PREVENTING MASTITIS IN DAIRY COWS

Diagnosis Is Offered By U. Of D.

Penicillin is proving highly valuable in Delaware as a treatment for mastitis in dairy cows. But treatment will not solve the mastitis problem unless it is combined with good herd management, says E. S. Biddle, mastitis specialist of the State Board of Agriculture.

Biddle says the first thing to do in starting a mastitis control program is to identify all the infected cows in the herd by taking milk samples from each cow and submitting the samples for laboratory examination.

Since the establishment of the Mastitis Diagnostic Laboratory at the University of Delaware an increasing number of dairymen have been making use of this service. Biddle estimates that there are still many infected cows still to be identified.

With the identification of infected cows, treatment should be according to the type of mastitis infection shown in the test. Even cows that have been treated successfully can become re-infected with mastitis-producing bacteria. To guard against reinfection cows should be handled with care and should be provided with clean, roomy, comfortable quarters.

Never adding replacements to the dairy herd until they have been shown to be free from mastitis infection is still another factor in good herd management in providing a practical way to fight mastitis.

Dairymen who desire the services of the mastitis control laboratory in identifying infected cows in their herds should contact their county agricultural agent or write the Mastitis Diagnostic Laboratory, University of Delaware, Newark.

FARM MOTOR NEEDS CARE

Upkeep Vital, Says J. Bell

Increased use of machinery on farms means time saved in operations, and to make the most of these time savings farmers should not neglect their farm motors, says Jack F. Bell, extension agricultural engineer.

He particularly calls attention to electric motors on farms. These motors in order to function properly must have their wires and other parts well insulated from each other where insulation is intended and must form a complete electric circuit. Motors must also be kept free from foreign material so that they can radiate the heat that is generated in their windings.

Of all the materials used in a motor, the insulating materials have the shortest life. They are likely to be injured by moisture, excessive heat, oil, salt and acids. Motors should be located so that the insulating materials will be clean and dry.

Motors located in damp places such as basements, barns or milk houses should not be allowed to remain idle for a long period because of the effect of moisture on the insulation.

Proper lubrication is also an important factor in the operation of an electric motor. Most farm motors have either sleeve or ball bearings. Bearings may be lubricated with either grease or oil. Oil lubricated bearings are usually built with reservoirs that will hold enough oil for several weeks of operation, but daily inspection of the oil and oil mechanism is recommended.

DAUGHTERS OF PATRIOTS END SEASON

Unit To Send Textbooks To Needy Areas

A luncheon meeting of the Daughters of Founders and Patriots of America was held at Miss McConnell's Wilmington, Delaware, on June 9, with Mrs. Glenn S. Skinner and Miss Betty Newkirk, as co-hostesses.

At the opening business session, the president, Mrs. Edward W. Cooch, spoke of the need for books in the schools in the southern mountain section of the United States. Mrs. Ernest Caro and Mrs. Carlton Bardsley, of Wilmington, promised to send a box of books to these approved schools, while the Newark members agreed to do likewise.

Mrs. Harry Boden, chairman of Hidden History Committee, spoke of the "Peach" story by Miss Elizabeth Bootes Clark which the unit plans to have edited, printed and placed in the public schools throughout the State.

Mrs. Glenn S. Skinner said copies of the Tombstone Records of Delaware have been sent to the National Society, to the Public Archives and to the Historical Society. The list will be available to those interested, both in Dover and Wilmington.

Miss Betty Newkirk reported on the General Court, held in Washington, May 14 and 15th. Members of the National Society, Daughters of Founders and Patriots of America were invited to attend a reception and tea at the White House, preceding their dinner on the night of May 14th.

Those from the Delaware group attending were: Mrs. Edward W. Cooch, Cooch's Bridge; Miss Mary R. deVou, Wilmington; Miss Betty Newkirk, Wilmington; Mrs. Leonard G. Rundstrom, Atlantic City.

Mrs. Harry Clark Boden attended the Daughters of Founders and Patriots dinner in Washington as the guest of the Delaware Society.

This is the last meeting of the Delaware group for the current season. The next meeting will be held in October, when a full schedule of business will be resumed.

World Consumption Of Cotton Exceeds Output

World cotton consumption is well above production, the Agriculture Department said recently in reporting a price advance of nearly a cent over last week.

It estimated world consumption during the current season will be about 27,500,000 bales and that the 1947 crop will be less than 21,500,000 bales.

PREVENTION OF MILDEW ON CLOTHES

Hot Humid Weather Is Cause

The humid summer weather may cause mildew damage to household goods that are stored in cellars and closets. This troublesome stain is caused by molds which grow on any material from which they can get enough food. They flourish in damp, poorly aired and lighted places, especially in cellars, in clothing closets, on shower curtains and in damp clothes rolled up for ironing.

Several preventive measures against mildew are suggested by Miss Adeline Hoffman, extension clothing specialist for the University of Delaware. The best way to prevent mildew is to keep things dry. If you cannot dry the house by airing it, heat with a furnace, stove or electric reflector for a short time. Then use an electric fan to drive the warmed air out the windows and doors.

Dry towels and other articles before throwing them into the hamper. Wash out dishcloths and hang them to dry. Stretch out wet shower curtains to dry. Sprinkle for ironing only those articles that can be finished at one time and shake out those not ironed.

Musty odors may be combated by chemicals. Chloride of lime, sprinkled over the basement floor, is a good deodorant and disinfectant. Open jars of calcium chloride placed in closets or storage spaces, will take up moisture, but must be replaced when the solid chloride becomes liquid.

Clean textiles before storing. Soiled clothing and household textiles are more likely to mildew than clean ones. Do not leave sizing or laundry starch in fabrics to be stored, and never store textiles in a damp basement.

Fabrics such as cotton shower curtains, awnings, tents, sails, etc., may be treated with a mildew-resistant finish, available in drug and department stores. Be cautious in using them on clothing, for they may irritate the skin.

For information on removing mildew and a mildew-resistance process that can be carried out at home, write to the Office of Information, Extension Service, Newark, Del.

University Officials Attending Conference

Four officials of the University of Delaware are attending sessions of the American Society for Engineering Education in Minneapolis, Minn., which began Tuesday and will conclude Saturday.

Dr. Allan P. Colburn, professor of chemical engineering, will present a paper on "The Teaching of a Graduate Course in Distillation" and James L. Clower, professor of mechanical engineering, will present a paper on "Are Professors Qualified to Teach Machine Design?"

Also attending the conference will be Dr. William S. Carlson, president of the university, and Dean David L. Arm, of the School of Engineering.

Personal Long-Term Savings Hit New High

Long-term savings of individuals in the first quarter this year increased by about $3,000,000,000 to reach an all-time high of $154,600,000,000 on March 31, the Institute of Life Insurance estimated recently.

The greatest single contribution to the growth of savings in the first quarter, the institute stated, was made up by U. S. Savings Bonds. Ownership of these securities showed a net increase of $1,200,000,000, compared with a net gain of $1,500,000,000 in all 1946.

"The trend in savings bond ownership is significant," the institute said, "not only as it relates to individual thrift and welfare but because of its importance to the efforts to broaden the ownership of the public debt among individuals and non-banking investors as against the banking system."

Replying to the numerous inquiries received daily, we regret that publication of a 1947 telephone directory for Newark has been impossible so far . . . but we hope to issue a new local book this fall—at which time copies will be available to all phone subscribers.

Monday was the third consecutive "dark" day at Delaware Park to permit the race association's thirty day meet to include the Saturday following July Fourth . . . this is by far a greatly exaggerated statement, however, as there have been considerably more than three "dark" days for us . . . and most improvers of the breed we enjoy the sport of kings—two bucks worth.

Attendance at the Stanton oval, which has been very meagre during weekdays, will undoubtedly show a decided increase from this week-end on—due to the closing of the Atlantic City track, on Thursday.

Newark Lions Club is to be congratulated for installation of the seats on lawn of the old school building, next to the Newark Trust Company, where weary shoppers and just plain loafers may sit and while away the time.

Charley Schwartz the proud father of twins born last Thursday.

The 1947 edition of the KRAWEN, Newark High School yearbook, a credit to its staff and Faculty Advisor Stanley Gibbs. Despite being printed by offset, the book is attractively printed, replete with photos and pertinent data, and originally designed.

Life is like an evening gown . . . it's what you put into it that counts.

Sammy Sneed blew a three foot putt to lose the National Open tourney, at St. Louis, to Lew Worsham . . .

Beth's Ben Hogan once took eleven strokes on a three-par hole . . . all of which just shows to you that anything can happen even to the best of 'em.

Newark's Davey Douglas ran a foul of officials before the tourney opened by having his clubs declared illegal, along with some 40 other pros, and being forced to play with a new set of sticks . . . this plus the fact that he was considerably bothered by a pulled tendon in his wrist undoubtedly accounts for his poor showing for Dave has been flashing superior form this summer.

Porky Oliver, Delaware's other representative, tied with Bobby Locke for third honors, winning $900 as his half of the $1,000 third and $800 fourth money.

The Newark Country Club championship tourney, now under way, will probably wind up with Bob Stewart, Jr., and George Anderson meeting in the finals . . . we could predict the winner, but we won't.

Newark High School Class of 1947 wishes to extend its thanks to the Veterans' Club for the use of fixtures at their recent exercises. The Vets Club, a rather new organization here, is making rapid progress and is to be commended for its progressive program.

Sinclair Lewis' best-selling novel, "Kingsblood Royal" has failed utterly to awaken any interest in our young heart . . . but, coming from the South one could hardly expect us to appreciate its text although we are only about half through the book and MAY change our opinion if we can muster enough perseverance to complete it.

On the other hand, Frank Yearby's "The Vixen's" appealed to our romantic soul much more readily. However, we thought it vastly inferior to Yearby's "The Foxes of Harrow" which, we understand is being made into a movie with Clark Gable cast as the Fox.

Not wanting to sail under false colors, we regretfully affirm that we did NOT win $9,000 at the races as one of our friends jocularly stated thus causing a speculative rumor to be started . . . as a matter of fact if we even bet enough money to win $9,000 (if our nag did win) they'd have to carry us home on a stretcher for our heart wouldn't stand that kind of a strain.

Following the precedent established by Delaware Park, Garden State will discontinue the "Daily Double" at the Camden track which inaugurates its meeting August 25.

Slim Covington, who formerly barbered at the shop now operated by Len Fossett but who has recently been living and working in Miami, here on a vacation with his Georgia bride, is keeping in trim by helping out at Len's establishment.

NEWARK TROUNCES BEL AIR 11-5 HERE; FACES ABERDEEN IN NEXT SUSKY LOOP GAME

Thorpe Hurls Newark To Lopsided Win Here On Sunday; Locals Pile Up 17 Hits To Smother Visitors; 6-Run Rally In First Seals Win

Newark's baseball nine jumped back into the win column here Sunday afternoon, by smothering Bel Air under a barrage of 17 hits to walk away with an 11-5 victory in the Susquehanna League race. Next contest will be an away game with Aberdeen on Sunday.

Wasting little time in disposing of Bel Air, Newark piled up a 6-1 margin in the opening inning and was never in serious danger thereafter.

The victory was credited to Al Thorpe, ace local twirler, who allowed the visitors only six hits in seven innings. Brandon Davis shared the mound duty for Newark, granting two hits in two innings.

After their opening six run outburst, Newark slipped across single runs in the third and fifth and piled up another trio of runs in the sixth. Bel Air revived somewhat in the closing innings, getting two runs in the seventh and two more in the ninth but could not muster enough scoring punch to threaten Newark's lead.

Davis led the Newark sluggers with four safeties, including a home run. Thorpe was next with three hits. Runcie, Ewing and Thorpe contributed double base blows.

The score:

An indication why Newark's baseball nine is pushing the leaders in the Susquehanna League this season is shown in the list of batting averages compiled by team manager Ralph Edmanson.

With 11 sluggers topping the .300 mark, Newark is getting some of the liveliest hitting seen in the league. Although the three top men are hitting .500 or better, Edmanson pointed out that they have not seen consistent action. Among these is Brandon Davis with a .714 on five hits in three games.

Heading the regulars is Al Thorpe, brightlight of the local pitching staff, who is also Newark's most consistent batsman with a .379 average. He has hit safely eleven times in 29 times at bat in eight games. A close second is Charles Weldin with .363 on 12 hits in 33 at bats. Third is Doc Doherty with .350 on seven hits in five games.

Others still above the .300 mark are George Kennedy, Tom Skripps, Stump Cataldi, Tom Silk, and George Schaefer. The team average is .309.

All-Time Record In Newsprint Production

North American newsprint production in May established an all-time record, the Newsprint Service Bureau reported recently.

Output totaled 486,399 tons, of which Canada produced 384,520 tons and the United States 73,498. This compared with the May, 1946, total of 457,673 tons. May shipments amounted to 501,198 tons, against 463,066 a year earlier.

Stocks of newsprint at the end of May totaled 204,158 tons, compared with 218,957 at the end of April and 190,877 tons a year ago.

RACE MEET IS AT HALF WAY POINT

Diamond State Stake On Saturday

The half-way mark of the 30-day racing season at Delaware Park was reached today.

The outstanding stake event this week will be the Diamond State on Saturday. The race will carry $15,000 added, and, since it is a futurity event, will gross approximately $27,000.

It is the plan of the Delaware Steeplechase and Race Association to boost the Diamond State Stakes added money $2,500 each year until it is among the country's richest races for three-year-olds.

This is the last year the race will be known as the Diamond State Stakes. Beginning next year it will be run as the Leonard Richards Memorial Stakes, to perpetuate the name of the late first chairman of the Delaware Racing Commission.

On July 15, 1946, the 1947 Diamond State Stakes closed with 221 nominations. A total of 147 made the second payment on Oct. 1, 1946, to remain eligible and 91 more made the third and last payment. It will cost $200 to start a horse.

Cornelius V. Whitney's Belmont Stakes winner, Phalanx, is expected to start. Other good ones eligible are Repand, Nathaniel, Jet Pilot, Secnav, Golden Bull, Double Jay, Royal Governor, Khyber Pass and Bullet Proof.

Better known jumpers among 47 eligible for Thursday's Spring Maiden 'Chase are Trough Hill, Lady Janice, Bold Mate, Scuttleman, Grand Prince II, Cyper, Night Legend and Tourist's Pride.

NEWARK A. A. AND BLUE JAYS CLING TO TOP IN SOFTBALL LEAGUE; FIREMEN DROP OUT

Community League Leaders Still Undefeated; To Meet Monday Nite; Winning Club To Take Undisputed Lead; Redmen Trounce Knights, 27-1

The Newark A. A. and the Blue Jays remained tied for lead in the community softball league the past week, when three of six scheduled games were played.

The first place issue will be decided, temporarily at least, Monday night, when the circuit leaders will meet in what promises to be one of the stiffest contests thus far in the league race. Both teams are undefeated, and the winner will earn undisputed position of first place.

Last week, the American Legion forfeited two games, and Firemen-Curtis Paper clash was due to rain. Later, the Firemen announced their withdrawal from the league because of the pressure of club activities.

A new schedule will be drawn soon as possible, Harry Runcie, league director, said.

In the three remaining games of the week, the Red Men trounced the Knights of Pythias by a 27-1 score. Blue Jays won out over Curtis Paper, 14-3.

A turnstile would have been at home plate when the Red piled up 27 runs to swamp the Blue. Held scoreless in only one inning, second, the Indians opened with a run rally, added five in the third, in the fourth, and climaxed their another nine run spurt in the session.

Prince Elmer Bedoui, the Arabian grappler, will continue last week's feud with Sandor Kovacz, the tough Hungarian, this week in the featured one-fall to a finish bout that tops tonight's wrestling bill at the State Armory.

Bedoui and Kovacz met in the semi-windup spot last Thursday, but came close to sealing the show from Frank Sexton, heavyweight wrestling champion, who successfully defended his title against Gino Garibaldi of St. Louis.

The former pair put on one of the roughest bouts ever seen in the Armory and Referee Bob Wade was finally forced to step in and stop the shambles after both had battered each other into the mat.

Wade declared it no contest when Bedoui and Kovacz were so badly cut up that it didn't seem possible they could continue without inflicting permanent injury on each other.

Another popular team bout draws the semi-final spot with Harry Finklestein and Jesse James—a pair of rugged mat villains, will collide with the popular Marvin Mercer and his partner Joe Montana. The bout will be over the usual best of three falls route.

OUTBREAK OF LATE BLIGHT REPORTED

Disease Found On Tomatoes In Southern Areas

During the past ten days reports of outbreaks of late blight disease on tomatoes have been received by Dr. J. Heuberger, Extension Plant Pathologist, Agricultural Extension Service, University of Delaware, from Mississippi, Tennessee, South Carolina, and North Carolina. The disease was also found on potatoes in one field at Norfolk, Virginia, on June 9.

Some of these regions has the disease in serious proportions because of weather conditions, particularly in the South, have not been favorable. In North Carolina the weather conditions in Virginia are favorable for the development of the disease, and favorable weather be wet and fairly late blight disease could attack Delaware's tomatoes and potatoes the week of June 24 and continue through the week of July 1. If weather conditions are hot and dry, the disease should not appear in Delaware late in the season.

As a matter of crop insurance, it is suggested that tomato growers apply fungicide spray or dust to their fields the week of June 24 and continue applications at 7-10 day intervals, depending on the weather. This is only one week earlier than the start of the normal schedule in normal seasons. Fungicide materials recommended also control the early blight and late blight diseases which are usually present on tomatoes every year in Delaware. These fungicides are compatible with the commonly used insecticides.

Dithane Z-78 or Parzate: use as a spray at 1 1/2-2 pounds to 100 gallons of water or as 6-8 per cent dusts.

Dithane 4-14 plus zinc sulfate and zinc sulfate: use as a spray at a rate of 2 pounds of Dithane 4-14, 1 pound of zinc sulfate, and 1 1/2 pound of spray water to 100 gallons of water.

Fixed Coppers: use as sprays according to recommendations of the manufacturer or as dusts containing 5-7 per cent actual (metallic) copper.

Alternating spray schedule of Zerol and Fixed Copper: use zerlate at 100-150 lbs per acre and the Fixed Copper at manufacturer's recommendation in alternate applications, starting with zerlate. The sprays should be applied at 100-150 lbs per acre and the dusts at 30-50 lbs per acre, depending on the size of the plants.

Potato growers who have not yet started their disease control schedule should do so immediately.

Further warnings on the development of the late blight disease will be issued as required. Growers should keep in mind that fungicide sprays and dusts prevent disease. Thus, for maximum effectiveness they should be applied before disease gets started. Control of the first infections will make control of later infections easier.

DEL. GUARD CAMP PLANS

Training At Bethany Beach

Firing practice with heavy anti-aircraft guns and lighter weapons will head the training schedule outlined for the Delaware National Guard at its summer encampment at Bethany Beach in August.

The 198th Group will also conduct small arms firing, according to officials. The latter will be conducted at the rifle range near New Castle.

In addition to gunnery and small arms practice, guardsmen will take part in an athletic and physical training program at the camp.

Details of the training schedule were worked out at a recent meeting of the 198th Group and 736th A. A. Gun Battalion officials recently.

A recruiting campaign will start the latter part of this month. New recruits will be eligible for the encampment.

Truman Requests Funds To Probe Rail Mail Costs

President Truman requested Congress this week to appropriate $223,500 to continue a study of the costs of services rendered by the nation's railroads in transporting mail.

The study grew out of the filing of a petition with the Interstate Commerce Commission on Feb. 19 for a 45 per cent increase in rates for hauling mail.
