Coroner's Jury Holds R. R. Responsible For Herbert Rumer's Death

Finds Company Negligent in Running "Blind" Engine. Conference With Railroad Official Brings Nothing Definite

TOWN TO FIGHT

A coroner's jury, which sat last Friday night in the office of Robert T. Jones, deputy coroner, in an inquest on the death of Herbert S. Rumer, six-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Sherwood Rumer, of Cleveland avenue, who died February 14 of injuries received when struck by a train at the North College avenue crossing of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, brought in a verdict charging the railroad company with the responsibility of the boy's death.

At a conference between F. G. Hoskins, chief engineer of this division of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, the members of the Town Council and a committee from the Chamber of Commerce, held here, last Thursday morning, definite demands were made of the railroad, but as yet no decision has been presented by the railroad to the Town Council.

The North College avenue crossing is a particularly dangerous one and is unguarded except for automatic blinker lights. Up to a few years ago it was guarded by both gates and a watchman, and since the watchman and gates have been removed, four persons have lost their lives at this point.

Herbert Rumer, was returning home from school with a group of schoolmates when he was struck. Waiting for a west bound train to pass he wandered too close to the tracks and was hit by the step on the tank of an east bound train, whose approach he did not notice.

FOREIGN WAR VETERANS REORGANIZE OLD POST

Twenty-six Members Attend First Meeting; William Rupp Eelected Commander

Last night, at Odd Fellows Hall, the J. Allen O'Daniel Post, Veterans of Foreign Wars, was revived and reorganized with a healthy nucleus of members to start with. Twenty-three former members returned to the Post last night and three new ones were taken in. William Rupp, who was a commander of the Post formerly, for two years, and was largely instrumental in reviving the Post, was elected commander. The Post plans to meet every Tuesday night, at 8.00 o'clock, in Odd Fellows Hall, for the next month to take in new members and get a program started.

Colonel S. J. Smith presided at last night's meeting, and gave a talk on comradship, explaining that the veterans had a strong bond which held them together and gave them a close understanding of each other. Mr. Rupp also gave a talk.

The other officers elected were: Senior vice-commander, Benjamin McCormick; junior vice-commander, John Grundy; quartermaster, Frederick Gelrode; adjutant, William W. Dailey; chaplain, Colonel S. J. Smith; officer of the day, Frederick Smooks; guard, Charles Wilson; sentinel, Earl Tweed; colorguards, John Morrison, Raymond Edmonson and Mansel Tweed; bugler, Orville Little. A firing squad was also appointed.

Membership in the Post is open to every United States war veteran who has served outside of the territorial limits of the country. At one time the Post was very active, and although it lapsed in 1924, the charter remained in force and was preserved by Mr. Rupp. All veterans in this section are cordially invited to attend the meetings. From the interest already shown, it seems certain that the reorganized Post will be a strong and vital organization.

Farmhouse Burns

The Aetna Hose, Hook and Ladder Company was called, Friday night, to a farm at Sandy Brae, tenanted by Thomas Congo, colored, to fight a fire which was consuming the farmhouse.

The company made a rapid response with one engine, but found that the fire had gained great headway before the alarm had been sent in and that the house was beyond saving when they arrived. However the other farm buildings were in great danger and pumping water from a mudpond, the firemen saved all the other buildings. The farmhouse was completely destroyed, but most of the furnishings had been saved. The loss, which is estiamted at $3,500, is partly covered by insurance.

By the time that the fire had been extinguished, the engine had sunk to the hubs in the mud of the farmyard and it took an hour's work to extricate it.

RED CROSS MEETING

The Newark Branch of the Red Cross held a meeting on Saturday, February 25, at 2 o'clock, in the Town Library, Mrs. James O. G. Duffy, chairman, presiding. Wright, chairman; Mrs. James O. G. Duffy, 1st vice-chairman; Mrs. Helen B. Wilson, 2nd vice-chairman; Miss Lydia Fader, secretary, and Miss Jane Maxwell, treasurer.

Diphtheria Inoculations

Dr. S. H. Hurdle, deputy state health commissioner for New Castle county, announces that all children who have had only one or two toxin anti-toxin treatments should go to their own physician to have the treatments continued, within two weeks of the last treatment. Otherwise they will not obtain complete immunity from diphtheria. Dr. Hurdle states that the physicians of Newark are prepared to give these treatments in their offices.

Phi Kappa Phi At Delaware University

Professor Conover Sketches History of Local Chapter of Honorary Fraternity

At the meeting of the University of Delaware Chapter of the Phi Kappa Phi Honor Society at Old College last Wednesday evening, Professor Conover, of the University faculty, gave a short history of the Delaware Chapter. We think that history will be of interest to many of our readers, and have Professor Conover's permission to use his notes:

Prof. Clarence A. Short, one of our charter members, was at one time teacher in North Carolina. He used to talk so much about the State of Delaware that a friend of his had a great desire to see the State. So once, when he was taking a trip to New York, after passing Baltimore, he asked the conductor to let him know when the train was passing through Delaware. After a while the conductor came to him and asked him if he was the gentleman who wished to see Delaware. He said he was. Said the conductor, "Here it is! There it is." The gentleman looked in a hurry for fear he might pass through without seeing it.

Thomas Jefferson once said, "Delaware is a little diamond in the coronember of the Alumnæ Association and of the first class, the class of 1918.

Mrs. Warner is a former president and a present honorary president of

Dr. Hullihen Secures Sixteen Scholarships

Pilling Wright Gives Three $300 Scholarships. Delaware to Choose Fellowship Candidates. 712 Students in University.

At a meeting of the Board of Trustees of the University of Delaware, held on Saturday, Dr. Walter Hullihen, president of the University, reported a number of achievements that have put Delaware in the front rank of the progressive institutions of higher learning in this country.

Probably the most important of the announcements in Dr. Hullihen's report was that he had been able to secure 16 scholarships of $300 each for competition among undergraduate students for study in France under the Delaware Foreign Study Plan. The competition for these scholarships is open to students throughout the country, but can be competed for by Delaware students. A committee organized in New York at a recent meeting of the Institute of International Education decided on this competitive scholarship plan as a means

WIFE FINDS STOLEN CAR

Leon Walls, manager of the meat department of Crook's Newark store, considers himself a lucky man and is boasting of the powers of observation shown by his wife in recovering a car stolen from him last Thursday night. The car was taken late Thursday night from the yard of Mr. Walls' home in Newport, apparently by some one who had attended the fire that evening and wanted transportation to Wilmington. On Friday evening Mrs. Walls was riding on a street car in Wilmington and saw the stolen car parked on Second street, between Monroe and Adams streets. She got off the trolley, and after notifying the police, took the car home. It was found to be undamaged.

CARD AND BOWLING PARTY

On Thursday, March 8, the Aetna Hose, Hook and Ladder Company will hold a card and bowling party for the benefit of the bowling alleys. Egg ecord Averages Lower Than Last Year

General Averages Drop, But Leading Flocks Show Excellent Production; Feeding Cod Liver Oil

The report of the Delaware Farm Egg Record Club for the month of January, 1928, showed a slight decrease in the averages as compared with January of last year. Last month's averages were 11.5 eggs per pullet; 7.4 eggs per hen; and 8.1 eggs per bird in mixed flocks. The averages for January, 1927, were 12.2 eggs per pullet; 8.9 eggs per hen; and 8.3 eggs per bird in mixed flocks.

The best flock of pullets in the club, last month produced 21 eggs per bird; the best flock of hens, 19.5 eggs; and the best mixed flock, 16.7 eggs per bird.

In his report of the Egg Record Club, Mr. H. S. Palmer, extension poultryman at the University of Delaware, appends further information in his campaign for healthy chicks. This valuable data which is headed by the slogan, "Grow Healthy Chicks" is as follows:

"Chicks nearly always do well with new houses and fresh ground. "Beginner's Luck" it is called. It is not luck at all—it is freedom from diseases and parasites. To succeed in growing healthy chicks in large numbers poultrymen must wage war on worms and parasites.

"Wise poultrymen will prepare for battle before the enemy is ready. He will protect his chicks by following the 8 points of the Grow Healthy Chick Program: (1) Clean Chicks, (2) Clean Incubators, (3) Clean Brooder Houses, (4) Clean Land, (5) Clean Litter, (6) Clean Feed, (7) Clean Management, (8) Clean Laying Houses. The County Agent will be glad to furnish interested poultrymen with detailed information about these 8 points of the Grow Healthy Chick Campaign.

Frank Soule Lauds Volunteer Firemen

Speaker at 41st Aetna Anniversary Tells of This Service to Community; 253 Attend Banquet.

Again, on the occasion of its forty-first anniversary, the Aetna Hose, Hook and Ladder Company showed that its ability to provide entertainment was second only to its ability as a fire fighting organization. 253 firemen, their families and guests were served a sumptuous banquet in the basement of the New Century Club on Washington's Birthday and afterwards listened to some interesting speeches, followed by vaudeville and dancing.

The banquet, which was turkey flanked by all the "fixings", was prepared by Walter Powell and served by members of the Fire Company. The tables were filled twice, and between the two shifts, the firemen made a rapid job of cleaning up. During the meal Buckingham's orchestra furnished jazz music. The Century Club was attractively decorated throughout with American flags, and the table favors were in keeping with the occasion.

After the banquet, the firemen and guests assembled upstairs in the large room for the second part of the evening's entertainment. John R. Fulton, president of the Aetna Company, introduced Frank Soule, chief fire marshall of Chester County, Pa., who was the main speaker of the evening. Mr. Soule gave an interesting and instructive talk, opening his address by lauding the volunteer fire company as the civic organization,

C. of C. Directors Meet

The board of directors of the Newark Chamber of Commerce held their regular monthly meeting last Thursday evening in the Town Council rooms. C. A. McClintock, president, presided.

The directors discussed the grade crossing problem to considerable length, but delayed any official recommendation or action until the B. and O. railroad reported what proposition it would make.

It was voted to repaint the safety lanes at the street intersections.

The committee on cleaning up the town and removing fire hazards reported that the work was under way, and that already several abandoned buildings had been removed.

It was reported that the Delaware Automobile Association had promised to erect direction signs on the roads and highways leading in and out of Newark.

Plans for advertising Newark and attracting new industries to the town were discussed.

PARKED CAR SMASHED AS REED STEPS OUT

Lynam H. Reed, local manager for the Crook Stores Company, had a hairbreadth escape from serious injury and possible death on Sunday night, when his car, which he had just stepped from, was smashed into and badly damaged.

Mr. Reed had just parked his car at the curb at the corner of Fourth and Adams streets, Wilmington, and stepped from it when he heard a tremendous crash and turning found his car crumpled up in a wreck in which four cars were involved. According to witnesses the accident was caused by a minor by the name of Salenski, who was travelling up Fourth street at an excessive rate of speed. As he approached the corner of Adams, he attempted to pass on the right of another car, driven by a man by the name of De Sabetino, and striking De Sabetino's car a glancing blow drove into the curb and sideswiping a car parked back of Mr. Reed's car, drove full speed into the rear of the Reed car, crushing it against a tree.

Salenski's car was practically demolished, and Reed's car was damaged to the extent of about $400. Had he been in the car he would undoubtedly received serious if not fatal injuries, as the seat cushion was found wedged so tightly against the foot pedals that it took considerable force to pry it loose. The other two cars had fenders smashed.

Salenski was arrested and will be tried in Wilmington, today.

Mrs. A. D. Warner First Woman Trustee Of Del. University

"Mother of Women's College" Appointed by Governor Robinson; Announced at Alumnae Banquet

ALUMNAE REUNION

Announcement was made at the reunion banquet of the Women's College Alumnæ Association on Saturday evening that Mrs. A. D. Warner, of Wilmington, had been appointed by Governor Robinson a member of the Board of Trustees of the University of Delaware. Mrs. Warner will be the first woman to serve on the board. She succeeds the late Charles R. Miller, former governor of Delaware, and her appointment is for life.

The announcement of the appointment was made by Mrs. Catharine Schunder Johnson, of Wilmington, an alumnæ of Women's College, and a member of a committee within the Alumnæ Association that has been working for the appointment of a woman on the board of trustees of the University.

Mrs. Warner, who has for many years been deeply interested in education, was highly instrumental in molding public opinion in favor of the institution of Women's College. She was a member of the commission created by an act of the State Legislature in 1913, which provivded for the building of Women's College. The college opened in September, 1914. Since that time Mrs. Warner has served on the advisory council.

The appointment is very gratifying to President Hullihen, Dean Robinson, and to the members of the Alumnæ Association. Mrs. Warner is thought of as the "Mother of Women's College," and is an honorary

Alumnae Reunion

The mid-winter Alumnæ reunion on Saturday was attended by about one hundred former students. They were received at a tea given by Dean Robinson in the Faculty Club Room in Residence Hall from four to five-thirty o'clock, to which were invited also the members of the faculty and of the senior class of Women's College. Dean Robinson was assisted in receiving by Mrs. A. D. Warner.

A short business session followed the tea, after which a banquet was served in the college dining-room. Miss Mabel Smith, of Freehold, New Jersey, president of the Association, was toast-mistress. The principal speaker at the banquet was Dr. Katherine J. Gallagher, professor of history of Goucher College, Baltimore, whose subject was: 'What Can Women Do For Peace?" President Hullihen and Dean Robinson also made short addresses. Dean Robinson was presented with a bouquet of ten American Beauty roses, one from each of the ten classes which have been graduated from Women's College. In her talk, Dean Robinson brought before the Association the need of new buildings, especially a gymnasium, a students' building, and an education building.

One of the most important items of business was the decision to have a paid alumnae secretary with offices at the college. The alumnae office will be in Residence Hall and Miss Edith A. McDougle will act as secretary fort he remainder of the college year. This appointment of an alumnae secretary paves the way for the Women's College Alumnae Association to membership in the National Alumni Council.

Announcement was also made that Founders' Day at the Women's College will henceforth be held on October 10, regardless of the day.

President Hullihen congratulated the association on the success of their efforts in securing the appointment of a woman on the board of trustees of the University. FAMILY HAS CLOSE CALL IN GARAGE FIRE

When an early morning fire of an unknown origin destroyed the large frame building along the State road, near Oakwood, in the upper part of Cecil county, occupied as a public garage and dwelling by Wilson Reynolds and his family, the occupants, thinly clad, barely escaped with their lives.

All of the contents, including their clothing was burned. Several automobiles in the garage portion of the building were destroyed.

The blaze was discovered shortly after midnight by Mr. Reynolds, who aroused the members of his family, and summoned the Volunteer Fire Company of Rising Sun. Before the firemen could reach the scene, the building was doomed, but volunteers succeeded in keeping the flames from spreading. The loss is only partially covered by insurance.

FAIRVIEW P-T. A.

The postponed February meeting of the Fairview P-T. A. was held in the School Hall on Tuesday evening, February 21, with a large crowd in attendance.

A committee was appointed to look after the lights. Everyone voted in favor of having just a local P-T. A. to work for the good of the school, rather than send ten cents a member to the State P-T. A., as the rural schools have to meet all expenses attached to the school until July.

A very rousing and pleasing entertainment was given by the school children, the teacher and the parents. It consisted of recitations for Washington's birthday and miscellaneous ones; songs and two plays, "Doctor and the Sick Dolly," and "Aunt Betsy and the Oil Stocks."

The refreshment committee for the month served cookies, punch and home-made cake.

The March meeting will be held March 13.

The children made one hundred per cent attendance for the week beginning February 20 and ending February 24. They have been very fortunate not to contract any contagious diseases, although the P-T. A. gave a play called "Mumps" at its January meeting.—Secretary.

Preston W. Spence, Jr., performed the ceremony, and Mr. and Mrs. William Morrison, of Marshallton, brother and sister-in-law of the groom, acted as attendants.

After the ceremony, a reception was held at Mr. and Mrs. Morrison's new home, near Ogletown, attended only by the immediate relatives of the bride and groom.

Mrs. Morrison is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George W. Davis of this village; she is organist and leading soprano in the Methodist choir, and active in the work of the Christiana Improvement Association. Mr. Morrison is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Morrison, Sr., and is employed at the Pullman Plant, in Wilmington.

"Good Roads, Flowers, Parks, Better Schools, Trees, Pure Water, Fresh Air, Sunshine and Work for Everybody."—OUR MOTTO.

FEBRUARY 29, 1928

Congratulations to the University

The University of Delaware is to be congratulated and Governor Robinson is to be commended on the appointment of a woman on the board of trustees, and on the fact that that woman is Mrs. A. D. Warner.

The first woman to serve on the board is eminently fitted for the place. She is broad-minded, public-spirited, and intensely interested in education and in the University of Delaware.

Mrs. Warner is highly responsible for the founding of Women's College, and has been a constant and generous friend of the institution. Her friends among the alumnae, faculty, and students are greatly pleased that this tribute has been paid to their beloved friend and that she will now be in a position to serve the whole University.

Why Advertising Should Be Honest

Mrs. Cooch Elected Head Of State D.A.R.

Mrs. Cann, Retiring Regent, Presided at Meeting; National Leaders Speak

Mrs. Edward W. Cooch, of Cooch's Bridge, was elected state regent of the Daughters of the American Revolution, at the annual meeting, held last Thursday at Diamond State Tea House.

Other officers elected were: Mrs. Charles I. Kent, first vice-regent; Mrs. William V. Bond, second vice-regent; Mrs. Walter Williams, state treasurer; Mrs. George C. Hall, re-elected state historian; Mrs. William Anthony, state registrar, and Mrs. Royden Hammond, state librarian. The state secretary will be appointed by the executive board. (It is customary to have the secretary come from the same town as the state regent.)

Mrs. Russell Magna, of Holyoke, Mass., vice-president-general of the National Society of the D. A. R., made a very forceful speech at the morning session telling of the reasons why the members should contribute financially to the paying off of the debt of the new Memorial Constitution Hall in Washington, D. C. Popular subscription and a small amount taken from State funds made a total of $466.66, enabling the entire balance of the fund for the Delaware box to be paid off.

Speakers at the luncheon were: Mrs. Eli Helmick, registrar-general, and Mrs. Lowell Hobart, organizing secretary, both of the national society with headquarters at Constitution Hall.

Mrs. John Pearce Cann, who has just finished her third term as state regent, presided at the luncheon and also gave a welcoming address at the morning session in which she expressed her regret at having completed her work in the society as regent. She stressed the need of the members in upholding the law of the land as a patriotic thing in this day of violations.

Potato Growers Meet

The potato growers met last night at the home of John G. Mitchell, Hockessin, to discuss with County Extension Agents Ed Willim, Jr., and G. M. Worrilow, the potato demonstrations to be conducted by the County Agents in the county this year. Dr. T. F. Manns, Plant Pathologist of the University, was also present at this meeting. Among those attending were: L. C. Clark, W. T. Pierson, Horace Dennison, Paul Mitchell, Jos. Mitchell, John Mitchell, Frank Dennison, Harry Ford, William Ford, and T. Covington.

Mr. Willim in explaining the demonstration plots which are to becarried on by four of the potato growers present, said, "Demonstrations to prove the value of certified seed have been conducted for several years in this community. Most of the up-to-date farmers are now using the certified seed in their plantings. The value of certified seed over second generation seed has also been proven in the demonstration, and this year these demonstrations will stop and a new kind be inaugurated. The 1928 work will be along the lines of proper fertilization and spraying. Potato growers in our neighboring state of Pennsylvania have been following a regular spray schedule for a number of years. Their results have shown that proper spraying and fertilization is one method of reducing the cost of production on this crop. With practically identical conditions we believe that farmers of the upper part of New Castle county can well profit by the results of the potato spray work in Pennsylvanila. The plots to be used in this year's work will be divided into four sections. Each section will consist of four rows. The first section will be planted using the usual amount and analysis of fertilizer that is common to that community. No spraying will be done on this section. The second section will be one of four rows also on which an additional amount of fertilizer will be placed. No spraying will be done on the second section. In the third section of four rows the fertilizer aplication will be the same as in the second section, with the addition of the spraying as recommended by the spray specialist at the University of Delaware. The last plot will have the usual fertilizer application common tot he community, plus the advised spraying on it. In this way," concluded the Acting County Agent, "we will have results to prove the advantages of a heavier application of fertilizer and also the advantages

"Thee plots will be supervised during the year by the County Extension Agents and the results will be checked and presented for public notice at the end of the season."

In speaking of the proposed potato spray program for the Hockessin community, Dr. Manns stated that he would advise three sprayings during the early part of the season. During the latter part of the season the number of sprayings would depend upon the season and the number of pests which destroy the crop. The first spraying should be put on when the potatoes are from 6 to 8 inches high.

CROSSING SITUATION

Newark, Del., Feb. 23, 1928.
Editor Newark Post.

On January 20, 1926, I wrote an article which was published on that date, regarding the need of a safer crossing at the B. and O. R. R. Since then four persons have lost their lives there and the question now arises as to how many more will be killed before the situation is corrected.

From a construction standpoint, no great engineering problem is presented. A previous suggestion to make safe crossing for a connection with Cleveland avenue and Main street near the center of the town, to take care of traffic while the work of putting through viaducts for other crossings is under way offers a partial solution to the work.

The writer will be pleased to see other communications on the subject until the necessary action is taken, to make railroad crossings safe.

In other cities a guard is placed at crossing where it is necssary for school children to pass, and in view of the fact that there is no crossing watchman at North College avenue, it is the opinion of several persons interviewed on the subject that Town Council should provide a watchman if the R. R. Co. did not and no time should be lost in seeing that a watchman is on duty during the hours when children pass on their way to and from schools for greater safety.

WM. H. DEAN.

THE COST OF THE SEWER

February 25, 1928.
Editor, Newark Post,
Newark, Delaware.

A couple of weeks ago our Town Council anounced that an accounting of the costs of the new sewer, water, and disposal extensions would be published as soon as their engineers had finished their computations, or to a similar effect.

Previous to this time, an announcement had been made that the cost of the sewer charged against the abutting property owners would be $1.85 per foot of frontage. The chargeable cost, I am informed by one of the Committee who discussed the matter with Council as a result of the public meeting last year, was not to include any part of the disposal plant, pump house, or the pressure line from the latter.

A few days ago we received our bills for the sewer extension, billed at the aforesaid $1.85. Attached to this was a slip reading as follows:

"Terms of payment:
Five per cent discount if paid in within 30 days.
full within 30 days.
An initial payment must be made within 30 days.
Six per cent " " " added to deferred payments."

The total amount of footage shown on the assessment books was slightly in excess of 34,000 feet. Then 34,000 times $1.85 is $62,900, which amount is almost double the amount of original contract given the sewer contractor, Fernow Construction Co.

We are wondering how the discount is handled, Is the 5% of $1.85 (9¼ cents per foot) absorbed by the Town if a property owner takes the discount—or was it added before publication; If the latter happened, it amounts to a penalty upon the owner who does not pay within 30 days; and the published cost is actually cost—plus 5% in addition, the town is making a gross profit of 1½% (?) (the difference between 4½ and 6) interest on the deferred payments.

If the discount was not added, any taken would be added to the general tax burden. If the published cost includes the discount, it would mean a maximum (if no discount at all were taken) profit to the Town of $3,145 plus a diminishing yearly interest profit which for the first year might amount to as much as $970.

I recognize that certain clerical expenses might be caused by deferred payments, but I presume that the Town Clerk can handle the above without an increase of salary being necessary. If not, the surplus interest will be ample to absorb the expense.

Why does not Council lay their cards on the table face up, telling us exactly what was the total amount paid out on each item to each and every contractor, material supplied etc., connected directly therewith. Also the amount of general expense, such as cost of inspection, fee and expenses of Consulting Engineer. Also show us in full detail what items were used in making up this published cost, so that we may judge for ourselves whether the matter has been fairly handled, or otherwise.

These facts which I ask certainly must have been available when the $1.85 per foot was determined, and should not require any further engineer's computations. If they did, then the above determination must be faulty.

A full exhibition of all accounts in connection with all recent Public Work, as well as an exhibition of the process of deriving the cost of the aforesaid assessment, will be of general public interest. It will be of a special importance to those of us who have to dig down into our pocketbooks.

An Interested Taxpayer.

Coroner's Jury

Jury Indicts Railroad

Three local men, who witnessed the accident, testified to the circumstances, at the inquest. They were Roy Stephan and William Armstrong, Jr., who were in a car waiting on the south side of the crossing, and Jacob Shew, who was in a car waiting at the north side of the tracks. Stephan and Armstrong both testified that they saw the lights blinking and stopped at the crossing. They noticed a group of young children on their side of the crossing and one child, Herbert Rumer, wander close to the tracks while he was watching the west bound train pass. They started to call him back, but he came back to the group and then walked forward again just as the east bound train rounded the curve. Both Stephan and Armstrong jumped from the car in which they were seated to try to save the boy and Armstrong shouted at him. The boy turned his head away from the tracks at the shout, but did not move and in the next instant the step of the tank had struck him. The engine of the train was running reversed, the witnesses said.

Mr. Shew testified to seeing the group of children at the crossing before the passing west bound train cut them from his view. He said that as the west bound train cleared the crossing, the east bound train came on it, and in that moment, he saw the boy near the track and felt that he would be struck. Mr. Shew told of picking the boy up and taking him to the Flower Hospital where he died.

The train crew, consisting of Emmet A. Jackson, engineer; Frank H. Eley, fireman; and William T. Shaw, conductor; testified that they knew nothing of the accident until it was reported to them in Philadelphia. They said that they had to run with the engine reversed because there was no place to turn it between Childs, Maryland, where they started, and Wilsmere. At this point Mr. John F. Richards, one of the members of the jury, observed that the railroad company was not giving the public proper service in allowing a train to run blind through the country and towns.

Emmet Jackson, the engineer, testified that the train was an extra and did not run on a regular schedule, but ran six days a week. He said he was making about twenty miles an hour when he came on the College avenue crossing.

While the coroners jury, due to technicalities, made no specific charges, members later said that, in their opinion, the railroad was highly negligent in allowing a blind train to run through a town.

The verdict read as follow:

"Resolved, That Herbert S. Rumer came to his death at the Flower Hospital, Newark, on February 14, from a fractured skull sustained as the consequence of being struck by train Extra 2061 of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad at the North College avenue grade crossing on the same date.

"We, the coroner's jury, hereby hold the said Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Company responsible for the death of the said Herbert S. Rumer."

Conference

At the conference, held Thursday between the representatives of the town and the railroad engineer, Mayor Frazer, in behalf of the town, demanded 24-hour watchman service at the College avenue crossing as a temporary safety measure until something permanent could be accomplished in the way of removing the crossings. Mr. Hoskins stated that it was the policy of the railroad to install blinker systems at all crossings throughout the country, that in their experience they were the most effective means of protection, and that the public should become educated to respect them. He said, however, that he would present the recommendations of the town officials to the officials of the railroad, and that the town could expect a reply within a short period

It was pointed out to Mr. Hoskins that educating young children to carefully observe blinker signals was not a practical proposition, and that the new intended to fight for proper protection at these crossings.

of broadening the foreign study idea, and Dr. Hullihen's success has not only given the project great impetus, but has brought to Delaware the honor of being the first state to provide scholarships.

The donors of the scholarships are J. Pilling Wright, of Newark, 3; H. Fletcher Brown, Wilmington, 5; Frank G. Tallman, Wilmington, 3; Harry M. Pierce, Wilmington, 2; Willis Harrington, Robert H. Richards and William P. Bancroft, all of Wilmington, one each.

These scholarships are intended to cover the ocean trip to and from France and for some travel in France which it is thought will then bring the total cost to the student for a year's study in France down to about the amount it would cost him for the year in a college in this country.

Another honor and another achievement which Dr. Hullihen reported were the appointment of the Department of Romance Languages to grade fellowship credentials, and the completion of the new addition to the gymnasium containing a swimming pool. Dr. Hullihen paid particular tribute to Mr. Alex Taylor in connection with the plan and construction of the new addition. His report on these subjects read as follows:

"A gratifying recognition of the standing of our department of Romance Languages was given recently in an invitation to them to examine and grade the credentials of the applicants for certain national fellowships who desire to major in Romance Languages. These fellowships, carrying a stipend of from $1200 to $1500 each, are for graduate study in France and are awarded on a competitive basis. The applicants are men and women who have received the baccalaureate degree from any of the accredited colleges of the country, extending in geographical range from Dartmouth, Harvard, and Yale, in the East, to California and Leland Stanford in the West. Our department of Romance Languages naturally felt highly complimented by the request and readily agreed to undertake the task."

The University is indebted to Mr. E. W. Martin, Architect, an alumnus of Delaware College, for the plans of the remodeled gymnasium building and for the drawing and specifications for construction. This was a notable contribution and means many hours of highly skilled work on his part. Mr. Martin is to be congratulated upon the success with which he has performed the very difficult task of producing a design which incorporates the new swimming pool and other additions with the old gympasium in such a way as to secure the appearance of an entirely new building of excellent proportions and arrangement. None of those who promoted the plan for the addition to the gymnasium had any hope of securing so harmonious a result.

An even greater debt is owed to Mr. Alex. Taylor, of this Board. It would not be an exaggeration to say that, except for the enthusiasm and interest of Mr. Taylor, the plan to conduct a campaign for funds would probably never have been formulated. And after it had been formulated and the founds had been secured it would not have been possible for us to have secured anything like what we now have without his untiring devotion to the task of erecting the building. Relieving us of the considerable expense of having the job done by contract, he assumed entire charge of the work and has devoted every hour he could spare from his regular work to this undertaking. Day after day he has come down from Wilmington at any and every hour he had available, often even at night, for in order to push the building on to completion work was frequently continued after hour until late at night. His wise management and tireless energy have given us a building which, without him would have cost on a very conservative estimate, $10,000 more than we had for the purpose. His contribution in money value is a great gift to the college; his contribution in the loyalty and devotion which this represents is an even greater one.

In speaking of the enrollment, Dr. Hullihen stated that there was a total of 712 students enrolled in both colleges of the university; 399 in Delaware College, and 313 in the Women's College. This total is 7 more than were enrolled at the beginning of the second semester last year.

AVENUE METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH NEWS

All services of our church on Sunday were exceptionally well attended. The subject for the morning worship service was, "The Healing of the Heart," which was interesting and to the point. Special music was rendered by the choir.

The Sunday School room was filled to capacity, the ushers having to use chairs taken from the adjoining room in order to seat those who attended the evening services. Both services—the Devotional Meeting of the Epworth League at 6.45 and the worship at 7.30 were held bearing in mind the birthday anniversary of our great Abraham Lincoln, and impressed deeply all those present. Patriotic songs were used and the Glee Club under the direction of Miss Eiler, rendered a selection, also another was sung by the Epworth League Choir.

The topic for the League was, "The Negro in the Making of America" which was discussed by our minister in a very interesting way.

The subject of the sermon delivered at the evening worship service was "The Two Abrahams—Abraham the Hebrew, and Abraham, the American," and was indeed one of the best sermons ever heard by our congregation, and will long be remembered. Food for thought was found in every word uttered. We recognize more as each day passes Rev. Herson's great ability as a preacher, and a man of wonderful personality and consecration.—Milford Chronicle.

"COUNTRY GENTLEMAN" FEATURES DEL-MAR-VA

The Del-Mar-Va Peninsula has received national publicity in the March issue of Country Gentleman, a Curtis publication with circulation of more than 1,500,000, in an article written by E. H. Taylor, staff writer for that magazine.

Mr. Taylor visited Del-Mar-Va last fall at the request of the Del-Mar-Va Eastern Shore Association, and assisted by representatives of the Marketing Bureau and Publicity Department of the Association, obtained first hand data on the Peninsula as a whole. He visited many sections and in his article presents facts and figures of a most interesting and attractive nature relative to the high spots in agricultural conditions and touching on incidents of a historic nature.

With Country Gentleman reaching every section of this country and many foreign points, the extent to which facts about Del-Mar-Va will be carried may be readily recognized. Mr. Taylor's story, according to officials of the Del-Mar-Va Association, presents much of interest in a manner certain to call attention to the Peninsula and go far toward creating a wide-spread interest.

"In spite of the trend toward silk garments, the fact should not be lost sight of that the United States still has its cotton belt."

Whole Grains Take the Place of Meat

Most of us would be more healthy if we ate less meat the year around. Cereal products made from whole grains supply all that the body requires. Unfortunately, Americans have been educated to use too many denatured foods, white bread instead of bread made from crushed whole grains, white wheat cereals instead of those made from the whole wheat berry, white sugar instead of brown sugar.

In making flour and whole wheat cereals write, the very choicest parts of the wheat have been removed. The outer parts of the grain and the embryo, that which sprouts when planted, are taken away during the process of making flour look white.

Unhappily, our modern civilization, with its inclination towards artificiality and surface attraction, has ruined the natural nourishment in wheat. Instead of using the whole wheat as provided by Nature, with all its vitamins, proteins, and other strength-giving and body-building elements, the wheat is polished, refined and thus robbed of its natural food value so that the flour or cereal may look white. Is it any wonder, then, that today wheat does not contain the same strength-giving power that made it the most important of foods? Is it any wonder, then, that the human being today is weaker and more susceptible to disease because he lacks the accessory power of resistance?

You've probably heard doctors prescribe whole wheat cereal and whole wheat bread for growing boys and girls. They tell us that if we want our children fortified with health, growth and happiness, there is nothing like a steaming dish of the whole wheat cereal. But just why do our children need whole wheat cereal for their health, growth and happiness?

Well, first of all, remember this, breakfast is a child's most important meal. Their tummies are empty. Their little systems are in just the right condition to assimilate nourishment. The food they eat in the morning can do them the most good or the most harm. In a delicious bowl of Ralston whole wheat cereal you are giving them a food that is rich in the proteins that make red blood, nerves and muscle. Whole wheat cereal has carbohydrates too—for energy. And it has minerals and phosphates for building strong bones and teeth—and vitamins for life and growth—and bran for regulation.

You can quickly see the difference between the youngsters whose little bodies get all these wonderful things, and the poor kiddies who are just "filled up" for breakfast, with some devitalized food that merely keeps them from being hungry, but lacks the wholesome, nourishing things that build up sturdy, robust frames, and alert, active minds. The eyes and cheeks of the little folk are barometers. Bright, alert eyes, and rosy cheeks mean fair sailing ahead. But colorless faces, and eyes which lack the merry sparkle of youth are danger signals.

So let's all take the trouble to see that our grocers give us real whole wheat, not half wheat, or parched wheat—but wheat with all the vitamins of health, growth and happiness left in it. Your grocer knows the difference. Just ask him for the whole wheat cereal he'd use for the health, growth and happiness of his own boys and girls. Or ask him to show you the wheat cereals he has in stock. You can tell whole wheat cereals from the others in a second. Whole wheat is not white. It never can be—because the berry is a rich golden brown—the natural color. Part of the berry is white, but only the starchy center. You want the nutritious germ and the precious bran left in. So remember—a golden brown—Nature's own sunshiny color—the color of the wheat berry itself. Make this little test. Serve it to your children and watch the bright eyes and the rosy cheeks and sunny disposition that come with perfect health.

Whole wheat cereals may be cooked in milk, or milk and water. This adds nourishment and gives a distinctive flavor. The milk and water should be heated to a boiling point and the wheat food stirred in slowly, then placed in a double boiler for about one-half hour, and cooked without stirring. If, in addition to a wheat food cooked in milk, an orange or orange juice is given to a growing child, he gets all the vitimins and elements that are required for vigorous life, health, growth and happiness.

The second should follow the first by two weeks, and the third in another two weeks. Either a 3-4-50 or a 4-4-50 oBrdeaux mixture should be used with the addition of one or two pounds of calcium arsenate to each 50 gallons of spray. With the modern spray carrying from 150 to 250 pounds of pressure at least 100 gallons of this mixture should go on per acre. These three sprays should control the potato flea beetle, Colorado potato beetle or common potato bug, leaf hopper, and any early or late blight which might be prevalent at that time. If a cold, wet August occurs as happened last year, more sprayings would have to be used to properly control the late blight.

Some of the potato growers present at the meeting last night are intending to purchase a new traction potato sprayer. Discussion of the features of different machines on the market was general and it led the Extension Agents to believe that the use of sprayers for the proper spraying of potatoes would become more of a general practice in the near future.

The informal meeting of the New Century Club on Monday was a bridge and five hundred party, in charge of Mrs. Richard Cooch, assisted by Mrs. McKay and Mrs. Barnes.

The meeting of the Men's Club has been postponed this week because of the service in the church on Thursday evening. The next meeting will be on March 15, when it is expected that Judge Daniel O. Hastings, of Wilmington, will make an address.

Delaware Quintette Wins Three Games

Downs Textile, St. Joseph's and Swarthmore by Brilliant Playing

The University of Delaware basketball team took a new lease on life last week, and starting on Philadelphia Textile, Tuesday night as an appetizer, downed them 37-22; whetted its appetite on St. Joes, Thursday night by gobbling them 31 to 19; and then on Friday evening swallowed their ancient foemen of Swarthmore, 28 to 25. It took some blinking to get Swarthmore down, but it was swallowed. The first two games were played at Delaware, the other one away.

Delaware came from behind to beat St. Joe's, as the visitors were leading by a point at the half. In the second half the Delaware guards allowed St. Joe's only a lone foul, while the Blue and Gold offensive piled up markers. Barton and Jaquette lead the scoring. In a preliminary game, the Delaware Jay Vees lost to the St. Joe's Juniors, 19-16.

The Swarthmore performance was the most brilliant that Delaware has turned in this year. Every man contributed at crucial moments, and the game was filled with sensational playing on both sides. Swarthmore took the lead at the start, but the Blue and Gold caught them and passed them to end the half, 19 to 11. Creamer and Taylor held the Swarthmore defense at arm's length, Harris and Barton tossed in long ones for Delaware. In the second Delaware lost Harris and Creamer on personals and the Garnet began to close the gap. Delaware seemed unable to score from the field and the score stood at 26-24, when Barton dropped one in from the middle of the court, which gave the Blue and Gold a safe margin.

In a preliminary game, the Swarthmore Junior Varsity took a previous vengeance by walloping the Delaware Juniors, 43 to 14. Scores:

Aetna Bowler's Win A Match, Lose One

Wins From Bridgeton 3 to 1; Loses to Aberdeen 2 to 3

Picked teams from the Aetna Bowling League bowled two out-of-town teams during the last week, winning one contest and losing one. Last Saturday night, they entertained a delegation from the Bridgeton, N. J., Fire Department and won three out of four games from them. Monday night, the Aberdeen, Md., Firemen visited the Aetna alleys and won three out of five games from the local team.

Hoffner, of Bridgeton, had high score of 199 in the Aetna-Bridgeton contest, while Wright of Aetna was second with 190. In the Aberdeen games, J. Day, of Aberdeen, had high score for one game of 212.

On Friday night the league contests were interrupted by a fire call. Last night the Continental won two games from the Fire Company, while the Business Men and National-Curtis split their games. H. Hill had high score for the evening with 193 pins in one game. Scores:

Delaware Loses To Washington, 29-23

Varsity Offers Little Resistance; Jay Vee's Put Up Stiff Game

After a week of conquest, the University of Delaware basketball team slipped last night and offered but languid resistance to Washington College, who trimmed them 49 to 23 in a game played at Chestertown, Maryland. In a preliminary game, the Delaware Juniors lost to Washington, 21 to 17. The first game was the most interesting of the two, the Delaware scrubs pulling up behind a 13 to 4 score that Washington had in its favor at the half.

In the varsity struggle, Delaware opened the scoring, but their lead was short-lived. The half ended 26 to 9, a handicap which was too much for the Blue and Gold to overcome.

The eighth grade boys in the Newark Junior High School took advantage of their older schoolmates in the ninth grade last week, and won a basketball game from them, 26 to 22. The eighth grade had a well-balanced offensive, which outscored the ninth graders. Durnall, of the ninth grade, headed the scoring column with 12 points. Score:

NEWARK VS. NEW CASTLE AT NEWARK, TONIGHT

The Newark and New Castle High School basketball teams, both girls and boys, will play off the deciding games in the Northern section of the upper brackett of the D. I. A. A. in the Newark Armory, tonight. These games have been postponed several times at the requests of both schools.

Should Newark win the boys' game, it will mean a tie, as Newark has lost one league game and that to New Castle, while New Castle has an unblemished record. If Newark loses the title will go to New Castle. If the Newark girls win, they will have the championship of this section, as both Newark and New Castle have lost one game each; Newark losing to New Castle, while New Castle dropped one to Claymont.

Caesar Rodney has won both the boys' and girls' title in the Southern section of this brackett and will play the semi-finals with the winners of the Newark-New Castle contests.

Both Newark teams will take the floor with their line-ups intact. Newcomb has recovered from his injury and will jump center for the boys' team.

Feeding Cod Liver Oil

"Cod-liver oil is fed for its Vitamine D content. Chicks must have Vitamine D in order to properly develop their bones. With no Vitamine D in their system chicks will soon be troubled with leg weakness.

"Natures way of supplying this Vitamine to chicks is through sunshine. When exposed to strong, direct sunshine chicks are able to manufacture their supply of Vitamine D in their own bodies. For this reason cod-liver oil should be fed only when the chicks cannot get the proper amount and strength of direct sunshine. Direct sunshine means sunshine that does not have to pass through ordinary window glass. Ordinary window glass takes the Vitamine D value out of sunshine. It is better to use one of the so-called glass substitutes in place of ordinary glass for windows. tees its Vitamine D content.

"Feed cod-liver oil during the winter and early spring months. During these months the sunshine is rather weak, and also the chicks cannot be outside very much because of the cold weather. Start feeding the cod-liver oil about the time the chicks are one week old. They are hatched with enough Vitamine D in their bodies to last several days.

"It is waste of money to continue feeding cod-liver oil in late spring and summer after the chicks are running outside every day, except during long continued periods of cloudy weather.

"Buying cod-liver oil is always more or less of a gamble, because different lots of oil vary in Vitamine content. There is only one way to test the Vitamine D content of oil and that is by feeding a sample of it to rats or other animals and watching its effects—this is called the biological test. Chemical tests are not reliable.

The safest plan is to buy cod-liver oil from some well known firm that tests its oil biologically and guarantees its Vitamine D contnt.

"For early hatched chicks feed 2 per cent of cod-liver oil (2 pints to 100 pounds total feed). Reduce to 1 per cent (1 pint to 100 pounds of feed) as soon as chicks are running outside in sunshine. Nothing is gained by feeding oil in larger quantities than this.

"Under average conditions about 2 or 3 gallons of oil will be enough to carry through a brood of 400 or 500 early hatched chicks. Less will be needed for later hatched chicks.

"Just how to feed cod-liver oil will depend upon your method of feeding the chicks. For sanitary reasons it is better to mix the grain and mash together and feed it in hoppers that will keep the chicks from standing in it. In this case the oil may be first mixed with the grain and then the oiled grain mixed with the mash.

"If you are using a mixture of 3 parts mash and 1 part grain and wanted to mix 100 pounds of this, you would take 25 pounds of grain and mix 1 or 2 pints of cod-liver oil with it. Then you would mix the 25 pounds of grain with 75 pounds of mash.

"Do not mix oil with more than a two weeks' supply of feed at one time because the oil may lose some of its Vitamine value if exposed to the air and light too long. Keep oil containers corked tightly and in a dark place."

nation of the states." Ever since that time the people of Delaware have been proud to call their state the Diamond State,—much value in small compass. So only a few years after the Phi Kappa Phi was organized its local officers felt a desire to get established in the Diamond State.

Until I looked over the minutes of our chapter last Saturday, I did not realize that such a long interval, ten months, intervened between the inception of the Delaware College chapter and its institution on January 13, 1905. The following correspondence may be of interest to you. The first is a letter of proposal:

Orono, Maine, March 10, 1904.
Pres. G. A. Harter,
Delaware College, Newark, Del.
Dear Sir:—

Some years ago (1897) there was started at the University of Maine a scholarship fraternity called Phi Kappa Phi. It differs from Phi Beta Kappa and Sigma Xi in that it includes all branches of learning on an equal basis. Chapters have been formed at the University of Tennessee and the Pennsylvania State College. Our custom is to elect to membership the ten students in each senior class having the highest standing during their college courses. In the institutions where it has been established it is highly prized by the students who are elected to its membership. Recently, at a meeting of the executive committee, held in Washington, D. C., it was decided to extend this fraternity, and your institution was included among those to whom it was voted to offer chapters. If you are at all interested in the matter, will you kindly write to me, when I shall be pleased to send you further information?

Yours truly,
James S. Stevens,
For the Committee.

This was the first proposal, followed by ten months of courtship.

President Harter replied favorably, after which he received the following letter from Dr. Stevens.

Orono, Maine, April 18, 1904.
Pres. George A. Harter,
Newark, Del.
Dear Sir:—

Replying to your letter I would say that since your institution has been formally offered a chapter, all that will be necessary for you to do will be to appoint a committee from your faculty, which shall apply to Dr. A. W. Harris, Port Depost, Md., chairman of the Board of Regents of Phi Kappa Phi, for a chapter. Dr. Harris was previously president of the University of Maine. I am enclosing some fraternity pamphlets. I am glad to know that you are considering the matter.

Yours truly,
James S. Stevens.

Dr. Edgar Dawson, chairman of the committee appointed by President Harter, wrote to Dr. Harris, the Director of the Jacob Tome Institute, and received the following reply:

"Dear Sir:—I have your letter of April 27, making application for a chapter of Phi Kappa Phi, and forwarded it to the members of the Board of Regents from whom I should hear in the course of a week or two.

Yours very truly,
A. W. Harris.

A few days later, May 6, 1904, the following letter was received by Dr. Dawson from Dr. Harris.

My dear Sir:—I am pleased to inform you that the Council of the Phi Kappa Phi Fraternity has voted to grant a charter to the chapter in the Delaware College, and I have asked Prof. J. S. Stevens, of the University of Maine, the Registrar, to take the necessary steps for the establishment of the chapter."

The next letter is from J. S. Stevens to President Harter.

"Dear Sir:—Dr. Harris, President of the Executive Committee, has informed me that your application for a charter in the Phi Kappa Phi has been favorably considered. We have not as yet prepared a formal charter and until we do so, this letter will constitute your credentials. You should prepare a list of members on the basis outlined in the constitution—faculty, alumni, and seniors, and when they accept their election and pay your chapter treasurer $2.00 for initiation. $1.00 for each member should be sent to Professor Benjamin Gill, State College, Pa., the fraternity treasurer. Send me a complete list and I will forward a diploma for each person. When you are ready for your initiation ceremonies, some one from the Pennsylvania State College will come and assist you. Only undergraduates are initiated—the rest come in as charter members. On the occasion of this first initiation there should be public ceremonies, including an educational address.

Yours truly,
James S. Stevens."

The following are extracts from the minutes of the Delaware College faculty, Frederic H. Robinson, Secretary, Monday, April 25, 1904:

The secretary read a communication from Prof. J. S. Stevens, of the University of Maine, stating that Delaware College had been offered a chapter of the Phi Kappa Phi fraternity; and that to obtain a charter, a committee of the faculty should apply to Dr. A. W. Harris, Port Deposit, Md., chairman of the Board of Regents; Dr. Dawson moved that the President appoint a committee to confer with Dr. Harris with the object of obtaining a charter and information regarding the fraternity. On the committee the President appointed Professors Dawson, Conover, and Foord.

Friday, June 3, 1904, Special.

In regard to the institution of a chapter of the Phi Kappa Phi fraternity the committee through Dr. Dawson, reported its desire to have all courses having representatives in this year's graduating class represented in the membership; also, that as far as they are willing, the full professors shall constitute the charter members. The report was accepted. On motion of Dr. Wolf it was ordered that the chapter be organized with such full professors as wish to belong, for the charter members.

Following are extracts from the early minutes of Phi Kappa Phi:

Monday, Dec. 26, 1904, 10:45 a. m.

Following a faculty meeting the full professors of Delaware College met to form a temporary organization of Phi Kappa Phi. There were present: Dr. George A. Harter, Dr. T. R. Wolf, Prof. F. H. Robinson, Prof. E. Conover, Dr. E. Dawson, and Prof. J. A. Foord. Dr. Harter was chosen chairman of the meeting, Dr. Dawson was chosen temporary president, and Prof Ford, temporary secretary and treasurer.

The committee previously appointed by President Harter reported that Assistant Professor Short, '96, Reginald Constable, 1900, Pusey Jones, 1902, and Joseph Miller McVey, 1904, had been chosen to represent the alumni and join with the faculty as charter members. These selections were approved without dissent. The same committee recommended that students I. Paul Jones, Robert B. Frazer, and Ernest W. Warrington, all of the senior class and eligible for election, be initiated upon the establishment of the chapter. The selection of these students was unanimously approved by those present. It was moved and carried that Professor Benjamin F. Gill, of Pennsylvania State College, be invited to give a public address at the time of the establishment of the chapter.—J. A. Foord, Sec. pro. tem.

Friday, January 13, 1905, 8 p. m. (Note this important date—Friday, the 13th of January, we started with 13 charter members.) A meeting was held in the office of Delaware College to establish the Delaware College Chapter of the honorary fraternity of Phi Kappa Phi.

Dr. Dawson acted as chairman. Benjamin F. Gill, Professor of Greek, and chaplain at Pennsylvania State College, Treasurer-General of the national fraternity, had been delegated by the Board of Regents to establish the chapter and was present to instruct the charter members, who were as follows:

Nine Faculty Members

George A. Harter, Ph.D., who is too well known to need any introduction to you. He is still an honored and beloved member of our faculty.

Theodore R. Wolf, Ph.D., who was born in Illinois, September, 1850, graduated at Washington University, St. Louis, at the age of 17 and entered Heidelberg University, where he was under the instruction of the famous Robert Bunson and took his doctor's degree in chemistry at the age of 21. He became professor of chemistry in Delaware College in November, 1871 and continued teaching here until his death June, 1909, almost 38 years. Wolf Hall is named in his honor.

Frederic H. Robinson, who was professor of of civil engineering in Delaware College from 1891 till 1916, 25 years, and died a few months after his resignation.

Elisha Conover, who arrived in Newark on Friday, the 13th day of September, 1895, to take the place of a sick man, intending to remain until Christmas. He is still here.

Edgar Dawson, who took his doctor's degree in English in a German University, was professor of English at Delaware College from 1902 to 1906, when he resigned to become a preceptor at Princeton University. He is now teaching in Hunter College, New York. He was the first president of this chapter.

James A. Foord, our first secretary-treasurer, was professor of Agriculture. He resigned to take a position in the Massachusetts College of Horticulture.

Edward Laurence Smith, professor of Modern Languages, first dean of Delaware College. He died a few years ago and is still mourned by all who knew him.

Edward W. McCaskey, captain 21st Infantry, U. S. A.

Merrill Van G. Smith, for several years president of this chapter and at the time of his death acting-dean of the School of Engineering. His untimely death is still fresh in the hearts of us all.

The following four men represented the Alumni: Clarence Albert Short, C.E., '96, assistant-professor of Mathematics and Civil Engineering at Delaware College. He is now principal of Wesley Collegiate Institute at Dover. Reginald Constable, B.A., 1900, with the Edge More Iron Co. He now lives in Elkton. Pusey Jones, C.E., '02, with the du Pont Co., Wilmington. Joseph Miller McVey, B.A., '04, Instructor in Temple College, afterward teacher in Delaware College, now with the Hercules Powder Co.

Those were the thirteen charter members, all of whom, except four, are now living.

The following seniors were initiated by Professor Gill: Robert B. Frazer (Lat. Sci.), Elkton, Md.; I. Paul Jones (Civil Eng.), Georgetown, Del.; Ernest W. Warrington (Lat. Sci.), Georgetown, Del.

Dr. Harter moved that a committee consisting of Dr. Dawson, Professors Conover and Foord be requested to draw up a set of by-laws for the government of the chapter, to be submitted at the next meeting. The motion was carried. The meeting then adjourned, after which the members proceeded to the oratory where a public address entitled, "The Brotherhood of Culture," was delivered by Professor Gill. Signed, J. A. Foord, Sec.

We had an excellent address. Prof. Gill was also a member of the society.

At the following meeting, November 6, 1905, the by-laws were adopted, which have since been altered in some respects. Article II, Section 1, says: There shall be an election of members at the first regular meeting of the collegiate year. The election now takes place at the first meeting of the second semester. Art. II, Sec. 2, specifies that the students eligible for membership must be from the first third of the senior class. Sec. 4 provides that not more than one-quarter of the class shall be elected. They must now be from the first fourth of the class and one-fifth of a class may be elected. Art. II, Sec. 3, states that two adverse ballots shall be cause for rejection. The number of ballots now required are decidedly for the better.

While president of the chapter, I urged upon the initiates the importance of making our society roll a roll of honor and it is much easier to make it such by restricting somewhat the number elected. On the other hand, if the number is too much restricted it removes all hope from the average student of making it. The Pennsylvania, a chapter of Phi Kappa Phi to which I happen to belong, restricts the number elected to one-tenth of the class. I think one-fifth would furnish an incentive to a greater number of students and thus do more good. Any earnest, hard-working, conscientious student of average ability ought to be able to make the society.

I spoke of J. S. Stevens as the Grand Old Man of Phi Kappa Phi. Another man who devoted years to the upbuilding of our national society was Dr. E. E. Sparks, former president of Pennsylvania State College. Dr. Sparks often visited this chapter while Regent General of the society, and gave us helpful advice. I remember a story he once told us that may be of interest to some of you. Dr. Sparks was also a member of Phi Beta Kappa and regularly wore the Beta Kappa key. Once he boarded a railroad train and sat down by a man whose son had recently been dropped from Pennsylvania State College for poor scholarship. This man had a grievance against the college. He said they had treated his son very unfairly. Dr. Sparks reminded him that his son had failed in all his studies. The father said he didn't want his son to study all the time. He wanted him to have a good time. "Well, he did, didn't he?" said Sparks. Said the father, "You're not up to date anyhow. I knew you were a back number as soon as you entered the car." Sparks admitted he might be. "But how did you discover it so soon." "Because you wind your watch with an old-fashioned watch-key." Verily college presidents and deans have their trials and tribulations. . . . .

When our chapter was founded there were but three others in existence, I believe. Now there are forty-four. About half of these were founded in the last ten years. Perhaps there were then two or three hundred members; now there are over 14,000. I wish to congratulate our new members on their admission into such a live society and one that I trust is doing much to promote high ideals of scholarship in the colleges and universities where it is organized.

. . . . At a meeting of this chapter on June 2, 1922, it was voted that it is the sentiment of this society that the teaching staff and students of the Women's College of the University of Delaware shall be eligible for membership in this society. Ever since that time we have elected a quota from the Women's College. At a meeting on May 19, 1927, it was voted to petition the next annual convention for permission to elect an average of three members per class from those classes which were graduated from the Women's College before the Women's College joined with the Delaware College chapter of Phi Kappa Phi, and thus 18 girls were elected to membership whom we are now initiating.

Brinser Speaks

Professor Ira S. Brinser, yesterday, in Fanuel Hall, Boston, gave an address at the meeting of the department of superintendents of the National Education Association. His subject was, "Adapting Courses of Study".

Mr. Brinser opened his address by comparing the ideals of the patriots who first used Fanuel Hall with the ideals that the teaching profession should have today. He stated that the teacher of today should not only have a mastery of subject matter but a comprehensive understanding of child nature. In adapting courses of study, Mr. Brinser suggested the following principals to follow:

"A good course of study, like successful living, is not a static thing, but a dynamic thing like life itself".

"The pupil should be accepted as the center of interest, instead of the subject matter".

"Great individual differences in the abilities, attitudes, interests, likes and dislikes must be recognized".

Subject matter should be selected as near to real life as possible."

Mr. Brinser stressed the selection of better objective standards, and said that more time and thought should be given the selection of courses in the primary and elementary departments. He said that the school was a laboratory where the pupil by guided practice learned to live, act and learn in the most effective way.

Cooking Prizes

Newark High School girls of the Junior and Senior classes will compete this week for cooking prizes offered by the Gas Company.

On Wednesday Mrs. Mary V. Gambeau, in charge of the Home Service department of the company, met with the girls, students of the Home Economic classes of the high school and demonstrated for them how to bake a plain cake and biscuits. Mrs. Cook, the instructor, was in charge of the class.

On Saturday, the girls will bring to the Gas Company office samples of their work in baking bread and rolls. Judges will pass upon the merits of the juvenile bakers and then award six prizes. The Juniors will receive prizes of $5, $3 and $2 and the same cash awards will also be given the three best bakers among the seniors.

Workmen Banquet

About seventy-five persons gathered in Odd Fellows Hall Saturday evening to celebrate the ending of the A. O. U. W. Boosters Club contest, which more than doubled the membership of Anchor Lodge, No. 4, Ancient Order of United Workmen, in the last year. The Blue team being the losers, prepared a six o'clock supper, to which members of the lodge and some friends were invited, members of the Red teams, the winners, being guests of honor.

The following menu was served: Potato salad, Virginia baked ham, baked beans, pickles, chili sauce, cheese, saltines, jelly, rolls, raisin bread, sliced peaches, coffee.

Out of town guests included Howard F. McCall, Grand Master Workman of the Delaware and Pennsylvania jurisdiction; H. S. Lawton, Past Grand Master Workman, C. B. Prettyman, Grand Recorder; Joseph T. These boys made a big hit and were one of the big surprises of the evening. They were Ellis Ingram, banjo and zobo; Harry Rolland, picolo; Howard Baldwin, bass horn, Edwin Deveney, drums, Professor Sanderson, violin, leader.

Wm. Reyburn gave several violin selections, including a realistic imitation of a bagpipe.

Blossom Week

Representatives of the State Federation of Women's Clubs, the State Grange and various local granges, the Wilmington Chamber of Commerce, the Del-Mar-Va Eastern Shore Association, the Wilmington Community Service, and other organizations met in the Senate chamber in the State House at Dover last Thursday to discuss plans for "Blossom Week."

Governor Robinson was named honorary chairman; Mrs. Ella C. Emery, of Seaford, chairman; H. Milton James, of Seaford, secretary; Arthur G. Wilkinson, business administrator of the University of Delaware, treasurer.

Dr. J. A. Adams, of the University of Delaware, was chosen as chairman of the publicity committee; C. Douglass Buck, chief engineer of the State Highway Commission to select the route of parade; William McWilliams to have charge of the parade; Gerrish Gassaway, chairman for New Castle county; Mayor J. Wallace Woodford, of Dover, chairman for Kent county, and Warren Newton, of Bridgeville, chairman for Sussex county pageant committee, C. B. Root, chairman, Mrs. Julia M. Ashbrook, Mrs. Waller, Mrs. Henry Ridgely of Dover, Miss Winifred J. Robinson of Newark; marshal of parade, J. Paul Heinel, Commander of the Department of Delaware of the American Legion; music, A. Bailey Thomas.

Mrs. John C. McCable, president of the Delaware State Federation of Women's Clubs, Mrs. Walter Morris, Mrs. Clarence Fraim and Mrs. A. D. Warner, were named special aids to the chairman.

The date for the main feature of the celebration has not yet been fixed. The date will be selected at the time that the blossoms are the prettiest and most numerous. On the principal day of the celebration there will be a parade and pageant in Dover and vicinity, in which the people from all parts of the State are expected to take part. It is hoped that hundreds of decorated automobiles will be in line and that the affair will be one of the prettiest which has ever been staged in Delaware. The pageant will be held in the afternoon so that visitors may reach their homes in the early evening.

Before the pageant and parade are held there will be a meeting at Dover, at which it is intended to have a number of prominent speakers. Every organization represented promised to use every effort to make the affair a success and the Del-Mar-Va Eastern Shore Association will make special efforts to bring the affair before the people of the country and to induce visitors to come here on that occasion.

It is understood that the pageant will in no wise be a commercial affair, and that those organizations and firms which shall enter, shall do so with the spirit of State pride, and with no idea of self-advertisement.

I. O. R. M.

Minnehaha Tribe, No. 23, I. O. R. M., will hold a real get-to-gether meeting on next Tuesday evening, March 6, when business of importance will be transacted. The entertainment committee also promises that this will be the biggest event of the winter season as they have on hand plenty of talent, such as singing, orchestra, etc., and of course addresses by the leading Red Men of Delaware and Maryland, such as Great Sachem Wm. Shell, of Delaware, and two Past Great Sachems of Maryland. All members are requested to attend. Refreshments will be served.

giving the most unselfish service to a community. Mr. Soule stressed fire prevention, suggesting the many ways in which the citizens of a community could prevent fire. He stated that the annual fire toll in the United States was $000,000,000 in property damage and that 15,000 lives were lost. Seventy-five per cent of the fires, he said, could trace their origin to carelessness.

Mr. Soule closed his speech by explaining the modern technique of fire fighting. He said that fires were now extinguished with as little damage to property as possible.

F. R. Connell, chief of the Parksburg, Pa., Fire Department, and president of the Chester County Firemen's Association, was the second speaker, and talked on the training of the youth of the community to become firemen.

The speaking was followed by several acts of vaudeville presented by "Dick" Dempsey and his troup from Dover. The chairs were then cleared from the hall and dancing followed.

Local Men Honored

has pledged their heartiest cooperation to Brother Mote during his term of State officer.

"Interesting reports of the Convention were made by Brothers Brown, Dempsey, McMullin, Colmery and Norton, after which Brother Mote gave a brief outline of some of the work planned for the coming year for Juniorism in Delaware.

"A large amalgamated class initiation of all candidates of New Castle County will be held in Wilmington, Thursday evening, May 17th, to celebrate the Diamond Jubilee Anniversary of Juniorism of our county.

"Fraternities like the Junior Order have given a new meaning to it because it carries along with it not only the good cheer and the smile, but an assurance of the fraternal help and assistance and compassion of the members. It is earnestly desired that we be given an opportunity to explain the fraternal spirit to those who desire to join our ranks.

"At the meeting Monday evening two resolutions of vital importance were given final reading and adopted by the Council.

"On Thursday, February 23, at sunrise a large American flag was raised by Brothers Amos Norton and A. Neal Smythe over the new Presbyterian Sunday School being erected here. The Council members are always on the alert to see that Old Glory is flown where it means much for the safe-guard and protection of our youth.

"It's not the men or the armament,
Or the Army as a whole;
But the everlasting team work
Of every bloomin' soul.

"A. Neal Smith."
