11 LOCAL CLUBS JOIN TO SPONSOR BLOCK PARTY

Majority Of Service Clubs Plan For Fete On August 2-3

With representatives of eleven local civic clubs joining with the Newark Recreation Association in laying plans for the town block party to be held August 2-3, in the area behind the Academy Building, the fete is taking on the proportions of a colorful miniature fair and looms as the outstanding community event of the summer here.

Almost every civic and service club in town is cooperating, said Nelson M. Clark, general chairman, yesterday. Each organization assigned the operation of a booth. Proceeds will go to swell the Newark recreation program fund, being raised to finance the current summer project.

The various club committee chairmen and the type booth each group will operate is as follows: Rotary—Allyn Cooch, in charge of community singing and dancing and a game booth; Jaycees—King Walt, refreshment booth; Lions—T. D. Smith, novelty stand and pony rides; American Legion—W. O. White, milk bottle throw; Veterans of Foreign Wars—Drexel Harrington, chance books; Business Women's Association—Helen Clark, fish pond, candy and balloon stand; New Century Club—Mrs. R. O. Bausman, fortune telling, palmist, food concession; American Legion Auxiliary—Mrs. Leonard Rhodes, produce counter; Town Council—Vernon Steele, furnishing of ground prizes and magician act.

NEW ROTC INSTRUCTOR NAMED HERE

Capt. E. R. Stark Joins U. Of D. Military Staff

Capt. Eldee R. Stark, veteran Missouri National Guard officer, with service in the Aleutian campaign, reported for duty as an instructor with the Reserve Officers' Training Corps at the University of Delaware recently. It was announced by Col. Randolph T. Pendleton, commanding officer of the corps.

Stark will assume active duty as an instructor of military science and tactics when the R. O. T. C. is resumed at the university in September.

He brings a background of artillery science to the university, having served actively in this branch of the service ever since his unit the 203rd C. A. A., Regiment of the Missouri National Guard—became federalized on Sept. 16, 1940. Born in Missouri, he received his commission with the National Guard unit of that state. He was in the Aleutians from early 1942 until 1943.

In his new role he will round out the staff of Colonel Pendleton which also includes Lieut.-Col. Layton Zimmerman, and will complete the complement of R. O. T. C. instructors at the university.

RESPONSE IS SLOW TO OPENING OF FUND DRIVE

Recreation Campaign Lags At Start But Returns Rise

Although only a dribble of contributions marked the opening of the recreation fund drive here last week, the volume of returns increased gradually, indicating a growing recognition among townpeople of the supreme importance of the drive, officials said.

Renewing his plea for all-out backing, drive chairman Dr. John R. Downes again pointed out that the highly successful recreation program now underway here is entirely dependent on private contributions.

The summer program, launched early in June under the able direction of Coach William Martin, has been enthusiastically received by the youth of the community, and drive officials hope townpeople will make every effort to insure the continuance of the project by cooperating with the current campaign. If every resident makes a contribution, no matter how small, the drive is assured of success, it was said.

UNIVERSITY INSTRUCTOR GIVEN WAR DUTY AWARD

New Dramatic Arts Aide Is Awarded Ribbon Of Commendation

Francis X. Gallagher, of Wilmington, former Army major, who recently was named as instructor in Dramatic Arts and Speech at the University of Delaware, has been awarded the Army Commendation Ribbon for meritorious service in connection with operations in the Army of Occupation in Germany. It was learned this week.

Inducted into the Army as a private in December, 1942, and released to inactive duty with the rank of major about two months ago, Mr. Gallagher previously has been awarded the Bronze Star with cluster.

The Commendation Ribbon has been awarded him for meritorious service from July 4, 1945 to January 12, 1946, during which period Major Gallagher performed the duties of Division Information and Education Officer for the First U. S. Infantry Division "in a highly capable and efficient manner," according to the citation.

When he assumes his new position at the University of Delaware in September as a member of the Department of Dramatic Arts and Speech, Mr. Gallagher will help provide students with training in dramatics and will give instruction in correct speech to students in other departments and schools of the university.

A graduate of Mt. St. Mary's College, Mr. Gallagher received a master's degree from the University of Delaware in 1940. A member of the English Department staff at the University of Delaware for two months prior to his induction into the Army, he also has taught at Archmere Academy and Wilmington High School.

TEACHER OPENINGS

Over 100 teacher vacancies in Delaware schools have been reported by the State Board of Education.

Dr. John Shilling, assistant state superintendent of high schools reports that 52 instructors are needed outside of Wilmington and that few applications are on file.

Dr. M. B. King, assistant state superintendent in charge of secondary schools, said that 50 teachers are needed in his jurisdiction and that special school districts in addition, have half that many vacancies. Dr. King indicated all the vacancies are in white schools. The state has plenty of instructors in its colored schools.

Both Dr. Shilling and Dr. King said returned veterans may provide some relief for the situation.

OVER 200 DAILY ARE ATTENDING POOL HERE

To Reserve An Hour Each Day For Life Test Entrants

A new announcement regarding swimming pool hours was made by Coach Martin yesterday. Beginning immediately, the hour from 2 to 3 p. m. daily will be reserved solely for the pre-course training of the 48 swimmers who have qualified for the Red Cross Life Saving Course to be held soon at the pool. The hours from 3 to 5 daily will be open as usual for recreational swimming.

Although dates for the life saving course have not yet been set, Coach Martin feels entrants who have qualified still need some intensive training before they will be able to meet the standards of the course. One hour each day will be devoted to rounding the group in shape for the test.

Four more members of the beginner's group at the pool have passed swimming tests graduating them from the non-swimmer's group, it was further announced. They are Raydon Gray, Robert Hutchinson, Don Miller, and Wayne Warner. This makes approximately nine youngsters who have already learned to swim under the tutelage of Coach Martin and his Boy Scout assistants.

About 14 girls and 20 boys in the beginner's class are showing outstanding progress and may soon pass the swimmer's tests, consisting of diving off the board and swimming two lengths of the pool.

The learner's class, which averages about 58 girls and 35 boys, is held every Monday, Wednesday and Friday from ten to twelve at the pool.

Attendance figures show a daily average of 93 youngsters at the morning classes, 90 swimmers at the daily afternoon session and approximately 58 adults at the Tuesday and Thursday evening periods. Daily over-all averages is 241. Season tickets for the pool are still on sale at Rhodes Drug Store, it was said.

Total attendance for the season to date is 892 non-swimmers and 2124 recreational for a grand total of 3076.

HEALTH BOARD REPORT

Six new cases of miasis, which bring the total number of miasis cases in the state this year to 806, were among 25 cases of contagious diseases reported by the State Board of Health the past week.

Aid On G. I. Problems Offered Local Veterans

A reminder was issued to local veterans this week that free assistance is being offered them on problems surrounding the G. I. Bill of Rights by two local Legion members, Police Chief William Cunningham and Attorney John Sinclair.

The pair sits as an advisory board every Wednesday evening from about 7 to 10 p. m. in the Town Council offices. Both are familiar with the technical features of the bill and are well-qualified to advise perplexed veterans.

Although the response has not been too great lately, the two have agreed to continue sitting at the Academy Street offices as a Legion sponsored service to local veterans.

PROGRAM FOR YEAR IS DRAFTED BY JAYCEES

Propose To Sponsor Series Of Projects In Tentative Plan

A number of noteworthy projects were suggested as possibilities for future action to members of the Newark Junior Chamber of Commerce in a tentative program for the remainder of the year outlined of the group's regular business session in the Deer Park Hotel last Thursday evening.

Outstanding among the projects was a plan for bringing at least one well-known speaker or popular personality to Newark during the year as a guest at a public meeting.

Other projects suggested as worthy of the group's sponsorship included: a benefit for the visiting nurse's fund, a project to raise money for the Newark Recreation Association, several civic improvement projects such as a public safety campaign or the donating of waste containers to the town, a Christmas program similar to last year's project of decorating the community Xmas tree, and tentative plans for sponsoring a Halloween party for children of the community.

The program also contained suggestions for renewing the interest of inactive Jaycees, publishing a monthly mimeographed club news letter for members and continuing the Jaycees' sport program, including the bowling and softball teams and encouraging competition with other Jaycees units throughout the state.

The program was previously drafted by the Jaycees Board of Directors, headed by M. A. Kubicek and including: J. M. Garner, Jr., J. Handloff, S. I. Putnam, E. Turk, J. E. Nachod, Jr., W. B. DeLong, T. A. Foster, F. J. Tolomeo, and J. C. Weinberg.

DINNER FOR AETNA VETERANS

Ex-Servicemen Members To Be Banquet Guests

An article in last week's issue stating that returned Newark veterans would be guests at a banquet to be sponsored by the Aetna Hose, Hook and Ladder Company was incorrect.

Only veterans who are members of the company are invited to the fete which will be held Friday, July 26, at the fire hall.

From thirty-five to forty members, who are ex-servicemen including those who joined the fire company after the war, are expected to turn out for the gala dinner, final plans for which were completed by the social and banquet committee at a meeting last Friday night.

The committee includes: Ira Shellender, George Neighbors, William Warwick, John Tweed, John Cornell, Charles Eissner, Charles Moore, J. H. Rumer, Bertram Jones, Clem Valliant and William Doyle.

Two alarms were sounded the past week, one for an automobile, which caught fire on Haines Street last Thursday. The owner was unidentified. The fire was extinguished before the arrival of the engine, and no damage was reported. The second alarm on Friday, came when several bales of straw caught fire on the property of Eugene W. Crossan, Pike Creek Road. The blaze was also out on arrival.

MANY CARS FAIL TESTS

Twenty per cent of Delaware's cars are failing to pass inspection, it was revealed recently by a Motor Vehicle Department official, who pointed out that lights and brakes are the cause of most of the rejections.

The first car inspection since early in the war opened on July 1. Cars with license plates expiring September 30 are given until that time to be inspected, but are urged to visit their inspection lanes in groups of 10,000 to facilitate the process. Numbers from 10,000 were inspected during the first week. Next week those bearing plates between 20,000 and 30,000 are asked to apply.

MAIN STREET FURNITURE STORE SOLD LAST WEEK

Brothers From Oxford Assume Management Of Lovett's Store

R. R. Lovett's furniture store, at 182 East Main Street, was sold last week to three brothers from Oxford, Pa., who took immediate possession and will continue to operate the business at the same location.

Mr. Lovett, active manager of the establishment bearing his name, for the past forty years will retire from business and his son, Waldo, who has been associated with him will devote his entire time to the Lovett Airport operation, just below town on the Elkton Road.

Purchasers of the business are Leonard, Saul and Donald Savitch. Their father now operates the Eagle Department Store, in Oxford. The local store will be under the personal supervision of Donald Savitch who plans to make his home here in the near future.

The three Savitch boys are all recent discharged from the U. S. armed services. Leonard, who was in the Army Medical Corps attached to the 159th Infantry saw 29 months overseas service in Africa and India. Saul, who was in the Army Air Corps, was a navigator on one of the B-24 Bombers that bombed Japan and was in service a little more than four years.

Donald Savitch, who also saw about three years service in the Army Air Corps, was stationed in Iceland for twenty-four months.

The new management of Lovett's plan to hold a gala opening within a month or so, as soon as sufficient merchandise and arrangements can be made. The future trade name of the establishment has not been decided but will continue to be known as Lovett's until further notice.

Thoroughly conversant with modern merchandising methods, the Savitch brothers plan to enlarge the stock and facilities of their store in their determination to give Newark a furniture store that will compare favorably with those of her more metropolitan neighbors.

HOME CANNING WEEK SET

July 15-22 Dates For Food Saving Project

The week of July 15 to 22 has been named National Home Food Preservation Week. It was announced today by the Extension Service of the University of Delaware in cooperation with the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

According to Miss M. Gertrude Holloway, State home demonstration leader and nutrition specialist for the Delaware Extension Service, this week will focus attention on the necessity for home canning and preservation of food supplies for the coming winter months at a time when food supplies are badly needed throughout the world.

A survey made of 1945 canning records of Delaware women showed that 152 quarts of fruits and vegetables were canned per family; and 32 bushels of fruits and vegetables stored. The women are asked to equal, and possibly exceed this record during the 1946 season. Indications are that there will be ample vegetables and fruits for filling the suggested number of quarts. Peaches, especially, are plentiful in Delaware, and easily adapted for "putting up." Miss Holloway suggests a canning budget of 15 to 25 quarts each of fruits, vegetables and tomatoes for Delaware families in 1946.

The Extension Service stands ready to give assistance to any home canners who request it. Home canning bulletins and canning record cards may be obtained from the Extension Service in Newark. Groups desiring demonstrations on canning may receive such help by contacting the home demonstration agent in Newark, Dover, or Georgetown.

In view of the world-wide food shortage, Secretary of Agriculture Anderson is asking American women to maintain their war-time average of 3½ billion quarts of fruits and vegetables preserved. Secretary Anderson says, "The immediate problem that faces a war-torn world is food. Food spells peace and democracy. Food spells rest instead of foment. It is the obligation of every American to conserve and preserve this precious food. In this way we assure our own people a better diet, as well as help the famine-stricken of the world."

Various consumer and trade groups, the Famine Emergency Committee, the National Garden Institute, the National Red Cross, and many other public and private groups are actively cooperating in the 1946 Home Food Preservation program.

England, in the year 1870, was the first nation of the world to practice feeding of school children at midday.

Can-did-cillin 1846

100 YEARS AGO FOOD IN TIN CANS WAS A NOVELTY. PRODUCTION QUOTA FOR AN EXPERT TINSMITH WAS ONLY 60 CANS A DAY.

Now a single can production line turns out 400 steel and tin cans per minute - to give complete protection to the more than 2,500 products using cans for packaging.

SURPASSES PENCILLIN

More Potent Report Claims

A new, non-poisonous drug, called an even more deadly germ killer than Pencillin, was described in a report to the American Medical Association recently.

In test tubes it will kill or prevent the growth of more kinds of dangerous germs than pencillin, among them tuberculosis, tetanus, the deadly and elusive gas bacillus, typhoid, dysentery, diphtheria, syphilis, gonorrhea, and the organisms which cause blood poisoning, rheumatic fever, and boils.

A preliminary report on its effectiveness in skin diseases, made before the American Medical Association by Dr. John G. Downing and Dr. Millard C. Hanson of Boston, said their results generally were better than with pencillin.

The drug is made from an extract of oat hulls compounded with various other chemicals. The basic substance is furacin and the compounds are called nitrofurans. The Eastern Laboratories, Norwich, N. Y., manufacturer of the substances, thus far have made about 250 different furacin compounds, only a few of which have been tried thus far. All are potential germ fighters.

The fact that these compounds will kill a wide assortment of germs in test tubes or laboratory animals does not necessarily mean that they will do a satisfactory job when turned against disease organisms in the human body. Two big tests remain to be made before their value in internal medicine can be finally determined.

These tests are first, the determination of the amounts of the drugs necessary for a dose against each infection, and second, whether they will produce any undesirable reactions in the patient. It is too early yet for the experts to answer these questions.

DEADLY NEW INSECTICIDE IS PRODUCED

Developed During War,

A new insecticide, Hexachlorocyclohexane, with a reputation as menacing as its name, has proved effective in checking a crop-destroying grasshopper plague in Sardinia. It was reported recently by DuPont plant officials here through the UNRRA.

More than 300 pounds of the latest weapon in the arsenal against insects, now being made on an experimental scale, was donated by DuPont and flown overseas by UNRRA.

DuPont officials said the insecticide was developed during the war by Imperial Chemical Industries, Ltd., of England, and has been tested there. The new compound, sometimes called benzene hexachloride, is now being widely evaluated in this country. It shows promise against some of the insect pests of economic importance.

in agriculture that have previously been difficult or impossible to control.

Heavy invasions have been made in the ranks of the grasshoppers since hexachlorocyclohexane came to the aid of Sardinian farmers. Observers report that the pests assisted in the annihilation by feeding on carcasses of their poisoned brothers. Death is said to follow as late as the fourth day after the cannibalism.

Ten Instructors For Guard Camp Named

Ten instructors have been selected to conduct training at Camp John Rachek, Bethany Beach, where the Delaware State Guard will encamp Aug. 3 to 11.

The final training schedule was announced at the same time last night at guard headquarters in the State Armory.

Col. J. Paul Heinel, commanding officer of the Delaware Regiment, named the following to serve as instructors: Lieut.-Col. Victor Clark, Maj. Ralph E. Buckalew, Maj. James W. Bellah, Capt. Jacob Rossa, Jr., Capt. William E. Donnell, Capt. George Latham, Capt. Laurence C. Lapetina, and Chaplain William C. Munds, First Lieut. Francis J. Reese, and Second Lieut. Harry L. Maier, Jr.

New Poultry Culling Circular is Released

"Poultry Culling and Selection" is the title of the latest poultry circular issued by the Delaware Agricultural Extension Service. Prepared by W. C. Skoglund, Extension poultry specialist, the bulletin aims to fill requests of poultrymen for information on culling during the current season for increasing food.

Skoglund stresses the importance of culling as good poultry management. Culling the hens that are not laying reduces production costs per dozen eggs, makes better use of housing space for the better birds, and reduces laying flock mortality.

Among the features of the bulletin are illustrations and charts on how to cull—how to tell layers from non-layers; how to determine past production, so that the poultryman can select the best birds to keep; and how to select pullets and males.

This poultry circular, No. 53, is available to poultrymen, and may be obtained from the Delaware Agricultural Extension Service, Newark, Del., from county agricultural agents in Dover and Georgetown.

ABUNDANCE OF SLEEP ESSENTIAL TO HEALTH

State Health Board Urges Relaxation In Hot Weather

Hours of high speed work in hot, humid weather, run down human machines, too, and since it is important that bodies keep functioning normally and that nerves remain steady, the State Board of Health suggests that everyone try to have regular relaxation to balance the outlay of muscular strength and nervous energy. A full, sound night's sleep is of course the best cure for tiredness. Eight hours is usually considered to be the length of time considered a healthy adult should sleep nightly. Some people need more sleep and some need less. Each person must be the judge of the amount of sleep which brings him, rested, to a new day. The most valuable experiments on sleep are the ones which each individual makes on himself to find out the amount of sleep he needs in order to feel well, to do efficient work, and to keep in good humor the next day. Parents should try to decide the sleep needs of their children. When a child is naughty, cross, restless or hard to manage, the trouble is probably that he is physically and nervously tired out. Naps are a help, especially in hot weather.

Children must also have the proper amount of sleep in order to grow at a normal rate. During normal, healthy sleep vital activities are reduced or slowed down. At this time the body is freer to mend worn-out tissues and to build new ones. This building of new tissue in children is called growing and a child, to grow properly, must have adequate sleep.

Sleep Required by the Average Child

At birth	20 to 22 hours*
At 6 months	16 to 18 hours*
At 1 year	14 to 16 hours*
2-5 years	13 to 15 hours*
6-7 years	12 hours
8-10 years	11 hours
11-12 years	10 to 11 hours
13-15 years	10 to 12 hours

* Including daytime sleep.

Requirements for sound sleep listed by the board are: Quiet and darkness; a comfortable bed; relaxation. To lie in bed with muscles stiff and tense and a mind busily at work is not a good way to invite restful sleep. The board advises that people learn to develop a complete "let-go" of muscles. This will bring the rest and restoration of worn-out tissues even if sleep is slow to come.

Moment's Rest Helpful

A moment's relaxation of taut muscles and nerves now and then during the day helps one to keep going in the heat using odd minutes to rest, for example, while riding on the bus to and from work, and making the most of rest pauses during the working period.

After a hard day's work, the board warns against pushing one's self into unnecessary added activity and suggests that recreation be chosen to suit one's work and constitution. Those who are young and whose jobs require but little muscular work may wish to take part in active sports, but if one's job "takes a lot out" physically, it suggests less tiring pastimes. How one's precious hours of leisure are spent is of the greatest importance in keeping fit.

Good health is the best foundation for finding pleasure in shouldering responsibilities and taking pride in one job the board points out.

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of our dear son and brother, Private First Class David F. Anderson, who gave his life for his country, in France, July 17, 1944. Just two years ago today, dear son, your last battle, it was won. And you gave your very best. Then God took you home, to rest. How we miss you, darling boy. You were our pride and joy. But some day we shall weep no more when we join you on the golden shore. Sadly missed by Mother, Brother and Sisters.

There must be some truth to that old saw, "Fools are born, not made" and some of it must have been born in us for we do some of the funniest fool things you ever heard of.

Once, years ago, we were presented upon by our then one small child to get a dog. We got into the most beautiful collie puppies you can imagine and he was a source of joy and pleasure to us all for several weeks.

Several years later, we weakened again and this time bought a sassy little Boston Bull pup, about six weeks old, which we housed in the house as a Christmas present.

We were again, however, destined to calamity. First this extremely determined pup didn't like the idea of walking on a leash.

So, amid weeping and wailing from our family we shipped him off to a nearby Florida to relatives.

To learn several months later that he too had come the result of the minor loss of this time a fact.

So, going hog-wild over the idea we went in for raising chickens. We spent several weeks personally building a super-duper chicken house and yard.

We bought the best of the best Leghorns anywhere and ordered our chicks from the best of the best.

The factor that we didn't seem to have taken into our flock didn't seem to be the fact that the chickens were doing fine until something hit them.

Our chickens were doing fine until something hit them. First a mouthful of something hit them.

Our chickens were doing fine until something hit them. First a mouthful of something hit them.

NEW MATH DEPT. AIDE APPOINTED

Dr. T. A. Botts Is Named Asst. Math Professor

The appointment of Dr. Truman A. Botts as an assistant professor in the Department of Mathematics at the University of Delaware, effective in September, was announced recently by Dr. Carl F. Rees, head of that department.

On active duty in the Navy since 1942, Dr. Botts now is stationed in Washington, D. C. He has the rank of lieutenant and is expected to be reassigned to inactive duty on August 1.

A native of Deland, Fla., the new appointee attended John B. Stetson University from 1934 to 1938, when he was graduated magna cum laude with a bachelor of science degree in mathematics and physics. As a Fulbright fellow, he attended the University of Virginia for three years, 1941, and then remained in Charlottesville for another year as an instructor. The University of Virginia conferred an M. A. degree upon him in 1942 and a Ph. D. degree in 1944.

Dr. Botts is especially interested in mathematical subjects, having published in such publications as the Bulletin of the American Mathematical Society, the American Mathematical Monthly, and the Duke Mathematical Journal. He is a member of Phi Beta Kappa and honorary scholar of the University of Virginia. He is also a member of the American Mathematical Society and the Mathematical Association of America.

NATIONAL FARM SAFETY WEEK IS SET

Program To Be Observed July 21-27

The week of July 21-27 has been designated National Farm Safety Week. During this time Delaware farm families are urged by the Delaware Agricultural Extension Service to take an active part in eliminating accident hazards and promoting safety practices on the farm and in the home.

It is estimated by the National Safety Council that more than 16,000 farm people were killed, and 1,500,000 injured by accidents in 1945. Farming has one of the highest accident rates of all occupations, and since farmers generally are not covered by workman's compensation laws, as are most workers in industry, a serious accident may cause total hardship to a farm family.

The farm safety campaign, while highlighted during the national week, should be continued throughout the year. Learn where hazards lie, eliminate them, and form habits of caution and daily dangers. Accidents can be prevented by a well-directed year-round safety campaign.

SPENDING HABITS ARE STUDIED BY 4-H YOUTHS

Personal Record Books Are Kept By Club Members

Thirty-seven 4-H boys and girls in Delaware are learning the value of money by keeping personal record books. Under the guidance of Miss Louise Whitcomb, home management specialist for the Delaware Extension Service, these club members are keeping track of their daily spending habits and recording them in the complete record book.

In talking over the spending habits of boys and girls with their parents, Miss Whitcomb advocates a regular allowance for spending, sharing and saving. Small weekly allowances, based on the child's needs for school lunches, school supplies, treats and movies are most common. There is also a place in the book to record the items furnished by the parents, which the allowance or spending money is not expected to cover—things like clothing, dentist bills, music lessons, and trips.

The summary of such a record at the end of the year is of equal satisfaction to parents and 4-H club members. To parents, it gives a concrete idea of the cost of feeding, clothing, and educating boys and girls and provides a guide for better financial planning for their future. To the boy or girl, it gives an inkling of what their share of the family living has been.

With the personal record book in their hands, these 37 4-H Club members are working this year with Miss Whitcomb and their County 4-H Club agents.

30 JOIN IN PLAYGROUND ACTIVITIES

Treasure Hunt Here Saturday Proves Popular

About thirty youngsters joined in the treasure hunt, which highlighted the community playground session last Saturday morning.

The excited group tracked down clues for over an hour in a chase that led over the entire playground area. Successful sleuth was young Edward Sobolewski, who finally discovered the "treasure,"—a one dollar bill, concealed in the hand of Tom Silk, playground assistant.

Arranged by Coach Martin, the hunt included about 15 clues hidden in various places about the playground, on the bleachers, third base, under trees, etc. The clues consisted of verses hinting at where the next clue might be found. The puzzle aspect of the game appealed highly to the youngsters, and the event proved one of the most successful features of the playground program to date.

Next special event on the playground roster will be a pet show, opened to all the town's youngsters, scheduled for Saturday, July 27.

1,696 Vets In State Get GI Education Benefits

The number of Delaware veterans receiving education and training under GI Bill of Rights took a 21 per cent jump during June to reach a new high of 1,696. Estimated total in substance payments from the federal government was $118,720 a month.

However, 726 veterans actually started receiving education benefits during June. There was also a hidden gain of 425 in the June total, since educational benefits to that number of veterans were discontinued in the month.

Most of the 1,696 veterans—1,004 in all—were receiving on-the-job training, while 692 were receiving schooling from high schools, colleges and other institutions.

FOREIGN STUDY PLAN RESUMED AT UNIVERSITY

36 Students To Sail August 16 For 12 Months Of Study In Geneva

After seven years of war-imposed curtailment, the University of Delaware Foreign Study Plan will be resumed this year, it was announced recently by the Secretary of the Committee on Foreign Study at the university.

Thirty-six students, representing nineteen colleges from Main to California will comprise the group who, under the auspices of the University of Delaware, will spend next year at the University of Geneva. Seven veterans, including one ex-officer in the Women's Reserve of the Marine Corps, have registered for the group.

Dr. David M. Dougherty, chairman of the Department of Romance Languages at Clark University, has been appointed director of the Delaware 1946-47 Geneva Group, which will sail from New York on or about August 16.

Dr. Dougherty, a graduate of the University of Delaware who spent his own junior year in France as a member of the first University of Delaware Junior Year Group, in 1923-24, was director of the 1939-40 group in France, whose studies were interrupted by the outbreak of war.

Mrs. John R. Kleineschmidt, a Smith College graduate, who also spent her junior year in France, as a member of the Smith College Group in 1931-32, will be the assistant director. Mrs. Kleineschmidt is currently Library Assistant and Head of College Dormitory at Pembroke College. From 1938 until the war she performed administrative and social duties as assistant to the directress of Reid Hall in Paris.

The University of Delaware Foreign Study Plan, organized in 1923, has won international recognition and acclaim. In the sixteen years until war forced its suspension, nearly 800 students representing 123 American universities have participated in the program, which provides for spending the entire junior year in study abroad, with credits earned counting towards a degree from the student's own university.

POULTRY ILLS CURBED BY TESTING

Eradication Of Pullorum Progressing

Delaware hatcheries and poultrymen are establishing a record of progress in pullorum disease eradication. Citing figures compiled by the Delaware State Board of Agriculture, W. C. Skoglund, Extension poultryman reports that in 1945 772 flocks were tested for the disease with 470,740 birds in the pullorum clean rating. Ten years ago only 256 flocks were tested with 2,457 birds pullorum clean.

Skoglund says these figures indicate that Delaware poultrymen are realizing the opportunity available in the production of hatching eggs locally for the State's broiler production.

Pullorum disease is highly contagious and fatal in chicks under three weeks of age; while mature birds may have the disease, it is less contagious and less fatal than among chicks. Estimates of the extent of reduced egg production, however, vary from 25 to 50 per cent.

By blood testing the breeding flock and removing all infected adults, hatching from infected eggs is prevented.

Poultrymen again this year are submitting applications to the State Board of Agriculture for State Board field men to test their flocks. H. R. Baker, poultry pathologist for the State Board of Agriculture urges all poultrymen who have not already done so to send in their applications immediately. The department reports that requests for testing are now booked up into September.

A letter to Mr. Baker at the State Board of Agriculture, Dover, giving the number of birds to be tested, date testing is desired and the location of the farm will be sufficient.

Any poultryman desiring information concerning the production of hatching eggs should write to Mr. Skoglund, extension poultryman at the University of Delaware, Newark.

MCDOWELL AT PARLEY

U. of D. Delegates Hear Eisenhower

John N. McDowell and Miss Winifred S. Taylor, representing the alumni and alumnae of the University of Delaware, were present when Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower spoke at the national conference of the American Alumni Council at Amherst College last week.

General Eisenhower, who topped the list of speakers there, broadcast over a national hook-up and later gave an "off-the-record" talk, urging a unity of American spirit "similar to that of 1942." Delegates from about 250 colleges and universities in the United States and Canada were present.

Post-war problems, particularly those relating to education, were discussed at the conference. Speakers included Dr. Francis J. Brown of the American Council of Education and William G. Avirett, education editor of the New York Herald Tribune.
