

FARMERS SHOULD REDUCE EXPENSE OF POTATO CROP

County Agent Willim Urges
The Use Of Modern Methods
USE CERTIFIED SEED

All farmers in New Castle county growing potatoes this year should try to reduce their cost of production to the lowest point possible," says County Agent, Ed Willim, Jr., in a recent statement. "It is imperative," continues the statement, that the highest yield per acre be harvested and that the acreage of potatoes this season be held the same as that of last year or be reduced a little if a fair return is to be received from this enterprise.

Lowering the cost of production per bushel is being done by many of the progressive potato growers in the county by getting a big crop per acre and lowering the total cost of producing a paying crop by reducing the acreage. These potato growers are using many modern methods in their efforts to grow a big crop on a small acreage. Among these better paying practices are the use of certified seed, proper fertilization, sufficient spraying with high pressure outfits and the use of labor saving equipment.

The advisability of planting only certified seed instead of locally or home grown seed has been demonstrated many times. Demonstrations conducted in this county several years ago show that certified seed will increase the yield as much as 15 or 20 per cent. Growers then this spring should use certified seed of known origin for their plantings, in the light of the facts shown by these demonstrations.

Most dealers of seeds and farm supplies in the county sell certified seed potatoes and one grower in the county, who has handled this order in previous years, is in charge of assembling individual orders for New York certified seed to be delivered to the county in carload lots by the early (Continued on Page 5.)

TAX PROVISIONS ARE DIFFERENT

State And Federal Departments Differ On Filing Losses

A distinctly different meaning is given to the terms capital gains and capital losses by the State Tax Department and by the Federal Authorities.

All gains or losses arising from the sale of stocks, bonds, real estate or other property held for investment are classified by the State as capital gains or capital losses. The Federal Government considers these transactions to result in capital gains or capital losses only in the case where the property has been held for more than two years.

Capital losses for purpose of taxation by the State are also held to include loans which are incapable of collection and losses through endorsement or as guarantor. On the State tax return no capital losses may be deducted from income, unless the income includes a capital gain at least equal in amount to the capital loss which is sought to be deducted.

For illustration let us assume that a loss of $2,000 has been sustained through the sale of some stock or real estate. If the taxpayer that same year had no capital gains, he could not deduct any of this $2,000 from income on his State return. If his income included $1,500 of capital gains, he could deduct on his State return only $1,500 of the $2,000 loss. But if his income included $2,100 of capital gains, then he could deduct the entire $2,000 loss.

On the Federal tax return, gains or losses arising from the sale or exchange of property including stocks, bonds, etc., held for less than two years are considered as ordinary income or ordinary deductions from income, and the only thing which would prevent the deduction of such a loss on the Federal return would be the repurchase of substantially identical property within 30 days from the date of sale which showed the loss.

Capital gains, as defined by the Federal Government are taxable at not more than 12 1/2 per cent. This means that unless a taxpayer has a net taxable income in excess of $32,000 he will not be interested in this capital gain provision, but will compute his tax on his entire net income including capital gains at the regular (Continued on Page 8.)

Obituary

Miss Anna F. Webb

Miss Anna Foote Webb, sister of Mrs. J. Wilkins Cooch, died on Saturday, February 8th, at her residence, 100 Morningside Drive, New York City. Miss Webb was a graduate of Wellesley, and had devoted her life to the upbuilding of the American College in Madrid, Spain. Later she had established a college for women in Barcelona, the Colegio Internacional, where she was Director, and the success of it was due largely to her ability and personality. Since her return to America the American Royal Academy of Science and Letters has made her a member, sending her a gold medal in recognition of her distinguished services for the advancement of education in Spain. This honor had never previously been given to a woman.

Miss Webb's parents were for many years missionaries in India. Her father, Rev. Edward Webb, adapted many Christian hymns to the native melodies, in recognition of which he was called the "Father of Christian Tamil music." Miss Webb and Mrs. Cooch were both born in India.

Burial was at Oxford, Pa., on Tuesday, where the family resided for many years after their return from India, and where another sister, Dr. Ella S. Webb, was a practicing physician. The bearers were Francis A. Cooch, Edward W. Cooch, S. Winthrop Webb, and Richard B. Webb, nephews, and F. Allyn Cooch, Jr., and J. Wilkins Cooch, 2nd, grand nephews.

The local firemen were called to Bear Station at two o'clock on Sunday morning to extinguish a chimney fire.

A fire in the chimney at the home of Benjamin Devonshire on N. Chapel street on Wednesday, was extinguished by the local firemen. The fire was confined to the chimney and resulted in very little damage.

RETURN MANY LICENSE BLANKS

Motorists Should Use Care In Filing Their Applications
For New License

Reports from Dover show that the Motor Vehicle Department of the Secretary of State's Office is having much needless work piled on it due entirely to the carelessness of motorists. The department has been obliged to send many applications back to the senders, because of incompleteness in filling them out.

"In contrast to the yellow forms of last year, the 1930 forms are green," explains the information bureau of the Delaware Automobile Association, 11th and West streets, Wilmington. "On the original as well as the renewal application forms are two places for the applicant to sign his name; both are on the front. The name of the county in which the applicant lives must also be filled out. This is at the top of the card above one signature. On the right hand end of the front of the form is the place for the second signature and in filling this out the applicant should avoid writing his name all the way across, as space must be left for the signature of the Secretary of State.

On the back of the form on the first line the applicant's name is written, and in case of renewals should be written exactly as printed on the face of the form. The next line is for the address, and in case of a change of address should be written here and the typewritten address on the front of the card corrected. The date of birth of the applicant should be filled in (month, day, and year), color (race), sex, occupation, if licensed before, when and in what state, kind of license desired (operator, chauffeur) and whether a license has ever been revoked or suspended before. If the applicant is under eighteen years of age, parent, guardian, or employer must sign it. All filling out is to be done with pen and ink."

Johnson and Shultz opened the program with string instruments, and responded to an encore; little Miss Dorothy Fell sang several very catchy numbers; Ed. Shakespeare sang several popular songs, accompanying himself with his ukelele; Mrs. Marguerite Balling and Miss Elizabeth Lindell gave an amusing playlet, "Hanging Out the Wash"; and Price Jackson gave selections on the harmonica, to which "Billy" Marrs danced.

The main feature of the evening was Ray LeVan and his Impromptu Minstrel. Those taking part were, C. A. Crowley and L. H. Starr, end men; Ray LeVan, interlocutor; W. L. Fell, G. A. Murphy, Earl Walls, J. B. Connolly, Ed. Kelly, Tom Corbett and Dan Kelly, circle. Miss Alice Fell was at the piano. These minstrel men are members of the well-known P. R. R. Minstrels of Wilmington, and their entertainment was up to the standard of professionals. All the solo work was very good, that of their leader, Mr. LeVan, being especially noteworthy.

Sandwiches and coffee were served, and dancing brought the evening to a close.

MINNESOTA INSTRUCTOR SPOKE AT NEWARK HIGH SCHOOL

At the high school assembly Monday morning the speaker was Professor Robert E. Miller, of the faculty of the University of Minnesota. Mr. Miller is studying business conditions in their relation to training of students for the business world. He declared the high school graduate has a much greater chance of success than the man or woman in the same position without that education, and that the college graduate has an added advantage over those two, for success in the business world. He also said that the greater number of business men in Wilmington, who employ, prefer college graduates, a number demand college graduates, and the minority are indifferent.

Professor Ira S. Brinsler displayed the banner won by the Newark High School for the best attendance in the secondary high schools in New Castle county, Tuesday morning.

The banner sent to the Newark schools in token of their having enrolled in the Delaware Safety Council, was also displayed.

REFERENDUM ON KLAIR LAW IS IN PROGRESS

Dry Organizations And P. S.
du Pont Both Issue
Statements

MANY BALLOTS FILED

The State wide referendum on the repeal of the Klair law which is now in progress in Delaware, attracted a large amount of attention during the past week. The referendum is being conducted under the direction of P. S. du Pont of Wilmington.

Efforts were made to place a ballot on the referendum in the hands of every registered voter in the State. The ballots were sent from Wilmington and it was announced that a total of 112,000 had been sent out.

Newspaper reports from Wilmington indicate that a large number of replies are being received and that the total is being increased each day. Mr. du Pont expressed himself as being well pleased with the progress being made in getting the voters to express their opinion on the matter.

As was to be expected, the announcement of the proposed referendum brought forth a public statement from the dry forces of the State. This, of course, was followed by one from Mr. du Pont.

In a statement issued last week by a committee representing four dry organizations in Wilmington, Mr. du Pont's efforts to obtain a repeal of the Klair enforcement law is described as being "conceived in a spirit of opposition to what we believe is the only method by which the Nation will be eventually freed from the evils of alcoholic drink," and "we will refuse to lend assistance to anyone who is not friendly to our cause." The four organizations are the Wilmington Law and Order Society, Anti-Saloon League of Delaware, the Wilmington Methodist Preachers' Association and the Delaware Women's Christian Temperance Union. The committee's statement follows in full:

They were charged with stealing the automobile a week ago of County Agent J. E. Miller in Elkton.

Vinsinger, for the purchase of the Vinsinger meadow, comprising 20 acres of land, which is located at the foot of Crossed Hill on the Elkton-Glasgow road.

The primary use of the property, which adjoins the present reservoir and filtration plant, will be for the building of a larger reservoir for the storing of water for emergencies.

The town later, when funds are available after water plans have been completed, will use part of the land for a recreation center and city park.

Rich gravel deposits are on the property, and this will be used in the future by the Council for all concrete and street work.

The Town Council of Elkton has purchased for use of Chief of Police Fotts and the officers under him a police chasing automobile, which will be put into service Monday. The car, bullet proof glass, will be used by both the day and night force for emergency calls and other requirements that may arise in the line of their duty.

Marshallton

The Rt. Rev. Philip Cook, at St. Barnabas' P. E. Church on Sunday evening, confirmed a class of nine young people. They were: Shirley Parker, Doris Peters, Gladys Whitten, Edna Farrow, Patricia Dunlap, Peter Dunlap, Walter Wright and Orville Pyle. The Rev. E. A. Rich, rector of the church, presented the group for confirmation and Mr. Frederick Bringham and Edward H. Ehart, Jr., assisted in the service. The Bishop, in his sermon following the confirmation service, spoke of the eighteen years of Jesus' life of which there is little recorded in the Bible. He told how Jesus learned his trade as a carpenter in the shop with Joseph, and of His work in that line, having to prepare the wood after they had cut down trees. He said he very often came in touch with his friends and all of those people living in Nazareth, as he more than likely built the cradles for the young babies and the beds for the dead.

The Boy Scout Troop of Marshallton last Friday evening held their annual dinner meeting in St. Barnabas' Church. Frederick Bringham is scoutmaster and several guests were entertained at the affair.

The Mill Creek Fire Company, last Saturday evening, observed open house with an old time dance.

Plans for "guest night," to be observed on Thursday, February 28, a rummage sale, to be held at 492 Tarral street, Wilmington, on Friday, February 29, and a 10-cent supper, to be held on Thursday, March 1, were made at the meeting last Thursday of the Marshallton Civic Club. Mrs. Frederick Snyder was the guest.

Mr. Taft Steps Down

It is with a feeling of deep regret and the realization of duty well done that the nation sees the curtains drawn on the public life of William Howard Taft. Mr. Taft holds the unique distinction of being the only man who has been both president and chief justice of the United States, the two highest honors within the gift of a nation.

Kinship With Fame

Nothing is more fascinating than the power that can linger in a man's name long after the man himself is dead and gone. For a demonstration of this fact you are invited to go to Springfield, Ill., the home town of Abraham Lincoln.

Honors A Confederate

Time heals all things, as a sage once said in the fullness of his wisdom. It is significant, especially just at this time when the nation is paying tribute to the memory of Abraham Lincoln on the anniversary of his birth, that Congress paused the other day to honor a Confederate veteran on his 89th birthday.

Chemist's Responsibility

A London chemist predicts that newspaper paper may eventually be made out of air, so that exhaustion of the pulp-wood forests which now constitute the source of supply will not put all the newspapers out of business.

Referendum On Klair Law

"The announced purpose of Pierre S. du Pont to secure a straw vote upon repeal of the Klair Law through a questionnaire is not looked upon with favor by the real friends of prohibition. Dry voters, knowing Mr. du Pont's position in the matter, will regard the effort to secure repeal of the State enforcement measure as conceived in a spirit of opposition to what we believe to be the only method by which the nation will be eventually freed from the evils of alcoholic drink, and we will refuse to lend assistance to anyone who is not friendly to their cause.

"Mr. du Pont's pronounced allegiance to the anti-Prohibition movement places a partisan stamp upon any effort emanating from him or his associates to change existing laws and causes same to be regarded with an air of suspicion by the friends of prohibition. Under these conditions any individual effort issuing either from the friends or opponents of prohibition to secure a consensus of opinion on a matter that is held to vitally affect the interests of one side or the other is wholly futile and ill-advised.

"Every live politician understands that the dry vote of the State constitutes, to a very large degree, the independent vote of the State, and they of all citizens resent anything in the nature of being patronized. They will, therefore, refuse cooperation in any effort that is unauthorized and considered by them to be inimical to their cause.

"The dries say that the violators of State statutes in all directions are not inactive, and that this is no time to be letting down on measures for law enforcement. They also regard the Klair Law as a fairly efficient measure that should not be repealed until something better, of a real enforcement nature, is offered in its stead; and that the restriction that it places upon druggists and physicians is not peculiar to the laws of our State and was placed there with justifiable reasons. They view the bonding of druggists, to observe the requirements of a restrictive measure, as a mild preventive that will save many an expensive cure, and of the same nature as required by the Federal Government for the compounding of medicines with other narcotic drugs.

"The dries claim that they are not unacquainted with the aims of the wets and the methods by which they hope to accomplish their ends. They say that the assaults on the local enforcement law are a part of a nationwide plan to nullify the Eighteenth Amendment, by repeal of the State enforcement measures, for the purpose of making good their claim that prohibition cannot be enforced.

"Since they are in full possession of the facts, they will respectfully decline to come into the parlor of the spider, even though he assumes an innocent expression and extends the invitation to the party."

Mr. du Pont later in the week replied to the statement of the prohibition advocates.

In his reply, Mr. du Pont emphasizes that the right of petition is upheld by the Constitution of the United States and by the Constitution of Delaware, and points out that answers to his questionnaire will take the form of a petition to the State Legislature.

Mr. du Pont's reply, made in a letter addressed to the Law and Order Society, the W. C. T. U. of Delaware, the executive committee of the Wilmington Preachers' Association, and the Anti-Saloon League of Delaware, follows:

"My attention has been called to an advertisement appearing in some of our newspapers in opposition to the questionnaire recently sent by me to the people of Delaware, requesting a declaration on the Klair prohibition law. This advertisement states in part:

"This can accomplish no good purpose, as it is merely a straw vote and not binding upon any candidate for the Legislature or member thereof."

"Please note that the right of petition is upheld by the Constitution of the United States and by the Constitution of Delaware. The answers to the questionnaire will form a petition to the Legislature of the State of Delaware. Such is the declaration to those asked to sign. This is not a straw vote. It can serve the purpose, be it good or bad, to show the wishes of the people of Delaware with respect to a law now in force for a number of years.

NEW CASTLE WINS GAMES AT NEWARK

Newark boys' and girls' Varsity teams of the high school were defeated last Friday night by the teams representing New Castle High School in a D. I. A. A. basketball game by the score, boys, 20 to 19, and girls, 28 to 15. The boys game was disputed throughout and New Castle, which has been undefeated in a D. I. A. A. game so far this season, kept its record unscathed by defeat only after a hard struggle. Berry and Kern were the high scorers for the visitors, scoring 6 and 7 points respectively, Miss King and Miss Greer for the visiting girls, scored 16 and 12 points respectively. For Newark boys, Pie and Whiteman scored 5 and 6 points respectively, while for the Newark girls, Miss Fulton scored 12 of her team's 15 points.

DELLMUTH IS STAR IN DEFEAT OF U. D.

Swarthmore College defeated the University of Delaware passers, 36 to 26, at Swarthmore Saturday. The winners outplayed the Delaware crew, outscoring them, 15 to 11, from the field and 6 to 4 from the foul strips.

Delaware passed the home team in the first half of the game, but their defense faltered in the second half and the Swarthmore dribblers breezed to an easy victory.

Dellmuth, of Swarthmore, was the high scorer of the game, with 11 points—four field goals and three fouls. Hill led the Delaware lads on the offense field goals and one foul toss. The scores:

FEW FRESHMEN ARE DROPPED AT THE UNIVERSITY

Fewer freshmen than ever before in the history of the college were forced to drop their studies at the University of Delaware this year because they failed in their mid-year examinations. Dr. Walter Hullahen, president of the University, said last week.

Dr. Hullahen's statement quashed rumors that the mid-year examinations had taken a heavy toll this year, especially among the first year students.

With the largest freshmen class ever registered at the men's college, the number of freshmen dropped was exceedingly small, Dr. Hullahen declared. He said that he did not have figures available for the women's college, but that he had been informed that the number of students dropped there was no larger proportionately than in the men's college.

Fifteen students in all have left the men's college following the mid-year examinations, Dr. Hullahen said. These are divided as follows: Seven freshmen, one of whom turned in blank examination papers; five sophomores, three of whom expect to reenter the college next fall; two juniors and one senior.

REPORT ON MILK PRODUCTION FOR MONTH OF JANUARY

The Holstein herd owned by Mr. Karl Feucht, of Elkton, leads the New Castle County Cow Testing Association in butterfat and milk production for the past month of January. His 21 cows averaged 36.05 lbs. of fat and 1089.3 of milk during this period, and 12 of these cows produced over 1,000 lbs. of milk each. The January report with this information in it has been made to County Agent, Ed William, Jr., by Mr. Alois Leinen, supervisor for the organization.

The report shows that 26 cows produced over 50 lbs. of fat during the month with Mr. J. Howard Mitchell's Jersey herd leading with five. The average cow in the association produced 26.2 lbs. of butterfat for the month.

Many of the low milk producing cows of the association have already been culled from the herds when their owners found from the association records that they have not been profitable. This leaves the high producers which are the profitable ones to keep in the herd, and the report shows that ninety-two cows gave over 1,000 lbs. of milk each during the month. The average cow produced 575 lbs. of milk during this period.

The six herds producing the largest amount of butterfat during this testing period were owned by: Karl Feucht, Elkton, 36.05 lbs.; Wilson Price, Porter, 34.89 lbs.; J. Howard Mitchell and Sons, Hockessin, 34.29; B. V. Armstrong, Middletown, 33.4; Fred Stafford, Montchanin, 32.75; Thomas VanSant, Newark, 29.95.

The eight highest individual producers of fat were in herds owned by Holly Hall Farm, Elkton; Fred Stafford, Montchanin; J. Howard Mitchell and Sons, Hockessin, and Karl Feucht, Elkton.

All of these eight cows gave over 60 lbs. fat each during the month.

In milk production, five of the six highest herds were Holsteins and one Ayrshire. They are as follows: Karl Feucht, Elkton, 1089 lbs. milk per cow; B. V. Armstrong, Middletown, 1061 lbs.; Fred Stafford, Montchanin, 999 lbs.; Thomas VanSant, Newark, 918 lbs.; Edward Ratledge, Townsend, 765 lbs.; Wallace Cook, Newark, 734 lbs.

Farmers Should Reduce Expenses of Potato Crop

spring. Anyone interested in getting in touch with the ones who handle certified potatoes for seed should see or write the County Agent at once and he will let them know who are carrying certified stock.

Proper fertilization and spraying are two features of potato growing that if properly attended to will help cut the cost of growing potatoes. For the past two years demonstrations conducted on three or four New Castle county farms have shown that spraying with high pressure and the proper spray materials will reduce the insect and disease troubles and in this way allow the plants to grow better and mature more first quality potatoes. These spraying demonstrations have given an average increase per acre of about sixty bushels over the unsprayed tuber plants.

"All of these factors," concludes Mr. William's article, should be taken into consideration by the potato grower who wants to get a large yield from the same or smaller size plantings this year.

WOMEN HELPED MAKE PROGRESS IN THIS STATE

Many Have Reached High Places In Their Chosen Professions

Delaware, the "First State," lists a number of business and professional women whose success has contributed toward the phenomenal growth of Wilmington and the State during the past two or three decades.

Astronomy, law, medicine, ministry, business and teaching—all chronicle well known feminine leaders. Perhaps heading the list should be Miss Annie J. Cannon, formerly of Dover, who has gained nation wide fame as America's foremost woman astronomer.

She graduated from Wellesley in 1884 with a B. S. degree; in 1907 secured her M. A. from that institution; and in 1914 was made the first honorary member of the Royal Astronomical Society of Great Britain. In 1921 the Gronigen University in Holland conferred on her the degree of Doctor of Science, the highest scientific honor ever granted an American woman by a foreign university. She is the author of various well known works on astronomy.

Four Delaware women have successfully passed examinations admitting them to the practice of law. Miss Sybil U. Ward and Miss Evangelyne Barsky both secured their law degrees from the law school of the University of Pennsylvania in June, '22; and in March of the following year gained admittance to the State Superior Court and the Court of Chancery. Shortly afterwards they were received at the district United States Court. Miss Ward is a charter member of the Wilmington Quota Club.

The third Delaware woman lawyer is Miss Mary Swift Rupert, who passed her bar examination in New York City two years ago. She secured her A. B. from Bryn Mawr College and her law degree from New York University.

Mrs. Annie Miles Saulsbury who received her LL. B. and her LL. M. degrees from the George Washington University, Washington, and her Ph. D. from Dickinson in Pennsylvania, passed her law examinations in Wilmington and is now auditor of the consolidated division of the Income Tax in the United States Treasury Department in Washington. She was admitted to the bar in this State in 1926.

Among the prominent physicians of the State is Dr. Margaret I. Handy, child specialist, who lives in Wilmington but whose practice is Statewide. She graduated from Goucher College in 1911 and in 1916 secured her M. D. from the Graduate School of Medicine of Johns Hopkins University.

Miss B. Ethelda Mullen, president of the Wilmington Quota Club, holds one of the city's most responsible welfare positions. She is executive secretary of the Associated Charities and in that capacity has her "finger in the pie" in a large amount of the work sponsored for the poor.

Among other prominent social workers of the city and State are Miss Mary Cook, who has charge of the social work of the Delaware Hospital; Miss Catherine Sweeney, the head of the Social Service Exchange; Miss Rheta Duffus, head of the Florence Crittenton Home; Miss Grace Baird, who has charge of the educational work of the Delaware Safety Council; Miss Grace Brewer, the executive secretary of the Service of Foreign Born; Miss Marjorie Earp, secretary of the Delaware Red Cross; Mrs. Petricha Manchester, executive secretary of the Consumers' League; Miss Frances Griggs, who is in charge of the Mother's Pension Committee for this State; Miss Sarah Pyle, secretary of the People's Settlement; Mrs. Roberta Williams, in charge of the Travelers' Aid Society of Delaware; Mrs. Anna Castle, in charge of the Visiting Nurse Association; Miss Elizabeth Woodward, head of the Children's Bureau of Delaware; and Mrs. I. H. Sortman, secretary for the Hebrew Charity Association.

Miss Rieta M. Emerson, president of Quota International, a past first and second vice-president of that organization, and also a past president of the Wilmington Quota Club, is assistant pastor of St. Paul's M. E. Church. She is the only member of any Quota Club whose classification is licensed preacher.

The Quota Club, in fact, seems to include a large percentage of the leading business and professional women of Wilmington. Besides those mentioned in the paragraphs above there are Miss Sallie Sharp, the head of the Sharp School of Expression; Miss Grace Martin, who is part owner of the C. L. Story Company; Miss Edna Stuart, who is a member of the firm of Stuart's Wilmington Book Bindery; Miss Sara H. Truax, who has been secretary to the manager of the duPont-Biltmore almost since the inception of that building and corporation; Miss Elizabeth M. Bullock, society editor of the Evening Journal, who has raised the social page of that publication to its present high standard; Mrs. Ella M. Fisher, who has continued an undertaking business established by her late husband; Mrs. Anna D. Justis, who not only is actively interested in various phases of welfare work but who is president of the Norwalk Vault and Monumental Company, Newport.

Mrs. Edna H. Cooper holds a very responsible position as welfare secretary of the Joseph Bancroft Company. Her duties include the management of the cafeteria there and the supervision of the recreation of the girl workers in that plant.

Miss Mary L. K. Armstrong, treasurer of the Wilmington Fibre Specialty Company, New Castle, has very materially assisted in developing that firm to its present status.

There are also Miss Bertha L. Houpt, head of the Hoopes Advertising Agency; Miss Martha E. Leach, assistant secretary and treasurer of the Electric Hose and Rubber Co., a company known throughout this section and which has recently established a branch office in London; Miss Mary A. Bailey, owner of the M. A. Bailey Children's Shop; Miss E. Virginia Baynard, secretary and assistant treasurer of the Equitable Trust Company; Miss Idarene F. Black, assistant secretary of the Street and Sewer Department of Wilmington; Mrs. Florence E. L. Scott, a city probation officer and also an active member of the D. A. R.; Miss Carrie M. Richards, manager of the Reynolds Candy Company; Miss Florence M. Ellicott, prominently connected with the Diamond State Telephone Company; Mrs. Helen P. Wisheart, superintendent of the Homeopathic Hospital; Mrs. Edith Morris White, receptionist Studio of Wilmington; Mrs. Florence Brackin Thompson, secretary of Brosius and Smedley Co.; and Miss Martha Trace, executive secretary of the Y. W. C. A.

In the pedagogical world the list of important women is quite lengthy as practically all of the public schools of the city are not only manned with women teachers but women principals.

Miss Bessie C. Devine, who at three times has temporarily served as the superintendent of the schools of Wilmington, has been assistant superintendent of schools for many years. She started her career in the public school system as head critic teacher and later was made principal of Public School No. 6, prior to accepting her present position.

Among the many other women leaders in the public school system there are Miss Ellen Samworth, principal of the Bayard School; Miss Sallie Reid Shaw, principal of the Emales Pusey Warner Junior High School; Miss Clara Mendenhall, principal of the George Gray School, and Mrs. Anabel Groves Howell, superintendent of music of the public schools.

It would be an unfinished story to complete the listing of women leaders of Delaware without mentioning Dean Winifred J. Robinson, who during her years of service at the Women's College at the University of Delaware, has influenced such a large proportion of the young educated womanhood of this State.

In a recent issue of the magazine published by the A. A. U. W. Miss Robinson is referred to as one of the four outstanding deans of women's colleges.

There are many other Delaware women whose work has been equally as important as the above mentioned; scores of teachers whose daily work in the school room has spelled the success of boys and girls now "grown tall." Many clerks and secretaries whose efficiency has been the cause of the successful revolving of the wheels of business; many home-keepers whose welfare and civic work has been of an unprofessional nature but who still have figured prominently in the affairs of the State; and many writers and musicians whose success at the arts has reflected an added glory on the citizenry and the State of Delaware.

DIAMOND STATE B. & L. ASSO. GROWS RAPIDLY

Favorable reports were given by officers of the Diamond State Mutual Building and Loan Association at the first annual meeting held Monday afternoon in Wilmington. The following were re-elected as directors of the association: Howard F. McCall, Harry Vandersloot, Everett E. Borton, Merritt D. Fisher, Jay S. Rupert, Charles A. Gibney, Delbert B. Gallagher, Harris Samonisky. Other members of the board of directors are: Harry G. Little, Dr. Clyde C. Neese, Henry P. Jones, Elwood F. Melson. The directors elected officers as follows: President, Elwood F. Melson; vice-president, Harry G. Little; secretary and treasurer, Everett E. Borton.

The president, Elwood F. Melson, in his report outlined the growth of the company since its organization on September 10, 1928. He said resources on December 31, 1929, were more than $83,000, consisting exclusively of reducing mortgages on real estate and cash in bank. From the original nine directors, the membership has grown to a total of 651, and during the period from September 10, 1928, to December 31, 1929, there were subscribed for 25,845 shares, on 19,820 shares of which the membership fee of $2.50 per share had been paid in full. Office furniture, fixtures and supplies during the period have cost about $2,000.

The company, according to the president's report, on December 31, 1929, had a reserve or surplus fund of $13,000, and undivided profits of over $900. This means that if the company should pay all its debts, and pay every depositor back all the money which he or she has deposited, it would still have had left about $14,000 in cash.

The report further brought out that during the six months period from July 1, 1929, to December 31, 1929, pure earnings of the association from interest, premiums and fines, amounted to 12.44 per cent of its withdrawal deposits.

STATE WILL DISTRIBUTE TREE PLANTS

May Be Purchased By Farmers For Reforestation Work

$2.50 PER THOUSAND

The State Forestry Department this week announced that more than 100,000 little forest trees would be available for distribution this Spring from the State Nursery located along the duPont Highway, between Georgetown and Milford.

In previous years the State has found it necessary to purchase planting stock elsewhere for distribution, but this year the supply will come from this small nursery.

Most of the available stock is loblolly pine or long shaft pine, but many other species, such as Norway spruce, Japanese larch, Scotch pine, red pine, bald cypress, yellow poplar and white oak are now available in quantities.

The little trees are from 6 to 12 inches tall, depending on the species. They may be purchased from the State Forestry Department at $2.50 per thousand in quantities of 200 to 100,000, provided the applicant agrees to plant them for reforestation purposes.

In a recent bulletin issued by the State Forestry Department, complete instructions are given on what, when, where and how to plant forest trees. The author advocates planting the trees six feet apart, or 1,210 trees per acre, and states that one man and a boy or two men, one digging the holes and another planting the trees, can easily average 1,000 trees per day of eight hours.

In speaking on the topic of where to plant, he says: Generally speaking, plantations should be established on the poorest soils on the farm, at least those soils which have proven unable to produce paying farm crops or suitable pasture. The particular site may be an eroding and steep hillside, a rocky area, a sandy situation or a fresh water marsh. It may be an unused or practically inaccessible area such as a corner of the farm, cut road, or road; a stream bank, marsh border, abandoned gravel pit or cut-over, fire-swept woodlot.

"The reforesting of abandoned farms all over the State is to be strongly recommended. The same is true of many forest areas which have been logged off and where repeated fires have divested the area of every sign of tree life.

"It is not advisable to plant a site on which there is already a thrifty growth of hardwood seedlings or sprouts. The sprout growth will shade out the planted conifers, such as are recommended for planting, and the efforts of the tree planter will be lost. It may be accepted as a rule in planting that small trees prefer sunlight and do not thrive for any length of time if heavily shaded.

"It is, however, good practice to plant trees in open areas in an established forest in order that the area be fully stocked. Planting done under these conditions should be restricted to areas where the forest floor is exposed to full sunlight throughout the greater part of the day."

GOLD STAR MOTHERS OF DELAWARE THIRD

Delaware stands third in the order of the States and territories whose Gold Star mothers are to visit the graves of their sons and husbands in Europe this year, upon invitation of the United States Government.

After so much interest had been aroused throughout the country regarding the forthcoming pilgrimage, the War Department announced that it had decided that the fairest way to establish the order in which the invitations are to be extended would be by a drawing.

Patrick J. Hurley, Secretary of War, thought that it would be most fitting to ask Mrs. Hoover to draw the names, which she consented to do, to determine the priority of the States.

The name of each State and overseas territory was written on small cards and placed in an unsealed envelope before being deposited in a silver bowl. Mrs. Hoover drew the envelopes one at a time from the container.

entertainment committee are members of the Coley Bible Class, with Mrs. Nan Laws Wood, president, as chairman. The program committee is comprised of the members of the Men's Bible Class, with A. H. Wilson, president, chairman. The ushers committee has for a chairman A. D. Child.

The main sessions of the conference will be held in the auditorium of the church, while luncheons and dinners will be served during the conference in the Coley Building.

This year the laymen of the church will hold an all-day meeting of their own, including the evening session, on Friday, March 28. There will be no Older Boys' Conference in connection with the regular sessions this year.

Bishop Frederick D. Leete, of the Omaha, Neb., Area, will preside over all sessions of the conference. Last year, Bishop William F. McDowell, of the Washington Area, presided.

polish containing any silver cyanide or similar harmful chemicals. Napkins shall be changed after each time of use.

Storage of food directly in contact with ice is prohibited. All ice boxes and refrigerators shall be kept in a clean and sanitary condition.

Milk must be sold in the original containers and must come from a dairy, milk plant or pasteurizing plant licensed by the State Board of Health.

All drinking beverages not bottled shall be kept in fly-tight containers, from which the liquid may be removed only by faucets.

No person who has a communicable disease shall be employed in any public eating place. Employees must wear clean outer clothing.

Counters and tables shall at all times be kept clean. They shall be of metal, stone or glass, or if of wood shall be without cracks and painted or enameled.

There shall be adequate washing facilities for the employes, equipped with soap containers of an approved pattern, and suitable towels or a blower for drying the hands. A towel common to the use of all employes shall not be permitted.

The floors of all rooms in which reserve supplies of food is stored shall be impermeable and rat proof, as also shall the floors of all toilets and ablution places.

Tax Provisions

rates. But if a taxpayer has, say an ordinary net income of $60,000 so constituted that his tax thereon is $6,100 and he also has a capital gain of $20,000, his total tax would be $6,100 plus (12½ per cent of $20,000) $2,500 of $8,600. Were it not for this capital gain provision his total tax on $80,000 income would be $10,360.

Because the limit of taxation by the Federal Government on capital gains has been placed at 12½ per cent, so also has the limit of deduction which a taxpayer may claim on a capital loss been restricted to a reduction from his tax of 12½ per cent of the capital loss. But this provision is also applicable to income in excess of $32,000. For example, suppose the taxpayer above with ordinary net income of $60,000 so constituted that his tax thereon is $6,100 has no capital gains, but that he also has a capital loss of $20,000. He can deduct from his tax of $6,100, 12½ per cent of $20,000 or $2,500 and pay a net tax of $3,600. He cannot deduct the $20,000 capital loss from his $60,000 ordinary net income and pay a tax on $40,000 net income, which in this supposition case would be only $2,100.

More Milk for Your Feed Dollar

FOR 10 years Bull Brand dairy feeds have been piling up records for economical milk production. Dairy authorities tell us the perfectly balanced formula provides extra milk-making and body-building properties. There is a B-B feed to fit any roughage. Each one is sold with the understanding that it must prove more productive per dollar of feed cost, or the empty bags can be taken to the dealer, who'll refund your money. That's fair! Talk to your B-B dealer about this offer—now.
