Mayor still unopposed, Godwin, Zych challenged

By JENNIFER L. RODGERS
NEWARK POST STAFF WRITER

Four seats on Newark City Council are up for re-election April 11.

So far, two races have emerged in the city's first and second districts.

District 1 Councilman, Hal Godwin is challenged by political newcomer, Martin Reynolds and District 2 Councilwoman, Irene Zych is challenged by upstart Jerry Clifton.

No one has filed for the District 4 seat, currently held by Thomas Wampler. Wampler, a one-term incumbent, said he will file in the near future.

Mayor Ronald Gardner has filed for reelection, but has no challengers as of Wednesday.

In order to run for office, the following requirements must be met:

- No felony convictions in the last 15 years.
- One year residence in the city.
- 10 registered voters' signatures must be gathered on a nominating petition, which is available at the City Secretary's office at Municipal Hall. Petition signers must live in the candidate's district.

Mayoral candidates can live anywhere in the city.

The deadline for filing is March 13.

Council members are paid $3,600 per year and the mayor receives $4,200.

In order to vote in Newark's non-partisan election, once must have lived in the city for 24 days and be registered to vote in New Castle County. It is not necessary to register separately for city elections.

Voting polling places will be announced at a later date. If a mayoral race develops, there will be polling places in each district. Otherwise precincts will be in districts that have a race.

Kells Avenue scene of rape attempt

A 20-year-old Pennsylvania woman was attacked by a man who attempted to rape her.

The incident occurred on the unit block of Kells Avenue, according to Newark police officer Curt Davis.

Davis said the woman was walking on Kells Avenue at about 2 a.m. on Jan. 28 when the man attempted to put his arm around her.

Police report the man then grabbed the woman, dragged her between the houses, pushed her to the ground and tried to sexually assault her.

The woman, police said, escaped and was unharmed.

Police describe the man as white and between the ages of 18-24.

To report information to Newark police, call 366-7111.

Unemployment here lowest in Delaware

Newark's unemployment rate dropped below 3 percent late last year.

Figures released late last month by the Delaware Department of Labor indicate the jobless rate for Newark fell to 2.7 percent in December — a number many economists see as full employment.

The figure was the lowest among the three cities and three counties that are listed in the Labor Department's Monthly Labor Review report.

By contrast, the unemployment figure for the cities of Wilmington and Dover for December stood at 4.4 percent and 4 percent respectively.

In December 1993, Newark's unemployment rate was above 5 percent.

Edward Simon — labor market analyst for the Department of Labor's office near Newark — said the city's jobless figure is surprisingly low, even when the overall strength of the economy is considered.

However, he added that those anticipating the conditions reported in the 1980s will be disappointed.

Instead, modest growth in total employment and a smaller pool of younger workers have combined to send unemployment rates downward.

Simon said it is difficult to determine whether any significant labor shortages are cropping up. According to Simon, skilled workers in a number of categories, remained in short supply, even during the previous recession.

The labor analyst cautioned that the December unemployment rate is preliminary and might actually move up a bit when adjustments are made.

Additionally, the figures for Newark do not include adjustments for seasonal factors.

'We want bypass,' citizens tell DeIDOT

By TONJA CASTANEDA

A prominent Newark resident made another plea to state officials to stop trucks from barreling through neighborhoods.

Former Newark City Councilman and 40-year resident Robert S. Smith addressed about 300 persons attending a public hearing on the Delaware Department of Transportation Capital Improvement Program. Smith was the first of about 40 speakers to address DeIDOT.

In addition, more than a dozen pro-bypass residents attended the meeting and held up signs saying, "Bypass Now," "No bypass, no vote" and "Trucks are too big for our roads."

Smith asked DeIDOT why the extension of Del. 4 (Christina Parkway) from Elkton Road to Nottingham Road (otherwise known as the bypass) is not in DeIDOT's plan for 1996 to 2001.

Smith said the project was given top priority in a 1988 DeIDOT study.

"For many years, citizens of Newark, like myself, feel we've been getting the run-around from the various agencies involved in transportation planning for our community," Smith said. "If you truly seek citizen involvement and participation in this process,

Two more convicted, vandalism reports drop

By TONJA CASTANEDA
NEWARK POST STAFF WRITER

Newark's battle on graffiti is getting results.

Two juveniles have been convicted in Delaware Family Court for graffiti charges and police are reporting a decline in damage.

The convictions are an outgrowth of an investigation by Newark Police last year.

Last spring, Newark police conducted a three-month probe into graffiti on buildings, bridges and overpasses. They spent more than 200 manhours on the case and compiled over 1,000 photographs of graffiti for evidence.

As a result of the investigation, 10 people — three adults and seven juveniles — were arrested and charged for vandalizing local property.

The three adults were found guilty of charges last August. Now, two of the juveniles have also been found guilty.

A 17-year-old Newark boy pleaded guilty to five counts of criminal mischief, from the 20 counts, according to Newark police officer Thomas LeMin, who spearheaded the investigation.

Also as part of a plea agreement, the boy agreed to pay full restitution for clean up costs to all victims and was sentenced to

Still in line at money machine

An Aetna fire engine and ambulance blocked the right lane of Main Street Wednesday after a dye-pack was accidentally detonated by a Wilmington Trust bank employee. Newark Fire Marshal Ken Ferrall said no injuries were reported. A dye-pack is used when a bank is robbed. The pack, which is added to any cash taken by a robber, releases dye and tear gas. Newark police also responded to the mishap to ensure bank security. Police and the fire company were summoned to the busy Main Street fixture about 11 a.m. and spent more than an hour ventilating the bank with large fans. The bank was closed during the lunch hour. Throughout the turmoil, patrons continued to queue up at the automatic teller machine outside the bank.

Newark police report an undisclosed amount of cash was stolen Jan. 24 from an unlocked safe at the Main Street McDonalds.

Money missing from hair salon

Police said an undisclosed amount of money was reported stolen Jan. 26 from the Hair Cuttery in College Square Shopping Center.

School field damaged

Police report the rear field of Downes Elementary School on Casho Mill Road was damaged Jan. 23 when a car illegally drove onto the grounds and apparently got stuck in the mud.

Police said the damage is reported to be about $1,000.

Park trees cut down

Seven Tulip Popular trees on the northern tract of Redd Park were reportedly cut down by a tree cutting company after being contracted by a resident of a house which borders the park.

Police said the park director will decide what damages cost and if charges will be brought against the homeowner.

Crimes at Christina HQs

The glass window in the front door of the Christina Administration Building on Main Street was reportedly broken by vandals Jan. 24, police said.

Also, Christina officials reported an undisclosed amount of money missing from a secretary's desk.

The money was being collected

Cleveland Heights scene of drug arrests

NEWARK POLICE have arrested three Newark residents in connection with last week's drug arrests in Cleveland Heights.

Police arrested three Newark-area men, Jan. 11. They are Alfred Ponzio Jr., 26, of Postfield Road in Scottfield; Joey Tucker, 17, of Terrace Drive; and Ernest C. Hunter III, 20, of North Chapel Street.

The arrests were made after a year-long police investigation with the Dover Police department on cocaine sales by street level dealers and robberies of drug purchasers in the Cleveland Heights development in Newark.

Tucker was charged with attempted delivery of a controlled substance, robbery, assault, criminal mischief and conspiracy. Tucker was charged with two counts of trafficking in cocaine, two counts of delivery of cocaine and two counts of conspiracy.

Hunter was charged with trafficking cocaine, delivery of cocaine, conspiracy and maintaining a vehicle for delivery of drugs. — Tonja Castaneda as fees for the adult GED program.

Man held for trespassing

A 42-year-old Newark man was arrested Jan. 28 for criminal trespass when he refused to leave the grounds of Travelodge on Main Street.

Police said apparently cussed out a cleaning lady at the motel and refused to leave a hotel room.

House vandalized

Police report a house in the unit block of Terrace Drive was reportedly vandalized Jan. 27 when a water bed was slashed and the telephone line was cut.

To report information to Newark police, call 366-7111.

Dental office hit

Newark police responded to an alarm being set off Jan. 27 at a dental office in the unit block of East Main Street and found the basement door of the building had been forced open.

Police report nothing was taken from the building.

Mail, cash missing

Police report that pieces of mail and an undisclosed amount of cash were reported stolen Jan. 25 from the mailbox of Grand Illusions on Main Street.

Parking booths egged

Police received reports twice this week, on Jan. 24 and 26, from city parking attendants that the booths they sit in were egged as they worked to collect money for the parking authority at the parking lot off Center Street, police said.

Windows broken

Police report about 10 to 15 windows were broken by vandals Jan. 28 at the NVF plant in the 100 block Margaret Street.

Police said witnesses saw two people on the grounds when they heard glass breaking.

Chair stolen

A blue, bean bag chair was reported stolen Jan. 28 from a house in the unit block of Westfield Drive.

Police said entry was gained through the unlocked front door.

Fire extinguisher taken

A fire extinguisher was reported stolen Jan. 23 from a wall at the Casho Mill Professional Center on Casho Mill Road, police said.

Keyboard taken

An electronic keyboard was reported stolen Jan. 26 from the front porch of a house in the unit block of East Cleveland Avenue, police report.

Coat, wallet taken

A leather coat and a wallet was reported stolen Jan. 27 from Players Restaurant in College Square Shopping Center, according to police.

Camera, keys missing

A 35 mm camera and a set of keys were reported stolen Jan. 23 from a car parked in the 100 block of Christina Mill Drive, police said.

Car vandalized

A 1989 Dodge Omni was spray painted with white paint Jan. 26 while parked in the unit block of Green Meadow Court, police report.

Car part stolen

The rear bumper of a car was reported stolen Jan. 25 from a car on the lot of Winner Ford on East Cleveland Avenue, according to police reports.

Police dig up yard, arrests expected soon

Newark police recently dug up the yard of a Newark home during an investigation and found about 49 car emblems.

Police would not disclose details of the case because arrests have not yet been made. Five Newark juveniles are expected to be charged in the coming weeks with theft and criminal mischief.

Many of the emblems, which included Cadillac, Mercedes, Oldsmobile, Chevrolet and Dodge insignias, were damaged, police reported.

Police said the suspects were stealing the emblems from cars in the College Square Shopping Center and Main Street areas.

Police continue to investigate. They are asking that anyone who had a car emblem or hood ornament stolen in Newark to call Newark Police at 366-7111.

CHERRY HILL RESIDENT SEEKS FIFTH TERM ON CITY COUNCIL

Reroute trucks, councilman suggests

By JENNIFER L. RODGERS
NEWARK POST STAFF WRITER

After almost six years as Newark's District 1 councilman, Hal Godwin has announced he will run for a fifth term this April.

Godwin says traffic and water quality are two of the most important issues on which he plans to focus. "I think it would be possible for us to reroute traffic that comes through the center of town—particularly trucks — if we get cooperation from Maryland and Pennsylvania," said Godwin.

The councilman wants to push a plan to reroute trucks coming from Pennsylvania to Route 41. Trucks entering the city from Maryland would be rerouted at Route 272.

When trucks are out of the equation, Godwin says he wants to work on getting the Christina Parkway extended to Maryland and on an improved intersection (near the Deer Park Inn) where Main Street, Elktion and New London roads meet.

"It seems I'm involved in a discussion, hearing or meeting weekly about this," said Godwin. "It's a monumental effort to get this done, primarily because it requires two states, but this is one issue that everyone agrees has to be done."

Godwin said his goal for next term would be to make certain Maryland and Delaware come to an agreement on the alignment of the extension road and a schedule to start construction.

He said he would "like to initiate funding" to be used in redesigning the intersection near the Deer Park Inn.

The incumbent candidate said there are immediate changes he wants to make to Newark's water system.

Management of the city's new water treatment plant is going through a "learning process," according to Godwin, who says a revised and "permanent plan" needs to be implemented to ensure high quality.

Newark's recent deal with Delmarva Power & Light Co. is one Godwin says can be turned into a good deal for residential power customers.

"Electricity and taxes are two words that equal one issue," Godwin said. "One of the reasons taxes have been kept low is because of our electric business. As most know, our cost for electricity has just been reduced and I am calling for an immediate study and reappraisal of our rates and customers."

Godwin said continuing his work as council's liaison on the Town and Gown Committee — a group devoted to better relations between the University of Delaware population and year-round residents — is another reason he seeks reelection.

"I think relations are improving and I think I've made a significant improvement by chairing the Town and Gown Committee for two years," Godwin said. "I've been able to help balance the power."

Godwin's goal on the Town and Gown Committee is give residents a feeling of power, more specifically zoning power, without revoking the university's charter.

"I think we can accomplish the same goal without tearing down the goal posts," he said.

"I am also calling for the Board of Trustees to be my audience and hear personally — from myself as the chair of the Town and Gown committee and the from the mayor as a spokesperson from the city — that there are problems," said Godwin. "I don't want to do it through the president of the university, I want to do it through ourselves."

Godwin will run against Martin Reynolds for the District 1 council seat. Godwin owns and operates a Shell gas station on the corner of South College Avenue and West Chestnut Hill Road.

STAFFORD ROAD MAN TO CHALLENGE ZYCH FOR DISTRICT 2 SEAT

Clifton will be 'proactive' for bike paths

By JENNIFER L. RODGERS
NEWARK POST STAFF WRITER

Jerry Clifton has announced he will run against incumbent Irene Zych for Newark's District 2 council seat.

A Newark resident for three years, Clifton believes he can bring a "proactive" voice to council. If elected, he said he will sponsor community meetings and release "sporadic newsletters" to get his message heard.

"A lot of people have problems and concerns and they don't know where to take it," said Clifton.

Easing Newark into the future will be Clifton's goal.

"Mine will be a campaign of moving into the 1990s and what we have to do to make it in the next century," he said.

Traffic, safe and accessible bike paths — to help commuters meet Clean Air Act demands — and better recycling programs are three areas Clifton believes the city needs to improve in order to grow into the 21st century.

"Just in my block I have three people who bike to work, we need to provide more bike paths," said Clifton. "Let's be proactive and do it now before anyone gets hurt."

The candidate said he also wants to begin a liaison committee for senior citizens.

"There is no board of commissioners that deals with senior citizens — they have no formal voice," said Clifton. "Students have the Town and Gown Committee, but seniors need something for them. If elected, I will propose a senior committee."

Clifton, the assistant service manager at NuCar Pontiac on Cleveland Ave., said his business background will be beneficial for Newark.

"Being in the private sector, I see what it takes to get a customer through the door," said Clifton. "I look at government as being no different than any business — the constituents are customers and they pay the bills."

Clifton has been active in the community through his work with retarded citizens and groups for the handicapped. He recently volunteered to monitor a community home for disadvantaged persons in the Newark area.

"I'm not a professional politician," he said. "I'm a people person and I love life in Newark and want to return something."

Clifton and his wife of five years, Linda, live in Stafford. They have four children.

Residents assaulted in their home

Two residents were assaulted in their home last weekend when a 33-year-old Wilmington man broke into their Newark apartment.

New Castle County police report they arrested Edward D. William of 517 E. 5th St., Wilmington. He was charged with burglary, assault, terroristic threats and criminal mischief.

Police said a man entered the residence in the Elms Apartments on Salem Church Road and hit both the 28-year-old man and woman living in the unit.

William was arraigned at Court 11 and released on $8,000 unsecured bail, police said.

Two more convicted

WORD COMES THIS WEEK that two more juveniles have been convicted in Delaware Family Court of spraying graffiti on various buildings, walls and bridges in and around Newark. We all know these vandals' canvasses; they are the eye sores we are forced to endure each day. The infamous "overpass to nowhere" on Del. 4 and the underpass on Casho Mill Road are two ugly examples of these criminals' work.

Last year, noticing an increase in this destructive artistry and responding to the concerns of victimized property owners, Newark Police Department officers and detectives initiated a three-month investigation. More than 200 manhours were spent collecting evidence, including more than 1,000 photographs. One Newark policeman ventured to Philadelphia to learn the motivations, traits and habits of paint-can vandals from metropolitan police graffiti "experts."

Main Street merchants and officials of the Newark Business Association supported the investigation. At the Newark Post, we decided to limit our coverage until the investigation resulted in arrests; the Philly cops told Newark investigators that publicity, such as a newspaper photo of vandalism, would serve to reward the graffiti artists.

The cooperative effort paid off. Ten people, including three adults, were arrested and charged with vandalism. To date, five of ten have been convicted.

The interesting aspect of these cases is that the sentences generally involve plea-bargains that provide financial restitution. As well, many of the convicted artists have donated time for "community service," scrubbing off the paint and ink with which they mutilated Newark structures. (Two adults apparently have failed to fulfill their court-ordered community service requirements; we will follow these cases and report on judicial follow-through.)

We like this approach to solving a senseless community problem. Police, businesspeople, the media and citizens working together, followed by hands-on clean-ups by the perpetrators. Efforts should be made whenever possible for restitution to victims and "hard labor" for vandals, thieves and the like.

Officer Tom LeMin, who led the investigation, is pleased with the latest convictions. He should be. Graffiti reports have dropped dramatically.

Friends now, enemies then

MY IMMEDIATE FAMILY will come full circle this year when we rejoice at the birth of the first grandchild.

At the same time my parents earn the distinction of grandparents this August, they will become empty-nesters.

Although these changes don't affect me directly, ripples of the excitement and transition reach me here from Virginia and Missouri.

My sister and her husband announced Christmas Eve that they will soon become new parents.

My brother — the baby of the family — turned 21 recently, making it official that all the Dillon "children" are adults. Next fall, he leaves home for college, following a three-year stint at a community college.

The author has been a staff writer for the Newark Post since 1992. She and her husband, who she met through a "Dear Abby" column during Operation Desert Storm that solicited letters to servicemen, live in Newark.

He will be the last of us to flee the nest.

I am the oldest of three. These milestones for my brother and sister are significant. I share in their joy.

I plan on being there for both of them, something, I'm sorry to say, I wasn't at times when growing up.

As I sit back and bask with pride in the achievements and growth of my siblings, I remember growing up together.

Talking with my sister about her pregnancy, I am overwhelmed at what intimate thoughts and feelings she shares with me. I am thrilled to fill the role she wants me to play in her child's life.

I am grateful that we are so close these days, but it has only been in the past five years that we became so "sister like." Growing up, we were more like enemies.

My sister and I are 11 months apart and people incessantly compared the two of us. The differences in appearance were a constant point of contention when people on the street or acquaintances would comment on how pretty my younger sister was. She has blond hair and I have plain, mousy brown locks.

It was especially difficult because our hobbies were the same. We both were baton twirlers in the same group. It was my sister who got the attention for having natural talent. During one class with the two Dillon students, the teacher told my sister she had great potential to be a great twirling champion. The instructor said nothing to me.

But, years later, I discovered that my sister had seen the pained look

How to stop smoking...my way!

UNENDORSED AND UNSOLICITED ADVICE: HOW TO STOP SMOKING MY WAY

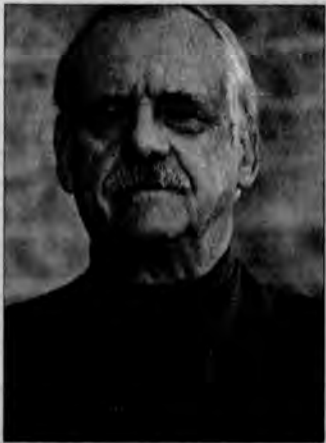

Another anniversary of my quitting smoking has passed, and the occasion inspires me to give suggestions to others who want to quit. I know you have been given instructions ad nauseam, but mine are different — they work!!!

The first essential is to determine what really started your smoking. Other pundits on the subject suggest that you wanted to be "cool," and that you caved in to "peer pressure!!!"

Wrong! You and I know that's

An Episcopal chaplain at the University of Delaware since 1959 and a teacher there since 1972, Hummel has contributed to the Newark Post for more than two decades. He has lived in Delaware since 1959.

stupid! Who has been reared in a time and a place so convent-like that smoking was considered a big deal? Lucky him or her!

To be "in" where I grew up, you had to: 1) confer every lunchtime with other "amateur gynecologists", especially on Mondays; 2) help out Uncle Chet with his hobby; and 3) to make it to "in" table number one, you had to break some law and get away with it.

The "in" guys would spend lunch hours naming and shaming their alleged "clients," and the fact that they were hopelessly inaccurate about female anatomy didn't matter. (Even I, whose knowledge of the feminine figure and parts began with Venus and ended with National Geographic, knew more than these self-styled gynecologists did!)

Uncle Chet's hobby was putting models of tall-masted ships into whiskey bottles, and he counted upon the "in" crowd to keep him in empty bottles. I didn't even like coffee, so I declared myself ineligible to be one of those who helped Chet launch a thousand ships.

Committing a felony and having somebody in the family who could get you off put you right up there with Zeus, Thor, and the other gods. Without 1 and 2, you were dirt, but without 3, you were "good" but not "great." (Only the mayor's son, the police chief's son, and a couple of

OUT OF THE ATTIC

In an effort to provide more complete and accurate information with our "Out of the Attic" photographs, this week, we initiate a special relationship with the volunteer historians of the Newark Historical Society. Prior to publication, most old photographs will be identified and researched by these local historical experts. This photograph was taken on Main Street just east of Center Street. At the right is the home of Dr. Henry G. M. Kollock, now the site of Mellon Bank. The first building at left, now vacant, later operated as Newark Farm and Home Supply. Second at left is the former Washington House Hotel, now the Stone Balloon night club. Information researched, courtesy of the Newark Historical Society, by Bob Thomas, who believes the shot was taken around 1910. Readers are encouraged to send old photos to the Newark Post, "Out of the Attic", 153 E. Chestnut Hill Rd., Newark, DE 19713. For information, call 737-0724.

Trucks disturb Newarkers

The problems of heavy truck traffic are all too common to people living along Old Baltimore Pike in the Newark area. DelDOT officials announced last month that trucks weighing more than nine tons would be banned from Old Baltimore Pike. The problem has not been unique to Old Baltimore Pike. The state earlier banned booth beaters from using Christina Parkway, which links Elkton Road and South College Avenue.

Waiting for other shoe to drop

To: The editor

From: William E. Griffith
Old Baltimore Pike
Newark

Residents along the Rt. 896 corridor are now waiting for the other shoe to drop.

Having been held captive to the pollution, noise and excessive traffic for the past four to five years we are now faced with the prospect of having Rt. 896 from Glasgow to I-95 be a part of the 301 Connector.

Despite many unsuccessful meetings with the DOT under Kermit Justice's authority, we thought that with the new administration and Anne Canby as the director we could have at least some better lines of communications.

Instead we're met with the same feet-dragging dilatory tactics.

As our real estate values plummet and our homes become unmarketable the DOT has remained silent to the residents about what to expect not only about the 301 Connector is built but also with their immediate plans for widening of 896.

Based on what we've seen recently there are many more residents affected by the 896 widening that were previously indicated.

The DOT, however, has remained silent.

Wise decision

To: The editor

From: Cheryl Dougher
Newark

On Monday, Jan. 23, Newark's City Council decided to retain Delmarva Power as its supplier of electricity instead of switching to PECO Energy Company.

As a citizen of the City of Newark, I believe that the council members made a wise decision benefiting the residents and businesses located within the city limits and all Delawareans.

Delmarva Power makes the Delmarva peninsula its home as a taxpayer and an employer.

I believe that the City Council appropriately took this fact into account in selecting Delmarva Power.

Newark's City Council members, city manager, and their advisors should be applauded by all the citizens of Newark and Delaware for their decision.

■ Any community newspaper receives many letters over the course of a year. The number per week fluctuates, of course, the determining factor usually the degree to which our readers are upset . . . about their council representative, the mayor, the superintendent of schools, the guy next door.

Dealing with letters to the editor is one of the more difficult jobs for a newspaper editor. We want to let people have their say, for or against, praising or criticizing, and to vent their frustrations over what they usually perceive to be an injustice. Generally the subject of a letter is someone in government. That's okay with us. We see that as a fact of life.

So, doubt away, if you wish. No, blast a salvo or two will be lobbed in the direction of this newspaper and that's okay, too. What we need from you and what we cannot allow is spelled out in our letters policy, which is print-

Taft tapped for WILMAPCO post

The Wilmington Area Planning Council (WILMAPCO) selected G. Alexander Taft as its executive director.

That leaves only one more spot to fill.

WILMAPCO Chairman and Mayor of Newark, Ronald Gardner, says he hopes the new member of the council will represent Newark. Gardner said "several people" are being considered and PAC members will choose the person during their next meeting, March 2, at WILMAPCO headquarters in University Plaza, near Newark.

Taft

WILMAPCO's new executive director will join the staff full-time Feb. 27.

Taft has been acting executive director since F. Bryan Gatch died in August, 1994.

He was selected from a host of candidates who responded in a nationwide search.

Childhood rivalry hurtful experience on my face. She knew that twirling was considerably more important to me than her. Recently, she told me how she was put in the situation of not wanting to be a great twirler because she knew it would cause me to be hurt.

It was this attention and talent, which I perceived as so unfair, that tore the two of us apart when we should have been supporting each other.

I was 13 when I first experienced puppy love. It was an especially traumatic time when the boys I liked fell for my younger, blond-haired sister.

This competition continued into high school as we both tried out for the same pompon squad. When she made the team and I didn't, I rushed I came into the house screaming "I hate my sister."

Now, after years of independence and maturity, it's painful for me to learn how much I must have hurt her. She was trying to look up to me as her big sister; I was only there to compete against her.

I am so grateful that, in these past years, we have come to know each other not as rivals but as best friends. I now know that we both have much to offer the world. I have learned to be proud of her accomplishments, not envious or resentful.

Today, when my sister tells me about her life, I celebrate her happiness and encourage her to fulfill her dreams.

Friends and relatives ask me about my sister's pregnancy and want to know if I'm jealous because I wanted to be first in our family to have a baby.

It feels wonderful to have no regrets, just delight that my sister will soon make me an aunt.

Smoking was opportunity to be 'out' councilmen's sons had completed 3). My point is, have you ever known anybody who grew up in a place so gentle, so sweet, that other kids thought smoking was cool?

► HUMMEL, from 4A

Why, then, did you start the trail of cigarette butts (and burnt clothes, black-dotted rugs and tile floors, etc.)? I know why I started, and if you really want to quit, you'll have to know why you did.

In my parents' squeaky-clean social circle, smoking was considered a "dreadful sin," a horrible expense, and a violation of God's temple. I regarded cigarettes as providing holy smoke for my temple, i.e., incense. What kid could resist such a cultural bargain? For a dime a pack you got the pompous, the middle-aged, the stuffy, the pure!

Smoking was an opportunity to be out! Because if you respected young ladies' reputations too much to join the "in" crowd, if you got woozy when you put on your dad's

Old Spice so you already knew you couldn't empty whiskey bottles and if you knew your parents would tell the police to lock you up and throw away the key, then your best choice was to smoke to be "out" of the self-righteous crowd!

■ This is the first in a two-part series on how to quit smoking for those who have tried everything. The next installment "Rx: Find an old grump," will appear next week.

probation.

Another 17-year-old Newark boy was convicted of 10 criminal mischief charges and ordered serve one year on probation, LeMin said. As part of his sentence, he must pay restitution for clean up costs to all victims, perform 30 hours of community service and have no contact with any of the victims.

LeMin said restitution is determined by court letters being sent to each victim to document any out-of-pocket losses they paid to clean up damages caused by graffiti to their buildings. He said the City of Newark is declared a victim in some cases where graffiti has been painted on city overpasses and bridges.

LeMin said he is pleased with the convictions. He noted that graffiti is significantly down from last year in the city and believes this is partly due to the police attention into the matter.

"The Newark Business Association has been extremely supportive of the investigation," LeMin said. He said the cases increased awareness and made residents more apt to report graffiti.

"The citizens can see that we do take an interest in their well-being and concerns," LeMin said. "And the fact that we were able, so far, to get all successful convictions speaks to the extent of the preparation the force went through."

'Doubtful' bypass will be added to current DeIDOT plan

► BYPASS, from 1A

I urge you to reconsider your priorities and act on the concerns of our community and the recommendations of the experts who have studied this problem, by including the extension of the Christina Parkway in this Transportation Improvement Program."

Carla Kenney of DeIDOT said even though a project is currently not in DeIDOT's six-year

Capital Improvement Program, it does not mean the project no longer exists. She said it could be added when the program is updated annually.

However, it is doubtful that it will be added to this or next year's plans, Kenney said.

Kenney said the Del. 4 extension is currently being studied by DeIDOT's planning section and is being discussed in conjunction with the department's 20-year plan. She said that does not mean that it will take that long to build.

"DeIDOT will soon be looking for citizen participation to work in groups to discuss and help plan an alignment of the road," Kenney said.

The New Castle County League of Women Voters, New Castle County Councilman Richard Cecil and Newark area Sen. Steve Amick (R) also spoke in favor of building a bypass in Newark.

Newark loves to read

By MARY PETZAK
NEWARK POST STAFF WRITER

BABY, IT'S COLD OUTSIDE! Chase away winter blues and cabin fever in February during "I Love To Read" month.

Curl up with a good book, a magazine, a newspaper, a tape, or a CD. It's all here and it's all free at the Newark Library!

Head Newark Librarian Yvonne Puffer and her 10 full-time and 13 part-time staffers preside over a collection of 123,000 books, 900 compact discs, and 3,000 audio tapes and records at their facility on Library Avenue. The library's holdings also include large-print books and paperbacks.

In addition there is a wealth of information available through statewide and nationwide inter-library loans. "We can get almost any book you want," states Puffer, "but not something like the Gutenberg bible!"

The library subscribes to 18 newspapers and 300 different magazines. Back issues can circulate and the library sells discarded and duplicate books and magazines on a continuing basis.

A world of subjects is at your fingertips in the library, including employment and career data, colleges and financial aid, consumer information, lifestyle changes and improvements, childcare, travel destinations and much, much more.

The library is for both old and young. Children from 3-1/2 to 6 years can enjoy storytelling and films during Story Hour every Tuesday at 10 a.m. and Family Fun Nights for adults and children are held once a month on Friday at 7:30 p.m. Upcoming family programs will include a jazz concert in February and a magic show in March.

Year-round volunteer and financial support for the library and its programs comes from The Friends of the Newark Library. Friends conduct the story hours, shelve books and staff the summer reading program. Funds raised by the Friends have helped buy books, compact discs, audio tapes and equipment for the library.

NEWARK POST STAFF PHOTO BY TONJA CASTANEDA

Four-year-olds Brittany Sargable and Danielle White, both of Newark, read "Genna & The Baby Chick" in the children's area of the Newark Free Library.

This winter the Friends of the Library are holding a "Let's Talk About It" discussion series together with the National Endowment for the Humanities. The group will meet four more times in February and March to discuss the current topic on the joint experience of Indians and settlers in the American West.

In 1994, there were 388,000 books checked out of the library and the number may be up considerably in 1995 since the Newark library has had a surge in use while the Kirkwood Library has been closed for renovations.

Puffer states that the Newark Library has been "very busy" as a result of the Kirkwood closure. "We have had a 20 percent increase in people using the library during the Kirkwood renovations. As a result we've added one full-time and three part-time staff people. A 20 percent increase is a lot of extra people when 242,000 people normally use the library."

Puffer said the staff from the Kirkwood library have been filling in at Newark and other county libraries or continuing their regular duties for the Kirkwood library while it is closed. "New books still have to be ordered even though they won't be needed until the library reopens. Otherwise there would be a gap in the collection in the future."

This year the New Castle County libraries will finally go "on-line" and enter the computer age, according to Gordon Hesse, spokesman for the Department of Libraries.

All of the new and existing libraries are installing cables and wiring to hopefully automate the entire library system by the summer.

One library will start up first as a test site and then the others will follow.

Hesse said that the extended closure of the Kirkwood library has allowed significant repairs to be made, including asbestos removal, a new ceiling and carpeting and cabling for the computer system. As a result, it will probably reopen as the test site when the computers go on-line.

New Castle County librarians hope that 13 will be a lucky number since library number 12 opened in Hockessin last June and the dedication of number 13 in Elsmere just took place on Jan. 31.

Once you join a library in New Castle County you can borrow materials from any of the 13 libraries.

It's free, it's fun, it's easy. So, join the library today and see the world from the comfort of your own living room!

The Newark Library is open Mon. thru Fri. 10 a.m. to 9 p.m. and Sat. 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Information is available by calling 731-7550.

A feature devoted to discovering the answers to curious questions about people and places in Greater Newark.

BY NANCY TURNER

What are the plans for the South Chapel Street property that was donated to the University of Delaware?

The property mentioned, which is located directly across Del. 72 from the new Caldor store, was donated to the University of Delaware by Chapel Associates.

For many years, it was home to Tetra Tech, Inc., a growing company of architects and engineers. On Nov. 7, 1994, at the time of donation, the property and building was assessed at $825,000.

"At the present time, we are using it for our Adult Day Care Center," said University of Delaware Senior vice-president David Hollowell. "Our Department of Individual and Family Studies from the College of Human Resources will continue to operate the adult day care center there until the new Newark Senior Center is completed."

Although the location of the building is rather removed from the general campus, there are a number of peripherals ways that it can be put to good use. One option may be as a new location for the New Castle County Agricultural Extension Office, which is currently housed on campus in Townsend Hall.

Carl Hsu, director of Delaware Operations of Tetra Tech and partner in Chapel Associates, is a graduate of the University of Delaware's Civil Engineering Department. He says that his alma mater holds a special place in his heart, so he is enthusiastic about the donation.

Whether you have a question about people or places in Greater Newark or are just plain curious about something, staff writer Nancy Turner might just be able to find an answer for you. Relationships and money tie together

NEWARK OUTLOOK

FROM THE STAFF OF THE COOPERATIVE EXTENSION OFFICE AT UNIVERSITY OF DELAWARE

WHEN YOU THINK of money, how do you feel? Money is used by some people to enhance their self concept. Money colors the way you feel about yourself, your loved ones, and your job. Many people evaluate their personal worth by the amount and type of material resources they obtain. Money is seen as the key to the good life.

Studies suggest that many Americans feel controlled by money. They also suggest that how a person feels about money is dependent on how they feel about themselves and the rest of their life. Contentment with one's financial situation is determined by a whole host of psychological factors including feelings of self worth and satisfaction with one's job, friends and personal growth.

Studies show money can build self-esteem by providing increased opportunities in recreational activities, self expression and travel.

Money can also undermine self esteem. People may feel they are dependent on others and, therefore, feel a loss of control and power. They may feel isolated, envious and stressed out.

Relationships and personal characteristics add a whole other dimension. Personal relationships with money change over one's lifetime. An individual's money history is part of one's psychological "portfolio." This portfolio contains hidden investments which include the attitudes, memories and money messages that are internalized over a lifetime.

Differences about money include issues of control, security, self esteem and love. A person's use of money is influenced by their gender, stage in the life cycle, concept of roles and responsibilities, goals, values, and ability to plan, organize and perform.

Conflict about money is a common problem regardless of income. Individuals do not react to money in the same manner. Money profiles are influenced by childhood conditioning, lifetime experiences a formal education. Communication is essential to reducing conflicts surrounding money issues.

Sociologists have found that men and women feel and act differently about money. Men and women give different meanings to effective money management. According to one study, men viewed good money management in terms of long-range plans while women saw good money management as short-range goals. Fortunately, we need both to be effective money managers.

The use of money has become more complex. Individuals and families need to develop an awareness of their money profile. Healthy families also take the time to build the money management skills, together.

There is no time like the present to rethink your money management strategies.

An upcoming seven part educational series, Take Charge of Your Money, will be held Wednesday evenings, 6:30 to 9:00 p.m. from Feb. 22 until April 5 at the Newark Senior Center.

Volunteers aren't the courageous ones

By TONJA CASTANEDA
NEWARK POST STAFF WRITER

A WOMAN IS TAUGHT how to write a check, after years of muddling through paying her bills and running a household without being able to read.

She represents just one of the 900 adults taught to read in Delaware by Literacy Volunteers of America, since the program was founded locally in 1983.

Currently, there are 250 Literacy Volunteers in New Castle County teaching people to read or understand English.

"We have people ages 18 to 80 learning to read," said VISTA Volunteer Christian Black, who recruits volunteers for Literacy Volunteers of America. He said national and local statistics show one in five people in the United States is functionally illiterate.

Newark resident Lois Ludman has been tutoring adults to read for three years. "I love to read," said Ludman.

One of her adult students started with learning the sounds of the letters and now reads books and sentences at the fourth grade level. She says this student, who wishes to remain anonymous because he has kept his illiteracy a secret from family and friends, is the most courageous person she has ever met for coming forward to learn to read.

"I feel I've made a difference in someone's life by teaching them to read," she said. "I feel honored I can help in this way."

She said at times it's difficult keeping students from getting discouraged. "It's a wonder anyone learns to read because it's so complicated," Ludman said.

Ludman also tutors foreign students and helps them with American English, which can be very different from the basic English they learn in their home countries.

She currently tutors four Chinese students twice a week in the University of Delaware Library. "They've had years of English in China but don't know idioms or slang," she said.

She teaches them the meaning of phrases such as, "You're getting on my nerves," "Come as you are" and "Clueless."

Newarker Carolee Hepner has been a literacy volunteer for four years. "It's something I always wanted to do," she said. Hepner said she enjoys tutoring partly because she had started to be a teacher but never finished the program and also because, she said, "When I was a girl in junior high in Newark I read a book about a German immigrant who learned English to become an American citizen."

Hepner said everyone who comes to this country has to learn English and others must commit to helping them. She now tutors three Vietnamese immigrants now living in Newark.

Readers are invited to nominate "heroes" for future features. Send a brief letter to: Unsung Heroes, The Newark Post, 153 E. Chestnut Hill Rd., Newark, DE 19713.

Amish quilts display worth the drive

ONE OF THE GREATEST model train exhibits ever held in our area is gone. The natural, hand made Christmas decorations are all gone. The holidays are over at the Brandywine River Museum, but the museum has moved on and is drawing interest because of its latest offering, Amish Quilts from the Museum of American Folk Art.

Our friends at the BRM fully understand what art is. They don't limit themselves to just painting and sculpture as some stodgy institutions do. The powers-that-be where U. S. Route 1 crosses the Brandywine River know that art is for and of the people — all the people.

From now through March 12 the complexities of design and craftsmanship in Amish quilt making are front and center. The museum is presenting an outstanding collection of the quilts from the collection of the American Museum of Folk Art in New York City. The exhibition curator is Elizabeth B. Warren.

The show offers us artistically made quilts from nearby Lancaster and Mifflin counties, elsewhere in Pennsylvania and from the Midwest. Lucinda Laird, a font of knowledge on the BRM staff, explained that the quilts made in the Midwest differ from those in Pennsylvania. "The Midwestern communities were slightly less restrictive than those in the East, and women were more exposed to the outside world." She went on to say, "Often Amish girls away from this area worked in non-Amish households where they were exposed to the popular quilt patterns of the day."

THE ARTS

By PHIL TOMAN

When you visit the show you will quickly see that quilts made in both communities shared the vivid colors, fine stitching and geometric patterns, but the Midwesterners borrowed from the "English" community and used cottons, sateens and twills in addition to the traditional wool. That's part of the fun of visiting museums — you not only see beautiful things, you learn something too! The quilts in this show were made between the late 19th century and 1930.

Like just about every aspect of their daily life, Amish quilting was linked to the Amish religion.

The Amish we know in this area were followers of Jacob Amman. Amman was a conservative bishop who broke with the Mennonite church because even it wasn't strict enough for him. Thus the expression, "The simple people."

Back to the works on display. One thing that catches your attention quickly is the large pieces of material that were used in making the Amish quilts. You will see very few of the small pieces of material intricately sewn together as you do on some of the quilts from New England and our own area. I asked about that and once again Lucinda had the answer. "A quilt produced to many tiny pieces was considered a source of pride and pride in possessions was considered sinful."

One thing that Amish law did not forbid, however, was the use of color! By the way, you won't find these Amish quilts signed as are quilts in other cultures. Signing was considered and act of pride.

There is of course a "sameness" to all the items in the BRM show, the Amish worked in geometric patterns because their religion. Jacob Amman's followers believe that naturalistic depiction for decoration is sinful.

Art and the culture in which it developed are always linked. In this particular culture, however, the links are clearly evident at every turn. There are many lessons to be learned from a trip to the Brandywine River Museum to see the Amish quilts.

The BRM is located on U. S. Route 1 in Chadds Ford, Pennsylvania, near the intersection with Pa. Route 100, on the banks of the Brandywine River. It is a short and enjoyable drive from the Newark Post circulation area.

Obituaries

Sophie R. Bryson, voc-rehab receptionist

Newark resident, Sophie R. Bryson, died Jan. 11, 1995, of heart failure in Christiana Hospital.

Mrs. Bryson, 70, had been a receptionist for the state Vocational Rehabilitation Division at Polly Drummond Plaza for three years, on loan from the state Division of Aging at the Wilmington Senior Center. She enjoyed going to Atlantic City, crocheting and making dolls.

Her husband, Leroy Joseph Bryson, died in 1980. Mrs. Bryson is survived by a son, Jeff of Germantown, Md.; a brother, Anthony Reimer of Bear; a sister, Freda Sartin of Middletown; and two grandchildren.

A service was held Jan. 13 at Spicer-Mullikin Funeral Home.

The family suggests contributions to the American Heart Association.

Stanley Matejski, native of Poland

Bear resident, Stanley Francis Matejski, died Jan. 12, 1995, of complications from a stroke in Christiana Local obituaries are printed free of charge as space permits. Information usually is supplied to the paper by funeral directors. However, for more information, contact Mary Petzak, who compiles this column. Call her weekdays at 737-0724 or fax 737-9019.

Jean T. Bullock, 65, Republican Committee member

NEWARK resident, Jean T. Bullock died Jan. 9, 1995, of cancer at home. Mrs. Bullock, 65, was a customer service representative at Homalite Co., a Wilmington plastics firm for 15 years. Earlier, she was a teacher's aide at Joseph M. McVey Elementary School, Newark. Before moving to Delaware in the 1960s, the Elizabeth, N.J. native was a secretary in London and Dallas.

Mrs. Bullock was a 25-year member of the 25th District Republican Committee and a volunteer for Boy Scout Troop 56 in Newark from 1965 to 1970. She was a bird lover and an avid reader.

Her husband, George Willie Bullock, died in 1966. She is survived by a son, Paul T. of Pensacola, Fla.; a daughter, Barbara E. Bullock of State College, Pa.; and a brother, Robert Thomen of Prescott, Ariz.

A memorial service was held Jan. 14 at Spicer-Mullikin & Warwick Funeral Home, Newark.

The family suggests contributions to Shaver's Creek Raptor Center, Penn State University or Delaware Hospice, Wilmington.

Cemetery near Elsmere.

Bessie A. Sewell, beauty shop owner

Former Newark resident, Bessie A. Sewell, died Jan. 14, 1995, at Churchman Village, Stanton, her home for the past three years.

Mrs. Sewell, 89, was raised in Harlan, Ky. She left Lenore City, Tenn., where she owned a beauty shop, after the 1958 death of her husband, Everett Sewell, to live with her sister and brother-in-law, Geneva and Frank Pulley, in Maple Square. She was a member of the Newark Baptist Church.

In addition to the Pulleys, she is survived by a brother, Bill Anderson of Newark, and nieces and nephews.

A service was held Jan. 17 in the chapel at Gracelawn Memorial Park, Minquale with burial in the adjoining memorial park.

Anna Mary Cataldi, apartment manager

Newark native, Anna Mary Cataldi, died Jan. 13, 1995, of cancer in Christiana Hospital.

Mrs. Cataldi, 66, was a manager of an apartment complex in Anaheim, Calif. Raised in Newark, she attended Newark High School before moving to California about 40 years ago. For many years she lived in Anaheim, where she also worked at a health food store.

She is survived by a son, Joe Semar of Brea, Calif.; a daughter, Mary Beth Spindler of Seal Beach, Calif.; four brothers, Angelo and Dennis, both of Newark, Dominick of Menifee, Calif., and Octavio of Barefoot Bay, Fla.; a sister, Lee Wright of Bear; and four grandchildren.

A service was held Jan. 17 in Robert T. Jones & Foad Funeral Home, Newark. Burial was in All Saints Cemetery, Milltown.

The family suggests contributions to the American Cancer Fund.

Michael H. Procak, sheet metal worker

Newark resident, Michael H. "Mickey" Procak, died Jan. 15, 1995, of heart failure in Christiana Hospital.

Mr. Procak, 50, was a sheet metal worker and a 27-year member of Sheet Metal Workers Union Local 19, Elsmere and Local 19, Philadelphia.

He was a member of St. John's-Holy Angels Catholic Church.

He enjoyed sailing and photography.

He is survived by his wife, Gertrude B. Procak; two sons, John T. of Newark and Michael F. of Bear; two daughters, Donna K. Williams and Kathy K. Smith, both of Newark; two brothers, Timothy J. and Gerard J., both of Wilmington; a sister, Marianne Lucia of Wilmington; and three grandchildren.

A Mass of Christian Burial was offered Jan. 19 at Holy Angels Catholic Church.

Burial was in All Saints Cemetery, Kirkwood Highway.

The family suggests contributions to the American Diabetes Association.

Mills leads Bucs past Bo Manor

By BRETT LOVELACE
NEWARK POST SPORTS WRITER

BEAR -- The Caravel Academy girls' basketball team won its 12th game of the season last Thursday over Bohemia Manor (Md) 54-37.

Caravel eighth-grade guard Kristin Mills scored a game-high 22 points including four three-pointers to highlight the win.

"Kristin is a big part of our scoring," said Caravel Coach Bill McCartan. "The best part about her is she will be here for four more years."

Bohemia Manor (10-1) came into the game undefeated and on top of the Cecil County standings.

Caravel (12-3) went ahead early in the game with a series of steals and rebounds to post a 14-9 lead at the end of the first quarter. Sophomore Lisa Delcollo, Rose Tassone and Mills netted four points each in the quarter.

"We knew coming in that Bo Manor was a good team," said McCartan. "That's why when we went ahead early it forced them to keep up with us."

Bo Manor took its only lead of the game in the second quarter 15-14 following several Caravel missed shots. The Buccaneers regrouped to go on a 15-4 run that yielded four three-pointers.

Mills led the rally with 11 points and senior Alyssa Sexton added three. Caravel used the momentum change to go into halftime with a 30-18 lead.

Silver Eagles win
second straight year

By JOHN HOLOWKA
NEWARK POST SPORTS EDITOR

BEAR -- For the second year in a row, Hodgson's Silver Eagle was on the right side of the coin.

The Eagles needed a late-bout fall by Brad Talley at 191 pounds to defeat Newark 37-28 for the second straight year Saturday in a nonconference wrestling match.

"When we both come in, it's a toss-up," said Hodgson Coach Jerry Lamey. "Newark comes in here knowing they're going to have a good match. We look forward to it every year because they're a good program. Kevin Martin does a real good job with them."

The Yellowjackets had pulled to 31-22 after 173-pounder Todd Meredith pinned Jay Leary in 3:57 with two matches left. But Talley led 6-2 after one period and 10-2 when he pinned Mike Livingston with 31.9 seconds left in the second to seal the win for Hodgson.

"I knew we could win the match if I won; it just made me wrestle harder," said Talley, a junior who boosted his season mark to 14-5. "I wanted to go out there and pin the guy so we'd be ahead. I just think about going out and winning every time."

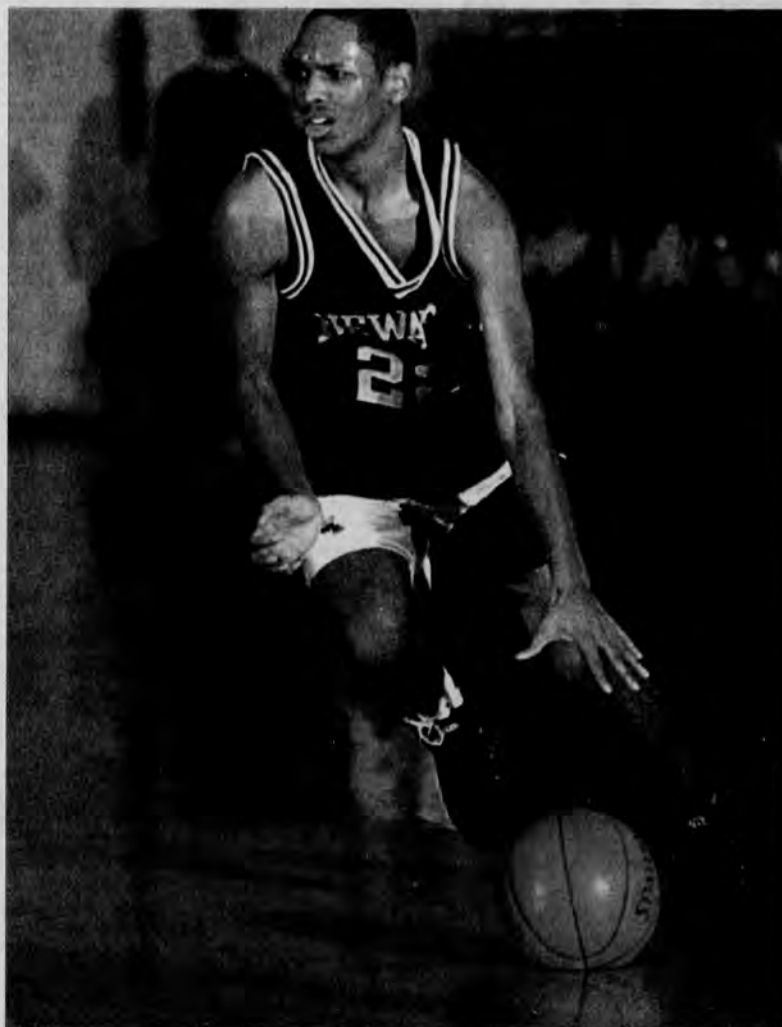

Newark's Joe Marra (142) pinned Harvey Ogden in 2:40 to bring the 'Jackets close 22-10. The Eagles responded with Jeff Boyd's fall at 147 over Andy Manning in 5:03 and Jamie Boone's 12-10 overtime victory against Jerry Milstead at 154 to lead 31-10. Boone tied the match in the final seconds with a takedown and then won it with another 25 seconds into OT.

"It was whomever got the breaks," Lamey said. "I thought Boone winning in overtime was big; he lost to Milstead in the Glasgow tournament. That was a huge win. Boyd had an unbelievable big win, and Talley at 189, they were all big matches for us."

Hodgson's Jason Foster scored a 17-6 major decision over Jeff Woolridge at 105 and Newark's Mike Anderson (115) defeated Brad Speakman 11-2 to tie the match 4-4. The Eagles then racked up four straight wins to take a 22-4 lead.

FLAT OUT

Collyn Ripley motors down the court during Friday's Flight A battle between district rivals Glasgow and Newark. The Dragons prevailed 56-49 and beat the 'Jackets for the second time this year. On Tuesday, Glasgow defeated Christiana 76-52.

By BRETT LOVELACE
NEWARK POST SPORTS WRITER

GLASGOW -- Glasgow sophomore Darnell Vaughan sank two three-throws with 30 seconds left to deliver Friday night's 56-49 Flight A win over crosstown rival Newark.

The victory was Glasgow's eighth straight and second of the season against the Yellowjackets.

"It felt great to hit those three-throws late in the game," said Vaughan, who finished with six points. "I knew how important they were to the team if we were going to hold on and win, so I tried to concentrate as much as I could."

Glasgow (12-3, 8-1) moves into second place in the Flight A conference behind William Penn (13-2, 9-0), who beat the Dragons earlier in the year. Glasgow has been Delaware's winningest program over the last four years including a state championship in 1993.

"It's nice to sweep a rival like Newark because I know some of the guys on their team," said Glasgow captain and senior point guard Wayne Richards, who scored 14 points. "We have been on a roll and I just want us to keep winning and aim for a state championship."

Glasgow had three players in double figures. Garcia Garnett (12), Richards and Andre Ponzio, who led all scorers with 17 points.

The two teams battled throughout the 32 minutes in a contest that saw six lead changes.

"Our entire team had the killer instinct," said Glasgow Coach Don Haman. "We came to play and so did they, I knew the game would be explosive."

“It's nice to sweep a rival like Newark.”

WAYNE RICHARDS
GLASGOW SENIOR CAPTAIN AND POINT GUARD

Glasgow exhibited a run-and-gun style in the first quarter that yielded 12 points. Newark was able to keep pace with a combination of three-pointers and outside shooting. Glasgow led 12-11 at the end of the first quarter.

The Yellowjackets put Glasgow on the defensive early in the second quarter after going on a 12-6 run. Senior Mike Pollock scored six points during the quarter to put the Yellowjackets ahead 28-26 at halftime. Newark's Corey Wallace pulled down five rebounds in the first half and center Arnold Dorsett added four.

"The first half was a real battle for us," said Haman. "I wanted us to make Newark work hard so they would be worn out by the second half."

Glasgow grabbed the lead at the start of the third quarter with an inspired style of play. The Dragons went on a 9-0 run sparked by Richards' five points including a three-pointer. Newark pulled back into the game to tie the score 40-40 with 1:00 left in the quarter.

Glasgow reserve forward Garnett kept Newark at bay in the fourth quarter with two fast scores to stretch the lead 46-42. Newark rallied in the last minute of the game to come within one-point 50-49. That would be the last time Newark would score after Glasgow managed six unanswered points to cap the win.

"Conference games are very important and we have been able to beat some good teams this year to get where we are," Haman said.

Glasgow girls stave off 'Jackets Mason, Rahming lead final-quarter rally

NEWARK High walked softly enough, but next time the Yellowjackets might need a bigger stick.

"We never take Newark lightly; when we do, they sneak up behind us," said Glasgow guard Laurie Brosnahan. "We always come to play tough because they always play us the same way."

The Dragons broke open a close game and went on a 16-2 run in the final period to beat the rejuvenated Yellowjackets 47-29 last Friday in a Flight A girls basketball game.

"They didn't surprise us," said Glasgow Coach Larry Walker. "It was a five-point game after the third quarter in the last game so I knew it would be close. We always keep people around a while. We missed a lot of shots inside. We could have blown them out the first half and didn't."

Glasgow led 9-6 after the first period and at one time extended that margin to 20-10 with 1:26 left before halftime, but Cyndi Wheeler's basket and Beth Miller's three-pointer brought the 'Jackets to 20-15.

The Dragons took their largest lead of the game 26-15 on Toni Burke's lay-up midway through the third, but the 'Jackets responded with a 12-5 run and trailed 31-27 starting the final period.

"We have a balanced attack," Walker said. "We never have the same scorers scoring for us in back-to-back games. It's always somebody different. Everybody on the team is capable of putting the ball in the basket; it all depends on what kind of night they're having. In different spots some kids step up and some don't."

Newark faltered in the final period as the Dragons outscored the Yellowjackets 16-2. Lakisha Rahming scored all her seven points in the fourth and Shamarra Mason scored six down the stretch.

"We're a late-coming-on team," said Brosnahan. "We always win it in the last quarter when we see how close it is. We just pull away and keep in our minds to pay defense and not let them score. We pressure a lot."

Mason led all scorers with 13 points and 13 rebounds. Chaz Friant added 11 points, Brosnahan seven, Burke six, Rahming seven and Kristin Nau chipped in two.

Becky Sacher led Newark with 10 points, Denise Heller had seven, Wheeler six, Bev Elliott four and Beth Miller three.

Victor Keeler pinned Cliff Murphy in 2:56 at 121 pounds, Chris Foster (127) decisioned Justin Bellman 13-6, Pete Laucircia (132) beat Chris Melby 18-3, and Mike Mahan at 137 pinned Oliver Cassels (3:29) before Marra brought the 'Jackets back.

"You have to credit Newark," Lamey said. "Their lightweights did better than I expected. I thought we'd have a bigger lead in there but we had to rely on our upper and middleweights to come through."

Newark's Damian Wampler pinned Jason Higgins in 4:51 at 162 pounds

Hodgson is 6-2 and 3-1 in Flight B, the only loss to Alexis I. du Pont. Newark is 4-4. Last season, the Eagles defeated A.I. in the regular season and then in the state tournament dual-meet semifinals. This year they might meet again.

Bucs edge American Christian 59-56

Caravel Academy boys basketball team defeated previously unbeaten host American Christian (Pa.) 56-59 last week in a nonconference boys basketball game.

Ryan Dill and Matt Kschinka combined to hit five-of-five foul shots down the stretch. Jimmy Frazier led the Buccaneers with 15 points, Jon Markle had 14, Dill scored 11, Jarrett McDonald had nine points and 12 rebounds, Jory Lauver added six points and Kschinka four.

"That was a great game," said Caravel Coach Paul Makovsky, who collected his 250th career victory. "We beat them up there and the kids had a great game. We found out a kid was going for his 1,000th point, so we told our kids to clamp down."

"We were trailing; we went ahead. The kids just refused to give up. We had the confidence we needed to beat this team. We had some clutch foul shots; it was a total team effort."

Caravel shot 18 of 20 from the line.

The Bucs are 9-8 following a forfeit over St. Peter and Paul School from Easton that failed to show and a loss Tuesday evening to St. Elizabeth.

Spartans remain perfect, dump Sals

St. Mark's continued its onslaught on the record books by winning a pair of boys basketball games.

The Spartans are 17-0 and off to the best start in school history. Alex Karlson scored a game-high 19 points to help St. Mark's beat Brandywine 51-40 on Monday in a nonconference game. John Gordon had 13 points, Jason Vankerhoven eight, Gene Kelly seven and Steve McManus and Joey Judica chipped in with two each.

Last week the Spartans played all 12 players and throttled Salesianum 68-32 for their third win this season against their longtime parochial school rival.

Against Sallies, Gordon led all scorers with 19 points and three from beyond that arc, Karlson had 13 and a trio of three-pointers and John Malloy (2 threes) and Vankerhoven each scored 10 for St. Mark's that led 30-19 at halftime.

Gene Kelly added eight points for the Spartans, McManus four and Judica and Robert Fields had two apiece.

Makovsky tops 250 Caravel Coach joins elite club

Paul Makovsky earned his 250th career victory when Caravel Academy beat American Christian 56-59 last week. Makovsky has been named Coach of the Year in Delaware (Howard Career Center) and Pennsylvania.

By JOHN HOLOWKA

NEWARK POST SPORTS EDITOR

AFTER 250 glowing moments of success, the luster hasn't faded for Paul Makovsky.

The Caravel Academy boys basketball coach earned his 250th career victory last week with a milestone 59-56 win over American Christian, a team that had been 8-0 and headed for national championship competition.

"Basketball's been my life; I just love it and I like it here," said Makovsky, 45, the Buccaneers' first-year coach. "I try to do the best I can. It's just in me. I try to get everybody to put out 100 percent because I give 100 percent; that's what I ask of them."

"I'd say the secret is trying to motivate the players to do the best they can; you only live once in this life so I ask the players to dedicate the season to their family, to themselves or something like that," Makovsky said. "I try to emphasize what we have done so far this year, so I stress super-enthusiasm, dedication, pride and a commitment to excellence."

Makovsky should know. He has a history of resurrecting faltering programs.

He coached for two years at Valley Forge Military Institute in Wayne, Pa., where his team stopped a 90-plus game losing streak. He also coached at Lincoln University for three years, compiling a first-year 10-15 record after Lincoln had lost 56 straight games.

"I guess stopping that long losing streak at Valley Forge was an achievement," Makovsky said. "But I'd say helping individual players getting into college and things like that are more of an achievement to me."

The Pennsylvania native coached for the first time in Delaware at Howard Career Center where he earned Flight B Coach of the Year honors his first season. The Wildcats went 14-9 overall, 9-3 in the conference and lost by a basket to St. Mark's in a state tournament second-round game.

Makovsky began his coaching career more than 20 years ago at Allentown Central High where he racked up 15-0 and 25-2 records. Then it was on to New York state where he turned in a first-year 18-5 record at South Louis High in Turin N.Y., won the Western District 3A championship and advanced to the state semifinals.

He coached Northwestern High, outside of Allentown, to district class championships three consecutive years and saw a stint at St. James in the Philadelphia Catholic League.

"That was a tough league," Makovsky said. "We turned the program around."

His college career started at Beaver College in Jenkintown, Pa. where he coached the women's team to a No. 4 national ranking three years running and placed second in the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics (NAIA) District 19 the first year the team entered the district.

Following Saturday's forfeit victory against Peter and Paul, which failed to show up, the Bucs honored Makovsky.

"We got here and they had a big cake for me that said 250 wins," Makovsky said. "It surprised me because I didn't say anything about it. That was nice. We shared it with the parents and I really appreciate it."

At Kutztown he played guard on the basketball team, played baseball and ran track. In high school he lettered in football, basketball and baseball.

► CARAVEL, from 1B

"We just could not contain Kristin Mills outside shooting," said Bo Manor Coach Larry Garber. "It's scary to know that she is only in the eighth-grade."

Caravel continued to dominate throughout the second half after establishing strong inside play and a suffocating full-court press. The Buccaneers stretched their margin to 46-24 by the end of the third quarter.

The final eight minutes were a formality to Caravel after holding off a late Bo Manor comeback. Caravel had eight players score points in the win-Delcollo (10), Sexton (8), Tassone (6), Kristen Nachstein (4), Chantel Daunno (2) and Felicia Malloy (2).

Bo Manor was lead by Lisa Hutton's 15 points and Tatum Young's nine.

"I thought we had a chance to beat them," said Newark Coach Dave Simpson. "I thought we were prepared and more ready to play than we really were."

"Offensively we were very inconsistent," Simpson said. "We have quarters like (the fourth) and then we have quarters where we score 13, 14 or 15 points. It's frustrating; I don't know what the answer is. They beat us by almost 30 points the first time around."

The Dragons beat Christians 55-23 Tuesday and boosted their record to 12-3 overall, 7-2 in Flight A.

"I don't think anything is solidified," said Walker on the conference race. "We still have to play ball."

All autograph sessions are free and open to the public and will be held from 6 to 7 p.m.

An Autograph Nite is slated for Friday, Feb. 3 with Nick Papanicolas (St. Mark's), Andy Logar (Rowan College), Steve Cuthbert (Salesianum) and Peter Pappas (Montreal) scheduled.

Autograph Nites are additionally scheduled for Thursday, Feb. 9 featuring Mark Puican (Christiana), David Holmes (United Kingdom) and Chris Malatesta (Salesianum) and on Friday, Feb. 17 with Jon Sturmfels (St. Mark's), Logar and John Sellers (Brandywine) scheduled. Both events will also be held at the River Road complex.

Blue Hens can ice title

ANNAPOLIS — The University of Delaware is close to icing its second straight Eastern Collegiate Hockey Association title after a 7-6 overtime victory on Sunday against the Naval Academy.

Chris Bellino scored his fourth goal of the game 1 minute, 12 seconds into OT for the win to pace the Hens (17-3-1) who have three remaining regular-season games, all on the road.

The Blue Hens travel to Penn, a team that they beat 17-0 two weeks ago, on Sunday, Feb. 5 for a league game, Penn State Feb. 10 in a non-conference match-up and then end their regular season at the University of Maryland Feb. 11 in the final ECHA game.

Against the Midshipmen, Jason Bergey, Brian Albert and Damian Borichevsky each added a goal and goalie Bill Morrison recorded 33 saves. Bergey, a former running back at Tatnall, leads the team in goals for the fourth year with 36 in 20 games.

Earlier in the week, Delaware beat Rutgers 10-1 in a nonconference game at the Gold Arena.

Rocks get off!

Mizerock in charge, inherits championship team

By JOHN HOLOWKA

NEWARK POST SPORTS EDITOR

WILMINGTON — John Mizerock's style fits his new team. "Whatever it takes to win that day will be my style," said Mizerock, the new manager of the Wilmington Blue Rocks last week at the Holiday Inn Downtown. "If (the Royals organization) gives me good players whatever they be, little fast guys that can run a lot we'll do that. Maybe we'll come back and hit home runs, I don't know."

What he does know know is that he inherited a two-year successful Kansas City Royals Class A minor league team that has twice advanced to the league playoffs and last year ended the regular-season with 94 wins before winning the Carolina League Mill Cup championship.

Mizerock, 34, managed Rockford (Ill.) in the Class A Midwest League to first-place last year and an 89-50 regular-season record. He replaces Mike Jirschele, who was promoted to the Royal's Triple A Omaha.

Jirschele, who was named Minor League Manager of the Year in 1994 by The Sporting News, replaced inaugural manager Ron Johnson.

Mizerock doesn't anticipate losing any of his players as replacement players if the major league players association and the owners can't reach agreement by opening day.

"We might lose a player or two but it wouldn't be a big prospect," Mizerock said. "I think most of the big-league teams will keep their prospects out of the big leagues to maybe keep things smoother down the road."

Mizerock was born, raised and currently lives in Punxsutawney, Pa. He saw playing time as a catcher for four years with the Houston Astros, where he was a first-round draft pick in 1979, and Atlanta Braves. His major league career

Jamie Nichols pitched St. Mark's to the 1994 state championship and signed with the Chicago White Sox. For the Spartans, Nichols was 8-1 with a 1.06 ERA.

By BRETT LOVELACE

NEWARK POST SPORTS WRITER

NORTH EAST, Md. -- Professional baseball is something that every young player dreams of achieving. For one local pitcher that dream is about to start.

Former St. Mark's standout Jamie Nichols is about to embark on a life long aspiration of being pro ball player.

Nichols, a 1994 graduate of St. Mark's high was selected by the Chicago White Sox in the 27th round of the amateur June draft.

"Being drafted was like a dream come true," said Nichols. "I have always wanted to play pro ball and when the Sox picked me it was unbelievable."

Nichols posted an 8-1 record with a 1.06 earned run average during his senior year while leading the Spartans to a state championship. The righthander also was awarded Gatorade Circle of Champions state high school player of the year.

"Winning a state championship was like the icing on the cake," said Nichols, who pitched the win in the state final. "It was something everyone had worked for and when we did it the feeling was great."

Chicago drafted Nichols despite the fact that he had received an offer from the University of North Carolina at Charlotte to play baseball on a full scholarship. He turned down UNCC and signed a contract with the White Sox in August.

"I think I made the right choice by turning pro," said Nichols. "I am still going to college at Delaware but now I can get a jump on my career by not waiting three years."

During the time before the June draft and after Nichols had signed he played in Cecil County, Md. The team was a conglomerate of standout high school supervised by White Sox territorial scout Reggie Lewis, former Oriole minor league catcher Larry Lewis and North East (Md) high coach Mel Bacon. The trio instructed Nichols on proper pitching mechanics and conditioning that the White Sox teach in spring training.

"I improved a lot with the help of Mr. Lewis and Mr. Bacon," said Nichols. "They took me through the same things that the big-leaguers do and they have prepared me for this spring."

Nichols received his first taste of pro ball late last summer while working out at Blue Rocks stadium with the White Sox class-A Prince William Cannons. The experience made Nichols realize how far he still had to come before he compete on the pro level.

"Jamie picked up some important things from the Cannons pitching coach John Matlack," said White Sox territorial scout Reggie Lewis. "I think it was a good chance for Jamie to meet some older guys that he see again during spring training."

After a successful summer season in which Nichols pitched nearly 130 innings in the highly competitive Baltimore

Metro League (16-18) he turned to a more structured setting.

Nichols joined again with Lewis and Bacon to play with the North East Baseball Association which offered a chance for Nichols to make bigger strides in his pitching development.

Since the conclusion of the fall program Nichols has been working out at Carpenter's Grand Slam with former Wilmington Blue Rock catcher Andy Stewart, who is now with the double-A Memphis Chicks.

"Andy is a player who has helped me tremendously with my pitching," said Nichols. "I can't thank him enough for doing all that he has for me."

Nichols will fly to the White Sox spring training complex in Sarasota, Fla. on March 6th to begin his new career.

"I can't wait to get down there and start playing," said Nichols. "I have worked very hard and now all that will go into motion."

Blue Rock tickets scarce

WILMINGTON — Preseason ticket sales for the Wilmington Blue Rocks 1995 campaign are currently 15 percent ahead of last year's pace.

As of Jan. 30, the Blue Rocks had sold 139,595 tickets for the upcoming season. Last year at this time the Rocks had sold 119,866.

Carolina League champion Wilmington's home opener is scheduled for Friday, April 14 at 7:05 p.m. against Winston-Salem, the Rock's opponent the past two years in the league championship series. Also slated is an early-season Business Persons special on April 19 at 2:05 p.m. against the Durham Bulls.

Tickets prices remain the same. Box seats are $6, reserve seats are $5 and general admission is $4. General admission for children 12-under, seniors over 60 and fans with military ID is $2.

Wheels beat Hawks

The Wheels Squirt Blue ice hockey team beat the Hawks 8-1 on Saturday.

Center John Mancuso scored a hat trick to lead the Wheels.

Ryan O'Keefe added a pair of goals for the Wheels and Dan Davis, Eric Salak and Philip McMeese each scored.

Tommy Carney, Larry DeMaio and Tyler Meade had two assists apiece.

Goalie Duricek stopped 20 shots on goal.

Bucs beat Rams

Kristin Mills scored 13 points and Alyss Sexton added 11 as the Caravel's girls basketball team beat Dickinson 49-40 Tuesday.

The Buccaneers are 13-3 and are closing in on a state tournament playoff berth.

Budget cuts threaten small business support center

By JENNIFER L. RODGERS
NEWARK POST STAFF WRITER

THERE'S A NEW political climate in Washington, D.C. and leaders of at least one organization in Delaware are waiting to see which way the wind will blow funding for their program.

Clinton Tymes, director of Delaware's Small Business and Development Center (SBDC), is hoping possible cuts to the program's parent organization, the Small Business Administration (SBA), don't affect the SBDC.

"We don't know yet what the new administration will mean," said Tymes. "The word we're receiving is that there will be some cut-backs—to what extent we don't know but we should get a good feel within the next four months."

After meeting with Delaware's lone U.S. Congressman, Michael Castle (R), Tymes said he was assured Castle believed in the program.

"But he was very forthright and he said all programs are on the table for budget cuts," said Tymes.

Half the funding for the SBDC comes through the federally funded SBA. The remaining funds come from the University of Delaware, state and private sector.

Finding a "champion," or someone prominent that will "argue against cutbacks on behalf of the SBA" has been difficult, according to Tymes.

"We go through this every few years, but we've been able to survive because we've been able to demonstrate the worth of the SBDC programs in terms of counseling, job creation, tax revenues generated and customer satisfaction level," said Tymes.

Tymes said the program can boast "tons" of success stories. In 1994, the SBDC counseled more than 582 small businesses throughout the state and hosted more than 109 training sessions that more than 1,600 people attended.

In one year, from May 1993 to May 1994, a "conservative" estimate of the number of jobs created for Delaware is 473. According to Tymes' calculations, each job cost less than $1,000 to create.

"You can't even run an advertisement in the paper for a week for that much," said Tymes. "In terms of how effective and how efficient dollars are being used those numbers speak for themselves."

The program exists to provide management assistance and training to present and prospective small business owners. Counseling is one-on-one, confidential and free. Typical topics include business planning, forecasting, cash flow, marketing and record keeping. The SBDC's attempt to offer "one stop" help to small businesses, makes a wide variety of information and guidance available at each location throughout the state. Headquarters are in Suite 005, Purnell Hall on the University of Delaware's Newark campus. For more information, call Tymes at 831-1555.

DYNAMIC DUO

Marvin and Muriel Gilman accept the Delaware State Chamber of Commerce's 45th Josiah Marvel Cup Award during the chamber's annual dinner Monday evening. This was the first time the award was given to two people. The Gilman's have developed a number of residential housing projects in the area—such as the community known as Amberfield in Bear.

UD drops 'unbiased source' for businesses

By JENNIFER L. RODGERS
NEWARK POST STAFF WRITER

THE UNIVERSITY of Delaware's College of Business and Economics recently decided to close its Bureau of Economic Research and redirect its funding to a Ph.D Economics program.

For John Stapleford, director of the Bureau, June 30 will be his last day, but he has 12 months, beginning Jan. 5, to find a new job.

"I was told Dec. 28th—at least I didn't hear it before Christmas," said Stapleford. "Whether it (a new job) is within the university or not I will know in a short time."

Since the closing was announced, Stapleford said he has received "many" phone calls and letters from people whose occupations range from CEOs to Bishops.

"They rely on us as a source of unbiased information on economic issues in Delaware," he said.

The College of Business and Economics has set aside $122,000 a year, since 1989, to fund the bureau. It is comprised of four people.

For sale sign is misleading

PRUDENTIAL Preferred Properties sign that reads, "land for sale-zoned for a hotel," on the corner of Del. 4 and South College Avenue and across from the Bob Carpenter Center, is not for the same land owned by Five-T Associates.

Commuters may be wondering why last year Five-T sued Newark City Council and won—only to turn around and sell the land.

The land slated for Five-T's controversial Sleep-Inn is actually behind the parcel currently for sale.

According to Roy Lopata, city planning director, The Patt Corp. successfully petitioned council to rezone the land currently for sale to make room for a Days Inn in 1989.

Patt Corp.'s special-use permit (the same preconstruction technicality Five-T faced) granted in 1989 is not valid. Lopata said any potential buyers of land will have to petition council to get a new special-use permit.

The land is no longer owned by the Patt Corporation. It is now owned by a group of investors.

WRITING An Ad

- Start your ad with what you are selling.
- Be descriptive. List your item's best features.
- Avoid abbreviations. Too many abbreviations can confuse the reader.
- Always state the price of an item. If you are flexible on price, include "negotiable" or "best offer".
- Complete your ad with a phone number and the hours in which you will receive calls.
- Including the word "please" in your ad increases responses.

Ad changes and policies

Please check your ad the first day to see that all information is correct. This will ensure your ad is exactly what you want readers to see. PUBLIC WORKSHOP
CONTRACT 93-061-15
U.S. ROUTE 40 CORRIDOR STUDY
MARYLAND LINE TO U.S. 13

The Delaware Department of Transportation (DelDOT) announces a Public Workshop for the U.S. 40 Corridor Study in southern New Castle County. The meeting will be held on February 8, 1995 between the hours of 4:00 p.m. and 8:00 p.m. at Paul M. Hodgson Vo-Tech School in the cafeteria. The school is located at 2575 Summit Bridge Road in Newark.

The study consists of an evaluation of the transportation demands and characteristics of U.S. 40, between the Maryland Line and U.S. 13. Strategies will be evaluated to develop multi-modal transportation plans for the corridor, which include congestion management strategies and safety improvements. Examples of congestion management strategies include park and ride facilities, bicycle accommodations, and the development of other multi-modal approaches. A review of the existing transit services will also be included in the study.

If requested in advance, DelDOT will make available the services of an interpreter for the hearing impaired. If an interpreter is desired, please make the request by phone or mail to DelDOT. For further information, contact Christine Gillan, Manager, Office of External Affairs, Department of Transportation, at 1-800-652-5600, or write to External Affairs Section at P.O. Box 778, Dover, Delaware 19903.
