NEWARK PRAISES BOULEVARD

BOARD OF TRADE HOLDS MEETING STRONG RESOLUTIONS ADOPTED

At the call of D. C. Rose, president, and W. H. Taylor, secretary, a special meeting of the Newark Board of Trade was held on Saturday evening at the Council Chamber.

President Rose stated that the meeting was called to consider the boulevard and allow Newark to give expression of opinion. Resolutions were read from Dr. Rowland T. E. Armstrong, who has always been a strong advocate of the boulevard and has favored the special session of Legislature, spoke of its wonderful advantages to the State. He referred to his recent southern trip, where Delaware was becoming so widely known as the great Boulevard State. Wherever he went, he was with inquiries relative to this boulevard.

He favored giving General Armstrong any reasonable legislation, and he was sure nothing else would expedite the work and secure its completion.

General Armstrong offered the following resolutions:

Whereas, the Board of Trade of the City of Wilmington desires an expression of opinion on the boulevard from the town councils and boards of trade and the citizens of the State, and

Whereas, there appears to be an inclination in some sections of the State, to inject a political phase to what we believe to be a generous and business-like proposition.

Therefore, be it resolved, that this meeting, composed of the members of the Board of Trade and the citizens of the Town of Newark and vicinity, do deprecate the action of those attempting to place the question in the realm of politics, and

Be it further resolved, that this meeting express its heartiest approval of the building of the boulevard and pledge its support and assistance to the enactment of any measures necessary to its speedy completion, and

Be it further resolved, that a copy of these resolutions be forwarded to Mr. T. Coleman duPont, the Senator and the Representative of this district, and the Wilmington Board of Trade.

Dr. Kollock, Dr. Harter, Prof. Hayward and others made favorable comments.

The resolutions were adopted without a dissenting vote.

On Friday last the High School baseball team journeyed to Elkton and played a tie game with the High School team of that place. The game was called in the eighth inning to allow the Newark boys to catch a train, the score standing seven to seven. Holton, the High School's star catcher, made his debut as a twirler and pitched a creditable game, which, with proper support, would have resulted in an easy victory for the Newark boys. During the eight innings that he occupied the mound, Holton allowed the hard hitting Elkton bats but four scratch hits, fanned nine men, had four assists, and three put outs. Green hit the ball hard for the Newark team and did some clever base running that made the Elkton catcher sit up and take notice.

On Saturday afternoon the duPont Academy team of Wilmington visited this town and were defeated by the High School boys in one of the most exciting games ever witnessed on the college diamond. The game was full of snappy plays and greatly pleased the large crowd who had turned out to witness the game. The final score was six to five, the Newark boys winning out in their half of the ninth. The features of the game were the base hitting of Green and Crowder for the High School, and the pitching of Glynn for duPont.

This Saturday the High School will have as the attraction, the Lower High School nine. The two teams have never met and a good game is expected. The Newark boys will play a strictly High School team and the battery will probably be Holton, Green and Altman. The boys think that the new diamond of Delaware avenue will be finished by that date, and will expect a large crowd to witness the first game on Newark's first ball park. They are planning to have Abner Hossinger toss out the first ball, which should also be an attraction.

It is mainly through the efforts of the High School that Newark is now able to boast of a ball park, and the citizens should show their appreciation by turning out to witness the boys to victory. No admission will be charged.

UNIFORMS ORDERED

A business meeting of Minnie India band, No. 22, I. O. R. M., was held on Friday evening, April 19. The members were measured for their new uniforms, which they expect to have here by May 9.

H. C. Herdman was elected leader of the band, to succeed Roland Cameron. Clarence Denny was appointed assistant leader.

AGRICULTURAL NOTES

Mr. F. F. Walker, '13, put into practical use some of his theoretical knowledge during the past week, in pruning the apple orchard owned by Dr. Bryan Murray, on the Depot road.

Prof. McCue will address the Women's New-Century Club at Laurel on Thursday afternoon of this week. On Friday he will go to visit the farm of Mr. Wallace Handy, of Milford, and assist him in working out a farm policy.

Dr. Reed spent the Easter holidays with his family in Elmira. He hopes to have his family with him in Newark by the last of June.

Prof. Hayward has accepted an invitation to judge at the horse and cattle show held by the McCormick Estate at Hogestown, near Harrisburg, Pa., on the 5th and 6th of June.

Mr. S. H. Derby, a member of the Agricultural Committee of the Board of Trustees, has accepted an invitation to be one of the speakers on Farmers' Day, June 17th.

The Horticultural Department has finished pruning the peach and apple orchards at the College farm. Early potatoes have been planted by both the Horticultural and Agronomy Departments. Oats for the variety tests have been sown, but the season is backward this year. In 1910 in the same field were sown on March 13th.

The laboratory on the second floor of the Experiment Station building is being fitted up to accommodate Prof. Mann's work in Soil Bacteriology.

On account of the low temperature, the shearing of sheep on the College farm is unusually late. One was shorn last week, a Cotswold ewe, which yielded a 17 pound fleece.

The two Percheron colts that have been raised on the farm are now being worked daily. One is a three-year-old that weighs 1,650 pounds. The other is two years old and weighs about 1,350 pounds.

COMPLETE BASE BALL SCHEDULE

ACTION OF LEAGUE PLEASES NEWARK

At a meeting of the Newark baseball club, held last Saturday afternoon, the field to be used during the coming season was selected and a committee appointed to put this in condition. The games will be played on the field on Delaware avenue, in the rear of the Washington House. It is proposed to build a grandstand that will seat from 300 to 500 persons.

Everyone is pleased over the action of the Tri-county League at a recent meeting held in Havre de Grace, recently, when it was decided to allow "Vic" Willis to pitch a limited number of games for the Newark team. It was agreed that Willis might pitch in 14 games, which is just half of those on the schedule for the season.

In addition to Willis, the pitchers will be George Murray and "Lefty" Geoghegan. Under the rules of the league, each team is allowed to go outside of a circuit limit from the town for one player, and in case Scott Gregg, last year's star first baseman, does not return, Manager Marsey may look for some one for that position. The remainder of the club will be about the same as last year; Del Willis, second; Morris, shortstop; Jackson, third; Herdman, Montgomery, Ellison and Roberts, in the outfield.

At the last meeting of the league rules and by-laws were adopted and the schedule approved. Newark opens the season in Elk Mills, on May 4, and Elk Mills comes to Newark on May 11. The schedule fixes games for Saturdays and holidays. A complete list of the games follows:

Titanic

Word of meaning, new and vibrant
Heaven-cained of death and woe.
Man will cherish more his brother,
Feel less hatred toward his foe.

Wondrous lessons—sweet and powerful,
Thus enfolded by our Lord:
All the world will be richer
Through new meaning of that word.

MEMORIAL SERVICES

The Sabbath following the Titanic disaster was marked in the churches of the town by memorial services and addresses appropriate to the occasion.

At the evening service in the Presbyterian Church the beautiful old hymns, "Rock of Ages," "Nearer, My God To Thee" and the comforting "Abide With Me," were sung. The burial service for the sea was read, and followed by a short address.

A similar service was held in the M. E. church of the town.

SCHOOL ELECTION

School election of districts Nos. 29, 30, 41, 41½, will be held in the Academy Building, on Saturday, April 27. The polls will open at 2 o'clock.

One member of the Board of Education, to serve for three years, will be elected. Dr. Joel S. Gillman, whose term expires, will in all probability be elected. In fact, no other candidate has been mentioned. Friends of Dr. Gillman have asked the privilege of using his name and has election, without opposition, is assured.

It is reported that Newark will be given some rare treats from the Keith talent.

The Civic Committee of the New Century Club is about to engage in an active campaign for civic improvement. Friday, May 3, has been set aside as "street cleaning day," and all citizens are urged to co-operate in making the plan a great success. Town Council will provide teams to collect trash, if placed along the curb. Teams will start from each end of the town, and rubbish must be placed during the morning to make sure of collection.

Teachers of Delaware will be given an opportunity next Saturday to qualify for permanent certificates. THE HIGH SCHOOL PROBLEM

Groups of the discussion of the High School problem which interested our readers in recent issues, we reprint the following clippings from an excellent article from The Saturday Evening Post, written by the principal of the William Penn High School, Philadelphia:

All honor to the classics and to the scheme of education for which they stand. All honor to the "dead" languages, crystallized into everlasting life by the immortal bard and philosophers at whose feet all succeeding ages have been enlightened. From these languages our seers have learned their own; from them they have absorbed the world-stories that all modern literatures have repeated in endless variation. The race has needed and still needs this type of education; but the evolutionary social and industrial conditions of today are forcing upon us a new type of education, equally necessary. Hence the educational "Insurgents;" hence the "Buds and Frills;" hence the shibboleth of "the ninety-five per cent.;" hence President G. Stanley Hall and Professor John Dewey.

The problems of the two types of education might be summarized as follows:

- The old school served—
- A rural population.
- A few boys destined for the professions.
- Boys made resourceful and industrious by farm work.
- Socially and mentally homogeneous sons of American parents.
- A few thousand boys zealous for learning in preparation for a definite life purpose.
- A simple social order, with few variations and few problems.
- The new school serves—
- An urban population.
- All sorts of boys—destined for every occupation.
- City boys, who have never been responsible for a single task.
- Sons of every nation under heaven, as heterogeneous as an election-day crowd.
- A great many thousand boys, mostly unambitious and purposeless.
- A highly complex social order, with innumerable activities and interdependent problems.
- In spite of this, contrast, the academic high school of today is largely the old school. It is time for it to wake up to its new problems.

The boy whose ambition brought him to the old school needs of its vigorous book training. The difficulties of Latin and Greek set him a mental task commensurate with the physical trials he had overcome from tender years. If he proved able to cope with only physical difficulties, he went back to the farm; so Latin and Greek performed excellent service as a fine-meshed sieve. If he found joy in mental achievement, as he had in the rough bodily struggle of the country-side, he went on to intellectual mastery, growing stronger with every victory. It was the problem of the old-time learning to make him a leader!

The immature boy, emerging from the eighth grade in the grammar school today, goes to the high school generally because his friends go there and because he has nothing better to do. He has no definite purpose, little ambition, no sense of personal responsibility, no resourcefulness. His life has been one long response to a thousand appeals to his desire for novelty and amusement. It is the problem of the new school to make him the best citizen possible!

Our first question in making useful citizens out of these youngsters is not how to teach them certain traditional studies. In no school subject is there a sacramental virtue that makes it an indispensable means of intellectual salvation. Let us remember, too, that we have boys of every kind of temperament, from every kind of home, with every kind of ability—and no two alike. The high school has a chance to help them for a period amounting to a few months to four years. Their value to the community which is paying for the high school depends on their integrity, their economic efficiency, and their militant civic righteousness. Isn't it a fair proposition that the school should study its raw material and the kind of product the market needs, and that it should turn out as nearly one hundred per cent. of marketable goods as the conditions will permit?

Of our hundred boys, many are hopelessly lost, so far as the first term's work goes, at the end of the first six weeks. Then they begin to drop out.

HIGH SCHOOL PROBLEMS

 United States Commissioner of Education, forty-one boys will not return the second year; sixty-two of the original hundred will not return the third, and seventy-six will not return the fourth year. Of the twenty-four left, somewhere from five to ten will go to college. Here, then, are the American Beauty roses, for which we have pinched off ninety to ninety-five buds. And after all our trouble the college tells us that of these only one is really a rose and that the rest are really smilax-leaves.

"Please, Professor Virgil, may I drop Latin and algebra? When I entered I expected to go through school and go on to college; but my father died last summer. My mother says that if I will sell papers this winter she will try to keep me in school until June. Then I must get a job and help support my younger brothers and sisters. I would like to take something that will count the next June."

Then you gave the boy a nice fatherly talk, wherein you painted a picture of the beauty of culture and the mystic of mental discipline on a canvas already filled with computations of rent, potatoes and soil. You ended your dissertation with a casual remark that you could not think of letting him drop these subjects, anyway, because your first official duty is to uphold the standard of the school. Maybe, under your breath, you were cursing the whole culture, mental discipline, and upholding the standard and wish you could give the boy what he needed to help him meet his problem; but if you were diplomatic you held your peace—and your job.

The high school is failing to solve its social problem for two reasons: first, because it is too narrow; second, because the method and scope of its teaching is cramped into the Chinese shoe of tradition. The one thing it is trying hardest to do is to meet the entrance requirements of the colleges. Though the college has broadened its own curriculum so as to meet all the varied demands of our complicated social and industrial order, it is only beginning to accept for preparation anything but the old subjects—language, mathematics, science and history. Until the college broadens the scope of their entrance requirements, the high school will be greatly narrowed for hundreds of thousands of pupils who will never see the inside of college halls.

The first essential of any program of studies is proper provision for the mother tongue. At present, under the guidance of the college professors, we are dissecting under our pedantic microscope a few of our great literary masterpieces, classifying their qualities of style, writing learned dissertations in school boy English on questions about which no school boy cares a cent, learning some facts about the lives of their authors, and rendering most of our pupils immune to any appeals of noble sentiment in prose or verse they might run across in their journeys in the world. If on the other hand, we began with the boy who, as Lowell says is occasionally

Known to unbind or to reveal once in base, hockey, marbles, or kick up the devil once we should perhaps read Sherlock Holmes first; but we should certainly find a short road to Shakespeare and Scott. Then, instead of classifying qualities of style or smothering the author with philological exegesis, we should try to develop in the boy an unflinching appetite for great literature that will prove a moral resource and a self-impelling means of self-education.

We should train him to express himself orally; to make complete sentences; to arrange his ideas in coherent order; to come to the point. We should try to get him to sound his final consonants, form his vowels, modulate his voice—in other words speak like a gentleman. We should insist that he learn to write a letter that cannot be misunderstood; that he give a clear account of his own experiences; that he express his opinions in convincing and forceful English. If he does this we shall forgive him if he never tries to rival Scott's story of the fall of Torquell-stone, or if he hasn't a single idea on The Emotional Element in Lycidas.

The writer cites an instance of fifty boys—typical school-boys—put to work in a shop, the plan failing to reach only one. The experiment proved that "the old-line course of study had nothing for these boys. The school was teaching them only idleness."

The fifty boys who went to making furniture were also taught a new type of civics. They tackled the city government first. They dug up the city charter, interviewed the heads of city departments, found out a lot about policemen, firemen, school teachers, ward bosses, the dominant party organization, and the commission form of government. So far as the records of the school revealed, not a boy of the fifty had ever absorbed a school book except through the physical integument; but for once that crowd began to study. Was it worth while for those boys to work in the shop—to investigate the government in which they were to have a voice? At that time—three years ago—there was not a college east of Chicago that would give them a minute's entrance credit on fair terms for any of this work.

If it is true, then, that the public needs a new kind of service from the boys in the high school, and that the boys need the training that will enable them to give that service, it is up to the high school to broaden its course and modernize its methods.

- Isn't it true that—
1. The public is paying for the high schools?
  2. The public is therefore entitled to the largest possible service to all the people?
  3. The high schools' largest service is the best possible training for economic efficiency, good citizenship, and full and complete living for all its pupils?

INDOOR SEASON CLOSED

Probably the most successful indoor season that the Organized Militia has ever had was brought to a close last Friday evening, when the team representing the second battalion won from that representing the first, by the narrow margin of five points.

The series of indoor matches inaugurated last year have been productive of much good in creating interest among both officers and men for indoor rifle practice.

The last match of the series was held last Friday evening. The team representing the first battalion under Major J. Warner Reed, fired its score first making a total of 1535 out of a possible 2000. The team of the second battalion, under the direction of Major W. E. Lank, followed, making a score 1540 out of a possible 2000.

The second battalion will be awarded the battalion team trophy, a bronze plaque which will be retained by them for one year, when it will be competed for again.

TITANIC

A week ago, the name of the ocean of the world. Today, the word Titanic is one of the master words of the world. Indeed, in a few hours, it has become a part of the universal language. Divine thought, concentrated by deeds, sublime, it links with infinite and Titanic becomes the word of the century, symbol of the best that is in humanity. It is a word, not of character. It will make for character. Monuments and marble shafts bring to mind no other examples of love, of honor, of heroism or of sacrifice, than does this noble word, "Titanic."

With none of the glory and glamor of war, with none of the morbid sweetness of martyrdom, those men gave those they love to God and safety and themselves to God and eternity.

Cyber and men, love better our fellowman and feel that at the final test, man is the same hero and the man, after all.

To one who loves the sea, it most appeals. The beautiful sadness of meeting death at sea—the fights, the music and the laughter, transformed to stars, Neptune's dirge and tears.

The ship is sinking. 'Tis midnight at sea. Mingling with its surge comes, "Nearer My God to Thee."

The world is better today than ever before, by the consecration of the word TITANIC.

INTRODUCTION TO POLITICAL FACTS

In another column, we print in detail, the record of Hon. William H. Heald, during his first session in Congress. These reports are taken from the Congressional Record. We shall continue to print these reports each week.

Mr. Heald is a candidate for reelection for the third term.

In view of the two-term precedent in this State, he must base his claim for this nomination on a record that merits the confidence of the voters. And unless his record proves him to be of more use to the State than he is now credited with, he cannot expect the support of the people.

Those in charge of the party's organization, should find the sentiments of the rank and file. Rather, they should recognize it. Kent and Sussex counties are almost unanimous in their opposition to his nomination. New Castle county, outside of Wilmington, is opposed to him—and even there, right under the shadow of the organization there is dissatisfaction.

This opposition is coming not from those who oppose organization, but from those who mingle among the voters and realize the danger of forcing his nomination, which is threatened in some quarters.

It is not a question of New Castle county. Kent county should, in all fairness, as well as from a standpoint of practical politics and party success, have the choice. If she wants the Congressman, with the consent of Sussex, New Castle has a candidate for Governor, who will sweep the State.

It's not a question of Congressman or Governor or Attorney General—satisfying the ambitions of one office-seeker or the success of one party leader—having his personal choice—it is a question of a ticket that will meet the needs of the hour and hold the State in the Republican ranks.

To meet that need and to gain that end, we and they must abide by the decision of the party at large.

Ask the members of the last Legislature, ask the chairman of every hundred committee in the State and you will have an overwhelming opposition to Mr. Heald.

These statements are not based on supposition, on any one man's personal ambition, nor on any antagonism against Mr. Heald and those favoring him. They are based on facts. And these facts we propose to print for the information of our readers.

PEOPLES' COLUMN

By word of repetition, let us explain the People's Column. This column in The Post is given to the public, so that every man who has the nerve to start a paper may have the privilege and joy of seeing himself in print. Words and comments by the citizens of a town like Newark, can be of much good. It is indeed to be regretted that this privilege is not taken advantage of.

We have given it to our readers and have invited them to take advantage of it. Business men, masters and teachers, in fact, almost every citizen has a thought or an idea that would prove toward the community's betterment. A suggestion or a bit of kindly criticism does us all good.

The criticism in this column may be sharp, but never a reflection or questioning of a personal character.

If harsh criticism is needed, we believe in giving it and The Post comes out on Wednesday. It is not a Sunday school paper, nor does it carry patent medicine advertisements, like most of them. But we have a sense of self-respect and do not intend to be used as a dagger to strike a man in the back. If you want to expose a man, question his character—well and good. But do it over your signature.

We have a letter in this character this week and refuse to publish it on this account.

Anonymous letters are often good and timely. Their effect is more beneficial, at times, without the writer's signature. But when you question the integrity of the man—stand back of it. Don't use us.

MAKE IT A SUCCESS

The Civic Committee, under the chairmanship of Mrs. H. L. Bonham, has announced May 3 as Town Cleaning Day. After the success of last year, it is hoped that the residents will co-operate with those in charge of this work.

We would suggest that the committee give notice of the time the teams will start the collection. Last year several families put out their boxes after the teams had gone. This could be remedied by stating the hours during which collections will be made.

PEOPLES' COLUMN

MISTAKE CORRECTED

Mr. Editor: There are some mistakes in last week's Post in regard to the delegation of teachers who appeared before the State Board of Education in Dover, April 12.

Miss Mary Ratledge, assistant principal of the New Castle High School and the writer appeared before the board in behalf of the New Castle county teachers who have taught ten years and hope to receive permanent certificates.

Our county schools, both town and rural, average almost ten months. But as the minimum is seven months for the State, we maintain that a teacher who has taught ten months yearly for seven years has gained experience equal to that of the teacher who has taught seven months yearly for ten years.

Mr. Brady did not oppose this view of the matter, at all. In fact, he advanced the idea that the ten months' teacher would devote a portion of the remaining two months to study and self-improvement, rather than the seven months' teacher, who would, of necessity seek other work during the long vacation.

The matter was referred to the committee on teachers for final decision.

I am sure you will be pleased to make the correction.

Annie P. Newman,
Monteban, Del., April 22, 1912.

The ladies of Ebenezer will give one of the socials for which they are famous, in the church on Thursday, April 25. A drama entitled, "The Chaperon," will be presented by local talent.

IMPRESSIONS FROM THE TITANIC DISASTER

"There must be a joy in our hearts that these men and women, when they met the supreme test, faced it in such a manner. Their example on board that sinking ship has made the world richer, has given this generation a greater heritage to leave to those generations to come. We can pay our reverent devotion to those brave men and women who died in the sinking of the Titanic."—Dr. William T. Manning, Trinity Church, New York.

"Such courage, self-sacrifice, consideration for others and calmness in the face of inevitable death afford sublime examples of noble conduct. The valiancy of the American gentleman toward women and children was never more gloriously displayed than in that line of brave men who kept the deck while the boats were filled, and who sank with the ship, undaunted to the end. Women, equally brave, proved that love is stronger than death."—Dr. John L. Lee, Pastor of the Universalist Church of the Restoration, New York.

"From those who have gone not to return has come a message of a courage, of a heroism, of a sacrificial bravery of the finest and highest type; not the courage of the soldier on the field of battle, but a courage greater than that—the courage of those who were facing and feeling then the anguish of separation from all that made their lives on earth dear and precious to them."—Bishop Greer, Cathedral of St. John the Divine, New York.

"Self-sacrifice, the very essence of Christ's teachings, prompted them to stand by with death facing them, while their wives and children took to the boats. Like men they died, like true Christians they stood heroically in the presence of death and helped the weaker to escape. "Those who survive them have this consoling thought: That they did in the end as Christ counseled. What a joy it is to know that one's own kin has gone from our midst with the mark of a true Christian hero on his brow."—Bishop Rhineland, Philadelphia.

FARM AND GARDEN SEED
ALL NEW SEED FIRST SEASON

Without a doubt, the most important item for the consideration of the farmer is the selection of SEED. He may have his ground in the highest state of cultivation, according to the most approved methods--but if he plants a poor seed, the crop is a failure and the year's work is lost.

We know now that the seed must not only germinate but must have strong vitality--if we expect a healthy growth

This means, not only a well selected variety but a seed from LAST YEAR'S CROP.

(Onion seed two year's old will come up but will not give you as good crop as one year old seed.)

Seed from Griffith and Turner

I have just received a fine lot of selected seed from Griffith and Turner of Baltimore. This being my first season, you are certainly guarded from old seed. That's important. You know it even better than I do.

This firm is well established and their seed are well adapted to this section.

W. C. T. U. BANQUET
 The annual banquet of the W. C. T. U. of New Castle county was held at the Y. W. C. A., Wilmington, last Thursday evening. 100 members and guests assembled around the banquet board.

Those at the speakers' table included Rev. Anna Shaw, on the right of Mrs. Mary B. Donnell, county president; Prof. Francis H. Greene, of West Chester, Pa., speaker of the evening; on the left Mrs. John A. Cranston, Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Spaid, Mrs. H. C. Meares, Mrs. L. W. Emerson and Miss Rieta Emerson, of Baltimore; Miss Lily Williams, Ashton R. Tatum and Mrs. George Morgan, of Philadelphia.

"Woman Suffrage Against the Liquor Traffic" was the idea of the evening. Prof. Greene, the first speaker, believes the vote to be the best weapon to kill the saloon. "The temperance question will be closed," he said, "when Christians do their duty and when women have a vote."

Rev. Anna Shaw, who spoke briefly, among other sayings declared women to be "Injustice, for woman and rewarder, well after all." About fifteen ladies from Newark were present.

The county convention will be held in Marshallton M. E. Church the latter part of May.

A reception was given last Saturday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Cranston, in honor of the ministers of Stanton M. E. Church—Howard E. Emnis and J. L. Hill. Mr. Emnis will preach at the church until June when Mr. Hill will take up the duties. Mr. Emnis will graduate from Delaware this June. He was the successful pastor at Stanton in 1910.

The exhibition is a greater success than any other and more money for the fair. All of these things have been planned to create a fair of interest in the State. ## BURNS BROS. HAVRE DE GRACE, MD.

Cecil County Letter

Elkton social circles were given a surprise on Sunday, when informed of the marriage in Camden, N. J., on Saturday, of Mr. Rufus E. Bowland, son of Rufus D. Bowland, Deputy Register of Wills and Miss Elizabeth Drennen, daughter of Manly Drennen, former Clerk of the Circuit Court.

The wedding of Miss Mary Christina Fenchel and Mr. John Q. A. Stewart, of Elk Mills, is set for today, (Wednesday), at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Fenchel, near Bell Hill.

Elkton, after all, will not hold a town election this year, and the present members of Town Council will hold over.

The newly completed home of James A. and William Holland, near Sharp's Cemetery, in the Fair Hill section, was burned with its contents on the night of April 14.

The Seniors of the Cecil County High School gave a pleasant dance, attended by about twenty couples, in Mechanics' Hall, Elkton, on Thursday evening with music by Jacobs' orchestra.

Big Elk School pupils will hold a festival for its benefit on Thursday evening, April 25.

Edward W. Taylor, the well known Elkton liveryman, was severely kicked on the leg below the knee by a horse which he was passing in its stall, at one of the Philadelphia bazars one day last week.

The State Public Service or Utilities Commission has sanctioned the proposed issue of $76,000 in bonds by the Maryland Water Company, of Elkton, for acquiring the Head of Elk Mills property, installing a filter system and making other improvements to its plant.

Maryland schools will observe Friday, April 26, as "Arbor Day" with exercises prescribed by the State Board of Education.

The several brands of Ground Bone were found to have the following degrees of fineness, the figures denoting the percentage of "Fine" Bone, or that which passes the 85 mesh sieve: No. 1082-60 per cent; No. 1100-38 per cent.

Copies of this bulletin may be had free of cost by applying to Delaware College, Newark, Delaware, November 25, 1911.

amendment to the River and Harbor Bill appropriating $8,200 for dredging Elk River from Cedar Point to Elkton. If the amendment carries by concurrence of both Houses of Congress, the channel of the Big Elk will be saved for the time at least. With the closing of the channel Elkton would be likely to lose its leading industry, the Rubber Pulp Mill.

Clark and Wilson delegates have filed nomination papers in Cecil county for the coming Presidential primaries on May 6. The Crothers or "Organization" wing of the party will back Wilson, and the "Antis" Clark. The "Antis" had several shades the best of it in the gubernatorial primaries last August. Harman delegates will also be voted for in several other sections of the State.

The wedding of Miss Mary Beatrice Smith, daughter of the late William J. Smith, of Elkton, and Mr. Emil Roy James, of Aberdeen Md., took place in Elkton M. E. Church on Wednesday evening, April 17, at 6:30 o'clock.

John P. Smith, recently of St. John's Church, Lewisville, now of Kenton, Del., made of the bride, and Rev. E. P. Roberts, the pastor officiated. The bride's brother, Lieutenant John C. Smith, U. S. M.

C. gave her away. Miss Hannah

Sykes, of Elliott City, Md., was maid of honor and the bridesmaids were the Misses Edith Scott, Ella Lewis, Jean McEhoyne, Harriett Wahlesley, Estelle Smith and Eugenia Brown. Mr. Manderson James, the groom's brother, was best man and Messrs. Henry L. Constable, Dr. H. A. Mitchell, David Scott, Stanley Evans, Cecil Marven, of Wilmington, and Roland I. Mitchell, of Aberdeen, were the ushers. Guests from Philadelphia, Wilmington, Baltimore, Washington, Cecil and Hartford counties witnessed the ceremony and attended the reception held at the home of the bride's mother, on East Main street. Mr. and Mrs. James took a wedding trip South and will reside in Aberdeen.

DISTINGUISHED GUEST IN WILMINGTON

Rev. Anna Howard Shaw, head of the equal suffrage movement of America, spoke in Grace Social Hall, Wilmington, last Thursday afternoon.

Dr. Shaw in the main part of her address concerned herself with woman's right to a place in the political and industrial world. She recalled that woman began as the worker, man as the protector and slayer of a man to keep them in pure food they dismissed him.

Miss Jennie Moore was taken to the Homeopathic Hospital, Wilmington, last Friday, where she underwent an operation on the ankle. She is reported doing well.

lions exploiting her peculiar work—spinning, weaving, preserving, making garments. When she did those things in her home she controlled her hours of work, her safeguarded machinery and her prices; now, in making these things in factories, she must conform to the conditions set by the owners. Also, the government has taken from women the power to govern their children—they must employ a licensed doctor, their children must go to school, they cannot select the studies, they must be vaccinated whether she approves it or not—wherefore, if manufacturers make the conditions of labor, and government mothers the children, should not the woman have a hand in government? Especially does the wage-earning woman need the vote.

Jane Addams says that what she has done is a trifle compared to what she could have done with a vote. Dr. Shaw says it took members of Congress 17 years to make a law to keep themselves from being poisoned, and then when they got a man to keep them in pure food they dismissed him.

Dr. Shaw in the main part of her address concerned herself with woman's right to a place in the political and industrial world. She recalled that woman began as the worker, man as the protector and slayer of a man to keep them in pure food they dismissed him.

Miss Jennie Moore was taken to the Homeopathic Hospital, Wilmington, last Friday, where she underwent an operation on the ankle. She is reported doing well.

Official Inspection of Brands of Fertilizers

Offered For Sale in Delaware in the Fall of 1911.

By Charles L. Penny, State Chemist.

The following tables show in each brand the guaranteed and the actual analysis expressed as percentages of the various elements of the fertilizer, with separate and combined. The "Guaranteed Analysis" gives in order the Ammonia, Available Phosphoric Acid and Potash, except that in the case of untreated bones the Total Phosphoric Acid is meant instead of the Available. Brands that fall below the guarantee in one constituent but that make up the deficiency by excess in any other, thus giving full value are marked "FV" at the right of the table.

Table with columns: No., Name of Manufacturer and Brand, Where Sampled, Guar. Analysis (Ammonia, Avail. Phos. Ac., Insol. Phos., Potash), Percentages Found (Ammonia, Avail. Phos. Ac., Insol. Phos., Potash), Estimated Value Per Ton (Ammonia, Total Phos. Ac., Potash, Total Value).
