Distinquished Cast For Centenary Pageant

Large Cast Will Recreate History Of University On Mitchell Hall Stage; Wives Of Faculty Also To Take Part

Participating in the Centenary Pageant will be probably the most distinguished cast which ever has been assembled or ever will be assembled on the stage of Mitchell Hall. The President of the University, the Deans of the various schools, the Heads of most of the departments, a majority of the members of the faculty, outstanding leaders of the undergraduate body at both ends of the campus, will mingle with prominent clergymen, lawyers, and business men of the vicinity in recreating the personalities of the men who made University history.

A number of interesting sidelights on the Pageant have recently come to view. The casting director was extremely fortunate in securing for the scene representing the opening of the Women's College both Mrs. A. D. Warner and Dean Robinson who were present on that occasion in 1914. Two other characters in this scene are being represented by their sons. Mr. Norris Wright of Newark will represent his father, Mr. S. J. Wright, and Dr. Edward Twitmyer is coming from Philadelphia to represent his father, Dr. G. W. Twitmyer, then superintendent of schools. It is hoped that two others who were present in 1914 will also be able to represent themselves in this scene. Dr. Mitchell, former president of the University, and Dr. Chauncey Holcomb, of New Castle, who has just recently returned from China, have been invited to appear in this scene.

Some other faces unfamiliar to Mitchell Hall audiences will be a group of women selected from among the wives of the members of the faculty, who will lend color to the Pageant in the picturesque dresses of the Nineteenth Century in which they will appear.

Final rehearsals of the scenes are being held this week in preparation for the dress rehearsal on next Tuesday night. More than a hundred costumes are being rented and will arrive here Monday morning. The scenic arrangements are about completed and promise to excel in their richness and color anything before seen here. To add to the spectacle, Mr. Pirmin Swinnen will be at the console leading a chorus of about forty singers.

The following cast is not correct or complete in every detail, but is the best which was able to be furnished to date.

Squire to State Standard Bearer, Helen Eckert; State Standard Bearer, Robert Ledley; 1st Trumpeter, Heather; 2nd Trumpeter, Harry L. Hinnerst; Squire to Herald, Virginia Lee; Herald, Harvey Mesigan; University, Caroline Cobb; Page to University, Josephine De Bartolomeis; 3rd Trumpeter, Wm. J. Mearns; 4th Trumpeter, Frank E. Warren; University Standard Bearer, Henry Walker; Squire to University Standard Bearer, Kathleen Spencer; Archivist, Dr. George Ryden; (Continued on Page 5.)

More Costumes Needed

More costumes for the participants in the Historical Pageant are requested from friends of the University, particularly costumes, both male and female, of the late 19th Century and the early 20th Century. Costumes of 1914, when the Women's College was opened, are particularly needed. All properties loaned will be taken care of by a member of the faculty and returned. Those interested are asked to communicate with Miss Caroline Cobb, chairman, at the Women's College.

Co-Education At Del. Vogue Fifty Years Ago; Protest Abolishment

Women Bitterly Opposed Closing Of University To Them In 1886; Not Again Admitted To Higher Education Until 1914

The recent resolution of the Student Council calling for co-education as distinguished from the system of affiliation now in vogue, recalls that co-education existed in Delaware College from 1872 to 1886, under President William H. Purnell.

During this brief period, 81 young ladies were matriculated and 37 were graduated. In the distribution of honors, the girls by superior scholarship carried off more than their proportionate share.

The Pestalozzi Literary Society, formed to parallel the two literary societies among the men, was organized November 10, 1876, and numbered among its members more than 50 of the young women.

The catalogue of the society, published in 1886, when co-education had been ousted, is remarkable for (Continued on Page 5.)

Old Literary Societies To Have Reunions

Ancient Rivals, Athenaeon And Delta Phi, Each Have From 150 To 200 Surviving Members, Many Are Prominent

Plans to have reunions of the ancient Literary Societies of Delaware College during the course of the Centenary calls to mind the tremendous grip these groups had upon the student-body for three-quarters of a century. They were discontinued more than fifteen years ago and their libraries and effects dispersed, the bulk finding itself into the Memorial Library.

The two rival societies, the Athenaeon and the Delta Phi, were inaugurated in the first collegiate year and flourished mightily in the first quarter-century, when oratory and literary attainments were more highly esteemed than now. With 1870, and the resumption of college life, they were revived and resumed their old rivalry. However, from 1900 on, there was decadence of (Continued on Page 4.)

Mr. Lewis Receives Letter from Quesney

Mr. Lewis, the Librarian, has received a letter from M. Angelbert Quesney requesting that he be remembered to the students he knew here when he was a foreign exchange student at Delaware two years ago. When Mr. Lewis and his wife were visiting the Cathedral at Chartres last summer they met M. Quesney under one of the windows of that ancient cathedral and had a pleasant reunion with him. The Memorial Library has been the recipient of two French books from the young Frenchman.

M. Quesney's address is 74 Rue de la Barrière, Elbeuf, S. L., France.

New Fraternity Heads

The presidents of fraternity chapters here for the year 1934-35 are as follows: Kappa Alpha—Ralph Walden.

Theta Chi—Sam Hunn. Sigma Nu—Robert Davis. Sigma Phi Epsilon—Harry Wilson. Phi Kappa Tau—Charles Cunningham. Sigma Tau Phi—Solomon Jasper.

Cunningham, Medill Head 'Blue Hen' Staff

Elected In Wolf Hall Yesterday By Sophomore And Junior Classes To Print Biannual Publication

At a combined meeting of the classes of 1935-36 held yesterday Charles N. Cunningham was elected Editor, and Daniel Medill was elected Business Manager of the Blue Hen, the Delaware College biannual.

Cunningham graduated from Union High School at Burgettstown, Pa., where he was editor of the H. S. monthly and served on the staff of the yearbook. He has been elected President of Phi Kappa Tau fraternity for next year and is a member of the Student Council.

Medill graduated from DuPont High School. He has served on the business staff of several plays staged by the Footlights Club and was Business Manager of the operetta "Pirates," staged by the Bar and Clef Club. He is a member of Sigma Nu Fraternity.

R. O. T. C. Inspection Thursday and Friday, 3rd and 4th

The annual inspection of the R. O. T. C. unit here at Delaware will take place Thursday and Friday, May 3rd and 4th. The inspecting officers, according to orders received by the Military Department, will be Major Meade Wildrich, C. A. C., and Major Joseph A. O'Hara, 16th Infantry.

Thursday morning will be devoted to classroom inspection, beginning at 7.55 a. m., E. S. T., and lasting until 1.30 p. m. At 12.30 p. m., E. S. T., the Battalion will be inspected in ranks. This will take place on the lower campus, in front of Wolf Hall.

Friday will be devoted to concluding the inspection of the classroom work of the upper-classes and will close the inspection as a whole.

Reverend Clash Centenary Preacher

The Rev. Charles W. Clash, rector of Immanuel P. E. Church, Wilmington, will preach the sermon at the Centenary Service on Sunday morning, May 13, in Mitchell Hall. Mr. Clash is an alumnus of the University.

Report Of Professors Recommended Joining Of Classes In 2 Colleges

$24,000 Additional Equipment Available For Delaware College; $60,000 For Women's College In Conjoint Scheme

A summary of the benefits of introducing "a modification of the present policy of strictly segregated classes in the two colleges" as found by the Delaware Chapter of the American Association of University Professors back in May, 1930, shows the present system to be nothing less than frankly wasteful.

The committee, composed of A. S. Eastman, chairman, J. S. Gould, and C. C. Palmer, found that exclusive of certain large classes in the Freshman and Sophomore years, all departments found it would be advantageous to combine small classes of the two colleges.

By the continuation of such courses it was pointed out that 67 combined classes could be had with a saving of 207 credit hours in the present staff of instruction. This equals the teaching time of eight full time instructors.

Dr. Hullihen Speaks At Alumni Reunion

Pittsburgh Chapter Of Delaware Grids Hears Of Centenary Preparations; Many Plan To Attend

President Hullihen was the principal speaker at the reunion of the Alumni of Delaware College who live in and near Pittsburgh, held on Saturday night, April 28, 1934. This is the first reunion of the Pittsburgh Alumni in several years.

Dr. Hullihen was introduced by President Thomas S. Baker of Carnegie Tech who spoke on himself as an alumnus of Delaware. Dr. Baker received an honorary degree here several years ago. Pres. Hullihen was the guest of Pres. Baker at the Pittsburgh Athletic Club.

Dr. Hullihen spoke about the proposed events for the Centenary Celebration. His address was received with enthusiasm as witnessed by the fact that many of the persons present declared their intention to come to the Centenary Exercises.

Potts Again Heads Alpha Psi Omega

At the spring business meeting of the Alpha Psi Omega, the honorary Dramatic Fraternity of Delaware College, the annual election of officers was held. Curtis R. Potts, this year's Director and President of Footlights Club and Director of the Footlights play "The Royal Family," was re-elected as Director for the coming year. The result of the other elections is as follows: John N. Russo as Asst. Director; Thomas C. Roe as Secretary, and Joseph R. Jefferson as Business Manager.

Defense Drill By R. O. T. C. At Centenary

Seaboard Protection To Be Demonstrated To Public May 11; Defense Against Air Attacks To Be Shown

Delaware in war-time! An ambitious enemy attempts to attack from the land and the air! How shall the shores of the Diamond State be protected from ruthless invasion?

The answer to this question will be presented vividly at the University of Delaware during its Centenary by the Military Department of the institution, which will show the proper means of defense. Reserve officers are especially invited to attend the two lectures given, accompanied by outdoor demonstration.

In the schedule of Open Classes and Laboratories, revealing the workings of the University, the Military Department will demonstrate protection from these two means of attack.

The first class in Military Science will be a part of the Open Classes and Laboratories, and be shown to the public on Friday afternoon, May 11, under the heading "Seaboard Protection." Between 1.25 and 2.15 p. m. with Colonel Donald M. Ashbridge in charge, the defense of Delaware against enemy fleets will be demonstrated in Room M, Old Mechanical Hall, and on Frazer Field, where a huge mock battleship will be shown attacking. This will be an actual reproduction of conditions that would present themselves in case of attack.

While the target simulating a battleship is attacking from Frazer Field, the complete plotting room will be seen in Room M, where the computations for firing will be made. The result of each hit will be observed and firings corrected, until the ship is sunk. The whole proceeding will be in view of visitors, and each step will be explained by Col. Ashbridge preceding the demonstration, in addition to specific details.

On Saturday, May 12, from 7.50 to 8.45 a. m., standard time, defense of this area from air attacks will be demonstrated. The title of the lecture will be "Anti-Aircraft Gunnery," by Captain S. W. Anderson, of Delaware College. It will be given in Room M, Old Mechanical Hall, and at this time, the means and methods by which Delaware and vicinity will be protected from bombing attacks will be fully shown. The form of the demonstration will be a regular class lecture by Capt. Anderson.

Engineers Make Drinking Fountain Automatic

"Buck" Palmer and Frank McRight are working on an innovation in drinking fountain for their thesis. They are putting an attachment on the drinking fountain at Evans Hall so that to drink, one has but to stoop down and the water will automatically bubble up. This arrangement is being used at the World's Fair. The operating mechanism consists of a photo-electric cell upon which is directed a continuous stream of light rays. When a person stoops over to drink, the circuit of rays is broken and the water flows. When, finished, the rays are allowed to contact the cell again and the bubbler stops.

Class Gifts

With but ten short days remaining until the actual Centenary exercises, May 2 finds a very meagre percentage of the money that the present classes in Delaware College were to contribute to the Centenary Fund, collected.

It will be a poor reflection upon the spirit and interest in the University by the future Alumni of '34, '35, '36, and '37 unless every single individual pledge is paid by the end of this week. To think of the hundreds of dollars expended each year upon a collage education and the pleasures of life, and then to balk at a paltry fifty cents gives one a most unflattering opinion of those students who carry away the thousands of dollars of value the University gives them.

Classes of '34, '35, '36 and '37! We appeal to you to maintain your personal honor and show that your gift, however small and humble it may be, nevertheless carries with it your sincerest and highest regard for the University.

Seek out the member of your class who was delegated to collect your money. If you cannot find him, send your contribution to the Centenary Office in Old College. There, filed away among the acknowledgments for the gifts of hundreds and of thousands of dollars, will be yours, none the less significant, because it shows the same unselfish spirit that prompted the sending of them all.

Polyticks Am A Luxury!

At the Elections yesterday, held for the purpose of selecting an Editor of the Blue Hen and a Business Manager something popped up which the Student Council was supposed to have remedied in the 1931 revision of the elections code. The reason that we have 21 full-fledged representatives to the Student Council is that there was too much politics in the old seven man council. When there is so much politics the wrong man is apt to be put in (not "selected for") the office.

Several members of a fraternity involved admitted the existence of a combination of three fraternities which was to have given each group an officer. This begins to resemble something with an odor attached, and we hope it will not carry over into the all important Student Council Elections.

A man can hardly be blamed for voting for his own fraternity brother. If he didn't like and trust the man he would never have joined the fraternity in the first place. However, when it comes to giving a man an office in return for one, that, we think, is going too far.

The best man, or the one you think is best, is the man for the office. We hope this will guide the men in the election of the Student Council President, regardless of the bargains now made.

An Opportunity for the New Blue Keys

The decision to retain the Blue Keys is, we believe, a wise one. The organization has shown signs of coming to life this year and it would have been unwise to kill a reviving organization. However, there is much room for improvement in this society.

On you men who are tapped Saturday as next year's Blue Keys rests the responsibility of developing the functions of your society so that it will be looked on as a necessary part of our undergraduate activities.

This year the Blue Keys received high commendation for the manner in which they welcomed some of the visiting football teams. But the society's enthusiasm waned and was evident in only sporadic outbursts.

The Blue Keys can perform a real service to the school if they will so organize as to meet all visiting athletic teams, whether fencing or football, and make them feel at home. They can render invaluable service if they will take it upon themselves to welcome returning alumni and acquaint them with Delaware as it is today. No better time at which to start could be found than at the three day Centenary celebration when literally thousands of people will be milling around looking for information or anxious to meet the present-day students.

If you new Blue Keys will organize yourselves into an efficient, smooth working organization to do these things, you will be worthy of the highest recognition. If you do not, then the existence of the Junior Honorary Society is as unjustified as that of the Senior and Sophomore ones.

In the Editor's Mail

No letters to the REVIEW will be published unless signed by the writer. The name will not be printed if so requested, but the writer assumes full responsibility for his statements.

Dear Editor:

It seems very evident to me that the advantages of coeducation are numerous. Certainly from an economic standpoint it would be very profitable. The recitation buildings of the two colleges if shared would be a great benefit to the students. Women's College is cramped and the classrooms under the eaves most undesirable in warm weather. The men and women share Mitchell Hall and the library, why not the classrooms too?

The variety of academic subjects offered would be increased with coeducation. It is most discouraging to the talents of a professor to expound at length to a class of three students. Often the need canceling the presentation of a scheduled class has resulted because of the lack of a sufficient number of students. Courses could be given every year instead of alternating years and thus students would not have to forego studies they had counted on, but couldn't work in.

The professors would benefit from coeducation also. They would not have to give the same lecture separately to the men and women. It is only natural that some of the forcefulness of a lecture is lacking at the second presentation that was present at the first.

Sincerely yours,
W. C. D., '35.

Denies Authorship

Dear Mr. Editor:

Because so many people have been accusing me of writing the inferior bit of drivel that was in your last issue in the form of a letter, I desire emphatically to deny once and for all that the odiferous piece of writing came from the pen which I manipulate.

Yours very truly,
Jos. H. Perkins, Jr.

Editor, "The Review":

Three cheers for the supporters of co-education—three jeers for those stagnant Victorians who oppose it. Like St. Paul, let's hope they will be soon converted.

U. of D.

Editor of "The Review":

Because the needs and the benefits that would be derived from coeducation are constantly being brought home to us in situations that we have met in college, we as students of the Women's College are very glad to see that action on this matter has been taken by the Delaware College student board and The Review. We believe it important that action be taken as soon as possible and heartily endorse all efforts made in that direction.

Interscholastics

John N. Russo

On Saturday of this week the annual Track and Field Championships of the University of Delaware are to be held on Frazer Field.

In a little while some of you will be receiving notices in your mail boxes asking you to act in some capacity on Saturday—such as field judge, recorder, measurer, hurdle remover, or some other small job the coaches may find for you to do. Don't fail to respond quickly. Your most incidental service will help in running the meet smoothly and successfully.

One of the most glaring reasons why there is so little gusto and enthusiasm shown at a track meet is that generally, they are run very slowly. Too much unnecessary time is taken between the various events. This is especially true of the track events. In a physical respect anyone should make an effort on Saturday to keep things moving.

During the pre-season training period Stretch Pohl predicted, or promised, that our band would play at all the home track meets. We have had only one track meet, but I saw no band. If we could have our trumpeters, saxophonists and drummers out there beatin'-it-out things might be livened somewhat.

The real purpose, however, for the writing of this column this week is to enlighten those in the obscure—the reason why we have the Interscholastic Track Meet. There are teams from New Jersey, Maryland, Pennsylvania, Washington, D. C., and other parts of our State invited to this athletic fete. We want those boys to come here and acquaint themselves with the University, its buildings and a superficial knowledge of its curriculum and organization. If you were a stranger coming for the first time to alien lands, it would be very difficult for you to familiarize yourself with the ways and customs of the community.

This is just the situation that will exist here on Saturday. There will be many strangers here on that day. Plenty of good athletes who rightfully belong to Delaware. But because of some unforeseen reason these fellows go to some other schools. The first impression is generally a lasting one. Possibly because of some oversight in the matter of courtesy these boys may tag us as being a bunch of "high-batters," and with "I don't like the place anyhow."

I know many of you are good "lead-pipe" wielders when it comes to tapping prospective members to your respective houses. Why not get out there on Saturday and "club" a couple of good athletes? We need them!

Centenary Relics Exhibit

The Centenary Exhibits, which will be placed on view in the Memorial Library at the University of Delaware during the celebration on May 11, 12, and 13, will constitute a representative exhibition of the University and the State in the arts.

They will be shown on Friday, May 11, between 1.25 and 3.15 p. m., and on Saturday, May 12, between 7 a. m. and 8.45 a. m., and from 1 p. m. to 4 p. m. Student attendants will be present to aid visitors.

As at present planned, the exhibits will be shown in the Art Gallery of the Library. On the south and west walls will be student work. At the southwest corner there will be a cabinet of pottery work by students. Along the northwest wall will appear a cabinet of volumes of the Old Library, the endeavor being to show the college library as it was in the early days, from 1834 on.

Valuable Relics Still Coming In

John Nivin, of Newark, Del., a member of the Class of 1885, Delaware College, has sent in an interesting historical relic, for exhibition at the Centenary, in the form of a photograph of the Class taken in the autumn of 1881. Those in the group include some of the best-known men in the State.

The members of the class were Victor B. Woolley, William H. Heald, L. Heisler Ball, John W. Hering, John G. Gray, Richard T. Pilling, Lewis W. Mustard, Maurice McKim, Allen B. Toulson, William DuHamel, Charles W. Cullen, John Nivin, John Pilling, Jr., Victor B. Snyder, W. M. Lausendale, John Donaldson, J. Harvey Whiteman, Wm. R. Aldred, Robert Showell, William Hazard, R. W. Rosenbaum, Harvey W. Ewing, J. Bernard Cush, Louis L. Curtis, Alex Polk, H. Greeley Knowles, George A. Carpenter, P. O. Vickery, Edward M. Purnell, James Ware, Nathaniel W. Davis, Owen F. Cannon, Calvin Cabbage, Andrew Wiley, Wm. Broughton.

As this was the period of coeducation, the girl members of the class are shown at the rear of the group. They include Laura Mackey, Margaret Blandy, Fannie Reynolds, A. Armitage Evans, Lizzie L. Hearne, Sue W. Ferris, May M. Janvier, Julia Mackey, Ida A. Simmons, Anna B. Midgett.

President Wm. H. Purnell and Prof. Wm. M. Jefferis appear with the class. Standing at one side is the well-known and much-liked janitor of a generation, George James.

Mr. Nivin also sent in a copy of the Delaware College Review of July, 1884, and an Invitation to Delaware College Commencement Dance, June 21, 1899.

Miss Julia Smith, of Delaware City, daughter of Willard T. Smith, Class of 1892, has forwarded several items, as follows: Certificates of the appointment of Private Willard Smith as Color Corporal, Dec. 2, 1889; appointment as Sergeant, Co. A, March 25, 1890, and appointment as 2nd Lieutenant, Sept. 3, 1890; and Commencement Program of June 17, 1891.

Wilbur F. Wilson, of Newark, has sent in an early copy of the Delta Phi Gazette, edited by D. R. Frazer. This was a literary society publication.

Blue Hens Again Bow To West Chester Teachers' College, 11-2

Jackson And Greenwood Unable To Stem Fusillade Of Hits; Ferguson Holds Opponents Scoreless After Fourth Inning

West Chester State Teachers' College proved their superiority over the unlucky Delaware nine by pounding the offerings of "Boney" Jackson and Bob Greenwood for eleven runs in the first four innings. Ferguson relieved Greenwood in the fifth and held the teachers scoreless the remainder of the game, striking out five and allowing but one hit.

The West Chester boys pounded the Delaware hurlers for a total of fifteen hits, while the Blue Hens garnered but eight, converting only two of these into runs.

O'Connell was the leading hitter for the locals, accounting for a three base hit and a single. The box score:

Left on base: Delaware, 3; West Chester, 8. Base on balls: Greenwood, 1; Barnes, 1. Struck out: by Jackson, 2; Ferguson, 5; Barnes, 5; Hits: off Jackson, 8 in 2-1-3 innings; Greenwood, 6 in 1-2-3 innings; Ferguson, 1 in 4 innings. Umpire: Westerbelt. Time: 1:50.

Bloomsburg, Dickinson Tennis Opponents

The Tennis Team, after a lay-off of two weeks, will resume action Friday when it encounters the Bloomsburg State Teachers College of Bloomsburg, Pennsylvania, on the latter's court. On Saturday they will meet the powerful Dickinson combine, likewise on foreign courts. The strength of the first opponent is uncertain, and it is hoped that the two weeks of arduous practice will bring successful results against this team. Regarding the Dickinson match, however, the Blue Hens will seriously miss the services of Bill Lawrence, who will be unable to make the trip. Nevertheless, the team should make a better showing than it did in the opening match with University of Maryland.

Lawrence Unable To Make Trip; Competition Lively For Positions On Team

Besides Walsh and Lawrence the men who will undoubtedly have permanent berths on this year's team are Whitney, a freshman who has particularly taken the fancy of Coach Jones, Hume, and Wheelless. Competition for other positions are keen, and Coach Jones is in a quandary about the selection from such promising candidates as Eckbert, Bob Davis, Roy Hill and Bill James.

Blue Hen Golfers Capture Fifth Straight

Outscore St. Joseph's 6 1-2 to 2; Lose Only One Single And a Foursome

The Blue Hen golfers, pride of the University sport teams of the 1934 season, continued their drive towards, what is hoped, an undefeated season when they captured their fifth consecutive match by adding St. Joseph's College to the victims, outscoring them 6 1/2 to 2 1/2 on the Cedarbrook Country Club Course.

The Delaware Team lost but one single match and one foursome when Diberdiens of the Hawk aggregation defeated Charley Pie, 3 and 2, and Brennan and Crawley defeated Teedy Wilson and Benton, 2 up.

The summaries:

Summary of golf matches. Singles: Wilson, Delaware, defeated Brennan, St. Joseph's, 3 and 2; Benton, Delaware, defeated Crawley, St. Joseph's, 1 up; Diberdiens, St. Joseph's, defeated Pie, Delaware, 3 and 2; Moore, Delaware, defeated Stanton, St. Joseph's, 3 and 2; Leahy, Delaware, defeated Murphy, St. Joseph's, 3 and 1; Stradley, Delaware, defeated Jones, St. Joseph's, 2 and 1. Foursomes: Brennan and Crawley, St. Joseph's, defeated Wilson and Benton, Delaware, 2 up; Pie and Moore, Delaware, finished all even with Diberdiens and Stanton, St. Joseph's; Leahy and Stradley, Delaware, defeated Murphy and Jones, St. Joseph's, 3 and 2.

Lomax Pitches J. V.'s To Win Over Salesianum

The Delaware J. V.'s captured their first game of the season Thursday, April 26, when they trounced Salesianum High School, 6-1. The Blue Hen reserve team nicked the offerings of three Sally pitchers for seven hits, while Lomax who pitched for Delaware, held his opponents to five scattered hits which resulted in but one run in the third inning.

Athletic Banquet to Have Stahley as Guest

The annual Athletic Banquet will be held tomorrow evening, May 3, in the Dining Hall. This banquet is primarily given in honor of the lettermen of the several sports of the University. Neil Stahley, the new grid coach will be present and likewise many notables of the University, including President Hullihen, Dean Dutton, and Dr. Wharton. No definite guest speaker has been procured as yet but short talks will be given by several of the guests, and Mr. Stahley will undoubtedly speak and possibly tell of some of his plans for next year.

THIS AND THAT R. C. M.

Saturday afternoon the annual Delaware Interscholastic track and field meet will be held on Frazer field. This is one of the outstanding events on the local athletic program during the spring months. There is every indication that the number of entries will far exceed that of last year. This meet has always been spectacular and colorful due to the close competition and friendly rivalry. I think it would be a good idea if the Blue Key members as well as all other students at the meet would make the participants and followers of the visiting teams thoroughly at home. Recently the student council agreed that the Blue Key society should be retained. This was a logical and sensible stand to make concerning a society whose purpose is of the highest kind... but the Lebanon Valley incident will not retain the reputation of this body forever.

Ralph C. McMullen

Lebanon Valley incident will not retain the reputation of this body forever.

After a futile effort to defeat Washington College in baseball last year, "Doc" Doherty's men finally came through last Saturday to hand them a 5-1 trouncing on the Chestertown diamond. The Kibler men twice defeated the locals last year but they have met up with a team of higher calibre than the one they faced last year. "Boney" Jackson again pitched masterful ball throughout the nine innings. "Bud" Newman, starting his first game of the year, played well in center field besides getting his share of the hits. The only run scored against Jackson was a home run which did little harm to the Blue Hen cause except to deprive Jackson from a shutout. Delaware meets three strong foes this week—Wake Forest will be met on the home field, while West Chester and Susquehanna will be opposed on foreign fields.

Our new football coach did not hesitate to answer those who delight in creating a sensation. Where do rumors such as that concerning Neil Stahley originate? In all probability they are started by some weak-kneed person who doesn't have anything else to do. Mr. Stahley will be present in Newark during the latter part of this week. He will attend the Athletic banquet Thursday night and will no doubt outline his plans for the coming football season.

Charlie Pie and his teammates will not be defeated by any of the remaining teams listed on their schedule. If they are beaten, they will be beaten by themselves. The unfortunate part of winning some difficult matches in the beginning of the season, tends to make that team have a let down in the latter part of the schedule. It remains to be seen if the Blue Hen golfers can maintain the pace... they have the ability, but...?

Benton is undefeated in the present golf campaign... little commotion resulted from the election of O'Connell and Wilson to captain Delaware athletic teams next winter... the election took place according to Hoyle, and the results were as expected... both are capable men for the jobs... Delaware schools including the University did not fare so well in the Penn Relays... Theta Chi and Sigma Phi Epsilon will finish one two in the interfrat relays Saturday... Ferguson will see service on the mound for the Blue Hen nine this week... Carey has the figures to show how the local track team will be undefeated this year... looks like plenty of excitement around here from now until the finals... then more excitement.

Delaware Nine Defeats Washington College

Jackson Stars In Pitching; Hickman And Crompton Play Good Game For Blue Hens

Boney Jackson's stellar pitching was the chief factor again in bringing in a 5-1 victory over the Washington College nine. Permitting but five scattered hits, one of which was the home run by Tignor that was responsible for the loser's only score and making a sacrifice hit, this yearling pitcher pitched an excellent brand of ball.

The offensive of Delaware in the first inning assured the game. Minner walked, O'Connell reached first on a liner Abbott was unable to handle, Ed Thompson likewise reached base by being hit with a pitched ball, and Hickman emptied the bags with a two-base hit. To score later himself while Brady was thrown out at first.

Proudfoot relieved the somewhat erratic Evans in the sixth, and held the Blue Hens to two hits in the last four innings. Jim Hickman accounted for the final run for Delaware in the seventh.

Boyles for Washington, and Hickman and Crompton of the Mud Hens were impressive in the field, while Tignor, Newman, Captain and Hurley.

George Thompson and Hickman each collected two hits for their respective teams.

32 Schools In Annual Interscholastics Sat.

Twenty-First Track And Field Schoolboy Competition Sponsored By U. Of Delaware

The 21st Annual Interscholastic Track and Field Meet will be held on Frazer field Saturday, May 5. The events are scheduled to commence at 1 p. m., daylight saving time. Up to date, thirty-two schools have entered contestants in the meet.

The schools are divided into three classes, A, B, and C. All preparatory and senior high schools belong to Class A. High Schools only are in Class B, while only schools belonging to the Delaware Interstate Athletic Association are allowed in Class C. The same rules of qualifications that prevail in inter-collegiate AAAA will be followed here.

To the team scoring the greatest number of points in each class a cup is given. Gold, silver, and bronze medals are also awarded respectively to the 1st, 2nd, and 3rd place winners in each event in each class. Winners will be determined by the following point system. For relay races, first place, ten points; second place, six; third place, three, and fourth place, one. For individual places, first place, five points; second place, three; third place, two, and fourth, one.

Last year in the Twentieth Annual Meet, Perkiomen won the cup in Class A, Haverford Township in Class B, and Newark High School in Class C.

The schools entered are:

- CLASS A: Gilson School, Perkiomen School, Germantown School, Episcopal Academy, Franklin and Marshall Academy, Malvern Prep, Haverford School, Tome School, West Catholic High School. CLASS B: Collingswood High School, Vineland High School, Church Farm School, Ocean City High School, Audubon High School, Pennsylvania High School, Camden High School, Lansdowne High School, Swarthmore High School, Woodbury High School, Swedesboro High School, West Chester High School, Wildwood High School, Bridgeton High School, Edgelyne High School, Holy Spirit High School, Haverford High School. CLASS C: Alexis L. du Pont High School, Caesar Rodney High School, Dover High School, Middletown High School, Newark High School, Claymont High School.

Delaware Men Take Part In U. of P. Relays

Pohl, Lambert, Cotty, And Carey Enter Respective Events But Fail To Score

Our four representatives in the Penn Relays, Carey, Cotty, Lambert, Pohl, made a laudable effort to place the University of Delaware in the scoring columns but unfortunately were not quite on a par with the winners in their respective events.

Lambert, who was entered in the 100 meter race, finished fourth in his heat, but was unable to qualify. Carey hurled the javelin 173 feet, but was far short of the more than 200 foot throw made by the winner, Ralston Legore, of North Carolina. Cotty cleared the bar at 5 feet, 10 inches in the high jump, and Captain Pohl vaulted 11 feet, 9 inches. The winners of these two events, George Spitz of New York University, and J. A. McWilliams, of Princeton, excelled these marks several inches.

The records of our contestants are not to be lamented when one considers that the finest athletes of the American colleges participated.

A track meet has been scheduled with La Salle for Tuesday, May 8th, at Frazer Field.

Report Of Professors Recommended Joining Of Classes In Two Colleges

After investigation into possible savings of laboratory equipment in the case of a conjoint situation, the report stated that "$24,000 worth of additional equipment would be available for Delaware College and $60,000 worth additional equipment to the Women's College. This is exclusive of buildings."

The committee on University reorganization also pointed out that a combination of classes in Junior and Senior years would equalize educational opportunity with respect to their choice of advanced courses. Under the present plan certain courses are given in only one college and cannot be duplicated in the other because of insufficient teaching staff or small number of students desiring the course. The committee recommended that any future "class and laboratory buildings should be so designed and located as to facilitate combination of classes and common use of equipment."

interest, what with the growth of scientific and technical courses, as compared with purely classical, as well as the popularity of Greek Letter fraternities, which finally resulted in their dissolution.

The societies were secret, the membership was more or less evenly divided among the students, and, during the 19th Century particularly, it may be said they exercised more influence over college life in Newark than any other agency. Their annual exercises, held at Commencement, almost overshadowed the graduation exercises themselves. Their distinguished speakers, usually drawn from the old members, were often more prominent than the Commencement Day orator. In fact, both societies for a number of years awarded diplomas to their members. Coupled with this was the admitted truth that the society libraries were more adequate and more carefully selected than the College Library itself.

Among the founders of the Athenaeum Society were Dr. Hayes Agnew, U. S. Senator George Read its frankness in criticizing the Trustees for discontinuing co-education, and for its modern outlook.

An Address to the Trustees declares that the vote on co-education discontinuance was passed by 13 to 8, with 10 absentees, less than a majority of the complete board.

"There is no preamble to the resolution and the Board has never made any explanation of its sudden and summary action, by which the college doors were in the future to be closed against our sex. We are justified in the inference that our presence would not have been dangerous or our influence dreadful since those of us already in were expressly permitted to renew and finish our college work."

Further, they state: "Delaware College is the only institution of learning in the civilized world that has excluded young ladies after admitting them, and that, too, without assigning any cause or reason."

Citing Cornell, University of Michigan, and other leading colleges where co-education was in vogue, they ask: "Why then should little Delaware College have gone contrary to the spirit of the age and restricted its usefulness by prohibiting the further admission of young ladies?"

If, as had been rumored, young men were deterred from entering, they declare that such boys were myths, but even if they existed, "Why should their ignorance and inexcusable prejudice be allowed to decide the policy of a State institution of learning, the very object of which is to dispel prejudice and enlighten the people."

More men students, they averred, had attended the college since co-education than at any other time in its history.

"In conclusion, whilst we freely and gratefully acknowledge our obligations for the opportunities afforded to us in Delaware College, we deeply regret that without apparent adequate cause a like privilege is not to be hereafter extended to others of our sex. The only college in the little Diamond State is henceforth a thing tabooed to those of our sex who desire to avail themselves of its educational advantages. It is a hard judgment, but we will possess our souls in patience and await with confidence the second sober thought to right this injustice."

It was not until 1914 that women were again admitted to higher education in Delaware.

The way tobacco is cut has a lot to do with the way Chesterfield burns and tastes

There are many different ways of cutting tobacco.

A long time ago, it used to be cut on what was known as a Pease Cutter, but this darkened the tobacco, and it was not uniform.

The cutters today are the most improved, modern, up-to-the-minute type. They cut uniformly, and cut in long shreds.

The tobacco in Chesterfield is cut right—you can judge for yourself how Chesterfields burn and how they taste.
