Republican Mass Meeting Attracts Many

Tom Smith, Kansas Spellbinder, Speaks

Praises Work of Young Delawarean in Speakers' Bureau

A touch of the spectacular, reminiscent of bygone campaigns, was the chief characteristic of the first Republican rally, which was held last night at the Deer Park hotel, whether the unique "circus" wagon drew a big crowd.

Genial, silver-tongued "Tom" Smith, of Kansas, was the speaker of the evening. William P. White, director of the Entertainment Bureau for the Republican State Committee, acted as chairman, led the singing of patriotic, popular and campaign songs, delighted the audience with selections on the harmonica and made his "maiden" political speech with such popular effect that interested Republicans suggested that he be added to the list of campaign speakers.

A group of singers including H. R. Burkhead, H. L. Tatnall, John T. Magee, H. S. Lawton, R. A. Mitchell, Dr. C. F. Pierce and Mr. White sang a number of old favorite songs for which they were warmly applauded. A first class moving picture show consisting of comedy and campaign propaganda was staged with the wall of Fader's garage furnishing an improvised screen.

Mr. White introduced the speaker of the evening, Mr. Smith, received an ovation from the assembled crowd who had heard of this justly famous orator who accompanied by his wife, came to Delaware at the request of Thomas W. Miller, who is connected with the Speakers' Bureau with headquarters in New York City.

The speaker paid an eloquent tribute to Mr. Miller for his tireless, efficient work in the cause of American Liberty. With dramatic earnestness he appealed to Newark patriots to uphold the glorious Stars and Stripes, that symbol of personal liberty, first unfurled in battle at Cooch's Bridge. In the name of the Delaware boys who fought there he urged that they never permit any symbol to transpire that flag for which they fought here at the Battle of Brandywine and in the dark period that followed.

Referring to the provisions of Article X of the League of Nations, he asked with telling effect on which side voters would line up on November 2, on that of Howe

STRAW VOTE FOR PRESIDENT TO TAKE PLACE AT DRUG STORE

Similar Vote 4 Years Ago Predicted Result With Amazing Accuracy

The most accurate and far-reaching straw vote of any presidential election is now under way all over the United States. Millions of ballots will be cast and at least two weeks before the election those who follow this straw vote will be able to tell who is to be the next occupant of the White House and by how many votes he will win.

This election held under the auspices of the Rexall Drug Stores has its local headquarters at Rhodes' Drug Store, where a clerk has been detailed to conduct the balloting. Placards urging every person duly qualified to come in and cast a vote for either of the two candidates are displayed in the window.

The big unknown quantity in the forthcoming election is the woman's vote. In order to accurately estimate this vote, two bal-

MACHINES COLLIDE AT DANGEROUS CROSSING

Occupants Escape Without Injury But Cars Badly Damaged

At the corner of South College and Delaware Avenues which has been the scene of several accidents during the past year, two automobiles crashed into each other on Saturday evening. Both cars were badly damaged but the occupants escaped without injury.

One was a Newark car, owned and operated by Dr. R. W. Heim, Director of Vocational Agricultural Education for the State, and the other bore a Maryland license but was driven by Nels Miller of Perth Amboy, N. J., who was accompanied by his wife. In the car with Dr. Heim were Mrs. Heim, Professor and Mrs. W. A. Wilkinson and their little daughter, Margaret Wilkinson.

Dr. Heim was driving eastward toward the New Century Club and knowing the dangerous character of that crossing, slowed down and approached at a low rate of speed. The Miller car, which was proceeding southward on College Avenue, was hidden from view by the Ledger building. It was according to witnesses, going at a high rate of speed. The driver, it is alleged, failed to blow his horn. When Mr. Heim saw the car he stopped his machine instantly but too late to avoid a collision. The Maryland machine crashed into it with sufficient force to turn the southbound machine around and to damage badly the front part of Dr. Heim's machine. One wheel of the Miller car was badly bent. Fortunately neither car upset and the occupants escaped with little more than a bad scare and a complete shaking up.

Both cars had to be sent to a local garage for repairs.

GLASGOW M. E. CHURCH CLEARS OLD DEBT

An all-day meeting was held at Glasgow M. E. Church last Sunday for the purpose of clearing an old debt and raising money for improvements, a total of $600.

Dr. Robert Watt, district superintendent, preached in the morning. Rev. Frank Herson, of Newark M. E. Church, preached in the afternoon, and Rev. H. N. Pilchard, of Georgetown, filled the pulpit in the evening.

Several visiting ministers from Wilmington and Rev. W. H. Cummings of Ebenezer also assisted in the services. The required amount was raised easily and a happy time enjoyed by friends of the church, many of whom traveled far to attend this service.

Charlotte Bower Reynolds, aged 82 years, died at her home, Oakland Farm, west of Newark, on Thursday, after an illness of several months.

Politics, new Water Plant, Carnivals, and College Life—all have their honest and rightful position in the community's thought and action. But Schools are first—and if the citizens only knew of the cramped, physical condition of our buildings and the lack of equipment they would make Schools first. They would never rest until conditions were corrected.

The Board can't do it without the town's help. And the town would help—if its citizens knew. But they don't. They should know. But in the whirl of events all of us have neglected this most important work of any community.

The responsibility rests on the parents and on every citizen.

The responsibility rests on me and it rests on you.

AMERICAN LEGION TO ADOPT WAR ORPHAN

Local Post Appoints Committee and Elects Officers

The local Post, American Legion at a meeting last night, in response to a plea from the national secretary, agreed to adopt a French war orphan. For this laudable enterprise the small sum of $75 is all that is necessary. C. A. Short, J. Earle Dougherty and Oscar Minor were appointed to make all arrangements.

This philanthropic work was inaugurated by the A. E. F. and upon the return of the troops, the American Legion assumed responsibility for its continuance.

Lieutenant J. W. Ramsey and Fred Strickland who were delegates to the State Convention at Dover, gave interesting reports of that meeting last night.

The annual election of officers resulted as follows:

Commander: S. Pusey, Morrison. Vice Commander: Harry N. Herbener. Adjutant: Lee L. Lewis. Finance Officer: Fred J. Strickland.

Historian—Charles A. Davis. Chaplain—Howard Robinson. Executive Committee—C. A. Short, Fred Strickland, John Frazer.

A communication from the National Association announcing a series of illustrated lectures on Americanism, was discussed and tentative plans made to secure dates for several here this winter.

NORMAN LUCE TO BE TRIED THIS WEEK

Misses Dora Law and Emily B. Hall, Messrs. A. G. Wilkinson, E. C. Wilson, R. S. Gallaher, Daniel Stoll, Frank Moore and several other Newarkers attended Cecil County Court at Elkton on Monday and Tuesday to serve as witnesses in the trial of Norman Luce who was arrested during the summer for theft of sugar from railroad freight stations, and theft of an automobile which was stored in Wilson's garage here. The trial has been postponed until Friday.

HIGH SCHOOL TO HAVE GOOD FOOTBALL TEAM

Candidates for the football team have been working out the past ten days in conditioning exercises, tackling and some signal practice. The team will miss the experience and ability of Steele, Major and Hoffecker, of last year, but the remainder of last year's team is showing up well and with the addition of some new material the team will be able to give a good account of itself. The backfield is composed entirely of old players who show ability in both offensive and defensive football. The line, while it contains some new material, is also showing up well, being as heavy if not heavier than last year's line. Robert Hayes, manager of the team, reports that four games have already been scheduled while several more are pending. Captain Crompton has succeeded in getting several men out for the team so far, but for a high school as large as ours there should be more, he thinks. Not only would this give more material to pick from, but the scrimmages which would then be possible would develop a better idea of real teamwork.

QUEEN ESTHER CIRCLE TO MEET SATURDAY

"Harvest Moon" Carnival a Success

Interest Growing in Popularity Contest

Minnehaha and Continental Bands with College Orchestra Furnish Music

A crowd thoroughly imbued with the carnival spirit visited the Century Club rooms on Saturday evening, and with encouraging generosity helped to make the opening of the Harvest Moon Carnival an auspicious one.

Before 5.30, the time announced for the beginning of the supper period, a sufficient number of patrons to fill the three tables had assembled and were waiting. In spite of a balky stove and a damp, dank atmosphere, which prevented a good fire and necessitated the drafting into service of an oil stove, supper was ready on time. Fried oysters, veal loaf, cold boiled ham, potato salad, cole slaw in tomato cups, pickles, jelly, rolls, coffee, ice cream and French pastry constituted the menu.

Many patrons urged Mrs. McKelvey and Mrs. Blake and the others who conducted the successful affair, to hold a supper next Saturday evening also. They considered the matter but decided against it. They will, however, have an abundance of good things to eat, salad, rolls, sandwiches, coffee, pie, cake, etc., which will be served for the remaining nights of the carnival, beginning at 6 o'clock.

The Toy Shop, which in number and variety of articles displayed justly earns the title, proved an attraction to the little folks and to the elders who admired especially the variety of daintily dressed dolls. The young lady doll in fluffy organdy, whose name will be revealed at the close of the carnival, proved an attraction, and many paid for the privilege of guessing her name.

The Parcel Post booth, presided over by Miss Quaeshta Drake and her sister, proved a popular spot where one might buy "sight unseen" articles suitable for both sexes and all ages.

The card table whereon are displayed post cards for all occasions, makes a very attractive exhibit.

Minnehaha Band Has Interesting History

Depleted by World War but Now Back to Former Membership

Minnehaha Band, pictured above, was organized on August 24, 1911, through the efforts and from the membership of Minnehaha Tribe, No. 23, Improved Order of Red Men. In response to the call of an urgent need for a musical organization of some kind, 22 men responded, 18 or 19 of whom had no previous musical training. David Constantine who has died within the past year, was secured as instructor. When some time later Mr. Constantine became a member of Bethany Band, Wilmington, Mr. Coslett of Northeast, Md., took over the matter of instruction. Various leaders succeeded him until at the present time a local man, Mr. John Jones, a very active and efficient bandman, is in charge and is making a success of the work.

Although the membership is at present only 14, this band, in the opinion of those who know, produce as good music as many bands with a larger membership.

During the recent World War, the band members performed notable service. Nine were on active duty on foreign shores. Through the efforts of the remaining few, the band was, however, held together until the return of the soldier members when the work was resumed with a more zealous interest than ever before. With this accession of membership and of interest the band made great strides in proficiency and in popularity at home and abroad.

The band is supported by the efforts of the members themselves who in helping others, help also themselves. They have been able through engagements to buy their own music, pay their teachers and meet current expenses. Recently with the assistance of the ladies of the town, they cleared at a bake given on the porch and lawn of one of the members, seventy-five dollars, with which they purchased electric lamps for use at night. The cordial support tendered them at this time as attested by the large sum raised in spite of a discouraging rain which persisted throughout the evening, was sufficient evidence of the esteem in which the organization is held.

The band, a few weeks ago, assisted the Veterans of Foreign Wars at a meeting held to increase membership and to establish a Ladies' Auxiliary. This is one of the many affairs to the success of which they have contributed within the past few months.

When the band was first instituted they elected as directors, Messrs. Thomas A. Mullin, George W. Griffin and F. M. Smith. These men have rendered efficient service and have been retained in that capacity. They have aided materially in making the band the success it is today.

THE CHILDREN PLAYING ON THE GREEN

The children playing on the green I see
 These, weaving through a game to sing-song words,
 And those, at ball, or racing light and free,
 Or swinging on the beechen bough like birds!

It may be April when the grass is quick,
 Ere yet the mazy playground paths have crossed;
 Or it is autumn when the ways are thick
 With radiant leafage touched with nightly frost.

These fifteen minutes of recess, so fleet—
 They have become immortal moments now!
 And all the scene, by some enchantment sweet,
 Is permanent—I know not why, or how.

(Unless it was that I, a looker on,
 Not strong enough to join their robust play,
 Some recompense for childish sport foregone
 Should gather, and should hold, for this far day.)

I could go back, and find the sturdy tree,
 My chosen place, where I my head would lean:
 The playground in the sunshine I would see—
 But not the children playing on the green!

Since then almost two lifetimes are gone by,
 And many passed where other suns may shine,
 Yet now—although I cannot reason why—
 The children playing on the green seem mine!

I love them tenderly, I guard them so
 They shall not ever taste Life's bitter cup;
 And nothing to my mother love they owe
 Save only this, they never shall grow up!

—Edith M. Thomas.

Substitutes for Butter in Cooking

Now that butter is so costly, as in fact are most fats, housewives are finding it expedient, if not necessary, to substitute the cheaper fats whenever possible.

As bacon is such a commonly-used breakfast dish the fat accumulates and unless carefully treated is not palatable as a general purpose fat. Take bacon fat, add cold water and heat until melted and hot on the back of the stove, then set away to cool. The fat will be washed clean from bits of charred bacon and the smoky taste, which is so objectionable to many, is nearly removed. Such fat may be used in spice cakes, spiced puddings, fruit cookies, and in other dishes in which the flavor of spices or fruits predominates.

All meat drippings may be treated in the same way as bacon fat and they can then be used for biscuit, breads of various kinds, cookies and even for pastry. In using any washed fat or lard for shortening a good portion of salt must be used to give it the proper taste.

Chicken fats after being rendered, strained and cooled, can be used as shortening for delicate cakes and in dishes where butter is used, and for the seasoning of vegetables and soups as well as in puddings.

Sweet lard makes good shortening for ginger bread and molasses cookies.

To improve any of the butter substitutes put on the market, like oleomargarine, mix with a pound carton one teaspoonful of sugar—powdered is best, as it is smoothest in bleeding.

Baked Beans With Hamburger
 Take hamburger steak and pork sausage, half and half. Place parboiled beans in the bean pot, with a small onion, cover with a layer of meat, then a layer of beans, another layer of meat and beans. Add salt, mustard, molasses and water as usual to the bean pot and bake all day slowly.

Roast Beef With Onions
 Put a rolled roast of beef in a baking pan and surround it with even-sized onions. Bake, basting as usual, basting the onions as well. Serve with the onions as a garnish to the platter of roast. Potatoes may be added and roasted with the onions, if desired.

Stuffed Calves' Hearts
 Wash two hearts, removing arteries. Parboil in salted water for 20 minutes. Drain, stuff and sew. Season with salt and pepper, roll in flour and brown in a frying pan in any sweet fat. Put into a casserole, add small onions, carrots and potatoes with broth to cook and bake until the vegetables are tender.

Vegetable Appetizer
 Mix one cupful of finely shredded cabbage, half a cupful of finely cut celery, one finely minced green pepper (from which the seeds have been removed), half a tablespoonful of brown sugar, half a teaspoonful of salt and one-fourth of a teaspoonful of mustard seed. Moisten with French dressing, chill and serve in small glasses lined with crisp lettuce leaf.

Mock Orange Marmalade a la Dodd
 A delicious marmalade which serves admirably as an economical substitute for the expensive orange concoction as made by "Down-States" cooks is well worth trying. It taxes the imagination of the uninitiated to guess what the constituents are and makes an inexpensive sweet.

Boil together for about 20 minutes 4 cupfuls of boiled carrots which have been ground fine in a meat grinder, 2 cupfuls of sugar and the juice and rind of 2 large lemons. Put into sterilized jars and seal.

"BEING NICE TO FOLKS" AN ADMIRABLE TRAIT

A bright-eyed, alert young woman of eighteen years had been one of the most welcome of visitors for several days in the home of some friends. No sooner had she gone than her friends in the home she had left began to comment on her visit.

"I really did feel sorry to see her go," said the mother. "She created such a cheerful atmosphere."

"And she was pretty!" exclaimed the boy of the family. "And what lovely dresses and hats she had!" said the girl member of the family. Even the housemaid felt it incumbent upon her to say something in praise of the young visitor.

The grandmother sitting in the chimney corner was the last to offer her comment, and she said:

"Well, all I have to say is that she is nice to folks; and by that I mean to every one she met. Didn't make any difference who or what they were, she was nice to them. When you can say that of a girl, and it is true, you have said something that puts her in a class of the best girls in the world. Nice to folks, when it means all kinds of folks, makes a girl herself very nice."

Now no girl is ever "nice to folk" of all kinds and classes without having back of this virtue other Christian attributes. Being "nice to folk" proceeds from wells of kindness and courtesy and gentle forbearance. It is also proof of genuine refinement of feeling that revolts against rudeness to any human being. It speaks a generosity of feeling that makes it impossible for the woman who is "nice to folk" to be sharp or caustic in her speech. It attracts people to her and her friends will be legion. It silences fault-finding and begets praise. It recognizes the best in others and seeks to keep that best uppermost. It blinds one to many petty faults that others are quick to discover. When it can be said of a woman that she is unfailingly "nice to folk" it is testifying to the fact that she is an admirable type of womanhood at its best.

THE EASTERN STATES LAND CO. Middletown, Delaware

MR. TENANT FARMER.

You dread to go in debt for a farm, yet if you and I could sit down and figure it out I believe that I could show you where you are in debt for a farm today which you will never own.

Why not pay for your farm as you go along so that in later years you and your family can enjoy the leisure and satisfaction, so well earned, that comes from owning your farm. Here is a description of two properties that are the right size for a man and his family and it is my honest opinion that both will increase in value in the next five years.

The first is a 158 acre farm near Glasgow, and adjoining the State Road. It has 115 acres of tillable land, the balance in woods and permanent pasture, with a young fruit orchard of 360 trees. The barn is 40x50 with a 25x16 admet, the granary, wagon shed, chicken house and other outbuildings are in good repair. The house is large and comfortable. The farm is well fenced with barbed wire, watered with a running stream and will carry thirty head of stock. It is one and one-half miles from R. R. and milk station, there is a school house across the road from the farm and the present owner will seed 45 acres of wheat this fall which is included in the price, $10,000, on favorable terms, and immediate possession given.

The second is a 74 acre farm six miles from Wilmington on the Lincoln Highway and only three-fourths of a mile from churches, school and electric line. The land is a good loam, slightly rolling, well drained and has a stream running down one side of the farm. The buildings are in good shape with the exception of the granary which needs some repairs. Price $10,000 and immediate possession given.

For further particulars call or write to me at Middletown, Del.

VOCATIONAL WORKERS HOLD CONFERENCE AT DOVER

Teaching Staff in Whole State Discuss Work of Year

In order to have all of the Vocational teachers of Agriculture and Home Economics in Delaware familiar with the State and Federal stipulations concerning their work, a joint conference was held on Saturday at Dover in the High School building.

The State Supervisors of Agriculture and Home Economics, Miss Jennie R. Bear and Mr. L. C. Armstrong, outlined the year's work in detail, so that every teacher, whether experienced or not in Vocational Teaching, could go back to his or her school and carry out the provisions of the Delaware school law.

The State Director, Mr. R. W. Heim, was present and addressed the conference on "The Aim and Purpose of Vocational Education for Boys and Girls in the High School." Mr. Heim also explained the requirements of the Delaware Vocational Program, which has just recently been approved by the Federal Board in Washington, governing this year's work.

Friday evening preceding the conference a reception was held in the Century Club rooms, which afforded an opportunity for Commissioner Spaid and State Director Heim to meet in a personal way the State's Vocational Teaching Staff.

The following teachers were in attendance:

VALLEYS OF SEPTEMBER

In them walk tomorrow's dreams,
Through them roll the babbling streams
Of yesterday, with voices calling
In cadences of beauty falling.
The whistling lark his meadows knows,
As we the memory of the rose;
The robin's is an empty song,
So richly with us, but not long;
While still a mocking bird of two
Comes up to meet the twilight dew
And greet the mist of morning
With
A salutation of such pith
That only from his throat, indeed,
Doth so much love and beauty
Bleed,
Valleys of September smile
With all that lingers yet a while
From summer's store of loveliness,
And with her skill and taste in dress
She's caught and woven the mingled glow
Of haunting woodland tints, the low
Of summer at her dimpled chin,
With, Oh, so many dreams therein,
And whisperings soft and such a sigh,
As with the fairy's breath to vie.

TEACHING GEOGRAPHY A DIFFICULT PROPOSITION

Geography isn't what it used to be.

The mammoth volume behind which we perused "Deadeye Dick" or "Andy, the Boy Hero," in days of yore, has come to present a perplexing problem to educators.

Most of the dismay comes as a direct result of the world war and has to do with changes in boundary lines and political divisions. But not a little of it is due to the growth of the world itself. Exploration has made some slight changes in our knowledge. The advance of civilization into former wilds and the development of territories once sparsely settled have caused metamorphoses in animal, vegetable and mineral life.

Where wild beasts once roamed the wilds they are now to be found only in preserves. What was at one time only stock-raising land has become today fertile with agricultural crops. Where deserts stretched their weary distances the prosaic structures of old fields now break the view.

The greatest difficulty educators meet today is the difficulty of obtaining textbooks that are up to date. Most of the publishing houses are anxiously waiting for more settled conditions in Europe before revising their books. Others are placing on the market books that contain the old maps and political boundaries, with new or probable boundaries indicated.

Some schools have hit a safer system of map study. They will use outline maps, which the students will fill in with present-day boundary lines and paste in the "joggeries." This will make them independent of any special book which is out of date.

Few things change like geography, for it is not the study of what used to be in the world, as is history. It is the study of the physical world, as it is, always a study of today.—Idaho Statesman.

HOW "DIXIE" CAME TO BE

A monograph in the London Financial Times on the history of the old Citizens' Bank of Louisiana, at New Orleans, reveals the origin of the name "Dixie Land"—the term applied now to all the southern states and preserved in the famous southern war song, "Dixie." Prior to the Civil War the Citizens' Bank, having the power to issue paper notes, issued several millions of bills in denomination of $10 and $20, but mostly $10. The $10 bills were engraved in French with the French word "Dix" featured on their backs. The bills became known as "Dixie," and this money becoming popular, Louisiana was referred to as the "Land of Dixies," or "Dixie Land." Eventually the term was so broadened as to apply to all southern states. This seems a very acceptable explanation of the origin of the term, which has been the subject of so much discussion.

A FELICITIOUS ANSWER

The curate rather suspected that he had been preaching on too high a plane for his rural congregation. To test the matter he said to old Mother Brown, "Did you understand what I meant when I spoke of felicity?"

"Felicity," repeated Mother Brown, rather dubiously. "Bean't it sommat in the inside of a pig?" —London Morning Post.

"The next move," remarked Mr. Quickrich, "is to invite the police to investigate our new scheme."
"Aren't you afraid they'll find out the way the trick is done?"
"We'll have to take a chance on that. In the meantime we need the publicity."—Washington Star.

SPEAKS WITH DECISION AND SENSE ON MEXICAN QUESTION

On Mexico and Latin America and on the head of protecting American citizens and American rights everywhere, Mr. Harding speaks with decision and sound sense. The address as a whole will help him immeasurably not only in Indiana but through the whole country. The air of sincerity and earnestness about it contrasts most favorably with the excited and ill-considered utterances of the Democratic nominee. In this speech Mr. Harding has removed the main ground of offense against him on the part of enlightened men who earnestly support the League of Nations in some form. From this time on we may expect the steady accession of such persons to his cause.—Indianapolis (Ind.) Star.

"Oh, doctor, tell me quick!" moaned the fair patient, clasping her lap dog and convulsively nibbling a thousand-dollar check.
"How sick am I? Is it California, Florida or Europe?"—Ex.

WILMINGTON YOUTHS WIN RHODES SCHOLARSHIPS

Delaware College Candidates Are Unsuccessful

The winners of the two Rhodes scholarships for which there were five candidates, were announced on Sunday by Professor Frank Aydelotte of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, American Secretary of the Rhodes Trustees. They are William Paul Hamilton and Christopher L. Ward, Jr., both of Wilmington.

The unsuccessful candidates for the scholarships are W. T. Broughall, George Gray Carter and John F. Price, all Delaware College students.

Young Ward is a graduate of Williams College where he took an active part in all school work. He was captain of the class baseball team and was prominent in literary work, contributing poems and essays to Williams Literary Monthly. He was a member of the editorial board of Williams Record, the college newspaper, serving in his senior year as editor-in-chief on the paper.

He was a member of various musical clubs, was one of the college choir and in his senior year was leader of the choir. He was president of the senior class last year, and was also class day president. He graduated last June.

Mr. Hamilton was elected for 1920 and will go to the University of Oxford, England, in January, 1921. Mr. Ward was elected for 1921, and will go to England in October, 1921. He is a graduate of Wilmington High School and Princeton University. He graduated from Wilmington High School in 1913, where he had been prominent in athletics, especially football and on the track. For two years he held the discus throwing record at the school. During his final year he was president of the senior class.

His college education was interrupted twice, once in 1915, because of sickness in the family, and again in 1917, because of the war. He served in France with the Blue Ridge Division, seeing front line service with the British troops. He was later sent to the Army General Staff College at Langres, France, where he stayed until the armistice was signed. While attending Princeton University he earned his class numerals, and served on the varsity football squad for two years. He was also a member of one of the university crews and was in the glee club and university quartet. After graduating from Princeton in June, 1920, he became an instructor in English at the Wilmington High School and is one of the football coaches.

TRUE REVELATION

At a recent political meeting to select candidates for primary election for Representative to the General Assembly, an aspirant for public service in our law making assembly innocently demonstrated his peculiar fitness and qualifications.

He shifted his cud, unwound himself and said—"Boys, I want you to know where I stand. I am again that air School Code from fust to last and if I go to Dover I shall vote to have it revealed."

Unbelievable but actually true. Comment is as unnecessary as it was when trying to explain some features of the Act, a farmer interrupted by saying—"You can't talk to me about that old School Mode."

"HARVEST MOON" CARNIVAL A SUCCESS

hibit. Many of Saturday evening's crowd purchased a supply of Christmas and birthday cards. A voting contest for the most popular young people is attracting considerable attention.

An abundance of home-made candy put up attractively in half pound boxes, found ready sale, and cakes made by famous home bakers found their way to many a Sunday lunch table.

The "White Elephant" table contains a collection of articles not easily classifiable, but nevertheless of interest to homemakers.

All of these attractions are in the banquet room downstairs. Upstairs in the reception room to the right of the entrance is the flower booth under the direction of Mrs. W. P. Peach and her aides who have arranged an attractive exhibit of cut flowers and potted plants. In this room also is the fancy work table with numerous gifts suitable for Christmas giving, and the apron table where are displayed aprons for every possible occasion.

The dancing on the main floor, which was attractively decorated, proved a popular feature in spite of the unusual heat and high humidity. Excellent music was provided by Delaware College men.

The front of the building is well lighted, with improvised lanterns suggestive of Hallowe'en and indicative of the whole decorative scheme. A "hot dog" and sandwich booth occupies one side of the entrance way and a cane booth the other.

During the early part of the evening the Minchaha Band played in front of the building and attracted a considerable crowd.

The attendance on Monday night and last night was good. There is every evidence that a goodly sum will be realized for the building fund.

In the popularity contests last night the standing was as follows: Little Girls, (prize a five-faced doll): Mary Thomas, Elinor Roberts, Barbara Bonham, Louise Steel, Eleanor Townsend, Jane Rupert, Mabelle Woodrow, Betty McKelvey, and Dorothy Holton. Little Boys, (prize a velocipede) Bobbie Jones, Brinton Wright, Jack Geist, Billy Tierney. In a humorous vein votes were cast for the following, "Les" Hill, "Bill" Clancy, Herman Renshaw, Clarence Poole.

Young Ladies: Edith Spencer, Anna Ritz, Mary Houston. Young Men: Eugene Stiltz.

REPUBLICAN MASS MEETING ATTRACTS MANY

giving England 6 votes to America's one; or on that of General Maxwell who led the forces for liberty. "If the latter," he said, "cast your vote for Harding."

He analyzed this Article of the League with reference to the possibility of Canada, New Zealand, Australia and other possessions, withdrawing from the Empire. No red-blooded American, he said, would be willing to sacrifice a Democratic boy or a Republican boy to insure present territorial boundaries to any foreign nation.

He urged eloquently a vote for a president who will keep inviolate the Constitution in the adoption of which Delaware played such a vital part.

Discusses Ineffectiveness of League

To show the ineffectiveness of the League of Nations, he declared that 29 of those who have already accepted it are now in the midst of wars. In this connection he denounced Wilsonism as exemplified in his support of this infamous arrangement, and in treatment of members of his cabinet. So strong is the feeling against the President, he said, that a million good, clean Democrats will vote for Harding on November 2. This statement was greeted with great applause.

The treatment of Korea and Japan at the Peace Conference came in for denunciation as did the statement by Democratic leaders that America is morally but not legally bound by the provisions of the League should it be accepted.

The frequent passing of noisy freight trains and the heavy traffic at the corner of Main Street and Elkton Avenue interfered greatly with the effectiveness of the orator's speech, and declaring that he could not make much headway against such noise, he cut short his talk.

William P. White followed with a plea in behalf of the State candidates, and moving pictures showed the wasteful extravagance of the war period and pithy campaign matter.

STRAW VOTE FOR PRESIDENT

lot boxes have been installed, one for the male vote, the other for the women. Each night the vote will be counted, that of men and women totaled separately.

Each ballot clerk, in each town or city, after compiling his local vote, will telegraph his returns to a central point in that state. This state captain, in turn, will compile the total vote for the state and telegraph these returns to the Straw Vote Director at the Boston office of the United Drug Company.

In addition to this the state captain, after compiling the vote for his state, will send these returns back to each Rexall Drug Store in his state, where they will be prominently displayed on each store window.

The Boston office, after receiving the reports from all forty-eight states, will compile the total national vote, for men and women separately, and a bulletin will be issued each night, together with the total figures by states, which will be sent back to the eight thousand drug stores and to many newspapers and throughout the country. This paper will record the result of each week's voting.

An actual test of the Rexall Straw Vote was made in the last presidential campaign. While balloting was conducted only nine days in all the stores, yet several million votes were cast and five days before election the figures were announced.

This test vote showed that President Wilson had been re-elected by a small majority. It showed that he would carry California and also New Hampshire, an announcement which brought indignant denials from those opposed to him. When the total vote cast in the Rexall Straw Vote were compared with those cast in the November election, they differed from the actual figures less than one-half of one per cent. With thirty days of balloting in the present test vote, not only can the readers be kept in momentary touch with the temper of the public, but they will get a very definite idea as to how the women of the nation will vote on November 2 next.

WEDDING ANNOUNCED AT SOCIAL GATHERING

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Barrows, of South Chapel street, this town, were agreeably surprised last Thursday evening when a party of young people assembled at their home to hold an impromptu dance and festivity. Everyone enjoyed the dancing and the games that were played and all pronounced the evening a great success.

The surprise of the evening was the marriage of Miss Jennie Coleman to Walter Fouracre, both of this town. It was quite unexpected and when in the midst of the fun-making the strains of the wedding march were heard coming from the parlor the merry makers all crowded in to witness the ceremony. The bride and groom were already there. They were united in marriage by a friend of the groom. Immediately after the ceremony and after receiving the best wishes of their many friends the happy young couple departed on their honeymoon. Upon their return they will make their home in Newark.

FACULTY CLUB HOLDS MEETING MONDAY NIGHT

The Faculty Club at Delaware College held a meeting in their rooms at Old College on Monday evening. It was of the nature of a get-acquainted meeting and was thoroughly enjoyed by the members.

The new president, Dr. Walter Hullihen, was called upon facetiously to give his impressions of the faculty. He chose instead to give his impressions of the College and predicted a great future for it.

He commented also upon the character and ability of the young men who were awarded Rhodes Scholarships on Saturday. He has, he said, served upon Rhodes Scholarship Committees before but never in his experience has he found two young men so well prepared as those who won the scholarships in this State.

George E. Brinton and Raymond W. Kirkbride who spent a part of the summer in France, told of their experiences there. After these informal talks, an enjoyable social hour was spent and the annual shuffle board contest started.

WOMEN'S COLLEGE SWINGS READILY INTO ROUTINE WORK

Two Alumnae Take Part in "Y" Service Sunday Evening

The idea of an exchange of students between colleges of different countries, fostered by the Institute of International Education, has created considerable favorable comment among educators. Delaware is to participate in the movement this year, by receiving into the Women's College two French students, Mlle. Genevieve Pommeret and Mlle. Marie Louise Bonnet, of Limoges and Bordeaux, France, who arrived in Newark on Thursday and were met by representatives of the faculty and of the various classes.

They will take courses of study and will also teach classes in French conversation. They are adjusting themselves rapidly to life at the college and are popular with the students.

The Y. W. C. A. gave the first of a series of delightful parties on Saturday evening, when they staged a clever "cabaret" in which students and faculty took part. Solo dances and musical numbers, together with fantastic costumes were features of a decidedly novel performance.

On Sunday evening an impressive Y. W. C. A. service was held in the Hilarium at 8 o'clock. Miss Mary Dennison, an alumna of the class of 1919, was the speaker of the evening. She told simply and earnestly what college may mean to a girl and what the girl should mean to the college. She warned against a zero or negative existence and urged full participation in the intellectual and social life, explaining that the world expects and has a right to expect much of one who has had advantages such as they enjoy. Miss Catherine Schunder, an alumna of 1918, was the soloist.

The various organizations have practically completed their outline of plans for the year. Those of the Dramatic Club, which has elected Miss Mabel K. Tebo president, include the presentation of a modern French play which the presence of the two French girls will aid in making realistic. At

"BESS" CARTER HAS EVENTFUL TRIP TO OXFORD

Mr. and Mrs. George Carter have recently received an intensely interesting letter from their son, F. Bayard Carter, who arrived several weeks ago in Oxford, England, whither he went as a Rhodes scholar.

He says in part:

"I arrived in Oxford last night, after a pleasant and beautiful run from Swansea, Wales, and am living temporarily at the Mitre Hotel, pending securing of permanent quarters. Our trip across the Atlantic was beyond description. I enjoyed every mile of it and was not sick a day.

"BLUE AND GOLD" PUTS UP PLUCKY FIGHT SATURDAY

Local Lad, Newark High Star, Plays Good Game

After a plucky fight against a heavier and stronger team, the Blue and Gold lost the opening game of the season to the University of Pennsylvania on Franklin Field last Saturday.

More than two hundred students and friends of Delaware accompanied the team from Newark Saturday morning and many other alumni joined the party in Wilmington and Philadelphia. Delaware had two sections in the north stands.

According to veteran "fans" the result was in no way disappointing to the loyal supporters of Old Delaware. The work of the team demonstrated that Coach Shipley has the material for a strong eleven and with more practice the expectations are that the Blue and Gold, before the end of the season, will have one of the strongest combinations in its history.

The extreme heat was a great disadvantage and slowed up both teams. It was the first game for both teams and they both showed a lack of practice. Substitute players on both elevens at times did not know their signals. This will, of course, be remedied with more practice. Two Delaware men who got in the latter part of the game—Betzmer and Wells—never had a Delaware uniform on until Friday, and Watson, who worked for a time in the backfield, did not report for practice until last Wednesday.

In commenting on the game, one Philadelphia sporting writer says: "The brand of football displayed was of the early season kind. As a football contest the game was not so brilliant, but it was a good game to look at and thoroughly appreciated by the Penn rooters, who were out in large numbers. The Delawareans did not give the Penn team much concern. Their attack was ineffective, but their defense was fairly well formed and had their tackling been better the Red and Blue would have had difficulty in running up a sizable score."

Both teams used a large number of substitutes in the second half. For Delaware young "Doc" Steel, the former Newark high school player, was the individual star. "Doc" did not get in the game until the last period, but he showed the spirit and "pep" that football players are made of. His good work brought cheer after cheer from the Delaware sections. Steel was used at halfback and shortly after getting in the lineup he broke through Penn's line and got a forward pass from Watson, on which he made the longest gain of the day for Delaware. Several times after that "Doc" also broke through the line to receive a pass, but it always fell short. He also made one of the hardest and cleanest tackles of the afternoon. "Sank" McCaughan, captain and quarterback, and Marconetti, guard, were the only two Delaware players who played the entire game. Marconetti put up a strong game at guard. The work of Donaldson at center and Holton at tackle, were features of Delaware's playing. Delaware's ends worked hard but were handicapped because of their size. Leamy, who played an end late in the game, showed up well and may get a regular place. He played on one of the Philadelphia high schools last year. Delaware men tackled high many times early in the game and in other ways showed that Coach Shipley has much work to do in some places.

Delaware played the best ball in the last period, when they held Penn without a score. The Blue and Gold men seemed to be in better physical shape than Penn. In this period Delaware's scrub backfield, Steel, Ivory and Watson, did better work and showed more "pep" than the varsity backs.

While a number of the Delaware men were bruised, Winthrop was the only one hurt badly enough to keep him out of practice for several days. He had his leg twisted as a result of being deliberately "clipped" by Frank Penn's big guard, in the third period.

Coach Shipley will devote much of the time this week in trying to develop a stronger offense. In Ursinus, the Blue and Gold will have an opponent on Saturday that is apparently about as strong as Penn, as Ursinus on Saturday defeated Rutgers 14 to 7.

The lineup follows:
Penn. Delaware.

Frank centre . . . Donaldson (Sweeney) (Jones) (Lilly)
Lenham . . . right end Marconetti
Thurman . . . right tackle . . . Repp (Tipton) (Wells)
Hopper . . . right end Magaw (Wallace) (McGee)
Miller . . . quarterback McCaughn (Biben) (Long) (F. Strauss)
Harvey . . . left halfback . . . Elliott (Caldwell) (Williams)
Watkins . . . right halfback Harmer (J. Strauss) (Steel)
Rex Wray . . fullback . . Winthrop (Bitten) (Ivory)

Score by periods:
Penn 14 7 14 0-35
Delaware . . . 0 0 0 0-0

Referee—C. J. McCarty, Umpire—W. R. Okeson, Linesman—O. C. Cutts, Touchdowns—Wray 2, Harvey, Straus. Goals from touchdowns—Hopper, 2; Strauss, 3. Time for periods—Four of 12 minutes. Subs.—For Pennsylvania: Straus for Watkins, Caldwell for Harvey, Biben for Miller, Tipton for Thurman, Long for Strauss, Wallace for Hopper, Greenwalt for Grave, Thomas for Ward; for Delaware: Wells for Repp, Rothrock for Magee, Williams for Jones, Watson for Elliott, Lilly for Winthrop, Elliott for Watson, Steel for Harmer, Magee for Magaw, Lilly for Elliott, Ivory for Lilly, Steel for Winthrop, Betzmer for Williams.

THE DIGNITY OF WORK

Work is looked upon by too many not only as a burden but as a misfortune. Ease, it not idleness, is the goal where, in their estimation, happiness and contentment sit enthroned. The rich are often envied by those in the humbler walk of life. To keep abreast at least in appearance with the wealthy, secret sacrifices and stinting of the necessities of life are practiced by too many. They might enjoy comfort in a cottage, but they want a mansion. The mansion may contain a closet with its proverbial skeleton, but that is kept as a family secret.

If there were more common sense and more sensible pride, there would not be so much aping in society. Work is no disgrace. There are many of the wealthy who work hard, and are sensible enough to realize that it is the spice of enjoyment. They know that "rest after labor is sweet."

The parents who labor and drudge day in and day out, without requiring cooperation from the children are guilty of serious neglect by unfitting them to bear their share of life's necessary burdens.

The street corners and the billiard rooms may be good posing places, but they do not tend to develop habits of industry in the rising generation.

OUR FRIENDS

Friendship is to be valued for what there is in it not for what can be gotten out of it. When two people appreciate each other because each has found the other convenient to have around, they are not friends; they are simply acquaintances with a business understanding. To seek friendship for its utility is as futile as to seek the end of the rainbow for its bag of gold. A true friend is always useful in its highest sense.

Every man should keep a fair-sized cemetery in which to bury the faults of his friends.

True friends visit us in prosperity when invited, but in adversity they come without invitation.

Our friends see the best in us and by that very fact call forth the best in us.

Jews Observe Feast of Tabernacles
A "season of joy," quickly following upon the solemn season which ended Wednesday in the Day of Atonement is being celebrated by local Jews for eight days, commencing last Sunday evening. This festival is known as Sukkoth or "Tabernacles" and, although it commemorates the wandering of the Israelites in the wilderness, it is also a Harvest Festival, and this aspect of it is emphasized in recent times.

CANAL NOW TEN FEET DEEP THROUGHOUT

Movement on Foot to Secure Appropriation of Two Million to Further Deepen Waterway

The Chesapeake and Delaware Canal is 10 feet deep throughout its entire length. This information has recently been placed in the hands of shippers. The deepening of this waterway has been brought about largely through the efforts and energy of Colonel J. P. Jervey, United States Engineer in charge of the improvements to the canal. Colonel Jervey has been retired from the Federal Engineers' Service at his own request to accept the position of City Manager of Portsmouth. His new connection will bring no abatement in his interest in the projected deepening and widening of the canal, as he informed Gen. Felix Angus of Baltimore, during last week.

Knowing the important part played by General Angus in the acquisition of the canal by the federal government and its development into a ship canal to connect the Chesapeake and Delaware Bays, Colonel Jervey called to tell of the progress of the plans for a ship canal, irrespective of his severing of his connection with the work, which he said would be carried on by his successor.

Additional information has been received that the locks in the old canal will be eliminated, thus reducing the time of passage through the canal. The opportunity is thus enlarged for an increase in the barge traffic between the North and South.

The widening and deepening of the Chesapeake and Delaware Canal will be the paramount subject of discussion at the annual convention of the Atlantic Deeper Waterways Association, to begin in Atlantic City on October 4.

The immediate proposition is to secure an appropriation of $2,000,000 by Congress with which to begin the work of widening and deepening the canal, the ultimate ambition being a waterway 100 feet wide and 35 feet deep. The proposed width and depth will be attained at stated intervals covering a period of 20 years. If the work in mind were prosecuted at once throughout the length of the canal it would be put out of commission entirely, a hardship which shipping interests cannot endure.

GOVERNMENT EXPERTS TELL HOW TO CAN FRESH PORK

There's a profit in selling pigs and buying pork—but not for the farmer who follows this practice. The farmer's most profitable course is to kill, cure, and can enough pork for his own use and sell any additional amounts which he can produce and for which there is a demand. The practice of home curing pork has suffered through neglect, but it now being revived, according to the Bureau of Animal Industry and the States Relations Service. These two bureaus of the United States Department of Agriculture are cooperating to encourage the general adoption of this wholesome usage among farmers. Home-cured pork, scrapple, pork pudding, sausage, canned pork, headcheese, and lard are among the foods which the farmer should get from his own cellar shelves and not from the city market. All transportation costs and commissions remain in his pockets.

A bulletin, "Killing Hogs and Curing Pork," now being revised by the Department of Agriculture, will soon be ready for issue. New methods and improvements have been given space in this discussion, and details of the processes for canning fresh pork have been added. Canning preserves pork with fresh pork flavors and lessens the toil and time incident to some of the older ways of curing the product. Besides being rapid and simple, the new process saves pounds of pork for all periods of the year which formerly had to be eaten soon after slaughter or be wasted.

THE INDIVIDUAL AND THE PARTY

Why Join A Party?

Why You Can Make Your Vote Count More In A Party Than As A "Non-Partisan."

This is a government by parties. Parties are simply a mechanism for defining issues. Parties furnish the machinery for putting theories into practice. Party action is the legal and efficient method of individual participation in government.

Individuals May Start Movements But It Takes Organizations To Put Them Through.

As an individual voter among hundreds of thousands of others you have little power. As one of a large group who think and feel as you do on fundamental questions you have a great deal of power.

The only way to get your ideals embodied into law is to elect legislators and office holders who want what you want. The only way you can do that is to vote with a large number of people who believe in the same measures and the same candidates that you do. This means party voting.

Group action is effective. Individual action counts little.

Play The Game—It Takes Teamwork To Put Ideals Into Practice—Don't Try It Alone.

Cooperation, group action, were the great lessons of the war.

Party action is simply the spirit of cooperative citizenship in political life.

If you are outside a party you forfeit half your political power: Only members of a party can vote for Party Officers and Leaders.

It is the Parties that hold the Primaries—the "non-partisan" has no voice in them.

HISTORY vs CAMPAIGN STUFF

There is only one real guide to the new woman voter in choosing her party affiliation. That is a study of the history of the parties—the things they did, the principles they stood for. Careless thinkers, and careless students of history, sometimes try to tell this body of eager new voters that there are after all "no fundamental differences" between the two major parties.

We recommend to the new women voters—and to the old men voters, quite as earnestly—a study of the history of the Republican and the Democratic parties in this country since, let us say, 1860.

What are the hall marks of the Democratic Party? We all know them: A denial of national unity in 1861. A states' rights policy, as opposed to a strong central government for years—aye, and now, for the "states' rights" issue is not so dead as some would have us think. Nullification. Free Trade. Repudiation of Debts. Unsound Money. A policy of being "too proud to fight." A policy of "peace without victory." An impractical League of Nations, sentimental rather than statesmanlike, which by plunging America into the ordinary politics of Europe would take away our present freedom to serve humanity unshackled by intrigues and alliances.

What are the hall marks of the Republican Party? Lincoln's policy of "our Federal union—it must be preserved." An insistence that this government could not exist "half slave and half free." A strong central government and an affirmative use of the federal government for the well-being of the people of ALL the states. A tariff to protect American industry and maintain the standard of living of the workers. Responsibility for debt. Sound money (no free silver) and the maintenance of the gold standard. Respect for the American flag from Mexico or from Germany or from all the nations of the earth. A League of Nations based upon the development of international law and the decisions of impartial courts—and in accord with the Constitution of the United States.

Are there "fundamental differences"?

On the one hand, impractical and dangerous experiments, disruption, words and theories, a policy of drift.

On the other hand, a sound conception of a unified central government and an indissoluble union, a refusal to tamper with experiments that risk the nation's very existence, a considered statesmanship, a policy of purpose.

No, we are not Republicans by accident. As our best "campaign stuff" for 1920 we refer the new woman voter to any fair history of the United States since 1860.

Only Members of The Party Can Help to Form the Policies of The Party.

If the party is not what you think it ought to be, perhaps you are not doing your share?

Inside the party you have a fair chance to make it what you think it should be.

Out side the party you have only the power to criticize, not to change.

Do You Want To Be A Critic On The Outside Or A Doer On The Inside?

Think less of what you expect of the party and more of what you can give it.

Do not expect the party to be better than the men and women that compose it.

"Party bosses" cannot exist when the rank and file of party members do their duty.

In joining a party, you do not become a slave to it. You are a member of it, equal to every other member. They have just what you have—one vote.

The Republican Party Wants The High Ideals and Splendid Energies of Delaware Women Voters.

Remember—the party is only the channel for the stream.

Without a guiding channel the purest waters in the world would become diffused waste or destructive flood.

PARTY ORGANIZATION IS THE CHANNEL THROUGH WHICH HUMAN INTELLIGENCE AND ENERGY BECOME EFFECTIVE IN AFFAIRS OF STATE.

FIELD SECRETARY IN EDUCATION STARTS CAMPAIGN

Professor Mary E. Rich Begins Itinerary at Laurel

Miss Mary E. Rich, who was recently appointed Field Secretary in Education for the Women's College of Delaware, yesterday officially opened the campaign to interest the young women of the State in the teaching profession and in adequate preparation for the work.

Laurel is the first town to be visited on an itinerary which will include in the main, the schools in the special districts.

This departure on the part of the college is in line with the policy adopted by schools and colleges in other states in an effort to relieve the teacher shortage which in the words of Philander P. Claxton, United States Commissioner of Education is of the utmost seriousness. There is a present shortage throughout the Union of 75,000 elementary and 15,000 high school teachers. The shortage in the rural districts in this immediate vicinity is a fair index of conditions throughout the State. Added to this is the equally serious condition of lack of preparation on the part of many of those employed to relieve the shortage and to keep the schools open. From one-third to two-fifths of the American teachers "lack adequate preparation" according to Commissioner Claxton.

To relieve the serious situation in the State and to raise the standard of scholarship and of preparation, the Women's College is attempting through the usual channels to do her part. The appointment of a Field Secretary is an added contribution to her sphere of usefulness. Conferences will be held with high school girls in an effort to interest them in the teaching profession and to inculcate the ideal of proper training. Miss Rich will also cooperate with the chairmen of education in the women's clubs and with parent-teacher associations throughout the State in an effort to stimulate interest in this work.

The first part of the year's work will be devoted to high school students in the special districts; the latter part to students in the rural and small town schools with the object of urging them to attend nearby high schools as a step toward preparation for teacher training.

To accomplish this service Miss Rich has been granted leave of absence from academic work at the college, although she will make it her headquarters and will spend all week-ends here.

Y. M. C. A. TO SUSPEND ACTIVITIES OCT. 12

Will Probably Leave Equipment for Use of American Legion

At a meeting of the Y. M. C. A. directors last Thursday night arrangements were made to turn the Armory over to the State Armory Commission on October 12th.

As stated recently, the "Y" decided to suspend all activities indefinitely owing to lack of financial support. The House Committee, George Carter, chairman, will make some repairs around the building before turning it over. The building has been thoroughly cleaned and is in excellent shape except for some slight repairs.

It was unanimously decided by the directors to present to the Newark Century Club several pieces of fine furniture that has been used in the lounge room of the "Y." These pieces of furniture were gifts to the "Y" mostly from Wilmington merchants when the association was opened a year ago. The transferring of them to the New Century Club is with the approval of the original donors.

The house committee was also authorized to make an inventory of the athletic equipment, owned by the "Y" and report with recommendations as to its disposal to a special meeting to be called by President Francis A. Cooch when the committee is ready. It is likely, however, that most of this equipment, including the shuffleboard, will be left for the use of the members of the local American Legion Post.

NEWARK YOUTH APPOINTED INSTRUCTOR AT DELAWARE COLLEGE

Francis Lyndell, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Lyndell, a graduate of Delaware College in last year's class, has recently been appointed an instructor in the engineering department at the college.

REGULAR ARMY OFFICERS VISIT NEWARK FRIENDS

Carswell Brothers Home for Reunion Here Last Week

Captains Robert and S. Randall Carswell, together with their brother, Lieutenant W. E. Carswell, Jr., visited the home of their parents at Elsmere, last night. All three are in the regular army and did distinguished service in the World War.

Captain Randall Carswell, who is a graduate of Delaware College, has many friends in Newark. He made a visit to them and to his Alma Mater on Thursday and watched football practice for a time on Frazer Field. He played halfback on the Delaware College teams of 1911-12 and 13. He is a member of the Sigma Phi Epsilon Fraternity and met many old friends while in town. He will leave today for Leland Stanford University, California, where he will take a special course for a year. The army is sending a number of officers to various large universities for special courses. Captain Carswell is in the infantry branch of the service and was recently stationed at Camp Pike, Little Rock, Arkansas.

Captain Carswell made a distinguished record in France during the world war. He was sent over early in the war and was gassed three times. The first time he was gassed he was in charge of a machine gun detachment at Belleau Wood.

Lieutenant Carswell was also in Newark. He attended Delaware College for one term several years ago and left to enter West Point, from where he was graduated. He has just returned from service at Panama, has tendered his resignation from the army, and will accept a position with the Foundation Construction Company of New York.

Captain Robert Carswell was on active service along the Mexican border for several years and during the world war, until summoned from there to Washington to confer with the general staff about border conditions sometime ago. He was an officer in the Delaware Militia, as was his brother, Randall, before going into the regular army, and also was connected with the street and sewer engineering department as an engineer.

PRaises School Program

The school program announced by the Delaware School Auxiliary for the immediate future gives the public an idea of the comprehensive plans that body has in view looking to the extension of Delaware's educational facilities, made possible through the munificence of one of our citizens. In every section of the State where the schools are insufficient to accommodate the applying children, portable buildings will be set up at once, so that the pupils lose as little time at their studies as possible by waiting. Four more schools for Negro children are being built, and buildings are being set up to accommodate the children in districts which have been consolidated.

Laurel's move to increase her public school service and to provide larger and better buildings, has been furthered by a gift of $200,000 from the two million dollar fund, which will be used in addition to the $55,000 to be raised by a bond issue, ordered by a popular vote of the school tax paying citizens by an overwhelming majority.

Indeed, the betterments proposed by the Auxiliary will be much greater and more vital to the public school system of the State than have all the improvements and advancements of almost any previous decade of our public school history.

To everyone who is anxious to see Delaware take her rightful place in the education work of the country, in the preparation of her children for the higher duties of citizenship, the program of the Delaware School Auxiliary will be a source of great gratification. Through its wise methods of expending the money at its command—in the work of renewing or rebuilding the schoolhouses and re-adopting and modernizing the methods of teaching—we may expect to find Delaware nearing the top of the educational list in less than a decade.—Every Evening.
