NEWARK POST

VOLUME IV | NEWARK, DELAWARE, WEDNESDAY, APRIL 9, 1913 | NUMBER 11

How The State Spends its Money---Appropriations of the Last General Assembly

The omnibus appropriation bill passed by the assembly yesterday contains items aggregating $638,240. Included in this amount are the sums previously appropriated by the session just ended, which are also placed in the omnibus bill. To ascertain the total amount voted by the past session must be added the amounts in the resolutions passed separately by each branch to pay the compensation and expenses of members and employes, and the general claims which are given below.

The omnibus appropriation bill for the current fiscal year ending the second Tuesday in January, 1914 follows:

An act making appropriations for the expenses of the state government other than legislative expenses, for the fiscal year ending on Monday immediately preceding the second Tuesday of January in the year of our Lord, one thousand nine hundred and fourteen.

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the state of Delaware, in general assembly met.

Section 1. That the several amounts named in this act or so much thereof as may be necessary, are hereby appropriated and authorized to be paid out of the treasury of the state to the respective public officers and for the current fiscal year ending on Monday immediate preceding the second Tuesday of January in the year of our Lord one thousand nine hundred and fourteen; provided, however, that all parts or portions of the several sums appropriated by this act, which, on said Monday immediately preceding the said second Tuesday of January, A. D. 1914, shall not have been paid out of the treasury, shall be returned to the general fund of the treasury. The said sevral sums hereby appropriated are as follows, viz:

For the governor's salary, $4,000

For the contingent expenses of the governor's office, $1,200.

For the lieutenant governor, salary as a member of the board of pardons, $100:

Regular Meeting of Town Council

More Lights on Main Street

Town Council held a busy session at its monthly meeting Monday night. The terms of President of Council Joseph H. Hossinger and Councilmen E. Clifford Wilson, William H. Barton and Robert Morrison, expired with that meeting, all of them with the exception of Mr. Morrison, who was not a candidate, were re-elected yesterday.

The report of the treasurer for the month of March was as follows:

RECEIPTS.

Balance previous meeting	$3,022.24
Delinquent taxes	86.00
Penalties	4.05
Interest on deposits	35.44
Received for light	861.79
Received for water	229.86
Main taps	15.00
Totals	$4,254.38

DISBURSEMENTS.

Paid on town account	$ 108.27
Paid on street account	81.30
Paid on water account	33.03
Paid on light account	468.59
Totals	$ 691.19

Balance left at opening of meeting Monday night, $3,563.19

At the meeting Monday night the street committee reported bills amounting to $340.63 and the light committee $1,517.49, all of which were ordered to be paid. These bills included one of $782 from W. R. Kennedy for a new gould pump that he recently installed and $150 to Charles B. Evans, counsel for the town. This bill of Mr. Evans' was for several years legal services and it was the opinion of the members that the bill was exceedingly moderate for the services that Mr. Evans has rendered. Council also allowed A. L. Fisher and Frank M. Lutton, $25 for auditing the town accounts.

On motion of Councilman Wilson it was decided to double the number of street lights on Main street until 11 o'clock at night. This will mean the placing of 14 more lights along Main street from the Centre to the Baltimore and Ohio tracks and will make that thoroughfare more atractive to visitors. The total cost of the lights and installing them will be between $150 and $200

Council also on motion of Mr. Barton, authorized the chairman of the light and water committee to purchase six additional fire hydrants with steamer connections. The town has already installed six of these modern fire plugs, there are six delivered ready for installation and this order will make a total of 18 so that by the time the new automobile steamer arrives next summer the town will be well equipped with fire plugs. The cost will be about $25 each not including the installing of them. W. R. Kennedy submitted a bid of $100 and Daniel Stoll $48 for installing six of the hydrarts. The contract was awarded to the latter bidder.

There was some discusion over a light bill of H. B. Wright Company. In paying his bill for the month of October, November, December, January, February and March the company had deducted 25 per cent from the original bill on the ground that the meter was not correct. The deduction amounted to about $9.00. It developed during the discussion that a new meter was installed last November and that it had been tested and found to be correct. It was the unanimous opinion of the members of Council that no reduction should be allowed for the time since the new meter was installed. Secretary Herdman by motion was authorized to allow the company a reduction for the months of October and November, only the two months previous to the installation of the new meter.

Council last night approved the minutes of a special meeting held about a week ago when a contract was entered into with T. Chalkley Hatton, Wilmington sewer engineer, to prepare complete working plans and specifications for the proposed system of sewers and disposal plant. The amount of the contract is $600.

Last Historical Series Lecture

The last of the series of popular lectures as arranged by the Historical Department, Delaware College, will be held in the College Oratory on Thursday afternoon, April 10th, a 13 o'clock. The lecturer, Prof. J. P. Lichtenberger, of the University of Pennsylvania, will discuss "Immigration and the new American Race." The public is cordially invited.

College Commission Organizes

Meets in Newark on Monday

The Affiliated College Commission held its first meeting on Monday in the Governor's office at Dover, when organization was effected and arrangements made for the preliminary work.

Governor Charles R. Miller, president pro tem of the Senate Marshall, speaker of the House Holcomb, Dr. George Twitmyer, Samuel J. Wright and Mrs. A. D. Warner compose the Commission.

All the members were present at the meeting yesterday except Mrs. Warner.

The following officers were elected: Governor Charles R. Miller, President; Mrs. A. D. Warner, Vice-President; George A. Twitmyer, Secretary; and S. J. Wright Treasurer.

The Commission will hold its first regular meeting on Monday next, April 14th, at the President's Office, Delaware College.

Invitations are being issued to citizens of Newark actively interested in the College. The Commission authorizes the statement that at this time opportunity will be given to anyone who wishes to make suggestions relative to the site or building, to state his views.

Sealed proposals for land will also be received and considered.

As soon as the site is selected architects will be invited to submit plans and specifications. It is the desire of the Commission to receive any pertinent ideas regarding the work and this opportunity is being given to the public with the desire for a generous response. Immediately following the meeting on next Monday the work will be begun in earnest.

Prizes For Newark Boy Scouts

"A scout is thrifty," and like Capt. John Smith, he believes that he who does not work shall not eat. Since the Newark Scouts are showing much activity in gardening, the scout master has made arrangements whereby certain prizes will be awarded under the following conditions:

1—For the best vegetable garden containing not less than 300 square feet nor more than 350, with not less than six different vegetables, $5.00;

2—For the second best, $2.00;

3—For the third best, $1.00;

4—For the largest gross sales from garden placed in bank during the season, $1.00;

5—For the best vegetable exhibit from the above garden at the Firemen's Carnival or elsewhere, to be designated, $1.00;

6—For the best theme, "My Garden," $1.00.

Requirements—(a) At least ten scouts must compete;

(b) After preparation of the land, viz. the plowing and dragging, the competitor must do all the work upon said garden;

(c) Competitors must signify their intention of competing on or before April 17th, giving to the scout master the exact location of the garden;

(d) Prizes will be awarded October 2nd. The judges will inspect gardens at intervals during the season;

(e) The points to be considered in awarding prizes are as follows:

1—Gross sales from garden in bank (an accurate account of quantity and sales must be kept)....60

2—Neatness in sales record...10

3—Plan of garden.....20

4Neatness and care throughout season 10

Suggestions to Scouts.

If you want to learn more about gardening take a post card and send for Farmer's Bulletins Nos. 408, 385, 255, 218 and 513, from the U. S. Dept. of Agriculture, Washington, D. C.

The Scout Master is anxious that each scout should have a reference library of his own, and from time to time announcemnts will be made as to where reference books may be obtained.

The first order for uniforms will be sent off Friday the 11th. There is such a heavy demand for the official uniform that two weeks or more will be required to fill this order. Let all who can get in on this earliest order.

"Ye Colonial Wedding" A Great Success

Those in Charge Receive Generous Applause---Financial Returns Win the Ribbon

Newark is famed for creditable amateur productions, but there is doubt if ever she exceeded the excellence of the performance given in the Opera House last Friday evening by the ladies of the New Century Club. Repeated rehearsals and whispered plans of the last fortnight had transported the townspeople to the heights of expectancy. The directors of the play, however, and members of the caste, were equal to the occasion. Too much credit cannot be given Mrs. H. R. Tyson and the ladies of the committee for the skillful manner in which the production was staged.

Previous to the raising of the curtain Mrs. C. O. Houghton urged the audience to forget the present and let their imagination dwell on the pleasant ways of long ago, a wish, which the audience, after catching a view of the stage, found easy to gratify.

No detail which could aid in creating the atmosphere of colonial Virginia had been neglected and the result was charming indeed. The most rare and valuable antiques the community afforded aided in the clever arrangement. Notable features of the drawing room where the wedding was held were the old-fashioned musical instrument belonging to Mrs. Agnes Miller, on which the wedding march was played, the solid silver toddy ball, belonging to the Misses Wilson, the grandfather clock, the property of Mr. R. T. Jones.

Fitting perfectly into the scene was the dignified old butler, giving the finishing touches to the already perfectly ordered room before the arrival of the guests. The part was cleverly taken by Adam Hunter who, by the omission of no detail which imagination had conceived of the faithful old servant of the bygone day, won the hearty applause of the audience.

The costumes were elaborate and picturesque ,the wide skirts and ample draperies of the ladies, the powdered wigs and knee breeches of the gentlement, combining to create a realistic illustration of the colonial wedding day.

The program, which was in three parts, represented the entertainment preceding and the festivities following the wedding ceremony. The sweet old songs that everyone loves, beautifully rendered by the musical favorites of the community, won generous applause.

The most spectacular feature of the program was the May Pole Dance, upon which no time or trouble had been spared. The pole itself and the eight long ropes were solid with flowers of all kinds and shades. The girls gracefully danced the elaborate figures with a smoothness and grace suggestive of years of experience, and won for themselves and their drill-master heaps of laurels. The program follows:

It will be added to the Building Fund.

The reviewer, together with all Newark, offers congratulations to each and every one who took part in the entertainment.

Quiet Election

Only 45 votes were cast at the annual town election held yesterday afternoon in council chamber.

Joseph H. Hossinger was reelected president of council for two years. E. Clifford Wilson was reelected member of council from the western district for two years and William H. Barton was reelected member of council from the middle district for two years, the only new member elected being Jonathan Johnson from the eastern district for two years, succeeding Robert J. Morrison.

Litle interest was shown owing to the fact that there was no opposition whatever. In the western district 20 votes were cast, in the middle district 12, and in the eastern district 13, making a total of 45 votes, 270 less than the number cast two years ago.

Mrs. Richard Shapleigh of St. Louis is visiting her sister, Miss Fannie Shapleigh at the West End.

Road Supervisors

The road supervisors for the several hundreds, were elected by members of the Levy Court last Wednesday. They are as follows:

Brandywine—Thomas Casey.
Christiana—Reuben Hall.
New Castle—George Burris.
Mill Creek—William Highfield.
White Clay Creek—No appointment.
Red Lion—Stewart L. Beck.
Peneader—William Clay Brooks.
Appoquinimink—David P. Hutchinson.
Blackbird—George W. Bradley.
St. Georges—John C. Alston.

THOMAS KEELEY.

Thomas Keeley died at the home of Allen Reed, early Tuesday morning, April 8. High Requiem Mass at St. John's R. C. Church on Friday at 9.30 a. m. Interment in St. John's Cemetery.

THE DAWN OF SPRING

What is the first sign of spring? That would be hard to answer. Thoreau wrote: "No mortal is alert enough to be at the first dawn of spring." It is not the blossoms of the witch-hazel, for, while they are abundantly found in the woods in January, they are not the first of the flowers, being rather the last, since the witch-hazel comes into bloom in October and November of the previous year, and its strange and peculiar flower remains during the winter. It may be the cawing of the crows that through the winter have been quiet in their wooded seclusion, or the honking of the wild geese going north in great trains overhead, or it may be the dripping of the icicles at night, for the icicles are generally the product of the late winter, and their drip, drip, drip at night is an unmistakable token of the coming warmth that overcoming nature calls forth, the various signs that tell us of the advent of spring. While the snow still lingers the catkins of the willows and the birches begin to swell and burst. The chickadees and the juncoes begin to come out from their seclusion in the woods, the song sparrow opens the year's season of song, and the bee and the mourning cloak butterfly appear.

The skunk cabbage hoods emerge from the swampy places, and how nature's winter tourists begin to arrive home, headed by the robin and the blue bird, but which of the two arrives first will always be, as it has always been, a question for discussion. In their wake comes that most detestable bird with the harsh voice that has been well likened to the squeak of a rusty gate hinge, the bronze grackle, our common city blackbird, which has no friends and, moreover, deserves none. By this time signs are unmistakable and are coming in greater profusion, and every department of nature seems to be scrambling to make its next important announcement. The appearance of the transient fox sparrow, the purple finch and the Peabody bird, the hepatica, the bloodroot, and the trailing arbutus, the fiddle-heads of the cinnamon fern, and the chorus of the peep-frogs are but a few of nature's unmistakable signs that spring is already here and only waits the coming of the organ grinder to fully establish the fact.

Of all the birds of spring, the song sparrow is pre-eminently the most versatile and accomplished musician, as well as one of the most faithful and reliable. He opens the musical season in February and closes it in November. F. Schuyler Matthews, in his "Field Book of Wild Birds and Their Music," says of this talented little minstrel: "I am disposed to believe that every one who will study the music of the song sparrow long enough will inevitably come to the conclusion that he is nature's cleverest song genius. He devotes himself to pure, simple melody and is, in consequence, the best exponent of the song motive among all the members of the feathered tribe. The oriole sometimes equals, but he never can excel him in this respect; moreover, the oriole lacks versatility." The song sparrow's song has been set to words by many who have imagined they interpreted it. Thoreau heard him sing "Maids! Maids! Maids! Hang on the tea-kettle, tea-kettle-ettle-ettle!" Probably Mr. Matthews' interpretation is most nearly the accurate one of all—"Fitz! fitz! fitz! Wee sir-wee sir-wits wits!"

Henry Van Dyke describes the bird and his song in the following verses, which every child should memorize:

He does not wear a Joseph's coat
Of many colors, smart and gay;
His suit is Quaker brown and gray,
With darker patches at his throat.
And yet, of all the well-dressed throng,
Not one can sing so brave a song.
It makes the pride of looks appear
A vain and foolish thing to hear
His "Sweet, sweet, sweet, very merry cheer!"

A lofty place he does not love;
He sits by choice and well at ease
In hedges and in little trees
That stretch their slender arms above
The meadow brook; and then he sings
Till all the field with pleasure rings;
And so he tells in every ear
That lowly homes to heaven are near
In "Sweet, sweet, sweet, very merry cheer!"

In color and markings this bird resembles much the common English sparrow, but can be readily told from all other sparrows by the large, dark blotch on its brown and white-spotted breast. It nests on or near the ground and rears three broods in a season. It is one of our commonest and hardiest of birds and, although considered a grain-eater, its value as an insect-destroyer is vouched for by such excellent authority as Mrs. Comstock, who says in her "Handbook of Nature Study:" "The song sparrow is not only the dearest of little neighbors but it also works lustily for our good and for its own food at the same time. It destroys cut-worms, plant lice, caterpillars, canker worms, ground beetles, grasshoppers and flies, and in winter it destroys thousands of weed seeds which otherwise would surely plant themselves to our undoing."

On bird music Mr. Matthews says that the wild bird sings first for his love of music and second for love of the lady," and that it is folly to suppose that its music has been, or is, unprogressive; through thousands of years it has advanced to its present form and, though still progressing, at present there is no point to his song. He says: "He makes a fine start, but he nearly always fails to finish on the tonic, or, for that matter, anywhere at all. He has been imitating his father or his companion, faults and all, and he has not brain enough to understand that the far-reaching law of music demands a finale."

Any one who has ever listened analytically to bird music or has even heard the singing of the catbird, which has been well-named the northern mocking-bird, whose versatile song shows absolutely no rule in either melody or rhythm, will readily appreciate the opinion of Mr. Matthews, whose observations of all our wild birds enable him to speak with authority. But that the wild song bird is doing the best he can, considering his limitations, must be granted; and surely all will agree that, while he may lack technical knowledge of harmony and musical ethics, he more than makes up for it in sweetness and quality of tone, including exquisite modulation and melodious phrasing, together with an unstinting willingness to entertain that is most commendable.

Lewes Entertains Mission Workers

Home and Foreign Missionary Societies from all parts of the Peninsula are represented at the annual convention now in session at Lewes, Delaware, which includes all the churches of the New Castle Presbytery.

The Newark Society will be represented by Mrs. C. B. Evans and Miss Ella Todd; the Head of Christiana by Mrs. A. Van Oeveren.

Today was home day, and Thursday will be foreign. This evening there will be a popular meeting with speakers on both topics, Mrs. D. E. Wade of the Woman's Home Board of New York City appearing for the home missions, and Rev. Herbert E. Blair, a missionary from Korea, for the foreign.

Sessions are being held in the Presbyterian church. The year is a most interesting one because the societies are to be arranged in a "roll of honor," their rank to be recorded in gold, silver and red letters, respectively. This was a device announced at last year's meeting at Pocomoke City, Md., to promote the efficiency and work of the auxiliaries. Those making a 25 per cent increase in their contributions to all pledges, and making prompt quarterly payments will be listed in gold letters; those contributing to all pledges and making the quarterly payments will be in silver letters; and those who either contribute to all pledges or make payments quarterly will be in red letters. The Honor Roll Service will be one of the events of the meetings, but just how it will be conducted is not to be divulged until the time comes.

There will be some changes in the officers when the elections take place, notably the replacing of Mrs. Emerson W. Polk of Pocomoke City as president of the home society, Mrs. Polk having refused re-election of a successor to the foreign treasurer, Mrs. John H. Danby of Wilmington. Mrs. Danby has held this office for a number of years, with such success and efficiency that her resignation is a deep regret to the society. She has, however, positively refused re-election, and it is probable another member from Wilmington will take her place.

The Presbyterian societies always have increase of membership and contributions to report; their way is always that of progress, and it is likely that this year will be no exception. Last year the home society contributed a total of $3,429.49; the foreign contributions were $2,578.10.

Appointments by the Governor

The following appointments have recently been made by Governor Charles R. Miller:

Former Senator Harry A. Richardson, former Lieutenant Governor Henry P. Cannon, J. E. Hoffecker, Col. L. W. Mustard, George A. Elliott, Jonathan E. Rhodes, Chas. S. Phillips, William P. Bancroft, Miss Emma Worrell and Mrs. Ella P. Stafford, delegates to represent Delaware at the Fourth Annual Peace Congress to be held in St. Louis in May.

Herbert H. Ward of Wilmington as delegate to the Fourth Annual Peace Congress to be held in St. Louis, Mo., May 1, 2 and 3, in lieu of W. P. Bancroft, resigned.

Dr. J. H. Wilson of Dover, as a delegate to the Fourth Annual Peace Congress to be held in St. Louis, Mo., in lieu of United States Senator Harry A. Richardson, resigned.

Charles Green to be a special constable for New Castle county for four years, the legislature having passed a bill giving the Governor the power to appoint a constable for New Castle county, the other constables of the county being appointed by the Levy Court.

Members of the Commission authorized by an act of the present legislature to secure a marker to be placed at Valley Forge to the memory of the Delaware Revolutionary Soliders—Judge Henry C. Conrad, Georgetown; Hon. John A. Barnard, Wyoming; Hon. John M. Mendnihall, Newport; George A. Elliott, and John P. Hyatt, Wilmington.

The Right Start

As a preparation for the day's program in school the child should eat an unhurried, nutritious breakfast, and get to school on time, without rushing. Its little body machine must be properly coaled up before beginning the day's play. (Some call it school work, but it should be made as attractive to the child as play.) If the pupil does not sleep well and does not eat a good breakfast, these faults should be corrected. Many children do not spend enough hours out of each 24 in bed in a room which is as widely open to the outdoor air as wide-open windows will permit.

No phase of instruction seems more important than to teach the child how to live in a healthful manner. No subject is taught, on the whole, so unsuccessfully. One method of approach productive of fairly good results is to inculcate habits of healthful living in relation to personal and home life through encouragement of wholesome play, athletic ideals, a spirit of ambition and reasonable sanitary laws.

American Farmers' Institutes

The next annual meeting of the American Association of Farmers' Institute Workers will be held November 10, 11, 12, 1913, at Washington, D. C. The meeting will be followed imediately by that of the Association of American Agricultural Colleges and Experiment Stations, November 12, 13, 14. Delaware will no doubt be represented at both of these meetings.

Variety and Harmony in Landscaoe

By PROFESSOR C. A. McCUE

DELAWARE COLLEGE EXPERIMENT STATION

While every landscape should exhibit unity in its general plan, yet the different views presented to the eye must possess a variety of detail in order to keep alive the interest of the spectator. Unity and variety go together and are not opposed to each other, although either could be much easier to obtain could the other be disregarded. Variety belongs to the detail rather than to the whole. It may be obtained by varying the surface of the ground; by arranging the trees and shrubs in different ways; by the use of water; by varying the walks and drives; and by so arranging the forms and colors that the color effect is varied throughout the seasons.

In seeking to produce variety through changes in the surface of the ground we find that our ground surface may be found in four forms, level, concave, sloping and convex. Of these forms level is the least desirable as an undulating surface suggests far more life, and at the same time the sense of repose may be as great. Either in parks or grounds about a residence severely plane surfaces should be avoided even if undulations have to be made. (Plane surfaces may be permitted on the very small village lot; but even here the sense of levelness should be done away with by the judicious use of groups of shrubbery.) A plane surface should be broken by creating a somewhat uniform slope, swell or depression. Hillocks or mounds are not to be thought of. For a small place a concave surface is usually more desirable than a convex, for from any point in the concavity the whole view can be seen, this giving it a sense of breadth and extent. In improving a ground surface it requires much skill to do the work so thoroughly that an artificial appearance is prevented. A concavity poorly made becomes merely a hole in the ground or a convexity may appear to be merely a heap of dirt.

Sloping grounds admit of very artistic treatment in that by the use of trees and shrubs of different heights and forms the surface may be made to seem to vary much more than it really does. By having irregularities in the surface of the slope emphases of various sorts may be given. Sloping grounds admit of the use of rocks to produce very fine effects. When rocks are used there must always be a bit of wildness present or the rocks will be entirely out of place.

Trees and shrubs are good aids to variety. They should be so planted as to secure variety in form color and texture of foliage. To know the cultivated species of ornamental plants and their varieties, and to know the possibilities of each is the A B C of Landscape Gardening.

The various seasons add much to variety. All plantings should be done with due regard to variations that come from month to month. In spring our plantings should give us a variation from the drabs grays and olive greens that prevail at that season. In May and June there must be flowers, blossoms of trees and shrubs and any landscape without flowers in late May and early June is sadly deficient. For August the scene must provide clean pure grass under the canopy of foliage. In this month there need be but few, if any, flowers or striking colors as peacefulness and rest are the expressions desired. For Autumn effects colors of foliage must be provided. To secure proper Autumn effects requires as much art as any phase of landscape work. A landscape may be beautiful all other seasons of the year yet be a horrible chaos of discording colors in Autumn. Even winter effects must be provided for. These may be secured with evergreens and trees and shrubs having bright hued wood or bright colored berries that hang on over winter, such as the red "hips" of Rose rugosa or the scarlet bark of some of the osier willows.

VISTAS

An important element in securing variety in the landscape is the vista. A vista gives depth and extent to a view. Therefore, whenever possible, the planting should be such that the eye is permitted to take in a beautiful scene by means of a vista outside of the grounds. Within any grounds a vista usually furnishes a variety of views, some of which are seen at a distance, some in the midground and some in the fore ground. Another valuable feature of a vista lies in what the painter terms aerial perspective.

In a good aerial perspective the coloring of the foliage is deep, rich and full at the fore ground and more tender and mellow in the middle ground, softening to pale tints in the background. In grounds of limited extent this effect of aerial perspective will be accentuated by planting in the fore ground trees of dark tints and in the middle ground and background trees of lighter tints. For example the depth of a vista may be made to appear much greater than it is if Norway Spruce appear in the fore ground, Scotch pine or Austrian pine in the middle ground and White pine in the background. Or to use deciduous trees as an example, Norway Maple in the fore ground, Sugar Maple in the middle ground and Silver Maple in the background.

The play of light and shade is of great importance on any part of the grounds; but it is particularly beautiful in a vista. It may be regulated somewhat by planting trees with heavy or light masses of foliage and with thick or sparse, small or large leaves.

SKY LINE

Variety is secured by so planting that the skyline is irregular. In planting to secure the picturesque effect, the skyline must be much broken, but in planting to secure the beautiful effect the sky line must be diversified gently. An evenly balanced sky line is not artistic. One side should be higher than the other and slope gently here and there an articulation with a stretch of lawn, a field or a lake water.

Water is an invaluable source of variety on any grounds whether it is a brook, river, lake or pond. As seen in lakes and ponds water is emblematic of rest and tranquility and is therefore especially appropriate in the beautiful style of landscape. In the beautiful style of gardening association adds much; and water better than any other element secures this, for at sight of it we think of the pleasures and luxuries of good water supplies and gives us an idea of nature's bountifulness and a feeling of warmth and plentifulness is added to the landscape. Water, however, possesses a great deal of intrinsic beauty. The mirrored surface of a lake or stream reflecting the colors and forms of the clouds, trees and shrubs is one of the chief sources of beauty in any landscape. Aside from the pleasing effect that water itself provides it gives us an opportunity to grow many species of our most beautiful shrubs and flowers, which thrive only at the water's edge.

VIEWS OF BUILDING

A common method of obtaining variety in gardening is to partially conceal the principal buildings and points of interest. This may be done by grouping trees so as to partly or totally hide the building from most situations and give a complete view from only a few favorable points. It is well, if possible, in approaching a building on a drive or walk to give successive glimpses along the way and reserve a full view for a final triumph at a point where the whole may be seen and admired.

HARMONY

Harmony in art may be defined as the principle which presides over variety and keeps it from becoming discordant. Harmony always allows of contrasts; but they should never be so strong or so frequent as to produce discord. It permits variety; but not so great as to destroy a leading expression.

So we have the three great principles of unity, variety and harmony presiding over a landscape picture. If unity alone were consulted we would have an effect of sameness. If variety alone were consulted, confusion would reign. Harmony regulates this and keeps variety always subordinate to unity

Parent-Teachers Associations

At the annual meeting of the Council of the Delaware Branch of the National Council of Mothers and Parent-Teacher Associations, held recently in Milford at the home of the president, Mrs. George W. Marshall, she was unanimously re-elected and other officers chosen as follows: Vice-prseident, Mrs. O. V. Wootten, Laurel; recording secretary, Mrs. Lila W. Aron, Dover; auditor, Mrs. William Orr, Lewes; directors, Mrs. Thomas Garrison, Cheswold; Mrs. John Wharton, Houston; Mrs. S. M. Donnell, Newark; Mrs. James L. Crossmore, Wyoming; Mrs. William J. Benson, Dover; Miss E. Anthony, Smyrna.

The following chairmen were appointed; Education, Mrs. Elmer E. Benson, Dover; sex hygiene, Mrs. A. Rosa, Milford; good roads, Miss Carrie Houston, Lincoln City; playgrounds, Miss Edna Dailey, Wilmington; literature and magazines, Miss L. Richards, Georgetown.

Another council meeting will be held in Laurel May 28, 1913, a box luncheon to be provided. The president suggested that one speaker be invited to address this meeting, and that officers and chairmen should give reports. That the work of this organization be made more progressive and extensive, the suggestion that county organizers be appointed, one for each county, was acted upon, and the president made the appointments.

Eminent Engineer At Delaware

John Lyle Harrington of Kansas City, Mo., the eminent bridge engineer, will address the students of Delaware College next Friday evening. He will give an illustrated talk on bridge engineering with lantern slides and will be the guest of President Harter.

Mr. Harrington, one of the most noted engineers in the United States, will address the Case School of Applied Science at Cleveland, Ohio, on Wednesday. He will then come east. He is a member of the firm of Waddell and Harrington, bridge engineers of Kansas City. Dr. Waddell, the senior member, has written text books on engineering that are in use in every college and university in this country. He has also been decorated by the Emperor of Japan for engineering achievements in the flowery kingdom.

Mr. Harrington addressed the students at Delaware College eighteen month ago. He made such a good impression on that occasion that efforts have since been made to have him return. Since then, however, he has mostly been in the west. A series of lectures on engineering that have been delivered by Messrs. Waddell and Harrington in a large number of colleges have been published in book form.

Committee Expresses Gratitude

The committee in charge of "Ye Colonial Wedding Day" wish to express their appreciation of the splendid support given them in the production of the entertainment. The hearty co-operation of the cast as well as of the people of Newark in general was certainly most gratifying. The committee feel that special mention is due to Mr. Stiller, manager of the Opera House, for the free use of the hall during many rehearsals and for the giving up, at a personal loss to himself, the booking of another entertainment, the evening before, to allow them a dress rehearsal.

To Mr. R. T. Jones for the loan of much of the handsome Colonial furniture, to Jacob Thomas Co. for wall paper, to Frank Fader for electrical work and to Cella for candy boxes, and to Curtis & Bro. who donated the fine Colonial buff paper on which the programs were printed.

A great and most agreeable surprise was the presentation, by a friend, of a receipted bill for the printing of the programs.

Famous Delaware Shad

High winds and muddy condition of the river greatly interfered with the work of the shad fishermen this week and the catches of shad were not as great as the fishermen looked for. The fishermen all operated their nets and made from three to four drifts daily, and the catches averaged from five to twenty to a drift. From the head of the Delaware to the bay shad nets are being operated and the favorite toothsome fish should begin on Monday to reach the markets by the thousands. The prices will not be lowered for another week, when the fish will become more plentiful.

Institutes In Delaware

During the season just closed, 21 Farmers' Institutes have been held in the State, a total of 25 days and 64 sessions. The total attendance was 9,366, an average of 446 per institute, or 374 per day. The cost to the State was a litle over $1,000 for speakers, travelling expenses and advertising.

THE SUMMER SCHOOL

The Summer School is now the topic of much comment in educational circles. In view of the misunderstanding of the exact provisions of the bill, we are printing the Act, as passed by the General Assembly. As will be seen, it states specifically that the school is under the control and supervision of the Trustees of the College.

This is the first time that the State has placed a specific work on the institution. Any one knowing the conditions existant throughout the State can readily see the serious responsibility herein imposed.

Aside from the merits of the School and its State-wide results in educational work, the support of the State both moral and financial, will depend in no small measure upon the success of the Board in this new duty.

An Act to Provide for the Establishment and Maintenance of a Summer School at Delaware College for the instruction of Teachers in a Summer Session.

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the State of Delaware, in General Assembly met:

SECTION 1. The Trustees of Delaware College shall establish and maintain at Delaware College for a period of not less than five weeks during the summer of each and every year a school for teachers in which shall be given courses in pedagogy and such other subjects as will give increased efficiency to those who are now teaching or wish to prepare to teach in the free public schools of this State, said courses shall include such instruction in agriculture as will enable such persons to teach said subject in the free Public Schools of this State. The courses given in said school shall be arranged by the Trustees of Delaware College conjointly with the State Board of Education. All persons who are now teaching or who will give satisfactory assurance to the Director of said School that they intend to teach in the free public schools of this State, shall be admitted into said School, the tuition in which shall be free.

SECTION 2. The sum of One Thousand Two Hundred Dollars is hereby appropriated annually out of any money in the Treasury not otherwise appropriated for the maintenance of said school. Said sum shall be paid by the State Treasurer to the Treasurer of the Trustees of Delaware College in each and every year, which sum shall be used exclusively for the purposes of this Act.

New Century Club

Mrs. A. T. Neale reported a pleasant visit to the Elkton New Century Club last week, when Mrs. Corkran, president of the Baltimore City Civics Club, gave a very suggestive and helpful talk on civics.

The incoming president and Miss Hurd were elected with Mrs. Richards and Mrs. Reed as alternates to attend the Annual State Federation of Women's Clubs to be held in Dover in May, instead of in Washington as was reported by error last week.

The chairman of the Building Fund Committee then reported the net receipts of the recent entertainment, "Ye Old Colonial Wedding Day," as $184.00, and a rising vote of thanks was extended Mrs. Tyson and her very efficient aids, whose efforts made it such a success.

The program of the afternoon consisted of a paper on Shakespeare's Typical Comedies, read by Mrs. Ruth N. Rhoades, assisted by Mrs. R. C. Reed.

The farm tractor recently purchased is now in daily use on the College Farm. It has attracted considerable attention among the farmers of the community and is working economically and satisfactory.

Conditions Governing The School Election

In answer to several inquiries the following information has been gathered from Dr. Joel S. Gilfillan, Secretary Board of Education concerning the school election to be held at the High School building on Saturday, April 26th. Two members will be elected to the board for a period of three years, the retiring officers being Mr. J. D. Jaquette and Mr. Geo. S. Ferguson. An item which enters into the selection is the requirement of the law that at least one member of the board must reside outside of the town limits. The three held-over members, Dr. Gilfillan, Messrs. Richards and Gallaher, all living without the limits of the town. The Newark district is an incorporated one including from numbers 39 to 41½ and embraces the following territory; from the west, McLaughlin's farm (McLaughlin's Mills) including John Richard's farm on the east; south of town all north of the Pennsylvania railroad, together with three houses near Pencader crossing, south of the railroad and extending on the south-west to the Maryland line. The district is bounded on the north by White Clay Creek, also taking in the Joseph Hossinger farm.

Every male person residing in the district who is entitled to vote for a member of the House of Representatives is an eligible voter, also every female owner of real estate who has paid school tax within the last twelve months.

In view of the suggestion of electing a woman to a position on the Board of Education, the question has arisen, "Who is eligible for such a position?"

There can be nothing found in the school law to cover this particular point, although the logical conclusion would be that the nominee must possess the right of voting. An expression of opinion on this point would be interesting.

The present list of tax-payers includes 780 men and 51 women. Up-to-date, the names of no candidates either men or women, have been presented.

Baseball Plans Progressing

Owing to the poor condition of baseball grounds last Saturday and the cool weather, the Newark boys could not do much practice work, except batting practice.

The weather has been so cool that Manager Everson does not want to take any chances with the players, doing injury to their arms.

Hogan seems to be in exceptionally fine shape, from the way he worked which is very encouraging to the fans.

Manager Everson hopes to see all the players out this Saturday as he has arranged to play East Lake, champions of the Church League of Wilmington. This club is not to be looked upon as an easy proposition as they play clean, fast ball and are a gentlemanly set of ball players.

The diamond is being fixed in condition, several loads of earth being placed in the low spots, and will be in better shape than last season.

Pick Ups

Morris seems to be "Johnny-on-the-Spot," both in fielding and at the bat.

Vic Willis says he never felt better. Vic has an entirely new "spitter" this season.

Jackson seems to have no trouble at all, they all look alike to him.

Roberts is hitting the ball hard this season. Go get 'em, Rufus.

Geoghegan looks to be in good shape.

Hogan's benders caused four spectators to fall off the bench. That's going some.

The season opens May 10. "Oh, let it be soon!"

Garments For Mountaineers

The missionary guild of St. Thomas' Church have just packed and sent off to St. John's Mission in the Blue Ridge Mountains of Virginia a barrel of new garments, clothing and other useful articles for the poor whites of the mountain district. Many of the garments were made by members of the guild. A conservative estimate of the value of the barrel's contents is $45.

Drexel Biddle, 1913 junior championship fencing tournament, and is the junior champion of the Pennsylvania division of the Amateur Fencers' League of America and medalist in the Senior championship. Congratulations to Mrs. Duffy, who was Miss Florence Armstrong of Cooch's Bridge.

Dr. Reed Addresses Grange

Of more than usual interest was the meeting of Newark Grange held on Monday evening. The announcement at a previous meeting that Dr. R. C. Reed would address the grangers was sufficient to guarantee a good attendance. Dr. Reed discussed, and illustrated by means of photographs, some of the more common human diseases that are carried by or contracted from animals. As might have been expected, this talk aroused much discussion among members concerning several of the best known of human diseases, such as tuberculosis, typhoid fever, malaria and yellow fever.

The relations of the tubercular cow to the children or the human family were well shown by the statement that of all cases of tuberculosis among children one fourth are due to infected milk. According to Dr. Reed, the effort to eliminate the mosquito as a factor in human disease has been only partially successful owing to the fact that multitudes of these insects are born in small puddles and even in the little cups made by the curling up of leaves on the ground and are therefore beyond the reach of the oil treatment given to ponds and marsh land.

During the evening several new members were initiated into the order and applications were received from a number of others. It is felt by all who have attended recent meetings that Newark Grange has been born again to a new enthusiasm and that it soon may become a large factor in the agricultural development of this part of New Castle county. That it has already assumed something of social importance was proved by the good cheer that prevailed around the table laid by the ladies of the grange after the formal part of the program was completed. Too much credit cannot begiven to the committee in charge of the refreshments for providing so excellent a spread.

Good News From Mr. Death

The many friends of John C. Death, formerly a superintendent at the local plant of the American Vulcanized Fibre Company were delighted to hear this week that he had not suffered from the floods in Ohio although his home at Franklin is on the Miami River in the flood district. Mr. Death sent a number of Franklin newspapers to friends containing accounts of the flood and several letters have also been received from him in the past few days. He describes the scenes in Franklin during the flood period as being horrible. Two lives were lost in that town, several hundred were made homeless and a large amount of property was destroyed. Mr. Death's home happened to be on high ground and the water did not reach him. The parents of Frederick Ritz, who succeeded Mr. Death as superintendent and who also live in Franklin, were not so fortunate. Mr. Ritz has received word that during the flood there was three feet of water in their house but his people escaped without injury but suffered considerable loss by water.

Pennies Bring New Books

Newark people have been so generous with their odd pennies that there'll be lots of new books in the Town Library soon—all the latest worth-while fiction and some interesting volumes of travel, biography and history.

All these are to be bought with money contributed through the "mile of pennies" plan—twelve pennies fixed into the twelve inch cardboard slips that have been staring us all in the face for some weeks past. Cards aggregating only 500 feet were given out in Newark—for these it is hoped to realize at least $60.

So far $42 in pennies have been turned in to the treasurer, Miss Alice Kerr, and it is hoped that the slips that are still in the hands of the public will be sent to the Librarian before May 1st.

Presbytery Convenes At Elkton

The Presbytery of New Castle will convene in annual session in Elkton Presbyterian Church on Tuesday and Wednesday, April 15th and 16th. The entire program has not yet been announced. The popular meeting in the evening will be addressed by the missionary and scientist, Dr. Hall Young of Alaska.

Titanic Memorial Service

On next Sunday morning a memorial service will be held in the Presbyterian Church, the occasion being the anniversary of the dreadful sea disaster—the sinking of the Titanic in mid-ocean, the wonderful display of heroism and the great loss of life. The sermon will be appropriate to the occasion.

WEDDING

PENNOCK--SHARPLESS.

Mr. Franklin Pennock, well-known farmer of Mill Creek Hundred, was quietly married in West Chester on last Wednesday to Miss Mary Walton Sharpless of Media, Pa.

Mr. and Mrs. Pennock are spending their honeymoon in Ohio. They will return to their home near Union next Saturday.

Mrs. Cooch Entertains

Mrs. Edward Cooch entertained the Hanson-bridge club at her home, Wilkins Terrace, today. The guests included Mrs. Houghton, Mrs. Neale, Mrs. Penny, Mrs. Hossinger, Misses Mary and Eleanor Harter and Mrs. Talty of Washington, D. C.

Working For A New Street

There is some effort being made to open a new street from a point opposite the present postoffice, to Cleveland avenue, north of the Baltimore and Ohio railroad tracks.

The residents of North Newark living betwen Chapel and N. College avenue are greatly inconvenienced by the absence of a cross street. It is understood that the officials of the B. and O. have consented to build a bridge over the new street.

Dr. J. R. Mahaffy of Wilmington and Dr. E. S. Deuber of the well-known Pennhurst Farm, Narberth, Pa., were guests at the farm on Tuesday.

Visit Wilmington

Those who are acquainted with the Wilmington of years ago and who have not been here of late will be surprised at the many changes and advancements that have been made. Those who have never included Wilmington in their travels will be pleased with what they will see. Beautiful homes, well paved streets, good roads in every direction, beautiful parks, etc. None the less interesting is the business section, where possibly the greatest change has taken place, where now are to be found stores of the kind which have grown largely by reason of the progressive way in which they have been conducted.

THIS STORE

centrally located, you will be told even by our competitors, as the one carrying the largest assortment of everything in the way of DRESS GOODS and WOMEN'S READY-TO-WEAR GARMENTS of the best styles and qualities that can be obtained.
Our Garment Section is the largest in this market, with its private fitting rooms, rest and writing rooms with an adjoining building where all garments alterations are done by competent operators.
We make no charge for needed garment alterations. We deliver free of charge all purchases. Money cheerfully refunded on all purchases that prove unsatisfactory.
Surely Wilmington, and this Store, are well worthy a visit. IF YOUR LOCAL MERCHANT CANNOT SUPPLY YOUR WANTS—TRY US.

Speaker of House Presented With Sword

On Monday Speaker Holcomb of the House was presented with a silver mounted sabre by all the members and officers of that body as a token of the esteem in which he is held by his colleagues and to show their appreciation of his manner of presiding. Democratic and Republican members alike joined in presenting the gift and in paying tribute to the speaker for the spirit of amity that has characterized the work of the House during the present session under his guidance. The gift is a particularly appropriate one in that the speaker is a major in the Organized Militia of Delaware.

INSCRIPTION ON SWORD.

The sabre bears the following inscription:

"Presented to Chauncey P. Holcomb, Speaker, by the members and officers of the House of Representatives of the General Assembly, State of Delaware, April 7, 1913."

The gift is of beautiful workmanship with a massive silver mounted handle and scabbard richly decorated.

CRESENTATION SPEECH.

Dr. Cooper, in a neat speech, presented the gift on behalf of the members. He said:

"Mr. Speaker: A Legislature is peculiar in that the members are selected from two or more political parties, that usually are antagonistic, particularly upon matters of government so that from the beginning the members are arrayed against each other by sharp and well drawn lines.

"When one of the members is selected to preside over the body unusual care should be taken so that all interests will be treated fairly. The members of this House, of the majority party, we think, displayed good judgement in that selection. As a proof of this I have the honor and privilege to assure you in more lasting manner than mere words the sentiment of not only the members and officers of this House, who appreciate your fairness and kindness as speaker under the most trying conditions. It is a pleasure indeed to present to you on behalf of all this emblem of their good feeling and esteem.

"It is believed that you will wear this with credit to yourself and honor to this House, to the state and to the nation. I recall having seen this motto many years ago on a sword, 'Never draw me without cause, never sheath me without honor.'

"I now give into your keeping this loving testimonial of your fellow members."

SPEAKERS REPLY.

The Speaker was so plainly affected that it was some time before he was able to respond. After drawing the sword from its case and looking at it, he said:

"I was never much of a speechmaker, but at this time any words I might think of would fail to convey to you the deep feeling of appreciation I hold toward all the members. The position of speaker is a trying one, as you have doubtless observed. I have tride to be fair to all, and any mistakes I have made have been of the mind, not of the heart. I know of nothing you could have given me that would please memore. If in the course of human events I am called upon to serve the state or nation I shall try to use it with honor and credit to those who gave it."

RESOLUTION ADOPTED.

After the applause attending this speech had subsided, Representative Grantland, floor leader for the Republican minority, offered the following resolution, signed by each of the members, and which was adopted unanimously:

"With a realization of the spirit of fairness and the patience and good nature that has characterized the actions of our presiding officer during circumstances that at times were sorely trying.

"It is resolved that we, the members of the House of Representatives of the State of Delaware of the session of 1914 do hereby extend to our honored speaker, Chauncey P. Holcomb, our sincere thanks, for his kind and courteous treatment, and we furthermore desire to express our deep appreciation of his fair and impartial services as presiding officer of this House."

Interesting Local History

Mr. Victor Torbert, formerly of the Cecil Whig, Elkton, Md., is planning to bring out another edition of Johnston's well-known History of Cecil County, supplementing the work so as to bring it up to date and so as to include many maters of local value and interest that were omitted from the original work. Johnston's history has become a rare book and is in demand at a premium. The old edition is exhausted and the copyright has ex-expired. There is a good deal of desire on the part of Cecil countians at home and abroad, for the book, and Mr. Torbert's plan is intended to meet that desire, at the same time making the book much more complete and valuable, provided he finds sufficient support and interest to warrant the carrying out of the plan. At a meeting of a number of gentlemen in Elkton on Wednesday afternoon, Mr. Torbert was encouraged to proceed with his plans and has now appealed to the people of the county to communicate with him at Elkton, Md., furnishing any information they may have, making any suggestions, expressing their desire to subscribe to the book, the price of which will be $5 per copy and any other communication that may be helpful. The names and addresses of prominent Cecil countians, resident in other States are also asked for.

Mr. Torbert purposes to have the assistance of a local editorial board in the work.

Connecting Rehoboth And Delaware Bays

The completion of a canal to connect Rehoboth and Delaware bays is now an active project. About $91,000 of government funds is available. Governor Miller, Dr. Burton, Dr. W. R. Messick and J. H. Derrickson are members of a commission to condemn land for the canal and acquire title to the land for the government. They have made a satisfactory award for one piece of land needed between Lewes and Rehoboth and everything is ready for deepening the waterway.

Teachers At Examination

Thirty-two applicants for teaching positions in the rural public schools of New Castle county took the first examination which was held yesterday at No. 1 School, under the direction of Superintendent A. R. Spaid. Similar examinations were held yesterday at Dover and Georgetown. The next examination will be held on Saturday, April 26th.

The Summer School, plans for which are rounding into shape, was mentioned. The school, which is open to all teachers or prospective teachers, will open on June 24th, and is to provide a summer session of normal work.

Here and There

The congregation of Antioch M. E. Church, Princess Anne, Md., is planning to make weekly payments of the salary of its pastor, Rev. J. H. Grey, a step that may be followed by other churches in the Conference.

Rev. Joel S. Gilfillan of Newark, preached the sermon, Rev. B. J. Brinkema of Zion gave the charge to the pastor and Rev. Dr. John McElmoyle of Elkton, the charge to the people at the installation of Rev. John E. Eggert, formerly of Harrington, as pastor of Chesapeake City Presbyterian church last Tuesday evening.

Wilmington City Council is arranging for bond issues of $150,000 and $60,000 for street improvements and the purchase of a site for a public playground.

The Delaware Railroad is reported to be preparing for the coming fruit season by double tracking lower sections of its lines and building extra sidings at Bridgeville, Seaford and Selbyville.

Warner Ames of Onancock, and Floyd Nock of Accomac, Va., who have purchased the 1100 acre farm of Charles M. Peters, near Delmar, for $25,000, will engage in trucking on a large scale and will plant at once 200 acres of the tract with potatoes.

William Pendrick and Roiey Newlove, fishermen of New Castle, each caught a roe sturgeon which they sold for $97 and $90 respectively.

Judge Henry C. Conrad of Georgetown, John A. Barnard of Wyoming, John M. Mendinhall of Newport, George A. Elliott and John F. Hyatt of Wilmington, have been appointed a Commission to secure a marker commemorative of Delaware troops who camped under Washington at alley Forge.

Sussex Levy Court, equally divided politically, last week raised the county tax rate from 50 to 60 cents so as to meet bills promptly and also passed a resolution urging the residents of each district, under the provisions of a recent law, to increase the road tax 20 per cent by popular vote in order to provide for better highways.

Daniel O. Hastings and Richard S. Rodney, counsel for Charles B. Naylor of Townsend, on Friday in the Court of Over and Terminer argued their motion for a new trial of the prisoner whom a jury had found guilty of murder in the second degree when charged with the fatal shooting of Earvil Francis with a rifle on Naylor's farm several weeks ago. The grounds of the argument were that the verdict was against both the law and the evidence in the case and that Harry P. Gray, sworn as a juror in the case, who swore he had formerly no opinion, had nevertheless expressed his belief in the prisoner's guilt to Sheriff Burris previous to the trial. Court reserved its decision on the motion till the opening of the May term.

In the U. S. District Court at Wilmington last week Thomas Hudson of Milford, Arthur C. Williams of Seaford, and Henry Willey of Bridgeville, charged with selling liquor in violation of the Internal Revenue laws entered pleas of guilty. Harlan was fined $50 and given 30 days in the workhouse. Williams and Willey were fined $200 each and sentenced to two months imprisonment. John W. Thompson of Seaford, charged with the same offense, was arrested on a bench warrant and his trial was set for April 16th.

The postmasterships at Macdonough, near Middletown, and Brenford, Kent County, both in the $500 class, are vacant. James T. Burris is strongly endorsed for the latter and A. L. Cralle for the former office.

Fears are felt for the early pear crop in Sussex County owing to the recent cold snaps and drifting of sand over the sown area by the high winds.

Comparatively few shad were caught in the Delaware last week, the weather being unfavorable. Roe were selling at from 90 cents to $1.25 each at New Castle.

Congressman Brackson will fight for the restoration of the Delaware Customs district on the ground that the Federal Constitution declares that "no preference shall be given by any regulation of commerce or revenue to the ports of one State over those of another; nor shall vessels bound to or from one State be obliged to enter, clear from or pay duties in another."

A spraying mixture turned too quickly into the hose splashed over Frank Racine, tenant on the Rogers farm, near the Minquiadale Home, one day last week, injuring both his eyes, the left one permanently and the right one seriously. Dr. J. A. Ellegood of Wilmington hopes to save the sight of the latter.

Samuel Cole and James J. Keenan, fishermen of New Castle, were arrested while fishing in Salem Cove between 12 and 1 p. m. on Saturday, March 29, after the New Jersey time limit on Saturdays. Their boat and net were seized and ordered sold to secure payment of a fine of $100. Governor Miller wired Governor Fielder, asking the latter to remit the fine and release the boat and net as the trouble grew out of conflicting regulations of the two states. Governor Fielder consented to defer the matter for a month. Efforts were made in 1909 to arrange for uniform fishing regulations without sucess but may now be renewed.

William B. Coleman, postmaster at Chesapeake City for twenty years past, died at his home there last Tuesday, of paralysis, aged 80 years. His wife and daughter, Miss Laura Coleman, survive him.

PERFECTION

Musing, I sit by the window,
Eyes-weary of ponderous tomes
A fleeting, fugitive sentence,
My dreamy unconsciousness roams.

"In art he attained perfection"
Can one in this life reach the goal?
This brief sojourn in earthly form
Gain topmost endeavor of soul?

Perfection means God, the Supreme,
The Scientist Master above.
If we would draw near His presence,
The Key to Perfection is Love.

For in this poor casket of clay
He has kindled the Spark of Love
Tho' we crush and strut in bitter soil,
It streams from the Master above.

Timing Telephone Messages

How many words can you say in a minute?

Did you ever realize that you can talk about 150 words a minute? The average for a three-minute telephone conversation is 450 words—sufficient to fill one-third of a newspaper column or two pages of a popular novel, while very few business letters are half as long.

Rates to out-of-town points are quoted for a three-minute period, excepting to nearby points to which the rate is 20c or less. To these points two additional minutes are given.

The timing of these messages is done with clocks specially provided for the purpose. A force of men are constantly testing these clocks so that they record the exact time which elapses on telephone calls.

This protects against errors and is only one of the many devices adopted by the Bell System to secure uniformly satisfactory service in every particular.

SQUIBS

It has been suggested that a Course in Boosting be given at the Summer School. Knockers only admitted.

Isn't it strange that every one who is opposed to the Sewer doesn't like to be quoted in print.

The Post has been in existence for a little over three years. Different ideas and innovations in the town during that time have had their champions and opponents, but the most striking observation is the one citizen who has opposed everthing. Really it has become a habit.

Who will assume the leadership in the organization of a Y. M. C. A.?

Newark promises to be interestingly alive this summer. Teachers' Summer School is the latest.

WANTED—Five good open air Band Concerts during the summer.

The Carnival Committee will be glad to receive any live suggestions for entertainment and money making.

The Boy Scout Movement is a Success.

Of course, it is rank heresy to mention it, but just as a flyer on prophesy, we should like to say that within five years, Newark will have a Free Library and Reading Room that will be unsurpassed by any town in the State. And we seriously miss our guess if it doesn't come sooner.

More light on Main street. Good! Now for a better street. Sewer put down first. Yes, of course, but hurry at along.

The Greatest Commencement in the History of Delaware College—June 1913.

We advocate reading The Post, of course. Most people do. But you should read other leading periodicals. The Post is not the only paper advocating women on School Boards.

If you have not seen it anywhere else, I would not tell it.

But then that is one of the evil effects of not having a free library in town.

Old Songs at Ye Colonial Wedding made their impress, all right. Everybody is humming some old favorite. Striking contrast to the rag-time of today.

Another performance would be welcomed.

Entertain Friends

Mr. and Mrs. Amos Morrison gave an evening party on Saturday evening, March 22nd, at their home, Spring Lawn. nI answer to invitations sent out, a merry crowd gathered and the evning was passed pleasantly in dancing and social games. Ot a late hour all were invited to the dining room where refreshments were served. In the early hours of the morning the guests departed for their homes, thanking their hostess for a good time. Among those present were: the Misses Bessie Hoffecker, May Vance, Mary Armstrong of Philadelphia, Mary Wilson, Florence Aikens of Newark, Elva Brown, Viola Brown and Eva Morrison, Lewisville; Messrs. George Wilson, Edward Anderson, Brooks Allen, Harry Wilson, Walter Coyle, William Holland, Willis Cloud; Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Brown, Mr. and Mrs. B. Henderson, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Tweed, Amos Wilson.

No Relay Team At Delaware

For the first time in a number of years it is likely that Delaware College will not be represented at the annual relay races at Franklin Field, Philadelphia, which will be held the latter part of this month. Because of the new track not being completed Captain Schlittler has been unable to do practically anything in the way of getting a team in shape.

Minnehaha Chiefs Visit Wawa Tribe

On Monday evening, April 7th, Deputy Great Sachem F. M. Smith and his staff of Minnehaha Tribe, No. 25, Imp'd O. R. M. trailed to the wigwam of Wawa Tribe, No. 45, to raise up the Chiefs of said tribe, which were as follows:

Prophet, A. S. Walton; sachem, Lewis Lee; senior sagamore, Geo. Davis; junior sagamore, Harry Chambers; collector of wampum, A. H. L. Eastburn; collector of records, Harley A. Mousley; keeper of wampum, C. A. McNamee; 1st sannap, W. Chambers; 2nd sannap, M. Chambers; 1st brave, E. Malin; 2nd brave, N. Malin; 3rd brave, O. Eastburn; 4th brave, J. Malin; 1st warrior, W. Lamborn; 2nd warrior, T. Eastburn; 3rd warrior, I. E. Eastburn; 4th warrior, J. Malin; guard of wigwam, H. Croft; guard of forest, Jacob Maxwell; Widows and Orphans, Charles Croft; Board of Managers, J. L. Dempsey, M. B. Chambers, Wm. H. Chambers.

After lengthy talks by the Deputy Great Sachem and his staff and other members of Wawa and Andastaka Tribe, the brothers trailed to the banquet room and partook of corn and venison, after which the Deputy Great Sachem and his staff left in teams for their wigwams in Newark, arriving back in the wee small hours.

29 Years A Conductor

Amos Osmond, the genial conductor on the Newark and Pomeroy Railroad has a record that few railroad men can boast of. On the fifth of this month Mr. Osmond had been a conductor on the passenger train on this road for 29 consecutive years. Part of that time the train was made up of freight cars as well as passenger coaches but for a number of years it has ben a passenger train only. While John Pool, the engineer of this train has not been a member of the crew as many years as Mr. Osmond, yet he can boast of an earlier connection with the road as he carried water for the workmen when a boy while the road was being built in 1873.

How to Prove that a Fountain Pen Won't Leak

LOOK at the feed tube. If it's curved—like the Parker—the pen won't leak. The Parker Lucky Curve Feed Tube touches inside of barrel, causing Capillary Attraction. This draws ink out of feed tube, as in picture, the instant you turn pen upright. That's why Parkers won't leak.

Ordinary fountain pens have straight feed tubes in which ink stays, even when pen is point up. Air inside of pen, expanding from heat of your body, forces this ink out onto end of pen.

Standard style Parker Lucky Curve Pens $1.50 to $250.00 according to size and ornamentation.

New Parker Jack Knife Safety Pen cannot leak if it tries. You can even carry it upside down. Prices $2.50 up.

PARKER LUCKY CURVE FOUNTAIN PEN

New Parker Disappearing Clip holds onto your pocket like a snapping turtle and disappears into its shell when you want to write.

Money refunded if any Parker Pen doesn't please. We protect dealer.

If your dealer doesn't keep Parkers, send us his name. We'll send complete catalog and sell to you direct.

Get a leakless Parker Pen into your pocket before tonight.

Elkton Council, Boy Scouts of America, has been formally organized with Judge Albert Constable, president; Harlan Johnson, secretary; Col. I. D. Davis, treasurer; Rev. Dr. John McElmoyle, scout commissioner, and Standley Evans chief scout master. The vice-president, James F. Powers, Frank P. Price, H. M. McCullough and F. T. Haines represent the four churches of the town, Catholic, Methodist, Presbyterian and Episcopal, and as the organization is strictly non-sectrian there is prospect of a large membership in the Council.

Friday will be observed as Arbor and Bird Day in Maryland, chiefly by pupils of the public schools.

Judge William H. Harlan in the Harford county Circuit Court, at Bel Air last week, ruled that the Harford county Racing Commission had full power to refuse dates for races to the parties seeking to open a new track at Havre de Grace which leaves a monopoly to the track opened last year which will have its meeting this year Apr. 15th to 30th.

Bishop Berry, after handing down the list of appointments of ministers of Wilmington Conference, made some changes among others those of Rev. H. T. Quigg and Rev. W. L. S. Murray assigned to Epworth, Wilmington, and Elkton, changing their places, the former coming to Elkton and the latter to Epworth.

The Senior Class of the Cecil County High School realized $40 from "Ye Deesriek Skule at Blueberry Corners," given for its benefit by pupils of the school in Elkton Opera House last Wednesday evening. The proceeds will be applied toward meeting expenses of the class at the coming commencement.

The contract for the new duPont Theatre in Wilmington, to cost upwards of $125,000, with a seating capacity of 1300, has been awarded to J. Bader & Co., of Wilmington, and is to be ready for use by Oct. 1st, next.

Ulysses Springer was thrown out of Vinsinger & Pippin's furniture wagon and painfully injured when the horses he was driving bolted near Elkton Station on Thursday.

George A. Pope, Jr., of Baltimore, last Tuesday identified and recovered a five passenger Chalmers touring car left by three young men at the home of Alfred B. McVey near Pleasant Hill, Cecil county. One of the tires had been punctured, and the strangers left the car in the road, requesting that it be kept till called for. It was later learned that the parties had "jumped" a freight at Childs Station, after stealing the robe of the car and removing the license tags, but in one of the pockets of the car Mr. Pope's license was found, and Mr. McVey called him by telephone and learned that the car had been stolen from Pope's garage a week previously and he got his first clue to its whereabouts from Mr. McVey.

Short term prisoners, including tramps or other individuals sentenced to terms of from 10 to 30 days, in Kent and Sussex counties, will hereafter, under a recent act of the Legislature, be set to work upon the public roads.

The Wilmington Water Front Association is moving to have submitted to the voters of the city, at the municipal election on June 7 next, the question whether the land along the Delaware River from the mouth of the Christiana to Edge Moor shall be retained by the private interests to which it was deeded by Act of the Legislature in 1901 or whether steps shall be taken to conserve the water front for the benefit of the city. Petitions to the Mayor and Council bearing upon the subject are now circulating for signature.

Governor Miller having vetoed the bill regulating the opening and closing of bars of liquor saloons and hotels, changing the hours set by rule of the Court, 6 a. m. and 11 p. m. to 5 a. m. and midnight, the Judges at Wilmington on Friday modified their rule so as to close bars in Wilmington from midnight till 6 o'clock a. m. but made no change as to bar hours in rural New Castle county, where closing at 11 p. m. remains compulsory. The Governor favored midnight closing but not earlier opening and, besides, thought the matter should be left for the Court to regulate.

A camp of the P. O. S. of A. will be instituted in Lewes on Thursday evening by National Organizer Alfred Frankel.

Postmaster James H. Crompton of Porters Station, has resigned. The office pays $300 a year and as yet no aspirant for the place has appeared.

275,000,000 yellow perch fry were hatched this season at the Government Station near the mouth of the Susquehanna River.

Andrew J. Jones of Farmington, near Rising Sun, was robbed of $100 while visiting Oxford, Pa., one day last week.

Senator Saulsbury has served notice that he will not consider the claims of candidates for the postmastership of Wilmington until the position becomes vacant in June next. Among aspirants for the place are James J. English, Thomas M. Monahan, former State Senator and Democratic nominee for Governor last fall; Dr. T. O. Cooper, John M. Truax and Martin F. Farrell.

KEMBLESVILLE

An "Eleven Cent Social and Entertainment," will be given by the teacher and pupils of Kemblesville Public School, in Willard's Hall, on Wednesday evening, April 16th. For the small sum of eleven cents you will be admitted to a first class entertainment, after which there will be ice-cream, cake and candy for sale. All are cordially invited to attend and help the school in their effort to secure a flag and a clock.

Mrs. F. B. West and son Joseph, and Miss Grace E. West spent the week-end in Wilmington, Del.

Mr. James Mackie and Miss Florence Wilkinson were visitors in West Chester the past week, returning on Saturday evening in the Ford touring car that Mr. Mackie recently purchased from N. B. Slack.

Miss Helen Wollaston of Newark was the guest of Florence West from Friday until Sunday evenings.

Miss Ella Crossan and Master Calvin Hoopes of Landenburg spent a few days the past week with Mr. and Mrs. Howard McMillan.

George L. Wilkinson and Stanley West journeyed to West Chester on Saturday and came back in Mr Wilkinson's newly purchased automobile. Mr. Wilkinson and family autoed to Wilmington on Sunday.

The weekly prayer meeting will be held on Thursday evening at Mrs. Wm. Willard's.

A Great Opportunity To Secure College Pennants

The latest fad among young people is the collecting of college flags and pennants. Nothing equals the vari-colored emblems of colleges and schools for decorating the den, smoking-room, clubs, etc.

Through a favorable arrangement with one of the largest manufacturers in the country, The Philadelphia North American is enabled to give these to their readers at a fraction of their regular cost. There will be a different pennant each week. Commencing with Pennsylvania and followed up with Princeton, Lafayette, Yale, Harvard, Army and Navy, Cornell and other state school and universities.

Get started at once and secure the entire set. A coupon from the Sunday North American and 20 cents secures each one. No extra charge for mailing.

To avoid disappointment give your order for the Sunday North American to your local dealer at once.—Adv.

An Enjoyable Evening Promised To All

On Tuesday evening of next week, one of the rarest treats ever seen in Newark will be rendered in the Opera House by the students of the High School. The program consists of two screaming comediettas, of two acts each, the titles of which are "A Perplexing Situation" and "Graduation Day at Wood Hill School." In the first, the scene is laid in a city, and a miserly merchant offers his wife and daughters a sum of money if they will spend the entire day without speaking a word. The ladies succeed in winning the money, but they have many narrow escapes. An uncle from the country drops in unexpectedly and a report goes out that there is a case of small-pox concealed in the house. The Health officer comes to make investigations and while there, discovers a girl friend whom he has not seen for years. When the merchant returns and finds that the money is won, he is sorely disappointed, but sticks to his promise. Those who will participate in this play are: Julia McMullen, Olive Heiser, Margaret Cook, Anna Gallaher, Mary Cunningham, Helen McNeal, Dora Law, George Holton, George Allcorn, Knowles Bowen, Henry Mote, Bond Brown and John Hopkins.

In the second playlet, the following students will present the preparations for, and the graduation exercises at a country school; Edna Chalmers, Katharine Bowen, Alice Moore, Olive Heiser, Anna Willis, Marion Campbell, Edythe Whittingham, Mary Cunningham, Edna Chambers, Elsie Slack, Charles Simmons, Stanley West, George Holton, George Allcorn, Francis O'Rourke, Henry Mote, Harvey Ferguson, and John Hopkins. This is a classy playlet, having a laugh every minute. There are lots of jokes, some old, some new, every one told in a way that you will long remember.

The tickets for the entertainment may be gotten from any of the High School students, while the reserved seat tickets are on sale at Rhodes' Pharmacy. If present indications may be taken for anything, the house will be crowded to its capacity, even more so than in December when the young folks made a reputation for themselves as amateur actors. Much of the credit for the show should go to Mrs. M. J. Murray, who has worked hard and faithfully in drilling the young "stars" in their respective parts.

Committee.

High Class Delicatessen Sho

The ladies of St. Thomas' ask the housewives of Newark to take a vacation from baking on Saturday, April 19, and supply themselves with the good things on sale at the delicatessen shop to be held in the vacant Barney store, where will be found: Miss Bower's famous chicken salad and German potato salad and the best of chicken soup; delicious bread and rolls made with milk; and the well known Curtis Boston Brown Bread and Boston Baked Beans; boiled ham sliced most beautifully thin; all the pies of the season, and custard with the thinnest and most brittle of crusts; cakes made of butter and eggs; and delicious candies.

Inter-Society Debate

The annual inter-society debate between the Athenaen and Delta Phi Literary Societies will be held in the College Oratory on Tuesday evening, April 22.

The question is: Resolved: that one term of six years for President of the United States is preferable to the existing arrangement. The Societies will be represented as follows:

Athenaen, affirmative—Russell Paynter, '15; G. E. Rhoads, '15; Alfred P. Scott, '14; W. Brockson, '15, alternate.

Delta Phi, negative—E. W. Looff, '14; C. H. Brown, '14; A. Connellee, '14; S. M. Shallcross, '14, alternate.

Mr. E. B. Sharpless and Mr. John Sharpless, prominent dairymen of Avondale, Pa., inspected the farm on Tuesday.
