a play entitled "The Kimona," which was enjoyed by the large audience.—S. M. Aker, Publicity Chairman.

for the school and other supplies to aid in the Health Crusade project which is now in progress. Final arrangements were made for the musical to be given in the school February 21, at which time the Continental Band of Newark will be present and will be aided by local talent in presenting an unusual program. After a pleasing program by the school a social hour was thoroughly enjoyed by all.—Ada B. Helmbreck, Publicity Chairman.

Delaware City The P.-T. A. subject for February, "Making School Parallel with Life," with spelling as an illustration, was presented by Mrs. N. W. Wilkinson to a crowded audience on February 11. Miss Melvin, a teacher, conducted a scientific spelling lesson. The treasurer reported a balance of $24.94, and the membership chairman reported 141 members to date. Both pupils and adults pleased the audience with many selections.—Myra D. Murphy, Publicity Chairman.

Yorklyn The Yorklyn P.-T. A. met in the club house at Yorklyn on Thursday evening, January 31. The monthly topic, "Working to Develop Correct Attitudes and Habits," was presented and discussion led by Hattie E. Short, secretary. The association decided to keep the library open in the evenings in order that the adults may obtain books. Members of the association volunteered to act as librarians. The Alexander Brothers quartet, of near Yorklyn, rendered a pleasing program.—Hattie E. Short.

Brandywine Springs The Brandywine Springs Community Club will hold its regular monthly meeting on February 26, at the school house, at 7:30 o'clock. A patriotic program will be given by the pupils of the school. All members and friends are cordially invited to enjoy the evening.

"A CERTAIN YOUNG MAN" "A Certain Young Man," which is coming to the Newark Opera House tonight for a run of two days, is a picture without a ride to the rescue, a train wreck, a Charleston, a murder, a midnight swimming orgy, a flag, a mother, or any pet device to focus the attention of the audience on it, yet one that is declared to be one of the most delightful pieces of sophistication ever seen on the screen. Ramon Novarro is the star and Hobart Henley the director. It is a Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer picture.

Novarro believes in variety in his roles. He first won fame as a young Persian in "Omar Khayyam," played the son of the South Sea Island chief-tain in "Where the Pavement Ends," was a swashbuckling French troubadour in "Scaramouche" and a romantic hero in "Ben-Hur." He played a sailor in "Across to Singapore." Hobart Henley directed his latest vehicle, in which a notable cast appears. Marceline Day plays his sweetheart, and it will be recalled, she recently played opposite him in Joseph Conrad's "Road to Romance." Others in the cast are Renee Adoree, Carmel Myers, Bert Roach, rotund comedian of "Tin Hats" and "Wickedness Preferred" fame as a jealous husband, and Huntley Gordon as the stern father of the heroine.

70% OF WOMAN'S TIME SPENT IN KITCHEN

"Carrying twenty tons of water and drying three acres of dishes sounds like a man-sized job, and indeed it is, but this is what the average farm home-maker does every year if she does not have working conveniences in her kitchen," says Kate Henley Daugherty, County Home Demonstration Agent for New Castle County.

Mrs. Daugherty says that while America has gained supremacy in the manufacturing world by the invention and use of labor saving machinery, the American farm home-maker has been left to fight out her lonely battle against dirt and ravenous appetites and cold, with such ancient weapons as the wood and coal stove, the scrubbing board and the water bucket.

The American farmer is said to be as much better off than his European contemporary, as his machinery is better than his hands; but the American farm wife is superior to her Old World peasant sister only to the extent that her back is stronger or her wits sharper.

A thousand or more meals are turned out of the average family kitchen every year. What a pile 365 family breakfasts, dinners and suppers would make; washing, and ironing and lots of other work besides that, connected with food are also crowded into many home kitchens.

"It is said by some authorities," continues Mrs. Daugherty, "that the average home-maker spends about 70 per cent of her time in the kitchen. Pumps on the back porches or in the yard, waste water carried out doors, garbage cans kept on back porch or in the yard, wood boxes on the porch, refrigerator on porch or food kept in cellar are some of the reasons that the average farm woman spends 70 per cent of her time in the kitchen."

"This 70 per cent of her time requires more energy, is the most ageing and least productive of the higher types of womanhood or standards of living for the family. If it can be reduced, say to 50 per cent, it will almost double the time that can be spent in other and higher types of work."

"Whenever a woman hires any work done in the house it is usually the kitchen work. By the degree that she is removed from her kitchen drudgery she and her family advance in standards of living.

"But why," asks Mrs. Daugherty, "will she spend so much time unprofitably in the kitchen? When on the farms and in the factories and city homes, this drudgery has been reduced, while proper equipment and systematic practices in the farm woman's workshop have not kept pace with these other things. A large per cent of the kitchens on the farms today more nearly resemble the kitchens of 1870 than they do the modern kitchen of 1929.

Mrs. Daugherty says that she has often heard it said that no farmer can afford to match his time against scrub livestock, scrub field seed, or scrub farm equipment, and if that is true, how can the home-maker afford to match her time against poor equipment and arrangement in her workshop, which is her kitchen. How can she make her kitchen more convenient so that the least amount of time and energy may be expended in performing kitchen duties?

The fact that the kitchen is the food workshop makes it of primary importance. Everyone is realizing more and more how essential it is that meals be carefully planned and prepared. The right kind of food is necessary for the proper development of children and the health of the entire family. Any woman will naturally take more interest in the meals and turn out better products if she has a good workshop just as any craftsman will have better results if he has a well equipped shop.

The demands on the home-maker's time are many. Aside from the actual cooking, house cleaning, laundry work, sewing and care of children, she usually has some poultry and garden work to do. There are community duties in which she has a share. She should have some time for reading as well as for recreation and above all she desires to be a companion to her husband and children. It is a wise woman who can so budget her time that some of the most important duties are not neglected. One of the most frequent excuses that we hear, says Mrs. Daugherty, is "I haven't time." If many do spend as much as 70 per cent of their time in the kitchen, it is possible that with careful planning and more adequate equipment this large amount of time can be reduced, spent to a better advantage and a great waste of human energy avoided.

Kitchen improvement can be advanced some of the distance to 1929 very cheaply. Certainly it costs little or nothing to group the furniture and equipment to save steps, time and energy.

The Extension Service of the University of Delaware believes that it is most important to have every farm kitchen a sanitary, convenient and cheerful workshop, in which the necessary work can be done with the least expenditure of time and energy. Mrs. Daugherty will be glad to send out suggestions free to any home-maker desiring information on how to make her kitchen a better workshop.

OAKLAND, PONTIAC SALES INCREASE

H. F. GALLAGHER LOOKS FOR INCREASED SALES

Mr. Hugh F. Gallagher, of the Union Park Garage of Wilmington, reports a decided increase in Oakland-Pontiac.

Mr. Gallagher is a familiar and well-known gentleman around Newark, his home being on the Lincoln Park highway, just opposite the Roseville entrance. Another thing that has brought Mr. Gallagher quickly before Newark people is the fact that he has three children attending the Newark schools, Harry, Hugh F., and Donald, Harry is following in the footsteps of his father and made quite a record on the Newark High School football team during last season.

Talking to Mr. Gallagher, he states that the real reason for the sale of Oakland-Pontiac is just about opening. Talking to him in reference to the Oakland car and possible deliveries he gives the following information: From bare frame to finished motor car in owner's hands in three days—might be the title of this piece. It is another story with a new angle on the high speed methods popularized by the automobile.

The principal character in the story is the Oakland Motor Car Company, with several railroads and steamship lines interwoven into the theme. The story begins on a recent Tuesday when the Pontiac division of the Oakland company had on hand scarcely enough car frames for a full day's output. Charles O. Miller, supervisor of purchases, got in touch with the suppliers, the A. O. Smith Company, of Milwaukee. They had the frames in stock. R. L. Reese, Oakland traffic director, got busy with the railroads. They promised every aid.

On Tuesday morning the frames were loaded at Milwaukee on a Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul and Pacific train. The Grand Trunk ferry brought them to Grand Haven, Mich., where the Grand Trunk lines held up a creek train more than two hours to get the shipment to Pontiac, Michigan, with all possible dispatch.

The boat docked at Milwaukee on Friday morning, the cars immediately were delivered to their destination, arriving in the purchaser's hands by Friday noon—the cars built on the identical frames sent from Milwaukee on Tuesday.

BEST LOCK PRESIDENT RETURNS FROM COAST

Frank E. Best, president and manager of the Best Lock Corporation, returned to Wilmington last week, from Seattle, where he presided at the annual stockholders' meeting.

Mr. Best reported the completion of the transaction whereby the Best Lock Corporation fully and completely took over the manufacturing plant of the Best Universal Lock Company a going concern located at Seattle, Washington.

The Seattle plant, which will be operated as a subsidiary, is making wonderful progress under the able management of their general manager, Henry J. Lowden, who was with the Eldridge Buick Company and brought it from a losing concern to a $2,000,000 company.

The frames arrived at the Pontiac factory on Wednesday morning, were immediately unloaded and started at one end of the assembly lines where, in an hour, they rolled off at the other end completed cars.

The Hokanson-Thompson Company, Oakland and Pontiac dealers for Milwaukee, had sent in a hurry-up order for new Pontiacs. The cars were taken from the Pontiac production line to Detroit and there loaded on a Nicholson Steamship Company boat on Wednesday afternoon.

Mr. Hines of the Hines Business School at 402 W. 22nd street, Wilmington, offers the only business course in the State that has individual instruction.

BUSINESS INSTRUCTION

The very fact that Mr. Hines limits the enrollment is assurance of better classroom environment for each student—better progress in each class hour. While Mr. Hines makes none of the impossible promises so often made by business schools seeking students, every course is as direct and time saving as good, sound training will permit. The non-essentials are eliminated, the essentials being brought out clearly.

The individual instruction makes it so that a Hines student does not enter the business field ask those regular foolish questions, the individual instruction eliminates this.

Mr. Hines would be very glad to talk with anyone who would be interested in the kind of instruction he has to offer.

OPEN WINTER AIDS BUSH LINE AND P. A. X.

Because of the open winter, the fleet of the Bush Line and the P. A. X. have not been handicapped at all so far. In other years, ice in the Delaware Bay proven a handicap as has snow on lateral highways. But this winter so far, there has been neither to hinder transportation.

Business during January for both the Bush Line and the P. A. X. was normal. Although it is a slack time the volume of business handled was satisfactory and with all indications of the spring being a most busy one.

GET BRICK CONTRACT FOR KEIL BUILDING

Contract was received last week by the Oberly Brick Company for 45,000 buff brick and 60,000 hard brick, to be used on the new Keil building, at Eleventh and Tattall streets, being erected by Dominick Canera, general contractor.

Last week, the company also started the shipment of the first lot of an order for 150,000 brick being used by Ernest DiSabatino and Sons Company on an addition to the plant of the Krebs Pigment and Chemical Company, in Newport. Brick was also delivered to Zion Lutheran Church, Sixth and Jackson streets, where extensive alterations are to be made.

This contract calls for 40,000 brick, similar amount which is ordered by Martin Tonizyk, who is erecting houses at Maryland avenue and Bee street.

In addition to these orders, the Oberly Brick Company received a contract for several hundred thousand bricks to be used by Louis Peltzman in an operation on Delaware avenue above Broom street. Besides, there was a substantial shipment to Clayton, Del.

COLD WEATHER COFFEE

According to Mr. Mansley, of the Hero Tea Store at 721 Market street, Wilmington, there is a greater demand for a good, heavy bodied coffee at this time of the year. You perhaps have wondered how and why women used different coffees at different times. Such women are catering to an appetite and using good judgment in satisfying their thirst.

A little talk with Mr. Mansley will surprise you as to the difference in coffees. He says, however, no matter what the blend, your coffee must be fresh roasted and freshly ground to obtain the flavor and quality of the coffee bean.
