DuPONT NOW SENATOR

TAKES OATH OF OFFICE

HOSTS OF FRIENDS OFFERING CONGRATULATIONS

General T. Coleman du Pont recently appointed U. S. Senator to fill the vacancy of Josiah Wolcott who resigned to accept the Chancellorship, took his oath of office yesterday at 1 o'clock. Vice-President Coolidge administered the oath. Senator du Pont returned to Wilmington from the West on Monday morning. Yesterday, accompanied by a small party of relatives and friends, he proceeded to Washington.

U. S. Senator Ball met him at the station and later presented him to the Senate. The new Senator was welcomed by friends and held an informal reception in his office, which had previously been used by Senator Wolcott.

In the afternoon he paid a call of courtesy at the White House.

He is expected to return to Wilmington today when it is thought he will announce some of his plans of organization. Probably he will return to the West in a few days for the rest of the summer. At his offices in Wilmington, crowds of friends, political and personal, are congratulating him.

REIMBURSEMENT FUND CUT

Teachers Seriously Embarrassed; Matter Topic of Conferences

Mr. H. V. Holloway, State Commissioner of Education, visited the University Summer School Monday to take up with the students the question of reimbursement.

Formerly all those who attended Summer School have had board, tuition, and return carfare paid by the State. Owing to the reduction in school appropriation this year, the State can reimburse only those teachers who had to come to Summer School in order to secure or renew their certificates to teach. This includes about one-half of the school.

Mr. Holloway held a mass meeting of the students. An alternative to the State plan was suggested, that those who are entitled to reimbursement waive their claim and allow an equal distribution of funds among all attending the school. The matter was left to be decided by the Summer School students themselves. Committees are now canvassing the student body for a vote on the question.

The maximum salary schedule adopted in the State Board of Education meeting Friday last is causing some hardships among those who by excellent and faithful service have received more than the maximum salary. This affects mostly the primary teachers who have been receiving $1,000 or $1,100 per year.

Glazed Kid Industry Boosted

President Harding, no matter what world problems confront him, will soon have a good understanding of Delaware. He has ordered from the Glazed Kid Committee, of Wilmington, of which David Snellenberg is chairman, a pair of glazed kid shoes. There are many ways of reviving the glazed kid industry in Wilmington, but nothing like a good substantial boost from the Nation's chief executive. The President's shoe size is No. 10 D.

Representative Caleb R. Layton has succeeded in his efforts to defeat in Congress imposition of import duties on hides. As England has an export duty on Indian hides an import duty would materially injure the kid industry in Wilmington.

Pleads Guilty to Larceny Charge

Edward Johnson who broke into a store at Harmony, and stole a bicycle value at $40, was brought before Squire Lovett, Saturday. The bicycle was the property of Nathan Jones. Johnson pled guilty to the theft. The Squire imposed $300 bail for his appearance at the next Court of General Sessions. In default of bail Johnson was sent to the New Castle County Work House to await trial.

NEWARK SCHOOLS TO GET $42,425.76

STATE BUDGET MADE PUBLIC

The State Board of Education in a meeting July 23, at Dover, fixed the State appropriation for Newark at $42,425.76. Only three other district appropriations made were larger than Newark's.

Dr. Joseph Odell, Dr. R. W. Cooper, and A. T. Taylor, of the Delaware School Auxiliary met with the board and submitted plans for co-operation with the board by the Delaware School Auxiliary on the building program.

The board adopted the distribution of school funds as outlined by the superintendent of public instruction, and then adopted the distribution of funds as follows:

State Board appropriation, $829,490.27; Claymont, $22,600.00; duPont, $37,072.90; Newark, $42,425.76; New Castle, $34,619.69; Smyrna, $44,126.51; Dover, $45,941.24; Caesar Rodney, $36,168.74; Harrington, $33,268.38; Milford, $40,736.35; Georgetown, $25,970.24; Lewes, $25,886.03; Seaford, $32,338.51; Laurel, $34,865.15; Wilmington, $751,622.09. Grand total, $2,036,932.05.

The board also adopted a salary schedule for white teachers of the State, whereby a maximum salary for each grade is fixed. This schedule, as agreed upon after a conference with local boards and trustees, was as follows: First grade certificate, $1,150; second, $1,000; third, $900.

The board adopted rules and regulations for the certification of teachers; also, a plan for acceptance of types of high schools to meet the varying needs of the different communities of the State.

Mr. Hance of Wilmington was elected consulting architect of the State Board in connection with the building program.

The matter of changing the district lines of the Brenford school was discussed, but no action was taken.

Transportation to be Provided for Schools

That the new State Board of Education is favorable to transportation is shown by the following resolutions passed by the Board at a recent meeting. The budget it is understood will probably not allow provisions for all the demands but it is gratifying to note the attitude of the Board.

Resolved, That where a Board of School Trustees shall decide that no more than six grades of work shall be taught in the school of their District, that the school or schools in that district shall be adjudged as closed for the 7th and 8th grades.

Resolved, That where children in the 7th and 8th grades live more than three miles from a school, or children below the 7th grade live more than two miles from a school, that the school in their district shall be adjudged as closed, and

Resolved, That where high school children live more than three miles from a high school, the high school in their district shall be adjudged as closed, and further

Resolved, That in all these cases the State Board of Education shall provide such transportation as the Legislature by the Legislature in its school budget shall permit.

Presbyterians Have Fine Picnic

The Presbyterian picnic Saturday was largely attended. It was held at Port Harmon, near Town Point, on the Elk River. The children and young folks boated and bathed to their heart's content. Basket lunches were taken, and ice cream and home-made cake were served to every one.

Some played quoits and other games. The hotel was thrown open to the picnickers and the young folks enjoyed the piano and the spacious veranda. A collection was taken up for the proprietor in appreciation of his hospitality.

The picnic was enjoyed the more, it being the first one in two years. The Reverend H. Everett Hallman was present.

FARMERS' DAY PROGRAM ANNOUNCED

DEAN McCUE PRESENTS FINE LIST OF SPEAKERS

SURVEY OF CONDITIONS ON FARM SHOWS INTERESTING FEATURES

Farmers' Day promises its usual crowds and enthusiasm. The fact is, the farmers are beginning to see that all the money and success is not made behind the plow. So these farmers' meetings are places of business and conference as well as a "Get-together." The following survey of the University farm shows at a glance what is being done. It is interesting to every farmer and citizen in the state.

The hay is in the barn; the oats are harvested; the corn is "laid by"; the orchards are sprayed for the last time and the farm is ready for visitors.

The hay crop was short on the University Farm. Between the late frosts in the spring and the drought in May it is estimated that only about a 75 per cent crop was cut. Early in the spring all the hay fields with the exception of the alfalfa field were top dressed with sulphate of ammonia. If it had not been for the top dressing only about a 50 per cent crop would have been cut.

The first cutting of alfalfa on new seeding yielded nearly 2 tons per acre. While the second cutting gave about a ton per acre. If weather conditions are good and plenty of rain falls during the next month, the third cutting should give a ton per acre.

About 13 acres are in alfalfa, five of which will be broken up after the third cutting and reseeded. The new seeding of eight acres looks good, two tons of ground limestone per acre were used in putting it in. One side of the field where ordinary commercial seed was used is a good demonstration of how not to do it.

Seventeen acres of oats were grown using a ton of ground limestone per acre on about 13 acres. Owing to drought the straw was short, but the heads seem to be well filled. They will be threshed this week. A good catch of clover was secured in the oats and the hay problem for next year appears to be solved. The most of the peach orchard has been pulled out and the round is now in silage corn. Ten acres of timothy sod was broken up in the spring and planted to Dean C. A. McCue of the College of Agriculture, University of Delaware, has secured President A. F. Woods of the University of Maryland to address the Annual Farmers' Day to be held on the University Farm Thursday, August 4. In securing Prof. L. A. Clinton, Director of Agriculture Extension in New Jersey and President Woods as Farmers' Day speakers, Dean McCue assures the farmers of Delaware that they will hear two of the outstanding agricultural leaders, writers and thinkers of the entire country.

President Woods was formerly assistant chief of the Bureau of Plant Industry in the U. S. Department of Agriculture, and for ten years was Dean and Director of the Agricultural Department of the University of Minnesota, which school under his leadership became one of the leading agricultural institutions of the country both in student enrollment and in the volume and quality of its agricultural research. Maryland Agricultural College secured President Woods four years ago, since which time he has brought about the complete reorganization and development of the Maryland Agricultural College and affiliated state schools into the University of Maryland. Among President Woods other qualities, he is also a fine public speaker.

President Walter Hüllihen of the University of Delaware is expected to extend his greetings to the farmers of Delaware as this will be the first Farmers' Day meeting since he became President.

Reports from down State indicate that the coming Farmers' Day meeting will be the largest in the history of the institution, if the weather-man grants a favorable day.

ROAD MAN BEATS UP FELLOW WORKER

Offender Turned Over to State Authorities

Trouble occurred just above Newark on the Newark-Wilmington pike early yesterday morning, when Harry Davis assaulted John J. Sweeney, beating him on the head with a pickaxe handle. Both men were workers on the new road. Davis was brought before Squire Lovett for a hearing. He gave his address as Philadelphia.

Davis claimed that Sweeney had taken a drink of his liquor and had refused to pay for it, whereupon, Davis beat Sweeney over the head, injuring him severely. Davis was drunk when brought before Squire Lovett.

D. E. O'Connell, the contractor, said that Sweeney is a sober, industrious workman and frequently gave Davis money. Davis, last week, authorized his employer to give half his wages to Sweeney in payment of his debt.

The injured man was taken to the Delaware Hospital. The Squire handed Davis over to the State authorities and they took him to the hospital to be identified by Sweeney.

Champion Guernsey Cow

Now that Farmers' Day is near, farmers are expecting the opportunity of looking over some first class live stock. "Farm Mechanics" for May gives a picture and record of the new champion of the Guerneys, Countess Prue.

Countess Prue, who is owned by F. L. Howes, completed a 365-day test at Riverdale Farm, Groton, Mass., and established a world's record for Guerneys by making 18,629.9 pounds of milk and 1,103.28 pounds of butter. She took the record from Murne Cowan, of Barborton, Ohio, who had held the championship since 1915.

Property Transfer

Perry Townsend has purchased from James Weaver a house and lot on Cleveland Avenue. The house was formerly occupied by the latter.

SUMMER SCHOOL LECTURES CLOSE

BISHOP COOK TO SPEAK SUNDAY EVENING

SACRED CONCERT BY BALTIMORE ARTISTS

The University of Delaware Lecture Series will conclude next Sunday evening with a Community Service in Wolf Hall, which will be addressed by the Right Reverend Philip Cook, Bishop of Delaware. The service will begin with a sacred concert to be given by Louise Schroeder, soprano; Alice Seippel, contralto; John Wilbourne, tenor, and Richard Bond, baritone, of Baltimore, accompanied by Mr. Howard R. Thatcher. With the exception of the tenor all the singers are members of the Grace Methodist Church, of which Mr. Thatcher, who will play for them, is the organist and director.

Mr. Thatcher is a teacher of harmony and composition at the Peabody Conservatory from which school he received his diploma. He is also Director of Music at the Lutherville College, and is a familiar figure as accompanist at the Peabody Artist Recitals.

All the churches of Newark have suspended evening services and are joining with the Summer School students at these evening meetings.

Prayer Meeting in Presbyterian Church Tonight

The usual Wednesday evening prayer meeting which has been omitted for the past few weeks, will be held this evening in the Presbyterian Church at 7.45.

This will be the first prayer service conducted by the new pastor, and a large attendance is expected.

Airplanes Guard Delaware Beaches from Rum Runners

Powerful naval seaplanes are ranging over the sands of Bethany Beach flying low. The planes are on the "rum patrol," one of the new jobs of the navy fliers.

Mystery ships have been lying off the coast outside the three mile limit. Suspicion of the destiny of a smuggled cargo is divided between the Jersey and Delaware shores. It has been reported that whisky is being brought in through the Indian River Inlet. It would be a simple matter along the wild stretches of the Delaware coast, to send out bank boats, as has been done along the New Jersey coast, and bring in contraband under cover of darkness.

Leon Ellison Building Home

Leon Ellison is building a new home for himself and family on Cleveland Avenue at East Newark. The house is to be a modern type bungalow, and Charles Grier is the contractor. Many people who have put off building operations until the return to normalcy of cost of labor, lumber and other building materials, have now started construction.

Harvest Home

Interesting Program Arranged

Summer wouldn't be summer without Harvest Home. The Ebenezer Annual Harvest Home will take place in Whitman's Grove on Thursday, August 11th.

An interesting and varied program has been arranged for the day. In the morning there will be a band concert by the Continental Band, led by Prof. Edwards.

In the afternoon there will be two speakers of prominence; the Rev. A. J. Williamson of Baltimore, an unusually able speaker, and Prof. H. V. Holloway, the recently appointed State Superintendent of Schools.

At 7.45 in the evening the Rev. Howard McDade of Cloymont will speak. Mr. McDade is described as a "live wire" and is spoken of as a splendid and enthusiastic speaker. Members of all fraternal orders in this neighborhood are invited to attend the evening meeting.

All the usual features of this annual event are being planned for this year. There will be a children's playground and novelty booth. Lemonade, candy, cake and ice cream will be sold. Both dinner and supper will be served. Politicians are expected as usual.

Observations and Comments written for The Post

Plans Develop for Conference of Nations at Washington

When President Harding invited England, France, Italy and Japan to a conference on disarmament to be held in the fall, no definite date was set. The President suggests November 11, Armistice Day, for the opening of the conference. The Premiers of Great Britain, who are the Prime Ministers of her dominions including Canada, Australia, South Africa, and India, are now in London conferring with the English government about the Anglo-Japanese Alliance. Some of them have so far to travel that they cannot go home and attend their parliaments and reach Washington by November 11th. Owing to this difficulty President Harding is willing to have the conference early enough for the Premiers to attend on their way home, but does not feel that the conference should be postponed until spring, as some of the Premiers have suggested, in order that they might go home to attend to local affairs before coming to Washington.

Included in the purposes of the conference is a discussion—and agreement if possible—upon the principles and policies which shall govern the nations regarding their mutual interests in the Pacific and conditions in the countries in the Far East. China is invited to this part of the conference. There are a number of unsettled questions in the field which Japanese newspapers and some Japanese statesmen do not wish to have discussed by the allied powers at the conference. When Japan asked to know what the program of the conference was before accepting her invitation to take part in the discussion of the Pacific questions, it was easy to interpret this as an unwillingness on the part of the Japanese government to co-operate in an open settlement of these questions which must be disposed of before any practical agreements on disarmament can be reached. The administration at Washington, however, which is in constant touch with the Japanese attitude through the ambassador, recognizes that Japan has every right to ask about the general program of the conference and to refuse to discuss any or all subjects proposed, but is convinced that Japan desires to share in every means toward securing the peace of the world. That she will finally accept the invitation to the conference in full is confidently expected.

The United States is taking the attitude that it is better not to definitely outline the subjects and character of the conference in advance, but to let the conference decide as it progresses what limitations are to be made. This will permit any nation to propose subjects of special interest, and to decline or agree to the admission of subjects proposed by other nations. The Harding administration has no objection, however, if the powers invited to the conference wish to exchange views and arrive at a general agreement on the program before arrival at the conference.

There seems to be a general belief among the representatives of the League of Nations, now in session as a temporary Commission for the Reduction of Armaments, that President Harding's proposed conference will in no way interfere with the League's work in this respect. This Commission of which Rene Viviani of France is the chairman, heartily welcomes the action taken by America, and hopes to present the results of its work and investigations for the benefit of the Washington conference. The Assembly of the League of Nations will meet in September, at which time the Commission on Disarmament of the League will make its report.

The great importance of the conference called by this country is recognized by the smaller nations. Belgium, Holland and Portugal have asked to have a voice in matters of interest to them, and President Harding has announced that they will have an opportunity to be heard.

President Harding will not be a delegate to the conference. Several Senators are expected to be included in the group which will represent the United States.

What Some of the Pacific and Far East Questions Are

Some of the Pacific questions which are now in the process of adjustment, and concerning which the United States and Japan are endeavoring to reach mutually satisfactory agreements, are Yap, Shantung, the "open door" in China, and Japanese emigration. Yap, it will be remembered, is an island in the Pacific which was transferred from German control to the Allied Powers as a result of the war. Yap is a cable station for nations using the Pacific and of especial importance to the United States for this reason. Japan claims the legality of her mandate given to her by importance to the United States for the Peace Conference over the island, and therefore the right to remove the cable station. The United States did not agree to the mandate and is interested in preserving the cable station.

Shantung, a Chinese province controlled by Germany before the war, was transferred to Japanese control by the Treaty of Versailles. China refused to sign the treaty on this account, the injustice of paying off Japan with her territory being a grave blow to her integrity. So far there has been no official expression of America's attitude on this question, but Secretary of State Hughes has just assured China that this country is committed to the policy of the "open door" in China and expects to maintain this policy in relations with other nations. The "open door" means that no foreign country shall be permitted to enjoy rights of trade and commercial development in China to the exclusion of such rights to other countries. It means that Japan, having secured the right to invest capital in the development of railways in a section of China, can not insist that all other nations be prohibited from a similar investment to aid their own industrial or commercial interests. It has also been officially stated, that the United States is interested in maintaining the "integrity of China." Conclusions to be drawn from these expressions are logically that the United States would expect Japan to return Shantung to China. Japan can do this before the conference and avoid being put in the position of explaining to all the Allied Nations why she has not done so.

The emigration question is a very serious one for Japan. Her territory is so small that there must be outlets for her growing population. Emigration to Central and South America is Japan's particular interest at this time. The attitude of the official governments in regard to Japanese emigration is complicated by the active objections of the people in the particular districts where the Japanese settle or attempt to become owners of property. California is an example of this, and the adjustment of the matter brings up the most difficult question of all, "race equality." It is expected that Japan will bring the latter question before the Washington conference.

The Next Job at Washington

Congress has apparently cleared the decks for immediate action on tax revision. The demand from the people and the attitude of President Harding have made this necessary. The tariff bill as amended has passed the House and been sent to the Finance Committee of the Senate which will hold hearings and is expected to make many changes or even write a new bill. As the action for tax revision must originate in the House, the Ways and Means Committee will draw and introduce the bill. This is expected to pass the House in a general form within a short time. Congress may then adjourn while the Senate Finance Committee struggles with the problem of adjusting disagreements and difficulties in connection with the bill.

According to news from Washington the Senate Finance Committee has for some time been seriously studying programs of tax revision and adjustment. The problem of national revenue and taxation is still in the experimental stage, and no one can foretell just how certain new plans, such as a "sales tax" will work out. The revenue must be raised but trade and industry must not be discouraged by excess taxes, and no class of taxables must bear an unfair share of the burden. Constructive legislation or revenue and taxation calls for not only the best brains of the country in its creation, but also for the fair co-operation and intelligent interest of the citizens.

Chairman Fordney of the Ways and Means Committee of the House and Secretary of the Treasury Mellon will have most to do with determining the important features of the new bill. The latter estimates the expenses of the next fiscal year at four billions of dollars.

SHEPPARD-TOWNER BILL PASSES THE SENATE; DELAWARE WOMEN INTERESTED

Measure for the Protection of Mothers and Babies Now Goes to the House for Concurrence

By a vote of 63 to 7, the United States Senate passed the Sheppard-Towner Bill on July 22. This measure provides for an appropriation by Congress of $1,480,000 to be expended under the direction of the National Children's Bureau of the Department of Labor, to assist the states in reducing the death rate of children and of mothers in childbirth. Appropriations from the Federal government must be met by similar appropriations from the states receiving aid.

The measure was designed to meet the demands of the women of the country that something effective be undertaken to prevent the tremendous wastage of life which has gone on needlessly and almost unnoticed for years. The issue was so well presented preceding the presidential election campaign that both parties gave pledges to the women that action would be taken. The vote in the Senate last Thursday proves that the parties have made good so far as the Senate is concerned. Of the seven men who voted against the bill, three were Republicans and four Democrats.

Opposition to Federal aid for the protection of maternity and infancy was confined chiefly to anti-suffragists and a few groups of medical men. An amendment to transfer the administration of the law to the Public Health Service was defeated, 60 to 9. An amendment to cut the appropriation was rejected 59 to 6.

Practically all women's organizations, state and local, in Delaware, endorsed the Sheppard-Towner bill and have been active through their representatives in urging its passage at Washington. With the final passage of this bill, the work done in this State by both men and women, to insure the health of mothers and children will have a strong reinforcement.

Proposed Federal Corporation to Aid Farmers Not Strongly Supported at Washington

Senator Norris of Nebraska with the backing of large agricultural interests has a bill in Congress for the creation of a federal corporation to handle surplus farm products for export. The bill calls for an appropriation of $100,000,000 and authorizes a bond issue of $1,100,000,000 at special rates of interest. Support for the bill argues that the farmers are in such desperate straits that government aid is necessary, and can best be given under the terms of the bill. Herbert Hoover opposes the bill on the ground that it is unwise for the government to go into private business and to undertake to handle surplus products of any group or class. He points out that if the government forms a corporation to aid farmers, it could with equal force be urged to aid miners and various other groups in the same way. Financing of exports for farmers is admitted as necessary, but according to Mr. Hoover it is to a large extent private and not public business.

President Harding and others at Washington are opposed to the bill on the same basis that caused their recommendation that the bonus bill be sent back to committee and its passage indefinitely postponed, that is that the financial condition of the country does not warrant these tremendous expenditures.

In the Senate discussion last week, senators who spoke against the measure denounced it as class legislation.

Preparedness

A certain clergyman always felt it his duty to give each couple a little serious advice before he performed the marriage ceremony. He usually took them aside one at a time and talked very soberly to each regarding the great importance of the step they were about to take and the new responsibilities they were to assume. One day he talked in his most earnest manner for several minutes to a young woman who had come to be married. "And now," he said, in closing, "I hope you fully realize the extreme importance of the step you are taking, and that you are prepared for it."

"Prepared!" replied the bride innocently. "Well, if I ain't prepared,

I don't know who is. I've got four common quilts and two nice ones and four brand new feather-beds, ten sheets and twelve pairs of pillow-slips, four linen tablecloths, a dozen spoons and a new six-quart kettle, and lots of other things."—Houston Post.

Brandywine Summit Camp to Open

Brandywine Summit Camp Meeting will formally open August 3. A number of important meetings will take place previous to that. Sunday, July 31, known as "Anniversary Day," will be a "big" day. Professor I. H. Meredith, of New York, will direct the musical program at all services. He is regarded as one of the finest song writers and leaders in America. The Continental Band of Newark will give sacred concerts in the afternoon and evening.

Bible Again a Best Seller

At a Book Fair conducted by a number of publishers in Chicago interest in what would prove to be the "best sellers" has naturally been keen. The fair was better supplied with juvenile books than with any others and this proved to be a correct estimate of the demand. Next to juvenile books, in the opinion of several of the publishers, the Bible is now their "best seller." One publisher assigned this to the "period of depression," at such times he said the demand for the Bible is always greater.

Mayor Harvey Making Good

The action of this man Harvey, Mayor of Wilmington, appeals to us. He sent out an S. O. S. and found out how the City bank account stood,—and we guess it's about the first time the public ever knew. Then he calls a conference of bankers and business men and very graciously implied, you fellows have been doing a lot of talking but as is often the case with talk, there was no knowledge of the facts. Here they are. Now, "Say it with Facts," not among yourselves but to me and the Public.

This is the right spirit. Wilmington is simply a big business proposition. To grow it must have all the Facts of all the Departments. Add to that business foresight, enthusiasm and a little civic patriotism and the future of Wilmington will pass all the dreams of yesterday.

Mayor Harvey seems to have caught the idea. It is now for the citizens to back him to the limit.

A Citizen's Prayer

Merciful Destiny for Thy privileges rendered, Kind Nature for Thy blessings bestowed, Friendly Guide and Gracious God for Thy Keeping, we, on this day, offer our feeble but sincere thanks to Thee. For the peace of our State and Nation, for the abundant plenty of our harvests, give us this day, to have full appreciation. For the advance in Science, the beauty of Art, the power of the written and spoken Word, make us to realize the fullness of the meaning thereof. For Thy support of the Strong and the succor of the Weak, we bow in grateful.

Thou hast walked with the Man behind the Plow in the lengthening furrow of the field and followed the Miner's lantern in the depths of the mine. Thou has given to us to fill the world's granaries and clothe the nations of the earth. With the sailor in the watch tower and with the Master of our Ship of State, Thy guidance has kept us in Peace with the world's people. In the Forum Thou hast now given to us the leadership in civilization's Masterpiece—Conference for Disarmament. For these and this, we thank Thee and now pray to give us the master thought and national strength to execute this Ideal of Calvary's Dream.

With the opportunity of History before us, make our emblem of Liberty be for Truth, indeed. When Right and Passion are clashing with Wrong and Reason, make us to give to the World a new meaning for America. By serving humanity give to us the leadership in the World's peace. Make us to teach that Truth need not be drenched in blood to be pure. And that the Brotherhood of Man is not a student's dream. Holding the balance of battle in Thy Almighty Hand give us to see the wisdom of honesty among men and nations. For America, for the world and for men, thus we pray.

Receiving Congratulations

Mr. and Mrs. Rodney Warren of Newark, formerly of Wilmington, are receiving congratulations on the birth of a baby boy, Rodney, Junior.

Kellsman Captures a Tarantula

Kells has received from Daniel P. Finkbone, Jr., veteran of Foreign Wars, a gift of two tarantulas with several centipede and other interesting insects. These are preserved in alcohol, and are fine specimens of the larger spider species.

The tarantula is the true wolf-spider found in Italy. And for it is named the famous tarantula dance, because superstitious and imaginative Italians thought that the bite of one of these spiders caused a lethargy from which its victim was roused only by music to which he danced wildly until he fell exhausted. He then sweat out the poison from his system, and went on his way feeling no ill effects. If he was, however, unable to dance in this fashion, he died.

The name, tarantula, is now applied to large bird spiders of Southern United States, South and Central America. This is the largest spider in America. It feeds on birds, spiders and other insects, and does not, as its timid cousin spiders do, weave a net to catch its prey, but it pins the prey to earth with its hard, sharp fangs. Its bite is painful, but never fatal to persons.

silage corn. Soy beans are being grown in the row with all silage corn. The beans were inoculated before seeding and as a result they are growing rapidly. The beans were sown at the same time as the corn. This was made possible by means of a bean attachment to the corn planter. In all there are about 25 acres of silage corn and 12 acres of "husking corn" being grown on the farm this year, not taking account of the corn being grown upon the Agronomy experimental plots.

A new two-acre peach orchard was planted this spring. This orchard will be used to experiment upon the proper source of nitrogen for fertilizing peaches.

The fruit crop is light. There were no cherries and will be no peaches, plums, or pears. Birds take the black berries as fast as they turn black. The currants and goose berries were killed by late frosts. A few late apples are still clinging to the trees, some trees having a full crop, others none at all. The apple orchards are now receiving their last spray, Bordeaux Mixture being used. When the spraying is completed the apple orchards will be seeded to cover crop of rye, crimson clover and oats.

The peach, cherry, plum and pear orchards have been seeded to soy beans.

A small plot of sudan grass is being grown for hay, while the Agronomy Department is testing a combination of sudan grass and soy beans as a source for hay.

A small acreage of flax is being grown to test fertilizers and rates of seeding for flax. Owing to the drought and late seeding, due to difficulty in getting seed, the crop is short.

At the present time there are about 85 hogs on the farm representing several breeds, mostly Durocs and Poland China.

The cattle herd consists of 19 mature cows, 15 of these are now milking, 13 of the 15 are on yearly test. There are also 6 yearling heifers and 8 heifer calves. The only breed represented in the herd is the Holstein-Friesian. The herd is headed by a three year old bull, Meadowholm Ona Ormsby.

This bull was bred by Peter Small, a celebrated Holstein breeder of Ohio. Competent judges have stated that the College bull was one of the best of the breed.

Camping Along the River

The Young Men's Catholic Club is camping for a week near Charlestown along the North East River. Those in the party are Dr. Rhoades, Jim Rupp, Joe Effe, Paul Moore, John Myers, Norman Batterbey, Charles Blest, Patrick Niven.

Truck on Fire

The new Aetna engine was again called out to duty last week; this time to extinguish the flames of a burning truck on the Newark-Wilmington pike. The truck was a large red moving van bound for Baltimore. The truck body was completely burned, leaving only the chassis.

Tragic Drowning Near Georgetown

Herman Waples Johnson, of Georgetown, and Francis Fleetwood, of Old Furnace, between Georgetown and Seaford, were drowned last week while bathing in Furnace Pond. Herman Johnson was 18 years old, a graduate of Georgetown High School this year, and was a great favorite among the younger set of lower Delaware. Last month he surprised his friends by going to Elkton, Md., with his classmate, Miss Anna Almerna Johnson, where the two were married by Rev. W. R. Moon.

Johnson took an active interest in high school and town athletics, and took part in several track meets on Frazer Field.

It is thought that Johnson, who had eaten a hearty dinner just before going swimming, was seized with cramps. Fleetwood, his cousin, attempted to save him; Johnson grabbed the boy about the neck, strangling him. Arthur Fleetwood, another cousin of the two boys, jumped into the pond and attempted to save Johnson but failed.

AMERICA WORTH WORKIN FOR

Says Executive Chairman of National League for Women Voters

Mrs. M. F. Cunningham, executive chairman of the League for Women Voters, spoke Friday night at Wolf Hall to Summer School students, on "Women's Relations to National Affairs." "There was the time," said Mrs. Cunningham, "when one might have to apologize for such a topic, but we are now better acquainted with our government and have not a formal attitude toward it. "There is no place woman occupies that she has not the right to take part in National affairs. Most women become homemakers. The homemaker is not guaranteed with no contact with the outside world. There are bills before Congress today that have an actual relation to the home. The Fess amendment to the Smith Hughes Act before Congress now provides for an amount of money to be spent on Home Economics in the schools of the country more nearly equal to that provided by that Act for agriculture and industrial subjects. As most girls are homemakers, it is especially important that we see they are trained for their job. "Food is going to waste in the South for want of transportation to the Northern cities, where prices are prohibitive for the poor. And 70 per cent of the children in one community in our country today are undernourished. "For many years regulations of the packing industry have been attempted, but as yet nothing has been done to regulate enormous profits. A United States Senate report of income receipts of 1918, shows in a majority of food packing concerns, a profit of 100 per cent; and in not a few companies, a profit of 1,000 per cent. These reports were made out for the income tax and are not, you can easily believe, exaggerated. These facts concern the homemakers of the nation and all men and women interested in children when we find that such a condition exists and that 70 per cent of our children are undernourished. "We have built up for our children by the past war, a whole new set of international hatreds. They are going to have to face problems we never tried to face. We must see that they have the chance to develop mentally and physically in order to meet these problems confronting them. "The Shepherd-Towner maternity bill in Congress now, to provide money for the care of mothers and children is one that should be passed. Twenty-five thousand mothers die annually at childbirth, and 225,000 children die annually in their first year. The United States stands seventeenth among civilized nations in infant mortality. "Another question that women more than men are interested in is education of all our citizens. One-fourth of our soldiers of the draft were illiterate. "We must not be among those who saw the goal, but did not see the way. By team work, getting together, organization, only can we handle these problems. We gave up the right to say national affairs were not our affairs when we said to our boys in 1917, 'America and her ideals of life and liberty are worth everything you can give for her.' We cannot say now that we have not the time to serve our government. Recognize your country's need in times of peace as well as times of war."

Request of Vacationists

Those vacationists who are now going away to the shore, mountains, camps or travel, should remember us back home who are keeping the Home Sun shining—watching your homes, attending to the cat. Send us a splash of spray, a whiff of ozone, a yarn of the camp or a view of haunts visited. Send a letter once in awhile to the Post so all your friends can enjoy your trip. There is probably no more interesting reading in Newark summer time than a People's Column Letter of Vacationists. Again, you will certainly see how other towns and communities do it. Whether better or worse than Newark, let's have it to enjoy and profit by. We wish you well—a gay time and profitable. Come back to us and share all the good things with the Old Home Town.

Department Store Progressing

Newark is soon to have a fine new department store. Many people have witnessed with interest the construction of Handloff's building on Main street, next to the Farmer's Trust Company. The plan of the store shows a building which, when completed, will be a credit to business interests of the town.

The building is 66 feet front by 100 feet. It will combine dwelling and store, three living rooms to be at the side of the store, and a suite of rooms above. Fine show windows of the latest type will be across the front; two detached cases and three, at the sides and between the two front entrances. New departments will be introduced when the store is opened for business. The structure is to be of buff-colored brick and a base of buff-tile with tiled entrance. The architect is Roscoe C. Tindale, of Wilmington, and the contractor, Clifford J. Willis. The store will be completed, according to specifications, September 15.

Interesting Club Meeting at Appleton

The Women's Club of Appleton met at the home of Mrs. Shriner on Wednesday evening, July 20. After the usual opening exercises a quotation from a favorite author was given in response to the roll call.

After some discussion it was decided to hold a picnic at Augustine Beach August 11th, in place of the August meeting. All members and families are urged to attend. Mrs. Townsley, an aunt of Mrs. Shriner, who was 87 July 4, demonstrated spinning flax on the spinning wheel, and explained the different processes flax is subjected to, before becoming a finished product. Miss Alice Blackson read an entertaining article on the modern way flax is prepared, spun an dwoven. A recitation by Miss Estelle Foreman was enjoyed by all. Miss Ross gave some hints to the home dressmaker.

After refreshments were served the club adjourned to meet with Mrs. A. D. Short near Appleton in September.

NEW IDEAS COME FROM OLD EUROPE

Mr. Miller a Modern Alladin

Herbert Adolphus Miller delivered the last lecture of the Service Citizens Lecture Course in Wolf Hall last night. Mr. Miller outlined the present situation and ideas of reorganization of the Central European States. "Europe," he said, "has been remade, and the present problem is recovering from the shock of the operation."

Mr. Miller proclaimed that there is no hatred in the Central States and Germany of the United States, in France, perhaps, yes. Our quarrel was with the military monarchy of those countries; now the military monarchy has been overthrown by the mass of the people opposed to the old aristocratic rule. "We are particularly close in relationship to the Central States," the speaker stated, "because 10 per cent of their population has emigrated to America. Twenty per cent of Polish population live in America."

Mr. Miller censured France for her present militaristic attitude at home and throughout Europe, where he stated French officers are stationed in nearly every country.

He pled for recognition of the new principles of Internationalism, and of Socialism. He praised the work of Hoover in Europe and of the Quakers in Germany feeding starving children.

Mr. Miller proclaimed Russia as the coming nation, and as the home of new ideas which will in time govern the world. The Chinese, in their recent awakening, are calling Russians to instruct them in economic principles. The economic and industrial ideas of Europe are far ahead of those in America.

In conclusion the speaker called for an open minded attitude on the new ideas, whether we like them or not, which are germinating in Europe, which are shaping the policy of the world, and which we must in effect "accept, go after, and face."

Old Time Harmony Heard; Tuskegee Institute Sextete Sings

A sextete from Tuskegee Colored Institute was unexpectedly able to give a concert in Wolf Hall, Monday afternoon. The recital was a real treat for all who heard it, and although not advertised in advance, was well attended. The audience was more than appreciative of the excellent harmony and voices of the sextete, and of the interpretative readings given.

The sextete gave several negro spirituals and familiar plantation melodies. Among the numbers were, "Steal Away to Jesus," "You Bear't in Mind," "Old Kentucky Home," and "Bohunkus," which was sung in imitation of the negro method of composing songs—the leader or composer giving a line or two at a time for the chorus to sing; "Swing Low Sweet Chariot" was sung by request.

A representative from Tuskegee gave several readings from Paul Laurence Dunbar's poems, "When de Cone Pone's Hot," and "Gettin' Up in de Mawwin'." He also spoke of the work of Tuskegee Institute which was founded forty years ago by Booker T. Washington. "This school has done more toward paving the way for a better understanding between the two races than any other force in the country. It has stood forty years for character building, religious training and industrial efficiency for the black folk.

"There are about 200 teachers in the school. The Institute owns 2,500 acres of land, 1,800 acres of which is a farm where practical and scientific agriculture is taught. Tuskegee develops the negro on the line of useful, intelligent citizenship."

The M. Megary & Son Co.

To The Lovers of Good Home-Furnishings This Advertisement Is Most Important

MONDAY, AUGUST 1st, MARKS THE BEGINNING OF THE MEGARY AUGUST SALE OF FINE FURNITURE.

It is the sale that our friends look forward to and wait for and take advantage of—a sale with a reputation to uphold.

Naturally there must be some good reason why this Sale is waited for—why it has such an enviable reputation.

That reason is—confidence!

Our friends know from years of experience that they can rely implicitly on our merchandise, on our statements as to its quality and as to the reductions.

It is this confidence that has built this business and that has made the August Sale a looked-for economy event.

The Furniture?

Of course it is of the Megary kind!

And this year the Megary August Sale will more than uphold its reputation.

There's no place here for the shoddy, skimpy kind—the "sale" kind or the kind that is sold with an apology and whose purchase and possession will be regretted long after the apparent low price is forgotten.

It is the kind of furniture you have always bought and the only kind you expect Megary's to sell.

It is sturdy—honestly made and well designed and finished—furniture that will add immensely to your home, furniture that is a pleasure to live with year after year.

And it is here in great variety—living-room and dining-room and bedroom suites and odd pieces for every room and the porch and in sizes and designs adapted for the modest little bungalow, the apartment or the most pretentious dwelling.

So much for the kind of furniture in the Megary August Sale.

And the August Prices?

Every piece of furniture (a few nationally-priced articles excepted) in this big stock, be it a smoking tray or a dining-room suite, will bear, next Thursday, the August Tag with its August Price.

Never have we offered such unusual values—never have the reductions been so great. In many cases the August Price is below today's wholesale cost.

No matter what your purchase may be during the August Sale it means a saving to you—and in some cases the savings run into hundreds of dollars.

And the easiest way and the best way to realize how great and how genuine these reductions are is to come and see and compare.

Of some exceptional and unusual values more will be said later on.

Continental Office Force Trims Bakelite Mill

On Saturday, July 23, in the first of a series of ball games between the Office Force and the Bakelite Mill of the Continental Fibre Co., the Office Force showed class and took the long end of the score away from the factory boys. This is all the more noticeable on account of the fact that the factory boys were the challengers. The only regret of the office is that the challenger himself failed to appear, thereby leaving the defeat to be born entirely by his cohorts. Also four managers were named before one was found having nerve enough to appear.

The box score sadly related is as follows:

Practical Work for Delaware's Blind

There are 219 blind persons on the visiting list of the Delaware Commission for the Blind. To these unfortunate men, women and children, the Commission, in the name of the State, opens the door of opportunity for greater interest in life in spite of their tremendous handicap; and in many cases for a self-supporting occupation. A young woman educated through the efforts of the Commission at the Peabody Institute of Baltimore, has become so proficient in music that she is able to give lessons on the piano to private pupils. A young man has completed his secondary education and is now enrolled as a student at the University of Delaware. Miss Duncan, former superintendent of the Delaware Hospital, who lost her sight as the result of her untiring activities of war service and in the influenza epidemic, has found days less tedious in the working atmosphere of the Blind Shop with its library of books for the blind.

The Commission, by mention of these and other individual stories of effort and help in the quarterly report just published, has undoubtedly brought to the public a closer realization of its work. Both the work and the point of view of the Commission are clearly set forth:

"The self-respecting blind and their condition, are largely screened from public view by their natural diffidence with the result that the public is more familiar with the mendicants operating on our streets than they are with the industrious and high spirited workers struggling against their handicap. It is also desired that all humane and public spirited people should know more of this work for the uplift of our fellow creatures.

"Many of the Blind are aged and our blind field workers can do but little than to cheer them up. The blind child is the especial care of this work. The parents or guardians of blind children are loathe to part with them in spite of the great advantage of an education, which would permit them to take their place in the world.

"The Blind Shop furnishes a home and occupation to its resident workers and pays them for the products of their efforts. It supplies work to "non-resident" blind who in this manner are enabled to earn a large percentage of their livelihood in their homes and in addition, is deeply interested in a small group of blind men who ply their vocations independently.

"The following schedule shows the work for The Blind Shop for the year ending April 1, 1921; 2287 chairs re-cahed; 439 small rugs, 100 large rugs; 145 dozen brooms made; 53 baskets repaired; 27 pianos tuned. Total wages paid the Blind, $4,573.29. Embossed books were read by 12 readers."

Two powerful colored stevedores who had some sort of falling out were engaged in unloading a vessel at a St. Louis dock. Uncomplimentary remarks and warnings of intended violence were exchanged whenever the two passed each other with their trucks.

UNIVERSITY MODEL SCHOOL HELPS RURAL TEACHERS

An Efficient Means of Teaching How to Teach

The aim of the model school of the summer school this year is to meet the needs of the rural school teacher. It is not so difficult a task to keep a group of children of the same age and interests, all about equally advanced. It is another matter, however, to do the same thing for twenty or thirty children that are being seven or eight different kinds of work. Here the difficulty lies, and since we must, for the present at least, have rural schools in Delaware, the rural type model school answers a great need in our training of teachers.

Miss Edith Van Syckle, Kent county rural supervisor, conducts the model school. She has the rare opportunity of showing her teachers how to teach as well as telling them.

Fifteen pupils are enrolled in the school. No school credit is guaranteed to the child; although some pupils will be enabled by their summer work to make up back time or to skip a grade.

The most difficult problems confronting the rural teacher are taken up. The primary class is learning to read by stories told them and written on the board. The children pick out and learn the important words of these stories, and sometimes make up little booklets with the picture and the word. This class too is beginning lumber work. They are taught to measure distances, and interestedly find out just how tall each one is.

The fourth grade pupils are learning Delaware History by the sand table, where the children represent the arrival of the Swedes at the Indian settlement on the Delaware Bay. They learn from English class the manners and dress of Indians, and then represent the real Indians in their wigwams and canoes. The next three weeks they will devote to studying modern conditions and will compare the two.

Miss Van Syckle teaches fractions to the fifth grade. Many children fail in handling fractions through lack of understanding of the fundamental principles. This difficulty, Miss Van Syckle aims to overcome by showing how fractions may be taken up simply and logically, so that before the child is aware of the fact, he has gained a good working knowledge.

The model school is housed in the portable building used for the Newark opportunity class. The building is well equipped with New Jersey desks and is of the latest type one room school. The children have access to a travelling library from Dover. In this school the rural school teachers have the opportunity to see how their own difficult problems are met. The model school offers a visual type of instruction and is thus the most effective and practicable means of training teachers how to teach.

Levy Court Receives Bids for Roads

Paul F. Rossell—Asphalt, $96,426.46; concrete, $84,040.87.

The court recessed until 2 o'clock in the afternoon.

Crop Items

Wheat threshing in this locality has brought a bit of hope to the farmers. The yield is turning out better than was anticipated. Down in lower New Castle, Kent and Sussex, the yield was far below normal. On some of the fine Kent farms, the yield was as low as 8 to 10 bushels. Locally, the yields are reported to be approaching normal. John Holloway just west of town, has the banner yield so far, the amount being 35 bushels.

Of course the price of $1.05 to $1.15 is a big come down from the $3.00 mark of last year.

The hay crop is unusually short, however, due to the early cold spell and the terrific drought.

Corn just now is exceptionally fine and shows good promise for a large yield.

Fewer potatoes are being planted than usual.

Newark an Ice Cream Town

Newark is a great place to live. No one will dispute that, except perhaps some Wilmington native. It has many advantages. Really in the language of the Public Sale Ad, they are too numerous to mention. Railroad facilities unequalled, health conditions unsurpassed; mosquitoes unknown; manufacturing plants among the world's leaders; education almost Grecian; the young trained according to Spartan methods of exposure and forbearance at the High School and the University is the State's nearest approach to Athens. A Plato, Sophocles or Socrates can be seen anytime. Then music, two brass bands that can play (unusual in a rural town), society, all kinds, games and sports, outdoor and indoor including sewing circles and card clubs, golf and crap, not to mention horse racing and New Century Club. Oh, it's a great town! A Town Council, a watering fountain as well as a Hose Company. Then a Board of Trade, though dead, the town boasts of one just the same. Loafers, a few around the corners who can spit and cuss with anything on East Side. It is, in all a Main Street Town, but unlike Sinclair's book it has a sunny side. Two newspapers—the other one is the Delaware Ledger. A great place to live! And growing, too. The last asset the town has will appeal to the young girls. Hard on the boys but many a girl has thus been won. And now to the point of this story. A survey made yesterday by a Post representative reveals this fact—1135 gallons of ice cream were sold in one week. There are 20 plates to a gallon. That makes 22,700 plates of cream in one week. "Some place for a girl to be! I'll tell the world." Say 3000 people in Newark and 22,700 plates of cream, get your pencil out for some interesting figures. Oh but there are visitors. Anyway, its interesting when we think of $2,000 to $2,500 worth of ice cream sold in one week.

Think of the news, gossip, chats, smiles and words of youth that come as prizes for this expenditure. Moral—Newark is a great town and why go on a vacation with this participation at hand.

Not for Her

An old dame at a railway station asked the porter where she could get her ticket. The man pointed in the direction of the ticket office. "You can get it there," he said, "through the pigeonhole."

"Get away with you, idiot!" she exclaimed. "How can I get through that little hole? I ain't no pigeon!"—Houston Post.

Wilmington Dollar Day, August 3

There is hardly a family on the Peninsula to which the announcement just made by the Mercantile Section of the Wilmington Chamber of Commerce, that the Fall Dollar Day will be held on Wednesday, August 3rd, will not bring appreciative anticipation. Wilmington merchants promise to excel anything they ever have attempted in value-giving on this occasion, and experience has taught Peninsula shoppers that the bargains available on Dollar Day are real, honest and unusual. In the nine years since these special bargain events have been semi-annual affairs in Wilmington, there never has been one single complaint registered by any purchaser about either quality of merchandise, prices or service. This is a wonderful record to claim, but it literally is true.

It is anticipated that, following the custom which has obtained for several years, shoppers from the Peninsula will make up motor or train parties to visit Wilmington, where there are plenty of good restaurants, amusements and bargains.—Adv.

FARMERS' PICNIC AT AUGUSTINE BEACH

Organization and Cooperation Theme of the Day

More than 5000 persons attended the Farmers' Picnic at Augustine Beach, Thursday. Farmers and their families, not only from New Castle county, but also from Kent, were present.

Addresses were given by W. V. Cosden, of Dover, president of the State Federation of Farm Bureaus; Robert G. Houston, former president of the Sussex County Farm Bureau; Roy G. Potts, representative of the United States Bureau of Markets. C. A. McCue, director of the Experiment Station of the University of Delaware, was chairman of the day.

Mr. Houston emphasized the importance of farmers organizing into bodies and as such acting only for the welfare of all. A system of keeping account of receipts and expenditures in various crops, which the majority of farmers do not have, Mr. Houston declared necessary.

"I don't blame the various industries for perfecting strong organizations which may work adverse to the farmers' interests, but I do blame the farmers for allowing it," said Colonel Houston. He also stressed the value of teaching children industry, which he declared to be as important as book knowledge.

Mr. Roy G. Potts spoke on the value of organization and co-operation in marketing. Both, he said, are needed at the present time in order to carry on the business of farming in a business-like, efficient way.

Others who took part in the day's affairs were Frank F. Yearsley, of Marshallton, president of the New Castle County Farm Bureau, who introduced Chairman C. A. McCue; County Agent R. O. Bausman, who organized the annual event; M. O. Pence, leader of County Agents in Delaware, was active in making the day a success.

The activities of the day included dancing, bathing, a musical program, and a baseball game between Hockessin and Bear. The Hockessin nine won with a score of 8 to 0. In the afternoon, Mrs. Frances DeWitt Babcock, of Wilmington, sang, accompanied on the piano by Miss Nellie Wilson. The speaking and singing was held in the dance pavilion.

The outing was given by the combined efforts of New Castle County Farm Bureau, Delaware Milk Producers' Association and Delaware Holstein-Frisian Association.

Sequel to Arrest

A sequel to the arrest in Newark some time ago of Paul Kirk, of Elkton, and his subsequent trial and fine by Justice Lovett, occurred near Elkton last Saturday.

Sheriff Seth and Bailiff Potts on Saturday arrested Samuel Short and Luke Goodyear, who occupy a small house near the junction of the Iron Hill and Newark roads, for selling liquor contrary to the law. The tip that led to the arrest of the culprits is said to have been given at the hearing of the parties who wrecked a team, hired from Wier Seth, of Elkton, in Newark on Thursday night of last week. Some regular "red licker" and a quantity of "home brew" fermenting in various receptacles, it is said, were found upon the premises. In default of the usual bail, Justice Scotten held the pair for the action of the September grand jury.

The Nature Lover in the Forest

An illustrated talk of particular interest to nature lovers was given in Wolf Hall Thursday evening by John Henry Frome of Philadelphia. His subject was "The Nature Lover in the Forest." After reviewing the stages of progress from the paleolithic age to nature forms of today, Mr. Frome took his audience by means of his beautifully colored slides, with him into the forest. He discussed the various forms of life found there, trees, insects, birds and animals.

He spoke of the young elms on the college green, as being one of the most beautiful of trees, more graceful than when covered with foliage. For as the leaves are more simple, the branches are more numerous and delicate. "The sassafras," said the speaker, "is the most delightful of woods to cut and carve."

In speaking of the animals of the woods, Mr. Frome recommended coons for pets. His observations applied especially to the woods of Pennsylvania and Delaware.

Special Orchestra at Elkton Carnival

A special orchestra will provide the music for dancing in the Elkton Armory Wednesday and Saturday nights. Good floor and good music, what more could the Elkton Carnival folks provide for a good time. Newark people are invited to attend this special feature.

DR. ODELL PREACHES IN WOLF HALL

Points Out the Duty of Mankind

"Shall the weak brother perish for whom Christ died?" from First Corinthians, Eighth Chapter and Eleventh verse, was the theme of a strong sermon preached Sunday evening by Dr. Joseph H. Odell, director of the Service Citizens of Delaware, before students of the University of Delaware Summer School. Dr. Odell illustrated, by a series of references from the world's history, in all ages, the fact that all humanity has some form of weakness, whether we turn to the intellectual giant or to the great moral leader; that men in early times fashioned their standards, in large measures, from the practice of nature where always the cruel law of the survival of the fittest prevails. "It was death to the weak until Christ died," the speaker declared, "since Christ has died for these weak brothers the world does not dare to spurn them. Upon Christ's rating of the weak brother all education is builded; we shall fulfill the will of Him who died only when every weak man and woman—and that means all mankind—when every boy and girl, in the whole wide world, is guaranteed a fair chance."

A program of sacred music by Hannah Greenwood, soprano, John Wilbourne, tenor, and Mabel Thomas, accompanist, all members of the choir of Roland Park Presbyterian Church, Baltimore, preceded the sermon.

Dancing Class Closes

The dance given by Miss Edith Braunstein to the Tuesday, Thursday and Friday night dancing classes, on Monday night, July 25th, marked the closing of these classes. It was well attended, about forty being present. Dancing started at 9 and continued until 11.30 o'clock, with music by Miss Laura Beckley, pianist, of Wilmington. Miss Braunstein will start next season's classes the first of October.
