Budapest, July 31, 1939.

We had as guest for dinner last night Princess Lubomirska, wife of the first Polish Ambassador to Washington. She said that the Poles are even more determined now than they were at the end of May when we were in Cracow. They realize that the odds are heavily against them, but they have seen the result (in Czechoslovakia) of making any concessions to the Germans.

A Hungarian at the dinner party, who knows Colonel Beck very well, said that there could be no question of Beck giving in.
